A recital will be given at 8:00 tomorrow evening in Oller Hall by John Langstaff, who is being presented under the auspices of the Arts Program of the Association of American Colleges. The presentation is to consist of selections from both old and modern songs.

Binkley To Be Recipient Of Benedict Award

The J. Downey Benedict English Professorship will be awarded Friday, Nov. 17 to Dr. Harold Binkley, chairman of the English Department. The presentation will be made by Prof. Paul Bechtel, a Juniata graduate.

Downey Benedict, killed in World War II, believed in liberal education as a means of freeing men and for this purpose the Professorship was established.

Although not connected with Juniata, he felt that the small college was one place in which to begin his work.

Graduated From Dickinson

A native of Waynesboro, Benedict graduated from Lehigh University and Dickinson Law School. Upon the outbreak of the war, he enlisted in the Army as a private and rose by merit to the rank of First Lieutenant. He was killed in France in 1944.

Paul Bechtel, associate professor of English at Wheaton College, Illinois, received his B.A. at Juniata. He earned his masters' degree at Cornell University specializing in 19th century poetry.

Taught At Waynesboro

He taught English and History in Waynesboro High School and later was made principal of the junior high schol. In 1946 he came to Wheaton, a coeducational liberal arts and sciences college.

Bechtel will speak in Chapel next Friday and will address the faculty at a dinner in the college dining room.

Mountain Day To Be Held Wed.

by Alma Skinner

Let's go! It's Mountain Day! That's what the entire Juniata group—resident and day students, married families, staff and faculty families—will be saying on Wednesday, when they forget the books for a day of recreation at beautiful Whipple's Dam.

A day of fun has been planned by the committee consisting of Prof. Yoder, Miss Mathias, Prof. P. M. "Mike" Snider, Charlie Towns, and Phyl Link. At 8 a.m. buses will be loaded for an early start to the recreation park between McAlevey's Fort and Pine Grove Mills.

Autumn Hike Planned

A two hour nature hike to see autumn in the mountains is scheduled to leave the dam between 9:30 and 10 a. m. The handout given before the hike will keep spirits high until dinner at 12 noon.

Everyone who still has enough vim, vigor, and vitality left after the morning's excursion is invited to participate in the afternoon's acitvities which include the annual student-faculty softball game. This adds up to one of the most outstanding days on the College calendar.

Students who are not able to obtain transportation in private cars are expected to indicate their need at Monday's chapel service. An effort to secure the necessary buses will be made. To avoid all last minute confusion, please be accurate in arranging this transportation.

No Noon Meal At College

There will be no noon meal at the college Wednesday, since the kitchen staff will accompany the group to the dam; however the evening meal will be served as usual. In case of rain, Mountain Day will be postponed.

Infirmary Announces Hours For Fall Term

The hours when the nurses will be available in the offices of the College infirmary for consultation and treatment have been announced for the fall term.

Every afternoon and evening for a period of one hour after meals, one of the staff will be present to fill student needs.

Each morning, except Sunday, the office will be open for twenty minutes following breakfast while on Tuesday and Thursday mornings the dispensary will be open from 10:00-10:30.

Students that are confined to the infirmary may be visited by other students only during these regular hours.

JC Homecoming Traditions Go Back As Far As '22.

by Jeanie Tait

Tomorrow morning will see the beginnings of the 31st annual Homecoming Observances on College Hill. Way back in 1922 the tradition was established so that alumni could return to their alma mater and relive a few moments of their college life with old friends and classmates.

Sports have always played an important role in the week-end activities. In their first Homecoming football game in 1924 the Indians bowed to their Davis and Elkins opponents by a score of 21-10.

Hockey In 1930

Frosh-soph hockey games are nothing new at JC, the first one being inaugurated in 1930. Then, however, long black stockings were considered an essential part of the athletic equipment.

The men of the freshman and sophomore classes tried their skill at a variety of events including speed ball, and basketball, before deciding upon the now traditional touch football fray plus the tug of war.

The Juniatian was responsible for initiating the lawn displays made by the various dorms. A prize will again be awarded this year for the best exhibit.

Miss Homecoming New Tradition

A recent innovation in the Homecoming festivities is the election of Miss Homecoming, who represents the typical JC coed. It all started as a stunt for arousing pep and enthusiasm and adding color to the weekend activities. Betty Kiracofe reigned as Miss Homecoming I, while this year will find Peggy Brumbaugh in the royal throne.

There was no definite evening program until the J Club dance became traditional a few years ago. Before that, entertainment varied from movies to masquerade balls.

Operetta Crew Chosen By Pentz

Committees and committee chairmen for the all-college production of "My Maryland" have been named by student coordinator Jo Pentz.

They are: stage manager, Paul Good; assistant stage manager, Jeanie Tait: business manager, Ron Cherry; set design, Lolita and Juanita Carfora; stage crew, Bill Braunworth, Blyn Garnett.

Set construction chairmen, Lolita and Juanita Carfora; committee, Jeanne Snively, Dottie Darrell, Joyce Mullan, Gail Roach, Peg Brumbaugh, Nancy McCahan, Louise Gehman, Lucille Eshelman, Dee Bramhall, May Ikeda, Kaydonna Bubeck, Edie Engler, and Sally Coulomb.

Advertising chairman, Ellie Formwalt; committee, Pat Morris, Pat McCardle, Rita Peck, Marge Ferguson, Sylvia Peterson, Jean Beck, Marion Veals, and Joan Chase.

Costuming: Rainy Belle Linn, chairman; Shirley Smith and Mim Myers, committee. Lighting: Harry Vineburg, chairman; Harry Garber, Bill Straughn.

Properties: Joy Rinehart, chairman; Dorothy Fogle, Pat Turner, Shirley Kleist, Jean Lockhart, Doris Wilson, Marilyn Walters, and Pat Henry. Tickets: Elsie Haussler, Louise Leventry.

Student Center Plans Advance During Week

Work has been progessing satisfactorily on the Student Center project during the week, committee chairman Russ Hill has reported. Appointments to various positions have been made, and initial measurements of the Women's Gym have been taken.

At a meeting Tuesday evening Hill's group discussed the practicality of locating showers and lockers roms upstairs in the remodeled gymnasium. The session was attended by assistant to the president Harold Brumbaugh, director of athletics P. M. (Mike) Snider and Miss Barbara Cochran, women's physical education director.

Relocation Doubtful

The only drawback to the proposed relocation of locker and plumbing facilities would be a possibly excessive cost due to the necessity for installing cement floors and costly underpinning, the committee decided.

During the week the committee, along with interested students, measured all interior dimensions of the Women's Gym preparatory to sending this data to the architect in York, Hill said. The survey was made under the direction of Prof. Snider.

Appointments Made

Appointments of several individuals to head student groups working on the Center have also been made by the steering committee. Louise Gehman has been appointed time-keeper. Her duty will be to keep track of the number of hours donated in voluntary labor by each student involved in the project.

A business committee to be headed by Bill Brumbaugh and Dick Myer has also been formed. The job of this committee will be to see that various businesses are contacted to secure estimates of the cost of equipment for the completed project, and to see about arranging terms for the purchase of such tiems.

Publicity Group Formed

Another committee to be headed by Dave Bayer and Jim Holsopple will see to it that the Center is publicized. This group will also act as a committee on questionnaires in order to discover student opinion as to what equipment and decoration the Center should have, and what amount of labor the average student would be willing to devote, among other considerations.

A committee of three has been named to go before the executive meeting of the Juniata Women's Leagues when it is held tomorrow. This group is to consist of Jo Pentz, Helen Rosengren and Allegra Forney, Hill went on to say.

Homecoming; What Is It ?

Tomorrow we celebrate the 30th Homecoming day at Juniata since the custom was established in 1922. All the activities of the occasion—the football game, dance, alumni luncheon, and election of the Queen, have become traditional at JC.

We take pleasure in deviating from a policy that the Juniatian has held in past years . . . that the Homecoming ceremonies have nothing to do with the student body. That all we have to do is smile sweetly and laugh at the alumni sentimentality to be displayed.

It is not a fact that the only significance of the day to students is the freshman initiation, such as it is. As a matter of fact, Homecoming can be all things to all people.

For the alumni, it should be a time of reflection and pleasant recollection. For a number of students it may be a day of rededication to college life. For the freshmen, it is a day of celebration but it is also a day when they in truth become a part of the campus, shorn of their paraphenalia and bonds.

A tradition should be an occasion that owes its acceptance to habit rather than reason, but it should also be a time based on a serious and useful purpose. Homecoming can be such a day.

Former Student Tells Of German Conditions Today

Hermann Pabst, student here last year from Germany, addressed the following letter to the editors of the Juniatian. We reprint it in its entirity not only because of the sentiments expressed, but because of the penetrating comments on current European attitude to the United States.

Wulfrath / Rhld
Wilhelmstr. 159
Germany

Dear Friends:

It is now more than two months since I have returned to Germany and by now also College has started again, so I think it is about time to write and first of all to thank you for all the wonderful times I had at Juniata College and for everything you did personally to make my stay so pleasant.

Unfortunately I could not thank you through the Juniatian last year but I guess I will have better luck this time.

I really like to remember every little incident I saw and experienced at college. The classes, the extra-curricular activities, and the free time were all wonderful. But above all I was impressed by your great friendship through which you made it so easy for me to feel at home.

Although life in America and especially at college is very different from our life in Germany, i learned to like and appreciate it. These two years widened my understanding, they taught me to put myself in the place of another person. I will always be grateful for this.

Especially do I want to thank you for your generous help when I was sick early last year. Without my asking, the Senate had decided to pay my hospital bill. I cannot tell you how much I appreciated that. I probably will never be able to repay you, but now being here in Germany I will try to show the German people the true characteristics of your people. If I could only do that to such an extent that all Germans would feel towards Americans as I learned to do these last two years!

Coming back to Germany I had to make quite an adjustment. Germany all at once seemed so different to me. On the one hand, my parents had moved and I had to return to a new home. But Germany in general has also changed so much that I hardly could recognize what before I had believed to be typically German.

Naturally all my friends had expected that I would return all "Americanized." And what did they expect? I should throw my money away as though my resources could never end? Some thought in all seriousness that I should have brought my car along or some other thing which they could admire as "typically American."

Only then did I realize what a great misunderstanding still exists between our two countries and also how superficial most observations are. I could have brought a whole lot of gadgets and people here would have been satisfied because that is what they expected. But I think I brought something more. I had the friendship

Draft Isn't Student Gripe

College students are meeting the draft situation with minimum of protest and even less enthusiasm, according to a poll taken on 11 campuses by Cornell University.

The poll compares the draft-vlunerable student with the income-tax paying adult. He meets his obligation, but doesn't necessarily like it.

Ninety percent of the students, says the report, would return to college if inducted before they finished, and only one in four thought military service would be a major disruption in his life.

Most students seem to be taking their deferment seriously and are concerned with making good grades; but there were some who felt they wanted to get in as much fun as possible before being drafted.

The report concludes that should the government drop the student deferment plan, without supplying a substitute, there is little doubt that restlessness and anxiety would return to the campuses.

CIRCUIT RIDER

Columnist Finds Others Comment; Deplores Wanton Fire Hazards

by Jack Freymuller

When I first began the Circuit Rider about three years ago I intended it to be a column wherein I could express my thoughts on current topics; that is, I sort of wished for a chance to put over my rather moderate views to my readers. I intended to avoid controversial issues because that's the editor's job. What I wanted was to be able to comment on people, places and things and now and then offer something in the literary line. These aims have more or less been reached.

One reaction I was unprepared for, though. That was being approached by like-minded people who themselves had something to say. The following instance should suffice to explain.

Among the things that have been offered to me as material for the Circuit Rider is a poem that I've kept around for quite a while. It was given to me by a former student on the eve of his graduation. I won't reveal his name for perhaps the poem has a bit of sentimentality about it that might embarass him. The poem is about Juniata and contains in its two impressions the power to make you realize the memories you've accumulated.

To get the feeling of the poem, imagine yourself walking by Cloisters or Founders on a warm Sunday.

Juniata Impressions Morning

Clear melody from the high bell tower
The Carillon sings the early Sunday matin.
Below . . . in the halls of the old building
Morning sounds are being made:
Taps turned on; rustle of steps;
The sounds of voices increasing.
To the towers of the sleeping campus
The morning light has brought the day.

Evening

The lulling notes of the bells
Float out through the trees on the lawns
Gently touching the walls of ivied halls.
Little light filters through the glowing forest
On the nearby hill where late the sun has gone.
Strollers slow their pace and hush descends
Among the trees and on the roofs and grass
To smooth the way for night.
. . . Spring 1949

Walked into the Wing of Cloisters the other day and found the floor covered with water. Some high-grade moron had turned the water on in the fire hose and sprayed it all over. It started me thinking. After two hitches in the service I am well acquainted with the fate that awaits the person who misuses fire equipment.

The armed services don't believe in fooling around with the jerk who endangers life and property. They teach him a lesson . . . but fast. So why should a college merely waggle a finger and frown a fatherly brow. I don't want to feel that the hall I live in may have unsafe fire equipment. I'm afraid of fire.

You ask what a bit of harmless fun with the hoses will do to affect this equipment. Well, I'll tell you. If the water that remains in the hoses isn't drained out and the hoses themselves not put out to dry in the sun, these hoses will begin to rot and under pressure will burst. That happened once on board a ship during a fire in the ammunition room. No need to tell what happened to the ship.

So I say Fine the person who fools with fire equipment . . . in Money, not in loss of privilege. If its a second offense boot him out of school. He has no place there anyway.

Sports Parade

By Harold Gray

Tomorrow is Homecoming Day at Juniata, the day that is traditional at most colleges and universities across the nation with its frosh initiation, Homecoming Queen, and last, but not least, the football game. And, tomorrow it will be the Fords of Haverford who will be the visitors to the College Hill field. After the Juniata win over Moravian last week, the boys of Coach Smaltz are looking forward to making the Fords victim number two. Haverford opened last week against Wagner at met defeat 18-13. Although the Blue and Gold notched its first victory last week they did not look sharp against the Moravian squad and will have to play heads up ball to take the Fords tomorrow afternoon. But, with the running attack of the Indians, and some determined frosh gridders the Tribe should walk off the field with a win tomorrow afternoon.

POST GAME COMMENTS—Many Juniata players made fine impressions on the crowd Saturday night with their outstanding play against the Greyhounds of Moravian. Three who especially stood out were frosh Don Pheasant, who ran wild off the single wing attack; Joe Trimber, who starred despite a badly bruised ankle while on defense; and Chuck (Daddy-O) Knox, who played almost the entire game and was almost impossible to move while on defense for the Blue and Gold. Senior End Bob Wagoner was also a top performer for Coach Smaltz's Indians and played the entire contest for JC.

One of the outstanding defensive plays of the night was Bill Haushalter's save of a Moravian TD by hauling down a goal line bound Greyhound from behind. The 5-9 155 pound frosh from McKees Rocks came from out of nowhere to bring the fleet footed enemy back down when it appeared he would go all the way.

ON THE NATIONAL SCENE—Eddie Bell, Penn end, will be a top candidate for All American honors after his play in the first two games of the Red and Blue this season. It was his catch of a pass that helped tie Notre Dame 7-7 and he played some of the finest football of the 1952 campaign helping Penn to beat Dartmouth 7-0 last week . . . The Wisconsin Badgers look like the team to beat in the midwest after their easy 20-6 win over Illinois. Rose Bowl champs . . . Princeton may not have Dick Kazmaier, but they still managed to "squeeze by" Rutgers last Saturday by a 61-19 count . . . Future opponents, Army and Navy, who meet in a little tussle every December in Philadelphia faced tough teams last Saturday. The "new" midshipmen downed a rugged Cornell team 31-7 while Army was taking a 22-0 beating from Southern Cal.

* * * *

OPPONENTS DOINGS—Haverford, tomorrows opponents, dropped an 18-13 decision to Wagner in their opener . . . The unbeaten, unscored upon, Susquehanna Crusaders easily beat Ursinus 16-0. They face Swarthmore tomorrow . . . Grove City, who has yet to score a point this season, lost to Geneva 6-0 and they'll meet Hiram tomorrow . . . Ursinus will take on the Drexel eleven this Saturday, JC faces them on Nov. 15th . . . Dick Bannick threw two more TD passes last week as Westminster dropped Theil by a 28-13 count.

* * * *

IMPROVED SOPH—Fran Wampler ran the reverse in fine fashion last Saturday night and is definitely one of the most improved ball players on the Indian squad this season. He is a fine runner and came to preseason training camp in excellent condition. "Wamp" dropped what looked like a sure touchdown pass last Saturday night but he ran the off-tackle reverse like a frightened deer. His shifty style is a definite asset to the Blue and Gold running attack and he should be one of the outstanding men for the Indians in the years to come.

The Sports Mirror

ONE YEAR AGO—The Indians played their finest and hardest game of the season and tied Allegheny 20-20. Lundy Loschiavo scored two touchdowns and passed to Eddie Gould for the other six points.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Alliance beat Juniata 7-0 at Erie Stadium under the lights. Basketball candidates reported to Coach Mike Snider for court practice.

TEN YEARS AGO—The Indians came from behind in the final minutes to down Drexel 13-9. Capt. Hallis Zwicker and Hank Eisenhart scored for the Indians.

Haverford Here As Homecoming Foe

Annual Frosh-Soph Clash Tomorrow

The annual tug-of-war, girls' hockey game and touch football game between the freshman and the sophomores will be held tomorrow morning at 9:30 as part of Homecoming Day. If the frosh win two out of three events, they can toss away their dinks, name cards, and bow ties. If they lose, they will be compelled to wear their regulation garb for another two weeks.

Blue And Gold Seek Second Win After Downing Moravian 13-7

by John Richman

The Fords of Haverford College invade College Field tomorrow afternoon for the annual Homecoming Day clash. The visitors opened their season with an 18-13 loss to Wagner last week. The Fords will have several frosh in their line-up tomorrow and will be out for revenge after dropping a 34-6 decision to Juniata last year.

The Indians will be somewhat riddled by injuries but all members of the squad will be available for action if needed. Myron "Sev" Sevick injured his nose against Moravian last week but will be ready to go for another hard afternoon's work. Bob Muchoney and frosh Joe Trimber are nursing sprained ankles but will see action tomorrow. Anthony "Tony" Segalovich's lame leg still is giving him trouble but he may see action at the tailback spot against the Fords.

Top Moravian 13-7

A touchdown in each of the first two quarters gave Juniata their first victory of the season last Saturday evening at War Veterans Memorial Field. Moravian's score came just after the start of the second quarter.

The visitors won the toss and elected to receive, with Juniata choosing to defend the north goal. Following the kickoff, the Greyhounds drove to two first downs before losing possession on a fumble. Sparked by a jump pass from Jim Butler to "Pone" Martin, the Tribe moved inside the 20, only to lose the ball on an interception of an aerial tossed by Don Pheasant.

McNeal Scores

Opportunity knocked again for Juniata two plays later as the butter-fingered Moravian backs fumbled once again and JC recovered. Several running plays netted the home club a first down on the two yard line. An off tackle plunge by Pheasant and a penalty gave Juniata the ball on the six inch line from where "T" McNeal lugged it over. Tony Segalovich converted and Juniata led 7-0.

Moravian tallied as the result of an offside penalty against Juniata. With fourth and little over five yards to go on their own 41, the visitors punted and JC apparently had possession. The penalty, however, gave the Bethlehem team another try and with inches to go for the first down, they made it easily. Juniata was looking for a linebuck but quarterback Marsh faked a handoff into the line and bootlegged it around right end for 43 yards before being hauled down from behind by Bill Haushalter. Two plays later, Evanko crashed over for the score and Seagraves placement tied it at 7-7.

Indians Go Ahead

The final scoring of the night climaxed a sustained Juniata drive. Some nice running by Fran Wampler plus another pass to Martin put the Braves deep in enemy territory. A pass from Don Pheasant to freshman quarterback, Jim Butler put the Tribe ahead. The placement was wide and the score read JC 13, Moravian, 7.

The second half was played more or less on an even keel, almost entirely in Moravian territory. Joe Trimber, who played a fine game at defensive halfback, intercepted a Greyhound pass to ice the game for the Indians. Two quarterback sneaks by Butler and a line buck by McNeal ran out the clock.

Essay Contest Is Sponsored By National Council Of Churches

The National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. has extended to the students of Juniata an opportunity to compete in a nation-wide essay contest on the subject "The United States and the Underdeveloped Areas," with prize awards totaling $1800 to the winners.

The contest, which is open to all Americans between the ages of 15 and 23 whether they are students or not, begins Nov. 1, 1952 and continues until midnight, March 31, 1953.

Contestans In Two Groups

The prizes will be awarded to two groups consisting of high school contestants, 15-18 years of age, and college age participants, 19-23. The judging of the event will be handled by Eric Johnston, President of the Motion Picture Association of America; Mildred McAfee Horton, former President of Wellesley College; and Dr. John C. Bennett, professor of Christian Ethics at Union Theological Seminary, New York City. Prize winners will be announced about May 15, 1953.

Each essayist is required to limit the paper to one thousand words or less and it must deal with "The United States and the Underdeveloped Areas." Any phase of the topic may be chosen as the subject of the essay.

There will be two first prizes of $400 each and two second prizes of $200 each. The third place winners in both groups will pick up $100 apiece with 20 other prizes of $25 each to be awarded.

According to Ernest Lefever, associate director of the National Council's Department of International Justice and Good will, the basic purpose of the contest is to stimulate active interest of young people in the problems of the Point IV Program and our relationship with the economically less developed countries of the world.

of many in America. I also had an understanding of the American people which helped me to explain the American attitude towards Germany.

I have been speaking in various groups. Always the meetings extended longer than they were intended to be because of the long discussion which followed my talk. The same questions always came up: "But if the American is as you say, why did the American army behave as it did? Why do American travellers act as if they owned the world? Why don't they play an open game in politics and prove that they are interested in peace?"

What should I answer to all these questions? I tried to explain that a country always has both sides, and that the actions of the state not always represent the opinions of the individuals.

Last week I received my admission to the University of Marburg where I will continue my studies in Latin and English. The semester will begin on Nov. 1. I hope the years at the German university will be just as happy as those in the United States.

Now that college has started again I am often thinking of you and I am often wondering what might be going on at Juniata at just that moment. If any of you has a spare moment, (I know you seldom do), please drop me a line. I am always interested in any news from dear old J. C.

Best of luck to all of you.

Yours gratefully,
Hermann Pabst

Social Calendar For Semester Now Disclosed

by Louise Heinbaugh

The social calendar for the first semester has just been released by Mickey Monks, Senate Chairman of Social Activities.

First on the agenda is the Homecoming dance tomorrow night in the new Memorial Gymnasium. (See story Page 1).

A movie enutled "Someone to Remember" will be shown next Saturday in Oller Hall while on Oct. 25 a musical recital will conclude the Parents' Day Program.

Sadie Hawkins Dance Scheduled

November will be a busy month for Juniatians, as all the energetic mountain climbers start out the program Nov. 1 with a moonlight hike. Then of course there will probably be some cross-country racing practice done before Nov. 8 and the Sadie Hawkins Dance. Good luck, girls!

The operetta "My Maryland" will be staged for the student body and general public Nov. 14 and 15. The seniors get their chance to entertain Nov. 22 while the following Saturday falls within the Thanksgiving vacation.

All-Class Nite, Dec. 6

Class talent will be the theme on Dec. 6 at the annual All-Class nite program in Oller Hall. The traditional Christmas party is planned for Dec. 13 and the Winter Fornial will be held Dec. 18, preceding Christmas vacation.

To begin the new year, a movie "The Angel and the Badmen" will be shown Jan. 10, while Jan. 17 will find the basketball season well under way with a game against Lycoming.

The Juniatian

Entered as second class matter at the Huntingdon, Pa., post office, this is an independent undergraduate newspaper published weekly at Juniata College. $1 per year for subscriptions.

Letters of more than 200 words will be shorned at the editor's discretion. All letters must be signed, but the signature need not be published unless desired.

Pennsylvania will celebrate its progress and achievements by the observation of Pennsylvania Week which begins Monday and is to continue until Oct. 19. Many various organizations will participate in displaying and publicizing historic items which they possess and which have played a part in the growth of Pennsylvania.

On campus, the main display will be in the Pennsylvania room of the library. The display will feature antiques and historic books.

Antiques of Interest

Some of the antiques, related to the history of Huntingdon, which are of special interest include an iron-bound chest used by the first Huntingdon bank, and a fragment of the second standing stone. This stone was one of a series of three used by Indians to designate a meeting place when they were on the move.

Two very unusual clothespins used in the early Ephrata settlement, and an old pewter tea pot belonging to Jane McGuire, who escaped scalping by Indians through the aid of a cow, are two of the most interesting items.

There are many historic books concerned with Pennsylvania history which are also on display. Interested readers from Pennsylvania would probably find the histories of the various counties, such as Blair, Lancaster, Montgomery, and Somerset the most informative.

Biographies Available

Various biographies and stories relating to important personages who are well-known in the state include those concerning fromer Governor and Juniata President M. G. Brumbaugh.

In the library vault are about 1500 items related to Pennsylvania, most of which would be valued by collectors. There are manuscripts dating from the early 18th and 19th centuries of true historical value.

Affair In Oller Hall Set For Next Saturday

On Friday, Oct. 24, the Community Concert Association will present the Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival in Oller Hall. This will include Ballet soloists, exotic native dances, modern dances and ballroom duets which will be performed by artists who are tops in their field.

The Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival takes it name from a Berkshire mountaain-top known since Colonial days as Jacob's Pillow. This mountain-top is the home of the Jacob's Pillow University of the Dance to which the foremost leaders in ballet, modern, and ethnic dance have been invited as instructors.

Here also the Dance Festival has been performed each summer for eleven years before capacity crowds. The Company which has been organized for the first tour of the Dance Festival offers a program typical of what is seen each week by the audiences in the Berkshire dance center.

The stars of the Festival are Ted Shawn, the founder and director of Jacob's Pillow who is credited with ushering in the contemporary American dance as we know it; La Meri, versatile head of the Ethnic Department of Jacob's Pillow; and Myra Kinch, the modern dance star and comic soloist.

Ballet stars are Tatiana Grantzeva, Russian born soloist of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carol, Polajenko, soloist in Paris and on Broadway, and Ralph McWilliams, a modern dance artist who is well known on television.

To round off this impressive group there are Richard Stuart and Vanya who perform ballroom duets in the tradition of Fred and Adele Astaire.

Students will be admitted through the use of their activity tickets.

Movie To Be Seen Tomorrow

On the social agenda for tomorrow night is the movie "Someone to Remember", announces Social Chairman Mickey Monks.

The film will be shown in Oller Hall at 8:15 p. m.

The picture, along with three others, was chosen by a student poll conducted last spring by Miss Monks.

Starring Mabel Paige and John Craven, the story was taken from the pen of Ben Ames. It deals with a little old lady who refuses to give up her home when a college buys it and turns it into a boy's dorm. With her waiting confidently for the return of her son who was expelled and ran away years ago, the picture builds up to a surprising climax.

Chapel Plan Set

Chapel speakers for the week of Oct. 19 have been announced.

Professor Glick will address the student body at Monday's program, and Doctor Henry will have charge of Wednesday's service.

On Friday we will have as our guest speaker Doctor Keim of Penn State. Doctor Kiem has been connected with the Penn State agriculture extension program and until this fall has been in Germany where he had charge of the rural program of youth.

He was also one of the originators of the German High School Exchange Program, and has only recently returned to the United States to resume his duties at Penn State.

Dept. Of State Gives Training

The Department of State has recently announced its 1953 trainee program to colleges and universities throughout the country. Seniors and graduate students with good backgrounds, in political science, economics, public administration, international relations or related fields and who are interested in a career in Foreign Affairs Management may be considered for the program. The Foreign Affairs Management Trainee Program is designed to secure a limited number of carefully selected trainees who possess outstanding potential for eventful promotion to top level executive and managerial positions.

Beginning salaries for the program, which begins in the summer of 1953, are $3410 and $4205 per annum, depending on individual qualifications and requirements of the department.

The department is again planning to use the Civil Service Commission's Junior Management Assistant Examination as part of the selection process for its 1953 program. This examination opened October 14, and will close November 11, 1952. It is important that students who wish to be appointed in the department compete successfully in this examination.

Trainees will generally be assigned to administrative and managerial activities in Washington in keeping, where practical, with the interest and background of the individual trainee. About 90% of the trainee's time is spent in regular work assignments under the guidance of a training counselor; the remaining time being allotted to orientation, counseling and seminars. After successful completion of the program, a trainee progresses to positions of greater responsibility as he demonstrates capacity for advancement.

These assignments which are in Washington, should not be confused with positions in the Foreign Service.

Students interested should contact their nominating board chairman Dean Mays, or replacement director.

Brammer Names 38 Instrument College Band

The college band, under the direction of Prof. Jack Barmmer made its second appearnce at the Haverford game last Saturday. The 38 members are as follows:

Student Center Plan Progresses To Completion

Work on the Student Center project has not been dormant during the past week. Russ Hill and his planning committee have been busy making appearances before various alumni groups, and completing other business pertaining to the Center.

The Alumni Council, meeting Saturday, promised the project wholehearted support as well as a financial contribution. The appropriation would be set by the Council's executive board.

The student planning committee has concluded that it will be practically essential to move the women's shower and dressing facilities to the main floor if both the College Store and post office are to be included on the ground floor of the women's gym. This would be best because of the great amount of square footage and frontage that these two installations would consume.

A wholesale change of the appearance of the 50 year old building will take place along with the Center project. The roof dormers are to be removed, while a central entry will be placed at the front of the building to lead to both the downstairs and upstairs of the building.

Dead Fish Are Now Past

by Jeanne Evans

Do you enjoy cold potatoes, fish, and brussel sprouts, eaten at right angles, or would you rather have someone pour cold water down your back to the tune of the Alma Mater? Opportunities such as these were available to all freshman in the dining hall on Friday evening, October 10.

Confusion reigned as rare masculine waiters dressed in skirts and turbans added a bit of variety to the usually peaceful meal. They are definitely to be commended for their efficiency at pouring coffee and clearing tables.

An Eerie Experience

Only the victims knew the eeriness of it all when they walked through the door of the womens' gymnasium that night. If you ask any freshman he will probably tell you that the urge to throw that dead fish surged through his veins.

A fish is all right if it is fresh, but by the odor this sea animal must have been caught last season. Creatures called sophomores really had a lot of interesting combinations during this memorable event. Molasses and egg shells, limberger cheese, and perfume are a few examples.

Figures Were Improved

It is quite possible that all freshman figures were improved because of this affair. The penalties for defending the numerals 5 and 6 (56) were push-ups and touching toes. Nothing is better for waistlines and muscles. So look out Frosh! We know who has been loyal!

Dinks and name tags are still quite popular around campus, which verifies the fact that the class of '56 was defeated in their contests with the sophomores on Saturday. Oh well! Everyone likes dinks and name tags anyhow!

Data Given On Magazines

Magazines do not circulate but are available for use in the library along with all back issues of newspapers which are kept for a period of three months.

Vacation Buses Scheduled

Buses will be chartered to both Philadelphia and Pittsburgh over Thanksgiving vacation, provided enough students are interested.

Lists are now posted on the bulletin board in Founders Hall.

Petre To Head 1952 All Class Night Program

Martha Petre and Betty Shearer will serve as chairman and assistant chairman of this year's All-Class Night. The appointments were recently made by the Senate.

Betty Shearer
• Assists All Class Night •

Miss Petre, a senior, is concentrating in Home Economics preparatory to a teaching career. She is a member of the FTA, Chapel Choir, and Alfarata staff. She is active in the Lambda Gamma, having served as secretary in her junior year.

Miss Shearer is a junior music major. She is a member of the Masque, JCA, and WAA, and is secretary of the touring choir. In addition she appeared in last year's operetta "Naughty Marietta" and was a delegate to the Penn State Reading Festival.

The 17th annual All-Class Night program will be held Dec. 6. Each class will present an original twenty minute skit which will be judged on established standards based on performance and direction, scripts, and staging. Each class is urged to keep its production plans secret.

A student faculty committee will select the most suitable scripts from among the entries. A schedule of rehearsals will be posted after the scripts are chosen. Most rehearsals will be held in Oller Hall.

Magazines Are To Be Found At J. C. Library

by Pat Torton

How many times have you, when looking for information, overlooked the possibilities of the library's selection of current magazines and newspapers?

Both offer a wide range of material for study purposes and recreational reading. Many times information too recent to be compiled in book form is easily located in magazines.

All current popular magazines are found in the main lobby while the more scholarly are in the East reading room arranged according to subject.

Readers Guide Widely Used

In locating magazines it is necessary to be familiar with the various type of indices. The most widely used of these is the "Readers Guide to Periodical Literature." It is a general index which includes all subjects found in certain magazines and is found in the West Reading room.

Those subjects which deal with the field of education are located in the "Education Index".

New York Times On Microfilm

All articles found in the "New York Times are catalogued in the "New York Times Index". Since 1950 all issues of the paper have also been recorded on microfilm and are available for student use. All other regular back issues of the paper are also on file.

All book reviews appearing in the "New York Times", "Nation", "New Yorker", and "Saturday Review of Literature" are found in the "Book Review Digest".

Girls Win All Prizes In Display At Homecoming

"Wheel of Progress", the display exhibited by Fourth Brumbaugh, was the winner of the Homecoming displays. Moving in a circular motion were models of the present Juniata buildings and their year of dedication. The year of the proposed Student Center was represented by a question mark. Records of College songs could be heard playing in the background.

Second Oneida and Second Brumbaugh united to show the second place winner, "College Hill Through the Ages." Progressive phases of the earth's evolution were represented in this display.

Third place was taken by Fourth Founders' wash and clothesline. The clothesline, reading "Welcome Alumni" on one side and "Wash Out Haverford" on the other, was strung from the upper corner of Founders Hall to Students Hall.

A modern creation, "Football Fantasy", by third Brumbaugh won fourth place.

The judges of this year's Homecoming displays were Emmert Detwiler, John Middlekauff, and John Flemming.

Members of the 1952-53 Chapel Choir have been announced by director Miss Mary Pfotenhauer. They are as follows:

To Sing Alto

Altos—Barbara Grim, Allegra Forney, Noemi Tulp, Betti Brumbaugh, Shirley Kiesel, Vada Jean Roof.

Tenors—Clem Rosenberger, Bob Flory, Bob Fulton, Jerry Wright, Dan Raffensperger, Ernest Lashlee.

Basses—Wilfred Norris, Charles Williams, Joe Hinish, Pat Burns, Chester Wertsch, Blair Stilley.

Chosen By Audition

These students were chosen on a competitive basis after having auditioned for Miss Pfotenhauer.

Others who tried out have been placed on a reserve list. Rehearsals are held each Tuesday and Thursday.

In December, the choir will present the annual Christmas pageant.

Juniatian Takes First In Contest

The Juniatian has secured a First Class honor rating in the Associated Collegiate Press annual judging of college publications for the sixth consecutive time. Issues of the spring semester were considered in the judging.

Scoring 920 points out of a possible 1000, the Juniatian was one of 34 papers receiving the First Class or All American award for publications of schools of 500 to 999 students.

The 920 point total was amassed as follows: Out of 250 possible in each department the Juniatian received 215 for news value and sources, 240 for new writing and editing, 230 for headlines, typography and makeup, and 235 for department pages and special features.

The contest just concluded was the 47th such affair conducted by Associated Collegiate Press.

Grad Takes Pittsburgh Job

Anne Webber, a June graduate of Juniata, has been appointed as a home economist with the Pittsburgh Group Companies of the Columbia Gas System.

Miss Webber will conduct the home service program of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. in the Allentown section of Pittsburgh and in McKees Rocks

Editorializing

Here At Juniata It May Be Time For A Change

Most of this year's freshman initiation is over, and as initiations go this one was quite satisfactory. There was a minimum of poor cooperation and ill feeling.

The climax to the initiation period came last weekend when the Sophomore class followed tradition by holding a not unusual affair in the Woman's Gym. This occasion went smoothly, too.

The Juniatian gladly joins with Wes Diemer and the Underclassmen Committee in congratulating the two classes involved for smoothly carrying through the entire affair. Further, we congratulate the Committee for its skillful control of all the many facets of initiation days.

However, we must here raise a question. Why must congratulations be called for? Should we feel obligated to congratulate the classes for a bloodless initiation? Should we congratulate a committee because it managed to stop one group from cutting the throat of another?

With no feeling of malice to any class or segment of the student population, we question the right of a system to exist that causes individuals involved to heave relieved and congratulatory sighs at the close of the initiation period.

We question the justification of this self-sustaining custom of freshman initiation.

We question a system which raises doubt as to student conduct, promotes fear of haircuts and property damage, and other manifestations of misdirected adrenalin.

We doubt that some parts of the initiation procedure at JC have merit.

Let is be freely granted that certain of the freshman regulations have their value. Dinks, name tags, and restrictions such as those pertaining to the diagonal and front steps all have a place at Juniata. All serve one useful purpose or another. None are objectionable.

Why, though, should a glorious display such as we saw in the gym Friday night be sanctioned? Is there any reason for this custom save tradition?

A freshman should not more be the slave of a sophomore than a sophomore the slave of a junior, or a junior the slave of a senior. Since he is not a slave, he should not be subjected to the fruitless indignities of the wind-up to initiation week.

Fortunately, there was no rowdiness last Friday. There was no property damage. There were no haircuts. But there might have been.

Should a program which, we believe, is designed to solidify College and class spirit be permitted if that selfsame program can just as easily promote ill-feeling and spitefulness?

True, there were few untoward incidents this year, but there have been in the past, and there may be in the future, if the program is not altered.

Was it real fun for the sophomores to smear the frosh with foul smelling stuff? To walk them through the basement blindfolded? To scream at them like banshees? We doubt it.

We hope that some sophomore class, some time, will see fit to break with outmoded and foundationless tradition and inaugurate a new type of closing ceremony for the initiation. Classes of the past have rejected such a proposal. We hope that the class of 1956 will have had enough of initiation and will display enough initative to put a new, better, saner and more worthwhile freshman initiation into effect at Juniata.

FEATURE:

THE CIRCUIT RIDER

By JACK FREYMULLER

In the mail the other day we received a letter from an old friend of ours, Marvin Blaylock. Seems like Marv, or "Gaylord", as he was known when he and his wife, formerly Marion Frey, attended JC, came across a copy of the Juniatian with one of the "Circuit Riders" of recent issue in it. He was surprised enough to write to the author of same and inquire of his activities within the past two or so years. Marv had been subject to the same deal; Uncle Sam needed him to help run the services.

After giving us a rundown of what he and Marion had been doing since they left Juniata in 1950, Marv concluded his letter with an anecdote about something that had occurred during a local radio broadcast. We quote:

"On Saturday evening while announcing football scores, a local announcer came to the 36-6 shellacking JC handed Haverford and he wasn't sure how to pronounce "Juniata." He decided on "Juanita" and let it go at that. Some character called him up and confirmed the pronunciation. We were on our way home and before we could get there and call him, about 6 to 8 people called in to correct the pronunciation to "Juniata." Just thought you would like to know that the "ole Alma Mater" got some free publicity and and there must be quite a few JC Alumni kicking around here."

Certainly was interesting to speculate on who might have called in, Marv. Maybe our old friends Bob and Yvonne Smith were handy to the telephone down on 4th St. SE in Washington.

The Things Around Us

by the Editor

The big day is getting closer. Elections are only three weeks off. Both major candidates are making energetic campaign efforts. So are Truman and Taft. Do either Ike or Adlai like the intervention by the old-line politicians? Are they a help or a hinderance. Time will tell.

Truman is drawing crowds, especially in the middle west, but Margaret has been getting just as great ovations. There is much reason to wonder whether his presence will help stifle the "time for a change" sentiment.

Taft is without qualms about the General. Ike likes Bob. Bob likes being liked by Ike. Does Ike like being liked so publicly by Bob? Eisenhower's inner circle does not approve of this turn of events. It is worried about the liberal independents.

Stevenson is running behind but gaining. Ike has the better political personality, while Stevenson's charm is intellectual. The Governor is on the way up. To win, he must overtake Eisenhower in the closing days of the campaign. He thinks he can do it. The Republicans don't. Truman did it in '48. Stevenson still can do it in '52.

The whole Democratic campaign is based on the premise that there are more Democrats than Republicans to start with. Whether this is true or not will soon be proved. On the other hand, the GOP high command thinks Ike's personality will overshadow his political deficiencies. The opposition recognizes that Ike is learning fast, but it questions that the voter will like the teachers.

WITH THE CANDIDATES: Stevenson's paramount problem is to make himself known to the voters. To meet this goal he must work on a tight, fast schedule. The frequent use of network TV and radio also helps. However, the Governor bears up well under the ordeal. Perhaps the fact that he has always worked under a tight schedule may account for this. Top advisors of the Governor are Wilson Wyatt, novice campaign manager, and William McCormick Blair.

The Democratic candidate is not concerned that his crowds are smaller than Ike's. Ike has trouble holding his audiences. They don't listen to all of what he has to say. Stevenson faces no such difficulty, but his inner circle feels that he may be talking above the heads of the average citizen. The Governor's relations with the press are hurried but good.

Ike, too, has been busy. Assisted by his wife he is making extensive trips about the country. Everywhere his listeners are enthused. But Ike has been accused of trying to put too many eggs into one basket.

His difficulties lie especially in the area of mediation. It is no easy task to weld into one unit such men as Taft, Kem, Jenner, the Senator from Wisconsin, Dewey and the like. His main topics have been Korea, corruption and communism. Countering "You never had it so good," he quips "You can and will have it better."

There is, however, boring from within and it hurts the General. Most of the newsmen covering his tours are for Stevenson. They find too much ambiguity in the General's speeches and too little decisiveness.

CAMPUS RUNDOWN: College papers for Stevenson: The Spectator, (Columbia University); Daily News, (Yale); The Dartmouth; The Bulletin (Barnard). For Eisenhower is the Daily Princetonian of which Stevenson was once managing editor.

Surveys show that the students like Ike on most campuses. However, they like Stevenson's campaign better. Think his remarks are more straightforward and to the point. However, Eisenhower the favorite is running ahead of his party as would seem to be the case among most of the American population.

NATIONALLY: Walter Hallinan, Progressive Party candidate, gave a speech in Baltimore the other day. The nominee, who was chosen by his party while serving a sentence for contempt, has accused the General Services Administration of secretly ordering thousands of shrouds for the citizens of A-bomb succeptable areas. Accusing the capitalistic leaders of both parties of war and hate-mongering is hardly the way to win a popularity contest. As to his shrouds—there is nothing like shrouding the issues.

The British see us in a position of world supremacy such as they enjoyed in the last century. They suggest we profit by their mistakes, see war as not inevitable, and identify our biggest problems of world leadership as being those of internal isolation and European lack of cooperation. We cannot bribe or threaten the free world without undermining our own security.

Tribe Smashes Haverford 36-6 For Second Win

Sports Parade

By Harold Gray

What the average football fans view during the course of a game comprises a majority of the contest, but what he misses, many times, are the finer points of the game. Looking back over the Haverford game, many highlights standout in my mind, but there also are a few plays which were probably over-looked in the minds of the fans at College Field last Saturday afternoon. For instance, the beautiful blocking by the Juniata line on Fran Wampler's 54 yard jaunt, and the great game played by the JC defensive team with boys like "Killer" Conley, Amos Mosser, Dave LeFevre, Chuck Knox, Joe Trimber, Ed Mohney, Vince Piazza, and "Pop" Black standing out.

Bill Yerzyk's superb punting was another feature of the game. His boot which angled out of bounds on the Haverford one foot line was a thing of beauty. Earlier in the clash he had a 48 yarder measured from the line of scrimmage. Vince Piazza ran like an experienced college back returning punts Saturday afternoon. He was a tough boy to bring down and had a 42 yard TD romp.

The usually "unheard of" reserves had a big day Saturday and showed considerable promise. Mark Beech picked up a touchdown and had 22 yards gained on only five attempts. Barry Drexler, who played a nice defensive game, and Ron Bechtel were others who stood out.

Other plays that will be remembered for a while in my mind were John Winterstein's great 49 yard run after taking a flat pass from Yerzyk, a beautiful block by Dave LeFevre enabling Vince Piazza to return a Ford punt for considerable yardage, "Killer" Conley's return on a pass intereception and Fran Wampler's great 54 yard streak to the Haverford 25 yard line.

* * * *

HOMECOMING AT STATE—Central Penna. football fans will focus their attention to New Beaver Field at State College this weekend for the battle bteween the Nebraska Cornhuskrs and the unbeaten, once tied, Nittany Lions of Penn State. "Mister Touchdown", Bobby Reynolds will be in town but the senior All-American received an injury last Saturday and whether or not he will see action in undecided. But if the great back performs for the Homecoming crowd the visitors from the far corners of the Keystone State will see a ding-dong battle. Last year the Lions walked away with a 15-7 win. JC fans have a week off and many will make the 35 mile journey to see the inter-sectional clash tomorrow afternoon.

* * * * *

THERE'LL BE SOME CHANGES MADE—Don't be surprised if you see some "new faces" in the starting lineup when the 1952-53 edition of the Juniata hoopsters take the floor on Dec. 5 against Ursinus in the Memorial Gymnasium. Jake Handzalek, ace performer from Shickshinny, who averaged 34 (Yes 34!) points a game in high school; Walt Vanderbush, 6-6 pivotman from West Orange, N. J.; and George O'Brien, former JC performer now back one again on College Hill, may be on the starting five that December evening. Others who have impressed thus far are Dick Hilboky, junior floorman from Johnstown; Jack Golden, jump shot artist from Bordentown, N. J.; and Bernie Oriss, frosh performer from North Braddock.

* * * *

HERE AND THERE—While old JC was trouncing Haverford 36-6 last week our worthy opponents were in action too . . . a team called Lebanon Valley, maybe you've heard of them, opened against PMC last week and easily won 19-7 . . The Red Devils of Dickinson who will be here next week dropped a tough 33-21 verdict to a well balanced Franklin and Marshall team . . . Moravian, who lost 13-7 to Juniata was trounced 43-7 by Upsala last weekend . . . Well, Grove City finally scored a touchdown, but they lost to Hiram by a 33-7 count . . . . The Titans of Westminster continued on their winning ways by shelacking Bethany 33-0 . . . Susquehanna was finally scored upon, and almost beaten, as they squeezed past Swarthmore 24-20 . . . and Drexel disposed of Ursinus in a real close one 47-39.

The Sports Mirror

ONE YEAR AGO—The Indians smashed a tough Haverford team by a 34-6 count at the Fords' field. It set the season's mark at 2 wins, one loss and one tie.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Susquehanna pounded out a 20-7 win over the Indians in a contest played at Selinsgrove. The victory gave the Tribe a one win and two lost record.

TEN YEARS AGO—The Juniata JV football squad lost to the Naval Radio Technical School of Bedford 2-0 as the result of a fourth quarter safety. The varsity had an open date.

TONY SEGALAVICH
Juniata Indians

This senior tailback returned to action last Saturday against Haverford and threw two touchdown passes to Fran Wampler and gained 32 yards on the ground to pace the Juniata victory. A two time letterman from McKees Rocks, Tony can play almost any position on the team. Last year he began as an offensive end, was switched to a defensive halfback and this season is at tailback. He injured his leg in the Westminster tussle and made his reappearance last week against Haverford after a layoff.

Dinks Stay On

The frosh are wearing their dinks and name tags for an extended two week period as the result of their loss to the sophomores in the annual tug-of-war, touch football game, and girls' hockey game last Saturday. The girls of the class of '56 captured the hockey game when the contest ended in a 0-0 tie due to a rule which says the sophs must beat the frosh or a time match will be recorded as a freshman win. The sophs, paced by Pat Tarquino, easily won the football game 31-0 and in the deciding event, the sophs won the tug-of-war three straight pulls.

The Juniata offensive and defensive center is Dave LeFevre, Senior from Hanover, Pa. A two time letter winner, Dave teams with Ron Clapper to give the Indians a top notch line backing pair while on defense. "Mr. LeFevre" as he is known on campus, packs 170 pounds on his 6 foot frame and played a fine game Saturday against the Fords of Haverford, both on offense and defense.

44 Men See Action In Rout As Wampler Scores Twice

Forty four boys saw action, the home team gained 316 yards throughout the afternoon, a substitute back scored a touchdown in his first college game, a senior returned to the lineup after a two week layoff, tossed two touchdown passes and kicked four extra points. This was just part of the story of last week's game at College Field. The boys of Coach Bill Smaltz walked off the field with a 36-6 win over a hard fighting Haverford team.

Tony Segalovich celebrated his return to the JC lineup by tossing two touchdown passes from the tailback post, both to sophomore star Fran Wampler. Out for two weeks due to a leg injury, Tony gained 32 yards rushing and 91 more through the air lanes. Mark Beech, playing his first college game, scored for the Indians in the fourth quarter. Smaltz cleared the bench as the Indians rolled in high gear after a rather slow opening period.

Ed Mohney intercepted a Ford aerial and returned it to the enemy 11 yard line in the second quarter to open things. Three plays later, Segalovich tossed to Wampler for the first TD of the day. Tony converted and it read JC 7, Fords 0.

Mosser Blocks Punt

Big Amos Mosser, 248 pound defensive tackle of the Tribe, blocked a Ford punt in the end zone and the safety made it Juniata 9, Haverford 0. A beautiful punt by Bill Yerzyk of the Tribe put the Fords on their own one foot line and the attempted punt then was blocked by Mosser.

Just before the half, Juniata scored again. Another aerial from Segalovich to Wampler in the end zone with the conversion made it 16-0. That was the way it read at halftime. It was a 22 yard pass play for the TD.

Indians Roll

After the halftime the Indians really began to roll in high gear. After a series of downs, Cohill of the Fords fumbled while running a reverse and Vince Piazza, safety man of the Tribe, caught the pigskin in mid-air and scampered 42 yards for the touchdown. Segalovich converted and the score was Juniata 23, Haverford 0.

After Haverford returned the kickoff and had to punt on fourth down, the Indians began another touchdown drive. Freshman Ron Bechtel hit the line twice for a total of nine yards and Don Pheasant took over the chores and smashed five yards for the score. One again Segalovich made the point and it read 30-0.

Bill Yerzyk flipped a flat pass to John Winterstein good for a 49 yard advance all of the way to the Ford 11 yard line. Yerzyk carried to the two yard stripe and from there Mark Beech, playing his first college ball game, lugged it over. The conversion was wide and Juniata lead 36-0.

Fords Score

Haverford was now ready to break the ice with their first and only score of the day. Playing against the Indian third string, Don Cohill slashed off tackle, reversed his field and went 43 yards for the only TD for the Philadelphia visitors. The conversion was blocked.

Everyone on the Indian squad saw action and the reserves made good showings. Good enough, to perhaps merit another try when needed when the score is closer than it was near the end on Saturday afternoon. Fran Wampler led the Indian running attack with 78 net yards gained for the game and Bill Yerzyk's toss to John Winterstein gave him 49 yards via the air lanes to lead the Indian tossers. However Tony Sagalovich tossed two touchdown aerials for the Tribe. The boys of Coach Smaltz see action next on the 25th of the month entertaining Dickinson on Parents Day.

Mademoiselle Magazine Has Editorial Contest Another Time

Mademoiselle magazine is now accepting applications from undergraduate women for membership on its 1952-53 College Board.

Girls who are accepted on the College Board do three assignments during the college year. Assignments give College Board Members a chance to write features about life on their campus; to submit art work, fashion or promotion ideas for possible use in Mademoiselle; to develop their critical and creative talents; to discover their own abilities and job interests.

New York Trip Given

College Board Members who come out among the top twenty on the assignments win a Mademoiselle Guest Editorship, will be brought to New York next June to help write, edit and illustrate the August College issue. They will be paid a regular salary for their month's work, plus round-trip transportation to New York City.

While in New York, each Guest Editor takes part in a full calendar of activities designed to give her a head start in her career. She interviews a celebrity in her chosen field, visits fashion workrooms, newspaper offices, stores and advertising agencies.

Deadline Nov. 30

November 30 is the deadline for applying for membership on the College Board. Applicants write a criticism of Mademoiselle's August 1952 College issue. Successful candidates will be notified of acceptance on the College Board early in December; the first College Board assignment will appear in Mademoiselle's January issue.

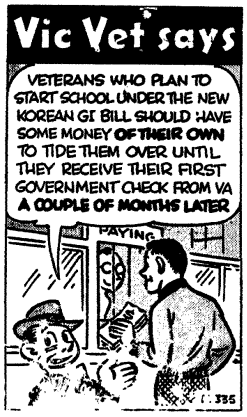
Law Test Set To Be Given November 15

The Law School Admission Test required of applicants for admission to a number of leading American law schools, will be given at more than 100 centers throughout the United States on the mornings of November 15, 1952, February 21, April 25, and August 8, 1953. During 1951-52 over 6300 applicants took this test, and their scores were sent to over 100 law schools.

A candidate must make separate application for admission to each law school of his choice and should inquire of each whether it wishes him to take the Law School Admission Test and when. Since many law schools select their freshman classes in the spring preceding their entrance, candidates for admission to next year's classes are advised ordinarily to take either the November or the February test, if possible.

The Law School Admission Test, prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service, features objective questions measuring verbal aptitudes and reasoning ability rather than acquired information. It cannot be crammed for. Example questions of the test are given in a Bulletin of Information.

Bulletins and applications for the test should be obtained four to six weeks in advance of the desired testing date from Law School Admission Test, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, N. J. Completed applications must be received at least ten days before the desired testing date in order to allow ETS time to complete the necessary testing arrangements for each candidate.



Oller Hall Has Anniversary

Oller Hall celebrated its 12th birthday yesterday. The $130,000 auditorium, with a seating capacity of 875, was dedicated in 1940 by the late President Emeritus C. C. Ellis, who was president of the college at that time.

Keys to the new hall were turned over to Dr. Gaius Brumbaugh, chairman of the board of trustees, by Mr. John Hunter, architect.

A special dedication for the pipe organ donated by Bello Oller of Waynesboro took place Dec. 1, 1940.

CLUB COLUMN

Religious Clubs Active

By Sherill Edwards

Although there is much hustling and bustling, scampering and scurrying on campus, little of this effort is apparently being put forth in the way of club acitvities. When inquiries are made concerning the students' extra-curricular doings, a minimum of activities are to be found.

Having recently had the membership drive, the FTA will meet tonight in order to organize and elect officers. All members are urged to meet at 7:15 in Room C.

Anyone who might be interested is invited to attend the weekly IVCF, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, meeting tonight at 7:15 in Founders Chapel. A Bible Study dealing with a portion of the first chapter of the Gospel according to John will be pursued.

Don Bracken, president of JCA, discloses that the Rev. Marvin Bottiger, Protestant Chaplain of the Huntingdon State Industrial School for Defective Delinquents, will address the JCA Tuesday at 7:15 in Founders Chapel. Many of the upperclassmen are familiar with Mr. Bottiger, as he has spoken at Chapel, JCA, and IVCF meetings.

Eight Lambda Gamma members attended the Province II Workshop at Penn State last Friday and Saturday. Those persons who represented Juniata College were Jane Abel, Betty Adams, Lois Bratton, Betsy Brant, Marion Brightbill, Norma Duff, Dotty Gingrich and Martha Petre. Martha Petre served as vice-president of the fall workshop.

Civil Service Sets Test Date

The United States Civil Service Commission today announced an examination for Meteorological Aid positions paying from $2,950 to $3,140 a year. Most of the positions are in the Weather Bureau and are located in Washington, D. C. and throughout the United States. Some positions will also be filled outside the United States.

A written test will be given; appropriate experience or education is also required.

Full information regarding the requirements, and instructions on applying may be secured at most first and second-class post offices, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications must be filed not later than October 21, 1952.

Vol. 29—No. 6 | Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. | Friday, Oct. 24, 1952

Senate Names JWSF Head

Jack Freymuller has been appointed by the Senate to head the Juniata World Service Fund drive for this year. The drive will be held sometime during the spring.

Freymuller, a junior English major, hails from Stroudsburg, Pa.

Only Senate Sponsored Drive

The JWSF drive is the only fund help on campus to be approved by the Senate. Held annually, the campaign is designed to raise funds for charity and relief through the medium of student solicitation and other means.

No definite date or fund goal has been set for the drive. Traditionally, the number of dollars sought is equal to the year in which the drive is held.

Total receipts from last year's drive were $2,136.37. This was divided among five beneficiaries according to individual donors' wishes.

5 Helped Last Year

Receiving benefits from last year's campaign were the Christian University of Toyko, H. Stover Kulp, Paul S. Hoover, the World Student Service Fund and the Foreign Student Aid Fund.

The 1952 drive was headed by Ray Siren. Dave Bayer was the campaign treasurer.

Fire Ceremony Held Last Sun.

The annual firelighting ceremony was held last Sunday in the Social Rooms.

Ginny Yohn, Chairman of Women's House, led a procession of Indian maidens to the fireplace, after which the first was lighted by Jane Hoover. The same log has been used since 1936.

Following this ritual, a sextet composed of Jeanne Blend, Mary Jane Hershberger, Jody Casteel, Jeanne Baker, Allegra Forney, and Barbara Lape sang as a tribute to the fire god "The Fire Song."

A prayer to the spirit of fire was given by Naomi Kulp and the traditional firelighting poem was read by Betty Shearer.

In closing the ceremony, the sextet sang "Alfarata" and the entire group of girls joined in the singing of the Alma Mater.

Essay Contest Now Sponsored

The subject "An Analysis of Some Aspects of Grain Marketing Activity" may win as much as $300 in a writing contest sponsored by Richard F. Uhlmann of the Uhlmann Grain Company, and the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago.

All manuscripts must be submitted to the Public Relations Department, Board of Trade, 666 Trade Bldg., 141 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago, no later than June 1, 1953.

Manuscripts should deal with some aspect of marketing of commodities traded on the Chicago Board of Trade. Novelty of thought, use of source material, organization and presentation and English and composition will be used as bases for the judging.

Open House Announced

Students are reminded that open house on Parents Day will be limited to the hours between 11:00 and 1:30; Harold Brumbaugh Assistant to the President, has announced.

Game Bus To Be Chartered

A bus will be chartered for the Susquehanna football game Saturday, Nov. 1 if enough students sign the slip posted on Founders bulletin board. The minimum number of signers needed will be 25.

2 Committees To Investigate JC Activities

This report was prepared by the faculty committee on extra-curricular activities.

What happens to all the hours in a student's day? Of course it is assumed that some are spent in classrooms and hoped that more are spent in preparation for those classes; but there are a host of other activities which one learns about constantly by dining room announcements or notices on the bulletin boards.

Just how much of the interest, effort, and time of our students is involved in these activities? Are the clubs and other extra-curricular activities providing a well rounded program?

Who is kept the busiest in these activities? How much student and faculty time is used to keep our varsity and intramural sports, musical and dramatic productions, college publications and club activities in working order?

Two Committees Named

These are some of the questions that two different committees are undertaking to answer. A faculty committee headed by Dr. Kenneth Crosby and a committee of the Senate headed by Jack Ulsh are making separate studies to find out what is happening in Juniata's extra-curricular program.

As a start in this direction a questionnaire has been prepared which will be passed out to all students on Monday. Each student will be asked to indicate what extra-curricular activities he participates in and to make an estimate of the number of hours per week or month spent on each activity.

Students Must Estimate

Since some of the most time consuming portions of the college activities program have not yet begun, the student will find it necessary to base some of his answers on last year's experiences.

It is hoped that an analysis of the information from these questionnaires will give answers to some of the above-mentioned questions. It is further hoped that students will begin at once consulting their logbooks, diaries, and daily schedules so that the information will be as accurate as possible.

Ted Shawn

● Directs Dance Group ●

Shawn, Dancers Appear Tonight

The Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival, under the direction of Ted Shawn, will appear in Oller Hall tonight at 8:15 p. m. This is the first of a series of Community Concerts to be held on campus.

The varied program will include ballet numbers by Tatiana Grantzeva and Polajenko (see page 4), ballroom duets by Stuart and Vanya, and Ralph McWilliams, and modern dance selections by Myrna Kinch.

Ted Shawn is credited by dance historians and critics with ushering in the contemporary and characteristically American dance as it is today. He organized the Denishawn companies which for 15 years toured the world and brought forth all the moderns.

To the male dancer he has given an important new place in the theatre. Dance history was made by the group of athletes he recruited for his Men's Group.

He is director and founder of the Jacob's Pillow University which is the dance center of the United States.

Tonight he will be seen in several numbers and will also serve as master of ceremonies and commentator for the program.

Pfotenhaver Jaeger To Give Recital Sat.

On Saturday at 8:15 p. m. Miss Mary Jo Pfotenhauer, mezzo soprano, and Miss Marie Jaeger, pianist, will present a recital in Oller Hall. Both are members of the faculty.

Miss Pfotenhauer, a June 1952 graduate of the University of Michigan, studied under Harold Haugh; Miss Jaeger took her master's degree from the Cincinatti Conservatory of Music, also in June 1952.

Selections by Miss Pfotenhauer will include an Italian Aria by Donizetti, German Songs by Wagner and Schubert and contemporary English songs among which are "The Candy Witch" by Frank LaForge, "Black Roses" by Sibelius, "The Lamb" by Chanler and "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes" by Hageman. Professor Johnson will be the accompanist.

Miss Jaeger will offer the "Nocturne in C Minor" and the "Sherzo in C Minor", both by Chopin. She will also play selections from Debussy.

Pentz Reports Cast Changes

Several changes in the cast of "My Maryland" have been announced by Jo Pentz, student coordinator of the production to be given Nov. 14 and 15.

Bob Flory will replace Wilfred Norris in the role of Tim Greene, and Stan Schrock has been cast as Stonewall Jackson.

Miss Pentz reports that work is progressing satisfactorily. All the costumes have been ordered from Millers' in Philadelphia, the same agency which was contacted for previous productions.

Under the direction of Lolita and Juanita Carfora, the set construction committee has begun work on the set which involves four scene changes. The flats have been washed out the crew is now awaiting the arrival of the paints.

637 Here For Parents Day

There are approximately 637 reservations for Juniata's annual Parent's Day tomorrow. The program begins with registration from 9 a. m. till 1:30 p. m. in Founders Chapel where the guests will receive their supply of tickets.

Saturday morning classes will be open to visitation by parents. Open House in all dorms, sponsored by the Women's House Committee, the Men's House Committee, and the Senate begins at 11 a. m. and ends at 1:30 p. m. Judges for the Parent's Day Contest will look at the rooms at this time. A buffet luncheon will be servet from 11:45 a. m. till 1 p. m.

Game At 2 P. M.

The football game, Juniata vs. Dickinson, is scheduled for 2 p. m. Between the halves, the annual Parent's Day Ceremony will be held with the father of John Richman, '53, Mr. J. W. Richman of Wenonah, New Jersey, representing the parents and Dave Bayer '53 of Woodbury, New Jersey, representing the students.

At 8:15 p. m. a faculty recital by Miss Marie Jaeger, pianist, Miss Mary J. Pfotenhauer, mezzo-soprano, and Professor Donald Johnson, accompaniest, will be presented in Oller Hall.

Students who do not have last period classes are encouraged to eat early at the luncheon to accommodate the late comers.

Criteria Listed

The Parent's Day Room Contest Awards will be based on:

1. originality of room plan
2. neatness and attractiveness
3. adapability to given physical limitations
4. suitability and utility values

This year's planning committee for Parent's Day consists of Harold Brumbaugh (Charman), Francis J. Mathias, Dean James F. Penney, Dean Alice B. Dove, Phyllis Link, Virginia Yohn, and Dave Bayer.

Classes Choose Skit Chairmen

Class chairmen for the All Class Night Program have been selected, according to Martha Petre, general chairman.

Ron Cherry and Bob Bailey will serve as senior coordinators, while Louise Gehman and Helen Stutzman have been elected junior class chairmen.

Leading the sophomore class, victorious last year, will be Joe Hinish. A committee consisting of Nancy Rosenberger, Bill Collins, Ben D'Agostino, and Don Davis, has been chosen to represent the freshman.

Miss Petre has announced that the system of judging the skits has been revised. For the convenience of the judges, a point system will now be used.

She also reports that work on the skits has begun.

6 Seniors Now Student Teach

Six seniors are now doing their student teaching in Huntingdon High School, according to Dr. Edgar Kiracofe.

They are Bob Bailey, a math major teaching Algebra II and Plane Geometry; Betsy Dively, an English major instructing junior English classes; Phyllis Link, another English major teaching freshmen and sophomore literature.

Leo Kuhn and John Potteiger, history majors, teaching United States History and Ancient Civilization; and Della Fulton, instructing in Spanish.

Short Classes Nov. 1

In order that students may may attend the football game between Juniata's Indians and the undefeated Crusaders of Susquehanna University at Selinsgrove next Saturday afternoon, there will be a change in class schedule for that day.

Each class will run for only 40 minutes. In that way, classes will be over at 11:00. Students will thus be enabled to make the two hour journey to the game without inconvenience.

Johnson Reveals Production Difficulties As Operetta Rehearsals Get Under Way

The main problem confronting Prof. Donald Johnson, co-director of "My Maryland" is that of working out dance routines for the chorus.

One of Johnson's first duties is selecting the operetta and listening to cast and chorus try-outs. "The people available, the audience, and of course the budget are all to be considered," reports Prof. Johnson.

The scope of his activities includes training the chorus in their songs and routines and working individually with cast members. In this he is assisted by Mrs. Johnson. Contracting for costumes and conferring on stage business also fall under his direction.

Cast, Chorus Rehearses

Separate cast and chorus rehearsals are well underway. According to Johnson, the chorus has show considerable improvement in the past three weeks.

Blocking the action on stage also creates a problem, and the directors are responsible for scattering the actors over the entire stage and creating an orderly production.

Balancing the orchestra with the soloists and chorus is another problem which Prof. Johnson must solve before the musical opens Nov. 14.

Prof. Johnson

● Directs Musical ●

Dickey Coaching Cast

The uppermost question in the minds of Prof. Johnson and Miss Mim Dickey, who is coaching the cast, is what will happen when the cast, chorus, orchestra, and crews get together for the first time.

The setting for this production is Frederick, Maryland, a storm center between the North and South during the Civil War. Barbara Frietchie, the belle of the town, has a rendezvous with Jack Negley, a Confederate soldier, but during the course of events she meets and falls in love with Captain Trumbull a Union soldier. Barbara's family and friends are against such a match but the pretty lass has her way in the end.

Committee Does Research

The Carfora twins did research on the architecture of the Civil War Period in order to transform the stage into the typical Southern town represented in the musical.

They hope to have the entire set completed by Nov. 9 when it will be used for both dress and technical rehearsals.

Men are needed to help construct the set and anyone interested should contact the Carfora twins.

Buying Power Triples

The average American employee's hourly wages more than tripled in the first half of this century, in terms of what he could buy with his pay, according to the Committee for Economic Development.

Editorializing

These Times Demand Thought

The political season and the football season coincide this year, and there is much mud and battle involved in each affair. Yet, although the nation and the campus should be thoughtfully considering the outcome of the election, all outward indications are that while both politics and football share the ability to bring out emotional phrases and emotional action, only football holds enough appeal to make the individual dig into the records. We have a situation wherein we can state with firm assurance that Michigan State is the top team in the country, while remaining blissfully ignorant about the provisions of the McCarran act.

Great efforts are being made by national figures on all sides to get the electorate to the polls on November 4. The largest vote in American history is predicted this year. What, though, is more important? Is it more important to get sixty million voters to the polls, or to have sixty million informed citizens?

The problem facing the nation and the campus is one of securing an enlightened electorate by disseminating information—not the half truths and slogans of the politicians, but firm, substantial, hard, cold facts.

How can we do this? We should examine each party's record, rather than the candidates' promises. We can draw our own conclusions by careful thought, not by reference to slogans and cliches. Let us not bow to the great god politics; rather, let us examine the facts as they are, not as we or the politicians wish that they might be.

We owe it to ourselves and the world of free men to see that America has the best government possible during these difficult years. We can assure ourselves that this will be the case by recourse to careful thought and honest self-appraisal.

FEATURE:

THE CIRCUIT RIDER

By JACK FREYMULLER

Just because we think we've figured out how we're being educated perhaps it's a good idea to kick that idea around a bit.

"Those darn old professors! They never teach you anything, do they—Aw! he can't even get the material across!—He can't lecture worth a hoot—She has yet to come out with anything worthwhile!"

That's you talking, fella, if you're the average student at JC. that's the voice you hear in the Social Rooms, the day student's room and the dorms. It a whining voice sometimes, and now and then its loud with wounded pride. The poor fellow or girl just can't figure out why that prof doesn't know how to lecture. After all, they're paying good money to take those courses; the least he could do is teach them something.

These jokers are fooling themselves and by their continual caterwauling helping to delude others. Its a vicious circle. Like propaganda. Repeat it enough and it becomes like a truth.

The meaning of education is to be led along the paths of knowledge. To us, the teacher should have to do no more than organize the material, illuminate it and be symbol of true facts. If we don't have the ambition to go out and get supplementary information, then should we blame the teacher? Must he necessarily integrate his course material with every other known science and art to be a "good teacher"?

The Circuit Rider calls for a little less crying among his compatriots and a little bit of self-analysis. Less time in the bull session and more in the books if you intend to gripe.

For about the last six times that we've taken our laundry down to the basement in the girl's dorm, we've been told by females waiting there that the machines are "busted." That, lately, has been good news, for we promptly put our clothes into the supposedly "busted" machine and doggone if it doesn't work. The truth being that people don't know the workings of the machines and consequently they think a stopped machine is not working properly.

Diagnosis follows: (facing machines)

Left machine will not start unless you twist the dial around until you hear a click in the coin box.

Middle machine timer will expire in the middle of a wash. Pull dial towards you or put another dime in.

Right machine stops with water remaining in. Place dime in slot, set dial one minute before "off", push coin in. Machine will expel water. Then move dial over to "wash" or "soak"

Most of the difficulties are caused by people fiddling with the dials—speeding up the process. How about giving the rest of the school a break?

Student Declares Initiation Fair

Oct. 19, 1952

To the Editor:

We should like to take this opportunity to express our opposition to the editorial in last week's Juniatian.

Initiation at Juniata may be unsatisfactory, but not for the reasons given.

Every other college has initiation, and Juniata is not any different from those colleges. We think instead that initiation should be increased in some areas.

Nobody was hurt this year, or any other year. Fun was had by all concerned. The freshmen don't mind so why should the Juniatian?

We wish to go on record as against any change in initiation at JC.

Richard Nixon was last week elected treasurer of the Young Democratic Club of the University of North Carolina. He is a distant cousin of the Republican vice-presidential nominee.

The girls at Texas State College for Women are still pulling variations on the old gag of selling the Brooklyn bridge to the uninitiated. A freshman there proudly told a friend that she had bought a ticket from a senior guaranteeing her a free ride in the administration building elevator.

The housing shortage at Michigan State College has its compensations. One of the dormitories there is now housing students of both sexes. Oldtime students are saying they "never had it so good."

Men, if you think the ratio of males to females on this campus is too steep, try attending Davidson College. Its enrollment: 825 men, 1 woman.

Ad in the UCLA Daily Bruin: "Will the blonde young lady who wore sun glasses Thursday morning (besides other things) be in the cafeteria between 11 and 12 a. m.?"

A South Dakota State College coed tells of her experience during registration. It seems that things were going smoothly until she stepped into an especially long line. After a two hour visit, she reached—the men's washroom.

Ohio State's 1953 yearbook, The Makio, will be heard as well as seen. In each yearbook there will be a 15 minute phonograph record of some of the sounds most familiar to Ohio State students—the chimes, the marching band, school songs and excerpts from speeches by campus leaders.

Indians Face Dickinson In Parent's Day Clash Saturday

Juniata Announces 19 Game 1952-53 Basketball Schedule

Sports Parade

By Harold Gray

Parent's Day visitors will probably see a slam bang ball game on College Field tomorrow afternoon when the Red Devils of Dickinson tangle with the Indians. The Tribe could be undefeated at this time if it hadn't of been for a fine passing attack by one, Dick Bannick. The Westminster quarterback cost the Indians a victory and currently is leading the Titans on a four game win streak. Getting back to tomorrow's game, the Indians will face one of their toughest assignments of the year in the visitors from Carlisle. The locals have looked good in their first three games and at times have looked like an experienced, well-balanced college eleven.

They're "up" for this week's game and much of the decision of whether we win or lose may be up to our defensive unit. Glancing back over the scores it has been proven that the visitors can be scored upon, but to hold them scoreless is another thing. I feel that if the defensive squad of Juniata can hold the Red Devils to less than 13 or 14 points, we may see a home team victory tomorrow afternoon. That's a big IF and let's wait and see what happens. Prepare yourselves for a ball game which will be a lot closer than some "experts" think.

* * * * *

This may be THE year for sports on the upgrade here on College Hill. The football team has "won" fans downtown as well as here on campus with its fine play. A winning season, a thing almost unmentionable a month ago, now appears as a definite possibility. It seems a little early to discuss basketball, but the floormen won't surprise me if they win at least half of their games this winter. There's plenty of material for "Doc" Greene to work with and he may "bring home" the winning season which he and JC court fans have long desired. The "Sleeper" of the year may be the track team. File this for future reference—the thinclads will make the biggest improvement in the year's athletic activities on College Hill. That takes us along to baseball, which has just gone into hibernation for four months. The squad should equal if not better last year's sensational season. Golf, always a big winner on College Hill, should come through with another favorable campaign. A few linksmen are needed and I'm sure they'll be around by next April to join Cherok, Arasin, Bayer and Fahrney.

* * * * *

AROUND THE STATE—While the Indians were enjoying a weekend to themselves, our opponents were busy keeping their foes on the go. The undefeated, untied Westminster Titans kept rolling by downing Grove City, a future opponent, 14-12 . . . Ursinus had no trobule with Haverford and came home a 19-0 victor . . . Lebanon Valley took win number two and battered Upsala 13-7 . . . and PMC downed Moravian 22-0 . . . Dick Bannick, talented Westminster leader, tossed two more touchdown passes last week, leading his team to a close 14-12 win.

The Sports Mirror

ONE YEAR AGO—The Tribe enjoyed an off week and prepared for their Homecoming clash with Susquehanna. The Athletic Department released a schedule of 17 basketball games.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Through an error last week the Susquehanna game of five years ago was played this week and JC lost 20-7. tioned in the last issue.

TEN YEARS AGO—JC remained undefeated as they trampled out a 28-0 decision over Westminster for their third straight.

Open December 5 Against Ursinus

The Juniata College Athletic Department has released a 19 game basketball schedule for the 1952-53 season. It is an increase of two games over the 17 game card played by the Indian hoopsters last season. The Tribe opens at home against Ursinus on Dec. 5 and plays four other contests, two at home, before the Christmas vacation. Another open spot in the schedule is during the mid-semester exams from Jan. 24 to Feb. 9.

Added to the card is Ursinus, the opening foe, and with this exception the same teams faced last year will be opponents again this campaign.

Seven Vets Return

Formal practice begins Nov. 1 and Coach "Doc" Greene will have seven veterans back to build his team around. Among the returnees is Dave Pollock, last year's frosh sensation from Berwick, Pa., who established a new game record with 43 points against Lebanon Valley in the final game of the season. Pollock was high scorer for the Tribe last season with 304 points for a 17.9 average. Other veterans returning include Dave Bayer, senior 6-5 center from Woodbury, N. J.; Leo Kuhn, the other senior, from Hollidaysburg; Fran Zimmerman, sparkplug from Annville, a junior; John Cook, jump shot artist and a junior from Greensburg; Herb Law, soph 6-5 center from Lilly, and Jim Boulton, sophomore guard from Burlington, N. J., who is expected to see extensive action this year after spending the 1951-52 campaign with the Jayvees.

Frosh Will Help

The team will be aided by George O'Brien, returning former vet; Dick Hilbocky and Herb Halkovich, transfers from Pitt-Johnstown Center; Jake Hanzalek, frosh star from Shickshinny; Walt Vanderbush, 6-6 pivotman, and Tory Froistland from West Orange, N. J.; "Bud" Brinner, frosh star who will aid the team; Howie Kersteder, from Shamokin, and Bernie Orris, floorman from North Braddock. Others who will be vying for berths on the varsity include Lee Hallman of Pottstown; and John Winterstein, now operating for Coach Smaltz's gridders as well as Chuck Gross and Bill West, a Huntingdon product.

The varsity schedule includes:

Dec. 5—Ursinus	Home
Dec. 6—Bucknell	Away
Dec. 10—Indiana STC	Home
Dec. 13—Lebanon Valley	Away
Dec. 17—Lycoming	Home
Jan. 7—Lycoming	Away

Indians Seek Third Win Tomorrow But Red Devils Are Favored To Win

The Indians will make their final appearance of the year on College Field tomorrow afternoon when they tangle with the Red Devils of Dickinson. The visitors sport a 2-2 record and in their last outing downed Western Maryland 7-6 in a close one. Their other victory came over a hard fighting Allegheny squad 18-0 and they have lost to Trinity 21-0 and to Franklin and Marshall 33-21. Tomorrow is Parent's Day an one of the largest crowds of the season is expected to be on hand for the 2 P. M. kickoff.

The Tribe goes into the clash with a 2-1 record with victories over Moravian 13-7 and Haverford 36-6. Their lone defeat was at the hands of Westminster, currently undefeated, 27-20. Coach Smaltz has been working the locals hard and is prepping for an upset this week. The Red Devils will enter the clash approximately a two touchdown favorite.

Use Split-T

The visitors will employ the popular Split-T formation and will find themselves against the "Juniata Shift". The Indians versatile offense uses the single-wing, double-wing, and winged-T. The JC eleven has found that their air attack, while not outstanding, has produced several touchdowns this year. Short passes from the single wing have given the Tribe several scores thus far.

All Juniata hands will be ready to go this week. Fred Hamor, out of action since the first week on pre-season practice, has had the cast removed from his fractured ankle and should be ready for work within the next few weeks. His return to the blocking back post should provide the team with another fast moving ball carrier. Since Hamor's injury, Fran Wampler has been outstanding and currently leads the team in scoring.

Mid-Season Clash

After the Juniata game, Dickinson meets Drexel, Gettysburg, Johns Hopkins and Ursinus in that order. The next JC game will be next Saturday when they travel to Selinsgrove to face Susquehanna on the latter's Homecoming Day. Last year the men of Amos Alonzo Stagg downed the Tribe 21-12. They are currently undefeated and did not lose a game last season either. They face Johns Hopkins tomorrow afternoon.

FM & M Champions Of IM Football

The FM & M gridders, led by Coach Nick Rocco, have captured the 1952 Intramural Football League title. The new champs compiled a 7-1-0 record with their lone loss to the Midway Monsters. The FM & M squad climaxed a successful season by downing the Sherwood Trotters 12-0. Fred Wian led the victors with two touchdowns. He intercepted a pass and raced 65 yards for the first score and took a pass from Dave Hackett and went 70 yards for the final six pointer.

The champions continued on their winning ways after snaring the IM softball crown last spring. They replace the Trojans as the IM football champs after finishing in second place last year.

Members of the winning squad include "Hooch" Hoover, Fred Wian, Nick Rocco, Joe Hinish, Henry Jara, Bob Farhney, Dave Hackett, Dick Bowker, Herb Halkovich, and Bob Landes.

The next Intramural activity will be the basketball loop which will begin within the next two weeks.

Tour Suggested For Parents

The following tour itinerary may be of interest to you and to your visitors on Parents Day.

Out Moore Street
Left on Stone Creek Road to White Schoolhouse 9.2 miles from the College Right on Macadam Road over Lick Ridge & Standing Stone Creek Ridge.
Right on William Penn Highway to corner at Penn Koffee Shop and the banks
Return to the College
Total distance—25 miles

Points of interest around Huntingdon are as follows:

Driving out Cold Springs road you have Warrior's Ridge to the left, Cold Springs on the right—about 2 miles from the College. During the Civil War there was a convalescent camp for Union Soldiers here.

Warm Springs—In hemlock grove to the right—about 4 miles from the College. Indians used this water believing that it had curative values. From 1350-1875 there was a very fashionable hotel located here. Many wealthy people from the cities spent their vacations at this hotel.

After turning right at the school house you cross the Standing Stone Creek covered bridge and enter the Lick Ridges. The Mountain to your left, after driving five or more miles, is known as the Standing Stone Ridge.

Driving over Skyline drive on Standing Stone Creek Ridge, looking to the west, you see Tussey's Mountain, and to the right of it you see 2 water gaps—the one on the left is Waterstreet Gap, through which the William Penn Highway passes; the one on the right is Spruce Creek Gap, through which the Pennsylvania Railroad passes.

At the top of Tussey's Mountain you can see a fire tower located in what is called "the Loop." At this point the mountain folds back on itself, which is a unique formation, the like of which is not known on this side of the Rocky Mountains. Following Tussey's Mountain to the left you notice a sudden rise in altitude.

In the valley below at this point is located the town of Markleburg, the birthplace and early home of the late Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, former President of our College and Governor of our commonwealth.

From flagpole hill looking east you can see Terrace Mountain. To the left is Jack's Narrows and mountain, named after Captain Jack, an Indian fighter about 1740, one of the earliest white trappers. The valley beyond Terrace Mountain is known as Piney Ridge, the face of which is called Shelving Rocks. The mountain to the right of Piney Ridge is Southern end of Warrior's Ridge.

Tatiana Grantzeva and Polajenko, Russian ballet stars, will appear in Oller Hall tonight. Tatiana was soloist with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo while Polajenko first won solo roles in the Ballets des Champs Elysees.

Masque Presents Readings Thurs.

Betti Brumbaugh, Wilfred Norris, Jo Pentz, and Betty Shearer will present readings at the bimonthly meeting of the Masque at 7:15 Thursday evening in Oller Hall.

The presentations will be the same as those given last spring in the fourth annual Penn State Reading Festival.

James Masefield's "The Wanderer", a narrative poem, will be Betti Brumbaugh's selection, and Wilfred Norris will read some sonnets by Santayana.

Jo Pentz has selected a prose writing of Saint-Exupery's entitled "Little Prince", while Betty Shearer has chosen to present a reading of drama from George Bernard Shaw's "Joan of Arc".

Library Lists Travel Books

by Pat Torton

Have you read any good books lately? In case the answer is no, the Library has four new books for your enjoyment.

William O. Douglas, author of "Strange Lands and Friendly People," has recently written a new book entitled "Behind the High Himalayas." The story deals with his travels and adventures in Central Asia and tells of the emergencies of that area in the battle between communism, tradition and democracy.

Douglas' View Liberal

His point of view is liberal and he includes insight into political and social affairs with his vivid verbal descriptions. He states that revolution in Central Asia is natural and desirable while western influence is pointless and self-defeating.

The book largely concerns the affairs of people, and he emphasizes his enthusiasm for a democratic way of life.

Another book dealing with travel is "Windows for the Crown Prince" by Elizabeth Mary Vining. It is the story of an American woman who for four years acted as a private tutor to the Crown Prince of Japan. One finds a clear presentation of contemporary Japan, showing the people as they changed from war's devastation to a road of peace.

"Cruel Sea" Best Seller

Those interested in Navy life would probably enjoy "The Cruel Sea" by Nicholas Monserrat. This is a novel of contemporary history dealing with the battle of the North Atlantic.

The plot concerns two British ships and their crews in the war years. Since the author himself served in the Royal Navy, his book is written with authority.

For a picture of navy life in the United States service, your best bet is the "Caine Mutiny". This book deals with life on mine sweepers during the second World War. Two themes run through the entire book: that of the personal life of Ensign Keith, and that of the mutiny itself. The main action takes place in the Pacific theatre.

Descriptive matter is informative and readable.

Outing Club Has Membership Drive

An opportunity for a good time, student fellowship, and outdoor life is available now in membership in the Outing Club.

A cabin maintained by the club is, according to club president Bob Hower, "just the place to forget about those lectures, books, themes and term papers that are getting to be a headache."

The cabin provides sleeping facilities for 18 girls and 18 men, and feeding facilities for many more. The nine double decker bunks in each wing are supplied with mattresses, and each person is supplied with two woolen blankets, a pillow and a clean pillow slip.

The cabin is supplied with a small library which is well stocked with nature lore and other reading material. Too, there is a ping pong table, phonograph and records, and a large stone fireplace to give warmth to the outings.

The Outing Club is now conducting a membership campaign for it believes that it is a case of "the more the merrier" when it comes to socials. The club urges that students seeking a good time join the organization and go along on the next outing.

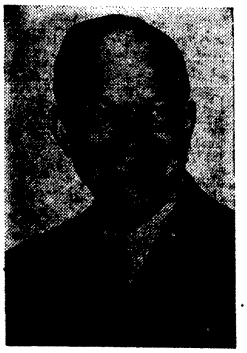
Campus Election Set To Be Held Today — Ike Or Adlai ?

An all-campus straw vote is being taken today to determine student preference for the candidates running for various national and local offices. The polling place on the front campus will close this afternoon, and tabulations should be completed some time this evening.



Eisenhower

● Republican Choice ●

Stevenson

● Democratic Candidate ●

Regular specimen ballots obtained through the courtesy of Mr. E. Kenneth Fox, a clerk in the County Commissioner's Office, will be employed. Students need not vote for candidates for local office, although any votes cast for these candidates will be counted.

Sponsored by Juniatian

The poll, sponsored by the Juniatian, is being held only four days before citizens all over the nation go to the polls to select the thirty-third president of the United States.

Seven parties are sponsoring candidates for office. Those seeking the position of president and vice-president are as follows. Republican: Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard Nixon; Democratic Party: Adlai Stevenson and John Sparkman; Prohibition Party: Stuart Hamblin and Enoch A. Holtwick; Progressive Party: Vincent Hallinan and Charlotte Bass; Socialist Party: Darlington Hoopes and Samuel Friedman; Industrial Government: Eric Haas and Stephen Emory; Militant Workers: Farrell Dobbs and Myra Tanner Weiss.

Seeking election to the Senate are Edward Martin, Republican; Guy Kurtz, Democrat; Ira S. Sassaman, Prohibition; William J. VanEssen, Socialist; Frank Knotek, Industrial Government; Anna Chester, Militant Workers.

Candidates Listed

Candidates for seats in the House of Representatives from the 18th District of Pennsylvania are Richard M. Simpson, Republican and Philip R. Shoemaker, Democrat.

Also on the ballot are candidates for various state offices and a referendum on a proposed amendment to the state constitution.

Results of the campus election are to be released as soon as the tabulations are completed.

Juniatian Was Petitioned For 28 Years Ago

The Juniatian celebrates its 28th anniversary this week.

Begun in 1924 as a result of a student petition for a weekly paper, the Juniatian was a continuation of the "Juniata Echo", a monthly paper which had existed since 1891.

Its aims, as listed by the first editor Stanley Stroup, were as follows: 1—to mold student opinion, 2—to report campus events, 3—to portray student opinion, and 4—to cement the relationship between students and alumni.

Paper Was Larger

From the period 1926 to 1934, the paper was a six column one, several inches longer than the present issue. The back page was devoted entirely to alumni news while each issue contained a column of personals and a Lyceum Club Column.

In 1934 the Juniatian became a member of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association, and received a first class honor rating which is has retained to this day.

Miller's Early Advertiser

A glance over back issues shows that Millers' Hardware has been a steady advertiser since the inauguration of the paper.

The 1932 editor, Dean Morley Mays, reports that each issue, before being printed, had to receive a nod of approval from the president, then Calvert C. Ellis. Harold Brumbaugh, assistant to the president, served as business manager in 1933.

Mid-Term Wednesday

Next Wednesday, Nov. 5 will mark the end of the first half of the 1952 fall semester. The grades will be turned in by the instructors to the Office of the Registrar before Monday, Nov. 10. They probably will not be available to the students before Thursday, Nov. 13.

Poet To Speak Mon. In Chapel

Chad Walsh, book reviewer, will speak at Monday's chapel service. His topic will be "The Artist in his Garret and the Church down the Street".

Mr. Walsh is on leave as professor of English at Beloit College, Beloit, Wisconsin, where he serves as editor of the "Beloit Poetry Journal".

President Ellis will have charge of either the Wednesday or Friday session. The speaker for the other service has not yet been selected.

Gaius Slosser

● To Speak Sunday ●

Slosser Here For Reformation Sun.

The Rev. Gaius Slosser will be the speaker at Huntingdon's Community Reformation Celebration Sunday in Oller Hall at 7:30 p. m.

The annual townwide event is sponsored by the Huntingdon Ministerium. Dr. E. L. Manges, pastor of the Lutheran Church, is the program chairman.

Dr. Slosser has been professor of church history at the Western Theological Seminary at Pittsburgh since 1928. He has gained fame as a preacher and lecturer and is the author of several books.

The guest speaker will deal with three phases of the great reformation which still affect us today: causes of the Reformation, our heritage from the Reformation, and threats facing us today.

Celebrated for many centuries by Lutherans only, Reformation Sunday has recently come to be recognized as a heritage of all Protestants.

Juniatian Lists Staff Additions

Jim Hunt has been named to the position of news editor of the Juniatian, reports editor Jim Holsopple.

A freshman from Johnstown, Hunt is an English major and has had previous experience working for both the Johnstown Tribune Democrat and the Highland Press.

While in high school, he was active in sports and was vice president of the student council.

Appointed as proof readers are Lolita and Juanita Carfora, both juniors, who were editors of the Toms River High School paper.

Senate Grants Concessions To Campus Clubs

A report of the Concessions Committee headed the items on the agenda at Wednesday's Senate meeting.

The committee awarded concessions to the various student organizations and individuals as follows.

Coca Cola in the women's dorm will be handled by the WAA. The Outing Club will receive the ice cream concession in Cloisters. The Pyreness Club will handle the sale of potato chips, pop and coffee at home football games. The Student Directory will again be published by the Men's House Committee, while the Cheerleaders will sell hot dogs, candy and Coca Cola at home basketball games.

Others Granted

In addition, the sale of ice cream in the women's dorms will be handled by the FTA and ABC, the Chemistry Club will sell candy in Science Hall, donuts and milk will be sold in the women's dorms by the Women's House Committee and the Social Committee will handle the sale of flowers at Homecoming and Parents Day.

The IRC will sell candy in the dorms and men's day student room, while the Lambda Gamma will sell hot dogs at football games, Coke and peanuts at baseball games, soap powder, Indian pins, and will also have the catering service.

The J Club will sell ice cream in Cloisters, soda in Cloisters and the Lodge, booster tags for football games, and have received the concessions for the Indian and Tommy Hawk, the football and basketball programs.

Personal Concessions Listed

Personal concessions have gone to Betty Lou Smith and Nancy Slonaker who will sell Avon cosmetics in the Women's dorms while George Condes will take care of laundry and dry cleaning in the men's dormitories. Bob Asan will again handle chartered buses.

Further business at the Senate meeting included delegating table assignments to different members of the Senate at different times throughout the year and the appointment of Jim Holsopple to head a committee to investigate the attitude of local merchants toward advertising solicitation by College publications.

Room Winners, Judges Listed

Winners for the Parents' Day room contest were as follows:

Women's Dorm—double rooms, first prize, Sylvia Hartman, '54 from Roaring Springs and Audrey Weber, '54 from Erie. Honorable mention, Joyce Bernard, '54 from Allentown and Jean Stoude, '53 from Telford.

Single Room Winners

Single rooms, first prize, Dorothy Gingrich, '53 from Lebanon and honorable mention, Jo Pentz, '53 from Pottstown.

Cloister—first prize, Jim Pfitzinger, '54 from Springfield, N. J., and Fran Zimmerman, '54 from Annville. Honorable mention, Bud Brown, '54 from Barnsboro and Dick Myer, '54 from Lebanon.

Lodge—first prize, Jim Holsopple, '54 from Washington, D. C. and honorable mention, Charles Williams, '55 from Saxton.

Judges Listed

Judges for the contest were Mr. and Mrs. William Banks, Jr., Mrs. Martha Bowman, Keith Binkley, Mrs. George Daubenspeck, Mrs. Swirles Himes, Mrs. W. C. Houston, Fred Laird, Mrs. Jack Meloy, Miss Margaret Sherrard Steiner and Mrs. William West.

Moonlight Hike To Be Tomorrow

Moonlight, fun and frolic will be the themes of the moment as the Moonlight Hike gets under way tomorrow at 8:15 p. m. at the Women's Gym.

The annual social event is sponsored by the W. A. A. for the entire student body. Plans have been made to return to the gym for refreshments and dancing after the jaunt.

Lila Englehart, chairman of the planning committee, suggests that all those planning to attend dress warmly. She also states that this will be a "stag or drag" affair where everyone will be welcome as a group.

Ellis Attends Education Conf.

President Calvert N. Ellis has been absent from the campus for most of the week. On Monday and Tuesday he attended the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities in Bedford Springs. He is treasurer of the Association and a member of the executive committee.

Wednesday the President was in Philadelphia at the First Church of the Brethren where he attended a meeting of the southeastern district of Pennsylvania Church of the Brethren.

Yesterday President Ellis was in New York City to be present at the 17th educational conference of the American Council of Education.

Lecturer Here From Britain

A member of the British Parliament, Reginald Sorenson, will speak in Founders Chapel this evening at 7:15. His topic will be "The Christian Answer to Communism." Mr. Sorenson's appearance on campus is being sponsored by the JCA, IVCF and IRC.

Mr. Sorenson, whose appearance will be under the auspices of the American Friends Service Committee, has served as British Parliament member from Leyton from 1929 to 1931, 1936 to 1945, and 1946 to the present time.

He is a founder of the Labour Pacifist International Fellowship League, a member of the Labour Party and the Fabran Society, a former minister of the Free Christian Church, and a member of the Parliament Deputation to India and Chairman of the West African Committee.

Mr. Sorenson has travelled and lectured in Britain, Germany, France, Holland, Belgium, the Scandinavian countries, Finland, Egypt, India and the United States.

In addition, he writes for many British and Indian journals, and has published several books among which are "In Family and Humanity," and "God and Bread."

Discussion Heads Assembly

A mixed group of seven upperclassmen and five freshmen led an informal discussion at Freshmen Assembly Monday afternoon in Oller Hall. The problems of dating at Juniata and the proposed Student Center were talked about with the remainder of the class also contributing. Dean Penney presided at the meeting.

Thomas To Give Recital

Miss Marion Thomas, now on leave of absence, will present a piano recital Tuesday at 8:15 p. m. in the Masonic Auditorium in Lewistown.

Her appearance is being sponsored by the Music Study Club of Lewistown. Admission is free.

Twirp Week Starts Mon. Tables Turned On Fellows

Your chance at last, gals! to latch on to that particular dream man! The occasion—why Twirp (The Woman is Requested to Pay) Week, of course, beginning Monday.

This traditional "gal chases man" week is designed to give you females a fighting chance, but don't run too fast, fellows because you profit too. The financial drain on your pockets is considerably lessened when your date foots the bill!

Anything goes next week from a movie to a dance or an old-fashioned walk, just as long as the girls do the asking AND the paying.

Gals Do The Asking

One answer to the campus dating problem will be found Thursday at the after-dinner dance, when fellows can sit back and let the girls do the chasing (what's so new about that?)

The annual Sadie Hawkins dance will be the culmination of the week's activities. Guys can look forward to being invited, receiving corsages and being escorted to the affair in the Women's Gym. Corsages will be made by the girls and can consist of anything, that is, anything but flowers.

Twirp Week isn't a JC invention; in fact it started many, many years ago back in Dogpatch when a desperate poppa cooked up the scheme in order to marry off his daughter. Seems as if Sadie had been waiting some fifteen years for a husband who just didn't show up, so pappy inaugurated the Sadie Hawkins Day Race and Sadie got her man.

Sat. Deadline Set For Draft Test

Students are reminded that the deadline for submitting applications for the Dec. 4 Selective Service College Qualification Test is Saturday.

Applications postmarked after that time cannot be considered. Local draft boards have an adequate supply of test application blanks on hand for draft eligible students.

Eligibility Requirements

To be eligible for the deferment test a student must (1) intend to request deferment as a student; (2) be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction; and (3) must not have previously taken the test.

Another test will be held April 23, but General Hershey emphasizes that increasing manpower demands make it important that each draft-eligible student who has not taken the test do so as soon as possible.

The present criteria for deferment as an undergraduate are either a satisfactory score (70) on the test or specified rank in class (upper half of the male freshman class, upper two-thirds of the male sophomore class or upper three-fourths of the male junior class).

Standards May Rise

General Hershey has emphasized many times that the criteria are a flexible yard stick and that the standards may be raised anytime necessary for manpower demands.

The two forthcoming administrations of the College Qualification Test represent the eighth and ninth testing dates of the program. In the first series of tests 64 percent of the students achieved a score of 70 or better, while in the second series 58 percent made above 70. These tests are all equivalent in difficulty.

Lectures, Square Dance Listed On Club Agenda

by Sherrill Edwards

In spite of the mid-term period which is scheduled for next week, the campus clubs are for the most part continuing with a heavy schedule. Many and varied programs are planned for the oncoming weeks, although there has been a great deal of club activity even within the past few days.

Mr. Reginald Sorenson, a former member of the British Parliament will address the IRC, JCA, and IVCF tonight at 7:15 in Founders Chapel. (See story, page 1).

Tonight Mrs. Marjorie Joseph, new instructor in the Home Economics department, will speak in the Home Economics Lab to the members of the Lambda Gamma at its initial meeting of the year. In addition to Mrs. Joseph's discussion, a regular business meeting will be held.

Chemistry Club To Met

Square-dancing will highlight the Chemistry Club meeting tonight at Dr. Donald Rockwell's. Plans for journeying to Tyrone in order to tour the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Mills are being laid.

Don Bracken, club president, announces that there will be a Bible Study at the regular weekly meeting of the JCA Tuesday at 7:15 in Founders Chapel.

Thursday evening at 7:00 in Room C members of the Outing Club and former Sportsmen Club and prospective members will assemble so that future outings might be planned. Work on the cabin maintained by the club is already under way.

Scalpel and Probe Plans

The Scalpel and Probe, the club for those students interested in biology, has planned a most beneficial and varied program for the coming months. Nov. 14 Scalpel and Probe members will travel to the Lewistown Hospital to observe an operation. The speaker at the last meeting was Dr. Keichline, who showed X-ray slides.

To develop a tentative program for the term and to discuss the possibilities of instruction in photographic processing, the Camera Club will meet next Thursday at 6:45 in Room C. President Lowell Hackman announces also that new members will be given their keys to the darkroom at that time.

Results of the election of officers of the combined FTA and former ABC clubs, which now operate solely under the heading of FTA, have been revealed. Jody Casteel, former president of the ABC Club, has been elected to the office of president, while the capacity of vice-president is held by Bob Bridenbaugh. Ben Newcomer and Barbara Snively are the newly elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

2 Seniors Take Honors Courses

Two seniors, Ron Cherry and Phil Norris, are currently enrolled in Honors Courses.

Cherry is taking an advanced economics course from Dr. S. Lees Booth, while Norris is studying a Bible and Philosophy course from Prof. G. Wayne Glick.

An Honors Course, which is directed by a member of the faculty in frequent conferences, provides for somewhat independent study or research beyond the scope of listed courses. Seniors who have demonstrated their ability to do superior work in any department may enroll for an Honors course in that department.

Admission is granted by the Curriculum Committee upon application of the student and on recommendation of the faculty member who will direct the study.

June Grad Gets Feature Story

Ruth Elinor Armentrout, a Juniata June graduate, recently received a chance to publicly show some of the learning she acquired on College Hill. Ruth and her mother were invited to fix and serve a holiday meal in the kitchen of the nationally known magazine, the Farm Journal.

The Armentrouts reside in the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia, so the Thanksgiving dinner was prepared in the best Southern manner. A full page color picture of the dinner sets off the story of Ruth and her family in the November issue.

Ruth majored in home economics and was active in the Lambda Gamma and the Juniata Christian Association while at Juniata.

Penn. Students Top Enrollment

Representatives from 12 states and two foreign countries are students at Juniata this semester, according to latest figures released by the Office of the Registrar. 371 students are attending classes at the College, as well as a number of unclassified students pursuing special or limited courses of study.

Pennsylvania leads in geographical enrollment with 456 representatives among the student body. 70 of these are from Huntingdon County. Other Pennsylvania counties sending an appreciable number of students to JC are Blair, 56; Montgomery, 20; Allegheny, 27; Cambria, 25 and Mifflin, 23.

New Jersey is ahead in out-of-state students with 69. Maryland, 20; New York, 10; Ohio, four; the District of Columbia, Illinois and West Virginia with two each, and Connecticut, Massachusetts, Michigan and Virginia with one student each round out the domestic enrollment of the College.

Only two foreign students are on campus this year. These include Volker Hiemeyer from Augsburg, Germany and Claudia Pilutik from Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

Vol. 28—No. 8 Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. Friday, Nov. 7, 1952

Full Practices Now Being Held

Cast, chorus, orchestra, and crews of more than 100 students participated in the first combined rehearsal of 'My Maryland" Tuesday night in Oller Hall.

The show, a Sigmund Romberg production, has been in rehearsal since the first week in October with the cast and chorus working separately under the direction of Prof. Donald Johnson. Assisting with the cast is Miss Miriam Dickey, assistant librarian and former coach of dramatics at Hollidaysburg High School. The orchestra is being trained by Prof. Jack Brammer.

Headlining the cast will be Helen Rosengren of Philadelphia and Ben Newcomer of Uniontown, both of whom have appeared in supporting roles of previous operettas.

Backstage work is under the direction of Jo Pentz, Pottstown senior who was chosen student coordinator by the Senate, and stage manager Paul Good from Youngstown, Ohio.

Each year the funds obtained from the All-College Musical help to finance the undergraduate study of a foreign student. The money is included in the Foreign Students Aid Fund, a student project which is part of the annual Juniata World Service Fund drive.

Operetta Tickets Now On Sale

Tickets for "My Maryland" to be presented next weekend are now on sale at the College and in Huntingdon.

They are available at Strickler's, Hilly's Drugstore and Steele's Drugstore and will also be sold the nights of the performance. Prices are $1.00 Friday and $1.20 Saturday.

Students desiring tickets for their parents or other guests should see Elsie Haussler, Chairman of the tickets, or any of her committee: Anne Andrews, Marge Lentz, Louise Leventry, Reta Peck, and Evelyn Whitesel.

Students will be admitted on presentation of activity cards. There will be no reserved seats.

JC Grad New Jefferson Prof.

Dr. John B. Montgomery, a Juniata graduate from the class of 1921 and a former resident of Huntingdon, has been awarded the position of Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology on the faculty of Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia.

Following his graduation from Juniata he furthered his education at the Jefferson Medical College where he graduated in 1926. After an internship of two years he joined the staff of the school in 1928 and has remained there ever since.

He was awarded an honorary doctor of science degree from Juniata during the College's 75th anniversary convocation on April 17, 1951. Montgomery belongs to numerous medical associations and at the present is chairman of the publications committee of "Philadelphia Medicine", a magazine put out by the Jefferson Medical College.

His wife is the former Elizabeth Haines, a 1923 graduate of Juniata.

Reading Clinic New Innovation In Student Aid

Because of the theory that many students drop out of college through their inability to read properly, a reading clinic has been established on campus.

The main goals of the clinic are to improve the students' speed and comprehension of reading material. Since Dean Penney has had previous experience in this type of work, he will head the organization. Dean Penney is at present doing all the work himself, but Mr. Kimbrough and Miss Schlegel are expected to help as counsellors.

Students whom instructors feel need help will be asked to enter the clinic; however, any student who so wishes may enter the program.

Students who enter the clinic will first be given a diagnostic test to determine their difficulty, then with the use of individual counselling and specially designed remedial facilities their particular problem will be attacked.

Books, special exercises, and mechanical equipment will be used. Dean Penney says that the clinic would take up only about 2 hours of the students' time per week.

Naval Station Sends 2 Reps.

Lieutenant J. A. Otto and Lieutenant J. E. Coburn of the U. S. Naval Air Station, Willow Grove, Pa. will be at Juniata, Thursday, Nov. 13 to give all senior male students an opportunity to obtain information on the advantages of Naval Aviation Cadet Program.

The Officers will be located in the Social Rooms from 10 a. m. until 11:30 a. m. and in Room A of Students Hall from 11:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. A training film "The Naval Aviator" will be shown during the day.

All unmarried men, between the ages of 18 and 27, who are now seniors in college can obtain training in pre-flight, basic and advanced flight training to win their 'Navy Wins of Gold' at Pensacola, Florida. Information will also be available on other programs offered by the Navy.

Chest X-Rays To Be Given Thursday

Chest x-rays are being offered to the Faculty, Administration, kitchen maintenance help and entire student body as a part of the public health service of Juniata College.

They are to be given November 13 under the direction of the Bureau of Tuberculosis Prevention of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in the New Memorial Gymnasium. Everybody is urged to take advantage of this offer.

Juniata Student Lives Dual Life; Is WHUN "Night Watch" Emcee

Every evening for nearly two hours, many radios on the Juniata campus are tuned to WHUN's top request show 'Nightwatch'. From the amount of 'pop' requests coming from College Hill it is easy to see the program is a popular one; but how many realize that the announcer on that program is also a student at JC? That's right, your favorite disc-jockey is none other than Frank Conley, a member of the class of '55.

Frank entered Juniata in the fall of 1949 as a freshman and received his opportunity at radio announcing when he participated in a "Juniata College On The Air" program. He read a baseball summary as a last-minute substitute for a fellow student.

The program director, Dick Gill, saw good possibilities in Frank's voice so he gave him an audition which turned out very favorably. For the next six months he was given instructions on proper radio reading and operation. However, Uncle Sam had other plans for Conly because in the summer of 1950 he was called up with the Pennsylvania National Guard.

This summer he was separated from the service and in August he came back to take up where he left off in his education and radio career.

Frank, who resides in Wyncote, Pa., is tentatively majoring in psychology but hasn't definitely made up his mind about what profession to follow when he graduates.

Dance Climaxes Twirp Season

Climaxing Twirp Week on College Hill is the traditional Sadie Hawkins Dance tomorrow night in the Women's Gym.

The festivities will begin at 8:15 p. m. when the girls call for the man of their choice in either the Lodge or the Cloisters. Corsages are in order for the men and originality will be the keynote as these are made by the girls out of anything but flowers. Corsages will be judged later in the evening and prizes will be awarded for the most unique.

Master of Ceremonies Bob Champion will preside over the affair and introduce the entertainment which will include, among others, Frank Campelone and his accordian. Refreshments will be served and the decorations are under the direction of Lolita and Juanita Carfora.

Opportunity knocks only once a year, so gals, this is your last chance to play Sadie Hawkins. Latch on to that dream man and drag him to the Women's Gym tomorrow night.

Enrollments Rise In U. S. Colleges

(ACP) Most of the nations' colleges and universities got a fine surprise this fall when enrollment figures showed an increase over last year instead of the expected drop.

All the figures are not in yet, but the trend shows a slight rise in enrollment. Even the smaller colleges, who were expected to be hardest hit by the draft and by the graduation of so many veterans, are said to be holding their own.

Perhaps the sharpest rise took place at Georgia Tech. Its freshman class is 40% bigger than last year.

College administrators attribute the happy trend to the attractiveness these days of ROTC programs, the non-student's fear of being drafted, and the return to school of Korean veterans.

And there are some who find the reason in the high birth rate statistics of 1934. The babies then would be freshmen now.

Hymn Interpretation To Be Held Monday

Monday's chapel session will consist of a Hymn Interpretation Service conducted by Donald Bracken, Frank Moist and Ronald Morgan.

Eisenhower Is Victor In Sweep In JC Polling

Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential candidate, led his party to a complete sweep of all offices on the baliot in an election held on College Hill last Friday morning. The student-faculty vote totaled 334 ballots with the Republican ticket of Eisenhower and Nixon receiving 202 votes while the Democratic nominees Stevenson and Sparkman could gather only 98. Several other candidates received a couple of votes apiece with the local favorite, Pogo, getting 12 votes.

The United States Senate position went to Edward Martin, who was seeking re-election, by the vote of 218 to 69 over his Democratic opponent Guy Bard.

In the remaining battles the Republicans also won with little difficulty as John Arnold defeated Harry Montgomery for the Judge of the Supreme Court. Weldon Heyburn beat George Leader and Charles Barber swept by Genevieve Blatt in the race for State Treasurer and Auditor General respectively.

Richard M. Simpson, a veteran in the House of Representatives received a vote of confidence in beating Philip R. Shoemaker for the Congressional Post.

The position of representative in the Pennsylvania General Assembly was won by Maurice Banker over his opponent J. O. Bergantz, the former Huntingdon Post Master.

The proposed amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania was given a yes vote by a majority of the voters.

Oil Co. Has Essay Contest

A chance to win $500 in prizes is offered to undergraduate students by the Association of Petroleum Re-Refiners, Washington, D. C. Contestants are invited to submit papers on the subject "The Advantages of Re-Refined Oil".

According to Verne T. Worthington, president of the Association, the purpose of the contest is to further research on the recycling of a vital natural resource in the interests of oil conservation. He explained that bibliography on the subject is somewhat limited.

Manuscripts must be no shorter than 1000 words and must be submitted to the Association's Contest Committee no later than Dec. 31.

Additional information may be gotten by writing to The Association of Petroleum Re-Refiners, 1917 Eye Street, Washington, D. C.

Romberg Names "My Maryland" Favorite Musical Production

Sigmund Romberg, composer of the musical production to be given here next week, considers "My Maryland" his favorite work.

Born in Hungary in 1887, Romberg studied civil engineering in Vienna and spent his required year in the Hungarian army before coming to America.

For several years he tried various odd jobs, including working in a Hungarian goulash restaurant, until in 1914 he wrote the score for his first Broadway musical "The Whirl of the World."

Musical Hits Listed

Success followed immediately and within the next few years, he produced such hits as "Blossom Time", "The Student Prince", and the "Desert Song". His collaboration with Oscar Hammerstein proved profitable since the two have written nine Broadway hits.

In 1929 Romberg journeyed to Hollywood to supervise the making of some of his shows into movies. He established residence there, although in the past years he has made several extensive tours of the country.

Often called the American successor to Johann Strauss, Romberg has written some 70 musicals and over 2000 songs.

"My Maryland" Favorite

Written in 1927, "My Maryland" never achieved the long run on Broadway which some of his other productions had; nevertheless Romberg calls it his favorite.

"My Maryland" is the All-College Musical to be given in Oller Hall Nov. 14 and 15 under the direction of Prof. Donald Johnson, Miss Mim Dickey and student coordinator Jo Pentz.

Some of the top tunes from the show are "Your Land and My Land", "The Same Silver Moon", and "Mother".

Heinz Chorus To Sing Wed.

The Heinz Chapel Choir of the University of Pittsburgh will appear in Oller Hall Nov. 12 at 8:30 p. m. under the auspices of the Huntingdon Music Club.

Directed by Dr. Finney, head of the music department of the University, the choir will present a sacred concert consisting of 16 numbers. They will sing without accompaniment.

The mixed choir of 50 voices has toured the eastern part of the country appearing in such churches as the Riverside Church and Calvary Church in New York. Every Sunday evening the group has its own television program in Pittsburgh.

The choir gets its name from the Heinz Memorial Chapel on Pitt campus in which it sings and is in no way connected with the Heinz Canning Co.

Dr. Harry Negley, Jr., president of the music club, announces that students will be admitted free upon presentation of their activity cards.

Orchestra Named By Prof. Brammer

The personnel for the "My Maryland" orchestra has been released by Prof. Jack Brammer who is directing the group. It includes:

First violin—Clem Rosenberger, Roy Rothman, Paul Gingrich. Second violin—Dr. Ray Davis, Bessie Crim. Viola—Janet Binkley.

Cello—Nancy Rosenberger, Virginia Watson. Bass viol—Nelson Griffith. Flute—Ellie Formwalt, Judy Shanabrook. Oboe—Betty Lou Smith.

Clarinet—Donna Croft, Barbara Phennicie. Bassoon—Don Brocht, Melba Smith. French Horn—Lloyd Harkless, David Hercules.

Trumpet—William Schull, Gerald Maslanik. Trombone—Ray McHenry. Percussion—Edward Garlitz. Piano—Allegra Forney, Alice Hoffman, Vada Roof.

Operetta Leads Sing At Kiwanis

Helen Rosengren and Ben Newcomer, who are cast in the leading roles of Sigmund Romberg's "My Maryland", sang for the Kiwanis Club meeting last Monday in the Penn Hunt Hotel.

They were introduced by Jo Pentz, student coordinator. Numbers on the program included "Mother" by Miss Rosengren, "Your Land and My Land" by Newcomer and a duet, "The Same Silver Moon". They were accompanied by Vada Jean Roof.

Dance Class Held

A class in social dancing will be held for any interested freshman. Class will be held in the Women's Gym at a time convenient to the majority of students. Those men interested should contact Dean James Penney.

Collegiate Miscellany

Women's physical education classes at Mississippi Southern College will get a new look as soon as the Southern Belles swing into action.

A club to assemble a chorus line fashioned after the Radio City Rockettes is now being organized on the MSC campus. Forty coeds are vieing for positions.

As more than 56,000 football fans streamed onto to University of Michigan campus, they were treated to a view of the Nazi swastika, hanging from one of the upper windows of the men's dormitory.

The Flag was subsequently removed by police and taken to a vault.

Answering a reader who complained that the Xavier University News put too much stress on football, the paper declared: "We too are devotees of the fine arts, and eagerly await the day when a performance of Oedipus Rex in Greek will draw ten thousand fans."

A biological science teacher at Michigan State College told his class he was disgusted because so few of his students believed in flying saucers. Then he reached into a bag and started hurling china plates across the lecture room.

Idaho University claims that it was the officiating that beat them in its 20-14 loss to Oregon State, but the men in the striped shirts have no grounds for complaints. They still get paid.

Officials nowadays have good reason to take grief in good spirits; they pocket $100 for each game they work. In the east the loot is $125. (ACP)

FEATURES

by JACK FREYMULLER

Maybe you think something should be done about it too. Perhaps the men of the Cloisters are on the whole against vandalism of this sort. And should they not be. For the student or students in their midst who commits these brazen acts of wilful damage is slapping them in the face. He is lowering them by bringing their standards of dormitory living way down to his own.

What do I refer to? I think it ought to be clear to anyone who uses the stairs in either the Wing or the Arch. Numerous times within the past month students have been forced to pick their way through the garbage that has spread out over the stairs in the wake of toppled ashcans. Yes, these cans were pushed over on purpose. Flying saucers didn't do it as one citizen surmised.

What in the name of all that is secular does anyone want to do a thing like that for? He gets no obvious reward for it. No one comes up to him and says, "nice piece of ash-can toppling there, old sport". He can't win any prizes for it. Leastways none have yet been offered, to my knowledge.

Then what does cause this thing? I suggest hysteria. A hysteria brought on by a pressing need to contribute something to his group affiliation. The reasoning runs like this: "Haw, the boys will get a real laugh of of this!" And they do, too. His buddies get a real chuckle out of seeing hunks torn out of the plaster.

Or perhaps the individual needs something to assert himself with. Seizing the chance, he sneaks out into the hall when no one's looking, topples over the loaded ashcan and streaks back to his room to gloat and chuckle over the noise and confusion.

Its stupid, that's what it is. There is no one in this school of such a low-grade mentality to whom toppling ashcans would prove some disputed point. All it does is add to already high college costs. And add to a backlog of clique differences. There are enough of them too.

Maybe you think I'm making too much of this thing. Do you? Well, I've sat up in my room on the fourth floor of the wing and listened to these periodic disturbances. It annoys me and irritates me to have to live in the same building with someone like that. There are lots of guys in Cloisters who share my sentiments. Take time to think it over, vandal, and maybe you'll see the light.

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

SOMETHING OLD

As a political barometer Juniata has proven to be very satisfactory for in our campus election Dwight D. Eisenhower led the Republican Party in a landslide victory and much to the surprise of many people the General duplicated this feat in the national election held Tuesday.

The popular national figure evidently appealed to the young people of JC as much as he did to the youth of America. In his own words it was the votes of these young folks that carried him into office on the crest of a giant wave.

SOMETHING NEW

"The people have chosen"—that very short statement will mean a lot to the people of the United States in the next few years and probably means more to us here at JC and other colleges throughout the nation than to any other group of Americans. The Republican ticket of Eisenhower-Nixon was swept into office by a landslide as a Republican president prepares to take up residence in the White House for the first time in 20 long years.

We started those 20 years in a depression that was rocking the economic status of the U. S. The Democratic party under the leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt got us out of that by blankly ignoring all warnings from his chiefs of staff as to the threat of war and within eight years we were plunged into the most disastorous war in our history. There is not a case in history where a war didn't keep a party in power so the Democratic monopoly kept rolling along on the false bottom of prosperity.

Our economy was undermined by reckless spending throughout the war and afterward it even increased. A financial crises was near but a political war saved the ship. Many people felt that we should check communism in Korea but an administration which left itself open to attack in the first place went about an arranging for a way to prolong the war. For Harry S. Truman knew what would happen to the Democratic Party 'false bottom prosperity' in a time of peace. This mud-slinging leader of the party yelled and shouted that "We never had it so good" but knew all along that the American people could only stand for a certain amount of corruption before they revolt. The time for a change has come and now we will see if the GOP can repair in the next four years what the Democrats have been destroying for the past 20 years. The time for a change was here and the American people knew it—the people have spoken!

SOMETHING BORROWED

This past Saturday afternoon I had the opportunity of talking to Kay Campbell, a member of the Susquehanna football team, who didn't play in the Juniata game because of an injury the previous week. Kay, a halfback, told me that last week in practice the team was doing some sprinting and on one particular 100 yard dash, Amos Alonzo Stagg, Sr., ran the whole distance with the squad. Now, I don't mean to say that he kept up with the team but when you are 90 years old I'll bet you won't even be doing any running let alone 100 yards at a time. The inspirational effect he has on the team is immeasurable.

Tribe Extends Winning Streak By Downing Susquehanna 12-7

Sports Parade

By Harold Gray

It was a great day for the Indians, Nov. 1, 1952. A day that will be remembered in the minds of those who saw the Susquehanna game last Saturday. For the second straight week, the Tribe came from behind in the second half to win. The 12-7 win over Amos Alonzo Stagg and his Susquehanna Crusaders was one of, if not the, most thrilling game I have ever witnessed.

The win was definitely a team victory and it is extremely hard to pick out a particular star. But if anyone is deserving of recognition for his fine play it is Tony Segalovich. The 185 pound senior tailback from McKees Rocks scored both JC touchdowns in the third quarter. His running and passing highlighted the drive for the second Juniata TD. It was his finest game of the, thus far, fine JC campaign.

Each week it probably sounds like I give too much praise to the Tribe defensive platoon. But looking back over the records you can't help but knowing that they have done an excellent job this season. Anyone who saw Saturday's game knows how deserving they are of our cheers. The pass defense was excellent and the one Crusader touchdown was possible only because of a great catch by SU end, Mike Rising, who captured a Rich Young pass with three JC defenders hanging on him. Ed Mohney, Joe Trimber, and Vince Piazza are all good pass defenders, vicious tacklers, and speed merchants galore. Trimber displayed his running ability on a pass interception and with one more block could have gone all of the way for the most sensational run of the year. Give the defense credit, they have allowed only TWO TD's in the last three games, (the Haverford touchdown was scored against third and fourth stringers). Dickinson had to have four downs to score inside the five yard line, and Susquehanna had to rely on a sensational catch of a Rich Young pass.

* * * *

The offense came to life in the second half Saturday and looked great. The line was blocking hard and the backs were running harder than at any time this year. Tom "T" McNeal, Fran Wampler, and Tony Segalovich banged for considerable yardage. Jim Butler tossed a beautiful touchdown pass to Segalovich on the famed "double jump pass" play. George Hatfield replaced the injured Bob Muchoney and did a creditable job. Joe Veto and Chuck Knox operated at the tackle post in fine fashion, as did guard Myron Sevick and ends Bob Wagoner and "Pone" Martin.

THE URGE TO KILL DEPT.—There were numerous post game comments but one that was unusual occured at Skips just after the team returned from Selinsgrove. Barry Drexler, freshman end from McKees Rocks, sat down in a booth next to a young lady and was floored by her question, "Did you see the game today?" Little did this Cheerleader realize that Barry played the whole game at defensive end and was one of the stars of the JC defensive platoon.

LAST WEEK'S MISTAKE—In the story of the Dickinson game last week it seems that the portion of the tale which told how JC scored their TD was omitted. All I can say is that the story went to the printers in the intended form and due to a mix up that portion of the story was left out. But for those who did not view the clash, Juniata scored in the fourth period on a pass from Tony Segalovich to "Pone" Martin for the winning score. Tony then booted the extra point for the margin of victory.

JUNIATA OPPONENTS—The Titans of Westminster were dropped from the unbeaten ranks last week by a strong Waynesburg team. The 35-27 loss was a wide open affair in which mister Dick Bannick scored two touchdowns and passed for a third . . . The Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley also were dropped from the unbeaten ranks by Gettysburg. The LV boys rolled up 25 points in the first period and then proceeded to lose 34-25. Gettysburg scored all of their points in the second half . . . Other scores of future opponents and those that JC has already met, Ursinus 12, Wagner 0 . . . Drexel 33, Dickinson 26 . . . Thiel 25, Grove City 9 . . . and Albright 49, Moravian 14.

* * * *

ON THE NATIONAL SCENE—Adolph Rupp is without a job for a year as the result of Kentucky's suspension from collegiate basketball for a one year period. The NCAA decision came as the result of Kentucky's failure to abide by two NCAA regulations concerning athletes on scholarships . . . The Buckeyes of Ohio State can thank a 128 pound back for their 24-21 win over Northwestern last week. Thurlow Weed, who does nothing but boot placements for OSU, came off the bench to boot a 17 yard field goal for the victory . . . Penn State is rumored to be up for a Cotton Bowl bid after their upset win over Penn last Saturday. The Nittany Lions could clinch it this week with a win over Syracuse . . . Ursinus beat Wagner 12-7 in the last 20 seconds last week and the week before downed Swarthmore 6-0 in the last 50 seconds. That's really pulling them out . . . Talk about mass production, Rutgers rallied to score 33 points in 10 minutes last week to down Temple 40-28.

The Sports Mirror

ONE YEAR AGO—The Indians won what turned out to be their last victory of the year with a 13-7 win over Grove City. The Parent's Day calsh saw Paul Hepak toss to Paul Kruzlock for one score while Tom McNeal bulled over for the other. McNeal enjoyed his finest game of the year by racking up 142 yards on the ground.

FIVE YEARS AGO—The Tribe swamped Ursinus 31-4 to give them a record of two wins and three losses for the campaign with one game remaining on the schedule.

TEN YEARS AGO—JC lost its first game of the season by going down at the hands of Lebanon Valley 27-0. The game, marred by roughness, was played at Annville.

Indians Face Grove City Away Sat.

Segalovich Scores Twice In Upset Victory

The "never-say-die" Indians of Coach Bill Smaltz rose up in the second half to defeat the Crusaders of one Amos Alonzo Stagg, last Saturday 12-7. A hard driving senior tailback, an unbeatable defense and a great team spirit were the keys to the upset victory. The Tribe entered the clash a two touchdown underdog and trailed at halftime 7-0 as the result of a Rich Young pass to Mike Rising. But the second half was all Juniata and a crazy legged tailback named Tony Segalovich.

The Crusaders held the Indians during the first 30 minutes and time after time recovered Juniata fumbles when the going got rough. The Tribe got a scoring threat going when Ed Mohney recovered a SU fumble on the enemy 25. They then racked up a first down to the 14 but the drive lost its steam on the five yard line. Again after a series of downs the Tribe got going but this drive was stopped on the 21 as the result of a fumble. The Crusaders scored late in the first period when Rich Young heaved a 26 yard aerial to Mike Rising in the end zone for the TD. The Crusader end was well covered but his leaping grab made the score possible. Mister Young then neatly converted to make the score 7-0.

Tribe Connects

After the fine halftime ceremonies, the Indians returned to the field for a 30 minute job which will never be forgotten by a 46 man squad and a pleased coaching staff. Juniata took the kickoff and marched 52 yards only to have this attack die on the five yard line. But the team took an SU punt and this time marched for the real thing. A 45 yard drive was netted in just eight plays, with the payoff coming on the "double jump pass" from quarterback Jim Butler to Tony Segalovich on a five yard flip. The try for the point was wide and Susquehanna still led 7-6.

This was probably the turning point of the game, for the team seemed to really pick up steam from here on in. Joe Trimber intercepted a Young pass and streaked down the sidelines for 44 yards, moving the ball to the SU 16. The Tribe really was hepped up now and the Crusaders were doomed by a hard running attack and terrific team spirit. Segalovich went 11 yards and after alternating with McNeal on bucks, he smashed over for the winning TD. Tony's try for the point was low but there was unrestrained joy in the JC cheering section and on the Indian bench.

Late Rally Fails

The Crusaders desperately tried to connect on a long pass but the Tribe defense was so tight that the enemy passes were easily deflected from their intended receivers.

Segalovich received a tremendous cheer from the JC stands when replaced by Don Pheasant, frosh tailback, and the senior from McKees Rocks well deserved it.

JC Seeks Fifth Straight Against Winless Wolverines

Seeking their fifth straight triumph, the Indians travel to Grove City tomorrow afternoon to meet the Wolverines of Grove City College. The winless Grovers of coach James Lovelass will be out to snap the Tribe streak and will be gunning for the chance to break into the victory column. They dropped a tough 25-9 decision to Thiel last Saturday. Last season they lost to Juniata by a 13-7 count before a Parent's Day crowd.

The Wolverines threw a scare into the Titans of Westminster two weeks ago when they lost by a 14-12 verdict. The Tribe dropped its opener to the same Titans 27-20, after leading until the last quarter. The Grovers close out their campaign next week against Bethany in a home contest.

A win for the Tribe tomorrow would not only stretch their winning streak of five but also assure Coach Smaltz and his boys of a winning season. Two more wins will give the 1952 squad the best season in the history of the school.

Last year the Grovers won just one game and lost six. But that one win was a thrilling 20-18 upset over Allegheny, whom the Tribe tied 20-20. The enemy will no doubt rely on a ground attack tomorrow and the defense of the Indians will have an experienced line to battle against. The JC offense may be the answer to victory tomorrow in a ball game that just might break wide open.

Veteran Linebacker

One of the mainstays of the Tribe defense is Ron Clapper, junior linebacker from Altoona. The 165 pound 5-10 back has won two letters thus far for his play under Coach Smaltz and teams with Dave LeFevre to give the Indians a top notch line backing duo. Ron is versatile and can play either center or quarterback if needed for offensive purposes.

"Pulpit Rocks" JC Landmark

It's surprising how few people on campus have ever heard of Pulpit Rocks, which are a part of Juniata College.

This natural curiosity is located along the old "Harrisburg, Huntingdon and Pittsburgh turnpike", three miles west of Huntingdon. The rocks and their surrounding site of 1½ acres of land were presented to the College by the late J. Murray Africa for preservation as a landmark.

The Honorable J. Simpson Africa, father of the donor and former historian of Huntingdon County, gives in his history the following description: "The elements have worn some of these sandstone formations into grotesque shapes, which form a fancied resemblance to a pulpit and are called Pulpit Rocks.

Day Off Given For Football Win

Thanks to a football victory over arch rivals Susquehanna last Saturday President Ellis called off all classes scheduled for Monday and an organized victory celebration was held. The Student Senate arranged a program that called for showing of the movies of the Dickinson football game and a pep rally during the day. A victory dance was held in the evening.

Elementary Ed. Students Observe Reading Classes

Elementary education majors have been observing classes in the two Huntingdon elementary schools.

Members of Miss Miriam Schlegel's Teaching of Reading Class have been, for the past week, sitting in on some of the reading classes of the primary grades.

Education Week In Progress

American Education Week will be celebrated Nov. 9 to 14, the thirty-second observation of this program. The theme will be "Children in Today's World".

The sponsors of "Education Week", The American Legion, The National Education Association, The Federal Bureau of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers are using this week to bring to the attention of the public educational conditions such as the following.

The mainstay of the democratic way of life is the public school system. However, during 1950 the government spent on an average of less than $200 per pupil annually. During that year there were at least 25 million pupils and nearly one million class room teachers and administrators.

The number of school buildings exceeded 200,000 while school property was valued at 8½ billion dollars. Although these figures are impressive, the education of tomorrow's citizens, who will build either the foundations of peace or destruction, is worth more than $200.

The observation of Education Week was started under the principle that the education of its citizens is the government's first obligation. It was first celebrated Dec. 4-10, 1921. Its purpose was to inform the public of the needs of the schools.

Thomas Recital Presented Tuesday

A piano recital was presented by Miss Marion Thomas, now on leave of absence as a music instructor at Juniata, last Tuesday at the Masonic Auditorium in Lewistown.

Miss Thomas, who is a graduate of Oberlin College Conservatory and the University of Michigan, joined the faculty on College Hill in 1949. At the end of the college year in June she was granted a leave of absence for a year of private study with Edward Steurmann in New York City.

Colleges Hold Homecomings

The campuses of many colleges and universities in the eastern part of the U. S. the past week have been places of feverish activity. Homecoming Queens were crowned in many schools and the annual fraternity and sorority rushes were going at full force. Freshmen initiation periods were drawing to a climax to the horror of the 'poor Frosh'.

The national election drew top spot on the agenda of many colleges as the Eisenhower-Stevenson battle roared down to the finish line.

At Ursinus College the Old Timer's day program was tops on the list. A football game, a dinner and various other activities highlighted the days entertainment.

Bucknell University sponsored a special Dad's Day program. The entertainment lasted during the entire weekend.

Geneva College crowned Mary Lynn Stone as their Homecoming Queen this past week while on the other side of the ledger Head Football Coach Walt West turned in his resignation.

Juniata was instrumental in slightly spoiling the homecoming at Susquehanna this past week when the Indians beat the Crusaders in the football game. The queen, Ruth Freed, was crowned during pre-game ceremonies.

Study In Sleep Prophecied Near

(A C P) If psychologists at Georgetown University are right, it may be possible for the next generation of students to study in their sleep.

All one would need is a dormiphone—that is, a record player with an automatic repeating mechanism. It has a built-in loudspeaker, an under-pillow speaker and an earpiece.

The idea is that, while you sleep, the dormiphone repeats your algebra lesson to you through the night, grinding it into your subconscious. Aldous Huxley, in his book "Brave New World," had a similar idea which he called "hypnopedia."

At this stage, though, the dormiphone isn't very helpful to students studying for examinations. The Georgetown scientists are experimenting with nonsense syllables, not Shakespeare.

Six Seniors Gain Places In '53 Edition Of Who's Who

The 1952-53 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges" will include six senior campus leaders from Juniata. Four men and two women have been selected for recognition.

The list of "Who's Who" includes David A. Bayer, Woodbury, N. J.; Donald W. Bracken, Johnstown; Phyllis R. Link, Johnstown; Joanne M. Pentz, Pottstown; Jack L. Ulsh, Lakemont, Altoona; and Robert Wagoner, Johnstown who were nominated because of excellence in scholarship; leadership and participation in extra-curricular and academic activities; citizenship and service to school; and promise of future usefulness to business and society.

The list is headed by Wagoner, the president of the Student Senate, a four-year football letterman, two-time class president and the associate editor of the 1952 Alfarata.

Four of the remaining five are also members of the Student Senate. Ulsh is vice-president of the Senate, was president of the International Relations Club and advertising manager of the Juniatian last year and in addition has been very active as a leader of the Juniata World Service Fund campaign, Juniata Christian Association, Pyrenees Club, radio committee, and All-Class night. Bayer is a varsity letterman in basketball, chairman of men's house and president of the senior class.

Bracken is vice president of the senior class, chairman of religious activities, and head of the JCA.

Miss Link, the third Johnstown student among the select Who's Who List, is the chairman of general activities on Senate. She is president of Masque and served as assistant chairman of All-Class Night last year.

Rounding out the group of top seniors is Miss Pentz who, at the present time, is serving as student coordinator for the all-college comic opera, "My Maryland." In addition to this she has been a leader in the Juniata Christian Association, Lambda Gamma and Alpha Beta Gamma organization. She has also been on the Alfarata staff.

Pageant Chosen For Chapel Choir

The seventh annual Christmas pageant will be given Sunday, Dec. 14 at 3:30 p. m. in Oller Hall.

The program will be presented by the Chapel Choir under the direction of Miss Mary J. Pfotenhauer of the music department. Sering as student coordinator and assistant respectively will be Pnyllis Link and Wilda Widdowson.

Miss Pfotenhauer has chosen "The Pageant of the Holy Nativity" arranged by Leonard Young and David Williams. The pageant deals with the traditional Christmas story of Mary, Joseph and the birth of Jesus. The music is entirely original except for the carols "O Holy Night" and "Silent Night".

Masque To Help

The technical end of the production will be handled by the Masque. Crews will be named in the near future.

Miss Link, a senior English major, is Senate chairman of General Activities, president of the Masque, and was recently elected to Who's Who in American Colleges. She served as coordinator of the pageant last year and was also assistant chairman for All-Class Night.

A junior concentrating in music preparatory to a teaching career, Miss Widdowson hails from Penn Run. She is a member of the A Cappella Choir, band, and is active in intramural sports.

The public is invited to this pageant and there is no admission charge.

Members Listed

Members of the Chapel Choir are as follows:

Basses—Wilfred Norris, Charles Williams, Joe Hinish, Pat Burns, Chester Wertsch, Blair Stilley.

Frosh Present Musical Talent

Frosh talent was featured at Monday's Freshman Assembly in Oller Hall, to which upper classmen and faculty were invited.

Acting as master of ceremonies, Howie Kerstetter introduced the musical program which began with the frosh dance bands version of "Singing in the Rain" and "With A Song In My Heart".

Alice Jean Hoffman played "Body and Soul" as a piano number, while Nancy Rosenberger and Don Davis presented a two-piano arrangement of "Warsaw Concerto".

Vocal solos were given by Jeanne Blend who sang "One Kiss"; Ann Yesko, "Without a Song"; and Ron Dilling, "Waters Ripple and Flow." The Geiger House Trio, composed of Lala Heil, Nancy Leatherman and Janice Mertz harmonized on "The Whiffenpoof Song" while Frank Campelone repeated his Saturday's performance on the accordion.

Climaxing the show was a version of "It's a Sin to Tell a Lie" by a male trio.

All-Class Night Comm. Chosen

Committee chairmen for the All-Class Night program have been selected, reports Martha Petre, general chairman.

They are Betty Lou Smith, tickets; Jeanie Tait, advertising; Frank Harlacher, house manager; Bill Braunworth, curtain; Paul Good, lighting; and Betty Shearer and Martha Petre, program.

Miss Petre adds that all the scripts are not yet in but they are expected in the near future and will then receive faculty approval.

The All-Class Night program is scheduled for Dec. 6 in Oller Hall. Students are urged to invite their parents and friends and tickets will be sold at the college and in Huntingdon.

Book Week To Be Observed

Book Week will be celebrated here on campus and throughout the libraries of the nation Nov. 16 to 22. The slogan "Reading is Fun" has been chosen for the 34th annual celebration emphasizing the importance of children's books and also adult reading.

Book Week had its origin in 1915 when the chief librarian of the Boy Scouts of America studied the reading material available for the nation's children. Realizing that books were lacking both in quantity and quality, he incorporated reading as an important part of the Boy Scout Program.

Book Week brought to the public's attention the necessity of good reading material for children, but it was not until 1921 that the American Library Association firmly established this program in library, publishing and educational circles. This conference established regular offices to handle the details of the observance which are now supervised by the Children's Book Council.

Varsity Quartet Begins Practice

Members of the 1952-53 Varsity Quartet have been chosen after try-outs by Miss Mary J. Pfotenhauer, adviser. They are Ben Newcomer, first tenior; Wes Diemer, second tenor; Paul Morrison, baritone; and Bob Landes, bass.

Newcomer and Landes, both juniors, were in the quartet the past two years. Diemer is a senior while Morrison is a member of the class of '56. All are in the A Cappella Choir. They will begin practicing next week.

The Quartet has in the past been much in demand for performances at area church and fraternal functions.

Preview Given On Radio Show

A preview of "My Maryland", to be given in Oller Hall tonight and Saturday, was presented over WHUN Wednesday night.

Featured on the program were Helen Rosengren, Bob Flory, Paul Morrison and Ben Newcomer. Pianist was Vada Jean Roof while Morrison acted as narrator.

Miss Rosengren sang "Mother", a solo, and a duet with Morrison, "Won't You Marry Me". "The Same Silver Moon" was rendered by Miss Rosengren and Newcomer, while she and Flory joined in "Old John Barleycorn". The program ended with a solo, "Connecticut Boys" by Newcomer.

All-College Musical To Open Tonight; Rosengren, Newcomer Cast As Leads

● Has Top Role ●
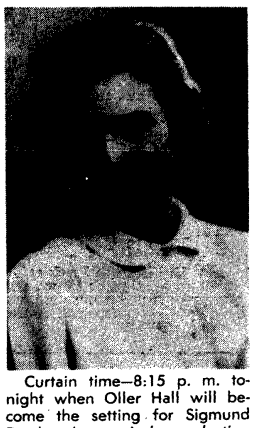
Helen Rosengren



Curtain time—8:15 p. m. tonight when Oller Hall will become the setting for Sigmund Romberg's musical production "My Maryland."

Under the joint direction of Miss Miriam Dickey, Prof. Donald Johnson and student coordinator Jo Pentz, the operetta features Helen Rosengren and Ben Newcomer cast in the leading roles of Barbara Frietchie and Captain Trumbull.

The action takes place during the Civil War in the rebel town of Frederick, Maryland which at the opening of the play is occupied by the Yankees. Confederate sympathy is high as the entire town gathers in the streets to sing the patriotic Dixie in direct defiance of Northern orders.

Staged By Carforas

Transforming the stage into the main street of Frederick, the minister's home in Hagerstown, and the Frietchie home will be the job of the set construction committee headed by Lolita and Juanita Carfora.

Barbara Frietchie, belle of the town, finds Yankee Captain Trumbull most interesting and begins a mild flirtation, much to the disgust of her friends and neighbors. In spite of their different beliefs and loyalties, Barbara and Trumbull fall in love and pledge their troth with the romantic duet "The Same Silver Moon".

However difficulties arise in the persons of Jack Negly, portrayed by Paul Morrison, who is madly in love with Barbara, and Barbara's father, Bill Patterson, who is most emphatic in his dislike of the Yankees.

Marriage Plans Interrupted

When the Yankees receive marching orders, Barbara and Trumbull plan to marry the following day in Hagerstown. Just before the ceremonies, the Confederates take the town and Trumbull is forced to leave in preparation for battle. Rebel sharpshooters occupy the minister's house and plan to pick off the northern troops, but Barbara's courage prevents any danger to her lover.

Wounded by Barbara's brother,

● To Share Lead ●
Ben Newcomer

Trumbull is cared for by Barbara who is now considered a traitor by the enraged town. All ends well as the two lovers are united and receive the protection of the famous Stonewall Jackson.

No musical production is complete without a comedy part and in this case it is provided by Zeke, Harold Bowser, the town drunk who is alternately Reb and Yankee in his sympathies. His amorous attentions are directed toward the widow Mrs. Hunter, played by Barbara Grim, who is also held in high esteem by the rhetorical military hero Colonel Negly, Wes Diemer.

Chapel Plans Include Speakers, Music

The Chapel program for the week of Nov. 17 to Nov. 22 have been announced. Prof. Wayne Glick and Dean Morley Mays will speak at the Monday and Wednesday morning services respectively. The Friday service will be a musical program under the direction of Miss Pfotenhauer.

Civil Service Offers Positions

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced examinations for filling engineer and engineer trainee positions in the Bureau of Reclamation in the West and Midwest.

The Engineer Trainee examination is of special interest to sophomore and junior college students, as it is open to persons who have completed or will complete one-half of a college coures in engineering by June 30, 1953. Applicants must also take a written test which will be rated on the basis of their education and experience.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications will be accepted until Dec. 2, 1952 by the Executive Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Bureau of Reclamation, Denver Federal Center, Denver, Colorado.

Trapeze The Beginning

First efforts to provide "exercise and amusement" for students at Juniata College, which was founded in 1876, was the erection on the campus of a trapeze with two iron rings and a cross-bar.

This was followed, later, by drills with Indian clubs and dumb-bells—which were held in the college dining room.

EDITORIALIZING

Can We Stop Oller Hall Confusion?

It is again the season for a Juniata College dramatic production. Just as surely as the first robin foretells the coming of spring, "My Maryland" has been predicted by the appearance of an off-campus musical group in Oller Hall.

We all agree that these productions are beneficial to the student body, to the community, and, in fact, to all concerned. However, when Oller Hall is engaged by any dramatic or musical group, certain changes and alterations must be made to accommodate that group.

In normal times, this would result in but little inconvenience, but just before a College production confusion, at the very least, is bound to result.

Let is look at the record. On Nov. 7, 1951, Soulima Stravinsky, pianist, appeared in Oller Hall as part of the Community Concert series. On Nov. 9 the College presented "Naughy Marietta". Again, immediately prior to the production of "Romeo and Juliet" Oller Hall was engaged. This year the Heinz Chapel Choir was here Wednesday; "My Maryland" will be presented tonight.

This practice of having outside organizations perform just before a College production may be open to criticism, not because the people of the area and students will be satiated with entertainment, but because of the undue inconvenience presented to the cast and crew of the impending Juniata affair.

Just a slight inspection of the College calendar—in advance—could alleviate all these difficulties.

Readers Question Columnist On His "Colonel McCormick" Political Views

November 10, 1952

Dear Editor:

We, the undersigned, offer the following observations and comments with respect to Mr. James Hunt's column "The Things Around Us" as it appeared in the November 7 issue of the Juniatian. The quotes from his article are in bold face.

The time for a change was here and the American people knew it—the people have spoken.

Speaker of the new Republican House, Joseph Martin said, "Personally I don't think we would have won if Eisenhower had not headed the ticket. I question whether any other Republican could have won."

The Alsop brothers had this to say in their Nov. 7 column: "Even the Republican Party as a whole, judged as a party, can't claim to have great strength. The strength and pulling power were Eisenhower's."

From the New York Times Nov. 9: "It was an Eisenhower triumph rather than a party triumph."

The Democratic Party under the leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt got us out of that (depression) by blankly ignoring all warnings from his chiefs of staff as to the threat of war and within eight years we were plunged into the most disasterous war in our history.

As history proves during the era in question, the Republican Party was overwhelmingly isolationist. Likewise many Democrats were isolationists. Furthermore, the United States on the whole was isolationist.

John Gunther in his book Roosevelt in Retrospect offers these comments: "He (Roosevelt) bent every effort to reveal to the American people the reality of the acute danger they faced, exhort them to the cause of democracy—. The isolationists—accused Roosevelt of "exaggerating" the danger of war; nowadays it is only too painfully obvious that they were those who exaggerated wildly. It was they, not Roosevelt, who did not have "imagination" enough—and not the President."

These were the very same people who would call Roosevelt a "war-monger" everytime he warned the nation of impending danger. Furthermore, as late as the fall of 1941, the Republicans were in general opposition to the foreign and military policy of the Administration, minimizing the seriousness of the world situation and skeptical of the necessity of the measures taken to cope with it.

The time for a change has come and now we will see if the GOP can repair what the Democrats have been destroying for the past 20 years.

From the New York Times Nov. 9: "He (Eisenhower) also made clear that the New Deal's social and economic program should stay."

From the New York Times, Nov. 7: "Despite the magnitude of General Eisenhower's personal victory the Republicans were barely able to win enough seats in both bodies to be able to organize them."

Finally, from the New York Times Nov. 6: "The Democratic Party's basic policies were not rejected by the American people."

Mr. Hunt states that war always keeps a party in power. He then calls the Korean situation a war—but, Mr. Hunt, the Administration has just been voted out in the middle of this Korean "War". Such inconsistency is no indication of logical thinking.

In summary, Mr. Hunt's article is not an intelligent analysis of our recent history or of our recent election. Rather it reads more like a psalm from Colonel McCormick's Republican bible.

"A penny for your thoughts"

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

Last week I had the honor of receiving a letter from a number of people who much to my surprise evidently read my column. Now this really is gratifying for after all the first news column a person writes generally does not get this kind of attention. However, as you might have noticed in the letter which is located on this page, they do not seem to exactly see eye to eye with me. Now this is very understandable for this is America. I would be the last to want to deny my fellow citizens the rights offered in the constitution for freedom of the press. Of course, when a writer is attacked he also has the right to defend himself and his beliefs even though they may differ with a portion of his public. In the next few lines I will try as best I can to show why I wrote as I did in last week's article.

Alas and alack, it does seem as if I might have made a mistake by calling the Korean situation a 'War' but as a last resort I called upon that big book lying over in the library called a 'dictionary' and what do you know? I found some interesting remarks! My friend Webster says, and I quote, "the state or fact of exerting violence or force against one another, not only against a state or some other politically organized body. As commonly classified, war between soveriegn states is a public war when between whole states and an imperfect war when limited as to places, persons and things. When begun by a formal declaration it is a solemn war. Surely this is not a solemn war, so I guess from now on, if it pleases my critics, "I'll call it an imperfect war or as it is commonly called a "police action."

I must go along with your statement asserting that a great number of the men in Washington in the late 1390's and the early 1940's were isolationist but certainly you do not mean to say that President Roosevelt was. He issued the command to the United States to shoot on sight German vessels and then tried to get the American people war-hungry by blaming the attacks on the destroyers Greer and Kearny on the Germans. He angrily asserted that we were attacked but in both cases he knew that we were the pursuer and not the pursued. Then along came the sinking of the Reuben Jones, and he changed his story. All along the line he and Secretary of State Cordell Hull favored convoy duty although they knew it was almost certain to lead us into war. Certainly the procedure they followed wasn't in line with the Neutrality Act of 1937 and the Neutrality proclaimation of Sept. 5, 1941.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt in a press conference on July 24, 1941 released for publication a statement that definitely hinted that relations with Japan were at a breaking point and peace was not the least bit substantial. Also about this time Secretary of the Navy, Frank Knox, relayed the information to the President that there were only four Japanese ships in the American harbors. After the feverish shipping carried on in previous months surely this would have served as a warning.

However since all this obviously was to lead to war why was it that as late as Dec. 2, 1941, the president stated at a press conference that, "The United States is at peace with Japan and perfectly friendly, too."

Then on December 7, 1941 the American fleet was nearby annhalated at Pearl Harbor and the administration went on record as being, "completely surprised."

A Social Bit

by Jack Freymuller

I have a proposal for someone with the power and the duty to suggest student proposals to the administration. Translate that into simple language and you'll find that I've got and idea and I want somebody to do something about it. Here 'tis.

I remember with satisfaction the occasional gatherings of men and women students in the Social Rooms just before a festive College evening. Neatly dressed men and women students gathered in the Rooms and Lobby to talk to their friends and walk together to the dinning room. Usually the group began to form at about fifteen minutes before mealtime allowing plenty of time for small talk and such. It was a get-together such as is rarely accomplished at Juniata. Easy informality and good humor. It actually doubled the satisfaction of having dinner with your friends.

What I suggest is that this be put in practice for all dinnertimes of the week for which we are asked to dress. Not just occasionally throughout the year but at least five times a week. Make a custom out of it.

The advantages I see in this are many. For one, a closer contact between the sexes would happen. Where would you find a more natural place to begin a conversation than in the Social Rooms while waiting for Dinner. It's easy. Under the present set-up it is considered difficult to open a conversation while navigating the post-office line. In Skip's it will probably cost a cup of coffee. Not objectionable in itself but eventually you fill up on liquids.

Secondly, it would encourage men and women to dress according to administration edicts or brave the elements at one of the side doors. There would be a point to wearing a tie. For what is a tie worn for but to be seen?

If the objection be raised that it's necessary to go through one section of the girl's dorm, suggest that this section be prepared for such a parade. The girls have to be ready when the doors open anyway. I see no objection here.

And the Social Rooms will not be as crowded as you might think for a goodly number of students will prefer to avoid the necessity of going back to the Social Rooms for their wraps and will use the side doors in any case.

So much for this proposal. I personally think it's a good idea that will cause no extra trouble. Sort of a nice touch that we could add to college living. Don't you think so?

I think it is rather obvious that with a good, popular man at the head of a ticket the pulling power of the party is increased. Now wouldn't it have been rather silly for the Republican party to put an unknown in the running for the presidency? Of course Eisenhower was important in the victory, but if his convictions are of good quality shouldn't he be the power at the head of a clean-up program.

As a closing to this column this week I would like to quote the defeated Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson when he conceeded the victory to Ike. He said, "General Eisenhower has been a great leader in war, he has been a vigorous and valiant opponent in the campaign. These qualities will now be dedicated to leading us all through the next four years."

As a personal note I think that is should be pointed out that Governor Stevenson conducted a clean, honest campaign and did not permit his name to be used in much of the mud-slinging carried on by some members of his party. It is my hope that he retains the leadership of the Democratic party, for in the next four years Ike will need cooperation from every available source and I think that Adlai is a man of sound judgement who will be of great assistance to his country.

Old Publication Reveals Coach As True "Iron Man" Of Indian Football

With Juniata riding on the crest of a five game football win streak, it may not be inappropriate to look into the past for a glimpse of the Indian Iron Men of another day. Interestingly enough, one of Juniata's best, and a sixty minute man at that, was Bill Scott who now is line coach for the Juniata gridders.

The following sports biography was taken intact from a 1936 issue of the Alumni Bulletin. It was published shortly after Scott had completed his intercollegiate football career.

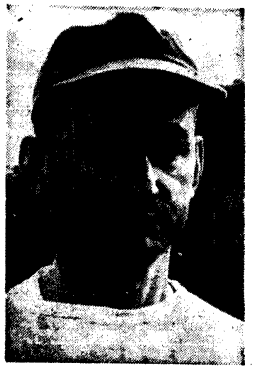
Juniata College has been fortunate during the last four years to have an Iron Man of Athletics, in the person of William ("Bill") Scott of Clearfield. Scott has participated in every recognized inter-collegiate activity during his four years at Juniata, and has won his letters in every sport.

Bill Scott received his early training at Clearfield High School, where in competition with boys of the Pennsylvania coal mining district and boys used to the hardship of life he built a body which every true athlete must have—one of stability, strength, and reliability.

From his home he went to Dickinson Seminary, where he played football, basketball, baseball and track during his one-year stay there. Interestingly enough, of the seven football players who graduated from Dickinson Seminary in the same year, four became captains of the football teams of the schools to which they went. Scott was one of the four. Wasicek, an All-American tackle from Colgate, was another of that number who rose to captainship in his senior year.

Scott's first indication of becoming a dazzling intercollegiate football star came in his freshman year. The journey to Philadelphia to play Drexel caused the regular center to become ill, and Scott was sent into the game in that responsible position to pass the ball during the entire game.

His work in the game was sufficiently pleasing to coach Swartz that Scott played a total of 17 quarters during the 1932 season. The following year, Scott became the regular center and as a sophomore holds a record which has been equalled but seldom in college football—that of playing every minute of every game. In the 1934 season Scott almost duplicated his feat of the previous year, but a head injury in the second half of the Lebanon Valley game removed him from the contest.



● Indian Iron Man ●
Bill Scott

As a senior during the 1935 season, and as Captain of the team, Scott played in every quarter of every game, but was taken out to give substitute centers the opportunity for experience.

As basketball player Scott did not break into the varsity lineup until his Sophomore year. That year he played 10 quarters of varsity basketball. During his junior and senior years he has been a regular on the basketball team, his versatility having permitted Coach Swartz to use him in every position. Scott's pet shot on the basketball court is a low unarched shot with lots of back spin which cuts the cords with a pleasant swish.

In the spring of his freshman year Scott took on two sports—baseball and track. He made his debut to baseball fans as a pitcher, success in which required that he stop track the following year. Scott's pitching record his freshman year was 1-0. Out of three times at bat that year, although he failed to get a hit, he crossed the plate twice. The following season, Scott was a utility man, pitcher, short stop and out fielder. Facing opposing pitchers 49 times that year, Scott played regularly in left field although he did come to the mound for a game to send the visitors down to defeat.

Scott's fourth letter was in track. Throwing the discus and shot during his freshman year, he won his letter in the sport under the direction of Coach Snider.

Scott's academic work at Juniata has been in teacher preparation. He has majored in science and mathematics and hopes to secure a position as a teacher of those subjects and as coach of athletics at some high school or preparatory school."

Topping all basketball scoring records for an individual high in a single game, Dick Wareham, '45, tallied 42 points on Dec. 16, 1944, when Juniata defeated Elizabethtown 81-46 at E-town.

"Meteor Mike" Dzvonar, '50, powered his way to a new college scoring mark in 1949 by chalking up 13 touchdowns and booting 15 extra points for 93 points to earn the acclaim of Associated Press which called Dzvonar "unquestionably the finest back ever to play for that college . . ."

The "J" Club was started in 1926 "to encourage better athletics at Juniata, to improve our athletic relations with other colleges and universities, and to uphold the three virtues for which the club stands: Loyalty, Friendship and Fair Play."

JC Sets Record As Grove City Falls 7-0

Sports Parade

By Harold Gray

"Second Half" Tribe Did It Again

Those "second half" Indians did it again. Yes, the Blue and Gold are rapidly becoming a ball club that is at its best during the final 30 minutes of each Saturday's game. Against Moravian, the Tribe and the visitors were knotted at 7-7 when the half ended, but the locals emerged on top 13-7. Against Haverford, JC led at the half 16-0 but really rolled in the second half to romp home 36-6. Then after leading Dickinson 3-0 at intermission, the Blue and Gold were forced to come from behind in the last quarter to win 10-8. Trailing Susquehanna 7-0 at the half, the Tribe broke lose in the third quarter to walk off with a 12-7 triumph. Last Saturday the men of Coach Smaltz scored in the last three minutes to pull out a 7-0 win over a winless, but tough Grove City eleven.

Ed Mohney finally got a chance to display his tremendous speed Saturday and from reports received here, he would have gone all of the way but was barely nudged out of bounds by an enemy pursuer. The Claysburg speed merchant can really fly wide open and is a great asset to the JC defensive backfield.

* * * * *

I didn't make it to the game last weekend but the jumbled reports that came to my ears seemed to say the Grove City line looked good. Their average weight was 205 against our offensive average of 185. That could have been one reason why our offense failed to click until the last quarter.

Bob Muchoney, rugged senior guard of the offensive platoon (Bob also sees duty on defense when needed), after receiving a severe cut above his eye in the SU game, which required four stitches, was re-injured last week against Grove City. "Mooch" suffered a severely sprained ankle with a chipping of an ankle bone and in all probably will not see action this week. He is the type of ball player who doesn't get the headlines but is in there doing a bang-up job every week. This co-captain is a credit to the fine ball team of 1952 and his name should long be associated with the outstanding football seen on College Hill during the current campaign.

* * * * *

CAGE GOSSIP—Just three weeks away is the opening court fray against Ursinus on the home floor and "Doc" Greene is working with his boys through long and hard practices to ready them for the busy months ahead and a schedule loaded with "victory hungry" opponents . . . Just from reports the starting lineup may be Herb Halkovich, Tory Froistland, Walt Vanderbush, Jake Hanzalek, and Dave Pollock . . . Speaking of Dave, he seems to be hitting with mid-season accuracy and may seriously challenge the all time scoring record set by Karl Park, some two seasons ago . . . Walt "Walter" Vanderbush may supply the much needed height that the Indians have lacked for many years. The 6-6 pivotman looks like an "old pro" on the floor and may go great guns this year . . . PREDICTION—The jayvees will have one of their best seasons in recent campaigns this year and may come home with a fine record . . . A winning team may attract crowds to the Memorial Gym and "Doc" Greene may come through with a season "a la Bill Smaltz style" following in the tracks of the mentor's record breaking football campaign this fall.

Soph. Lineman

One of the sparkplugs of the offensive line is Myron Sevick, sophomore guard from McKees Rocks. "Sev" stands 5-7 and weighs in at 185. Last season he saw action on defense but this year he teams with Bob Muchoney to give the Indians a pair of tough guards in the offensive forward wall.

Rugged Fullback

The rugged, heavy duty fullback of the Indians once again this year is Tom McNeal. "T" is a junior from Mifflintown and tips the scales at 190. He is strictly an offensive man and has never seen defensive action in this three years on College Hill. "T" is the "bull in the china shop" type of fullback and can always be counted upon to get that needed yardage. He also sees action on the baseball squad, where he patrols right field for the Tribe.

Win Streak Set At Five In Close Triumph; Face Ursinus Tomorrow In Important Clash

Coach Bill Smaltz, his 46 man squad, his assistant coaches, and some 600 students and faculty will have good reason to celebrate tomorrow evening if the Indians down the Bears of Ursinus. For a victory would assure the 1952 squad of the best season in the history of the school. A win would also serve as a great triumph to Bill Smaltz, who, in September began the campaign with a squad of 36 frosh and 11 upperclassmen. He called the team "green and inexperienced" but they have reeled off five straight wins since dropping a heartbreaking 27-20 decision to Westminster. A win tomorrow would cap a season that has been filled with surprises, and most of all winning ball games. Don't forget however that next week may give us the game of the year when the Tribe travels to Annville to meet a strong, revenge-bent, Lebanon Valley eleven.

Ursinus is not to be taken lightly. Although they were trounced 68-19 last week to Franklin and Marshall, they were tied with the Dips at halftime 13-13. They have a 3-3-0 record and feature wins over Swarthmore 6-0, Haverford 26-19, and Wagner 12-7. The other two losses were to Susquehanna 16-0 and to Drexel 47-39. The charges of Ray Gurzynski will be seeking a winning slate and after this week's clash they close against Dickinson on the 22nd.

Freshman Ed Mohney, 165 pound defensive halfback from Claysburg, grabbed off a Grove City pass in the fourth quarter and scampered 46 yards to set up the JC touchdown which led to a 7-0 victory over the Wolverines last Saturday. The clash, played on the losers' field, saw the Tribe set a new record for the longest winning streak in the history of the school, five straight. The victory also assured the Tribe of a winning season and tied the mark for the most victories in one campaign. A win over Ursinus tomorrow would give JC their best season in history, regardless of the outcome of the clash with Lebanon Valley.

Coach Bill Smaltz and his Indians had a rough time against a surprisingly strong Grove City squad. The inspired Wolverines held the Tribe four times in the first half and even threatened themselves during the second half, but the JC defensive unit held them off at the 10 yard stripe.

Segalovich Goes Over

Tony Segalovich scored the day's only touchdown and his following conversion climaxed the scoring for the afternoon. The senior tailback has scored the last three Juniata touchdowns with a field goal tossed in.

The Indian offense failed to click in the first half, four times the Blue and Gold were halted while in scoring position. During the second half the Tribe failed to materialize a real threat until the interception by Mohney.

Thrill Packed Ending

To recap the one moment of brilliance for the Indians: The Grovers were on the march in the dying minutes of the ball game with Dick Koistvich filling the air with passes. The home team had a first down on the Juniata 40 when Mohney pulled down a Koistvich heave and returned the ball 46 yards to the Grove City 25. (He would have gone all of the way had it not been for his foot barely touching the out of bounds stripe.) Seven plays later Segalovich bucked over for the score after accounting for 19 of the 25 yards personally. Tony then added the point via placement and three minutes later Juniata rooters were in a winning mood for the fifth consecutive game.

The Sports Mirror

ONE YEAR AGO—The Indians closed the season against bowl bound Lebanon Valley squad. The Dutchmen trounced the Tribe to the tune of 34-0 in the cold and snow which chilled a crowd at College Field.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Albright trounced JC 26-7 in a game played at Reading. Charlie Litzinger scored the lone Juniata touchdown in the rain and mud.

TEN YEARS AGO—PMC nosed out the Tribe 14-13 in the season's finale to give JC a 3-2-0 record. The sports outlook turned to basketball, for a good year was predicted as Coach Snider had five lettermen returning.

Vo. 26—No. 10 | Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. | Friday, Nov. 21, 1952

Brethren Conf. To Take Place Nov. 27-30

Juniata College will act as this year's host to the Brethren Student Christian Movement annual conference to be held during the Thanksgiving holidays. "A Faith for Our Age" is the theme of the meeting which will try to relate Christianity to the problems of the present century.

Brethren students in non-Brethren colleges and universities will be present as well as representatives from the six Church of the Brethren colleges and Bethany Biblical Seminary in Chicago.

The conference will begin Thursday evening with supper and an address by Dr. John Oliver Nelson, Professor of Christian Vocations at Yale University, formerly head of the Presbyterian USA Department of Life Work and former editor of the Intercollegian which is a national student Christian journal. Dr. Nelson also served as the Director of the Federal Council of Churches Commission on the Ministry.

Other leaders to be here include Al Brightbill, Bethany Seminary; Bob Byerly of Elizabethtown College; Ed Crill, National Director of Youth Work in the Church of the Brethren; Vernard Eller, editor of youth publications; Burton Metzler, McPherson College, Kansas; T. Wayne Rieman, Manchester College, Indiana; Bob Richards, the "pole vaulting parson" from LaVerne College, California; Harold Row, Secretary of the Brethren Service Commission, Elgin, Illinois; Bill Willoughby, Bridgewater College, Virginia; as well as President Ellis and Professor Glick from Juniata.

Youth Leader To Speak Mon.

Robert James, Jr., staff coordinator of the Student Christian Movement of the Middle Atlantic Region, will speak in Chapel Monday and at JCA Tuesday evening. Mr. James, representing the YMCA in the region, is one of five regional staff workers for the SCM in the Middle Atlantic Region which includes New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

Mr. James will be the guest of the college for two days during which he plans to meet with the JCA Cabinet and Council, the Huntingdon Ministerium, and interested faculty and students to interpret trends in the student Christian movement and relate them to the life of the academic world.

The JCA is one of approximately 140 groups in 95 colleges and universities which are functionally a part of the SCM of the MAR. Included are YMCA's, YFCA's, joint Christian Associations, and denominational groups.

Brumbaugh Is Pres. Of Men's Work Group

The Middle Pennsylvania Men's Work Council of the Church of the Brethren has elected Harold B. Brumbaugh as president to replace Robert H. Mohler of New Enterprise.

Mr. Brumbaugh, assistant to the president and alumni secretary of Juniata, was chosen for the post at the annual fall meeting held Thursday night in Oneida Hall.

Dr. A. G. Breidenstine, dean of the college at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa. was the guest speaker. He discussed the topic, "Pin-Pointing Men's Work."

The leads from the comic opera, "My Maryland", Helen Rosengren and Ben Newcomer presented several selections from the show to round out the evening's entertainment. They were accompanied by Vada Jean Roof.

Saturday Class Schedule

To Be In Effect Wednesday

The four day Thanksgiving recess will begin Wednesday, Nov. 26, at 12 noon. Classes will not be shortened in the morning, instead the Saturday class schedule will be followed. The Thanksgiving chapel service will be held Tuesday morning from 10 to 10:30 a. m.

The vacation will be terminated at 8 a. m. on the following Monday morning, Dec. 1.

Seniors To Have Dance Tomorrow

Come one, come all to the Women's Gym tomorrow at 9:15 p. m. for an evening packed with fun and frolic. The occasion? Why, the annual Thanksgiving dance sponsored by the senior class.

Featured on the evening's program will be music by the Freshman dance band. Dave Bayer, president of the senior class, promises a good time for all attending.

Actual arrangements for the dance are being kept a secret by the planning committee. May Ikeda will be in charge of refreshments. The dance will be informal but dressy dresses will be in order for the girls.

The starting time of the affair was moved to 9:15 so that the students who attended the game at Lebanon Valley will be able to get in on the entertainment.

Frosh Nominate Officers Monday

The freshmen class nominated officers Monday at their assembly in preparation for the organizational meeting to be held after Thanksgiving. Nominations were made to fill the five offices of president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and chaplain.

Each member was given a ballot and asked to vote for one person for each office. The three persons receiving the most votes for each office will be the nominees from which the eventual winners will be chosen.

Senate To Hold Open Meeting Wed. Dec. 3

Meeting in regular session Wednesday night, the Student Senate decided to hold an open meeting Wednesday, December 3, for the purpose of discussing measures of enforcing regulations among women students.

Some action will have to be taken to meet this problem, and airing the issue at an open Senate session may be beneficial. Should a working plan not be arrived at, it will be necessary for the administration to take action in this matter.

Jack Freymuller's suggestion in last week's Circuit Rider column in the Juniatian which proposed that all students be permitted to go to the evening meal from the social rooms through Brumbaugh Hall was adopted by the Senate.

In other business, the Senate proposed that a letter be written to Bridgewater and Elizabethtown Colleges in reply to a question which had been raised as to how dancing had affected the social situation at Juniata.

It was suggested that an attempt be made to secure free passes to all athletic contests for faculty members.

A letter was also proposed to Susquehanna University suggesting that a football trophy of some sort be acquired for the rivalry between the two institutions. It was further recommended that trophy be paid for by Juniata.

In another matter, it was proposed that the final All Class Night practice scheduled for the evening of December 5 be advanced to the afternoon of that date in order that students be able to attend the opening basketball game with Ursinus College.

Tickets Now On Sale

Tickets for the 17th annual All-Class Night program are now on sale, reports Betty Lou Smith, chairman.

They are available in Steele's Drug Store, Miller's Hardware and in the Public Relations Office of the College. The price is $.55. Students will be admitted on their activities card.

All-Class Night Criteria Announced By Chairman

The new point system for judging the All-Class Night skits has been released by general chairman Martha Petre.

Martha Petre

● Heads All Class Nite ●

The criteria and maximum number of points given are as follows: direction and quality of acting—20 points; tempo and pacing—10, lighting and scenery—10, make-up and costumes—10, originality of script—10, unity of thought—10, audience appeal—20, time (if within the 21-23 minute limit)—5 and money (if within the allotted budget)—5.

Judges To Evaluate

The judges will evaluate the skits according to the above criteria, and after the performance will fill in the marking sheets presented to them. The points for time and money will not be awarded by the judges but will be granted by the All-Class Night chairman. In previous years no points were given for these two items, unless in case of a tie.

If, in spite of the numerical evaluation, the judges feel that one class has more over-all appeal in their skit and that they should win rather than the class with the highest score, they will indicate this preference at the bottom of the grading sheet. Any criticisms or suggestions concerning the marking system should be presented to Miss Petre or Betty Shearer, assistant.

Contacted By Brumbaugh

Judges have already been contacted by Harold Brumbaugh, assistant to the president, and judging sheets will be sent to them. They are all from Huntingdon and the surrounding areas.

In between the skits, Bill Weyandt will play several organ selections.

Cast, Crew Named For 7th Pageant

The cast and production crew for the 7th annual Christmas pageant have been named by Phyllis Link, student coordinator.

They are Mary, Audrey Weber; Joseph, Galen Frysinger; angles, Mary Louise Neikirk, Marge Ferguson, Peg Hershey, Joyce Mullan, Nancy McCahan, Sally Coulomb, Nancy Roers, Nell Shoop; Wise Men, Ben D'Agostino, Bob Moore, Harold Bowser; Shepherds, Paul Morrison, Wes Diemer, Charlie Kipp.

The technical end of the production will be handled by the Masque. Included on the staff are Miss Link, coordinator; Wilda Widdowson, assistant; Larry Cape, stage manager; Harry Vineburg, lights; Doris Wilson, costumes; Barbara Lape, make-up; Sue Jamison, properties; Louise Gehman, publicity.

The pageant will be given Dec. 14 by the Chapel Choir under the direction of Miss Mary J. Pfotenhauer. She has chosen "The Pageant of the Holy Nativity" arranged by Leonard Young and David Williams.

The public is invited to this affair in Oller Hall and there is no charge.

Community Ed. To Be Offered

Dean Morley Mays announced this week that definite plans are being formulated to offer another program of short-term courses for the people in the Huntingdon area in the Community Educational Services.

The 12-week program beginning Monday, January 5, 1953 will be divided into two six week periods with twelve courses now under consideration for the college's second attempt at an adult education program.

A total of 169 were enrolled in last year's initial program in which six courses were offered. Many courses have been changed this year as a result of suggestions from former students and instructors.

The students on College Hill are allowed to take the courses but will not receive credits for them. A special fee will also be charged.

The courses are: Merchandising, Oil Painting, Music Appreciation, Newswriting, Beginning Spanish, Cinema Criticism, Astronomy, World Events, Public Speaking, Parliamentary Procedure, Business English and Personnel. In addition, the college is planning to add a number of courses in the field of religious education.

College To Offer Placement Service To '53 Graduates

A placement service is being offered by the College to all seniors who are seeking positions after graduation. An endeavor will be made to have a representative come to the campus from any company in which interest has been shown by the students. Dean Penney now has in his possession information on openings in over 50 companies.

If it is impossible to have a representative come to the school arrangements will be made to send interested persons to Penn State to receive an interview.

All seniors are urged to take advantage of this service if they are not certain about a position upon graduation. The administration does not guarantee a job however; but just the opportunity to get one.

FTA To Meet Tonight

"Tall Tales for Teachers" will be the topic discussed by Dr. Robert Patrick, '26 at the first meeting of the newly organized FTA tonight at 7:30 p. m. in Founders Chapel. All are cordially invited. Refreshments will be served.

"My Maryland" Went Over With A Bang; Reviewer Praises Cast, Chorus, Comedy

by Prof. G. Wayne Glick

Everyone has heard the story of the critic who reviewed the performance of a string quartet as follows: "The Smith quartet played Beethoven last night. Beethoven lost." I begin my review with this anecdote, not to draw an invidious parallel to the performance in Oller Hall on Friday night; but rather to indicate the "natural" opening line suggested by a sound effect conspicuous in absence, to wit: "My Maryland" went over with a bang without a bang.

Let is be said at the outset that there are limits to college productions: and then let it follow quickly that these very limits are one of the real delights, particularly when the production is a Romberg or a Herbert operetta. One expects ultra-romanticism, improbable plots, impossible recoveries, and unhistorical ladies, whose hair, unless all Frederick legend is false, was gray when she let it out to flow the Maryland breeze. This given in the plot, one is not unprepared to accept interpolated anachronisms re Adlai Stevenson, or schizoid soldiers (nobody got the wrong pants, hurray) or even the most convenient heart attack in the history of show business. And as long as no one took any part of it as anything but the light-hearted horseplay it was, all is well.

Set Praised By Reviewer

The set: up to par for Juniata productions, which is praise enough for any but the inordinate. The orchestra: better than in previous years. Speaking parts: done well enough that as this reviewer writes he has to try to remember muffed or muffled lines—and can't. Choreography: capably planned and executed without mishaps or loss of momentum to the operetta. For these important and often unnoticed fundamentals, the proper people deserve praise.

But the thing that shows in an operetta and either makes it or breaks it is the cast and chorus. At this point, I am inclined to quote my son, who sat in on the dress rehearsal, commenting every time the chorus was off the stage, "I want to see the girls." No derogation is intended to the members of the male gender and the capable way they conducted themselves, when one suggests that "that boy at three ain't so dumb." The ladies' chorus represented one of the highlights of the performance. We are referring of course to their singing—the beauty of Juniata's coeds is traditional.

Casting Was Fortunate

It is impossible to mention everyone in the cast, and one takes his life in his hands in specifying one's preferences. It is notable here that the casting itself was extremely fortunate. Notable in the histronic division was the work of that turncoat, Zeke; and the convincing characterization of Mr. Frietchie; the real, real enthusiasm for condemning Barbara's suitor shown by the Colonel; and the aforementioned deserter Greene, who cures a heart attack with an armsling, and ends up as the whole extant army of Stonewall Jackson. (Really, we had more than one left in the South, even at Appomatox) The Captain, to my mind, was played with exactly the right subordination to what is clearly written as the main role, that of Barbara.

Now I am an authority on Barbaras, and I can say that Helen Rosengren came as near to being one as one can come without being one. Her singing was superb, and I think the cast would not gainsay the suggestion that she was the star of the evening.

At the end of the performance, the observer felt relaxed and entertained. No more severe criterion than entertainment value has any right to be applied; and no other result is conceivable save for some inveterate Scrooge.

Collegiate Miscellany

The Miami Hurricane, University of Miami, tells of a fellow named Nick Dixon "Running for the office of candidate for the February commencement exercises," who wants to explain "why I think I was right in accepting 18 credits last semester toward my academic fund."

"No contributor to the fund," says Dixon, "has ever received any red apples that he would not have received as any ordinary member of the faculty.

". . . And one last thing, that boa constrictor I received from an admiring friend in Texas, well, I'm not going to give him back. We're using him for a clothes line."

The Cavalier Daily, University of Virginia, has finally figured out the definition of education. Says the Daily:

"We have been sitting around this University, man and boy, for over five years and we have finally decided that an education is a process of deadening one end in order to liven up the other."

At Texas Christian University a student tripped in the cafeteria, broke all the dishes on his tray and started an incident which ended in enough dishes to fill a 50-gallon can.

It happened on a Sunday afternoon. After the student stumbled and broke the dishes, several more students dropped their trays and ran from the room, apparently in protest over the meal.

Then came a volley of soft drink bottles from the lounge. The cashier stopped serving the lines and pleaded for order. The cafeteria manager asked that a committee meet with her and discuss the grievances.

But no one is really sure that grievances were at the bottom of this. The Skiff, student newspaper there, claims that some students are loud in their complaints about cafeteria food, while other praise it highly. The entire incident might just have been a psychological chain reaction.

The Daily Reveille, Louisianna State University, views the honor system there with a slightly jaundiced eye. "It seems," says the paper, "that the teachers have the honor and the students have the system."

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

SOMETHING OLD

The telephone wires connecting radio station WHUN and the dorms on College Hill really must burn from 10:15 until about 11:50 at night. As so many people already know, that is when the request show Nightwatch is on the air. Everybody from Joe who resides in the Lodge, L'il Abner who hangs his hat on a peg in the Cloisters, Sad Sadie, an inhabitant of Geiger House; and Daisy Mae who calls either Founder's or Oneida Hall her home get on the phone during that time and ask Frank Conley, disc-spinner, to play a song especially for some person or other.

Now, this is a swell idea for one gets to hear the music that he requests, but it seems as if some people want to take advantage of this air-time to use it to embarass fellow students. Take for example a case in which Joe calls up and asks to have a song dedicated to Daisy Mae from L'il Abner. L'il Abner doesn't like her at all, so how do you think his real girl, who is Sad Sadie, feels. Of course, we all know that Joe is madly in love with Sadie so it is easy to see how involved it can get. Let's respect Frank and his program and just use it for enjoyment and not to start trouble.

SOMETHING NEW

Everybody seems to have the subject of football on the tip of his tongue these days because of the unexpected success of our gridiron battlers. Now I shall stick my neck out and pick the score of the JC-LV game to be 20-13. Also, Pitt will take the measure of State by 13 points.

SOMETHING BLUE

It really looks like regulations are getting stiffer as the year goes by. Are the students really bad? What is the reason for the changes? Personally, I can't understand these happenings and would appreciate enlightenment on the subject.

SOMETHING BORROWED

On the light side—"The reason why worry kills more people than work is because more people worry than work." I wonder.

CIRCUIT RIDER

Television In Time ?

by JACK FREYMULLER

We attended a meeting of the Men's House committee held Wednesday in Room A and among other things on the agenda we were particularly interested in a proposal to open up the communal room at the bottom of Cloisters as a television room. Dave Bayer had proposed it to his committee members and was being questioned by them.

"Dave, how will we raise the money," asked Fran Zimmerman, "We don't have enough to buy it from House funds?"

"Well, I thought we could go around and raise it by collection, maybe from door-to-door," said Dave, "I've found that the guys don't mind contributing when they know its something worthwhile."

"But Dave," interjected Dean Penney who was sitting in on the meeting," How do you know that anybody will even go down there after you get the room all fixed up? Seems sort of foolish to me to go ahead and buy a TV set and then not have enough people interested in it."

"Dean, I've thought of that too and I guess that the only way we could really know is to go around and ask everyone personally. So that's what I'd like to have each man on the committee do—ask everyone you know what they think about it and let me know. There's bound to be some objection, but that's what we want to know. Let them know that we plan to fix the room up again and keep it in good shape. And also that it won't be a disturbance either."

Before he closed the discussion on the topic Dave pointed out that the addition of a TV set would not interfere with plans for a student center because in that event the TV set would be donated to it.

As we sat there thinking it over it certainly seemed like a good idea. We all like to watch TV and here we would have a place to watch it right in the convenience of our own dorm. And in a well-kept room. But, we thought, he's going to have a tough job getting popular opinion together. In addition to asking people we think it would be a good idea for any and everyone to write their opinions down on a card and drop it in at the post office in Dave's name.

7-0 Win Over Ursinus Assures JC Of Finest Season

Piazza's 81yd. Run Sets Scene For McNeal's T. D.

Win Gives Tribe 6-1 Record: Face LV Tomorrow In Final

After slushing to a scoreless deadlock in the first half, the Indians broke the ice with a quick score in the third quarter as they made it six in a row with a 7-0 win over Ursinus. The win assured the Tribe of the finest season in the history of the school regardless of the result of tomorrow's clash with Lebanon Valley.

The battle tomorrow at Lebanon will pit Coach Smaltz and his amazing Indians against a thrice beaten Dutchmen eleven. After rolling up three wins, over PMC, Upsala and Moravian, LV has dropped the same number in succession to Gettysburg 34-25, Albright 21-19, and last week to Western Maryland 26-0. The charges of Coach Richard Fox will attempt to make it a winning season tomorrow when they take the field against Indians.

LV Leads Series

Last season the bowl bound "Flying Dutchmen" trounced Juniata 34-0 for the worst defeat ever suffered by a Bill Smaltz coached eleven. This year's meeting will be the twentieth between the two schools and the scoreboard reads all LV, with 17 wins, one tie and but one win by the Blue and Gold. The lone Juniata win came just five years ago when the Indians upset the favored Dutchmen 20-6. With the Republican landslide in the recent election carrying the slogan "it's time for a change", maybe the phrase will find its way into the minds of the JC gridders tomorrow afternoon.

URSINUS

"Defensive Halfbacks INC." came through once again. Vince Piazza, 160 pound frosh safetyman from Penn Township, took the opening kickoff of the second half and returned it 81 yards to the home team 14. Beautiful screen blocking by Bill Haushalter enabled Piazza to break into the clear and make the longest run of the current campaign. It was the third straight week that a member of the Tribe defensive backfield had set up the game winning score. Joe Trimber's 44 yard return of a pass interception set up the winning TD against Susquehanna and two weeks ago, Ed Mohney brought down a Grove City pass and streaked 46 yards to place the pigskin in position for the winning counter against the Wolverines.

Tribe Pulls It Out

The first half of the game was a punt and hold, defensive affair played in the mud of the Collegeville gridiron. But after switching to their "lucky" white jerseys at halftime, the Tribe once again won out in the second half.

After Piazza returned the ball to the 14 on the kickoff, Tony Segalovich and fullback Tom McNeal alternated carries to the one, after which McNeal bucked over. Segalovich converted and that was the ball game, 7-0.

Defense Holds Again

At one time, during the second quarter, the Bears blocked a Yersyk punt and had possession on the JC 7. But the defense held and the home team was denied its only opportunity to score.

So jot down another win for the Indians and what could be THE game will be waged tomorrow at Lebanon, when the Indians, seeking to finish with 7-1, and the revengeful Flying Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley meet head on. May the better team win "The Game of the Year".

They're Anxious To Sink "The Flying Dutchman"

One of the pleasant surprises of the Indian offense this season has been Fran Wampler, 170 pound wingback from Pottstown. This sophomore will no doubt be out for the Lebanon Valley game with an inflamatory skin disease.

Big Amos Mosser, 248 pound defensive tackle of the Indians, has been called "the best big man I ever coached" by Coach Bill Smaltz. This frosh's slam-bang play has been no less than great. Against Haverford he blocked two punts, one for a safety. Amos hails from Claysburg.

Safety man for the Tribe during the 1952 campaign has been Vince Piazza, 160 pounder from Penn Township. It was Vince's 81 yard kickoff return which set up the winning TD against Ursinus last week. Vince is a pre-med major.

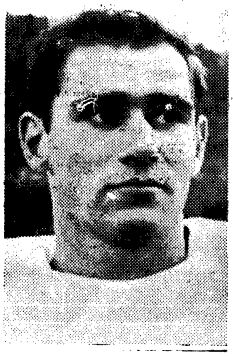
Joe Veto, 220 pound offensive tackle teams with Chuck Knox when the Indians have the ball. Joe is a sophomore, two time letter winner, and does a major share of the blocking in the Indian single wing attack. Joe is another Pre-Med major and calls McKees Rocks his home.

For This Quartet, Their Final College Game



Bob Muchoney

Dave LeFevre

Tony Segalovich

Bob Wagoner

These four seniors will be climaxing four years of ball under Coach Smaltz tomorrow afternoon. Pictured above are Bob Muchoney, Dave LeFevre, Tony Segalovich and Bob Wagoner.

Segalovich, whose play has been sensational this year, will end his college career tomorrow with hopes of dumping the Dutchmen. Tony leads the team in scoring and his play at the tailback post has been a shining light in the JC attack. Dave LeFevre, offensive center and defensive linebacker, hails from Hanover and his steady, reliable play will certainly be missed next year. Dave has a tough assignment as a single wing center but rarely makes a bad center pass.

Bob Muchoney, guard from Greensburg, has been injured throughout the campaign but has missed but one game, last week's battle with Ursinus. His bad ankle may prevent him from seeing much action in the season's finale but his terrific play has been appreciated by JC fans during the past four years. Bob Wagoner, offensive end from Johnstown, is one of the most popular men on the team and also is one of those who "is always putting out with all he has". Bob is a fine blocker and when needed can play a bangup defensive game. The above four have alternated as co-captains and they have led the "finest squad in Juniata history."

German Likes Penn. Scenery; Puzzled About Football Games

by Herb Harris

Voker Hiemeyer, Juniata's German exchange student, was a bit late in arriving for the fall semester, but he has since entered into a number of campus activities. He has also formed a number of opinions about America and American Education.

Coming to JC from the German high school system which has a nine year program instead of our four placed Voker in the junior class. He intends to become a doctor and will follow a pre-med course during his stay here.

Voker lives in the city of Augsburg in Bavaria which is located in the southern part of Germany. He graduated from high school this spring and applied to the State Department for permission to become an exchange student. The office of the Brethren Church received his application, and in July he was interviewed by President Ellis who was then in Germany.

Voker has already gotten into the swing of things at Juniata. He is a member of the IRC, Scalpel and Probe, and the Camera Club. Besides these memberships, he can often be found in Swigart Hall practicing the piano, or in the Memorial Gym.

Although he has been here but for a few weeks, Voker has been able to form a number of opinions about varied topics. He expresses amazement at the friendliness of Juniata's students, and at the way in which he was accepted by both the student body and the faculty members here.

When asked about the surrounding country, Voker answered, "I like it very much. It reminds me very much of some parts of Germany in which I have taken bicycle trips."

The courses offered in German universities are similar to those at Juniata, Voker relates, but he adds that German medical schools do not require nearly as much chemistry as those do in the United States.

Voker added that he finds no trouble in understanding professors, but that students sometimes talk too fast to be easily understood.

American football, though, causes him to pause. When asked what he thinks about the sport, he replied, "I do not like to answer this question. It is so different from the football that we play in Germany I cannot definitely say that I like it or dislike it until I become accustomed to it."

Voker sees several differences between college life here and college life in Germany. The relations between students and professors are much more formal there than they are in this country, and there is no dormitory life in Germany, all students living in private lodgings.

Navy To Offer Commissions

The Navy Officer Candidate School at Newport, Rhode Island, was established to help provide junior officers for the ships of our fleets and is currently training men for commissions at a faster rate than the Naval Academy and all college NROCT programs combined.

Two roads to a commission are open to graduates for OCS: general line commission or a restricted line commission. Men so commissioned receive four months training in all the basic sea-going skills. A limited number are also accepted every month for the school's two month indoctrination course for applicants for Supply Corps or Civil Engineering Corps commissions.

Because of a carefully worked out screening process, which each applicant must pass unconditionally before being accepted by OCS, disenrollments for all causes have been fairly low.

Applicants desiring a commission in the U. S. Naval Reserve should submit an application 120 days prior to graduation, inasmuch as a minimum of 60 to 90 days will be required to process applications.

For more detailed information and submission of applications, write to the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station and Office of Naval Officer Procurement, Room 304, Old Federal Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Library urgently requests that the student who removed volume 23 of the Encyclopedia Britannica from that building please return it immediately.

Clubs Plan Varied Programs; 5 Lectures Scheduled Tonight

Having been rather inactive the past few weeks because of the operetta, JC's club certainly are "making up for lost time" with five meetings scheduled for this evening. Of course, it should be recognized that a relatively important reason for the campus clubs' hyperactivity is the Thanksgiving recess starting Wednesday.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

Jack Walters, president, announces that the Chemistry Club will be addressed tonight in Room 104 in Science Hall at 7:15 by Dean Morley Mays. All are invited to hear Dean Mays discuss the relationship between philosophy and science.

Last evening fifteen members of the club toured the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Mill in Tyrone.

FTA

"Tall Tales for Teachers" is the title of the talk to be presented by Dr. Robert Patrick, a noted lecturer from Penn State, this evening at 7:30 at the first monthly FTA meeting. Everyone is invited to hear Dr. Patrick, who is a graduate of Juniata College, class of '26. There will be refreshments.

IVCF

A former professor at a university in India, Dr. Norton Sterrett, an IVCF missionary to India, will talk about the Indian missionary work tonight at the weekly meeting of the IVCF at 7:15. Everyone is welcome to attend the meeting.

LAMBDA GAMMA

Lambda Gamma members will assemble at 7:15 this evening in the Clothing Lab to hear Mrs. Kenneth Crosby, former Home Economics instructor, talk on the topic "How to Select Your Silver" and to see a display of silver. All interested students are invited to attend the informative meeting.

TYCOON CLUB

Prof. Herbert Miller, representing the Juniata College Finance Department, will speak to Tycoon Club members at the meeting to be held in the I. Harvey Brumbaugh House tonight at 7:15. He will discuss the investing of stocks and bonds.

Ted McGwire, president, states that the constitution will be amended and that dues may be paid.

JCA

Rev. Robert James, regional staff co-ordinator of the Student Christian Movement of the Middle-Atlantic States, will interpret some present trends in the student Christian movement at the weekly meeting of the JCA Tuesday at 7:15 in Founders Chapel. (See story, page one)

Class Skits Feature Fantasy In 16th Annual Class Night

The curtain rises tomorrow night on the 16th annual All-Class Night in Oller Hall at 8:15 p. m. Fantasy will be the keynote as each class vies for the trophy awarded to the victor.

According to Martha Petre, chairman, the order of the productions, determined by drawings, is senior, junior, sophomore and freshman.

The senior presentation "Sic Eunt Fata Hominum" was written and directed by Bob Bailey and Ron Cherry. An average American, Mr. Smith finds himself transported to heavenly levels where an impartial jury of Greek gods and godesses is trying such famous characters as Aristotle, Little Bo Beep, Diana and Jane Doe.

Juniors Present Modern Odyssey

The junior try for the coveted trophy is "A Modern Odyssey" written by Jack Freymuller, Louise Gehman and Helen Stutzman and directed by Wilfred Norris. Based on Homer's epic poem, the skit takes place in the Kentucky mountains where Penelope Longgone is besieged by persistent suitors. Penelope's husband left her many years ago to journey to the big city.

The sophomores, victorious last year, will try to repeat their winning streak with "The Playwright and the Angel" directed by Janice Ludwick and Jeanne Snively. A downhearted playwright, desperately in need of an idea for a script, is helped from his predicament by his guardian angel.

A family tree becomes the plot for the freshman presentation "And Then There Are Ancestors" written by a committee consisting of Bill Collins, Ben D'Agostino, Nancy Rosenberger and Don Davis. Determined to prove her rightful place in high society, Mrs. Tryhard delves into her past, tracing her ancestry from the caveman era through the Roman period to the present.

Weyandt To Play Organ

Entertainment between skits will be provided by Bill Weyandt who will play several organ selections.

The five judges will meet beforehand to discuss the various criteria for judging. They will then be placed at strategic places throughout the audience.

The members of the committee who read and approved the skits were Dean Alice Dove, Dr. Norman Rockwell and Phyllis Link, Senate Chairman of General Activities.

The senior class won in 1950, the first freshman class to ever take the trophy. The clas of '51 received the trophy in 1951 while last year the class of '55 was victorious.

First Sketch Of Student Center Given At Senate

Student Center progress has been quite noticeable since the first action was taken on the proposal in October, according to a report given by project chairman Russ Hill at Wednesday's open Senate meeting.

Hill outlined the general program which his committee will follow during the course of this year and reported on such action as has already been taken.

First Sketch Ready

The architect's first sketch of the Center, which is to be erected in the basement of the Women's gymnasium, was presented by Hill. It was prepared under the auspices of the College administration by the firm of J. Walter Hamme, an architect in York.

The drawing, which is by no means final, will be submitted to the student body at a later date for suggestions and approval. A set of drawing of the interior of the Center is also being prepared by a nationally known interior decorator. These should be received some time during the Christmas vacation.

Goals Are Listed

Four goals outlined by Hill are these: To impress the students with individual responsibility with regard to the construction of the Center; to secure commitment on the part of students in the form of donation of labor; to provide a means of securing student opinion about the project; and to solicit funds from the Juniata Alumni Association and the Juniata Women's Leagues.

In order to help attain these goals, a number of plans have be undertaken by the Center committee. Among these are plans for a full week of Center publicity to be held immediately following the Christmas vacation.

Plans To Be Presented

During that period plans of the interior and proposed schemes for decorating the structure will be on display, an entire chapel period will be used to present the work already done on the center to the students; and student opinion on such issues as organization of the completed Center and smoking in the building will be obtained.

An entire issue of the Juniatian of that week will also be devoted to a report on Center activity.

Center, System, Occupy Senate

A report on the progress of the proposed Student Center, a discussion of the suggested honor code for resident women, and the goal of the 1953 Juniata World Service Fund drive headed the Senate Agenda at an open meeting held Wednesday in Founders Chapel.

The Center report, presented by project Chairman Russ Hill, appears in full in another article on this page.

Student Directory Ready

The 1952-53 edition of the Juniata College student directory will be ready for distribution early next week, according to word received from the publishers, the Men's House Committee.

The booklet contains in a condensed form the addresses of the faculty members and both day and resident students.

JCA To Hold Party For Kids

The annual Christmas party for underprivileged townschildren will be held Saturday, Dec. 13. Started by the YWCA, the event is now being sponsored by the JCA.

A couple, two guys or two gals may act as parents for the evening. Each twosome is responsible for chaperoning their little guest to and from his home and for purchasing a gift ranging in price from one to two dollars.

A sheet is posted on the bulletin board in Founders' Hall for those interested in participating in the affair. Age and sex preference should be indicated by those signing.

Beginning at eight o'clock in the Women's gym, the party's first event will be games which will provide entertainment for all. Following this, a program of stories and skits will be presented. After the children have been returned to their homes, the couples are invited to a dance in the gym.

Freshmen Elect Yates As Pres.

The freshman class picked officers to lead them through the remainder of the year last Monday at Freshman Assembly. John Yates, from Hagerstown, Md., was elected to the position of president of the class of 1956 with Bill Collins to serve as vice-president. Collins hails from nearby Orbisonia, Pa.

The secretary will be Kathryn Keeler from Harleysville, Pa. and the treasurer post will be filled by Bill Shull who comes from Waynesboro, Pa.

The position of chaplain will be filled by Ron Morgan from Ligonier, Pa. to round out the list of officers for the 1952-53 term.

Senate Asks No Snowballs

Students are requested not to throw snowballs in the vicinity of, or through, the entrances of the dining hall. The request was made at a meeting of the Senate held Wednesday in Founders Chapel.

Frosh Dance Band Pick Name "Royals"

The freshman dance band, at an organizational meeting held Wednesday afternoon, chose the name of "Royals" for their newly formed group.

The ten member band has already played for several events at Juniata including the senior Thankskiving dance. At present they are engaged to provide the music at the annual winter ball to be held December 18 in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Chapel Plans Listed

Chapel programs for next week have been released. Pres. Calvert N. Ellis will speak Monday while Dean Morley Mays will address the students Wednesday. Friday a group from Penn State College will present a program of Christmas carols and folk songs.

Student Finds Americans Friendly, Honest; "I Enjoy Integration Courses" — Says Claudia

by Eloise Holsinger

The Integration courses may be a continual gripe of the majority of students at Juniata, but one young lady cites them as her main reason for liking JC so much. Claudia Pilutik, born in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, says "I like Juniata; the people are very friendly. I like most all of the integration courses; they give you some knowledge of many things."

Claudia compares JC to the state teachers' college in Trenton, N. J., where she had a year of schooling, previous to coming here. "I wanted to be a language teacher but all the technicalities about teaching that were drilled into us gave me my fill. We didn't have too much opportunity to increase our knowledge in other fields that were of interest."

Spent 2 Months In Russia

Miss Pilutik has been in the United States for only three years. Her family was White Russian and, when the Communists moved into Yugoslavia, they were forced to move from time to time in order to avoid capture. In 1944 Claudia was separated from her family and sent to a boarding school in Salzburg, Austria. Deciding to flee to the American Zone in Germany, the teachers and pupils were captured by the Communists and sent to Russia for two months. They were then sent home with instructions to persuade their families to return to Russia with them.

At Salzburg, Claudia found that her father had been killed and her mother, brother and sister sent to Siberia. She was placed in a D. P. camp and sent to America.

Claudia came to this country with the ability to read, write, and speak four languages: Russian, Yugoslavian, Polish and Ukranian. She understood a fair amount of German, Spanish and French but knew very little English. After being in America only a year and a half, she won the annual $25 short story award offered by the Chi Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi in Trenton. She was competing with over 1000 students who were born in the United States and who had spent their lives learning English.

Interested In Designing

Uncertain as to what her vocation will be, she is still interested in languages, but more from the standpoint of an interpreter than from that of a teacher. She is also thinking of designing as a profession and made a large part of her wardrobe after her own patterns.

When asked the inevitable "What do you think of Americans?" Miss Pilutik replied that they were spoiled, of course, but "They are very honest; they see their faults and admit them. They even try to correct the worst of them," she added with a little amazement in her voice.

Student's Mother Dies In Nigeria

Christina Masterson Kulp, wife of H. Stover Kulp, missionary to Africa and mother of Naomi Kulp, a junior at Juniata, died in Garkida, Nigeria, British West Africa on Monday.

Mrs. Kulp was born in Dunbar, Scotland. She began her service in the mission field in 1919 when she went to Rhodesia as a Presbyterian missionary.

During the war years Mrs. Kulp lived with her family in Huntingdon where she was active in the affairs of the Stone Church.

Services were held in the Garkida Church of the Brethren, Nigeria.

Registration Set For Spring Term

The week of Dec. 15 has been tentatively set up as the week for spring term registration. The time schedule for classes has not been announced as yet so final plans will be released earv next week.

All freshman are urged to meet with their counselors and departmental heads to confer on follow up integration courses before scheduling.

Student Center Needs Our Help

The Juniata Student Center project was seen at Wednesday's open Senate meeting to be progressing in a concrete and enthusiastic manner. Kinks and rough spots have appeared during the time since the project was begun, but these seem to have been ironed out practically as soon as they have arisen.

The first draft by the architectural firm of J. Walter Hamme has been received, and sketches of the proposed scheme for interior decoration soon will be. At the same time, Russ Hill's steering committee has been busily at work examining possibilities for fund raising and all the other detailed aspects necessarily a part of establishing such an unprecedented project at Juniata.

The Juniatian wishes at this time to congratulate the committee responsible for the work done on the Center.

There are, however, other important things to be considered. Perhaps the foremost of these is the need for enthusiastic student participation both in the preparation and maintenance of the Center.

A student-inspired and student-instituted plan of such magnitude cannot be carried through to completion without student help and student criticism. The Center will be for the students; it should be of the students as well.

It is not too early to begin planning the individual part that each wishes to play in the work to be done—and there is much of it—after the student body returns from the Christmas vacation.

During the first week of College after the new year an intensive campaign will be carried out in search of student desires and student commitments. During that week the Center will in all likelihood succeed or fail.

Let us now, therefore, begin to think of what we want to see embodied in the Center and of what we, as individuals, will be willing to contribute to see that it is established. We are agreed that a Center is needed. Let us also be agreed that we are willing to work to see that it is established.

Propaganda Perils Our Free American Expression

by Bill Swaim

The American public is not conscious of the importance of newspapers, magazines, books, the radio, television, academic instruction, and ordinary conversation, or the effect they have upon the popular beliefs, freedoms, and the democratic way of life.

These institutions are the most important instruments we have for correcting and bettering society. These agencies of mass communication can advance the progress of civilization or they can thwart it, because whoever controls the eyes and ears of the public controls the public.

No factor in modern life is more powerful than propaganda—the deliberate attempt to influence others to particular thoughts and acts by emotional and persuasive appeal. Propaganda is a more powerful force today than ever before, because it is possible to reach a larger number of persons at the same time by means of printed and spoken words.

These instruments can spread the big lie faster and farther than our forefathers dreamed when they enshrined freedom of the press in the first amendment to the Constitution. The newspapers, the radio, the telegraph, the movies, and the newsreels, are exploited for propaganda purposes. Through the sciences of psychology and sociology man has been given new information as to how one may sway public opinion and shape private convictions. There are men in this country and throughout the world who are trained in the art of propaganda and who can sell anybody anything.

As the modern world is organized, the ordinary reader seems to lose his means of private judgement, and the decay of conversation has just about destroyed the practice of dialectic reasoning. Consequently, the habit of credulity (habit to believe what one reads) grows. For example, in the struggle between the capitalist and labor there has been frequent use of propaganda, especially of the name-calling variety. The industrial leaders frequently call labor unions "communistic."

In 1942 the capitalists made a bitter attack on labor by charging that defense industries were being paralyzed by strikes. Even reactionary senators who looked into the situation admitted that the production loss of output in comparison to the previous refusal of employers to collaborate and cooperate with the government in defense production.

Another situation similar to this was when capital, under the guidance of the National Association of Manufacturers asserted that if the public did away with the Office of Price Administration there would be an immediate flow of goods at lower prices—in accord with the so-called law of supply and demand—which would soon right the exasperating situation. The result was a continuous rise in prices, unaccompanied by a parallel rise in wages, which in 1947 resulted in the predictions of a new panic.

There were all kinds of large headlines and reasons why the OPA should be abolished. And after the Office was removed and the public felt the harmful effect of such action, you had to look under or beside the obituary column for a two sentence statement asking for the revival of the office.

There are forces in this country which, by their wealth, greed and actions, are endangering the democratic way of life that the common people and patriots have, since 1775, given their life's blood for.

Propaganda can be dangerous to democracy and liberalism. Even in a country like ours where there is theoretically some freedom of the press (PM is out of business now), it is usually the group that has the most money (big business) that can carry the most extensive and successful propaganda. Mass propaganda requires much money to command space in the newspapers, movies, and on the radio.

When these wealthy interests are opposed to democratic ideals, the democratic way of life is in danger.

We see this silently arising in the appearance of the press agent and the public relations officer. More institutions of every kind are coming to feel that they cannot permit an unrestricted access to news about themselves. What they do is simply set up an office of publicity in which writers skilled in propaganda prepare the kind of stories the institution wishes to see circulated. Inevitably, this organization serves at the same time as an office of censorship, de-emphasizing or withholding entirely news which would be damaging to their pertige. It is easy, of course, to present such an office as a facility created to keep the public better informed.

There have been and still are propagandists who can sell the public strange points of view concerning old brands of economics with new labels on them; to dress up in interesting form obvious and progressive trends of public opinion, and sell them as party discoveries; to interweave Marxist philosophy with the principle of democracy; to sell neighbor distrust of neighbor; to create classes and set them at one another; to launch a surprise news interest at any time it might be needed to divert public attention from embarrassing political activities; to break down the confidence of the public towards a certain factor that would help the public but not the industralist.

Propaganda in the hands of an expert represents a powerful device for selling half-truths as whole-truths; for registering mental impressions which are not true, without literally misstating. Expert propagandists boast that they can sell anything to any one any where at any time, from a pencil that will not write, to a disastrous change in a form of government. Like the slight-of-hand performer, the exjert propagandist knows exactly what a suspicious individual looks for; where his attention is focused.

Of the thousands of items of technique in professional propagandism, the most effective in political strategy is to drive home the point that the reader or listener will gain personally from taking the suggested action, or from adopting the suggested belief.

MURPHY'S

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

Tuesday morning there descended on College Hill a crystalized substance popularly called snow. This cold white stuff seem to light once more the fires of youth in the fast aging residents of the Cloisters and Sherwood Lodge. Hardly had there accumulated more than a few inches on the ground before those snowballs began to fly and more times than not made contact with a human target.

Rumors began to circulate concerning the annual snowball battle with the "neighbors across the road." As the day wore on they seemed to gain force so that only a few "soft spoken" words were needed to set each side to industriously trying to subdue the other.

All that followed is now history, for we know the damage done to the windows, ceiling in the Cloisters, and various other areas. However, we also know the fun that was involved, not doing the damage to be sure, but rather in just capitalizing on the first big snowfall to have a snowball battle.

Now we all know that there are no strenuous objections from the administration about having such an engagement. It is quite evident that they don't like the resulting damage and we certainly shouldn't like it either because it costs us money.

So now, at long last, I come to the point I have been trying to make. Surely there is a way to have the annual battle without causing damage. We have a nice big campus so why not arrange it somewhere else next year instead of trying to demolish the dorms?

Out of the approximately 300 male students on campus somebody ought to be able to get a brainstorm holding with the correct solution. Think it over because we don't want to let it go until the administration cuts out the whole idea as a result of the radical destruction—or do we?

CIRCUIT RIDER

Ravin'

by JACK FREYMULLER

I've often wondered if any other student's who have return to college from their homes on the other side of the state feel as I do about the trip. It's certainly long enough—and dull enough—and wearisome! Sort of makes you wish that you didn't have to go home on vacations at all if you could only be spared that interminable trip back. With all due respect to Edgar Allen Poe I've borrowed a semblance of his meter and rhyme sceme to put my feelings about vacations into a little poem. Here 'tis.

Twas Sunday night and I was weary
As I rode upon the Erie,
No, twas not the Erie Railroad
Twas the older P. R. R.
I was heading back to college
To increase my store of knowledge,
And the rails were clicking-clacking
"...What a bore—what a bore..."
I sat brooding... nothing more.

I was sitting, somewhat daunted
My reflections being haunted
By the thought of lessons taunted
That when leaving, I forebore.
Gray professors gaily plotting
My good record to be blotting
And to who would go the joy
Of giving me the lowest score.
Oh, my record to be blotting
And to give me the lowest score.
This my finish, nothing more.

As we jarred into the station
I felt now a quick elation
For at last the grim vacation
Was now o'er, was now o'er.
On the platform I thought sadly
Of a sweet thing—injured badly—
As I ran the aisle so madly
She went flying through the door.
In my haste I knocked her flying
Through the open door.
She was heard of nevermore!

In the street I called a taxi
Spoke unto the driver: "Maxie,
Drive up to the college
As you never drove before."
Round the corners he went screeching,
Myself to the Gods beseeching—
"Must he take me at my word
And think of nothing, nothing more?"
Oh, he took me at my word and thought
Of nothing furthermore,
Only that and nothing more!

At the Cloisters he stopped—skidding!
With a minimum of kidding
Myself I now was ridding
Of this creature evermore.
Up the stairway I went speeding
For The Sack I now was needing
And soon after all that sounded
Was a long and drawn-out snore.
Oh, the only thing that sounded
Was a long and drawn-out snore.
Like a siren, only more!

Sports Parade

By Harold Gray

"Pollock & Co. Open Here Tonight"

The sports spotlight swings from the gridiron to the Memorial Gymnasium floor this evening when the 1952 edition of Doc Greene's Juniata cagesters tangle with the Bears of Ursinus. After two months of tiring practice, sixteen boys have been primed for the long 20 game schedule ahead. A rough card awaits a team which will endeavor to better last season's five wins and 13 losses. Curiously enough, much is expected from this year's squad, probably because of the addition of promising frosh. Just two lettermen, Dave Pollock and John Cook, remain from last year's squad. Speaking of the frosh, Walt Vanderbush, Jake Hanzalek, and Chuck Gross look like sure bets to grace the boards this evening as members of the starting five. This trio should raise many an eye with their timely play and scoring abilities. The fifth member of the first string will be either Tory Froisland or Herb Halkovich, rebound artist from Johnstown-Pitt Center.

It has indeed been a difficult task for Coach Greene to cut his squad and to form a varsity and junior varsity. It will prove interesting to watch the Tribe battle this season with two deadly set shots in Hanzalek and Pollock, a fine pivot man in Vanderbush, and two good post men in Gross and Froisland.

IN REVIEW—Let's take time out for a brief review of a record breaking football season for the Juniata Indians. The 6-2-0 record represents the finest season in the history of Juniata College. It wasn't possible just by luck or by accident, not by any means. It was the result of long hours of practice, evenings of chalk-talks, and viewing of game movies, expert coaching, and above all, spirited play. At times, it appeared as though the Juniata spirit was the major factor in their winning streak. Who will ever forget the thrilling Dickinson and Susquehanna games, the hard fought Ursinus, Moravian, Grove City tussles and the field day against Haverford? The battle of the mud against Lebanon Valley resulted in a heart breaking defeat for the revenge bent Indians, although it was by no means a disgrace to lose to Mr. Sorrentino and Co.

Juniata fans are forecasting another fine season for 1953 and with a freshman dominated squad returning, Coach Bill Smaltz should really have the material needed for a winner and don't forget a back named Pat Tarquino who will be eligible for action next September.

CAMPUS SHORTS—Bill Smaltz, of football fame, is now devoting his afternoons to aiding Doc Greene prep the basketball squad for the coming campaign. Bill will direct the jayvees and serve as assistant coach . . . Lock Haven State Teachers have been added to the coming basketball schedule as the result of Moravian's decision to drop the cage sport . . . Tennis diehards finally conceeded defeat now that the snows have arrived. they'll have to confine their activities to indoors until next April.

Gridders Select Quad-Captains

The Indians football squad, in an unprecedented step, selected "quad-captains"—all four seniors on the team at the close of its most successful season. Selected for the 1952 season were Dave LeFevre, Bob Muchoney, Tony Segalovich, and Bob Wagoner.

Tribe Cagesters Open Tonight Against Ursinus; Journey To Face Bucknell Tomorrow Evening

Likeable Mentor

Dr. T. Arnold Greene begins his fourth season as head coach of the Juniata basketball team this evening when his boys take the floor against the Ursinus Bears. The likeable downtown dentist was an outstanding quarterback for the Pitt Panthers under the late Jock Sutherland and also was known as an outstanding minor league baseball player. He coached a championship army quintet during the last World War.

Dave Pollock Only Returning Vet On Starting Five; Jayvees Face AUC In Tonight's Opener

The lid comes off on Juniata's 1952-53 basketball schedule tonight when the Tribe entertains the Bears of Ursinus on the Memorial Gym floor. The Junior Varsity meets Altoona-Penn State Center in a preliminary clash a 7 p. m. Coach T. Arnold "Doc" Greene will begin his fourth season as mentor of the JC cagesters and hopes to make this year his most successful.

This will be the ninth meeting between the two clubs and the record stands at four wins for each. The two did not meet last season.

Tomorrow evening the Tribe will take to the road to meet an always powerful Bucknell quintet at Lewisburg. The JV's will tangle with the Bucknell freshmen in an added contest.

Tonight the Tribe will attempt to start the season with a win and get off on a winning slate. Last year Juniata went five straight games before they nosed out a hapless Dickinson five 86-84.

Doc Greene has viewed the coming season with the comment, "We've never had so many boys with near-equal ability. The spirit is wonderful and everyone is hustling for a job." The veteran coach went on to say that the team may have trouble at first but the team is going to get better as the season progresses.

There will be little difference between the varsity and junior varsity, with members moving from one squad to another on their preformance, according to Coach Greene. He will not make any predictions of things to come other than to explain that the team surely will improve with age.

Four members of last year's squad remain. These are Dave Pollock, soph guard who led the team in scoring last season with 304 points; Jim Boulton, who will see JV and limited varsity action this year as last; Herb Law, 6-4 pivotman who will be reserve varsity; and John Cook, junior veteran who will see extensive action again this year. Among the frosh who will be listed as varsity are Jake Hanzalek, Walt Vanderbush, Tory Froisland, Chuck Gross and upperclassmen Dick Hilbocky and George OBrien.

The jayvees will be built around fast moving medium height freshmen and one sophomore, Jim Boulton. Other members of the squad include Bernie Orris, Jack Golden, Howie Kerstetter, Lee Hallman and Bud Briner.

Tony Segalovich Led JC Offense

The final statistics for the 1952 Juniata football season have been released by Bill Engel of the Juniata College News Bureau. Tony Segalovich, senior tailback from McKees Rocks, led the ball carriers with 456 yards gained on 124 attempts. Tom McNeal, junior fullback, was second in total yards gained with 321. Third in the totals was Fran Wampler, soph wingback from Pottstown, who compiled 314 yards and missed the final two games because of a back injury.

The Indians as a team gained 1532 yards on 507 attempts. Of this total, 1105 were by rushing and 427 yards via the air lanes.

Segalovich led the scorers with 31 points on three touchdowns, a field goal, and ten out of 16 extra points. McNeal and Wampler were tied for the second spot with 18 points. Following in order were Don Pheasant, 12, Mark Beech, Jim Butler, Pone Martin, Ed Mohney, and Vince Piazza with six each.

Wampler Leds Receivers

Wampler led the pass receivers with 162 yards gained on 11 passes. The wingback was the favorite receiver for Tony Sagalovich's tosses and scored twice in the Haverford game on aerials. Harry "Pone" Martin caught 8 passes for 125 yards.

Six of the sixteen JC touchdowns were on passes and the other ten were pushed over by the backfield. Mark Beech, in only one game all season, scored a TD against Haverford and carried the ball just five times in racking up 24 yards.

JC Rushing Tops

The Tribe out gained its opponents in rushing, 1105 yards to 1009 but fell second in yards gained through the air lanes 472 to 427. Our defensive backfield intercepted 18 passes while our opponents could intercept only 12 of ours. Opponents scored six touchdowns on passes. Four coming in the Westminster game and one each in the Susquehanna and Lebanon Valley tussels.

The most pleasing of the statistics were the defensive figures. The JC defensive platoon which stood out all season, held the enemy to 1481 yards, or an average of 185.1 yards per game in total offense. Most successful was the pass defense record which showed that the defenders yielded only an average of 59 yards per game (472 yards in eight games) for one of the finest defensive records in the east.

Jack Sweitzer, Former JC End, Killed In Army

John E. (Jack) Sweitzer, former JC gridder, was killed instantly in an accident at the Army Proving Grounds at Aberdeen, Md., on Thursday, November 19. Sweitzer had been in the army only five weeks when the accident occurred.

Army authorities said the accident occurred in the soldier's tent on the rifle range at the army base in Maryland. It is believed that the rifle, which he was cleaning, accidently discharged. The bullet pierced his head.

Sweitzer was a popular athlete during his stay on College Hill and had won his letter in football last season. He was a defensive end for Coach Smaltz.

He was inducted into the army on October 9 and had completed initial training at Fort Meade, Md. Recently he had been assigned for army basic training at the Aberdeen Ordinance Recruit Training Center.

Fellowships Given For Scientists

The National Science Foundation has recently announced its second fellowship program for the academic year 1952-53. Fellowships will be awarded for graduate study in the biological, engineering, mathematical, medical, and physical sciences. These fellowships are limited to citizens of the United States.

More than five hundred persons will be selected for a year of graduate study. Selections are made solely on the basis of ability. Most of the awards will go to graduate students working on their masters and doctors degrees in science; however, a few will be given to postdoctoral applicants.

The predoctoral applicants will be rated in three ways. First, there will be a scientific aptitude and achievement test. Then the applicant's academic records and recommendations will be taken into consideration. Postdoctoral applicants will not be required to take examinations.

The fellowships for predoctoral students range from $1400 to $1800. In addition, tuition and certain required fees will be paid by the Foundation. Limited allowances will be provided for dependents and for travel to the selected institution. The tenure of a fellowship is for one year and can be arranged to begin at any time after June 1, 1953, but must not normally begin later than the beginning of the academic year at the institution of the applicants choice.

Applications for the current National Science Foundation fellowship awards may be obtained from the Fellowship Office, National Research Council, Washington 25, D. C. Completed applications must be returned by January 5, 1953. Applicants will be required to take certain parts of the Graduate Record Examination which will be given at selected centers in the United States on January 30-31, 1953.

Truth —

If we look at the press as a whole, we must conclude that it is not meeting the need of our society. If it should continue in its present actions, and I think it will, the freedom of the American public will be insecure. The great Joseph Pulitzer said that "Our Republic and its press will rise or fall together." Thomas Jefferson knew what he was talking about when he said:

"The basis of our government being the opinion of the people, the very first object should be to keep that right; and were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers, or newspapers without a government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter."

Gov. Pamphlets Displayed Here

Among the most valuable sources of information are the government publications available in the library. They consist of administrative and statistical reports, bills and resolutions, laws, statutes, and periodicals.

Since Juniata is a depository library, it is designated by law to receive part of these government publications. The early distribution was handled haphazardly by congressmen who often used the privilege for political purposes. However the demand for centralized distribution created a Superintendent of Documents in the Government Printing Office.

Under this new system, each representative was allowed one depository in his district and each senator one at large in the state.

In the government publications division of the library there is available for student use copies of every publication selected by the library as most useful for college work.

The discussion about a proposed honor system for Juniata's coeds was a continuation of debate held at the last meeting of the Senate. Then it was proposed to present the idea of such a system to the resident women in lieu of a straight demerit code which would be enforced by the administration.

Honor Support Shown

Following Senate recommendation, Chairman of Women's House Ginny Yohn held a meeting Nov. 15 at which overwhelming support of such an honor system appeared to be indicated.

It was noted at the Wednesday's meeting, however, that perhaps the affair could be better handled by the Women's House Committee than by the Senate at large. As a result, the Senate voted to hand the responsibility for further action over to that group.

Two types of system are being considered. The one would require the individual to report violations of the honor code herself with a predetermined number of demerits to be dispensed according to the seriousness of the offense. The other would institute an honor board to review infractions when reported by students. More serious violations would be referred to the office of the dean for action.

No New Rules Set

In any case, no fundamental new rules would be established, the principle being to enforce those already in the books. Included would be the failure to voluntarily report infractions; smoking in areas where it is prohibited; inebriation or the posession of alcohol; failure to sign out when leaving campus, and participating in conduct incurring shame to the College and students.

In further business, the Senate discussed the Juniata World Service Fund goal for 1953. The argument that making the dollar quota match the year, as has been the custom, produced too large a total was overruled by the Senate, although it was suggested that rearrangement of student-faculty-administration quotas might be in order. The goal for this year's drive was established at $1,953.

The Senate further moved that students be urged to refrain from throwing snowballs in the vicinity of dining hall entrances.

Skits Presented In High School

A publicity program for All-Class Night was presented in Huntingdon High School Wednesday.

Short sections from each of the class skits were offered to arouse student interest. Costumes, make-up, and props were used. Ron Cherry served as master of ceremonies, introducing the skits and explaining the purpose of All Class Night.

Graduate Exam To Be Given

The next administration of the Graduate Record Examination will be given Friday and Saturday, Jan. 30 and 31. Applications must be received at the headquarters of Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey by Jan. 16.

Copies of the application form and bulletin of information will be available in Dean Morley Mays' office within the next few weeks.

Anyone contemplating graduate study next year should check with the institution to which he expects to go to see whether the results of the exam are an admissions requirement. The January administration is probably the last which could be used in connection with applications for graduate study this year.

Dickens' Carol, Singing Planned For Xmas Week

Plans for the Christmas festivities next week have been released by Phyllis Link, Senate Chairman of General Activities.

Tonight after dinner in the Social Rooms there will be a period of carol singing. The Varsity Men's Quartet, composed of Eek Bowser, Bob Landis, Paul Morrison, and Ben Newcomer, will present several selections.

Warblers To Sing

Making their first appearance Monday night will be the Warbler's Trio which will give a musical program and lead in group singing. Members are Jeanne Blend, Jody Casteel, and Barbara Lape. Tuesday night is reserved for the regular JCA meeting.

The traditional reading of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" will be given Wednesday in the Social Rooms by Dr. Harold Binkley, head of the English Department. The Carol will be read following the evening meal.

Thursday night is the annual Christmas dinner and dance given by the Social Committee (See story elsewhere).

Rounding out the festivities on College Hill will be caroling Saturday at 6 a. m. Students will meet in Founders Chapel and proceed to carol at homes of the faculty and friends of the college. The group will be led by Phil Norris. Cocoa will be served at breakfast at 7 a. m.

Singing Before Dinner

Everyone is invited to meet in the Social Rooms to sing carols before dinner and to go the dining hall as a group through the Women's Dorm.

Caroling and music are in order every afternoon and evening, adds Miss Link.

P. O. Workers To Register Today

The Office of the Registrar announces that all students who have been granted excuses to leave the campus for post office jobs beginning on or before Dec. 15 should report to the Registrar's Office at 1:30 Friday, December 12 to obtain registration forms. The complete arrangement for registration will then be finished at 3:30 p. m. in Founders Chapel.

JCA To Sponsor Children's Party

Santa Claus will arrive at JC tomorrow for the annual children's Christmas party, held in the Women's Gym at 7:30 p. m.

"Parents for the evening" can pick up their charges at approximately 7:15 p. m. and bring them to the gym where two groups of children's games will be in session. Both parents and children should join in the appropriate groups.

Christmas Reading Set

Entertainment, beginning at 8:30 p. m., will feature the Bible reading of the Christmas story given by Betty Shearer. Members of the Christmas pageant to be given Sunday (see story elsewhere) will pantomime Miss Shearer's selection.

Highlighting the evening festivities will be the appearance of Eek Bowser as Santa Claus.

Sponsored by the JCA, the affair is under the general direction of Jo Pentz and assistant Pat Henry. In charge of decorations and the tree is Sue Jamison, while Alice Jean Hoffman will plan the entertainment. Joy Rinehart was in charge of procuring the children while Mary Lou Neikirk and Janet Claycomb matched children and "parents".

More Committees Named

Refreshment and small gifts are under the direction of Anna Kay Winger, while Jody Casteel and Dorcas Mertz head the committee for children's games.

Miss Pentz reports that there are more couples taking part in this year's affair than ever before. This is the only campus event in which students come in direct contact with the community.

After the party there will be informal dancing in the gym.

CAVE MAN LIFE. one of the scenes from the freshman All-Class Night skit, "And Then There Are Ancestors." Directed by Ben D'Agostino, the freshmen took the coveted trophy in the 16th annual All-Class Night, the third frosh class to win.

Women To Adopt Honor System

At an open meeting of the Women's House Committee Wednesday, it was voted to establish an honor system and board for women students.

After discussing the respective merits of a demerit policy or honor system, a straw vote was taken of all the girls present. The decision for an honor system was unanimous. The Women's House Committee then acted on the measure.

Three committees have been established to draw up the constitution for such a system and to put it into effect. The finished statements of purpose will be then voted upon by all women students.

In charge of the rules committee which will decide which rules are to be included are Nancy Stephens and Janet Claycombe. May Ikeda is in charge of the honor board while Allegra Forney and Donna Vasbinder will direct publicity.

Four general coordinators have been chosen to supervise the work. They are Lolita and Juanita Carfora, Dottie Darrell and Judy Shanabrook.

Rev. Powell To Speak Mon.; Glick, Ellis Scheduled

The Rev. Raymond Powell, of the Huntingdon Presbyterian Church, will address the students and faculty at the chapel service, Monday. Professor Glick will have charge of the program on Wednesday and President Ellis will speak to the assembly on Friday.

Choir To Give Pageant Sun.

The seventh annual Christmas pageant will be presented Sunday in Oller Hall at 3:30 p. m. by the members of the Chapel Choir.

Soloists for the program have been announced by Miss Mary J. Pfotenhauer, director. They are Jean Lockhart and Sylvia Shuler, soprano; Barbara Grim, alto; Jim Good, Clem Rosenberger, tenors; and Wilfred Norris, bass.

"The Pageant of the Holy Nativity", arranged by Leonard Young and David Williams, deals with the traditional Christmas story of the birth of Jesus. The music is entirely original except for the carols "O Holy Night" and "Silent Night".

Student coordinator and assistant are Phyllis Link and Wilda Widdowson. Miss Link announced that John Dale will replace Wes Diemer in the cast as one of the shepherds.

The public is invited to the performance which is free of charge.

Masque To Produce Oscar Wilde Comedy

The play reading committee of the Masque has chosen "The Importance of Being Earnest" by Oscar Wilde for their spring production.

Copies of the play are now available in the library. Tryouts will be held the week following Christmas vacation.

Members of the committee were Miss Esther Doyle, adviser, Wilfred Norris, chairman; Phyllis Link, Betty Shearer, Shirley Kleist, and Doris Wilson.

The play is a comedy of satire on high British society in the late 1890's.

Sophs Under Snively Decorate Founders

The sophomore class, under the direction of chairman Jean Snively has instilled the Christmas spirit into the Social Rooms as a result of extensive decorations.

Starting with the beautiful Christmas tree centrally located in the rooms, right down to the remotest corner, the class of '55 hasn't missed a chance to show any stranger who might wander in that Juniata has the true spirit of the Nativity.

The front of Founders Hall also was decorated by the voluntary efforts of the class.

All-Class Night Skits Need Variety

by Jeanie Tait

The purpose of All-Class Night is experimentation—in writing, staging, producing and all phases of theatre—and it was lack of this experimentation which characterized the 1952 program. Of course the fact that it was pushed in between an All-College Musical and a rapidly approaching vacation may have been in some way accountable for the absence of variety in plot and staging.

Overcoming the difficulties of a rather slow beginning, the seniors came through with a smooth, well-handled production in "Sic Eunt Fata Hominum." From a technical point of view, there was little to be desired, as the timing, lighting, costuming and set were quite adequate. Clever and fast-moving dialogue highlighted the show, although the seniors failed to meet one of the usual problems of a production such as this—universality. To an audience unfamiliar with Juniata, quips pertaining to classrooms and campus activity fall nothing short of flat.

An original prologue got the junior skit off to a good start, although the timing and lighting detracted somewhat from the over-all smoothness of the production. Consistently good acting highlighted the main part of the skit, as the actors, especially the mountain boys, managed to keep in character throughout the entire performance. The trick effect of the gun shooting and the realistic chewing of the suitors added to audience enjoyment. Perhaps the worst that can be said concerning a "Modern Odyssey" was that the epilogue was an anti-climax and technically faulty. As for audience appeal which, after all, is the deciding factor in the success of any show, this one gets my vote.

The lack of time for preparation seemed to bother the sophomores more than any other class. "The Angel and the Playwright" had possibilities but the production needed to be worked over and smoothed out. The plot and dialogue in the dwarf scene were clever, but muffled lines, poor staging and lack of enthusiasm among the actors overshadowed this. The home scene was handled well-enough but from there on in, the action dragged. In short, the skit was original but no one bothered to take advantage of that originality.

Every freshman class is at a disadvantage, supposedly never having seen all All-Class Night before. The class of '56 deserves credit for its enthusiasm and effort. The home scene was capably done, especially the performance of Henrietta's bashful suitor which was one of the better parts of the evening's program. The individual skits were much too long and drawn out and audience attention soon wandered. Poor lighting and timing broke what continuity of action there was.

Registration For 2nd Term To Begin Mon.

The procedure for registration for the Spring term has been announced. All students are urged to report to room C of Students Hall at the time and day designated for his specific group. The registration will be conducted from Dec. 15-18 inclusive.

Students expecting to take more than the normal program of from 15 to 17 hours may do so only after their academic average in the present term has been determined as 1.75 or better and after approval by the Dean of the College. If such a case develops, the student may audit the course until his standing has been determined. Then, however, the course must be added by the change of program procedure. It should be noted that this procedure is not automatic.

Seniors Register Monday

All seniors will register on Monday, Dec. 15 from 1:30 to 3:00. The following day from 1:30 to 3:00 all juniors and sophomores whose last names begin with A to L will register. Those whose names begin with M to Z will register from 3:00 to 4:00 the same afternoon. On Wednesday from 1:30 to 4:00 all freshmen will register.

Although all students are requested to register at appointed times, in case of class or lab causes conflict thus preventing the student from registering at that time, it will be necessary to appear in Founders Chapel for registration Thursday, Dec. 18 from 10:00 a. m. to 10:30 a. m.

Consult Faculty Adviser

All students are urged to arrange for consultation with their faculty adviser or department chairmen to formulate a program for the Spring term before coming to registration. Care should be taken to make certain that degree requirements are being met and proposed program of courses is in order.

The registration will not be complete until the cards are stamped in the Treasurer's Office. Classes for the Spring term begin Monday, January 26, 1953.

Fees Must Be Paid Treasurer In January

Financial settlement for the Spring term must be made during the period from January 12 to 24, 1953. No one will be admitted to classes in the Spring term unless the registration card has been approved by the Treasurer's office.

Christmas Dance To Be Held Thurs.

The annual Christmas dance given by the Social Committee will be held Thursday from 8 to 11:30 p. m. in the Memorial Gymnasium, reports Mickey Monks, Senate Chairman of Social Activities. Dancing will be on the mezzanine.

Entitled the Christmas Ball, the dance will be formal and corsages are in order.

Music By Royals

Music will be provided by the Royals, the newly organized campus dance band composed of Bill Collins, Paul Heart, Jack Kruzelock, Ernie Lashlee, Jerry Maslanik, Dan Raffensperger, Bill Shull, Bill Smith and Evan Thomas.

Russ Hill will act as master of ceremonies and will introduce the entertainment featuring selections by the sophomore trio of Jeanne Baker, Allegra Forney and Doris Markey, soprano soloists Jeanne Blend and Don Davis, pianist.

Committee To Decorate

Decorations and refreshments will be under the direction of the various members of the Social Committee.

A receiving line of faculty and students will be on hand to welcome the guests, following the formal Christmas dinner in the dining hall.

Congratulations Are In Order

Editorializing

In keeping with the spirit of the rapidly approaching Christmas season, we will devote this corner to congratulations.

First, to the casts, committees and crews of the All-Class Night productions presented Saturday night. Although handicapped by a limited amount of experience and an even more limited amount of time in which to rehearse, each class presented an extremely entertaining skit. Winners and losers alike to be thanked for their efforts.

Congratulations for four jobs well done!

To the basketball edition of the Indians and to the fans. There has been more reason to show spirit during the two games played at home this year than at any time during the last several seasons.

There has been, in point of fact, as much enthusiasm during the Junior Varsity contests of '52 as there was during some of the Varsity games in '51. All of which should be kept up and encouraged.

We congratulate the committee of the Sophomore class which was responsible for the decorations now to be seen in the Social Rooms.

A Yuletide atmosphere has again been capably provided for those of us at Juniata.

Congratulations, too, are due to the administration for its prompt action in rapidly repairing dormitory damage, particularly in the Lodge. It can be argued that there is no reason for holes in the walls in the first place, and to this there can be no reply.

The promptness with which such damage is being repaired this year, though, is indeed commendable.

The Juniatian

The Juniatian is serviced by Associated Collegiate Press and is represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service.

The editors welcome letters on any issues. Names must be signed, but will be withheld upon request. Letters must reach the editors by Monday noon for publication on Friday. There is no word limit, but brevity is requested.

(ACP) A poll at Smith College, Mass., shows that sophomores do more class cutting than other students. Fifty-eight per cent of the class was out at least one a week.

Three main reasons for cutting were given: Studying for exams; dull classes; and (for Saturday classes) out-of-town weekends.

Commented the Sophian, student newspaper, "The reasons or excuses for missing class reveal neither maturity nor responsibility. The most frequent excuse, studying, shows, if not a poor value judgment, at least a lack of planning. The dull classes routine in even more ridiculous."

A satirical story called, "I Killed the President," printed last year in the Michigan Daily, has caused quite a stir in the Soviet delegation to the United Nations.

Mrs. F. A. Novikov, Byelorussian delegate, assailed the article as an example of "warmongering" of the American press. In a recent speech she charged the Daily had accused the White Russian Soviet republic of building submarine bases at Minsk. But Minsk, she pointed out angrily, is far inland.

The article was intended as a satire on the many magazine cloak and dagger stories which have been appearing of late. An editor's note was run along with it saying that the story was a satire and not true.

But someone from Ann Arbor clipped the story—minus the editor's note—and sent it off to the Moscow Literary Gazette. The Gazette apparently took it seriously.

Some students at Southern California were caught recently dancing the "Cemetery Drag" in a graveyard.

The youngsters told police that they went in for tombstone tangos just for a lark.

Students at two schools last week tried two different ways of fighting prejudice. At Colorado State College of Education an amendment was introduced which refused charters to any organization which had bias clauses.

The amendment also specified that organizations with bias clauses already having a charter would not be granted a renewal. This amendment was defeated by the student electorate. It won the majority of votes, but failed to carry the twothirds needed to pass.

At the University of California, the educational approach is being tried. Campus boarding and rooming houses are being asked to display a "Fair Bear" card, which states, "This house accepts tenants and boarders regardless of race, color, or cultural heritage."

According to the Daily Californian, "Religious and racial minorities are not getting a square deal on campus housing." "Segregation," says the paper, "is an appaling indictment of this allegedly University-enlightened community."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS By BIBLER

"I understand he was just about to graduate—and the Veterans Administration made him take a vocational aptitude test."

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

And only the Master shall praise us, and only the Master shall blame;
And no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for fame;
But each for the joy of living, and each in his separate star,
Shall draw the Thing as he sees it, for the God of Things as they are.

With all due apologies to Rudyard Kipling from whom I borrowed this verse I wonder if this couldn't be fitted to Juniata at this time with only a minimum of effort. In the next few weeks we will be asked to approve or disapprove the plans for the proposed Student Center.

This popular project has received an immense amount of verbal student support ever since the plan was created but now the day of success or failure is approaching. If the project does not receive sufficient support the bottom can fall out with little trouble as it has several other times. It is a cooperative undertaking that demands that we all stick together.

The Project Committee will begin lining up volunteers, for helping with the labor part of the job, in the next few weeks. Here is where we would shine, for everyone, male and female alike, can afford to spare a little time and effort for a project from which we shall all benefit.

When it comes to the working part of the Student Center, the line "And no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for fame;" seems tremendously appropriate.

It has been with pride that I have watched the recent games between JC and opponents, Ursinus and Indiana STC. The teams, both varsity and junior varsity, played commendable games with an undeniable amount of hustle throughout. However, what was even more noticeable was the great deal of enthusiasm whipped up in the stands.

It is the same type of appreciation and support which was so evident during the entire football season. So, to those who haven't made it to the Memorial Gym to see the 1952-53 edition of the Indian cage team, how about making an extra effort to show up next week when we entertain Lycoming College. I'll guarantee that you won't be sorry.

Women's League Meeting Commemorates 20 Years

A meeting of the Huntingdon Chapter of the Juniata Women's League in the Social Rooms Tuesday afternoon commemorated the twentieth anniversary of the founding of that organization.

The League originated at the suggestion of Mrs. A. B. B. van Ormer who had been associated with a similar college organization and who was familiar with its benefits to the institution.

Although the Waynesboro Women's League was organized in 1928, the Huntingdon Chapter met first on December 6, 1932. Almost immediately the College began to derive benefits from the organization.

Not only did the league ambitiously undertake to provide furnishings for the dining room, Social Rooms, individual dormitory rooms and infirmary, but recently Oller Hall and the Faculty Club have received new additions from the League.

In addition to the Huntingdon and Waynesboro Leagues, chapters have also been formed in Altoona, Johnstown, and Morrison's Cove. These leagues have all made substantial contributions to the College and its furnishngs.

Ivy Has Heritage

Every JC student has noticed at one time or another the ivy stalks winding their way up Founders Hall on either side of the Tower.

The ivy, which has been growing there for 45 years, was brought from a slip of the plant taken from Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio.

The original was brought to Antioch by the Rev. Edward Everett Hale. The stalk had originally been brought from Sir Walter Scott's home in Abbotsford, Scotland, by Washington Irving, and planted at his home on Sunnyside-on-the-Hudson.

The slip was obtained from the President of Antioch by Dr. C. C. Ellis, late president of Juniata.

This column gets harder and harder to write. For good reasons, too. Time was when we had only to consider the possible topic of the editor. That was not to hard to avoid because he invariably devoted his energies to the controversial. Our own little column offered little in parallel because we just sort of rambled or grouched.

Now, however, since this other fellow came on page two we feel a journalistic trepidation. It is obviously unwise to have two features devoted to the same thing, so we feel obligated to write about something which he will not duplicate either in content or in style. Its not easy, gentle reader, so bear with us in the event we stray remote.

In Bill Swaim's admirable exposition of the dangers of propaganda to the unwary mind that the Juniatian carried last week, it was pointed out that under the influence of mass communication methods, an average mind depends less and less on its powers of judgment. Mulling over this idea we began to think of its application in a more limited respect, and yet a more vital respect—psychologically. The unwary mind is the receptacle for all sorts of harmful influences and of these, we wish to single out a common one—the effect of unrelated noises on the disposition.

What do we mean by "unrelated noises"? These are the sounds which you try to study above, and which constantly intrude in your concentration, turning you, finally, into a book-slamming rage. These include: rounding up of buddies on a lower floor by means of a thundering bellow; exuberant denting of waste cans; true altruism as shown in someone who turns his record machine on full blast with open door so everyone may hear. What happens to an unwary mind under these conditions. It becomes jumpy, desperate for relief and finally blows its top. Then its owner is asked: "What's eatin' you, anyway?" And in tones of indignation.

Even if you aren't studying—suppose you are at Skip's talking to a friend—these pointless noises infiltrate into the mind. The indescribable clamor of juke-box, pin-ball machine, dishes, squeaky chairs, shrill feminine voices, and general bellowing to be heard—all these fused into one squawking, discordant hubbub—is enough to have you grinding your teeth unconsciously after a few minutes and perching uneasily on your seat edge. Look for the symptoms sometimes on the faces of hardened Skipites. Look for an inability to focus their attention on one thing for any period of time; look for a convulsive stretching of the torso and extremities when the front door opens. Don't waste your time in more than idle chatter, though, because these people are only half-there. One half is skittering crazily under the influence of noises that have no meaning and the other half (the conscious half you're talking to) is incapable of normal expression because it has no control over its other half.

The harmful thing to be pointed out here is that people aren't aware of the effect of these disturbing noises. They blame a grouch or a crank on personality alone, when even the normal personality is easily subdued by the vicious battering of hostile noises. Keeping a placid mind under conditions like this is like trying to bail all the water out of a boat with a missing plank; it can't be done.

Recital Today

Professor Johnson has asked all music majors from all classes to report to the Registrar's office at 1:30 a. m. Friday, December 12 to obtain registration forms. He will then meet with the group at 3:30 in Founders Chapel to complete registration arrangements.

Handzelek Starred In Bucknell Loss

At the time of this writing, the Indians have split their two opening games, with Ursinus and Bucknell. After Wednesday's game with ISTC, the Tribe is ready to go against powerful Lebanon Valley tomorrow night.

The Bucknell game surely was "a tough one to lose". Jake Handzelek came through with another fine performance, before a highly partisan Bucknell crowd. He flipped in 38 points a set a new Bison floor record. He left the fans mumbling to each other over "that number 40". Even in defeat, the team looked good and well balanced. They were always in the game. It closely resembled a football game where one teams makes more first downs, gains more yardage, has more spirit but yet comes out on the short end of the score.

After Saturday night's game, fans were beginning to wonder about Dave Pollock's inability to hit on his set shots. For his critics, Dave was averaging 21.5 before entering the ISTC game, an average above his total last year. He has been Juniata's "rear guard" on defense, thus having fewer scoring opportunities. It has been his passing that has given Jake Handzelek many shots on the fast break. Pity the poor team that has to face a "hot" Dave Pollock and Jake Handzelek. It may be LV!

After watching the first two games of the Tribe, it has come to our eyes that the two post men of the Blue and Gold will bear watching this year. Tory Froisland and Chuck Gross won't be in double figures too often, but their rebounding and passing, setting up the fast break, has been a factor in the fine play of the team thus far. They won't make the headlines, but their play is as valuable to the squad as linemen are to a football team.

CAGE SHORTS—It was our mistake last week when we said that Moravian had dropped basketball. They haven't. The Bethlehem team walloped Haverford last week 75-46. They were dropped from our schedule because of a mix-up . . . John Cook has dropped from the varsity and will see action on the "Hillboffers" Intramural squad . . . Jack Golden, jayvee scoring ace, had seven out of nine in the third quarter of the AUC game. He couldn't miss. Jack totaled 31 for that night's work and had 25 the next evening . . . Bob Asan continues to come out with his usual fine sports program. He edited "The Indian" during football season and now heads a swell "Tomahawk" for the court games . . . Walt Vanderbush's parents journeyed 300 miles to see his first two college games. Walt hit for 17 the first night and had 11 in a losing cause against Bucknell . . . Joe Hinish, high scorer of last year's jayvees, has been added to this season's Junior Varsity and will be the eighth man . . . If the Tribe comes home with a win tomorrow night, look for our gym to be packed next Wednesday night when the Indians meet Lycoming.

The Lebanon Valley squad will be built around Howie Landa, speed merchant from Philadelphia. Landa led the team in scoring last season, his freshman year, with 422 points for a 12.2 average. He also led the squad in assists and is a fine rebounder. Lee Miller, senior ball hawk, led the team in rebounds last season and averaged 14.8, 326 points. Other returning lettermen include Rickie Furda, Lou Sorrentino, Herb Finklestein, and Bill Vought.

The squad averaged 76.7 points per game last year and hit on the amazing total of 40.2 of their shots. Their tallest men, Jim Handley, and Howie Kosier hit the 6-3 mark.

Indians Down Indiana 83-69; JV Also Wins

The Braves came through with another sparkling fourth quarter as they downed Indiana State Teachers College 83-69 Wednesday night. A large crowd saw the Tribe, in their second home appearance, led by frosh star, Jake Handzelek, with 35 points. He raised his average to 34.0 with 102 points in three games.

The Tribe held a 39-29 halftime lead but they were threatened in the third quarter when their margin was cut to six points.

Walt Vanderbush was second on the totem pole with 17 points for Juniata, before fouling out in the last quarter.

The JV's won their second game in three starts with a 65-53 victory over the ISTC Juniors. Jack Golden, once again, led the Little Indians with 17 points.

IM Court Loop In Full Swing

The Intramural Basketball League has continued into its second week of competition with all teams busy, playing twice a week.

The opening night of the league, FM&M opened with a win over the AFU squad 60-48. The winners were paced by Hooch Hoover, Chuck Knox, and Dick Bowker with 13 each. The McKees Creekers outlasted the Maulers 56-42. Barry Drexler had 15 for the winners and Bill Yerzyk had the same number for the Maulers. The Hillboffers, showing a high scoring attack as they did last year, blasted the Aces 92-26. Dave Hackett led the victors with 30.

The second evening of competition saw the Covites, making their debut, defeat the Globetrotters 56-35. George Fote led the Cove squad with 18. Turk's A. C., led by Fran Zimmerman with 36, easily disposed of the Aces 75-37. Paul Hunt topped the losers with 13. The FS & C, last year's runnerups, trounced the Cyrenaics 49-23. Leo Kuhn was high for the winners with 17 points. In The final game of the evening, the Blivits, paced by Ron Morgan, dropped the Day Students 63-39. Morgan dumped in 31 points.

Indians Face LV In Road Tilt Saturday

JC Downs Ursinus; Handzelek Has 38 In 76-73 Bucknell Loss

Ursinus

What may be Juniata's finest basketball team opened with a 88-77 win over Ursinus last Friday night in the Memorial Gymnasium. A large crowd cheered and went wild as the Indians put on a great fourth period show to nab the win over a Bear team led by center Bob Swett, who had 38 points. Jake Handzelek led the Indians with 29 points and Capt. Dave Pollock had 28.

It was Handzelek's set shots that kept the Tribe in the ball game during the first half. The six foot all-state high school ace had 19 points at the intermission. In the third quarter it was Pollock who came to life on his sets and during the final quarter the sophomore hustler hit on 12 out of 13 foul attempts to ice the game. Tory Froisland's great rebounding and Walt Vanderbush's hook shots in the final stanza put the game out of the visitors reach. The halftime count was 36 all and at the end of three quarters it read 62-56, Ursinus.

Swett Sets Record

For the visitors it was all Bob Swett. The 6-8 pivotman ran completely wild in the third stanza, racking up 20 points, a new gym record. He finished the night with 38 and sat out part of the second quarter because of a bad ankle. His hook shots and fakes kept the JC defense loose. Walt Vanderbush, who had four personals, was handicapped in his attempts to cover the Bear star and consequently the big boy tossed them in from in close. Walt had 17 for the Tribe, most of them when they counted most.

Pollock's 16 out of 20 foul shots also set a new Memorial Gymnasium floor record. It was his tricky dribbling that enabled the Tribe to put on a successful freeze when the visitors appeared as though they might threaten.

Bucknell

An inexperienced Bucknell five got hot in the second half to beat the Indians 76-73 at Lewisburg last Saturday night. Jake Handzelek, frosh scoring ace of the Blue and Gold, set a new Bison gym record with 38 points.

The game was actually lost at the foul line as the home team made 18 free throws against only nine for Juniata. Three Tribe players, Chuck Gross, Tory Froisland, and George O'Brien, fouled out of the fray. The personals against the Tribe plus a loose defense lost the game.

Seven Point Lead

JC opened fast, held a seven point halftime margin, but trailed 56-55 at the end of the third quarter. In the final stanza the teams matched basket for basket until the final minute when a fast break layup and a foul shot gave the Bisons the win.

Capt. Dave Pollock hit for 14 points and was followed by Walt Vanderbush with 11. Jim Poff led the winners with 21 and Herby Cox had 18.

The Indians battled back to a 71-70 lead with but a few minutes left on the clock. Dick Landis then stole the ball and dribbled the length of the floor to send the Bisons into a lead they never relinquished.

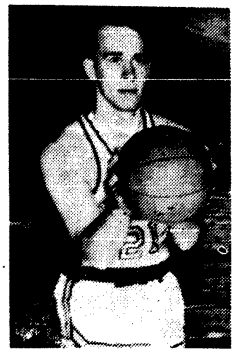
Dutchmen Have Seven Lettermen Back From Team That Had 18-4 Last Year

The Indians of Doc Greene will travel to Annville tomorrow evening to meet the ever powerful Flying Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley. The dangerous and speedy Dutchmen have seven men back from a squad that compiled an 18-4 record last season. In their opening game, they downed Dickinson 69-57. In an exhibition tilt played before the regular campaign, LV soundly dumped Mount St. Mary's 88-57.

Tomorrow night's affair will be the fourth game for the Tribe and they expect to give the Dutchmen a battle all of the way. Last season, the Blue and Gold dropped both decisions to LV, 85-65 and 102-78. In the final, Dave Pollock established a new scoring record in the Memorial Gymnasium against the Dutchmen as he dumped in 43 points.

In the 42 game series between the two schools, the Dutchmen have won 24 while dropping 18.

Court Captain Of 52-53 Indians



The captain of the 1952-53 Tribe court squad is Dave Pollock, 5-8 sophomore from Berwick. Dave set a new Juniata scoring record last season with 43 points against Lebanon Valley. He tallied 304 points for a 16.9 average. "Pollocker" is the only returning letterman on the team this year and was averaging 21.0 prior to the Indiana game Wednesday night.

Jack Golden Paces Jv's With 28.0

The Indian Junior Varsity coached by Bill Smaltz split their first two games in the same manner as the varsity. They opened with an 81-69 win over Altoona-Penn State Center, last year's runnerup for the state title. Last Saturday night they lost to the Bucknell Frosh 72-61.

In both games it was jump shot artist Jack Golden who led the Little Indians. His 31 points against AUC and 25 versus the Bison yearlings gave him a 28.0 average as he entered the ISTC contest. Golden, Kerstetter, Oriss, Hallman, and Boulton have worked nicely together and should easily compile a winning record this season. It was their defensive lapses that lost the Bucknell game and with this problem polished up they may be ready to roll. They will meet an always tough Lebanon Valley JV squad tomorrow evening.

B. S. A. Rep. Here

A representative of the Boy Scouts of America will be at Juniata on Dec. 16 and 17 to interview any senior who might be interested in a professional career in this type of work.

Although the representative is primarily interested in seniors, he will be glad to discuss any phase of scout work with interested underclass students.

Clubs Feature Trip, Parties

by Sherrill Edwards

Not to be outdone by the yuletide spirit and the festivities and many activities associated with such, the clubs on the campus of Juniata College have a comparatively heavy schedule set up for the few remaining days before the annual Christmas vacation.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

This evening the members of the Chemistry Club will be conducted through the Prismo Research Laboratories in Huntingdon. This is a research unit of the Prismo Safety Corporation, which contributes in the making of such products as the luminous white lines placed on highways over the entire country. This is another of the several field trips which the Chemistry Club plans to make this school year.

IRC

Mrs. Ellis is entertaining the students of the IRC tonight at 7:15 in her home. Showing slides taken while in Europe last summer, Mrs. Ellis will talk to the club on the subject, "What Every American Student Should See When He Goes To Europe."

JCA

An evening of Christmas music is to be presented at the weekly meeting of the JCA Tuesday evening at 7:15 in the Social Rooms. Other than special selections being rendered, there will be the singing of Christmas carols under the direction of Phil Norris. All are invited to participate in this seasonal festivity.

FTA

The FTA will hold its next meeting on Wednesday at 4:00. Mr. Donald Miller, Special Educationalist for surrounding counties, will be the guest speaker. The Sophomore Girls' Trio, consisting of Doris Markey, Jean Baker, and Allegra Forney, will entertain.

PYREENES CLUB

Nancy Slonaker, club president, announces that the Pyreenes Club will hold a Christmas party Friday evening at 7:15 in the Women's Day Student Room. A special Christmas program is being planned to climax the final week of school before the Christmas vacation.

ORCHESTRA

"The orchestra's working on a concert to be presented in January or February so that an early concert will be given this year." Clem Rosenberger, president of the Orchestra discloses. He made mention, as well, that seven members of the orchestra will accompany the Juniata College Touring Choir on their annual trip to be made this year during the first week of the second semester.

Directors Thank Operetta People

We would like to take this opportunity to express our sincere gratitude to every person whose effort went into making "My Maryland" a success. The performance reached the culmination of many hours of long, hard work on the part of many people. When all is said and done, however, it adds up to enjoyment and experience for all involved. We who worked with the cast, chorus, orchestra and committees feel that it never could have been done without the close cooperation of all. It was a privilege to work with all of you.

Sincerely,
Miss Miriam Dickey

Library Shows Xmas Editions

by Pat Torton

When the Christmas season approaches and the familiar sounds of carols and bells fill the air, there is an opportune time for the telling of stories around the fireplace. There is no better way to attain the true spirit of Christmas than to re-read the old beloved Yuletide tales, which are available in the library.

One recommended book by Marguerite Morthing is "The Christmas Story as Told by St. Luke and St. Matthew". The book is beautifully illustrated with paintings from the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the National Gallery of Art.

Christmas wouldn't seem the same without Dickens and his favorite stories such as "The Christmas Carol," "Chimes," and "The Christmas Tree". These and many other stories are included in his book "Christmas Tales."

The story of the birth of Christ is presented by Henry Van Dyke in "Even Unto Bethlehem," an historical novel.

"1001 Christmas Facts and Figures" by A. C. Hothes includes ideas for fun and decorations, carols, hymns and stories. On display in the library are several editions of a Christmas annual of literature and art entitled "Christmas".

Lycoming Warriors Trip Indians In 74-70 Thriller

Juniata trailed 39-34 at the intermission and matched the Williamsport boys basket for basket in the second half. They narrowed the margin to a single field goal but could not dump in the clincher. Jake Handzelek was high for the Indians with 21 points and was followed closely by Capt. Dave Pollock with 19.

It was apparent that it could turn into a thriller as the third quarter ended and Juniata trailed by four points. The final stanza saw both team battle furiously and at one time it seemed as if the Tribe was ready to really roll. But, the three minute foul rule seriously affected the Braves rally. Walt Vanderbush fouled out midway through the final quarter and this break didn't help the Tribe's chances.

Leta Deadly

The Warriors were also affected by rule infractions. They had to alternate Vince Leta, who had 14, Fortner and "Moe" Mosher because of their fouls. Leta appeared to be bottled up due to the Juniata zone but he was deadly from inside when the going got rough.

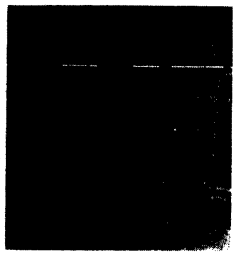
With less than two minutes to go the Tribe broke out of their zone into a pressing man to man defense. The move worked, as the Indians came from nine points back to marrow the gap to the final, 74-70. But time ran out when the Indians seemed to be coming to life.

JV's Win Again

The JV's won their fourth game with a 58-54 win over the Lycoming Juniors. Bernie Oriss and Jack Golden led the Little Indians with 15 each.

AAC Program To Feature Demonstrations

Sister Helene, an outstanding sculptor, designer, painter and lecturer, will be on campus January 9 and 10 to give demonstrations. The program will include technical demonstrations on ceramic construction, direct carving in concrete, and an enamel demonstration designed to interest history, education and language classes.



Sister has had extensive study and travel here and abroad, absorbing everything pertaining to the mechanics of art. After traveling in Europe for some time she returned to America as a sculptor with radical ideas about art mechanics and to put them to a test she developed Studio Angelico on the campus of Siena Heights College, Adrian, Michigan.

Attended Chicago Institute

She has attended the Chicago Art Institute, the Claremont Art Seminars in California and holds an M.F.A. degree from Cranbrook in addition to her B. A.

Sister Helene's ability as a design consultant has received world wide publicity. She has completely designed furnishings in many buildings in the United States.

Plays Produced

She had a childhood unusually rich in literary and artistic experiences and in college turned to science and creative writing. Some of her plays have been produced and her verse has been published.

In addition she has had numerous exhibitions in museums in the large cities in the United States. She has lectured extensively throughout this country and Canada.

A member of the Dominican order, Sister Helene will appear under the auspices of the Association of American Colleges.

Classes To Be Short Saturday

Classes will be shortened five minutes tomorrow as a result of the Pennsylvania Railroad arrangements for a special train to stop at 12:22. Dean Morley Mays has announced that the schedule tomorrow will be as follows.

First period: 8:00-8:50
Second period: 8:55-9:45
Third period: 9:50-10:40
Fourth period: 10:45-11:35
Luncheon in the College Dining Hall: 11:40.

Masque To Hold Meeting Jan. 5; Tryouts Follow

A special meeting sponsored by the Masque will be held Monday, Jan. 5 at 7:15 p. m. in Founders Chapel. Miss Esther Doyle will read and explain various portions from "The Importance of Being Ernest", the play to be produced by the Masque.

Beginning Tuesday, Jan. 6, tryouts will be held every afternoon in Oller Hall. Copies of the play are now available in the library for anyone interested in either cast parts or technical positions.

Members of the tryout committee have been chosen. They are Doris Wilson, chairman, Jeanie Tait, Jo Pentz and Phyllis Link.

According to Miss Link, president of the Masque, the play will be an arena or "in the round" production. Acting is done in a circle on the stage and the audience surrounds the players on all sides. A special type of acting is required and all, regardless of previous experience, are urged to try out.

"The Importance of Being Ernest" by Oscar Wilde will be given on Oller Hall stage March 4, 5, 6, 7, 11, 12, 13, and 14 to an audience of approximately one hundred each evening. The play is a social comedy of manners in the late 1890's of England.

Next Issue—Jan. 10

The next issue of the JUNIATIAN will be published Saturday, Jan. 10. This decision has been made by the editorial board of the staff due to the Christmas vacation which lasts until Jan. 5.

Dutchmen Down Tribe 116 - 75

The smooth working, sharp shooting Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley ran wild in the second half to trounce the Indians 116-75 last Saturday night at Annville. The LV squad was led by Lee Miller with 23 points.

Dave Pollock's 25 points kept the Tribe in it during the first half and consequently Juniata trailed only by 12 at halftime. Jake Handzelek had 15 points for the Indians.

Howie Landa, smooth working playmaker of the Dutchmen, dumped in 20 points and his passing set up nearly as many tallies. His jump shots and drives were well executed and were a main factor in the decisive triumph.

For Juniata it was all Dave Pollock. The soph captain was hitting on his jump shots and for the first time this year he looked like the Dave Pollock of 1951-52. Handzelek was definitely off in his shooting but managed to keep the defense loose for Pollock's shots. Howie Kerstetter, frosh center, was in double figures, with 11 points.

The two squads meet in the season's final March 4 in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Caroling Tomorrow To End Festivities

Climaxing the round of Christmas activities on College Hill will be caroling tomorrow morning at 6 a. m.

All those interested will meet on Founders Porch at that time and will journey to homes of faculty, administration and friends of the college. Phil Norris will lead the group.

After the caroling, a fire will be lit in the Social Rooms to help you thaw out and breakfast with hot cocoa will be served in the Dining Hall at 7 a. m.

Civil Service Comm. To Sponsor Exam

A competitive examination for Student Aid Trainee paying $2,950 and $3,175 a year has been announced by the Civil Service Commission. Nearly all the positions are located in various Federal agencies in Washington, D. C., and vicinity.

Appointments will be made to students during a school vacation period. The examination is open to college sophomores and juniors in the fields of chemistry, physics, mathematics, metallurgy, meteorology and various branches of engineering. A written examination will be given.

Movie Scheduled January 10th

A movie, "The Angel and the Badman", is the scheduled campus social event for Jan. 10, the Saturday following the Christmas vacation.

Starring John Wayne and Gail Russell, there's excitement, adventure and a deeply moving love story in this drama of a man who, alone, exhausted and injured, is given sanctuary in the home of a Quaker family. Knowing the code of the rough and lawless West, he is taught a new and better way by the Quaker girl who loves him.

Filmed by the Sixteen Millimeter Film Company, the movie was selected last spring by a student body poll conducted by Mickey Monks, Senate chairman of Social Activities.

Brethren Board Announces Summer Service Openings

The General Brotherhood Board of the Church of the Brethren has announced opportunities which will be open as part of the Brethren International Summer Service Projects for 1953.

The purpose of these projects is to help toward peace and international understanding through Christian Service and fellowship.

To be held from July 11 to August 14, the work projects will accept men and women aged 18 to 30 who are "in good health, not afraid of hard work, eager to serve." A foreign language is helpful but not essential.

Cost of the summer's work will be approximately $700 to $800. This fee includes transportation from New York to Europe and return, the 22 day tour fee, $1.00 per day maintenance in camp, passport, medical fee, etc.

The tour will last from June 17 to July 8. The approximate sailing date will be June 7. Included will be a trip through France, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy and Switzerland by train and chartered bus.

Visits will be made to Brethren Service Projects, peace leaders, youth groups, and points of contemporary and historical interest. Over-night stops will be made at youth hostels and in European homes.

Colleges, regions, districts and local congregations are urged to sponsor the participation of their youth in these international experiences.

The work camps, to be held from July 11 to Auust 14, will be located in Germany, Austria, Italy and Greece. Many nationalities, beliefs, religions and races will compose the personnel of these projects.

The camps themselves will last for five week periods. Activities are planned for the total group, and the tour will come before or after the work is completed. No personal sightseeing will be permitted during the camping period.

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

Early this past week yours truly became involved in one of those very frequent bull sessions that fellows seem to have. As usual the topics passed from girls on to basketball and by way of several other little items to the men's housing situation at JC. In the Lodge, this is indeed a very interesting topic for the chambers we are in are on the debatable side.

One of the fellows present came forth with an idea during the course of the discussion that set my brains to working. He asked, "why doesn't the administration knock out every other wall in the Lodge and combine the two rooms into one.

The rooms would then be occupied by two roommates although both would have more room than either would have had separately. The beds would be fixed as double-deckers and indeed this would take up considerablc less room than the single beds in our less spacious rooms now do. The floor space would be increased by the area of a bed.

The rooms would easily hold two desks with drawer space and working room for each individual person. The wardroom area could be made more than adequate with little effort. The chairs would fit neatly into the remaining space and still leave a nice sized area in the room to move around in.

Not only would the larger rooms be more serviceable for the individuals involved but they would also make a much better appearance to visitors coming in from outside. The Lodge would certainly be more attractive to a prospective freshman coming in for a visit. His visions of college life would not be completely shattered.

Of course there are advantages to having a few single rooms available for people who prefer to room by themselves. So why not let the end room single and then start the double rooms one in from the end so there is a window on each end of the room. The aspect of ventilation would be considerably more improved than it is at the present. The two windows spaced evenly would give a nice cross breeze during those warm days. Surely that can be called a definite advantage.

In addition to the previous good points put forth I think that the task of keeping the rooms presentable would be alleviated by the increase in room.

All in all the plan seems to have good possibilities for the new men's dorm appears to be far in the distant future. Until that time arrives when we have a new building I think that measures could be taken to make the rooms a great deal better.

Three Oller Shows Set For January

Three events will be presented in Oller Hall during the week of January 4. On Monday Michael Rhodes, baritone, will appear at 8:15 as a part of the Community Concert series. This program will begin at 8:15.

January 9, Sister Helene will be presented under the auspices of the American Association of Colleges Department of Fine Arts.

On Saturday, January 10, the movie "The Angel and the Bad Man" will be shown. Starring in the show are John Wayne and Gail Russell.

All three productions are scheduled to begin at 8:15.

Vol. 29—No. 15 Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. Saturday, Jan. 10, 1953

IRC Establishes $100 Fund For Foreign Study

The Juniata Foreign Study-Travel Award will be renewed this year by the International Relations Club. The group will give the award which consists of a minimum value of $100 as a grant-in-aid to a Juniata student of junior standing for study and travel abroad.

The idea of the award is to attain and develop on our campus the knowledge of the other nations, our sympathy with their problems, and therefore be able to exert a real influence upon the attainment of international understanding and good will.

The award is offered to aid a student's summer in foreign countries; or a school year in which foreign residence will be supplemented by undergraduate study so that it might broaden his or her point of view in international affairs.

Since the recipient of the award will be obligated to return to Juniata for completion of the senior year, it is hoped that the experience will add just a little bit to the welfare of the person and also to the college community.

All people who are interested in applying for the award are asked to make application by letter to the I. R. C. cabinet before April 1, 1953. Included in the letter should be the following information; (1) a proposed plan of action regarding study and travel abroad (2) the reasons for desiring the award. There is a possibility that if several qualified persons apply more than one award can be made.

Next Issue Jan. 31

The next issue of the Juniatian will be published Saturday, Jan. 31, due to the two-week period of examinations. We of the staff take finals, too.

Recital Features Organ Students

The first of two public recitals will be given by the advanced organ students of Prof. Donald Johnson Sunday at 2 p. m. in Oller Hall.

Included on the program are "Poeme" (Boellman), Reta Peck; "Adagio from Sonata III" (Guilmant), Carol Lowdermilk; "Chorus Magnus" (Wely), Sylvia Shuler; "Prelude on 'Saviour Breathe an Evening Blessing'" (Matthews), Rhoda Clemmer Gaugler.

Piano duo: "Christmas Symphony" (Bach-Goldsworthy), Vada Jean Roof and Allegra Forney; "Morning Hymn" (Peeters) and "Night" (Karg-Elert), Vada Jean Roof; "Grand Chorus in March Form" (Guilmant), Paul Morrison; "Christmas Evening from Sicilian Suite" (Mauro-Cottone), Ruth Rhodes; "In the Cathedral" (Zimmerman), Francis Beaver Coffman; "Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor" (Bach), Willian Weyandt.

String-Wind ensemble: "Trio Sonata in F Major" (Corelli); violins, Clem Rosenberger and Roy Rollman; Viola, Janet Binkley; Cello, Nancy Rosenberger; Flute, Margaret Sims; Clarinet, Donna Croft, Organ, William Weyandt.

Admission is free and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Music Students To Perform Sun.

Voice and piano students of Miss Mary J. Pfotenhauer and Miss Marie Jaeger will present a class recital Sunday at 4 p. m. in Swigart Hall.

Those participating in the program are Barbara Grim, Harold Bowser, Helen Rosengren, Betty Shearer, Mary Anne Bailey, Nancy Rosenberger, Bonnie Speck, Alice Jean Hoffman, Mary Louise Lehman and Vada Jean Roof.

All students and faulty are invited to the recital, which will be open to the public.

JC Choir To Head West For Annual Tour

THE JUNIATA COLLEGE CHOIR, under the direction of Prof. Donald S. Johnson, will leave Saturday, Jan. 24 for a nine-day tour of western Pennsylvania and Ohio. They will make 31 appearances in this their 21st season.

The Juniata College Choir will leave Saturday, Jan. 24 for its annual tour, this year heading for western Pennsylvania and Ohio.

In a nine-day trip, the choir will make 30 appearances in Brotherton, Meyersdale, Somerset, Uniontown, Greensburg, Pittsburgh, Irvin, Butler, Shelocta, Ebensburg, Johnstown, Penna., and Youngstown, Ohio.

The group will be directed by Prof. Donald S. Johnson, who assumed leadership of the choir in 1951, following the retirement of Prof. Charles Rowland. The innovation of a string-wind ensemble to accompany the choristers in several numbers was instituted last year by Prof. Johnson. This year's seven-piece section will include Janet Binkley, viola; Donna Croft, clarinet; Roy Rollman, Clem Rosenberger, violins; Nancy Rosenberger, cello; Margaret Sims, flute; and William Weyandt, organ.

Program Listed

Included in the program of sacred music are "All Creatures of Our God and King", arr. Robert Shaw; "How Fair The Church of Christ Shall Stand", Christiansen; "The Last Supper", a cantata by Thiman; "My Shepherd Will Supply My Need", arr. Thompson; "The Story of the Twelve", Scott; "I Wonder as I Wander", arr. Niles and Horton; and "With a Voice of Singing", Martin Shaw.

The girls' chorus will sing "God is a Spirit", Bennet, and "Drop, Drop Slow Tears", Noble, while the men will present "Praise to Thee We Sing", Haydn and "God Is in His Holy Temple", Mueller.

Secular numbers are "Grandfather's Clock", Work; "The Keys of Heaven", arr. Rhea; and a medley from "My Maryland", Romberg.

Members Named

Hollinger To Fill Senate Vacancy

Dick Hollinger, a senior from Annville, was appointed to the post of temporary Chairman of Publications of the Student Senate at Wednesday's Senate meeting. His appointment will be in effect until Move-up day, March 21.

Hollinger will fill out the unexpired term of Jim Holsopple who will not attend Juniata during the spring term.

As Chairman of Publications, Hollinger's duties will be to coordinate and maintain standards in student publications. He will also report the activities of the Senate.

A business major, Hollinger is at present business manager of the Alfarata. At Juniata he has also been active in intramurals, the Tycoon Club, track, and as assistant baseball manager.

His predecessor in the office has found it necessary to attend another institution during next semester in order to gain some course work required by many graduate schools as prerequisite for admission. Holsopple plans to re-enter Juniata in September.

Registration Cards Ready

All students will be able to obtain their registration cards for the spring term in the Treasurer's Office any time after January 12. Financial settlement must be made before Saturday, January 24 and the cards must be stamped by the Treasurer before the student will be admitted to classes.

Minister Here For Convocation

The Spring Term will be officially opened Monday, Jan. 26 at 9:30 a. m. by the Winter Convocation with an address by Dr. Howard C. Scharfe and the presentation of degrees to the January graduates.

Dr. Scharfe is a prominent minister in Pittsburgh, having served as pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church since 1945. Before that time he had churches in Buffalo, New York and South Orange, New Jersey.

The Canadian-born speaker graduated from Union Theological Seminary in New York. Washington and Jefferson, Grove City College and Rutgers University have awarded Dr. Scharfe the Honorary Doctor of Divinity Degree.

Candidates for degree who have taken their comps this week are Betsy Dively Gates, Bachelor of Arts Degree, Michael Pastuzek, Pauline Bane Shaffer, Jesse Frye and Nancy Rogers, Bachelor of Science Degrees.

Binkley Speaks At Frosh Assembly

The last regularly scheduled Freshman Assembly of the fall term was held Monday afternoon and featured a talk by Dr. Harold C. Binkley.

The topic dealt with the awarding of English Competence to those freshman who qualify at the end of this semester. He discussed the standards which are roughly held to be the basis of qualification.

Cast Chosen For Spring Play

The try-out committee for the Masque play has selected the cast and understudies for the spring production of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest."

The role of Ernest will be played by Fritz Blechschmidt, understudied by Pat Burns, while Helen Rosengren (understudy Phyllis Link) has been cast as Gwendolen. Appearing as Algernon will be Wilfred Norris (Rem Grove) while Cecily will be played by Lona Beabes (Nancy Knight).

Phyllis Link will portray Lady Bracknell, understudied by Betti Brumbaugh. Miss Prism will be played by Judy Shanabrook (Jo Pentz) and appearing as the Rev. Chasuble will be Gerald Richards (Maurice Henry). The butlers Lane and Merriman will be played by Pat Burns and Maurice Henry, with George Hatfield as understudy for both.

Miss Esther Doyle and the try-out committee appreciate the great interest shown and wish to thank all those students who tried out for the production.

Movie Scheduled Tonight

The second in a series of campus movies will be shown tonight at 8:15 p. m. in Oller Hall. "The Angel and the Badman" starring John Wayne and Gail Russell, is an adventure story of a man in the lawless West who is taught a new way of life by the Quaker girl who loves him.

Senate Elects New Member, Scout Editors

The appointment of a new Senator, acceptance of the constitution of the newly organized Men's Athletic Association, and the appointment of editors of the Scout for 1953 highlighted the agenda at Wednesday's Senate meeting.

Dick Hollinger was appointed to fill out the term of Jim Holsopple, Chairman of Publications, who will not be on campus during the spring term. His appointment will be effective until the regular College elections are held sometime in the spring.

Men's Athletic Asso.

A new campus organization was brought into being at the meeting with the acceptance of the constitution of the Men's Athletic Association. This organization will be enacted around the structure of the present intramural leagues.

Juanita and Lolita Carfora were appointed co-editors of the 1953 edition of the Scout, Juniata College Student Handbook, in further business of the evening.

Trophy Discussed

The matter of Juniata College purchasing a challenge trophy to be awarded to the winner of the annual Susquehanna-Juniata football games was reconsidered. Correspondence has been received from Selinsgrove indicating that Susquehanna favors the plan.

In other business Move-up Day was scheduled to be held March 25, it was tentatively agreed that recipients of the JWSF drive should be the same as last year, and a committee was appointed to examine the classification list of campus officers. This list pinpoints major and minor student positions about campus.

Fall Grades Due Feb. 5

Grades for the fall term will be available about ten days after the close of the term. They will be mailed to resident students around February 5 and will be available for non-resident students in the Registrar's Office.

DuPont Gives Chem. Award

The Juniata College chemistry department has received a $2500 award from the DuPont Company in a new program of aid to education.

The reason for the award was to assist the college in maintaining its excellent performance in teaching undergraduate chemistry students. Juniata was one of nineteen colleges selected through the nation to receive these awards for its outstanding work in training chemistry majors.

This program of aid comes from the recognition of the place of colleges in American education as a whole and from the fact that they have had great success in training high quality graduates in science and forwarding them to graduate schools.

The grants are to be used according to the judgment of the colleges themselves as to what best improves the teaching of chemistry and stimulates interest in this science. This would include such things as the purchase of basic apparatus, special equipment or books, payment of lecturers, and student aid. The funds are not to be used for routine maintenance or in building funds.

JC Student Hurt In Car Accident

Audrey Weber, junior from Erie, Pa., was injured in a car accident while going home for Christmas vacation. Miss Weber suffered a concussion and a fracture of the back, and will be absent from college about three weeks.

Driving the car was Charles Gross. Ann Marie Yesko was also an occupant.

Editorializing

January 7, 1953

The Student Body:

It is not an easy task to turn one's back upon responsibility, especially when that responsibility has been conferred in a popular election. Neither is it easily to be comprehended. For this reason, I feel that the students who elected me to the office of Chairman of Publications of the Student Senate are entitled to be told the reasons why I have decided to resign from that position.

In the first place, my goal is graduate work. In order to qualify for admission to certain graduate schools I feel that it is necessary for me to somewhere acquire some course work that I will not, at this late date, be able to work into the Juniata curriculum.

Secondly, I have chosen to leave during the approaching semester both because it is rather late in my undergraduate career to enroll as a candidate for a degree in another college, and because I have no real desire to do so. I would rather transfer to another institution for one semester and then be able to return to Juniata for my senior year. In that way, I shall be able to meet Juniata's graduation requirements.

After careful consideration, I can find no other course that I could take that would offer me comparable opportunities. My next semester will be spent either in Maryland University or in Swarthmore College, either of which has offerings that I can ill afford to refuse at this time.

I should like at this time to offer my sincere thanks to those who elected me to the Senate last spring. At the same time, I should like to apologize to all involved for my unconventional action in resigning the post in the middle of a term. I should also like to wish my successor in the office a very pleasant tenure.

Sincerely,
Jim Holsopple

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS By BIBLER

"If you think we are busy now—you should come in sometime when it ain't final week."

CIRCUIT RIDER

Juniata Union

by JACK FREYMULLER

We ran into Russ Hill one afternoon last week and stopped to talk with him for a while. Russ, you know, is chairman of the committee that is planning the new Student Center. Being in the dark about recent developments in his project, we asked Russ how things were going.

Sketching a quick picture of the situation Russ acquainted us with the fact that the administration had made an outlay of a sizeable amount of money for plans already and were planning additional outlays soon. These plans would be on campus in a few days for study by the committee. To our surprise we found that these plans would include a projected renovation of the whole building, not just the lower part or basement. Explaining the situation, Russ made it clear that the administration was committing itself only to the lower part, or snack bar, but since the plans were on a nominal cost basis they decided to include a set of plans for the upstairs.

He listed the features of the lower part of the building as being a snack bar, a bookstore, a general store, and a lounge. Admitting that we were rather surprised at the extent of his planning we asked: "What's going to happen to all the money that is taken in here, Russ? Certainly the bookstore and general store are going to make a good profit. Who gets all this money? And who will run it?"

"Now there's the thing," Russ nodded. "The administration is going to run the center and as yet nothing has been said about what happens to the money. There's bound to be a good profit made from sales to the students. They'll buy a lot there, from soap to shoe-laces. And since it is planned on a student-aid basis, costs will be low."

Switching the subject to the plan for the upper part of the building, Russ enthusiastically outlined the advantages to be found here.

"Think of it! A beautiful lounge in the daytime with partitioned rooms for activities such as ping-pong or club meetings. You could schedule anything there from movies to lectures; or you could arrange to have group activities at certain periods. Make a real Union out of the place, not just a glorified soda fountain. Make it a place where the student body could feel some unity as such.

On occasion it could be turned into a ballroom in the evening for dancing. There an evening gown would not feel so strange as now. It can be done easily; the architect has the plans. But, it has to remain in the future. We don't have the money or the approval."

Bidding Russ goodbye, we mulled over what we had just heard. The need could hardly be more evident for a Student Union. Too many students on campus have no place to go for relaxation. Disgusted, they leave campus for the weekend. Or stay in their rooms and mope. Or worse, go out and become the topic for chapel lectures.

Why couldn't we persuade the administration to put back into a fund the money that is retained as profit from the snack bar and stores section of the Center? Would a united effort on our part to co-operate to the fullest extent in saving labor costs plus the force of student opinion be effective? Perhaps, when shown that the Student's need and are willing to work for a Student Union, the administration will take action and set up the necessary means to bring the goal of a Juniata Union in sight.

Then let's do it! When the time comes when you are asked to state your views, come right out and say what you want. Remember! You asked for dancing and you got it. You asked for a snack bar and you are getting that. Certainly that shows that the administration is willing to go along as far as they can with what the students show they really want. Let the administration know that you want and need a Juniata Union. Perhaps it must remain a few years in the future because of already extensive outlays of money on the Memorial Gym but we can begin to plan for it now. If we trust Juniata with our future can't we at least help to shape hers. Support the Juniata Union.

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

The voice of the student body of JC, the Student Senate, will celebrate its 28th birthday this year. The body was first formed in 1935 as a consultation of the various tribunals that had governed campus life since 1922.

In Juniata's early history the student government was literally non-existent until in 1922 the administration encouraged the students to consider the problems of their college life and assume a measure of responsibility for their solution. The original governing bodies were organized in two councils representing the men and the women. These councils had under their direction the Men's Tribunal and the Women's court organized to enforce the freshman regulations. Then however the great increase in the number of students at Juniata brought out the necessity of a centralized system of government to control all the campus organizations.

To unify campus activities and make the government more representative the various councils were reorganized into a Juniata Senate of twelve members made up of representatives of the various phases of college life. To show that the Senate has not changed a great deal in organization just run down through the list of offices.

The student members are divided into two groups: first the officers: President, Vice President, Secretary, and Central Treasurer; second, eight representatives consisting of Chairman of Activities, Chairman of Athletics, Chairmen of Freshmen, Chairman of Publications, Chairman of Men's House, Chairman of Religious Activity, Chairman of Social Functions, and Chairman of Women's House.

Well, here it is final exam week. For the upperclassmen it is an old story and oft times a bitter one that keeps coming back every six months just to haunt you but for the large number of freshmen here it is a new experience. Regardless of what bracket you fall into however it is a period of activity and a time to make a whole host of resolutions about studying next term. A variety of remarks such as "boy am I going to study next term", "I'll do all my work on time just wait and see" reach a bystander's ears. I'm afraid I'll just have too wait and see for it is a mighty good worker who can goof off one semester and come back the next and really go to work. Even though the well known 'speak for yourself John' holds very true here, nevertheless the truth remains.

Bits of this and that—President Ellils is in California today and tonight will address the American Association of Colleges. I wonder if the weather out there is as wet as it is here. Maybe he had this all planned. Oh, yes this good old Pennsyltucky atmosphere is still the best.

The weather doesn't seem to agree with the gym floor, however, for it sure is having its ups and downs. When you looked across it before the nails were driven in, you were reminded of a lake with a gentle wind blowing over the surface.

Indians Face E-Town Tonight After 97-74 Lycoming Defeat

Juniata's four times beaten Indians take to the road again this evening when they face a spirited Elizabethtown five. Last season Juniata split their series with the E-towners. The Blue and Gold nabbed the affair played on College Hill 54-51. That February evening, Dave Pollock and Tom Green led the Tribe with 15 apiece. But the return encounter at Elizabethtown proved disasterous for Juniata as the home team walked away with a 72-42 win.

The Elizabethtown floor is somewhat smaller than the normal playing areas that the Indians are used to seeing and this factor always adds a great advantage to the E-town squad. This was noted in one of the biggest upsets of the 1951-52 season as the Blue Jays dumped the great Lebanon Valley squad on the E-town court.

Juniata will enter the game with a 2-4 record after dropping Wednesday night's game to Lycoming 97-74. The Blue Jays have already beaten Lycoming at home by eight points. It should prove to be an interesting game with JC hoping to rebound from three successive defeats. A Junior Varsity tussle will preceed the main go.

JV's Dumped 55-50 By Lycoming Juniors

The Junior Varsity suffered their second defeat of the current campaign Wednesday night when they dropped a 55-50 decision to Lycoming at Williamsport. The contest was a basket for basket affair that actually wasn't decided until the final minutes.

The victors were paced by Howie Glunk who dropped in 13 points in the second quarter and had 21 for the evening's work. The Lycoming squad didn't score a field goal in the first quarter but Glunk paced the squad in the final three quarters to victory.

George O'Brien led the Juniata squad with 14 points. Lee Hallman dumped in 10. Others who figured in the Juniata attack were Dick Hilboky with 8 and Herb Law, who tickled the cords for nine.

The other defeat for the Little Indians was a 72-61 loss at the hands of the Bucknell Frosh. The JV record now stands at four wins and two losses.

Texas Cowgirls Appear Tuesday Night At HHS

The nationally famous Texas Cowgirls Basketball team will appear at the Huntingdon High School Gymnasium Tuesday night in a special benefit game for the March of Dimes. They will face the County All-Stars in the charity affair which should draw a capacity crowd to the local school.

The Cowgirls are composed of outstanding lady athletes who are chosen for the squad on basis of ability, beauty, and sportsmanship. They recently defeated a team of New York City sports writers in a game played at Madison Square Garden, New York.

One of the outstanding features of their presence at any community is Miss Betty Herrmann, outstanding foul shot artist. Miss Herrmann has a special demonstration which she will display at halftime. She shoots her foul shots blindfolded and will challenge anyone in the audience to a contest. On occasion she has made 37 blindfolded and at one time shot 76 straight without the handicap. Last season she averaged 14 points per game against male competition.

For those who will make the seven block journey, you will see an exhibition of good basketball and a clash between the sexes with astounding results and don't be a bit surprised if the so-called weaker sex come out on top.

Lycoming

The third quarter jinx played havoc with the Indians once again Wednesday night as they bowed to the Warriors of Lycoming 97-74. The locals were five points down at the intermission and once the third stanza got under way, the Warriors poured in 31 points to a mere 12 for the Tribe.

Once again, it was Jake Handzelek who paced the Indians, this time with 28 points. Walt Vanderbush, enjoying a hot streak shortly before halftime, had 20 markers. Dave Pollock hit for 11.

Feature Fast Break

Lycoming's beautiful fast breaking offense, built around "Moe" Mosher, Vince Leta, and Jim Nevins, opened a lead that "iced" the game for the home squad.

The victors opened a 16-6 advantage at one time during the first quarter as Mosher and George Fortner banged them in from short range. The Tribe battled back and caught the Warriors at 25 all and from there in until the half the teams matched basket for basket. The home team enjoyed a 42-37 halftime lead.

Miss Century Mark

It seemed as though the Warriors surely would crack the century mark, but they tightened at the charity stripe during the last two minutes, dunking but one of six opportunities.

What appeared to be a close game was turned into a rout during that hectic third quarter when the Warriors repeatedly cracked the Juniata man to man defense for easy layups and the Indians just couldn't do anything right. The Williamsport squad hit on 45% of their shots to show how "hot" they were at one stage or another of the contest.

Player Profile

Jake Handzelek is currently leading the Tribe in scoring with a 28 point average after the first six games and ranks as one of the highest scoring small college players in the nation. Jake hails from Mocanaqua, Pa. where he won many honors while performing on the Schickshinny High School squad.

Jake is known as "Hus" and "Junior" and the saying of "Come Here Jake" is associated with this high scoring frosh. He is 18 years of age, stands 6-1 and weighs 182 pounds. An education major, Jake spends his spare time "hitting the books" or palling around with Howie Kerstetter and Lee Hallman at the Germann House.

An expert set shot and a possessor of a beautiful drive-in shot, Jake was rewarded for high school efforts with a berth on the All State Scholastic squad last year. He also established a new individual mark for a season with 1,008 points in his senior year. He was All Scholastic Wyoming Valley, 2 years; All League, three years; Most Valuable Player in the Bloomsburg State Teachers Tournament; and was voted the Most Valuable Athletic Trophy at Schickshinny High School.

In a high school game, Jake dropped in 59 points and in his second college game, against Bucknell, he bucketed 38 to set a new Bison gym record. Besides basketball, Jake played four years of baseball in high school as a third baseman and a single season of varsity football. He won nine high school letters.

Community Ed. Program Begins

A total of 101 people have registered during the past week for the Community Educational Program offered by Juniata. This "surprisingly good" turnout, particularly in two courses that attracted hobby-minded men and women, is likely to result in at least eight courses for the present term.

Charles G. Pearce, a Tyrone artist, is the instructor in the 12 week Oil Painting course which drew 43 registrations, the largest single class. A course in Basic Photography, which will be taught by Erwin S. Koval of the Daily News staff attracted 23. Due to the large enrollment in the Oil Painting course, Dean Morley Mays announced that no additional students will be accepted.

Except for Oil Painting, persons interested may continue to register for any of the listed courses: Business Letter Writing, Great Men and Great Issues, Home Decoration, News Writing, Parliamentary Procedure, Personal Finance, Basic Photography, Beginning Spanish. Two courses, Beginning Astronomy and Music Appreciation have been dropped.

Several of the courses got under way this past week but the majority are scheduled to begin next week either on Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday evenings. Anybody interested is ask to contact Dean Mays.

575 Estimated For 2nd Term

Registration for the spring indicates that there will be approximately 575 enrolled compared to the 603 for the start of the fall term. This normal drop in attendance is expected to fluctuate a little since the registration is not yet complete according to the Office of the Registrar.

Registration for new students will be held from 8:30 to 9:30 on Monday, January 26, the opening day. The convocation and commencement service will be held in Oller Hall at 9:30 with all students expected to attend.

The Monday-Wednesday-Friday schedule of classes will be followed for the remainder of the morning with each period lasting a half hour. Dinner will be served in the College Dining Hall as usual at 12:45.

Lab periods will be conducted in the afternoon and the classes will begin regularly the following day.

Reception Held For Sub - Frosh

The Admissions Office is extending an invitation to all Juniata students from the South Jersey area who plan to be home on Friday evening, January 23, after finals, to help entertain sub-freshmen from that area who show a particular interest in JC.

35mm slides of the campus will be shown at the get together which will be held in the Walt Whitman Hotel, Camden, N. J. from 8:00 p. m. until 11:00 p. m. In addition refreshments will be served to those who participate along with the few alumni who are invited.

Any person who is interested in helping out is asked to leave word with Mrs. Barbara Weaver in the Admissions Office.

Brumbaugh At Alumni Conf.

Harold Brumbaugh, alumni secretary of Juniata, will be one of the participants in the program of the District II conference of the American Alumni Council at Hotel Dennis, Atlantic City from Thursday to Saturday.

Brumbaugh will appear on a panel entitled "New Angles and Approaches in Alumni Work."

More than 150 delegates representing colleges and universities from six North Atlantic states, the District of Columbia and Ontario, Canada will attend.

Among the principal speakers will be Ernest Havemann of the editorial staff of Life Magazine; Dr. Millard Gladfelter, provost of Temple University; Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of the City College of New York; Leonard Dill, Jr., University of Pennsylvania, president of the American Alumni Council.

Changes Listed In Spring Classes

Freshman who have signed up for Introduction to Literature and Introduction to Sociology will notice a change on their registration cards. The Office of the Registrar reports that due to the large numbers enrolled in these courses two additional classes have been added. Dean Penney will teach the sociology course while Dr. Binkley will add the additional literature course.

The Biblical history classes have also been shifted slightly in order to balance the number enrolled.

No Changes In Exam Rules

No changes have been made in the usual final exam procedure, according to the registrar.

Designed for those who desire honestly to do their best and to help students avoid all acts that might raise suspicion of dishonest intent, the rules may be summarized as follows:

- Students must remain in the examination room until they are finished and have submitted their blue books.
- No student may leave an examination unless he is ill. If he must leave, he shall temporarily surrender his blue book to the proctor.
- Students taking the same exam must not sit in neighboring chairs.
- Proper alignment and position of chairs must be maintained, with one chair between each desk.
- No materials not necessary to the test may be taken into the examination room.
- Only one blue book at a time will be disbursed.

Final exams begin Monday and continue through Wednesday, Jan. 21.

Bulletin Boards — New Arrangement

In order to make a more efficient use of bulletin board space in Founders Hall and Students Hall and relieve congestion at both places, all the available bulletin board space has been organized for specific purposes. In Founders Hall one-half of the bulletin board space is to be available for student announcements, and the other half for announcements from the administrative offices.

In Students Hall the principal bulletin board on the first floor will be devoted primarily to announcements concerning graduate school and employment opportunities from the offices of the Dean of the College and the Dean of Men. Announcements concerning these opportunities will be posted there at frequent intervals, and the attention of seniors is especially directed to this bulletin board.

Teacher Exam To Be Feb. 14

The National Teacher Examinations, prepared and administered annually by Educational Testing Service, will be given Feb. 14. Applications must be received by Jan. 16.

The test will include the Common Examinations in professional information, general culture, English expression, and non-verbal reasoning; and the Optional Examination designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught.

Application forms and fees will be accepted by the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey.

Ellis To Speak In Los Angeles

President Calvert N. Ellis journeyed to Los Angeles, California this week in order to address the 39th annual meeting of the American Association of Colleges tonight at the Statler Hotel. He will speak on the need "for personal contact with the performer and lecturer" in the arts program of the association.

Dr. Ellis, the chairman of the 12-member Commission on the Arts of the Association of American Colleges, points out that "without meaning to detract from the potentialities of these two scientific wonders (radio and television), we believe the horizons of liberal education are extended when students have a chance to participate in discussions with men and women who are aware of the relations of their subject to the entire field of general education at the college level."

The Commission of the Arts supervises an extensive nonprofit arts program which provides lecturers in the fine arts, humanities and science fields for colleges and universities throughout the nation.

Women's House To Give Refreshments

Need some relaxation after a tiring exam? Come to the Social Rooms for the traditional afternoon teas served during exam weeks.

Light refreshments will be on hand plus an opportunity to loaf or play cards.

Sponsored by the Women's House Committee under the direction of Chairman Ginny Yohn, the teas will begin at 4:30 p. m. for five days during the week of Jan. 12 and twice during the following week.

JWSF Head Lists Plan; Drive Set For Feb. 23

JWSF chairman Jack Freymuller announced last week that this year's campaign has been scheduled for the week of Feb. 23-28. Plans are now in the making, for an intensive publicity campaign to illustrate the main features of the Juniata World Service Fund. The recipients of the money collected during the drive have not as yet been officially designated but are tentatively listed to be as in previous year, 1952.

An important feature of this year's drive, said Freymuller, will be the emphasis placed on wide informational coverage of all features of the drive on campus. Materials for this purpose such as movies and posters have been procured from the main office of the World University Service and will be used to let each student know where his money goes and for what purpose.

The World University Service is the parent organization of the World Student Service Fund in America and is represented on campus as a proposed recipient of JWSF drive funds. The work of this world-wide organization is non-political in character and is designed only for the relief of educational conditions in backward or depressed areas of the world. At present, WUS is concentrating its efforts in Southeastern Asia. There their resources have gone into a series of "pump-priming" efforts to stimulate local development.

Another Recipient Named

Another tentative recipient is the Foreign Student Aid Fund which each year brings foreign students to the campus of Juniata for study under conditions approximating average life in America. The benefits of this program are two-fold; we gain the addition of a foreign viewpoint into our national policies and we also send back to his mother country a student who has become acquainted with the American way of looking at things.

The Christian University of Tokyo in Japan is another organization that has been designated as a proposed recipient. This University was set up after the war to fill the educational needs of Japanese Christians. During the past few years, depending largely on contributions from abroad, the physical plant has been expanded and enrollment raised.

Missionaries Benefit

The fourth and fifth recipients are combined into a single fund. They are H. Stover Kulp, a missionary to Africa, and Paul Hoover, a missionary in India. Both of these men are supported in their work abroad by contributions received from sources similar to JWSF at Juniata.

Chairman Freymuller reports one aspect of the drive different from last year's campaign. There will be no giving up of desserts! All contributions will be voluntary on the part of each and every person contacted. He emphasizes that the spirit of this year's drive will be giving and not pressuring. The goal has been set at one thousand nine hundred and fifty three dollars ($1953) and will be met by donations on the part of faculty, administration and students.

Doyle Reveals Personnel For Spring Masque Play

The list of committees and committee chairmen for the Masque production "The Importance of Being Earnest" has been released by Miss Esther Doyle, director of the play.

Bob Bailey will serve as stage manager with Bill Patterson as his assistant. Directing lights will be Bill Braunworth and Bill Straughn, while May Ikeda and Pat Henry will take charge of the set.

Costumes Under Engler

Edith Engler will be the head of the costume committee, aided by committee members Marilyn Walters and Pat Burns. The sound committee will be headed by Wes Diemer while Frank Harlacher has been designated house manager.

Ron Cherry is serving as business manager in charge of public relations and all finance.

Providing props will be Shirley Kleist, Jean Lockhart, Joy Rinehart and Doris Wilson. Prompters are Joan Irwin and Phyllis Davis.

Advertising Comm. Listed

Paul Good will serve as general chairman of the advertising committee which has been subdivided into several sections. In charge of displays are Lolita and Juanita Carfora, Jeanne Snively and Ken Sheetz. Contacting clubs and schools will be the task of Bernie Petrusky, Betty Shearer and Betti Brumbaugh. Jeanie Tait and Paul Good will have charge of newspaper and radio publicity.

Miss Doyle wishes to emphasize that anyone interested in joining committees is welcome as the ones set up are by no means complete.

JC Follows Lead Of Ohio College

If Wilmington College, Ohio, can do the impossible, Juniata can do it to, in building a Student Center.

Russ Hill, chairman of the Student Center Committee, John Dale, Bob Bridenbaugh and Dr. Kenneth Crosby journeyed to Dr. Crosby's alma mater to see the men's dorm which was built in great part by the student body.

Build Men's Dorm

Under the direction of Pres. Sam Marble, the 600 students in three years built for $18,000 a dorm containing living quarters for 84 men and five common rooms. It is estimated that a duplicate building would cost $230,000.

Materials and service in many cases were provided free of charge. U. S. Steel furnished free steel at a time when it was not available to any other companies and builders. Three-fourths of the student body have contributed over 50 hours and some are hitting over the 400 mark.

According to Hill "The trustees will underwrite us for $20,000. If we are successful in getting some of the materials donated free of charge, this amount will carry us through."

Plans On Display

Tentative plans for the Center are now on display in Founders lobby. The interior decorator is expected to arrive next week with colored sketches. At the present, the plans for the upstairs foyers are not definite; they will be done if there is sufficient money left.

The first job to be undertaken by the students will be the tearing out of the gym walls and the back of the stage, reports Hill.

Juniata Enters New Three - Two Plan With Duke

Juniata has been selected by Duke University to participate in a new three-two nation wide forestry training program. Twenty other selected colleges and universities in Florida, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia, Pennsylvana, Ohio, Kentucky and Nebraska are also participating in the program.

Similar in construction to a engineering program set up with Carnegie Tech, the students will follow a three-year coordinated study program in the basic arts and sciences at Juniata. When this period terminates the students who show "exceptional promise for professional development" will transfer to the Duke School of Forestry for two years of specialized training.

When the student graduates from Duke University he will receive a bachelor's degree from Juniata and a Master of Forestry from the specialized school. The curriculum for the five years of schooling has been worked out cooperatively by committees from both schools so that maximum benefits may be derived from the plan. A similar system has been in operation between the Forestry School and Trinity College, the men's undergraduate college, since 1938.

Duke President Hollis Eden states, "Duke University welcomes the opportunity to help liberal arts colleges serve their students in this area of specialized training." The plan will give the smaller schools a chance to offer a pre-forestry course.

Dean Morley Mays of Juniata is working out the administrative details in cooperation with Dr. Homer C. Will and it has been pointed out that candidates will be chosen for quality and not quantity. "Duke University is looking for students who show promise of future achievement in forestry and who are capable of extensive personal and professional development," says Dean Clarence F. Korstain of the Southern School.

Social Comm. Plans Talent Program

On the social agenda for tomorrow is a talent nite program in Oller Hall at 8:30 p. m.

Master of ceremonies Bill Collins will introduce the student talent. Included on the program are Helen Sell, marimba; Alma Skinner, reading; Don Davis, piano; Alice Hoffman, vocalist; and Marge Ferguson, dancer.

Monks Releases Social Calendar

The social calendar for the second semester has been released by Mickey Monks, Senate Chairman of Social Activities.

Starting off the round of festivities is the student Talent Night tomorrow, while Feb. 7 will see the last Saturday night basketball game, when JC faces Lock Haven.

Sophs To Have Party

The sophomore party is in the spotlight Feb. 14, Valentine's Day, and the following week the movie "I've Always Loved You" is scheduled.

The Lambda Gamma will entertain Feb. 28, while Mar. 7 and 14 are reserved for the Masque Club play "The Importance of Being Earnest." Prior to spring vacation, the JCA party will be held March 28.

Party, Movie Scheduled

The frosh will take a hand in the social doings Apr. 11, when they present their annual party. Another movie "The Red Pony" is scheduled for Apr. 18, while Apr. 25 will find the County Chorus in Oller Hall.

Highlighting the semester's activities is the Junior-Senior Reception May 2, while the following week the faculty will present their talent nite. Concluding the program for the present year will be a fashion show May 16, sponsored by the Lambda Gamma.

Feb. 8 To Start Religious Week

The annual Spiritual Life Week on campus is scheduled to begin Sunday Feb. 8, according to Don Bracken, Chairman of Religious Activities.

Guest minister for the six-day religious program will be Dr. Charles D. Spotts of Franklin and Marshall College. With the faculty there since 1931, Dr. Spotts is now the chairman of the Department of Religion.

He is also Chairman of the Intersynodical Committee on Student Work in the Evangelical and Reformed Church. Dr. Spotts is on the Board of Editors for that church and has written a number of church school texts. He is the author of "You Can Read the Bible."

Plans for Spiritual Life Week are being made by Bracken and his JCA cabinet. They will be released in next week's issue of the Juniatian. The program is arranged "in order to deepen and strengthen the spiritual life of the student body."

New Econ Prof Replaces Booth

President Calvert N. Ellis has announced the appointment of Thomas J. Nolen of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. as an instructor in economics for the Spring term. He will fill the vacancy created by Dr. S. Lees Booth.

Nolan, a graduate of King's College, Wilkes-Barre, is now a graduate assistant in the department of economics at the Pennsylvania State College. He will teach all the courses which were scheduled for Dr. Booth.

The departing head of the economics and business administration courses at Juniata is assuming the duties of economic analyst in the Office of Intelligence Research, Washington, D. C. Dr. Booth came to Juniata in the Summer term in 1950 after serving as an instructor at Lafayette College.

Frosh Coed Wins Honors As Apple Blossom Queen

Meet Pennsylvania's Apple Blossom Queen—Mary Jane Bridenbaugh, a freshman Home Ec major from Martinsburg.

Tuesday at a meeting of the State Horticultural Association at York, Mary Jane was chosen from among seven candidates to represent Pennsylvania at the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, Va. sometime in May. In September along with the other state queens, she will tour the big city markets in order to boost apple sales and will make appearances on television.

Mary Jane's career all began when she was picked to represent Blair County (incidentally, last year's queen also came from Blair). The only qualification for candidates was that they be related to a fruit grower and Mary Jane's brother Ed, who attended Juniata, filled this requirement. In York the seven candidates appeared in street and evening clothes and had private interviews. They were judged on the basis of appearance, personality, intelligence and knowledge of the apple industry.

At the annual banquet of the association, Queen Mary Jane was crowned by the retiring queen who is a student at Penn State.

300 Choice Books Go Under Hammer

For all you book lovers, here's a chance to build up your personal library without too much of a drain on your pocketbook. The occasion? Why, the library book auction beginning Monday.

For five days the Pennsylvania Room of the library will be the scene of auction bidding as over 300 volumes, all in good condition, will be released for sale to the students.

In each of the volumes will be a slip of paper for writing names and bids. No bid less than 5 cents will be accepted and it will be necessary to keep checking in case someone has raised your bid. Bidding can be done anytime during library hours with all bids closing at 4 p. m. Friday.

Some of the book sets available are "The Library of Universal Knowledge," six volumes; "Encyclopedia Americana," four volumes and "Thackeray's Works," 10 volumes. Sets will not be broken but a minimum bid will be set on them. Other books to be auctioned are Shakespeare, poetry, Roman literature, religious education books and sermons. For those interested in music there are several voice books, and language students will find Greek and German dictionaries plus grammar books and readers.

Why not come over and browse around? Chances are you'll find something to add to your book collection, without increasing your financial plight any.

Glick Enhances State Program

Pennsylvania State College has selected Prof. G. Wayne Glick, assistant professor of Biblical Studies at Juniata, as one of the leaders in their Religion-in-Life Week program scheduled for February 15-20.

Professor Glick will participate in "fireside sessions" in the fraternities and dormitories throughout the Penn State campus. The main theme of the week, and the topics of the discussions, will be "The Student in the University, the Church and the World Struggle".

The three principle speakers for the week long observance will be Dr. E. A. deBordenave, Rabbi Judah Goldin, and Dr. Edward Dowey.

Managing Editor Publishes Issue

The resignation of Jim Holsopple, editor of the Juniatian, has been accepted by the faculty Publications Committee. Holsopple has transferred to Maryland University for the spring term.

This week's issue of the paper is published under the direction of managing editor, Jeanie Tait.

Who cares about Eisenhower's inaugural address and balls? What year is this? What country and what school? You fool! This is the whimsey corner and here we only talk about the people we know and the things they do. We keep our mouth open and our eyes and ears shut.

Reports received from the Office of the President (answer cabled from Florida) state that the petition submitted by Barbara Graves, Gail Wright, Sue Hartsock, Jeanne DeFrehn, Ann Salenke, and Joan Knapp requesting a pin-ball machine team for intercollegiate competition has been turned down. Well, that's the way the ball bounces, girls.

Speaking of sports, Herb Halkovich has evidently sold his violin. We heard that Handzelek dribbled him halfway down the floor before he found out his error. Well, that's the way the ball bounces, Herb.

Our inquiring reporter went over to interview a cross-section of the students who work over in Science Hall about what they thought ought to be done with the $2500 award from the Dupont people. Our samples read like this:

Fred Dodge: "We should study the extent of catharsis on the ordinary pond-type frog."

"Nitro" White: "Bigger and better bombs through Chemistry!"

Alex Bartha: "You gotta get the realization."

Ann Salenke: "Pin-ball machines in every lab!" (Well, that's the way the ball bounces, Ann).

"Wild Bill" Miller: "I say, George, is that an airplane up there?" This may seem incoherent but so was our reporter when he returned.

On my way to the studio I saw Fred Hamor and his hat headed for Skips. That's a nice hat, Fred. Think it will ever come back in style?

Speaking of hats, did you know that Juniata College has one of the finest warped basketball courts in the country. Well, that's the way the ball bounces, boys.

Peg Barrington, Heister Good, Ted McGuire, Betty Shearer, Babe (I'll see you in the library) Gilberti, Frank (Gottlieb) DeRusso, Nancy Nevins, and Ron Cherry are students at Juniata College and are doing well.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

It appears that following the mid-term vacation changes were being made all over the United States. Not only were old ideas and mannerisms being thrown out in Washington, D. C., but changes were also being made in the dining habits of students of Juniata College. It seems of late that the liquid portion of their diet has been cut to a great extent.

It just so happens that I am one of those students who have experienced at first hand this change. Now I wouldn't go so far as to say that I have begun to dry up from the absence of liquids but I think you will agree that a meal of even the best foods has a better satisfaction when it is supplemented with a little liquid to wash down the food.

Of course I realize that things such as the curtailment of the quantity of milk available at the noon meals must have some sort of justification. However, I would be quite interested in knowing the reasons for this change in policy and as of yet a statement of explanation has not been given.

If you publish this letter, I don't mind if you use my name; however, I think it would be rather silly for me to sign my name to a letter which expresses the feelings of a great number of students and in many instances states their opinions.

Sincerely yours,
Thirsty Students

FEATURES

Circuit Rider

by JACK FREYMULLER

This issue of the Juniatian features the return of an old column under a new name and a new policy. The "Tommyhawk" was too gossipy and just a little bit inclined towards mild injustice, and therefore was deemed unsuitable for the pages of a college newspaper. It had some value though, in its original purpose. It was supposed to be a column containing campus odds and ends and incidentally, the humor column. Time and disgruntled feature writers conspired, however, to warp its original purpose and the net result was a never-ending wail of horror from those who found themselves in its view.

This latest attempt to revive a column devoted purely to campus goings-on, however, was begun by the editors with all the previous failures in mind. Before we agreed to run it, it was specified that no attempt was to be made to link a boy and girl together merely because of their accidental meeting over a cup of coffee. In fact, we advised that the topic of boy-meets-girl be avoided as much as possible. Stress the humorous angle of campus life, we said. And with this in mind we delegated two or more of our staff to the task.

And thus you see on page two their production, "Moore Street Melodies." We can't divulge their names. The staff has been sworn to secrecy. We hope you like it.

As chairman of the Juniata World Service Fund Drive on campus I have been entrusted with the responsibility of organizing a campaign that will succeed in raising enough money to meet our goal for this year. This goal has been set at $1953.

That is a sizeable amount of money for a college of an enrollment of about 600. It presents difficulties as to methods. We want to meet that goal if at all possible. It was done last year. There is no reason why it can't be done this year. True, this year will not see any plebiscite on whether or not you want to give up your desserts. That does not involve individual giving. That is an election and the result is as likely to be contested as the late Presidential campaign. Some people will not like it.

Therefore, this year you will be asked to give individually. Our solicitors will call on you and attempt to present the aims of JWSF in a manner that will enlist your sympathy. We do not want to pressure you. We want to show you just how great the need is and what you can do to help.

So won't you bear in mind the fact that giving to help others in need is in itself a noble thing, minor as it may seem to you, so make that sacrifice that will enable us to meet our goal. Give the small amount we ask and you will never regret the giving.

Long about this time of the year the Juniatian begins to issue a call for candidates for its staff. It's an annual thing; old members are leaving and new ones must be trained to take their place. This year, however, the situation is just short of pathetic. There is practically no staff available, with the exception of the few who have consented to give up their time in this college venture. With so few to handle the work, the paper has suffered in quality.

The editors wonder why so few people show any interest in practical journalism. It's plain to them that there is a great amount of satisfaction to be gained from working on a college newspaper. Each week you have a deadline to meet and a variety of stories to be handled each in its own way. As that deadline approaches, things sometimes get tense and each individual is important because of his contribution. A smooth-working organization will put out a good paper that is a pleasure to work for.

To build this organization we need new members; we need people who are interested in working for an outfit that produces something significant each week. We need writers mainly; we want people who can go out and get the information from news sources and bring back a story. True, banner headlines are scarce on a weekly but a well-worked, compact story is a satisfaction to its writer.

If you're at all interested, don't fail to stop one of us and let us know, or better still, drop by the office and see what we're doing. Positions are open on all staffs. We'll welcome you.

"From Mighty Men To Mystery Men"

The Indians dropped a real tough one to the Lions of Albright last Saturday night by a ten point margin. For three quarters of the game they looked good, good enough to beat many of the other teams we face. But in one quarter the bottom fell out and so did the JC chances for victory. Much must be said for Davey Pollock, Jake Handzelek, Bernie Oriss, and Herb Halkovich who stayed in there and battled to the end. They cut a 27 point deficit to a mere eight points. (The Lions increased it to ten before the final buzzer).

Think back over the past nine games and you'll find times when the Indians have played a certain quarter as though they were out to cut their own throats and consequently lost all chance of victory. Remember the third quarter of the second Lycoming clash, the final stanza against LV, or the third quarter against Bucknell?

These one quarter blues have been our real stumbling blocks, we've never really been beaten badly for an entire game, save LV. The games we've won, Ursinus, E-Town, Susquehanna, Indiana have all been steady affairs with an even rate of exchange.

The search for two men who can score consistently is not ended. Howie Kerstetter, Chuck Gross, and Torry Froisland contributed just three points among them Saturday night. With a frosh dominated squad there is no one with the experience who can be expected to step in and do the job of an "old pro", but another scorer is sorely needed and all concerned agree that it is proving no easy task to uncover another scoring artist.

With nine games under their belts, the Indians know what college ball holds for them, hard earned wins, and heart breaking defeats. Experience is the best teacher, or so a wise old man once said, and I and others feel that on a given night our team, playing the type of ball it is capable of playing, can give any of our opponents a run for their money. In nine games last season we had a 3-6 record and in 1952-53 it reads 4-5. If our team can get the "one quarter blues" out of their system and add another reliable scorer, they may surprise, even LV, who knows!

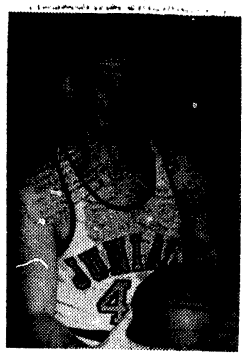
SPORTS SHORTS—Indians to recently leave school at mid-semester were gridders Amos Mosser, Jim Stupka, and courtman Dick Hilboky . . . Grades will be issued next Friday, at which time the pink slips also will be distributed; here's hoping too many don't fall in the ranks of the athletes . . . Sports fans in the Cloisters are clammering for better ping-pong equipment. (It can't be much worse than it is now) . . . Clyde Lott, 6-5 pivotman of Huntingdon High, seems to have made fans on College Hill as well as down at the Tenth Street schoolhouse. JC cagers take in most of the Bearcats' home tilts . . . Albright fans seemed worried last weekend, for a good reason too. They were nervously looking forward to their game with Seton Hall and one Walt Dukes. The affair came off this past Wednesday evening . . . The Albright gym was probably the finest small college gym that the JC ball team will ever see, a real beaut. The floor, seating arrangements, design, dressing rooms were ultra-modern and really big time.

Indians Enter Stretch Run Wed. Night

Frosh Star



Jake Handzelek, frosh scoring ace from Mocanaqua, Pa., is making a determined bid to shatter the Juniata scoring mark for most points in a single season. Dick Wareham holds the all time record of 353 points scored in 20 games during the 1944-45 campaign. At this time Handzelek has 221 points in nine games for a 24.5 average. Jake's highest total was against Bucknell when he hit for 38 and against Indiana STC he netted 32. Standing six feet, Jake weighs 184 and is an education major.

JV's Face AUC This Evening At Altoona

The Junior Varsity travels to Altoona this evening for a return encounter with the Altoona Undergraduate Center. Earlier in the season Juniata downed the Altoona squad 81-69. Altoona went to the finals of the state Junior College tournament last season and during last campaign JC upset them 51-49 in the second meeting of the squads.

The JV's enter the game with a record of 5-3 and in their last encounter they swept by the Sunbury YMCA 61-39. The starting lineup for this evening's contest should be Jack Golden and Lee Hallman at forwards, Bernie Oriss at center with Jim Boulton and Herb Law operating at the guard posts.

Intramural

The league leading McKees Creekers downed the Covites in an important tussle Monday night 45-49. Don Conley led the winners with 20 points and Gene Biddle dunked 23 for the losers. The winners have yet to be beaten and build their fast breaking offense around Conley, Don Pheasant, and Barry Drexler, all football players who are doing quite well on the basketball court.

The FM&M had an easy time with the Blivits as they romped to a 74-34 win and were paced by Hooch Hoover with 30 points. Ron Morgan threw in 18 for the losers and Hank Jara had 13 for FM&M. In the other contest, the Maulers beat the Aces by a forfeit 2-0.

Face E-Town In Return Home Contest; Records Stands 4-5 After Albright Loss

With final exams completed and a new semester begun, the Juniata basketeers are looking forward to a month of concentrated activity on the hardwoods. They open the month with a game against Elizabethtown at home this Wednesday night. JC downed the Blue Jays 68-63 earlier in the season. Nine games follow that tussle in the remaining 24 days. Next Saturday night the Tribe will host Lock Haven STC and the following Monday and Tuesday the western overnight trip finds Juniata meeting Geneva and Grove City on successive nights. The roughest spot of the month's schedule finds JC meeting Dickinson, Franklin and Marshall, and Westminster within a period of six days.

After the 66-56 loss to Albright the Tribe's record stands at 4-5 with wins over Ursinus, Indiana STC, Elizabethtown, and Susquehanna. Losses came at the hands of Bucknell, Lebanon Valley, twice to Lycoming, and the most recent to Albright.

It is no secret that Coach Greene was dissatisfied with the team's performance Saturday night. Whether or not any radical lineup changes will be made remains a mystery. But the team will have a full eight days of practice before the E-Town game, time enough to correct a few glaring mistakes in the offense and defense which cost a few points in the Reading affair.

The JV's, who meet AUC this evening, have a 5-3 record and hope to get rolling in high gear once again. They will be out to avenge a defeat handed them by the Elizabethtown reserves.

Player Profile

The spotlight this week turns to West Orange, New Jersey's Torry Froisland. This 6-2, blonde guard of the JC varsity is experiencing his first season of varsity ball in the same number of years on College Hill. A product of the same school that contributed Walt Vanderbush to JC, Torry is a premed major.

An amazing rebounder, Froisland has plenty of scrap and hustle to compensate for his low point totals. Torry weighs 175 pounds and is 18 years of age.

Last season he was named to the "All-Orange Team' and was captain of the West Orange squad. A good floor man, Torry is a member of the famed JC "back line".

His spare time is divided between study and depositing his roommate's letters in the mail box on Founder's Porch. His roommate, of course, is big Walt Vanderbush. Together, they live in a private home on Scott Street. Of Norwegian descent, Froisland is usually seen on campus with Walt or any of the JC cagers. Some of this popular courtman's time is spent discussing things with those who make that long journey to the now famous private home on Scott Street.

JC Drops 66-56 Affair To Lions Of Albright

The Roaring Lions of Albright College opened a 42-21 halftime advantage and had to rely upon this lead to defeat the Tribe 66-56 last Saturday night at Reading. What appeared to be a close contest after a 16-16 opening stanza, proved to be all Albright as the Red and White outscored Juniata 26-5 in the second quarter.

The home team led 16-14 as the first period drew to a close, but Davey Pollock's jump shot knotted the count and that was the last time JC was close. When the second quarter began, the Lions went into a full court press and turned on the gas. The combined offensive efforts of Connie Dettling, Mike DePaul, and Ken Nase put the Lions out to their 21 point bulge.

Juniata outscored the Lions 35-24 in the second half but the damage had already been done. Dave Pollock's and Jake Handzelek's sets almost turned a hopeless cause into a miracle. The Indians trailed at one point by 27 points, 49-22, but with two minutes left to play the margin was narrowed to eight.

Handzelek's great first quarter shooting kept the Indians even with the Lions. His drive shots were beautifuly executed. Handzelek, Indian frosh scoring ace, had 19 points. Jake hit on six out of 18 shots, giving him a 13 for 28 total in the last two contests.

Capt. Dave Pollock tickled the cords for 16 as did Connie Dettling for the Red and White. The jayvee struggle did not involve the Indian JV's.

"I Hate Professors" Club Offers Solution For Exam Frustrations

Satisfied with your behavior in exams last week? If so, you're one of the lucky few! But more and likely, you'll join the crew of long-faced mourners, eternally moaning and groaning about one thing or another. It may be that raw deal you got, or maybe the professor just doesn't appreciate your type of genius, or maybe you give expression to that so-typical complaint of college Joes and Janes—Why did I waste all that time studying for such an exam?

For people such as you, the Alabama Polytechnic Institute offers the ideal solution—an "I Hate Professors Club." Anyone can belong and when your group numbers only 25, you can apply for membership in the national organization. The rules are quite simple and easily adaptable to every type of student.

Rules Listed

- Be late to all classes at least half the time. When entering a classroom late, glare at the professor and insinuate that he started 10 minutes early.
- Talk to one or more of your classmates in a whisper just loud enough for the instructor to hear you, but not loud enough for him to understand the words.
- Fifteen minutes before the end of the class hour, begin to stack your books neatly, put on your coat and look expectantly toward the door. Keep an eye on your watch throughout the entire period and the other eye looking out the window. If a window isn't handy, stare at the ceiling from time to time.
- Laugh at everything even remotely amusing, except your instructor's witticisms.
- If you must ask a question, be sure that it is completely off the subject or one that the professor cannot answer.

Of course all of these are designed not merely to irritate the professor, but also to disturb the entire class; thus giving less time for lecture and classroom work; this, in turn, providing the student with more outside work. This outside work, not being completed, results in the failure of a great part of the class, and thus the membership of your organization is increased two-fold.

There's just one little drawback to the constitution and purpose of the above mentioned club. Did you ever stop to think that the professor isn't always at fault? It may just be you!

Yoder Attends Physics Meeting

Prof. Paul R. Yoder, assistant professor of physics at Juniata spent three days during the past week at the meeting of the American Association of Physics Teachers at Harvard University in Cambridge, Mass.

During his stay at the meeting plans were organized for the Central Pennsylvania Section of the American Association of Physics teachers. Professor Yoder, a charter member of the AAPT, is one of a three man committee which also includes representatives from Bucknell and Penn State with the purpose of organizing the section. Similar groups have been formed in eastern and western Pennsylvania.

15 Seniors Begin Student Teaching

Fifteen senior elementary ed majors have begun student teaching this semester. All are under the supervision of Miss Miriam Schlegel.

Teaching in the Alfarata School in Huntingdon are Barbara Snively, Janice Wenger, Ginny Yohn, while Jody Siemon Casteel, Marge Peightel, and Jo Pentz have been assigned to the William Smith School in town.

At Mount Union are Urlene Galbraith, Bernard Lilly, Rose Mary Trotta, and Joan Walker. Tyrone schools have Mickey Monks, Nancy Stephens, Don Woods, Joan Kough Barth and Harold Van Trics.

Engle Presides Over Luncheon

A. William Engel, Jr., registrar and director of publicity at Juniata, presided over a luncheon last Friday of the annual District II convention of the American College Public Relations Association in Albany, N. Y.

The convention, which lasted three days, was conducted at the Hotel Ten Eyck with the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y. as host.

Mr. Engel, secretary and editor for District II, led the discussion at the luncheon at Friday's session.

4 Seniors Receive Degrees From Ellis

Four degrees were conferred by Pres. Calvert N. Ellis at the Winter Convocation Monday.

The graduates were Betsey Dively Gates, Bachelor of Arts; and Jesse Frye, Nancy Rogers and Pauline Bane Shaffer, Bachelor of Science.

Speaker was the Rev. Howard C. Scharfe of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh.

4 Clubs Scheduled To Meet Tonight As 2nd Semester Gets Under Way

by Sherrill Edwards

With the opening week of the second semester there come forth some rather evident instances of a renewed interest and activity on the part of a number of the campus clubs. In fact, there are four club meetings scheduled for this evening.

On Other Campuses

The Teachers College Index, Kirksville, Mo., decided recently to let the students blow off some steam. The question put to them was, "What is the most common fault among teachers?" Some of the answers:

- Over-emphasis on grades.
- Too many people become teachers because it affords the easiest escape from reality.
- It seems as though some do not have an ability to hear bells, especially class dismissal bells.

From the Syracuse Daily Orange: A philosophy professor was explaining to his class the Stoic belief that everything, no matter how evil appearing, has its good side.

The atom bomb then, said one of his pupils, was a definite help to Japan. It widened the streets of Hiroshima.

The Daily Texas reports this little gem:

Government prof: "Why the quote marks on this quiz paper?"

From the same source: They tell a mad tale about the prof who got tired of having people call his course easy. One day, he rushed into the room, pulled out a whip, snapped it over the students' heads several times and cried, "This is what is known as a snap course."

A student at the University of Illinois feels college cheers are not in keeping with the dignity of the student. He proposes the following changes.

1. Instead of "Get the ball"—Obtain the oblate spheroid.
2. Rather than "Hold the line"—Impede the foe's forward thrust along the two dimensional entity.
3. For "Go team go"—Proceed oh, valiant, proceed.
4. Instead of "We want a touchdown"—We demand a thrust forward maintaining as our objective the passage of our adversary's goal.
5. And for "Hit 'em again harder"—Henceforth, smite them more fiercely than you smote them heretofore.

FTA

Tonight at 7:00 in Founders Chapel FTA members will assemble to hear Dean James F. Penney and Prof. G. Wayne Glick debate the Dewey philosophy of education, so-called "progressive education."

TYCOON CLUB

This evening at 7:15 Mr. William Swigart of Swigart Associates in Huntingdon will address the Tycoon Club in the I. Harvey Brumbaugh House. He will speak on general insurance, endeavoring to touch on all phases.

IVCF

At the weekly meeting of the IVCF this evening in Students Hall, Prof. Earl Dubbel will talk on the fourteenth Chapter of John. An invitation is extended to all students to attend the Bible study.

LAMBDA GAMMA

Dr. Eva Hartzler will speak to the Lambda Gamma tonight in the clothing lab at 7:15. All interested persons are invited to the meeting.

JCA

On Tuesday evening, the Reverend David Heim, pastor of the Baptist Church in Huntingdon, will speak to the JCA on "The Christian Meaning of Marriage." The meeting will be held in Founders Chapel at 7:15.

Spiritual Life Week To Get Under Way Sunday

The Juniatian

Vol. 29—No. 16 | Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. | Friday, Feb. 6, 1953

Charles Spotts To Speak 3 Days

A number of talks by Dr. Charles Spotts, religious author and educator, and a varied schedule of student led activities highlight Spiritual Life Week which begins Sunday and continues until Saturday, Feb. 7.

Dr. Charles Spotts
• Guest Minister •

According to Don Bracken, Chairman of Religious Activities, student participation will be the key note for the entire program for it is designed to stimulate the students' religious interests. Leadership will be supplemented in some cases by the faculty members during the informal get togethers.

The week's activities will get under way Sunday at 9 p. m. in the homes of various faculty members. The topic of these student led discussions is, "It's In The Book." Among the usual deviations that young people make from any planned topic the groups are expected to swing the subject of discussion to the basic question, "Is There Meaning in Life?"

Morning Meditations

The organizers of Spiritual Life Week are putting the finishing touches to plans that call for three days of religious observances. Beginning right after breakfast at 7:30 a. m. there will be meditation in the Stone Church. These early devotions will be led by ministerial students with special musical groups including deputation team, Varsity Quartet and Girls Trio.

Then each morning at 10:00, during the regularly scheduled chapel session, also to be held Tuesday, Dr. Spotts will address the student body on a different topic each day. Monday's talk will be entitled, "Why Be Concerned." Then at the Tuesday and Wednesday services he will speak on the topics, "Why Love" and "Why College."

An informal get together will be held in the Social Rooms from 4:00 until 5:00 p. m. Dr. Spotts will lead the group Bible studies at this time.

Evening Programs

The evening hours are also well planned. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 7:15 in Founders Chapel, Dr. Spotts will present a message of student interest. His topic for the first evening will be, "The New Israel" and the following two days he will speak on "God in Christ", and "The Kingdom of God", respectively.

The day's proceedings will be closed out during the first three days when informal group gatherings will be conducted from 10:30 until 11:30. These 'Hen Parties' and 'Bull Sessions' will be held under faculty supervision in centrally located rooms in the resident halls. Two meeting places will be incorporated in the Cloisters, two in the Lodge and three or more in the girls dorms.

Everybody is urged to attend as many of the meetings held during the week as they possibly can. It is a student project for the student's benefit, reports Bracken.

Spotts — Religious Leader, Writer

The well-known religious writer and educator, Dr. Charles Dewey Spotts, will be the guest leader at Juniata's Spiritual Life Week. The all-week observance will begin Sunday and last until Saturday.

Dr. Spotts, who is at present the Chairman of the Department of Religion at Franklin and Marshall College, will be on campus Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. During his stay he will speak at chapel services which will be conducted all three mornings and in addition will lead informal Bible discussions at specified times throughout the day. Further information on these discussions will be found elsewhere on this page.

Degree from F & M

The noted theological leader received his AB degree in 1922 from Franklin and Marshall College from whence he continued study in the church field. In 1925 he was the recipient of the Bachelor of Divinity degree from Lancaster Theological Seminary. At that time he took a position as pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Reformed Church in Lancaster, Pa. which he held until 1931.

Dr. Spotts then took a position on the faculty of Franklin and Marshall College which he has retained until present time. While working at the school he continued his studies at the University of Pennsylvania and from there received an AM degree in 1933.

Doctor of Divinity Award

He topped off these educational high spots by attaining the Doctor of Divinity award from Catawba College in 1948.

Among the many different positions held by Spotts at various times are President, Lancaster Law and Order Society, Board of Directors of United Churches of Lancaster County, Secretary-Treasurer of Commission on

AAC To Sponsor Speaker Thurs.; Scientist To Talk

Dr. Edward C. Fuller of Champlain College will speak in Oller Hall Thursday and Friday at 8:15 p. m. His appearance is being sponsored by the Arts Program of the Association of American Colleges.

Thursday at 4 p. m., there will be a tea for students in the Social Rooms. At this time Dr. Fuller will discuss "Natural Sciences vs. Social Sciences."

At 8:15 p. m. in Oller Hall, he will speak on the topic "Science—Friend or Foe."

Friday morning he will speak to the science students and is also scheduled to speak at the regular chapel service. At 4 p. m., at a tea in the faculty club, he will address the faculty on the subject "New Ways to Relate Colleges with the Problems of Today's Living."

Identified with the teaching of science for over 20 years, Dr. Fuller holds a B. S. degree from Montana State College and a Ph. D. from Columbia University. He taught for three years at Montana State College and for three years at Columbia University before he was made a University Fellow for Chemical Research. In 1935 he joined the faculty of Bard College and remained in this post until 1944, when he was asked to serve as administrative aide in the Manhatten District atomic bomb project.

In 1946 Dr. Fuller accepted the presidency of Bard College but resigned recently to resume science teaching. He is now Professor of Chemistry and Director of Curriculum Development in Natural Science at Champlain College, one of the recently created units of the new State University of New York.

Masque To Stage Theatre-In-Round

"Theatre in the round" will come to Juniata again with the Masque production of "The Importance of Being Earnest."

"Dover Road", presented in 1947, was the beginning of arena productions on campus. A tremendous hit, the play received mention in one of the theatrical magazines, Theatre Arts. Two years later, the Masque again undertook another ring drama, this time "Berkeley Square."

In an arena production the audience sits on the stage, surrounding the players on all sides. Entrances and exits of the actors are made by means of four aisles through the center of the audience. Approximately 120 people will be seated on each of the eight nights of performance.

One of the distinct advantages of this type of staging is the intimate contact established between actor and audience. It is an entirely different type of dramatic experience from the conventional form. The characters act in all directions and their interpretations are precise rather than broad.

Stage props are kept at a minimum and all furniture must be low so that it will not interfere with audience vision. Since there is no curtain, the lights go out between scenes while the stage crew changes scenery.

As an added attraction, refreshments will be served by the Lambda Gamma following each performance.

Looking back into history, the Russian theatre, namely Okhlopkov of the Moscow Realistic Theatre, is given credit for introducing the modern form of arena productions. Margo Jones is responsible for the circular trend of producing in the United States.

15 New Students Join JC Family

by Nancy Freed

Why did you come to JC? Why did you pick Juniata out of the thousands of schools in the United States?

Perhaps you liked the scholastic rating of the college; maybe Grandmother's third cousin twice removed received his degree from Juniata and it was a matter of family policy; or maybe JC simply appealed to you. Everyone of you may have had a different reason for setting foot on this campus as a student in September, but the moment you did so, you all gained a mutual interest—you became a part of the large JC family.

As you scurried off to new classes and new professors on Jan. 26, you were probably in such a rush that you failed to recognize the new faces on campus which have joined the family circle. Among the new students are freshmen: Thomas Appleby, Huntingdon; Robert Crum, Mt. Union; Richard Gill, Huntingdon; Rebecca Kitchen, McEwensville; Lois Ann Parker, Huntingdon; Louis Stutzman, Homer City; and Solomon Herzberger, Huntingdon.

Sophomores: Richard Hutchison, Mt. Union; George Schetrompf, Mapleton Depot; Harry Winans, Brooklyn, New York; and Everet Wills, Riverton, Chicago.

Juniors: Walter Chilcott, Punxsutawney; Katherine Kuehne, Merchantsville, N. J.; John Master, Altoona; seniors: William Long, Six Mile Run. Eleanor Furry, nurse, is also here as a special student.

16 Win Place On Fall Dean's List

Sixteen scholars have been named to the Dean's List of Distinguished Students for the Fall term, according to a release from the Office of the Registrar. To qualify for the list, a student must have a 2.75 or better academic average.

Those listed for the fifth time are Ron Cherry, senior business major and Wilfred Norris, junior chemistry major. Both attained a 3.00 average.

Sophomore Peg Hershey (French) received a 2.8 average, making her third appearance.

Named for the second time are seniors George Condos (business), 3.00; Tom Hoover (physics), 3.00; Phyllis Link (English), 2.80; Jack Walter (chemistry), 3.00; and sophomore Joy Rinehart (English), 2.81.

Auction Ends Today

Don't forget, the library book auction ends today at 4 p. m. Books are on display in the Pennsylvania Room and bids will still be accepted until the close of the auction.

Senate Topics — Trophy, JWSF

Move-up Day, JWSF recipients, and the Susquehanna trophy were discussed at the Senate meeting last Friday evening.

The date of Move-up Day has been moved from Mar. 25 to Friday, Mar. 27.

JWSF recipients are to be the same as last year's. The funds will be distributed to the World Student Fund, the Foreign Student Aid Fund, the Christian University in Tokyo and two missionaries—H. Stover Kulp and Paul Hoover.

President Bob Wagoner's suggestion concerning the Juniata-Susquehanna football trophy was adopted by the group. He proposed that a section of the goal posts torn down by enthusiastic JC fans be painted in the schools' colors and mounted in a base. A gold plaque should be placed at the top of the post explaining the purpose of the trophy. Following the traditional football game, the name of the winner would be marked upon the trophy which would be handed over to the victors for the next year.

9 Days In A Bus

Songsters Report Memorable Tour

by the Choir

Again the choir trip to western Pennsylvania and Ohio brought forth many interesting experiences and stories which we will remember for years to come.

The first concert started the tour off with a bang. When we arrived at the church, the electricity had been off for a couple of hours, due to a storm, and it remained off the rest of the night. Consequently, this small country church got the fire company to generate enough electricity for two spotlights which lit up the church. Our supper was served by candlelight.

Max came through again by choosing the right short cuts and detours, even fording a stream when an unrepaired bridge impeded progress.

2 Weddings Performed

Of course, the choir trip isn't a success without a few weddngs taking place. (Don't be alarmed, folks; they're mock affairs). So two ceremonies were performed in the Pittsburgh church—Eke and Doris Markey and Ron Dilling and Jean Baker.

The men on the trip were somewhat disgusted with the women because all they did was sit together and knit and were not very cooperative in conversation. The men changed this, though, by arriving early one morning and each occupying a seat before the girls got there! What a stroke of genius! Then Jean Blend had the nerve to come in one morning, pinned!

Congratulations were in order for Uncle Bendor (to us, Ben) who became the proud uncle of twin girls.

Wilda and Rhoda, Max's cooperators, almost got left behind when they got out of the bus at a railroad crossing, and Max drove on for a couple of blocks before he stopped to let them on. That was the last time they tried that!

Quartet Makes Hit

As usual, the high school lassies fell out of their seats to swoon

N. J. Brumbaugh Ill In Phila. Hospital

Dr. Norman J. Brumbaugh, professor emeritus who established the department of chemistry here, is seriously ill in Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia.

The 68-year-old chemist has been hospitalized since December, 1952. Before entering the Philadelphia hospital, he was a patient in the J. C. Blair Memorial Hospital in Huntingdon.

Graduated from Juniata in 1906, he established the chemistry department in 1925. After 28 years of service, he retired in 1949.

Kellogg Leaves Squad

Kay Kellogg, freshman member of the cheer leading squad has been forced to resign from the group due to a back enjury, reports captain Peggy Brumbaugh. She adds that no substitution will be made to fill the vacancy.

Editorializing

It was brought to our attention that the total poundage of nails in the Memorial Gymnasium floor now has reached the 600 mark. We also hear that repairs will begin shortly after the end of basketball season, thus putting an end to any activities on the ground floor. Since the team has managed so far to put up with warped floor boards, 600 pounds of nails and what not, and are expected to do so until the end of the season, we propose the following suggestions: put off repairs until the summer, use the gym for dances and campus events such as May Day (in case of rain); let's get some use out of that $300,000 building.

Once again we see on the calendar the arrival of Spiritual Life Week on campus. The tendency, for some of us, is to pass over this lightly, dismissing it as just another religious program to be expected in a church college such as Juniata. Look at it from another angle this time. The present world situation is in pretty much of a mess. Not so far in the near future, we're going to be out in the uncertainty and insecurity of that world. Then what? Are we going to flounder, the old sink or swim story? Or can there be something else? We don't propose that Spiritual Life Week will be the easy cure-all for every problem we meet in life, but it could be a beginning. So, let's give it our support next week.

To those of you who read last week's Circuit Rider concerning the Juniatian plight and prospects, we carry the story a little further. Last week saw the introduction of a new feature column—"Moore Street Melodies." Next week this column passes into other hands; not because we didn't particularly like what it said but in hopes of adding variety and interest.

This same experimentation is taking place on the sports page which is now being handled on a competitive basis. Each week will see a different acting sports editor, until we come across the best prospect.

To sum up the whole situation, we're experimenting—e x p e r i menting in all departments to improve the quality of the paper. You can help in two ways. First, come out and work on the Juniatian; all positions are open and we need you. Second, let us know what you think; give us your suggestions and criticisms. After all, it's your paper.

CIRCUIT RIDER

"Go Steady?"

by JACK FREYMULLER

Came across an interesting paragraph in a book the other day. Since it refers to something that all of us have our own ideas about, I thought it might be a good idea to mention it and give my ideas.

In an anthology of educational readings called "Readings Toward A Liberal Education" edited by Locke, Gibson and Arms (to be found in the JC library) a selection from the writing of the famed sociologist Margaret Mead entitled "Trends In Personal Life" is to be found. Treating the topic of "going steady" she says:

"While the popular boy and girl go on dating for several years, the unpopular, the frightened, the relatively unchosen, slip away in pairs and "go steady", accepting a permanent and definite relationship with one person in lieu of a gayer world in which they have failed."

This statement, seeming to be a contradiction of what we usually think of the meaning of "going steady", is highly interesting. Certainly we have enough evidence on campus to draw some conclusions in regard to its validity. However we must not fail to recognize the fact of the eminence of Margaret Mead's position. She is regarded as the authority, whereas we have only our own trifling experience to guide us.

Are we to apply the labels "unpopular, frightened, relatively unchosen" to those on campus who go steady? On the surface it is hard to justify this action. What can Margaret Mead mean? Is she saying that those who "go steady" are actually settling for less than they ought to? Or that they have worried themselves into a compromise with their ideals? That would seem to be the gist of her message.

Since there are so many couples on campus who do "go steady" it might be well to consider this point for a moment. Have they actually found that they feel more secure when they have accepted a definite relationship with some one of the other sex? Do they feel that they have to make a choice between free and competitive association with other people entailing as it does the frustration and insecurity of not being sure what will come next, or the relative security of having someone that can be counted on—your "steady"? If this be so, then Margaret Mead is right. Rationalization is a funny thing. It will make you believe anything you tell yourself.

Our own conclusions we are keeping to ourselves. Personal opinion has no authority in these matters. It's something for everyone to think out for himself. We can't help thinking, though, that it might be a good idea for everyone who goes "steady" to re-examine the reasons for having committed himself to such an important relationship. Habit has a way of hoodwinking people.

The Things Around Us

by Jim Hunt

The 83rd Congress of the United States of America has begun work for the new Republican administration. A great variety of bills will be brought before the legislative body for consideration. Probably, as in years past, a bill will be introduced calling for the admission of Hawaii and Alaska as the 49th and 50th states of the Union.

Ever since Arizona was granted statehood on February 14, 1912, it has been generally accepted that the United States consisted of 48 states cooperating in a central government. However it has now been discovered that there have never been more than 47 states. A rather remarkable thing to be brought up at this time to say the least.

Ah, what kind of a joke is this, I reckon you are saying about this time. I guess it is rather hard to believe but the fact remains that Ohio was never officially admitted to the Union.

It appears that due to an oversight on the part of Congress the territory w h i c h has become known as the Buckeye State is actually a country within a country. I wonder if it is included in the new foreign policy of the government.

The story goes like this. In 1802 Congress defined the boundaries of Ohio and the same year folks from the area which was then part of the Northwest Territory adopted a Constitution. The following year it was presented to Congress but the legislators never got around to approving it.

The inhabitants of Ohio, the name incidentally comes from an Irquois word meaning 'great', have been behaving ever since as if they belonged to the United States. It was not until this year while preparing to celebrate their sesquicentennial that an overzealous researcher uncovered this strange fact.

Last Monday Rep. John H. Bender of Ohio sought to rectify the omission by introducing Joint Resolution 121, setting f o r t h "That the State of Ohio shall be one, and is hereby declared to be one, of the United States of America, and is admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states in all respects what ever.

Now to make their 150th anniversary celebration of their admission to statehood quite unique, the Buckeyes can celebrate their actual admittaance to the Union at the same time.

On a somber note, it has been pointed out by some small fry that Gabby Hayes, the television cow-poke will have to make and alteration in his all inclusive boast about, "The whole United States—and Texas.

Moore St. Melodies

Anon

To begin this week's edition of "the Melodies" we would like to offer our thanks to those people whom we overheard saying they thought our coulmn was "simply peachy". Aw, gee, thanks, kids!

But to those who said, "Why, hit don't mean nothin' atall, hain't no sense to it!", we say you've been reading too many funny books". Maybe we should have drawn pictures!

Coming out of chapel one fine day we heard Charlie Towns tell Phil Norris that since they removed the birdbath that used to be in front of Oller Hall, there isn't much left for the birds. But there is!

Peg Barrington, Jocko Sykes, Ray Fowler, Tom Cherok, Joy Rinehart, Joe Arbuthnot, "Bubbles" Hower and "Sweetsie" Finton, while maintaining that, such an incident, though it be thought generally to include all possibilities, nevertheless must, as in previous circumstances, be unqualified, pertaining to future possibilities.

We've heard that in some of the more backward areas of the South, such as the hills of West Virginia, it is customary for the head of the family to indicate where each member of the family is to sit at the breakfast table by bellowing: "Myobi! Myobi!" This is generally accompanied by a deep frown and a scowl in case some flat-land foreigners might wander near and attempt to sit down. This does not look as barbarous as it sounds but it would be cause for grave reflection if it ever occurred on campus.

Met by a brass band and the cheers of hundreds of loyal fans, the Juniata All-College Choir rolled back into Huntingdon after a highly successful western swing. Playing doubleheaders in most of the principal cities with some contests being played under the lights the JC stalwarts played to capacity crowds. Ably directed by their genial coach, Donnie Johnson, the squad returned home in fine fettle with the exception of Wellington Clemens Rosenberger who suffered a minor injury incurred while doing a handstand on top of the moving choir bus as it entered a low tunnel.

Word has come from the Athletic Directors office that Tony Segalovich, Tony D'Eustachio, Joe Miller, Herb Halkovich and some others have applied for season tickets to the girls' intramural basketball games. These men are indeed basketball lovers.

We hope you've enjoyed our particular brand of humor for next week will see a change of styles as "Moore St. Melodies" goes into someone else's hands. Watch for it.

Braves Even Record With 62-49 Win

Large Crowd Watches Juniata Dump E-town For Fifth Victory

The Juniata Indians with a superior edge in height took a lead midway in the second frame and swept to a convincing 62-49 win over Elizabethtown College Wednesday evening in the Memorial Gym.

The victory which squared the record of the Braves at five wins and five losses was evenly fought in the first quarter and most of the second. The score was tied four different times and the lead changed hands seven times before Jake Handzelek dropped in a bucket to give JC a lead they never relinquished.

The contest opened slow with both quintets content to wait for an early break. George McCue, 5-9 E-Town guard, broke the ice in the early minutes with a set shot from the foul circle but was partially matched by Herb Halkovich's single foul. Halkovich, a 6-3 center, was making his first starting appearance at Juniata this season after transfering from Johnstown Pitt Center.

A set shot by Handzelek followed shortly afterward by a neat tap play by Halkovich gave the lads of Coach Doc Greene an early 5-4 lead as Harold Wilson of the visitors tossed in a set shot. Play continued on this seesaw scale throughout the remainder of the initial period before E-town, paced by two last minute field goals by McCue and freshman star Dick Stine, grabbed a 15-12 first period lead.

The second chapter got under way at an increased pace as Stine dropped in three buckets in quick order but they were the last goals that E-town scored for over six minutes. Handzelek set the pace for the Indians in the chapter as he tossed in three field goals and a single charity toss. In addition Howie Kerstetter and Dave Pollock poured it on before the intermission as the Braves moved ahead 31-23 at halftime.

In the third period with Pollock, Handzelek and Walt Vanderbush who entered the game in the second period pacing the way, the home team increased their lead to 49-35 as the final quarter got under way.

A brief Elizabethtown rally with Stine, McCue and Brubaker scoring buckets and Stine adding a charity toss pushed the visitors within five points but Captain Dave Pollock way laid the thrust with a beautiful set shot from the ten second line.

The remainder of the chapter was slow with little scoring from either team. The Indians put on a semi-freeze in the late stages of the period and picked up five of six foul tosses due to the three minute ruling.

Scoring honors for the game went to frosh star Dick Stine of the E-town Blue Jays as he poured in ten buckets and three fouls for a 23 point total for the evening. Jake Handzelek was the high man for the Indians with eight field goals and a single foul for 17 points while teammates Dave Pollock and Howie Kerstetter chipped in with 13 and 10 respectively.

Inexperience Juniata's Trouble

by John Richman

Here at Juniata the single word describing our athletic teams seems to be inexperience. As it was true of the football squad, so it is true of the basketball team. While Coach Smaltz was able to start eleven veterans, Coach Greene can floor only one man with any Juniata varsity experience.

According to Greene the team posses ability. But individual ability does not make a basketball team. It takes team work and the knowledge gained from playing together to produce a winner. This is the place where inexperience hurts the Indians and much of the indecision which the spectator sees is attributable to this.

Greene pointed out that Juniata's team is a freshman team and that it is a big jump from high school to college basketball. College ball is much more complex; a team does not run into the same defense game after game, but must rather prepare varying offenses to meet these changing defenses. Thus, our team has had to learn much in a short time. Consequently, sometimes the boys get mixed up and seemingly do nothing right. This partially explains the slumps and periods of listlessness which the Indians encounter.

In speaking of the Albright game, the coach stated that in our league the Lions are a good team. He pointed out that they had been beaten by St. Joseph by only 3 points. The mentor admitted that the Tribe made many mistakes but also explained that Albright used a variety of defenses which the Indians were not able to solve as quickly as a more experienced team would have been able to do.

Greene called this a "building season" and expressed the opinion that things would straighten out. All this is no doubt true; but, although Greene would say nothing critical about any member of his squad, it seems that a change in general attitude on the part of some of them might also help.

Indians Play 3 Games In 4 Days

Face Lock Haven Here Sat — Away Mon Tues

Lock Haven

by Ted McGuire

Lock Haven STC will tangle with the Juniata Indians Saturday evening in the Memorial Gymnasium. Outside of some previous pre-season scrimmages, it will be the first meeting between the two schools.

"The Teachers" come to College Hill with not much being known about them. Their record thus far is not available. One thing is certain; they have beaten Lycoming, a team which has dumped the Tribe twice. But who knows what the Indians will have in store for them Saturday night.

The starting line-up for JC is not yet known. From all reports, Coach Greene has been experimenting with various combinations of men to find a team to push us over the .500 mark. As a result, Juniata fans will not know what to expect until the opening whistle.

Geneva — Grove City

by John Dale

The Juniata College cagers embark on their only overnight trip of the year next Monday to engage the Geneva College Covenanters and the Grove City Wolverines on successive nights, Monday and Tuesday respectively.

The Tribe should be in top shape for the tilts, with the ankles of Herb Halkovich and Chuck Gross again on the mend.

The Covies from Beaver Falls will probably be one of the better teams the Tribe will face this year. Possessors of an 11-3 slate as of Feb. 2 and losing only to Pitt, Dusquesne and Washington and Jefferson, the high scoring club has averaged between 80 and 85 points a game all season while allowing the opposition to score slightly more than 70 points per game.

Although the Covies lost five lettermen from last year, they can field a team of four lettermen, all over six feet. The fifth man is freshman Stan Yukica, 6-5 center. Co-captains are Pete Kinkead and Bob McCracken, high scorer and runner-up respectively, last year. The Covies also have deep bench strength, with one 6-5, one 6-2, one 6-1, one 6 and three shorties at 5-11. Juniata lost to the Covies last year 94-73.

The Tribe then trips to Grove City to face the Wolverines on Tuesday. The Crimson has five returning lettermen, but in sharp contrast to the Covies, only one is over six feet, Dick Mawhinney at 6-2. Last year's high scoring trio of Hill, Robertson and Weaver have all been lost by graduation. However the other two starters from last year, Claire Winters (5-10) and Bob Panner (5-11) are back as well as letter winner Dick King at 5-10 and Dick Brock at 5-10.

However, the Wolverines are bolstered in the height department by the addition of three frosh as well as four returning non-letter winning upperclassmen. This adds one 6-3 center in junior Howard Macdonald, five men at 6-2 and another at 6. The Tribe also lost to the Crimson last year by the score of 78-64.

Game Turns Into Farce As JV's Win

by John Richman

The little Indians made it three in a row and avenged an earlier defeat as they downed the E-town Jayvees 67-49 Wednesday night. The Juniata squad went into the game with a 6-3 record and chalked up that sixth victory by trimming Altoona Undergraduate Center 61-55 last Friday evening.

In the game played at Altoona both teams accounted for fifteen points in the first period. Led by Bernie Oriss and Jack Golden, the Tribe gained a 34-28 halftime advantage. At the three-quarter mark the Penn State undergraduates had closed the gap to one point. However, the jayvees halted the home team rally. The final quarter saw the visitors again pull away to net the triumph. Oriss was high for the Tribe with 19 markers followed by Kerstetter with 15, nine in the final period, and Golden with 12.

The outcome of the E-town encounter was never in doubt. The Juniatians jumped off to a first quarter 21-9 lead then, were never headed. By the intermission it was 37-21 with the score mounting to 53-32 and finally to 67-49.

George O'Brien led the Brave attack with 21 points. Skipper Jim Boulton and Jack Golden chipped in with ten apiece. Briner and Hallman with nine each and Hinish and Law both with four rounded out the Juniata scoring.

The last four minutes of the game was nothing but a farce. The Indians turned into a bunch of clowns and, although the fans enjoyed it, it was not good basketball. The usual purpose of a Jayvee team is to supply material for the varsity squad. Good basketball players will never develop by such playing. This horseplay was in fact a disgrace to the Juniata team and was further heightened by the seemingly unconcerned air of the coach.

Jets Lead Girls' Intramural League

Leading the girls' intramural basketball league at the present time are the Jets with five wins. Joyce Gibbel, the team's leading point getter, is also top scorer in the league. To date she has 112 points in five games for a 22.4 average.

Other team standings throughout December and January are Sureshots and Limpeps tied for second with four wins, Day Students third with three wins, Third Brumbaugh and Home Management tied for fourth with two wins. The Tri-Delts, Hammerheads, and Geiger House are in fifth place with one win each.

Music, Home Ec Students Teach

Eight senior secondary education majors have begun their student teaching this semester, five in music departments and three in home economics departments.

Nelson Griffith, Donna Vasbinder, Wesley Diemer, and Rhoda Clemmer Gaughler are in the music department at Captain Jack Joint High School in Mount Union.

Teaching at Altoona Senior High School are Elizabeth Brandt and Dorothy Gingrich in the home economics department, and Ralph Sheriff in the music department.

Martha Petre is in the home economics department at Blacklick Township High School in Twin Rocks.

New Nurse Arrives At JC

An addition to Juniata campus is the new nurse, Miss Eleanor Furry, from Everett, Pa. Previous to coming here, Miss Furry had three years training at Western Pennsylvania Hospital, Pittsburgh and registered nursing and general duty at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

She attended Bethany Biblical Seminary in Chicago, Illinois, before transferring to Juniata. Enrolled in the sophomore class, she is planning to enter the home nutrition field.

Miss Furry replaces Nancy Rogers who was graduated in January.

TOP SCOUT in the Huntingdon, Pa., area is Dr. Donald M. Rockwell (right), head of department of chemistry at Juniata College. The college professor has been cited for "exceptional service to youth" as an educator, churchman, and scouter. Presenting the Silver Beaver award is his son, Kenneth, a Star Scout.

Registrar Releases Enrollment Figures

According to the Office of the Registrar, the total numbers of students enrolled for the Spring term, as of Jan. 30, stands at 573.

Resident students carrying a normal program number 235 men and 197 women; over 17 hours, 16 men and eight women; less than 12 hours, three men and nine women. The total resident population numbers 468.

Day students with a normal program of study come to 57 men and 20 women; over 17 hours, three men; less than 12 hours, six men and one woman; giving a total of 87 day students.

Comm. Discusses Milk Situation

On behalf of the student body, a Senate committee discussed the present milk situation with Miss Francis Mathias and discovered that the difficulty arises from the budget.

The budget has always entitled each student to two glasses of milk per day and we are able to receive more at breakfast due to the limited number of students who attend this meal.

Because this idea of two glasses per day has never been strictly enforced, students took advantage of the situation. This plus the increasing prices make it necessary for Miss Mathias to revert to strict enforcement.

Choir —

And so a few more seniors now look back on their last choir trip, yet look forward to the following year when they can come up and join their fellow members in the singing of the "Benediction.'

The Alfarata will be issued May 14, according to the statement of Bob Bailey, editor.

When interviewed concerning the development of this year's issue, Bailey said that everything is coming along fine.

The yearbooks will be available for student distribution May 14. Many photos have already been engraved, and the deadline for all copy is April 11. According to Bob, "everything is proceeding as scheduled."

Sophs To Have Valentine Party

At a sophomore class meeting Tuesday, plans were laid for the coming Valentine Dance to be held Saturday, Feb. 14.

Allegra Forney, general chairman, has appointed the following committee heads: Rainy Belle Linn, decorations; Peg Drummond, refreshments; Polly Fowler, entertainment; and Joe Veto, clean-up.

The party will be informal, although dressy dresses will be in order.

Hazel Scott To Appear Here In Community Concert Thurs.

Hazel Scott, pianist and singer, will appear in Oller Hall Thursday at 8:15 p. m., under the auspices of the Community Concert series.

Hazel Scott

● Keyboard Artist ●

Miss Scott, who was born in Trinidad and came to the United States at the age of four, has achieved a rare eminence in the world of music. She began her career as a serious musician. After four years at the Juilliard School of Music she became known on radio programs and later attained stardom in cafe club society in New York. Miss Scott then went to Hollywood where she made such Warner Brothers' films as "Rhapsody in Blue" and "The Broadway Melody."

On her first tours as a piano recitalist Miss Scott won complete approval of her unusual programs which combine the classics with jazz and her own compositions, such works as "A Tale of Four Cities" and "Caribbean Fete." She has just returned to America from her second European tour. She was obliged to give extra concerts in London, Paris, and Rome. She also visited Israel, where she played ten recitals in two weeks as an honored guest of the Israeli government.

Miss Scott's program here, which will range from Bach to boogie, will be divided into four parts. The first part comprises works of the early classicists, and will include "Etincelles" by Moszkowski, Graun's "Gigue", and "Organ Toccata and Fugue in D minor" by Bach and Busoni. Part two will be three compositions by Chopin: "Nocturne in C sharp minor," "Impromptu in F sharp, Op. 36," and "Valse in E minor." The third portion of the program will be devoted to works of two contemporary classicists: "The More than Slow" and "The Girl with the Flaxen Hair" by Claude Debussy, and "Rhapsody in C major, Op. 11, No. 3" by Dohnanyi. The fourth part of the program will be Miss Scott's own improvisations, which she will announce.

Jeanie Tait To Edit Juniatian Freymuller, Hunt Will Assist

The appointment of Jeanie Tait as editor of the Juniatian has been approved by the Faculty Publications Committee. The position of managing editor will be held by Jack Freymuller. Miss Tait will serve in this capacity for the current term, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Jim Holsopple.

A junior from Philadelphia, Miss Tait is concentrating in English, preparatory to a teaching career. She has served as club editor, news editor and managing editor of the paper previous to her appointment. She is also a member of the Masque, FTA and JWSF committee.

Freymuller, a junior from Stroudsburg, is also an English major planning to enter journalism. He is chairman of the JWSF drive, has served as feature editor of the Juniatian and has participated in intramural sports.

Continuing in the position of news editor will be Jim Hunt, a freshman English major, who took office during Holsopple's term.

The first meeting of the newly organized staff will be held Tuesday at 1:15 p. m. in Room A of Students Hall. A. Wm. Engel, Jr., adviser of the paper, will speak. All members of the news and business staffs are asked to attend.

Cupid To Appear For Soph Party

by Eloise Holsinger

The sophomore class, under the direction of Allegra Forney, will come to the assistance of the little man with the bow and arrow tomorrow night at a Valentine's Party.

"Cupid's Capers" will get under way on the most romantic night of the year at 8:15 p. m. in the Women's Gym. Big hearts, little hearts and especially happy hearts—this is the theme of the party which promises to afford each fellow and girl a "heart-warming" good time.

The Royals will provide the dreamy music to which every fellow can dance with his favorite valentine.

The sophomores have planned a variety of games, prizes and "surprizes" to make the traditional night excitingly different and Cupid will be present in spirit to reign over the whole caper.

Church To Hold Spiritual Week

Dr. C. Ernest Davis of Elgin, Illinois will be the guest minister of the Stone Church during the week of February 22-March 1, when a daily series of Spiritual Emphasis Services will be held.

Dr. Davis received his B. S. L. and B. A. degrees from LeVerne College; M. A. from the College of the Pacific; D. D., McPherson College; and L. H. D. from the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, Los Angeles. Dr. Davis has been active in religious and educational work for many years and has served as Executive Secretary of the Christian Education Commission, General Brotherhood Board, Church of the Brethren since 1948. In addition to this, Dr. Davis is the author of "Our Church" and a frequent contributor to periodicals of the church.

Among his sermon titles Dr. Davis has listed "To Whom Shall We Go," "Life's Greatest Priorities," "The True Estimate of Life," and "Arise, Let Us Be Going."

The services, which total ten in number, will also feature special music by the students of Juniata College.

New Advertising Contest Planned For Next Week

The Juniatian business staff in cooperation with district businessmen has inaugurated a new advertising contest plan called the Blue and Gold Star Special. The plan is designed to be beneficial to students, faculty and the merchants.

The Juniatian issued next week following the Friday morning chapel service will have a number on each copy. A number will also be posted in certain stores downtown by a number of advertisers and if these numbers correspond a gift will be awarded to any student or faculty member holding the 'lucky number.'

The stores advertising in the Juniatian which are participating in the plan will be designated by a small star in their advertisements. All the Juniatian readers need to do is to check at these stores to see if their number matches. In the event that the student is the winner he will be awarded a gift or gift certificate valued at several dollars.

It must be pointed out that in order to receive their gifts the winners are not required to purchase anything else at the store. Only the Juniatians given out following the chapel service will be numbered. The names of the winners will be run in the paper the following week.

Students To Get Play Tickets Now

Student tickets for "The Importance of Being Earnest" will be available in Founders Lobby beginning this evening after dinner. Business manager Ron Cherry will also be on hand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday after lunch and dinner to provide tickets.

Students will be admitted free, although; no activity cards may be used. There will be a 23 cent charge for refreshments which must be paid when obtaining the ticket.

Nights reserved for students are Saturday, Mar. 7 and Wednesday, Mar. 11. Since only 120 will be seated each evening, students are asked to buy their tickets before Wednesday when the general sale will begin in town. After this date, they may attend any performance for which seats are left. However all tickets must be bought in advance of the production, since none will be on sale at the door. Faculty may attend any evening.

Each evening will be reserved for a special group. March 12 is Huntingdon County Alumni Night and tickets are sold out for that performance.

Scout Co-Editors List Staff Members

Appointments to the Scout staff have recently been announced by Juanita and Lolita Carfora, co-editors of the freshman handbook.

Joe Miller and Bernie Petrusky have been named to the positions of business manager and advertising manager, respectively, and Kats Kazaoka has been appointed sports editor. Other staff members include Dottie Darrell, Marian Brightbill, Joann Feight, John Dale, Diane Bramhall, Dick Fusco and Dagmar Silldorff.

Work has already begun and the staff reports that there will be several changes and additional features made.

Chapel Services Listed

Monday Dr. Tobias Henry will conduct the chapel services. In keeping with the Universal Day of Prayer on Wednesday, students will lead the chapel discussions, while Friday's speaker will be Pres. Calvert Ellis.

Beech Omitted From List

The name of Mark Beech was inadvertently omitted from the Dean's List in last week's issue. Beech, a freshman pre-ministerial major, attained a 2.80 average.

Sub - Frosh Visit Tomorrow For 2nd Career Conf.

Last week saw the beginning of the annual program of career conferences for sub-freshman. These conferences, five in all, are given in order that the sub-freshmen might get an example of a small liberal arts college in action.

By observing the class room technique and talking with both students and faculty, they can get a general outline of Juniata. Also, staying on campus for a weekend enlightens the potential students about college life outside of the class room.

Seventeen high school students came to the first conference, the majority from Tyrone and others from Lititz, Ephrata and Lewisburg. Because of the lack of space, the number of visitors each weekend will be limited to thirty-five. The remaining four conferences are slated for February 14 and 15, March 6 and 7, March 14 and 15, and April 11 and 12.

This year the programs will all be similar with a variation in entertainment. The discussion periods will be concentrated on the three divisions of study; Arts and Languages, Social Studies and Natural Sciences.

The general chairmen for the whole program are Joyce Mullan and Peggy Brumbaugh, and the administration representatives are Robert Newcombe and Harold Brumbaugh. Cooperation is requested of the student body in making these sub-freshmen feel at home and in contacting the Admissions Office if you have knowledge of an interested high school student.

(Ed's. Note: The visitors here last week were reportedly quite impressed with the friendliness of the students and the quality of the food served at JC.)

Interior Plans Now Ready For Student Center

Architectural details of the proposed Student Center are gradually being ironed out and permanent plans prepared for action, according to word received this week from committee head, Russ Hill.

Ken White Associates, interior decorators from New York City, have been working on the plans for some time now. The well known decorators have done a number of jobs similar to this for other colleges. Among others they have done work at Kansas State University, Washington State University and, more in our style, a book store at Slippery Rock State Teachers College in Pennsylvania. An artist's sketch of the completed Student Center has been on display.

Colors Chosen

Chairman Hill voiced the sentiment that colors and equipment which have been tentatively chosen are almost positive to be used. However, several small details that remain are open to changes.

The whole idea of decoration has been built around Indian colors and ideas, to fit in with our school nickname. The art and decorations of the Indians of the Southwest part of the United States, due to their excellent use of colors, have been chosen as the model.

The downstairs area will be divided into three main sections each subtly separated from the other with special attention paid to the walls.

Pastels Used

The painting and colors of the eating and dancing areas will all be pastel shades. Part of this area will be set off by a low wall. The dance floor will be tile set in the pattern of an Indian rug. One of the columns supporting the ceiling will be fixed as an authentic looking totum pole.

The lounge and book store located at opposite ends will be separated from the other areas by redwood walls. Added effect will also be provided by indirect lighting equipped with dimmers.

JC Students Alive To World Problems

by Louise Gehman

"Why wouldn't anybody who's awake today believe in evolution?" Dr. Spotts replied in answer to my question, and added in a jesting manner, "Furthermore, I'm always insulted when someone asks me that. My subject was biology the first year I taught, so I know a little bit about science and that sort of thing. Anyway, the theory of evolution doesn't say that man descended from monkeys." Which is certainly a relief to that species, he meant.

On this subject he has recently written a book, Religion and Science. He previously wrote You Can Read The Bible, specifically for college students.

That confusion in the minds of college students which Dr. Spotts talked about in chapel on Monday is, of course, evident on our own campus. "Anyone who has his eyes open can see plenty of illustrations of confusion," he said. However, he added that the relatively large number of students in voluntary attendance at discussion groups and evening meetings probably indicates that Juniata students are above average; at least they are alive to the problem and show an encouraging interest.

Dr. Spotts' philosophy is that the Church is the hope for the way out of "the mess we're in". And the three most important questions which every student should be asking himself are; (1) What is man?, (2) What is history?, and (3) What is God? The purpose of a Spiritual Life Week, then, is to try to answer these questions and to show how the Bible is relevant to our day.

In his private life, Dr. Spotts is a farmer; "and I want to make it clear that I'm not a gentleman farmer, either", he said, "I put on my overalls and plow my own fields." He and his wife live on a farm about seven miles from Franklin and Marshall College, where he is the Chairman of the Department of Religion. Their farm includes fruit trees, hogs, bees, chicks, and 300 hens. His particular hobby concerns wild flowers and birds. On an 18 acre sanctuary he has seventy-six species of native Pennsylvania trees, all of which he has catalogued.

Dr. Spotts, it seems, is a very candid person with a timely, pointed message of immediate value. He radiates that kind of inner serenity which is a characteristic of those who have dedicated themselves to a purpose.

Lets start off the column this week with a hearty "welcome back" to junior Katie Kuehne. Long time no see.

What's all this about frosh basketball hero Torry Froisland's interest in Dickinson? J. C. has some cute co-eds too, Torry.

The award of the biggest agitator of the week on College Hill goes unquestionably to Dave LeFevre. Just watch him in action some time.

We hear that Don Pheasant has resigned as manager of the girls intramural basketball team known as the Skipperettes. The post was turned over to another freshman football player—Moon Mullen.

Flash! It seems that such things as ghosts, goblins, and other supernatural creatures are roaming the campus. Have any of you fellows seen some recently?

It appears that Jake Handzelek has a new inspiration that shocks those balls into the basket. Keep up the good work and lets hope "They'll Never Get Away."

Has everyone seen those flashy levis on Phil Halicke? Must be the latest thing out Chicago way. Speaking of men's attire— "Killer" Conley looked mighty sharp at Sunday dinner in his yellow and orange tie!

For some mighty fine jitterbugging exhibitions cast an eye in Skips when Frank DeRusso and Blynn Garnett get going. They really bring down the house.

Rem Grove and Russ Hill are bursting forth with ideas and plans for the new Student Center. They are certainly two of the more enthusiastic members of the student body.

Apparently Bill Swaim doesn't have a room. He was caught napping early in the morning in the Social Rooms. Guess he likes that "homey" atmosphere.

Saturday night a freshman girl asked a most embarassing question of basketball star Howie Kerstetter. It seems that she was under the impression that he still played Jayvee basketball. What's the matter, Howie—can't you keep these women under control?

We've heard that Nicky Rocco has signed a contract to coach the pinball machine squad down at Skip's. Keep 'em rolling, Nick!

In closing we'll sign off with the ever-popular question, "I say, George, is that an airplane up there or is it the "MOON?"

The Juniatian

Entered as second class matter at the Huntingdon, Pa., post office, this is an independent undergraduate newspaper published weekly throughout the College year except during vacation and examination periods by the Students of Juniata College.

The Juniatian is serviced by Associated Collegiate Press and is represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS By BIBLER

CIRCUIT RIDER

Speak Your Piece

by JACK FREYMULLER

Editorial policy demands that a paper contain material that will interest its readers. That is, in addition to the regular news services, a paper must provide a variety of interesting columns devoted to one or another aspect of campus life that will be of interest to a number of its readers. How to achieve this reader interest is a problem that tortures all editors. What, they ask themselves, will catch the interest of our readers.

Many solutions present themselves, are considered and if found wanting, are discarded. Experiments are made, sometimes with daring. The trouble is that you cannot calculate what your readers want. Then, when you have quite given up, a new angle appears.

That is what has happened this week and appears on this page as "Commentary". The idea had long been with us that people have a lot of things to say that they've been mulling over for a long time. They've hashed it over in bull sessions, found references to it in their reading and at last found that they wanted to let other people know about it.

It was gratifying to have Bill Swaim walk up to us this week and offer for our consideration a short commentary he had written earlier. There and then was born the idea of creating an outlet for student comment in the Juniatian. For all practical purposes, Bill's aim is the same as ours; he wants to bring to student attention something he is concerned with. The difference that exists is that we have a weekly franchise of 350 words on page two.

The idea grew by leaps and bounds. Reserve a section of page two for these contributions. Limit it (by necessity) to less than 500 words. Insist on a policy of sincerity and honest purpose. Try to obtain variety of material and a cross-section of campus as contributions. The way was clear.

That is the gist of our idea. We want people who have something to say—to say it! However we are reserving the right to set standards. It stands to reason that any issue on campus that has been officially buried does not deserve to be dug up and autopsied. As your guide you might adopt this standard: if it's worth beinb serious about it's worth being printed.

Faith Must Work

by Bill Swaim

Already they are squealing! Running for mental protection to the mother hen—"cheeping" little death chants! Forsaking individual liberty for a well-ordered machine (either old or new).

Great intellects they are—preaching in high sounding words—cutting off communication with the little men (the mass as they like to refer to it) not knowing that it is upon this mass that the very existence of the civilization that allows their existence depends. It seems as though these intellects couldn't take the freedom that is exemplified in the third Temptation of Christ.

Carl Sandburg says this of them: "You have got to have a code, or imagine you have a code, in order to know what the H--- the Dark Spirits are writing about. They are proud that the average truck driver on Wabash avenue can't understand them. One of their leading spokesmen says that what is needed is an elite which will have custody of culture. While I'll allow him that, I wish he would indicate to us what kind of elite out of the past or present he would prefer to be the custodian of culture. I know he doesn't mean the Nazis or the Fascists or the Commies. And, inasmuch as he has turned himself in favor of monarchy, I imagine that he wants what Europe had for 1,000 years or more. We are in an experiment over here, and of course we don't know how it is going to end. No one can swear, no one can predict with any authority, where the American ship of Democracy is going to sail to."

This experiment over here did not begin with the Revolution of '76, it began long before that. I have faith in this experiment; and its true power, as well as that of the individual, can be found in the spirituality and morality of our conduct. Our experiment lives by the confidence of those who belong to it, as well as by the confidence felt in it by other states. We of this experiment have a reverence for life and a respect for the individual; and we know full well the sacrifices that have been made for the realization and preservation of this mental attitude. With confidence in the strength of this civilized attitude we have been working at the task of making this civilized state an actuality.

We have come a long way through wars, depressions, greedy men and heartless mechanicomorphic institutions; but we have held on to our ideals; we have kept alive this mental attitude. There may be some of you who have lost faith in its existence; you might want to go to the Convent of the Blue Nuns; or go so high into the heavens with your intellect that you wish a different species of life to inherit the earth; or becomes so disdainful of life that you would become an embalmer of the nearly dead, and shape their lips with the twistel smile of Prufock . . .

Well go! Don the attire of an English gentleman and an Anglo-Catholic; reject active personal participation in this experiment of democracy, reject the puritan desire for personal salvation and all that it stands for; divorce yourself from the real world and retreat into your little speculative musings.

Go! because you are sick, and weak, and shocked; you have lost faith. I doubt very much if you can be made whole again by turning to the traditional and becoming a reactionary. But if you would be cured of your illnesses, I recommend a certain Doctor Albert Schweitzer who is one intellect that is acting like a Christian!

The Things Around Us

by Jim Hunt

In the American system of life there runs a little axiom stating that "all's fair in love and War." I often wonder if political war is included in this general statement.

The election held last November has begun to show actual policy effects and yet the mud and filth that was thrown during that pre-election campaign hasn't seemed to settle yet. Both Republican and Democratic parties did their share of the mud-slinging although certain individuals did even more than their share.

In fact, just this week a press release has brought to light some developments taking place in one of the Senate subcommittees. This evidence brought forth by the Senate elections committee shows a definite trace of unlawful use of referencs. It seems that the Democratic Party in an effort to smear Richard Nixon, then vice presidential candidate, incorporated the use of some papers which have been proven forgeries. These papers were supposedly written by a west coast oil man in connection with a 'Fund' to be used by Nixon.

A Photostat reprint was taken of these alleged papers including a reply from a noted Republican in the East. However, when the incident was brought to life early in October the Senate immediately set to work investigating the charges.

Ex-President Harry Truman, who will probably never be out of the news and rightly so, made a reference to these papers while he was campaigning for Adlai Stevenson. In San Francisco he was quoted as saying, "Doctormentary Evidence has been found linking Nixon to another fund, and I would like to see him get out of this one."

However, when the subcommittee looked into the affair they found to their evident displeasure that the letters and papers referred to were forged. They have now made the recommendation to Congress that the investigation be carried on by the F. B. I.

I doubt very much if Ex-President Truman was involved in any manner other than what his outspoken manner has displayed. But it will be interesting to see who was behind the degrading project.

I M Title Race Narrows Down

With the boys' intramural league now having reached the halfway mark, the race has seemingly narrowed itself down to four teams running for the crown. Leading the pack is the FM&M, paced by Hooch Hoover, Dick Bowker and Chuck Knox. The club is presently undefeated in eight games, which is one of the longest winning streaks in the last few years for the intramural loop. Also undefeated thus far are the McKees Creek team led by Barry Drexler, Don Conley and Don Pheasant. The Valley boys have played six games thus far, winning most of them by large margins.

Still in the running for loop honors are the Hillboffers, starring Dave LeFevre, Dave Hackett and George Newcombe, and the Blivits, paced by Ron Morgan, Bob Wagoner and Frank Jarrett. The two teams are currently tied for third place, each with a five and one slate.

The teams had a brief respite the first few days of this week, due to Spiritual Emphasis Week, but resumed normal activity last evening.

Last week's games showed the FM&M downing the Covites, 50-42, to all but end the Covites chances for a share in the loop togs. In other important games, McKees Creek knocked off Turk's A. C., 79-50; the Globetrotters swamped the F. S. & C., 58-36; and the Blivits drew up into their third place tie with the Hillboffers by downing the Y. H. O.'s, 45-39.

JV's Tumbled; All - Stars Win

The Tribe JV's went down to a decisive 62-43 defeat at the hands of an intramural All-Star team in the preliminary game here last Saturday night.

The scrappy All-Stars showed a well-balanced attack with all players scoring between four and nine points. Dick Bowker and "Hooch" Hoover led the way with nine and eight points respectively. However, scoring honors for the tilt were snared by Herb Law of the JV's with 11 points, while George O'Brien chimed in with nine points.

The All-Stars jumped off to a quick 21-13 lead in the first quarter and upped the margin to 37-26 at halftime. The third quarter saw the JV's hopes for victory all but ended, as they scored only five points while the IM Stars were dropping in 18.

Members of the All-Star team were: Dave LeFevre, Fred Hamor and George Newcombe, all from the Hillboffers; Barry Drexler and Don Conley of McKees Creek; Gene Biddle and Wes Lingenfelter of the Covites; and Chuck Knox, Hoover and Bowker from the FM&M.

Tribe Plays Host To Red Raiders Tonight;

by Fred Heydrick

After two successive games on the road, the Juniata Indians of Coach Doc Greene play before home fans once again by hosting the Shippensburg STC Red Raiders tonight in the Memorial gymnasium. The Raiders come to College Hill sporting one of the saddest records in the school's history having lost nine of their first 11 games, including a 68-58 setback at the hands of Lock Haven STC.

The one bright spot in the Teachers' season is big 6-1 captain Frank McClelland, who scored the 1000 th point of his four year career while the Raiders were losing to California STC last week. He now holds the school's four year record with 1,026 points, having scored 203 points in ten games this season. The season scoring record is also held by McClelland as he hooped 378 points last season, despite the team's poor season.

Aiding Captain McClelland tonight will be 6-2 freshman Bob Reese at center, with 118 points in 11 games; 6-1 senior Don Robertson; 6-0 frosh Leo Greenwalt; and Sophomore Olvin Mills, a boy acclaimed as a 'potentially great' ball player.

The JC-Shippensburg series is comparatively short, with only three games having been played. The Tribe has won two of these tilts, including one last year which the Braves eked out 50-48 at Shippensburg.

At Susquehanna Wed.

Making their third road trip in four games, the Juniata Indians journey to Selinsgrove Wednesday to meet the Susquehanna Crusaders. In their previous meeting this year, the Tribe hung a 69-46 defeat on the hapless Crusaders, with the reserves playing a greater portion of the game. Coach Greene will continue using his highly effective 2-3 "screening" defense, with Pollock and Handzelek out front in the ironman spots, while Froisland, Vanderbush and Kerstetter handle the rebounds. The Crusaders will undoubtedly counter with their primarily passing offense, featuring Condon and Doney at forwards, Tomlinson at center, and Owens and Manning at guards.

A win for the Indians would give them an even 40 wins against 21 setbacks in competition between the two schools.

WAA Announces Future Events

Rhoda Clemmer, president of WAA, made several important announcements this week concerning the activities of the club.

On February 21st 18 girls will travel to State College to take part in a Sports Day on the Penn State campus. This activity will put the JC women in competition with other schools in various fields of athletics, including swimming, badminton, basketball, volleyball and modern dancing. The competition is a follow-up to the Play Day in which the WAA took part last fall at PCW in Pittsburgh.

In line with this, the WAA is forming plans for holding a Hockey Day here on College Hill next fall. This will throw a Juniata hockey team against other teams, including such schools as Penn State, Lycoming, Lock Haven STC, Mansfield STC and Bucknell.

The club also announced that it is now planning, in cooperation with the J Club, a girl-boy basketball game in which an all-star team from the girls' intramural league will contest a group from the boys' IM league. Girls' rules will hold sway and in all probability, certain other handicaps will be imposed upon the boys to help overcome the girls' lack of height.

Braves Drop Lock Haven; Lose Two On Road Trip

by Ted McGuire

Coach Doc Greene's cagers pushed their season's record to six wins and five losses last Saturday evening as they dumped the Teachers from Lock Haven here in the Memorial Gymnasium. The Indians, playing aggresive ball all the way, found themselves on top of a 72-62 score at the final buzzer, enabling them to become the first JC quintet since the 1945-46 edition to win more than five games.

The ten point spread tells only part of the story, for it was not until the last stanza that the Indians were able to take charge. The contest was a rough and tumble affair throughout, with leads changing hands several times. Pointing out the aggressive play exhibited is the fact that two Braves, Torry Froisland and Jake Handzelek, were ejected from the game late in the fourth quarter.

Capitalizing on the fast break whenever they could, Capt. Dave Pollock and Handzelek again headed the Tribes scoring with 16 and 21 points respectively. Particularly fine floor play was shown by Froisland and Chuck Gross who copped 11 and three points to further aid the Indian cause. Rounding out the Tribe's scoring were Walt Vanderbush with seven points, Howie Kerstetter with nine and Herb Halkovich with five.

The end of the first quarter saw Juniata on top with a seven point 21-14 advantage, but the second canto found the Teachers fighting back to a single point 30-29 lead at the whistle. A see-saw battle in the third stanza again found the Indians on top at the buzzer, 45-43. Showing more and more fight as the game progressed, the Braves outscored their opponents in the final period, 27-19, to enable them to bring home a well-earned victory.

Lock Haven, getting most of their points from inside the key on tap-ins and driving lay-ups, provided the high scorer of the evening in freshman Mike Yelovich, who netted 7 field goals and nine fouls for 23 points. Center Tom Puciga dumped in 11 points, while forward George Everett copped 13. Not to be outdone was co-captain Norm Lundstrom who threw in nine points.

Tripped By Geneva

The Covenanters of Geneva College ran up a 28-14 first period lead and then rolled to an easy 97-66 win over Juniata's Indians at Beaver Falls last Monday.

Freshman Bill Blair scored 31 points for the Covies on 13 field goals and five charity tosses. Pete Kindkead, the co-captain, dumped in 28 counters for second place honors. Jake Handzelek paced the Indians with 19 markers. He was followed by Howie Kerstetter and Dave Pollock with 13 and 12 points respectively.

It was the 14th win of the season for Geneva as against only three losses. The loss made Juniata's record read six wins and six losses.

Geneva hit with remarkable accuracy in the first half. They made slightly over 50 percent of their shots in building up a 57-27 half time lead. They cooled off somewhat the second half and ended the night with a percentage of 44 shots from the field. Juniata made less than 30 percent of their shots.

Only a 17 point third period total kept the Covies from the 100 point mark they were shooting for. They ran up 28 points in the first session, 29 in the second and 23 in the last. Juniata period scores read 14, 13, 12 and 27 points.

Fall To Grove City

Juniata's Indians dropped the second game of their Western trip last Tuesday when the Wolverines of Grove City hung a 75-67 defeat on their record. The loss made Juniata's record show a six and seven mark.

Juniata was ahead just twice in the ball game although the score was tied six times. Grove City had a halftime lead of nine points, 36-27. Juniata came back to score 20 points in each of the last two periods while Grove City scored 17 points in the third period and 22 in the final to win, 75-67.

Clair Winters paced the Wolverine attack with 26 points. Dave Pollock and Walt Vanderbush each had 17 for Juniata. Jake Handzelek followed with 15 points and Howie Kerstetter with 14.

Nye Is Patient In Phila. Hospital

Prof. Harry H. Nye, assistant Professor of History at Juniata, is reported in serious condition in the Graduate Hospital in Philadelphia. He was admitted to the hospital Monday morning after becoming ill early last week.

The history instructor graduated from Elizabethtown College in 1942 with a B. Pd award and three years later was granted an A. B. degree from Franklin and Marshall College. The following year he received the A. M. degree from the University of Pennsylvania. In addition he has taken graduate work at Columbia University; Teachers College, Columbia University; Union Theological Seminary; and Harvard University.

In 1950 Prof. Nye was the recipient of the DD award from Elizabethtown University.

Schedule Arranged For Nye's Classes

Temporary arrangements have been made for instruction of the courses scheduled for Prof. Harry Nye until the Assistant Professor of History recovers from an illness according to word received from A. William Engel, Jr., Registrar.

Rev. David J. Heim of the Baptist Church in downtown Huntingdon will teach the Church History course which is scheduled for Monday morning at 9:00. Dr. Crosby has added the History of Medieval Europe to his list of courses. The class will meet from 7:00 until 10:00 Tuesday evenings.

The remaining Political Science course will be taught by Dean James C. Penney at the regularly scheduled time.

Student Discussion At JCA

"Our Wider Circle" is the title for the student led discussion to be held at the weekly JCA meeting Tuesday at 7:15 p. m. in Founders Chapel. This topic is one which relates to the World Student Christian Federation.

5 Courses Offered In Community Ed.

Registration for Term B of the community education program will be held Monday at 7 p. m. in Students Hall.

Five courses will be offered in the six-week program. They are Cinema Criticism with Dr. Harold Binkley as instructor; The Old Testament; Its Content and Values, led by Prof. G. Wayne Glick; Audio-Visual Resources in Christian Education by Dr. Edgar Kincafe; Planning and Leading Christian Worship by the Rev. J. Raymond Powell; and Teaching in the Vacation Church School by the Rev. David Heim.

Meanwhile, eight courses in Term A will continue in progress with a total of 147 enrolled.

Church Aids In Clothing Drive

The people of the little country of Holland who just a short time ago told the United States that they didn't want any more aid have been the victims of a terrible disaster. The famous dikes which for years have kept the waters from claiming the land broke before a storm that rocked the entire coast of Europe.

The people of Pennsylvania as well as many other states in the United States have rallied to the rescue with food and clothing which were badly needed. The Stone Church was used last week as the site of collection in a drive conducted in the Huntingdon area. According to Rev. Middlekauff, one of the leaders of the drive, the results were very satisfactory.

Latest estimates have stated that when the waters have receded from the land that over 1,500 people will be dead and the salt water will have caused damage that will take years to repair.

Students Discuss Korean Situation

In a recent poll of college students throughout the nation this question was asked: Do you think the Korean war will be over within six months?

The results were very pessimistic. Eighty-two per cent of the students asked answered in the negative, while only five per cent answered yes.

Students were also asked: How do you feel about chances for a peaceful settlement of differences between Russia and the United States? The answers to this question ran in about the same vane. Only three per cent thought the chances of a peaceful settlement were good. Twenty-seven per cent thought chances were fair, while fifty-four per cent held the opinion that they were poor, and twelve per cent thought there was no chance of a peaceful settlement.

In a poll taken last year in which the same question was asked only forty-five per cent said that chances were poor.

Most students are of the opinion that the Korean War and the Cold War are completely Russia's fault. As a junior at Mount Mary College, Milwaukee says, "Russia is not looking for peace but for power."

The general consensus of opinion on campus seems to correlate very closely with the student poll that was taken by the ACP.

Library Plans G I Q Contest

The General Information Contest sponsored by the Library will be held Mar. 9 in the Library between 4 and 5:30 p. m.

It will be a written test based on knowledge of current events, arts and languages, social studies and natural sciences. All questions will be submitted by a faculty committee appointed by Pres. Calvert Ellis. On the committee are Mrs. Sarah Hettinger, chairman, Miss Anne Benjamin, Dr. Homer Will, Prof. G. Wayne Glick, Prof. Harry Nye and Miss Miriam Dickey.

First prize will be fifteen dollars and second prize ten. Sample questions will appear in the Juniatian each week. Further details will be posted on the large bulletin board at the rear entrance of the Library.

Engel Teaches Fiberglas News Writing Class

As part of the Community Educational Service of Juniata, Mr. A. William Engel is now teaching a course in news writing at the Fiberglas plant every Monday evening.

The class is primarily concerned with Industrial Editing and writing for industrial publications. There are eight people enrolled in the course.

Center —

The book store will handle much the same merchandise as the one located in Students Hall does now. The snack bar will function cafeteria style.

Knepper Elected Soph. President

Twenty-five sophomores turned out for their presidential election on Thursday, February 5. Telford Knepper, a nineteen year old chemistry major was elected to lead the class for the remainder of the year. Telford came to Juniata two years ago from Loysburg, Penna.

Since Jack Claus, the previous president of the class left school in October, Dick Ikeda, the vice-president has filled the office.

English Conference Scheduled

Dr. Harold C. Binkley, head of the English department has released the schedule of English Conferences for the Spring term. The bi-weekly meetings got under, this week.

All students who achieved their English competence during the Fall term are excluded from the list.

JWSF Campaign To Kick Off Monday In Chapel

The Juniatian

Vol. 29—No. 18 | Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. | Friday, Feb. 20, 1953

Freymuller Heads Drive; Reveals Solicitors, Plans; Goal Set At $1953

The Juniata World Service Fund Drive will get under way Monday in chapel, according to chairman Jack Freymuller. The goal for this year's drive has been set at $1953 and will be met by solicitations from students, faculty, administration, alumni, friends and operetta proceeds.

Jack Freymuller
• Heads Drive •

Officially the drive will end Saturday night, Feb. 28 at which time all pledges and contributions are expected to be in the hands of the solicitors. Records show that in past years, average student contributions have been $2.

Aiding Freymuller will be Prof. G. Wayne Glick, adviser and a steering committee composed of Jeanie Tait, Wilfred Norris and Jack Ulsh. It will be their responsibility to organize publicity and soliciting.

Solicitors have been appointed by Freymuller to cover the entire campus area. They are Lodge: Bill Swain, Chuck Knox and Fred Hamor; Cloisters: Wes Diemer, first wing; John Dale, second wing; Bob Landes, third wing; Paul Good, second arch; and Clem Rosenberger, third arch.

Girls Collect

Collecting in the girls' dorm are Nancy Blanck, third Founders, Carol Shoemaker, fourth Founders; Alice Jean Hoffman, first Brumbaugh; Barbara Elliot, third Brumbaugh; Betty Lou Smith, fourth Brumbaugh; Irene Davis, second Oneida; and Kay Bubeck, third Oneida.

Lolita Carfora will represent Home Management House; Ginny Roos, Geiger House; and Nancy Vaughn, women day students. Faculty and administration will be solicited by Barbara Rowe while Don Bracken will contact all clubs.

JWSF is the only Senate approved drive on campus and is affiliated with the World Student Service Fund whose goal is to aid education in the backward areas of the world on a non-political basis. The three other organizations to receive aid are the Foreign Student Aid Fund, the Christian University of Tokyo and two missionaries—Rev. H. Stover Kulp in Nigeria and Dr. Paul Stayer Hoover in the Surat District of India.

Chapel Services For Drive

Chapel services for next week will pertain to JWSF. Monday Freymuller will speak in order to get the drive under way. A film, "This is Their Story," showing some of the working areas of W. S. S. F., will be featured.

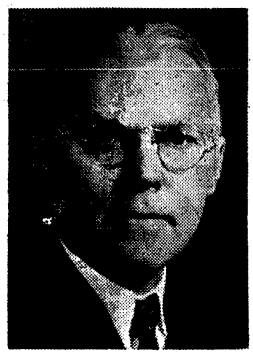
Memorial Services Held Wed. For N.J. Brumbugh

Dr. Norman J. Brumbaugh, professor emeritus who established the chemistry department, died Sunday evening in Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia. He had been hospitalized since December, 1952. Memorial services were held Wednesday afternoon in the Stone Church.



N. J. Brumbaugh
• Memorial Service •

Born in Huntingdon, Dr. Brumbaugh received his bachelor of arts degree from Juniata and then attended Harvard where he concentrated in the natural sciences. After teaching physics and chemistry at Juniata for four years, he returned to Harvard to receive his master's degree in 1915.

From 1915 to 1920, he was graduate assistant in chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania. He then served as Harrison Scholar and Fellow at Penn for two years before being granted his Ph. D. in 1922.

As a Scandinavian-American Fellow, he studied at the University of Copenhagen in Denmark for one year and then returned to Juniata as professor of chemistry and head of the department.

JC In Chem Society

In the 24 years that Dr. Brumbaugh was its head, the department of chemistry rose to national prominence. At the time of his retirement, Juniata was one of only 16 colleges and universities in Pennsylvania on an American Chemical Society listing of institutions approved by the Committee on Professional Training for undergraduate instruction in chemistry. The record made by chemistry alumni in graduate school was the deciding factor in Juniata's acceptance into the Association of American Universities.

This year Juniata was selected by the DuPont Company as one of 19 four-year colleges in the nation to receive a grant to help in the training of chemistry students.

In Dr. Brumbaugh's undergraduate days, he established a college record of 10 seconds in the 100-yard dash which has been equalled only twice since 1906. In 1909 he won the county tennis championship and from 1920 to 1924 he was secretary-treasurer of the Philadelphia Fencer's Club.

For many years he played the oboe in the college orchestra an was in fact, one of its founders.

Social Calendar To Feature Movie

The technicolor motion picture, "I've Always Loved You," will be shown in Oller Hall tomorrow at 8:15 p. m., reports Mickey Monks, Chairman of Social Activities.

Adapted for the screen by Borden Chase from his American Magazine story "Concerto," the story traces the conflict between two artists, Leopold Goronoff (Philip Dorn), the master, and Myra Hassman (Catherine McLeod), the pupil. It is an intensely dramatic story of a beautiful girl pianist who falls in love with her teacher, a world renowned musician, only to find there is no place in his life for anything but music.

The sound track is played by Artur Rubinstein, the famous concert artist. Featured is Rachmoninoff's "Second Piano Concerto," and the works of such composers as Chopin, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Wagner, Mozart and Bach.

Senate Elections Set For Mar. 10

The tentative date for the election of Senate president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer has been set for Mar. 10, according to Jack Ulsh, vice-president of the Senate.

One week later on Mar. 17, Senate chairmanships and class officers will be elected.

Petitions for this election will be available Wednesday. They must be signed by at least ten percent of the student body. However class officers will be nominated by the class and no petitions will be necessary.

In case of ties, run-offs will be held on the day following the elections.

Choir To Tour Sun.

The Juniata College Touring Choir will leave Sunday for the first of a series of one-day trips. Accompanied by the string ensemble, the group will present concerts in the Brethren Church at Roaring Spring, the Presbyterian Church in Hollidaysburg and the Methodist Church in Tyrone.

23¢ Goes To Lambda Gamma

The 23 cents which students pay when obtaining their tickets for "The Importance of Being Earnest" goes entirely to the Lambda Gamma, which has the refreshment concession for the play.

Blue-Gold Special To Start Today

Announcing the Blue and Gold Star Special—your chance to win a gift or gift certificate from downtown merchants. Check the front page of your issue of the Juniatian for the number above this article.

Merchants participating in this advertising contest are designated by a star placed somewhere in their advertisements. Friday mornings signs will be placed in the downtown stores, each store having a different number, and if your number corresponds, you will be the winner of such items as theater passes, shirts, women's stockings and gift certificates.

Just take your paper along, give your name and number to the store owner, and pick up your prize. All awards not claimed by Monday noon will be forfeited.

Marilyn Mason To Present Organ Recital Sun., Mar. 1

Marilyn Mason, concert organist, is scheduled to appear in Oller Hall, Sunday, Mar. 1 at 3:30 p. m.

Miss Mason, who is assistant organ teacher to the famous Palmer Christian on the faculty of the University of Michigan, will present a recital consisting of a variety of selections from both the moderns and the classics.

Library Offers History Prize

For those of you especially interested in history, the Stackpole History Prize offers an opportunity to display your talents and perhaps to win $25.

This prize, made possible by the late Dr. E. J. Stackpole of the Harrisburg "Telegraph," will be awarded to the Juniata student who makes the most important literary contribution to the history of the Juniata Valley. The deadline is Thursday, April 30 and all final decision rests with the approval of the faculty.

Students will be recommended by the history department to receive prizes and the work will be judged on the following merits: logical arrangement of materials such as table of content and bibliography; relevant facts; diagram or pictures; paragraphing spelling and diction; and proportion of subject.

Old records and personal interviews may be used for sources of information. Three final copies must be handed in: to the donor, the college library file and the student's own personal collection.

Further information may be obtained from the history department.

Varsity Quartet Entertains College, Town

by Ben D'Agostino

Blending together to form the Varsity Quartet, the four mellow voices of Ben Newcomer, Paul Morrison, Harold Bowser and Bob Landes have often been heard around campus and in Huntingdon.

Their schedule of performances has varied from singing in high school assemblies to serenading the girls' dorm on campus. They have also entertained at the Benefit Dance, the Scout Dinner, banquets, alumni dinners and Rotary meetings.

As varied as their schedule is their repertoire which includes popular music but leans heavily toward Negro spirituals and barber shop quartet music. Among their songs are "Coney Island Babe," "Ole Ark's A-Moverin," "Climbin' up the Mountain," "Once in a While," and "Dream."

Ben Newcomer, singing first tenor for the group, is a junior education major hailing from Uniontown. Harold "Eek" Bowser from New Enterprise is a special student concentrating in music education and sings second tenor. Baritone Paul "Thorny" Morrison is a freshman pre-ministerial student from Media; while rounding out the group is bass Bob Landes, a junior pre-dental student from Souderton.

Tryouts Scheduled For Reading Fete

Try-outs for the Penn State Reading Festival will be held Thursday at 4:30 p. m. in Founders Chapel, reports Miss Esther Doyle.

The non-competitive festival will be held at State College Thursday, Apr. 30 and Friday May 1 and will feature readings by students of surrounding colleges.

Four types of readings will be presented: prose narrative, long poem, short poems and drama.

All interested students are asked to try out. Selections should be limited to 3 or 4 minutes.

Plans Now Ready For Student Center

The overall plans for the Student Center are now complete, and the committee is awaiting the final decision concerning specifications.

Russ Hill, committee chairman, reports that these specifications include the work being done on the wiring and plumbing systems by Mr. Hamme, of York, Pa.

It was also disclosed that steel will replace the three rows of posts, which are in the basement of the Women's Gym at present. These posts will be regrouped to allow for more space and to correspond to the decorative scheme.

Look, Think, Decide For Yourself

From every corner and nook of this war-ridden and poverty stricken world, human beings are pleading for help—help to live again, not just in the sense of breathing and maintaining an existence, but in the sense of being free from tyranny and injustice.

Monday at the outset of the annual JWSF drive, a solicitor will face you and ask for your aid—aid in the form of a money contribution. You will say either "yes" or "no", and by giving that answer, you will label yourself for what you really are. This drive isn't a demand or even a high pressure job of salesmanship. The committee isn't forcing you to donate or pulling the money from your reluctant fingers. It isn't a moral appeal to your sense of duty or a question of going along with the crowd. You're being asked only to open your eyes and look.

Look at yourself and your life. Look at the freedom you enjoy—freedom to do, to think, to act as you wish. Look at your government, your institutions, your beliefs and ideals. Most of you will stop there. You do little more than look. You sit back and view everything with pride or with an emotion faintly akin to pride. You think what a nice world it would be if everyone, everywhere enjoyed such a life. You may even have some slight feeling of remorse that such a situation doesn't exist. But then you add that you, one person, can do nothing to check the ruthless suppression of political, spiritual, and intellectual freedom which is going on in Europe and Asia. Your very lethargy damages those agencies which are attempting the preservation and cultivation of your democratic way of life.

But think. Consider the recipients of this JWSF drive. You will see that basically their underlying motive is the spreading of democratic ideals and practices, along with the countless other purposes of education and improvement of living standards, by many and varied means. Then you're faced with the decision of donating what may seem, at the time, an exorbitant lump sum of money, think beyond yourself and your immediate material life; think even beyond the needs of this country, which undoubtedly are many. Think of the ideals of world peace and liberty for which men and women today are fighting and even dying. And then, make your decision.

Society

Moore St. Melodies

Anon

Although we experienced considerable dismay over the treatment given our basketball team last Friday night, our feelings were satisfactorily ameliorated by the pleasure-filled evening given us by the Sophomore class Saturday night when Dan Cupid paid his yearly visit to our OLD gymnasium.

The orchestra was its usual best in an atmosphere made resplendent by modest, but well-placed decorations. We hardly feel the evening would have been complete, however, without the talented entertainment. Our hats off to the trio and "Rockettes"—a la Juniata!

Our little Nancy certainly did a commendable job on the vocals. We wonder how much of her success may be attributed to the coaching of a certain upperclassman who claims to be an authority on form.

Dr. Henry, while observing the announcement of the forthcoming appearance of Marilyn Mason, was heard to comment to Miss Schlegel: "If it were Marilyn Monroe, instead of Mason, Oller Hall would really be packed on Sunday". Easy, Prof!

Also from Skip's comes Bob Gottlieb's remark: "Why don't you wear hose more often and show off your shapely legs?" We question whether Bob is a connoisseur of feminine apparel or feminine attributes.

At this point may we extend a welcome back to Audrey Weber. We hope that no lasting ill-effects were sustained in the accident. Needless to say, she's looking good!

Our recognition goes to the "rave" girl of the week. What's your secret, Ann? Pinball machines?

Bill Garrison's everlasting endeavors to procure action shots for the Alfarata have led him to the sacred ground of the Bell Tower. By the way, Bill, do you think that's Art? On the same subject . . . was Prof. Bedient camera-shy when you tried to snap him at the Snack Bar—or didn't he have his "hair" combed?

Skip's Inn has been blessed with a bouncing, brand-new pinball machine. But, attractive as it may be, word has it that said machine can never take the place of the beloved "Coronation" in the hearts of the devotees. In a word, the general consensus of opinion is: "Could be there are worse ones, but we aren't sure just where!"

In closing, we would like to say that we feel that the matter of proper dress for the evening meal has been kicked around enough, and at this point, is fairly adequate. So, to whom it may concern, couldn't we have the emphasis placed on table manners, which are indeed equally, if not more, important in the development of the well-rounded college student. It takes more than clothes to make the man!

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS By BIBLER

CIRCUIT RIDER

Tennis, Anyone?

by JACK FREYMULLER

There seems to be an air of inquiry on campus as to the question of manners. That is, the students on this campus are reviewing the merits of the rules of organized warfare which are now in force in our lush chow hall. Some of them are of the opinion that things "just ain't ethical". They are to be quoted as being in favor of a general revision of the status quo. That seems to me to be admitting defeat; the "opposition" wins.

For the freshmen I'll go over the more generally accepted moves and maneuvers that are standard operating procedure. Every upperclassman knows them by heart. With daily practice anything would come easy. And there is so much joy in the game that everyone plays.

Prior to entering the chow hall there are a few preliminary moves that the conscientious student makes. They are the "softening-up" phase. Number one is known as the "Did I spoil your shine?" move. It consists of a nimble planting of the sole of the foot squarely on the toe of the best-shined shoe in the crowd. After this comes number two: as you take off your overcoat this garment is swung in a concentric arc to the rear of your station, thereby efficiently mussing every head of hair within a three-foot area behind you. Both of these maneuvers call for profuse apologies uttered with half a giggle.

Move number three calls for quick footwork. As the door is opened grudgingly by the waitress assigned to that door (she knows how to play the game too) you quickly insert a thigh and a shoulder between the door and the nearest person to it. This move, if executed right, is guaranteed to propell this person lengthwise with great force against the jamb of the door. In some cases this has resulted in the opponent being forced to pick his teeth up from the floor but, after all, he read the catalog too.

Once inside, the real test of your tactics arrives. Here you are on your own and it's constant combat until the bell rings for grace. Now: as soon as the door opens you burst through, and sweep forward. The thing to do now is catch someone who is passing through an intersection. Careful timing will allow you to catch your victim broadside and send him skittering into the nearest table. If you are skillful enough he may find his hand in the bottom of the mashed potatoes. Remember the apologies, however, that is the mark of the artist.

There are certain refinements to the game that are too simple to require detailed explanation. These are: the "oh, these are saved" maneuver, generally used only by girls, in which one girl will demurely assert that she is saving the other seven chairs for her friends and insinuating on the side that she thinks you didn't know what a fork was until you came here; two, the "milk-run" tactic used mainly by the men in which the quicker student deftly swipes the milk pitcher, fills all glasses around him, and leaves you waiting with tepid cereal for the next round. There are other variations to these last but they all work on the same general principle.

I must needs remind you, gentle readers, that these are most effective when performed by an artist. Then it is that the indignant glare, the growl, the mutter, and all the other subtle touches are compounded into one sweet, harmonious whole. It's really something to watch.

Commentary

A Simple Word

by Dick Middleswo..h

It's only a simple word but it's all-important—fidelity. We all know its definition, but few of us show in ourselves the simplicity of its true meaning.

Many of us even restrict the definition of the word to its application in marriage alone, really not feeling its importance until we have reached that point in life. Thus by narrowing fidelity to this limitation, we celibates try to exclude ourselves from its true inclusion.

I conceive this to be one of the pathetic fallacies in numerous cases of divorce.

Just why are we frightened to admit the facts of true faith in a fellow human being? Is human nature that self-centered? Are we so engrossed in ourselves that we won't even confide in a person who may be a more upstanding individual, possibly with higher morals than us, although we're afraid to admit it? Are we afraid of adhering to some moral obligation after which we may not be placed at the head of the table.

Are we so unsecure that we not only distrust others but also go through life blaming others for what we maintain within ourselves. So for others to have faith in us, shouldn't we maintain it in ourselves? Wouldn't you agree that we must have absolute confidence in our goals; we must have the confidence that brings respect in others; and in this way we may develop fidelity in them.

Is this world so callous that we think on others and judge them by our own shortcomings? Have we all degraded ourselves to that point that we think marriage and friendship are based on our material possessions alone? Cannot we accept one as he may seem to be? How long will we continue to cast aspersions on our fellow man's character? Must we always revert to this prehistoric doctrine of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." Surely we can't obtain peace and ultimate happiness in such savage mannerisms. Can't we strive to free ourselves from this malicious trait?

I suggest that we all endeavor to improve ourselves so that we may inspire in others a more sincere degree of fidelity. In this manner we may develop a more healthy attitude and perhaps inspire it in others.

Handzelek Close To Title

Needs 13 Points To Attain Mark

by John Dale

One of the most proficient scorers in Juniata College history, Jake Handzelek today seriously threatens the college season scoring record of 353 points set in 1944-45 by Dick Wareham. Having scored 23 points last Wednesday to bring his total to 341 for the first three-quarters of the season, Jake probably will set a new record not only in total points scored for one season but also in average points scored per game.

Jake, a product of Mocanoqua in the Wyoming Valley of eastern Pennsylvania, was an outstanding athlete in his high school days as well as here at Juniata. While attending Shickshinny High School just across the river from Mocanoqua, Handzelek lettered four years in baseball and once in football as well as four years in basketball.

Frosh star Jake Handzelek who may set all-time Juniata scoring record against Dickinson tomorrow night.

Took Honors

His exploits on the hardwoods while in high school attracted not only local and conference attention but also state-wide notice. After breaking into the first five of the varsity for the second half of his freshman year, Jake went on to cap all-league honors the following three years. All-State honors in the tough Class B ratings and all-scholastic titles his junior and senior years. To attain this notice, Jake led his team to the semi-finals of the state basketball playoffs last season before losing to Kutztown. During his senior season, he set a new scholastic record for Pennsylvania by netting an amazing 1008 points. For his four year total, Jake estimates that he has scored around 2250 points, well up in the list of total points scored for four years by a Pennsylvania high school player.

Another of Jake's cherished honors is the outstanding player trophy which he won during his junior year in the Bloomsburg State Teachers College Tournament. While there he faced Howie Kerstetter of Shamokin, a medal winner in that tournament and now a teammate of Jake's.

Main Reason Given

When asked why he came to Juniata, Jake replied that the attraction of frosh playing varsity ball was the main incentive, whereas the 40-odd schools from which he had offers didn't have this.

Even though the Tribe has been having only a 50-50 season, Jake has been maintaining a 22.7 average for the season, while holding up a 33 percent shooting mark from the field. However he is not just an offensive star for he gets a good share of the rebounds in spite of playing the outside spot in the shifting zone defense and is currently leading the team in interceptions.

The Dickinson game tomorrow night will see Handzelek set a new Juniata all-time scoring record.

The Lebanon Valley Flying Dutchmen, previously Pennsylvania's only unbeaten quintet, suffered their first defeat of the season last Saturday at the hands of Albright College 82-74. In the first meeting of the schools this year, Albright froze the ball to prevent the Dutchmen from scoring 100 points.

Crusaders Bow
Juniata Wins 73-61

The Juniata varsity broke the jinx of away games when they defeated the Crusaders of Susquehanna 73-61.

In an afternoon game played at Susquehanna on Wednesday, the Indians out-scored and out-played the home team. The first half saw Juniata out in front by only three points, but in the second half the Indians were able to push ahead to win by 12 points.

Jake Handzelek led the Indians with 23 points, 15 of these scored in the first half. Vanderbush and Kerstetter helped out by scoring 18 and 13 respectively. Juniata's captain, Dave Pollock, was held to only nine points.

Art Stabnau, Crusader's frosh 6-6 center took honors for them with 17 points before leaving the game via the foul route with over seven minutes left in the final stanza. Doney, Condon and McCarty garnered 12 points each for their team.

In the first quarter it was a see-saw game with the Indians scoring 19 points to the oppositions 18. Susquehanna changed tactics in order to slow the game down in the following two quarters and Juniata was only able to score 15 points in each. During these same quarters, the Crusaders scored only 13 and 11 points each.

The final quarter saw the Indians break loose and hit the 24 mark. Juniata's Walt Vanderbush was the big gun with nine points. Doc Greene substituted freely in this final frame and the entire squad saw action.

Susquehanna garnered 19 points in the final stanza. Besides Stabnau, Doney was also forced out of the game early in the fourth quarter due to five personal fouls.

DUMP TEACHERS 72-68 IN THRILLER

The Juniata Indians weathered a last half foul barrage to defeat Shippensburg STC 72-68 last Friday night. Scoring honors of the evening went to Tribe guard Jake Handzelek who made ten field goals and four fouls for a total of 24 points. Captain Frank McClelland topped the losers with 23 counters.

Juniata jumped off to a 4-0 lead in buckets by Pollock and Handzelek before McClelland's foul broke the ice for the Red Raiders. Vanderbush's lay-up further increased the Indian margin but was offset by McClelland's second foul shot and first field goal. Later in the first period with the score 11-9 in favor of Juniata, two set shots by Pollock and single fouls by Handzelek, Pollock and Froisland combined to give the home team an 18-9 first quarter lead.

Indians Outscored

Action picked up in the second stanza as the visitors outscored the Tribe 23-19. The Red Raiders netted three fouls before Handzelek garnered one for J. C. McClelland who gathered ten points in this quarter put in a jump shot to cut the Juniata lead as the visitors continued to peck away. Near the end of the half, Walt Vanderbush, Indian center, was banished in an exchange of words with the referee.

The second half got under way with Handzelek netting a lay-up. Following a field goal by Mills of Shippensburg, Handzelek again pushed one through. The Indians successfully bottled up McClelland during the last half and he accounted for only one field goal and five fouls. As the quarter reached its end, successive scores by Pollock, Kerstetter and Handzelek pushed the Tribe to a 56-47 lead.

STC Foul Barrage

Bernie Oriss led off the last period with a foul to give the tribe a ten point spread. However a steady Shippensburg foul barrage slowly cut the Indian lead. With the score 63-55 Nicholson and Robertson scored with one handers and McClleland dropped in a foul. Kerstetter also got a foul but three more Shippensburg free tosses made it 64-61. After another exchange of shots it became 67-65. However a single marker by Orris, two by Kerstetter plus a field goal by Kerstetter notched the game for the Tribe.

Statistically the Tribe split. They outscored the Raiders 26-21 from the field. The Teachers garnered more fouls getting 26 of 45 attempts to 20 for 26 for J. C. The 45 foul attempt which the visitors tried is only one short of the Memorial Gymnasium record for one team.

Co-eds At State

Eighteen JC coeds will leave tomorrow for a Sports Day at Penn State College. They will compete in basketball, badminton, bowling, swimming and modern dance.

The basketball team, consisting of Nancy Blanck, Janet Cline, Doreen Fyock, Joyce Gibbel, Rainy Linn, Kass Keeler, Mickey Monks, Nancy Vaughn, Joan Walker and Janet Wiltshire, will face Mansfield STC at 1 p. m. in White Hall and later Penn State.

Dot Taylor and Lee Englehart will represent JC in bowling, while entered in the badminton events are Louise Gehman and Marion Veals.

Polly Fowler, Sue Jamison, Mickey Mick and Kitty Underkoffler will enter the swimming meet. Modern dance will consist of technique practice and composition with no direct competition. Representing Juniata will be May Ikeda, Alma Skinner and Mikey Mick.

The coeds will face competition from such schools as Lock Haven STC, Lycoming, Bucknell, Mansfield and State College.

Tribe To Play Before Home Fans
F & M-Westminster Here Next Week

The coming week will see the Indians of Coach Greene playing before the home fans twice. Tuesday night the Tribe faces the Diplomats of Franklin and Marshall while on Thursday the Titans of Westminster are in town.

Indians Away Sat.

The Juniata Indians will try to extend their win streak to three straight games tomorrow night when they journey to Carlisle to tangle with the Dickinson Red Devils. This season the Devils are on the rebound following one of the most disastrous years in the College's basketball history, in which they won only one game in 19 played.

Led by 6-2 sophomore Lee Hoffler, the Dickinsonians have already racked up five wins in 13 outings under their new coach A. C. "Slim" Ranson. The team however has been playing under a handicap without their ace rebounder, 6-2 forward Bob Varano, who fractured his hand earlier this month.

Sophomores almost completely dominate the team, and like Juniata, it is a building year for Dickinson. There are no seniors and only three juniors and three freshmen on the 14-man varsity squad. Height seems to be the theme as only three players are listed under 6 feet, with the biggest man on the squad 6-5 sophomore Neil Graham.

Using a man-to-man defense and playing "possession type" basketball, the Red Devils will present a starting array of Huber, and 6-1 Jack Perkner at forward, 6-4 Dick Johe at center and 5-9 Sidney Kline and 5-8 fleet guard John Dudas at the backcourt posts.

Last year the Indians pulled the game out of the fire with a last second mid-court set shot to win 86-84.

J V'S Split Two

The Juniata College J. V.'s copped their eighth win of the season by handily defeating the Shippensburg J. V. quintet 73-50 here last Friday night. Trailing 16-11 at the end of the first period, the junior Indians poured 20 points through the hoop in the second frame while the Raider J. V.'s could only manage seven, and the half time score read 31-23, Juniata.

From that point on it was all Juniata as they dumped in 22 and 20 points in the third and fourth quarters compared to the 15 and 12 scored respectively by the junior Raiders. The final individual point total found Jack Golden leading the way with 21, George O'Brien in the follow up spot with 18, and Lee Hallman a basket behind with 16.

Last Monday the little Indians journeyed to Johnstown to meet Pitt Johnstown Center in the first of their two games this year. The second is to be played here Feb. 26 prior to the Westminster-Juniata varsity game.

Although the Tribe outscored the Undergrads 30-28 from the field, they made only 18 of 27 fouls. The home squad however garnered 23 of 28 to score a 79-73 victory.

Three Juniata players, Jack Golden, George O'Brien and Lee Hallman each had 15 points.

With a record of 12 and 4 the men from Lancaster rank with Lebanon Valley and Geneva as the roughest of Juniata's opponents. The Dips have lost only to Muhlenburg, Navy, Lehigh and C. C. N. Y. while beating such teams as Virginia, Gettysburg, Drexel and Dickinson.

The big gun for the Blue and White is Carson Lovett, 6-6 center from York, Pa. Lovett ranks 17th in the country in small college scoring with a 23.2 average. In addition he is second in rebounds with an average of 22.2 per game. F and M's other threat is Captain Walter Lenz. Lenz is 6-4 and comes from Prospect Park, Pa.

Average 83 Points

The Franklin & Marshall basketeers have been scoring on the average of 83 points per game to rank them 11th in this department. Currently Juniata's average is 72.

The Titans come to Juniata with their worst record in 27 years. Not since 1926 has a Westminster team recorded a losing season. However this record may be somewhat deceiving as the Titans lost to St. John's at Madison Square Garden by only one point.

Wesminster Inexperienced

Westminster will floor a relatively inexperienced club. Only one starter remains from last year's team which dumped Juniata 96-61, and Coach Washabaugh has been experimenting to find a winning combination. The starting five will be built around 6-3 Jerry Neff, a junior who scored 204 points last season. Other possible starters are lettermen Robert Dugan, 6-5 center, Robert Jones and Ronald Tranter. Non-lettermen possibilities are Lewis Cooper, Donald Reed, Dick Black and Jim Brill.

Westminster has dominated their series with Juniata. Of the 16 games in the series which started in 1940, the Indians have triumphed just once.

I-M Race Deadlocked

FM&M, Hilboffers, Creeks Leading; YHO'S Hand Creeks First Defeat

A three-way tie developed in the men's intramural league during the past week as the FM&M and the McKees Creek suffered their initial defeats. The Hillboffers, beaten only by the Creeks, handed the FM&M a two-point setback 36-34 on Saturday afternoon. On Wednesday night the Creeks went down before the YHO's 51-35.

The Hillboffers, paced by Dave LeFevre's 14 points, jumped off to a first quarter 9-6 lead. By halftime they had increased the margin to 21-15. At the three quarter mark the score stood at 29-24, but a last quarter FM&M rally nearly spelled defeat for the Boffers.

In beating the Creek's the YHO's jumped off to an 11-6 first quarter lead and were never behind throughout the remainder of the game. The score at halftime read 28-15. Although the Creek's outscored the YHO's 14-10 in the last stanza it was not enough to overcome their deficit. John Richman led the YHO's attack with eight field goals and seven fouls for 23 points. Dave Bayer and Bob Landes each scored 11 while Don Conley did the same for the Creek's.

High team scoring honors of the week went to the Covites who scored 115 points in defeating the AFU 115-72. Glenn Burket with 29, Wes Lingenfelter with 28, and George Pote with 26 paced the Covites attack. Barry Stayer gathered 24 points in a losing cause.

In other games, YHO's beat the FS&C, the Creeks downed the Jabberwockies, FM&M won over the Globetrotters, the Cyrenaics beat the Aces, the Covites decisioned the Turks, and the AFU's bowed to the Blivits.

Club Program To Feature Speaker, Movies; Debate Team Now On Tour

Movies, speakers, and debating all highlight the week's club program. Three meetings are scheduled for this evening, and one Tuesday. Debaters are on tour at the present time.

Chemistry Club, Scalpel & Probe

Both the Chemistry and the Scalpel and Probe clubs will show films at their meetings this evening.

The Chemistry Club will meet at 7:30 in Room 104, president Jack Walter announces. The films are two of Dupont's latest technical releases.

Two films dealing with biology will be presented at the Scalpel and Probe meeting at 7:15 in Room C. Cake and ice cream will be served. Dr. Homer C. Will, head of the biology department, will speak to the club at the next monthly meeting.

IVCF

Donna Apple, freshman, will lead the weekly IVCF sponsored Bible discussion tonight at 7:15 in the Women's Day-student Room. All are cordially invited to attend.

FTA

Mr. Donald L. Snively, Supervising Principal of Upper Providence School District in Media, Pennsylvania, will speak to FTA members Thursday at 7:00 in Founders Chapel. His talk will deal with what a principal looks for in hiring a teacher and what a teacher may expect in the first year's teaching experience.

All members are urged to read the constitution, since it will be voted upon at the meeting.

Debate Club

Four students, who are members of the Debate Club, departed this morning for Lehigh University in Allentown to participate in the sixth annual Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Forensic Tournament of the Debating Association of Pennsylvania Colleges. Students from all over the state will debate the question, "Resolved: that Congress should enact compulsory Fair Employment Practices legislation."

Those representing Juniata College are as follows: Bob Bailey and Galen Frysinger, affirmative; and Ron Cherry and Jo Pentz, negative. Miss Mim Dickey, assistant librarian, accompanied the students as their advisor and, as well, is to be one of the judges in the tourney.

JCA

Tuesday night at 7:15 in Founders Chapel a group of students from the Penn State Christian Association will be in charge of the weekly JCA meeting.

Applications Due For Draft Test

All eligible students who intend to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test in 1953 should file applications at once for the test to be given April 23.

The results of the test will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board for their consideration of his deferment as a student.

An application and a bulletin of information may be obtained at any Selective Service local board. Local Board No. 75 of the Selective Service System in Huntingdon is located at 707 Washington Street. Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application immediately and mail it in the special envelope provided. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight March 9, 1953. Early filing will be greatly to the student's advantage.

Doctors Advise Against No-Doz

ACP—Two members of Harvard University Hygiene Department have issued a warning to students against the use 'No-Doz'. They state that the use of these pills is partially responsible for the nervous collapse of many students around final exam time.

'No-Doz', sold without perscription, has been put in the same class as aspirin by a Food and Drugs Administration representative because the only active ingredient is the stimulant caffein. The pills are often standard equipment for students who feel the need to cram for final exams.

The pills often cause "serious nervous reaction which, although temporary, is handicapping," states Dr. Arthur Contratto, instructor in medicine. Dr. Arlie Bock, hygiene professor at Harvard, terms the taking of 'No-Doz' pills "self inflicted injury". He adds, "If a fellow can't do his work without resorting to such drugs, I would say he doesn't belong in school."

Masque To Stage Arena Play For 8 Nights Beginning Wed.

High British society of Oscar Wilde and the Victorian Age will appear on Oller Hall stage Wednesday at 8:15 p. m. as the houselights dim for the first performance of "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Helen Rosengren

● Has Top Role ●

Fritz Blechschmidt

● To Share Lead ●

Directed by Miss Esther Doyle, eight evening performances plus two afternoon matinees for high school students will be presented in arena or "in the round" style. The audience, limited to 120, will be seated on the stage surrounding the players on four sides.

The play has been staged two previous times at Juniata—once by the class of '25 and once by the Masque in 1934 under the supervision of Dr. Harold Binkley. However this is the first arena performance.

Comedy of Manners

Describing life in the late 1890's, the comedy of manners deals with the romance of Gwendolen and Cecily, both of whom are determined to marry men named Ernest. Mr. Worthing, who is known as Jack in his country estate and as Ernest in city society, will be portrayed by Fritz Blechschmidt. Madly in love with Gwendolen (Helen Rosengren), he proposes marriage and is accepted by his ideal.

However their marriage plans are thwarted by Gwendolen's domineering mother Lady Bracknell (Phyllis Link) when she discovers that Ernest knows nothing of his family background but was found in a handbag in a railroad station.

Another Ernest

The plot is further complicated by the romance of Cecily (Lona Beabes) and Algernon (Wilfred Norris). Cecily, living in the country, knows Ernest as Jack. Algernon appears on the scene, impersonating Jack's mythical brother Ernest, and proposes to Cecily.

The climax is reached when Gwendolen and Cecily meet, each believing that she is to marry Ernest Worthing. When the truth wins out concerning their fiancees' names, both engagements are jeopardized, for the girls maintain that they can love only a man named Ernest.

All ends well as the mystery of the handbag is solved and Jack, or rather Ernest, discovers his true identity.

Marilyn Mason To Give Oller Hall Organ Recital

Marilyn Mason, concert organist from the University of Michigan, will present a recital here Sunday at 3:30 p. m. in Oller Hall. Her program will feature both classical and modern compositions.

Marilyn Mason, concert organist, is due to arrive on campus Sunday to present an organ recital in Oller Hall at 3:30 p. m.

A member of the faculty at the University of Michigan, Miss Mason has studied under the direction of the well-known Palmer Christian. She is considered one of the best in her field and has trained in Europe.

In private life, she is married to an electrical engineering professor and they reside in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Her program Sunday will consist of "Symphony VI" in five parts by Charles Marie Widor; "Allegro Moderato" (Concerto IV) by Handel; "Passepied," "Sarabande," and "Gavotte" by Rameau-Mason; "Fantasy and Fugue on Bach" by Franz Liszt; Three Pieces for the Organ by Edmund Haines; "Pavane" by Robert Elmore and "Dieu Parmi Mous" by Oliver Messiaen.

The concert is open to the public and is free of charge.

Clubs To Sponsor Dance Tomorrow

Come one, come all to the Penthouse Serenade Saturday in the Women's Gym at 8:15 p. m. Sponsored by the Lambda Gamma and Chemistry Club, the dance will be informal but dressy affair.

The decorations committee, under the direction of Joyce Butts, has planned a New York rooftop scene. The lower part of the gym walls will be transformed into dark red bricks above which will be seen the outline of New York City. Shrubbery and couches will complete the pent house scene. A revolving silver moon will shine down on all the assembled party-goers.

As an added attraction, Claudia Pilutik will make personal sketches of some of the guests. The Sophomore Trio will render several selections. The planning committee is hoping to secure the services of a combo but as yet, nothing definite has been arranged.

Refreshments of punch and cupcakes will be served by the Home Ec Club.

Choir To Sing Tues. In Huntingdon High

The Juniata College Touring Choir will present a concert Tuesday at Huntingdon High School at 1:50 p. m. Directed by Prof. Donald Johnson, they will sing a program consisting of both sacred and secular numbers. The seven-piece string-wind ensemble will accompany several of the selections. Also included on the program will be numbers by the Girls' Trio and the Varsity Quartet.

Dale, Richman To Edit Sports; Staff Revealed

John Dale and John Richman have been named co-editors of the sports page of the Juniatian, their appointments being effective immediately. Both have served as members of the sports staff and have been supervising the sports page for the past three weeks.

Dale a junior math major from Curwensville, is lay-out editor of the Alfarata, a member of the Scout Staff and Underclass Committee and was a delegate to Leadership Conference last year.

Richman, a senior from Wenonah, New Jersey, is majoring in mathematics. He is sports editor of the Alfarata and is active in intramural sports.

The following reporters have been named to the news staff for the second semester, according to Jim Hunt, news editor. They are Rae Bamforth, Ben D'Agostino, Dottie Darrell, Nancy Freed, Blynn Garnett, Louise Gehman, Herb Harris, Louise Heinbaugh, Eloise Holsinger, Pat Morris, Alma Skinner, Pat Torton, and Everet Wills.

Fred Heydrick has been added to the sports staff.

Open Meeting, Chapel Program To Start Center

An open meeting of the Student Center Planning Committee will be held Monday at 7 p. m. in the Old Chapel.

Pres. Calvert Ellis, Dr. Kenneth Crosby, student leaders and the planning committee will present a short resume of the entire project and will answer any student questions. The issue of smoking and the financing of the Center will also be discussed.

To start off the actual work on the project, which will begin Monday afternoon, an assembly has been scheduled to take the place of the regular chapel service at 10 a. m. in the Old Gym.

According to Russ Hill, general chairman, the assembly will be in the form of a pep meeting in which the band will participate. Pres. Ellis, Senate president Bob Wagoner and Hill will speak. After the meeting, a special issue of the Juniatian, devoted entirely to the Student Center, will be issued.

The first jobs to be undertaken by the students will be the tearing of a hole in one corner of the gym for a highlift, tearing out and salvaging light wood and partitions, carrying out lockers and other items in storage, pulling down the ceiling coverings, and knocking out the brick walls. Recorded music will be played on the loud speaker at all working sessions.

Clifton To Show British Movie In Special Program

A special film, "The Lavender Hill Mob," produced by J. Arthur Rank, will be shown Thursday at the Harris Clifton Theatre especially for college students, faculty and administration.

Starring Alec Guinness, famous British star, the film deals with the affairs of one of the supervisors of the Bank of England. Employed there for many years, he has gained a reputation for his honesty and integrity. However for many years, he has cherished a secret ambition to rob the bank of one million dollars in gold. A foolproof plan has been developed but the only thing stopping Mr. Guinness is the problem of the disposal of the money.

The English comedy was produced by J. Arthur Rank, whose latest movies "Kind Hearts and Coronets" and "Tight Little Island" were recently shown on Broadway.

Two features will be shown at 7 and 9 p. m. Thursday at regular prices. The movie is the first of two art pictures which will be shown by the theater. The following Thursday another Alec Guinness film, "The Man in the White Suit," will be presented. If audience attendance is good, the practice of showing special films every Thursday will be continued.

Indians Lose, 77-65

The Tribe faltered badly in the third quarter to go down to a decisive 77-65 defeat at the hands of the Towering Titans of Westminster here last night. Holding a three point 40-37 edge at halftime, the Indians could net only four counters in that period. Vanderbush lead the Braves in scoring with 20, while Handzelek abetted the cause with 18. Neff stole honors for the evening with 27.

The JVs rallied to overcome a 19 point halftime deficit to triumph 76-74 on Hallman's last second shot.

"No Other Job" Reports Artist

by Louise Gehman

"Why, sure!" Miss Hazel Scott replied, "What else is there?" when I asked her if she had always wanted to be a concert pianist. Although she looked even more exquisite at close range after the performance than she had on stage, Miss Scott said she was very tired; and so our interview was brief. She had flown from Kent to New York City that morning to hear her husband testify; then with very few hours sleep had traveled to Harrisburg where a representative of Juniata College met her.

"I have a weakness for popular music," she admitted, "I get carried away with it, because that's how I got my start. It is responsible for my being able to do this sort of thing." Weakness or not, we liked it.

With her lively abandonment of style, Miss Scott dominated the attention of a maximum audience for nearly two hours last Thursday in Oller Hall. Although the piano keys and strings produced the vibrations, one could easily sense that her personality sent them out to the audience. She played as though she had composed the songs herself, and with an individuality and poignancy seldom dealt by any artist. Not only technical eclat but a rare depth of meaning characterized her performance.

Miss Scott will go to Rochester as the next stopping place on her concert tour.

Library Reports Missing Volume

The results of a recent library inventory show that from an entire collection of approximately sixty thousand books, two hundred twenty-four are missing.

The largest number of books unaccounted for is in the field of literature and history. Music and art books rank next. All these books are kept on open shelves. Next is both adult and juvenile fiction with Hemingway, Huxley and Faulkner suffering the greatest losses. Volume 23 of the Britannica Encylopedia set and the I-J volume of the World Book are still missing.

The library asks the students to abide by the following rules in order to remedy the situation: first, return all books borrowed (lawfully and unlawfully) from the library and encourage others to do the same; second, never remove a book without having it charged out properly; do not remove magazines, encylopedias and other reference material from the library as they are not on the circulating list; fourth, ask permission to go into the stack area as the library does not maintain a system of open stack privileges; fifth, return books when they are due.

Your Dream Becomes Reality

Throughout time immemorial, mankind has been torn and divided by discriminations—political, racial, social and religious. On any college campus, these same prejudices are present—to a smaller and varying degree, of course—but nevertheless, there. Over the years, JC students and alumni have cherished a dream—a dream of a true campus community without these schisms. Many solutions have been offered and attempted without too much apparent success. Now another answer is being presented—that of a Student Center built by the students, of the students and for the students.

The idea of a student center had lain dormant in the minds of certain students for a good while. After being mulled over in hen parties and bull sessions, it emerged as a project worthy of student consideration and as an instrument of arousing student interest. The plan was brought forth at Leadership Conference; the Senate acted and a committee was appointed. Work began in earnest. Suggestions were offered, altered and rejected. After months of preparation, the plans began to crystalize from their previous hazy and uncertain state. The first concrete step toward the project was the nod of approval by the Juniata Planning Commission. Another boost was given when the trustees agreed to underwrite the committee for $20,000. Monday the efforts of the planning committee become a reality, for the chapel service will set the wheels of progress in motion.

The committee has done all that it can—the administration, too. The alumni, parents and friends of the college will be asked to do their share. The rest is up to you. The various agencies at the top can do nothing more than advise and guide. The incentive, the interest and most of the actual work must be provided by you, the student body. You have complained long and loudly (and rightly so) about the lack of such a building as this. You have grumbled about the inadequate recreational and social facilities of the campus. You have, at times, been heard to moan that you aren't a part of the college because everything is decided and carried out by a select few. The Student Centers can be yours—yours to work on, yours to manage, and yours to enjoy. Make it yours when the call comes Monday for help.

Education?

by Bob Mould

I have been on and off campus for the last five years and I feel that this school is slipping. While it may have offered the kind of education our fathers and grandfathers may have needed, it lags behind the needs of the present generation. I don't mean that Juniata is alone in this situation but I would say that this college is typical of the organizations of higher learning that refuse to be flexible with the changing times.

Our role as a nation has changed completely in the last ten years. Now we find that we are one of the leading nations of the world if not the leader. We are like a young prince just made king with all sorts of power and not quite sure of ourselves in its utilization. Since we are a democracy this feeling is reflected on every citizen and we all feel inadequate to the task of this new leadership which has been thrust upon us.

What is higher education doing to cope with the situation; more personally, what is Juniata doing to prepare better and more mature citizens? We are all old enough to vote by the time we graduate yet nothing is done to help the student make a logical choice.

Every male student on this campus realizes that sooner or later he will be asked to serve in the armed forces; yet no form of preparedness is presented in the curriculum.

I save the needs of the women students until last because it is here I feel the needs are most sadly lacking. I watch with pity and disgust the actions of the female student—the superior air which they develop in their escape from the realities of life. All they feel they have to do is look pretty and catch themselves a good husband and settle back to enjoy the fruits of his labor.

It is the old fashioned idea that women should be sheltered from the realities of life and our education is geared to this idea. The sad part is that the American woman is no longer in this category whether education likes it or not. More and more responsibility is placed on their shoulders and yet schools refuse to train them to accept this responsibility intelligently.

Now is the time for a revision of our educational system; now we must train our children to carry the burden of a people who will do much to shape the destiny of the world.

Will Senate Act?

by JACK FREYMULLER

I have another proposal to make to the people who guide the way in student life—the Student Senate. This proposal, I feel, comes at just the right time for it to have the greatest effect. I hope that it will be acted on promptly.

In the forthcoming Senate elections, members of the student body will be candidates for election to that body on the basis of having had petitions submitted by their friends. That is all well and good. It stands as a measure of the support they can count on.

But it has occurred to me that this petition is the only public move they are required to make in order to be eligible. Also, the petition has space only for names and a few regulations. Nowhere on it can be found a succinct statement of the candidate's reason for desiring election.

How are we to know that the candidate has a worthy ambition in running for election? Does he state his motives anywhere? Is he running for office in order to put into action some constructive ideas he has formulated; or is he running merely for the temporary fame of being a Senate member?

I wish to emphasize here that I consider the present Senate a good one. I speak not from a knowledge of any particular candidate being unworthy for office, but instead in a desire to get the best the campus offers.

I would like to see each candidate submit a prepared statement wherein you may find his views on most of the issues that come up regularly each year. That is, I would like to know what he thinks about smoking, the meals served, the Student Center, the JWSF drive, student activities, and other recurring issues. Also what does he have to offer in the way of improvement? Or does he merely wish to hold office as an added attraction to the Senate.

What would be the results of putting this into effect? I believe we would see a more careful selection of officers. I believe we would witness a little more thought on the part of the candidate before running. And also, we would be able to compare his present views with the one he presents while in office.

Therefore I charge the present Senate to give this matter immediate consideration. Take a cross-section of campus opinion. Find out for sure what the student's wish. Then, if favorable to my proposal, draw up a list of required items to be included in the candidate's committment.

I reaffirm that I write with no feelings of animosity towards anyone; my wish is to insure the election of a good Senate. Will you act?

First off this week congratulations are in order for 'Flying' Jake Handzelek of the basketball squad. Also to all members of this year's edition including manager 'Jumpin' Charlie Towns . . . Apparently Bernie Oriss was practicing not only basketball the other day but also the manly art of thumb bending on Davey Pollock. Also at this time we understand that Howie Kerstetter and Chuck Gross engaged in a new type of self-defense with Kerstetter coming out the winner . . . Tough one to lose, Chuck.

Juniata is now blessed with a new type of society. Namely a harem society. High impotentate is Dick 'Heavy' Myer. In the ranks are Charlie 'Big Time' Williams and Francis 'Chip' Bayley . . . Members of this society include Maggie 'the eyes' Simms, Joan Schwartz, Alma Skinner, Louise Leventry, Jeanne Blend, Joan Hassinger and Elaine Aitkin to mention a few . . . Sherrill 'the Fixer' Edwards will soon qualify to be in one of the lower echelon. We understand that he was demoted after being brought into the society when he did too much fixing.

In a communique direct from high authorities we hear that Skip's will soon be renovated into a second faculty club . . . Mr. Herbert 'Herbie' Miller gave his approval for the job several weeks ago during coffee time there. President Calvert N. Ellis gave his approval after taking count of the number of students there and checking the condition of the interior last week . . . Miss Cochran voiced her opposition to the change after winning a free Blue & Gold Star Special prize there last week . . . Tough one to lose, Miss Cochran.

Wes Diemer, Chairman of Underclassmen, seems to be having a little trouble with the flag and flagpole. When the flag is up, it seems to get stuck up there and when finally does get taken down, it seems to get lost . . . To him we dedicate these few lines.

Oh say can you see
By the dawn's early light
The flag waving in the breeze
Oh say can you see
By the noon's blazing sun
The flag-pole's empty hemp.

Varsity To End Season; Face Indiana Saturday L.V. Here Wednesday

The Juniata College cagers will wind up their most successful season since 1945 with a road trip to Indiana STC Saturday and the home finale with the Flying Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley Wednesday.

Tomorrow the Braves will be out to do a repeat of their 81-69 victory over Indiana in an earlier game played here. The Teacher's have found the going rough, and with only the JC game left on the schedule they sport a losing record. Since this game will bring down the curtain on the Maroon and Gray season, they will undoubtedly try to close out with a win. They line up with big 6-3 Leo Gispanski at center, 6-0 Jack Crossman and 6-2 Harry Danielson at forwards, and 5-9 Joe DeBlase and 5-11 Ron Stutz at at guards. The Indians will counter with the familiar, high-scoring quintet of Handzelek, Pollock, Vanderbush, Froisland, and Kerstetter.

With the arrival of Wednesday, the Braves will end their season by tangling with the highly touted, once beaten Lebanon Valley five on the boards of Memorial Gymnasium. The Dutchmen walloped the relatively inexperienced Indians by a 116-73 count in their last meeting, but since then Juniata has played 14 games and gained considerable floor knowledge. The pressure will all be on LV as they will try to keep the lost colum from advancing to two, and thus attract post-season tournament bids. The men who are assigned to this job include dead-shot 6-2 center Leon Miller, who has made an amazing 64 percent of the shots from the field, sophomores Herb Finkelstein, and Howie Landa both of Philadelphia, junior Lou Sorrentino, and senior Bill Vaught. All five of these players plus co-captain Richie Furda are members of the century club, with Miller leading the way with 245 points, followed by Landa with 237. Lebanon Valley is topped only by tiny Rio Grande in the team total of percentage of shots made, having a soaring 49.2 percent.

The Indians will try to disprove the records by using their superior height in the form of Walt Vanderbush and Herb Halkovich while Pollock and Handzelek try to raise the score from afield.

Coach Bill Smaltz has announced that baseball practice will begin Thursday, March 5 at 3 p. m. in the Memorial Gymnasium. All those interested are asked to turn out at that time.

JVs Cop Two; Rally To Down F & M Juniors

The JV's picked up two more wins during the past week to bring their season's record to ten and five.

The little Indians downed the Dickinson JV's 74-48 in a fairly one-sided, but hard fought battle. The count at the end of the first canto was a one point margin for Juniata, 18-17. However the little Braves pulled away in the second period to a 42-24 edge. The second half was a close scoring battle, but the 20 point edge was maintained. Oriss led the scorers with 19 while Hallman abetted the cause with 14.

The second victory for the JV's took place here Tuesday night against the F & M JV's by a close 73-69 count. The invaders lead throughout the contest, and soon after the start of the final period the locals trailed by 12 points. But the Junior Tribe, led by O'Brien, rallied to post a 27-15 final quarter margin. O'Brien led the Smaltzmen with 25, while Golden chimed in with 15.

by John Richman

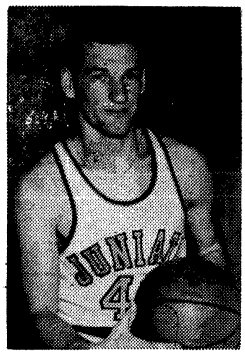
As the men's intramural race enters the final two weeks, it shapes up as a three team contest. At the present time three teams, the McKees Creek, the FM&M and the Hillboffers are in a virtual tie for first place, each team having suffered only a single setback. Actually the FM&M are on top by virtue of their one additional victory.

Although they have one less game to play than either of their two rivals, the FM&M have what appears to be the roughest schedule left. In their remaining games the men of Hooch Hoover must play the Aces, the Y. H. O.'s and McKees Creek. While the Aces should not give them much trouble, they will probably have their hands full with the other two. The Y. H. O. 's are an up and down team which at times are capable of playing some of the best ball in the league. Although they were walloped by the Hillboffers, the Y. H. O.'s came back to hand the Creekers their only defeat. The duel between the Hoovermen and the Creeks should be one of the best matches of the season, with the loser probably being eliminated from the race.

On the other hand the Hillboffers have what seems to be, comparatively, the easiest remaining games. Accordingly they have an inside track to the title. Remaining on their schedule are the A. F. U., the Turks, the Cyranaics and the Maulers. Of these, the Maulers stand the best bet of dumping the Boffers, and any way it goes it should be a close contest.

Three of their four remaining games the Creeks face tough opponents. Either the Blivits, the F. S. & C. or the FM&M could send the Creeks down to defeat, although the Cyrenaics should not present much of a problem.

Handzelek Breaks Record



Jake Handzelek—Tops 400 Mark

Jake Handzelek, Juniata's all time scoring leader, brought his year's total to 418 points with a 18 point scoring splurge against Westminster here last night. Having eclipsed the previous standard of 353 set by Dick Wareham in the 1944-45 season, each point that Jake scores now is a new Juniata record.

Juniata's all time scoring leaders:

Player	Season	Pts.	Ave.
J. Handzelek	1952-53	418	23.2
D. Wareham	1944-45	353	17.7
H. Eisenhart	1943-44	312	14.8
D. Pollock	1951-52	204	16.9

JC Girls Compete In Sports Day At State

Saturday, Feb. 21, twenty JC co-eds participated in the annual Winter Sports Day at Penn State College. They competed against teams from Lock Haven, Mansfield, Lycoming, Bucknell, and Penn State in such events as basketball, bowling, badminton and swimming.

The first events of the afternoon were basketball games. Each team was scheduled to play two games, each an half-hour long. The girls from JC defeated Mansfield State Teachers College by a score of 24-12, then lost a close, fast game to Penn State, 19-13. Joyce Gibbel walked away with the scoring honors with a total of 20 points; others of the team were Janet Cline, Nancy Vaughn, Doreen Fyock, Nancy Blanck, Kass Keeler, Rainy Linn, Joan Walker and Janet Wiltshire.

While the basketball games were being decided, Lee Englehart and Dot Taylor were representing Juniata in the bowling contests. Lee's high score of 145 helped JC to place second behind Penn State.

As a sort of breather between events, a class in Modern Dance was supervised by a Penn State instructor. May Ikeda and Alma Skinner entered this exhibition of technique, practice and work in composition.

In the badminton tournaments, a doubles team composed of Jean Beck and Louise Gehman lost to Mansfield and Lock Haven.

Perhaps the most exciting events of the Sports Day were the swimming events, even though the Juniata team did not fare so well. There is a great rivalry here between Bucknell and Penn State and Saturday a well-drilled, very determined team from Bucknell squeezed by an equally good team from Penn State to win by a score of 28-27. Polly Fowler, Sue Jamison, Mikey Mick, and Kitty Underkoffer represented Juniata in the various races and relays.

After a swim in the pool the girls were treated to dinner in the game room of White Hall and then returned home.

F&M Height Subdues Scrappy Indians 79-58

by Ted McGwire

The Diplomats of Franklin and Marshall won their seventh game in a row Tuesday night in the Memorial Gym when they dumped the Juniata Indians 79-58. The visitors went home sporting a record of 13 wins and four defeats as compared to the nine-eight record of the Braves.

The fighting spirit and aggressive floorplay of Juniata, playing without the services of Captain Dave Pollock, who suffered an injury in Monday's practice, was not enough to cope with the smooth ball handling and deadly shooting exhibited by F and M. Within seconds after the whistle, the Dips jumped to a two point lead and were headed only once throughout the contest.

Scoring honors for the evening again went to Jake Handzelek who hit the nets for 24 points. Next in line was Walt Vanderbush who threw in eight field goals for a total of 16 points. Fighting all the way, Howie Kerstetter and Bernie Oriss copped seven and six respectively to further aid the cause.

Playing heads-up ball under the boards, Chuck Gross hit for two and Torry Froisland hit for one. George O'Brien, who scored 25 points in the JV game, also collected two for the varsity.

The Tribe was outscored in every period but the final one. The end of the first stanza found the Indians behind by seven points, 22-15, and the buzzer ten minutes later found them trailing 40-23. Still fighting but still unable to stop the F and M offense, the Indians found themselves further behind after the third chapter, 66-45. Points-wise, the last canto was an even-steven affair, each team collecting 13.

The scoring for F and M was headed by Walter Lenz who netted 23, closely followed by Carson Lovett with 22 points. Capping six field goals and two fouls for 14 points was Lee Pitock.

Braves Down D-son While Jake Scores 35

The Juniata Braves knocked off a tall Dickinson College quintet last Saturday night at Carlisle by a score of 77-66, as Jake Handzelek broke the all time Juniata College scoring record by netting 35 points. Also aiding the Indian cause were Dave Pollock with 18 and Walt Vanderbush with ten.

After a nip and tuck first quarter in which the lead changed hands five times, the Tribe pulled up to a six point edge at halftime. Soon after the intermission, the Red Devils pulled up to within two points midway in the third quarter. The Braves rallied, however, to maintain a five point bulge at the quarter.

The final canto found the Indians holding the Devils to nine points by use of good ball handling as well as freezing tactics. In this same period the Braves were dunking 15 points.

The Devils were led both in scoring and in rebounds by Yohe, who sank 29 singletons. The Devils controlled the Juniata backboard during the first half, but fell behind in sinking only a very low percentage of their shots.

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

A tint of red, which seems to have become a very disagreeable color, is now being placed upon America's vast education system. The nation's top Communist hunters, Senator Pat McCarran, Joe M Carthey and Senator Edward Jenner, along with Congressman Harold Velde, radicals in their own methods of operation have now turned their attack on the instructors in our colleges and universities.

Over a week has passed since Congress formally began the investigations which threaten to develop into a full scale battle. McCarran's Internal Security Subcommittee, with the support of the American Legion, has been making some rather vast charges. A certain Miss Dodd who testified as an excommunist before his committee said that there were still red organizations operating on the campuses of Harvard, Chicago, Northwestern, Minnesota, Wellesley, Columbia, Long Island, Vassar, Smith, MIT, New York, and Howard universities.

Although I have little time for the Communist party in the United States, I have always hesitated to indoctrine the policies of action employed by these superpatriots. The fact remains however if there are subversives in the collegiate family they ought to be pointed out. Certainly the course of action seems to be somewhat doubtful but the eventualities appear to have justification.

In a recent poll of college students conducted by the Associated Collegiate Press it was found that 85 per cent answered no to the question "Do you think avowed Communist party members should be allowed on college faculties?" From this rather light sampling of opinion, which seems to coincide with popular American opinion, there is a need to rid our faculty of subversives.

But we don't have to employ such crude methods of discrediting the entire education profession. Many instructors have refused to answer more on principle than for any other reason. Quite frequently a former Communist Party member is afraid to answer for fear of losing his job. Here is the point where I believe we can profit by others mistakes.

The people who have belonged to the movement and then clearly broke allegiance ought to be allowed to remain at their posts for the purpose of teaching the subject from a duplex point of view. Surely it wouldn't hurt college students to get a clear insight into one of our most pressing problems.

Debate Team Wins 2 In State Tournament

A four member team comprised of Robert Bailey and Galen Frysinger, affirmative, and Ronald Cherry and Joanne Pentz, negative, accompanied by the Club's faculty advisor Miss Miriam Dickey, traveled to Lehigh University in order to compete in the State Forensic Tournament this past weekend. The team engaged in nine debates winning two.

This Saturday another team will travel to Pittsburgh to compete in the Mt. Mercy Invitational Tournament.

Navy Officers Here Tuesday

Officers from the Naval Procurement Office in Pittsburgh will be on campus Tuesday, from 2 p. m. until 4:30 p. m. They will be available in the Social Rooms for anybody desiring information on the opportunities of becoming an Naval Officer.

Both men and women are requested to talk to the naval personal if they are interested in a Naval career.

Winners Listed For Ad Contest

The results of the Blue and Gold Star Special advertising contest sponsored by the Juniatian Business staff in cooperation with local merchants in last week's issue have been announced.

Paul Good, business manager states that interest in the project ran high in the eyes of both the students and merchants. Temporary arrangements call for a repeat of the contest in the next three or four weeks. The same system of matching numbers in the paper and in store windows will be employed.

College To Offer 2 Summer Sessions

Dean Morley Mays has announced that plans are being organized to hold a ten week summer school program. The classes will begin June 1 and continue in two five week periods. The courses offered will be the ones that attracted the most student interest in the recent poll conducted by the Registrar's Office. Announcement of the courses offered will be made in the near future.

Student Center To Get Under Way Today 1:30

The Juniatian

Vol. 29—No. 20 Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. Monday, March 2, 1953

Center To Keep Account Of Own Finances; Decision On Profits To Rest With Senate

When Juniata guys and dolls refer to the Student Center as our Student Center, they will certainly be speaking the truth. Not only are we the students helping to build the Center; not only do we plan to run the Center after it is completed; but Chairman Russ Hill has announced that the Center will be self-contained, for the Center will keep account of its finances in a separate set of books and will be charged separately for all service facilities, such as water, electricity and heat.

The Center will be the social gathering place of the students, for the snack bar, the College book store, and the College post office will be located there. Students will also be able to purchase knick-knacks of college life, cosmetics, and toilet articles in our new Student Center. It is expected that the Center should realize a profit of about three thousand dollars per year from these various activities.

Decisions involving the disposition of the profits will lie in the hands of the Student Senate. For example, when the Center expands, the Senate will have the say-so concerning renovation; or perhaps at some future date we would like to refurnish the social rooms, this would provide the money to go ahead on such a project. However, a certain percentage of each year's profits will be used to amortize the money directly invested in the Center by the College, expected to amount to fifteen thousand dollars.

To the five thousand dollar goal of the students will be credited such things as industrial gifts and contributions by the parents of the students. Almuni contributions, above and beyond the total received by the College last year, will be turned over directly to the Student Center, and will not be included in the debt.

The Center will be managed by a committee of three, composed of the full time manager of the Center, the College Treasurer, and a student selected by the Senate. This committee of three will decide the day-to-day policy of the center. A customs committee appointed by the Senate shall represent the student body in all matters pertaining to the use of the Center by the students.

Work Plan Set For Students

Actual work on the Student Center will begin today at 1:30 p. m. All afternoon classes and labs have been cancelled by the President so that students may work on the project.

The legislative body which has been making the majority of the decisions concerning the center has coined the name well known to most of us—The Student Center Committee. This organization is actually a combination of groups of students, each group having a specific function.

The work committee, headed by John Dale, is ready to go into action immediately, providing student labor wherever and whenever necessary. In order to achieve this aim, a system has been set up whereby every willing JC student will be cataloged in a file according to his or her abilities in construction work.

Questionnaire Given

By Tuesday evening a questionnaire will have been distributed to everyone on and off campus. Included on this questionnaire will be a section where the prospective student laborer can list his special skills in various types of work. Also, the questionnaire will include spaces for information concerning the hours of the week which the student will be willing to donate to the construction project.

One may ask, "What type of labor will I be expected to don-

Although the need for a student center has existed for many years and although the problems stemming from the lack of one had often been discussed, it was not until the spring of 1952 that wheels really began to turn.

The idea itself originated in the minds of Jack Claus, Bill Wright and some of the men living in the Lodge. They brought their plans before the Student Senate. A lack of interest, however, on the part of the Senate and some of those behind the drive doomed the center to temporary failure.

The plan was then presented at Leadership Conference and this time received a much more enthusiastic backing. A resolution was passed to form a committee, headed by Russ Hill, to look into the existing possibilities.

The next step in the development of the Student Union was a meeting among Harold Brumbaugh, Jo Pentz and Russ Hill. It was here decided to present the idea to the Board of Trustees.

THE FINISHED CENTER—This is a plan of the interior as it will look when it is finished. The top of the picture represents the side of the gym nearest the tennis courts. In the lower right hand corner will be an entrance which will lead into the bookstore. The interior of the bookstore is shown in another picture on page two. In the upper right hand corner is the stock and supply room. Along the upper edge is the fountain to be built on the order of a cafeteria with a central cashier at the end. In the upper right is the main entrance to the Center with the post office to be located near the entrance. The main lounge is at the lower left with tables and chairs for eating and relaxation purposes. The center of the picture shows the dance floor with tables which can be removed to give a larger area for dancing. Along the bookstore edge will be located permanent seats.

3 Committees To Coordinate Work On Center

Originally there was only one committee working for the Student Center. This consisted of Jo Pentz, Russ Hill, John Dale, Bob Bridenbaugh, Kass Keeler, John Yates, Bill Brumbaugh, Allegra Forney, Dave Bayer, Sue Jamison, Helen Rosengren, Rem Grove, Jim Holsopple, and Bob Wagoner. This has since dissolved into three main committees—the Work Committee, Women's League Committee, and the Alumni and Parents Committee.

The Work Committee is under the supervision of John Dale. Virginia Yohn is first lieutenant, who as head of the Women's House Committee, will take charge of the women's dormitory. In the Lodge John Yates, president of the Freshman class, is head, and in the Cloisters one man on each hall is working under the direction of John Dale.

The Women's League Committee, whose purpose is to work with the Women's League and raise money, is under the direction of Allegra Forney and Jo Pentz. The Women's League has made many contributions to the college including the college entrance. Working with the Masque, a group would take a road show to the various communities around which the Leagues are centered and thereby raise funds. This subject has been broached to Mrs. Yoder, president of the League, who has promised to meet the executives of the League to approve the proposal.

The Alumni and Parents Committee is under Dottie Taylor and Bob Wagoner. Their job is to send out three letters to the alumni telling what the Student Center is and asking for contributions.

ate?" The answer—anything from operating a jack hammer to pouring concrete or laying electrical cables. For the girls there will be a multitude of jobs—including advertising, record keeping and light labor.

A public address system, coupled with a phonograph is going to be set up at the work site in order to make the conditions as pleasant as possible. It is planned to divide the working day into blocks of two hours each.

Time Schedule Listed

Everyday except Saturday and Sunday work will begin at 1:30 p. m. and continue until 5:30. After dinner work will be resumed at 7 p. m. and will continue until 10 o'clock.

Saturday's schedule will be reversed slightly due to activities which usually occur on Saturday night and to the change in meal times on that day.

It is hoped that each student will be able to contribute at least two or three blocks of work per week. In addition, a record of each person's time spent on the job will be accurately kept by a recording secretary.

Working Lieutenants

Work lieutenants have been assigned to stimulate and control the activity of the student workmen. There are four work lieutenants in the Lodge: Carl Trimber, Harry Garber, Francis Bayley and Bill Shull. John Dale heads the lieutenants in Cloisters and Bill Collins and Howie Kerstetter are in charge of the men living in private homes.

The women's house committee has been assigned to organize the women into a work group.

During the mid-terms students cannot be expected to devote their time to construction. The work committee expects to have the majority of the demolition, with which the students will help greatly, done before mid-terms.

Specialized Crew

At that time a specialized crew will be brought to campus to begin the work in which student labor will be at a minimum.

Planning from the start has included student labor as a necessity for the completion of the Center.

In order to get this 'Operation Cooperation' off to a good start, the President has released all of those who normally would have labs or classes today so that they too can work on the project.

Smoking Discussed By Pres., Chairman

In regard to the issue of smoking in the Student Center, the following letter was submitted to President Ellis early in February:

Dear President Ellis:

One of the issues that must be met in the creation of a student center is the problem of men and women smoking. This is a paramount issue in the minds of the students, and we, the members of the Student Center Committee, are led to believe that this problem must be resolved if we are to have the unreserved cooperation of the majority of students on campus. Therefore, we recommend that a definite administrative policy concerning this issue be made known.

I would like to take this opportunity to present our point of view concerning smoking. Firstly, we do not want our center to be another stale-smelling hangout immersed in a foul "blue haze." The unique air-conditioning system which is planned for the center however, precludes this possibility; the air in the center will be completely changed six times each hour.

A second consideration is financial. If smoking is allowed, the center will be assured of reasonable financial success. If not, student patronage will be split unequally between the center and nearby establishments, and the center may hope, at best, to operate only at cost.

Lastly, there is no place on campus where girls are permitted to smoke. Consquently, they must leave campus to smoke under conditions which are sometimes undesirable. We feel that the college would be wise to recognize girls' smoking and provide a place on campus under college supervision where girls may smoke in an acceptable atmosphere.

If the objections to smoking can be reasonably overcome, we can see numerous definite advantages which would follow, other than those which I have enumerated. The student center was envisioned as a campus gathering place, where all would want to go. We hope through its creation to lay a foundation for de-emphasis of cliques by drawing them together and centering their interest around a common meeting place. If smoking were not allowed, a sizeable group—probably a majority of the students—would be alienated from the center, and group boundaries would become even more pronounced. This is something that we definitely and emphatically wish to avoid.

We hope you will give this problem your prompt and serious consideration, and inform us of your decision.

Sincerely,
Russell Hill, Chairman
Student Center Committee

When interviewed last week, Dr. Ellis enumerated other points of view with respect to the problem of smoking in the new student center. "Many parents of students, especially girls," he said, "disapprove of their children smoking, and one of the reasons that they are in attendance at this institution is that we have traditionally concurred in this point of view." Dr. Ellis stated that he appreciates and realizes the positions of both smokers and non-smokers on campus, but he declined to commit himself further on this issue at the present time.

The Juniatian

Entered as second class matter at the Huntingdon, Pa., post office, this is an independent undergraduate newspaper published weekly throughout the College year except during vacation and examination periods by the Students of Juniata College.

The Juniatian is serviced by Associated Collegiate Press and is represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service.

Comm. Publishes Issue

Today's special issue of the Juniatian was published by a committee consisting of members of the Juniatian staff and of the Student Center Committee.

Those participating were Jeanie Tait, editor; Russ Hill, chairman of the center; Rae Bamforth, Blynn Garnett, Paul Good, Fred Heydrick, Pat Morris, Dick Myer, John Richman, Everet Wills, and John Yates.

All photos in this issue are by Bill Garrison.

History —

At the end of World War II, the planning commission of the Board of Trustees had planned to build a combination dining hall and student center but was deterred by the high cost of materials. The plan was then proposed to build a recreation area in Brumbaugh Hall but nothing was ever done. The trustees, realizing the necessity of a center, acted favorably and authorized an architect to draw up preliminary plans and approximate the cost. The old gym was chosen as the site of the center. Through the effort of Mr. John Fike, Mr. White, an interior decorator from New York, was engaged.

Construction Authorized

At the meeting of the Alumni Council at Homecoming, the plans for a student center were presented by Hill and Miss Pentz and were received with much enthusiasm. The executive committee then granted the students the use of the alumni mail during the second semester. At the November meeting of the Board, the trustees authorized the construction of the Center and the amount of money to be spent.

From that point till the present month, work was carried on behind the scenes. During the semester vacation, a committee of John Dale, Bob Bridenbaugh, Russ Hill and Dr. Kenneth Crosby traveled to Wilmington College, Ohio, to inspect some work done there by student labor. They returned with a report to the effect that student labor could be sucessfully utilized.

Alumni To Get Center Letters

Plans have been made to send brochures concerning the Student Center to the alumni. Three of these, following a definite sequence, will be sent—the first two before spring vacation and the final at the end of April or beginning of May.

These brochures will emphasize the fact that the Student Center is a student project. One will contain a line drawing of the Center's floor plan. All three will have similar letter heads, so that the alumni will recognize that the folders pertain to the Center.

The first folder will dwell on the need for a Student Center. The four points to be emphasized are Juniata's high academic rating, the extra-curricular activities program, religious activities, and the need for a fuller social life.

The last two letters will keep the alumni up to date on the program.

Similar letters and folders will be sent to all parents.

The mailing program is being directed by Bob Wagoner, Dott Taylor and Russ Hill. Harold Brumbaugh is their adviser and G. W. Young of Dayton, Ohio, is their public relations adviser.

Tools Donated By Construction Co.

With the work of the Student Center moving from the drawing board stage to actual reality, the need for equipment loomed as an ominous threat to the Center's completion.

However through the donations of the Anderson Construction Company and the New Enterprise Stone and Lime Company, the use of such tools as a highlift, air hammers, sledge hammers, crow bars, wrecking bars and many other smaller tools has been assured. The rest of the necessary equipment has already been purchased by the administration.

Mr. Dale Detwiler, official of the New Enterprise Stone and Lime Company, also has indicated that two employees, Guy McManus and Robert Oner, have donated their afternoons and evenings in order to serve as foreman and construction foreman of the project.

The largest piece of equipment that will be used is a highlift, which will be employed as a means of removing the broken-up concrete flooring and walls and a six-inch layer of top soil. It has been planned that a section of the gym wall will be removed to allow the highlift to operate freely in carrying the concrete and earth from the gym basement to the waiting trucks.

Outside the operation of this machine, the rest of the equipment from airhammer to shovels will be handled by students. A recent poll has shown that many students have had experience in the operation of these tools.

Faculty To Assist In Building Center

A special invitation has been sent to all the faculty members to come out and participate in the erection of the new student center.

Dr. Binkley, who assisted in the designing and lighting of Oller Hall, will be 'jack-of-all-trades' from carpenter to brick-layer. Dr. Rockwell and Coach Smaltz have built their own homes and will give their assistance in the building project. Dr. Crosby is known for his carpentry work. The work being conducted by the Women's Work Project in Europe of cleaning up the rubble of war has been observed first-hand by both Mrs. Crosby and Miss Benjamin.

Monday the faculty will be the leaders of the student work.

The Juniatian

Vol. 29—No. 21 | Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. | Friday, March 6, 1953

Six To Campaign For Veep, Treas.

In the running for Senate vice-president are Bob Bridenbaugh, Ron Clapper, Dick Myer and Wilfred Norris.

Bridenbaugh

Bridenbaugh is a math major hailing from Martinsburg. At present he is vice-president of the junior class, vice-president of the FTA and assistant manager of the baseball team. He served as reporter and contributing editor of the Juniatian staff and appeared in the junior All-Class Night skit.

Myer Norris

A native of Altoona, Clapper played varsity football for three years and is active in intramural sports. He is concentrating in business administration.

Myer, a business major from Lebanon, is secretary-treasurer of the Tycoon Club, advertising manager of the Juniatian, and a member of the business staff of the Alfarata. He is also manager of the track team.

A chemistry major from Ambler, Norris is vice-president of the Masque, played the leading role in "Romeo and Juliet" and is now appearing in "The Importance of Being Earnest." His is a member of the JCA, chemistry club and track team.

Fahrney Hackman

Candidates for Central Treasurer are Bob Fahrney and Lowell Hackman.

Fahrney, a business major from Harrisburg, is a member of the Tycoon Club, Juniatian business staff and Outing Club. He is on the golf team and is active in intramurals.

A business and math major from Philadelphia, Hackman is president of the Camera Club and plays in intramural sports.

GIQ Contest Tues.

Don't forget the General Information Contest Tuesday in the Library from 4 to 5:30 p. m.

The lucky winner will receive $15 and the runner-up $10.

The written test will be based upon knowledge of social studies, current events, arts and languages and natural sciences. All questions were approved by a faculty committee appointed by President Ellis.

Sub - Frosh Conf. Set For Tonight

A change is the sub-freshman career conferences has been announced by Joyce Mullan and Peggy Brumbaugh, co-chairmen. The visitors will arrive Friday afternoon in order to see an evening performance of "The Importance of Being Earnest."

A definite schedule will be followed by the guests. Friday afternoon is set aside to register the sub-frosh. Following the evening meal in the dining hall, they will attend the Masque Play. Saturday morning will be spent attending various classes with students.

After the noon meal, Dean James Penney will talk to the group in Swigart Hall. Following this three will be a student led tour of the campus after which is scheduled a conference period from 2 to 4 p. m. with department heads. Before supper there will be an informal tea in the Social Rooms.

This weekend, Bedford, Palton, Chester, Beaver, Orbisonia, Dover, Delaware, Port Royal, Tarentum, Curwensville, Flemington, N. J., will be represented by the sub-freshmen visitors.

Senate Discusses Center Management

At the regular Senate meeting last Wednesday, it was decided that the Student Center will come under the duties of the Chairman of Social Activities.

Along with the manager of the Center and the College Treasurer, the Chairman of Social Activities will decide the day-to-day policies of the Center.

JWSF Funds Reach 1350 Mark; 1 Week Remains

A preliminary tally taken last Wednesday afternoon of JWSF receipts by chairman Jack Freymuller indicates that campus response has been very slow to the drive. Officially ending the 28th of February, the drive was held over to allow for end-of-the-month shortage of funds among the students and faculty.

Of the drive goal of $1953, approximately $1350 has been received in the form of cash and pledges. One week remains for the collection of additional funds. The shortage is expected to be met by collections from solicitors who were unprepared to report and from contributions from friends of the college.

Funds Listed

A break-down of the accumulated funds show that the students have contributed approximately $375 in cash and $268 in pledges; the faculty, $115 in cash and $13 in pledges; the administration and staff, $109 in cash and $12 in pledges; clubs, $115 in cash and friends of the College have contributed $60.

The drive began with $274 in the chest coming from the Fall production, "My Maryland"; this is added to the above total.

Pledges Due

Chairman Freymuller states that he is issuing instructions to his solicitors to attend to the collection of pledge monies in order that the drive may be wound up as soon as possible. In this respect he urged all who have pledged to the drive to contact their solicitor promptly.

Freymuller pointed out that this year's campaign began with a potential deficit of about $450 due to the fact that the "no desserts" policy of last year's drive netted $180 for the drive and "Naughty Marietta" netted about $565. He added that he believed with additional campus response the deficit could be overcome.

Mid-Term To End Mar. 18; Grades Issued Mar. 26

It's almost that time of year again. Yes, mid-terms are coming up. The mid-term period ends on Mar. 18 and the grades are due in the Registrar's Office by Mar. 23 so that they may be issued by Mar. 26.

Polls To Open 7:45

Polls for Senate elections will be open Monday at 7:45 a. m. in front of Students Hall. They will remain open until 2 p. m. with time out for chapel and lunch. In case of rain, the voting table will be located on Students Porch. After dinner from 6:45 to 7:30 students may vote in Founders Lobby.

Alumni To Meet; See Play Thurs.

Annually the Huntingdon County Alumni Association meets at the college for a dinner-meeting. This year the officers selected the Masque arena play for their meeting. March 12 has been chosen as the date of the dinner-theatre-party. Held in the college dining hall at 7 o'clock the dinner will be presided over by Dr. Frederick Steele, Class of '30.

Of the one hundred and fifty attending the following are the officers: Dr. Frederick Steele, president; Mrs. Helen Hess Mierly, 1st vice-president; Walter Rumberger, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Clayton Pheasant, secretary; and Mrs. Martha Fleming, treasurer.

Immediately following the dinner the group will go to Oller Hall to attend the Masque play "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Students Plan Lent Programs

Morning Lenten Services are being sponsored by the JCA every Monday and Thursday from 7:30 to 7:55 in the Stone Church from now until Easter.

Monday Neil Albright will be the devotional leader and music will be provided by the Harmonettes—Jean Baker, Allegra Forney and Doris Markey.

Thursday's service will be conducted by Ron Morgan and a trio composed of Naomi Kulp, Dorcas Mertz and Sue Mullendore will sing.

Organists for the devotions are Bill Weyandt, Sylvia Shuler and Vada Jean Roof in alternating weeks.

General chairman of the Lenten Devotions is Jeanne Blend. A committee consisting of Ron Morgan, Pat Henry, Elaine Aitken, Clem Rosenberger and Janet Claycombe are planning and organizing the programs.

8 Compete For Pres., Sec. Jobs

The top four Senate officers will be elected Monday from a slate of 14 junior candidates. Run-offs will be held Tuesday.

Competing for the office of president are John Dale, Tony D'Eustachio, Ben Newcomer, Bernard Petrusky and Dagmar Silldorff.

Dale D'Eustachio

Dale is a mathematics major Curwensville. He is chairman of the work committee for the Student Center, a member of the Underclass Committee and sports co-editor of the Juniatian. He attended Leadership Conference last year as a delegate from the class of '54.

Hailing from Beverly, N. J., D'Eustachio is concentrating in biology and plans a career as a physician. He was a member of the track team in his freshman year.

Newcomer, a math major from Uniontown, is treasurer of the junior class, manager of the A Cappella Choir, and secretary of the FTA. He is a member of the Varsity Quartet, sang the male lead in the operetta "My Maryland," and appeared in several All-Class Night skits.

Newcomer

Coming from Brisbin is Petrusky, a history major. He is vice-president of the IRC, served as technical manager of the Masque and May Day Chairman. He was stage manager of "Romeo and Juliet" and set construction chairman for "Naughty Marietta."

Rounding out the list of presidential candidates is Dagmar Silldorff from Lebanon. A sociology major, Miss Silldorff has been secretary of her class for three years. She is a member of the Scout staff and served as a Juniatian reporter.

Petrusky Silldorff

Yours — For Better Or Worse

by Everet Wills

"The Importance of Being Earnest" was far more successful as an arean production that it could possibly have been had it been staged in the conventional manner, and Wilde's scintillating wit from the mouths of the Masquers is as ludicrously effective today as it must originally have been in the gay nineties.

The houselights dimmed and the curtain closed on Wednesday night for the opening performance of "The Importance of Being Earnest" presented by the Masquers of Juniata College in Oller Hall. The curtain was closed because this was an arena, or theater-in-the-round, production. The audience was seated in tiers at the rear and sides of the stage, and on a row of seats directly behind the curtain at the front, with the set situated in the center of the stage.

This work of Oscar Wilde's, written in 1894, although considered by some inferior to "Salome," is generally regarded as his best. A comedy of manners of the Victorian era, "a trivial comedy for serious people," it concerns basically the romances of two prim young ladies who are determined to marry men named Ernest.

The casting was extraordinarily fortunate; each character was adapted perfectly to his part in speech, mannerisms, and dress.

Mr. Worthing, capably handled by George Blechschmidt, who is known as Jack on his country estate and as Ernest in London society, is passionately enamoured of Gwendolen, who was beautifully portrayed to the last delicate flick of a finger by Helen Rosengren, proposes marriage and is accepted by his ideal because his name to her, in grand Victorian style, "produces vibrations." Their plans are thwarted by Gwendolen's domineering mother, Lady Bracknell, when she discovers that Ernest knows nothing of his family background and was a foundling in a handbag in a railroad station. As Lady Bracknell, Phyllis Link effected a marvellous transformation in both voice and mannerisms from a college girl to an egocentric, primpy, middle-aged dowager.

For Entertaining Music — The Harmonettes

by Alma Skinner

The Harmonettes, a delightful combination of sweet harmony and pretty faces, has given pleasure both here on campus and elsewhere. The girls began singing together last year.

These three sophomore girls who have joined together to make music are Jean Baker, a music major from Waterside, Allegra Forney, music major from Martinsburg, and Doris Markey, an elementary education major from Johnstown. Jean sings first soprano, Allegra sings second soprano, and Doris is their alto.

Here at Juniata, the trio has sung for religious services, at dances, and in chapel. Off campus, they have provided musical entertainment for women's clubs, Rotary Clubs, Lions' Clubs, the Agricultural Extension Association, and various church services in Huntingdon, Bedford, Martinsbur, Hollidaysburg and many other towns in this vicinity.

Make Your Choice A Good One

For almost a week now, you've been exposed to political campaigning on the part of 14 candidates for the top Senate offices. You've looked at posters, at pictures, at banners, and all the other endless publicity tricks dreamed up. You probably have a pretty good idea who the candidates are and which one you'll vote for. But have you ever stopped to think what will happen Move-Up Day, Mar. 27, when the new Senate takes office.

This Senate, for one year, will have pretty much of a say on what happens to you and to Juniata. Among other duties, it will determine student policies and programs, it will authorize fund raising campaigns, it will approve appointments—all of which concern you. It will be your Senate to represent you, to present your viewpoints, to listen and try to correct your grievances.

Once in office, the top four Senators have as their duties the following:

The president's main objective is the coordination of the various interests of the student body, faculty and administration. He must convey the opinions of the student to their elected representatives, conduct all meetings, appoint all committees and vote in order to break a tie. The president should guide meetings so that both sides of an issue can be aired.

The Senate vice-presidency is a job for an able organizer for he must organize all student elections, plan Leadership Conference, keep tabs on all club organizations and administer the Foreign Students Aid Fund. In addition, he coordinates class activities and presides over meetings when the president is absent.

Shorthand and typing will stand the secretary in good stead for she must keep the minutes of all Senate sessions. Writing and typing letters, sending out agendas prior to meetings, and putting Leadership Conference resolutions in final form are her additional duties.

Not only does the Senate treasurer handle Senate funds, but he serves as central treasurer for all clubs and organizations on campus. For that reason he must be approved by the president and the heads of the business department. He prepares the Senate budget and advises in all financial matters. A knowledge of accounting and bookkeeping is prerequisite for the position.

When you make that X on your ballot, be sure that the Senators you're electing can represent you and can fulfill effectively their duties. Forget all about the noise of political battle that's been going on. Forget your personal likes and dislikes. There's more to electing a Senator that the fact that he's a real guy or she's cute or he had the most posters and she had the most unique publicity. There's more than the fact that he's a big basketball hero or she dates a lot, or he goes with your roommate or she's at Skip's all the time. These are people filling positions of responsibility, making decisions that will affect you, representing you. Give the college and yourself a decent break. Elect people who can and who will do their duty to their positions, to Juniata and to you.

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

Each year as the winter weather receeds into the memory and the young mans fancy is suppose to turn to what the girls have been thinking about all winter. Juniata's campus becomes the scene of feverish political campaigning. The annual election campaign for the Student Senate offices take place in March of each year with a great deal of interest on the part of the student body.

This year that time has come again but with the change in the weather not only these seasonal changes have taken place on our campus. Something new has been added to spice the scene. A building project, the fourth one since the war, but unique in that this one is a student project. An operation so vast and new in idea that many people still don't believe that it really has a chance of successful completion.

As the blisters on the hands of many of you can prove I am talking about the Student Center and the word Student should be underlined. The actual work on the Union began on Monday amid the roar of publicity and enthusiasm that was rewarding to the planners if not a bit surprising. Enough students turned out to demolish most any building let alone just the basement of our old gym but although work was done at a terrific pace cooperation was at such a high level that a tremendous amount of work was completed.

Many of us took for poppycock the advertising items tossed at us in the pre-work campaign. Such things as association with other students will be rewarding; friendship will flourish; cooperation will be improved and you all will have a good time but I will venture to say that those who have turned out for the early jobs have experienced just these results. I think that professional wreckers could not have done a much more effective job on the basement.

Probably one of the most rewarding sights in the eyes of the students is the turn out of faculty members for the relay work. Indeed many of them did as much work as many of us. I am quite sure that none of us well ever forget some of the appearances of our down to earth faculty when they emerged from the dusty cellar. Nor will they be prone to admit that they didn't enjoy themselves quite a bit.

We will soon be starting the second week of operations on our project and continued student support is needed for every day. The same people can not do all the work everyday so lets turn out in full force and climax a lot of hard work with a Student Center that will be award enough when we receive its benefits.

Paid Political Advertisement

John Dale, one of Juniata's more active students, has shown in his three years on College Hill his ability in the field of leadership. Heretofore John has preferred to work behind the scenes in many of his undertakings but now this experienced junior has determined to become the candidate for good government by throwing his hat into the ring for Senate President.

Dale

One of the few people on campus who has remained aloof from cliques and special interest groups, John has his ear turned toward the improvement of the student welfare. In all of his undertakings he has shown that he has both the ability and determination to see all that he undertakes through to a successful conclusion.

Capable, approachable, and congenial, John Dale will be the people's choice for good government.

Moore Melodies

Anon

This week's "melodies" are going to sound to some people a little out of tune. Well, maybe they have a tin ear. Anyway, let's give it a try.

To start off we'd like to give you a report on some strange and interesting conversations that have been heard on campus this week. This one was heard down in Skips;

Jean Roland: "Say, Mary Ann, where are alligators found?"

Mary Ann Bailey: "Alligators are seldom lost!"

Then Bill Swaim was heard to ask Dean Mays: "Dean, can you explain to me in full detail the exact workings of the Einstein theory of relativity?". The dean replied: "Yes."

And when we passed the telephone booth in the Social Rooms we heard D. D. (Dagmar) Silldorf issuing orders to her subordinates: "You, Peggy, hop in that dilapidated limousine of yours, run down town, and corner every toothpick on the market; Mary Ann, round up the girls. I want these signs stuck in every cream-filled doughnut that goes across the counter at Skips!"

Cheered madly by the rest of the boys, that is, Joe Trimber, Vince Piazza, Gene Biddle, Drexler, Winterstein and the rest, Wes Lingenfelter was seen last Wednesday noon chasing Harold "Goose" Gray over the bushes and through the fences around Science Hall. Maybe Wes was getting his "Christmas goose" early. How 'bout that, Wes?

Nancy McGahan makes this column as "line-jumper" of the Week. We stood in line in the post-office and watched Nancy sidle up to Frank Jarrett: "Uh, Frank.. Uh . . can I..a few stamps..since you're at the head of the line..uh..please?" Frank, you're too soft-hearted!

Saw Betty Lou Smith and Carol Lowdermilk getting ready to go to work at the Student Center site one afternoon last week. They were outside the building flinging bricks around. Guess they were just getting warmed up before they went to work.

Also I watched Gene Felix and Dwight Mischler under the hood of Felix's ancient car. What's the matter, Gene? Did one of the pedals break down. That buggy of your's is beginning to look like that highway hazard that Phil Norris has stashed away over in the parking lot.

For a real treat you ought to listen to Bruce Cloud warble one of his favorite tunes. Just the other day, Bruce was giving a rendering of an ancient ditty entitled, "Fireman, fireman, save my child!" Bruce's voice, which one music critic compared to the love call of a South African mud frog, is to be heard at shower time in the general area of third floor Wing.

CIRCUIT RIDER

Letter From Korea

by JACK FREYMULLER

About two weeks ago President Ellis read a letter in chapel from a former Juniatian, Don Brandt. Don graduated from JC two years ago and entered the armed forces as an enlisted man. The letter he sent was posted from Korea where he is at present serving.

It was a very interesting letter. Don was a good friend of ours. In the course of a year-and-a-half acquaintance we came to appreciate his highly individual viewpoint. For this reason we are reprinting his letter in its entirety. It is a provocative statement of a liberal arts graduate. One who left these very halls. What will your attitude be after graduation?

(Addressed to Dr. Calvert N. Ellis)

Dear Sir,

In the two years since my graduation from Juniata, I have been a member of the United States Air Force. Being an enlisted man, I have had excellent opportunity to observe the attitudes and opinions of the average American serviceman. I have been in Korea for almost three months, after three months duty in Japan, and I'm becoming increasingly appalled by the contemptuous dogma too many Americans are voicing here in the far East.

Their collective attitude is more than cynical; it's a cynicism made bitter with the sort of totalitarian principles our system professes to condemn. Their refusal to grant any qualities of nobility to these unfortunate people, combined with the exercise of countless and nauseating prejudices, does little to encourage the Koreans in their opinions of democracy. It also causes many of us to hear with amazement the proposals they have for race relations, and allied areas.

Serving in Korea is not pleasant, but is necessary. The unpleasantness becomes a great deal harder to bear when it becomes necessary to acknowledge that so much remains to be done at home, while the prospect seems so hopeless.

Now that the national cry 'Wolf' has reached the field of education, the hopes for educating against these suicidal evils become even more fogged. I sincerely hope that Juniata will never compromise her principles of liberal arts education in favor of the intellectual disease called specialization. If Juniata, and similar institutions, are sucked into the "ooze of "shortcuts to wealth" education, a professional gambler will have but little choice but to wager his assets on the scourge of the atom. I, along with my alma mater, prefer the United Nations.

Sincerely,

Don Brandt, '50

N.C.A.A. Bound Dutchmen Nose Juniata Five 83 - 84

A last period Juniata rally just fell short as the Indians bowed to Lebanon Valley 83-81 here last Wednesday. Going into the final quarter trailing 61-43, the Tribe outscored the Dutchmen 38-17 and just missed tying it as Davey Pollock's last second shot bounced off the rim.

Dave Pollock

The men from Annville, who oppose Fordham next Tuesday night in the first round NCAA playoffs, jumped off to a 5-0 lead on field goals by Miller, Landa and a foul by Landa before Pollock put one through for JC. The Tribe tied the game at 5-5 on another shot by Pollock and a foul by Handzelek. However LV shot back into the lead and were ahead 20-16 at the quarter.

The second canto followed in a similar nature to the first. Again Lebanon Valley outscored Juniata by four points and the score at halftime read 41-33.

Following the intermission the Indians again experienced a third quarter slump. LV scored nine points before O'Brien broke the ice for the home squad. As the period ended the score was 66-43.

The final stanza opened with Hallman and Vought trading baskets after which JC ran up eight straight points on three baskets by Handzelek and one by Hallman. A short time later the Tribe again ran up eight straight and continued to peck away. With eight seconds remaining and the Valley ahead by two, Halkovich cleared the boards and passed to Pollock whose last second shot just failed. Handzelek led the JC attack with 30 followed by Pollock with 16.

Gym Playoff Site

Juniata's Memorial Gymnasium will be the site of the first round of District 6 P. I. A. A. basketball playoffs. The game to be played March 10 will find Hollidaysburg, winner of the Mountain League and the only undefeated Class A quintet in the state, opposing Lock Haven, top team in the Central Conference. The winner of this game will vie for the right to represent the district in the state playoffs.

Juniata Courtmen Defeated By Westminster, Indiana STC

Home fans were allowed to get their hopes high by virtue of Juniata's 40-37 halftime edge over the Titans of Westminster last Thursday night.

However, because JC scored only four points to the visitors 20 in the third quarter, they came out on the short end of a 77-65 count. Their 20-18, 20-19, and 21-20 advantages in the other three frames were fruitless because of this weak quarter.

Individual scoring honors went to the Titan's Jerry Neff who hit 12 times from the field and added three free throws for a 27 point total. Walt Vanderbush followed Neff and led the Indians with 20 markers. Jake Handzelek added 18 to make his seasonal total read 418.

Team scoring showed Westminster with 29 field goals and 19 successes out of 26 foul tries for their 77 points. Juniata hit 25 times from the field and converted 15 of 28 foul attempts for a 65 point total.

The setback put Juniata at nine wins and nine losses over the season while the Titans show a 9 and 13 record. Westminster finished their season in a contest with Carnegie Tech Saturday. JC went to ISTC the same day and rounded out the season in a home game with LV Wednesday.

The Juniata College Indians were handed an unexpected 88-85 loss last Saturday night by a scrappy Indiana State Teachers College five. The game was played on the latter's home court.

The Tutors got off to a fast start and led at the quarter mark by a 23-13 count. When the halftime buzzer sounded, the Teachers had scored 24 points and increased their lead to a commanding 47-33 score.

It was in the second half that the Indians began to catch fire. With Captain Dave Pollock in the line-up, Juniata played even ball with the home team in the third quarter with each scoring 20 points. The final frame saw the Braves realy scorch the cords by scoring 32 big points against 21 for the Teachers. However, the early Indiana lead proved too much to match, and the final horn saw the Indians trailing by three points.

Again "Jolting" Jake Handzelek led Juniata with 25 markers, followed by Dave Pollock with 20. Davey thrilled the crowd time after time by making ten of his first 14 set shots from the field. Big Walt Vanderbush hooped 13, while Lee Hallman, starting his first varsity game, contributed ten points to the Tribe's cause.

Indiana was not to be denied, as they made a phenomenial 50 per cent of their shots in the first half and had a total of 43 per cent for the entire game. Juniata averaged 39 per cent from the field during the fray, most of the percentage coming in the second half.

Smaltz-men Win; Bow

Beat Johnstown Lose To Indiana

The Juniata College JV's came from behind to take a thrilling 76-74 win over the Pitt undergraduate center of Johnstown last Thursday night.

Lee Hallman's timely shot which bounced in just as the buzzer sounded, provided the margin of victory. Until the last quarter, the game had the appearance of a runaway for Junior Pitt. They piled up a 25-15 first quarter lead and advanced it to a 47-35 count at halftime. Almost even ball was played in the third quarter but the fourth frame found the Little Indians red hot, as they barraged the bucket for 26 points, while Johnstown Center could only manage 13.

George O'Brien was high man on the JV scoring parade with 18 followed closely by Jack Golden with 17, and Hallman with 16.

Lady luck reversed herself, however, when the JV's traveled to Indiana State Teachers College on Saturday. A final second shot by Crossen of Indiana gave the Teachers a close 68-67 win over JC.

The halftime score read 43-41 Juniata, but during the third period the Little Indians faltered, scoring only nine points as against 17 for the home club. The fourth frame showed Juniata roaring back with 15 points and forging ahead 67-66 in the last few seconds, but could not hold the lead as Crossen dropped in his game-winning bucket.

The locals again were paced by sharp shooting "Obie" O'Brien who netted 20 points. Jack Golden followed with 16, while Herb Law added 12 to Juniata's cause.

Indians End Season With 9 - 11 Log

The Juniata College Indian starting five, coached by Doc Greene, which paced the 19522-53 basketball edition to a 9-11 record, the best since the 1944-45 season.

Greene Compiles His Best Record On College Hill

by John Dale

The Juniata College Indians finished their most successful basketball campaign in eight years here last Wednesday night as they went down to a 83-81 defeat at the hands of the NCAA bound Lebanon Valley quintet. The Tribe finished the season with a 9-11 record the best since the 44-45 season.

One of the big highlights of the season was the remarkable record-breaking scoring spree of Jake Handzelek who broke two existing Juniata College season marks by dumping 473 points and maintaining a 23.6 point game average. These broke Dick Wareham's eight year mark of 353 points and Karl Park's second of 18.5 points of two years ago.

Juniata's increase in basketball fortune may be attributed to an influx of freshman basketball talent together with high-scoring letterman Davey Pollock. Four of the Tribe's first five were frosh throughout the year, 6-6 Walt Vanderbush, 6-2 Torry Froisland, 6-2 Chuck Gross, and Handzelek. Other newcomers who played a great deal of varsity ball were Howie Kerstetter, 6-1 freshman, Herb Halkovich, 6-3 junior transfer student, Bernie Oriss, 6-1 freshman, and letterman George O'Brien, 6-2 sophomore returnee after two years of army service.

The Tribe showed their freshman year greeness in several games as they lapsed for only one quarter to lose the game. This was particularly evident in the Westminster game of last week as the Tribe outscored the Titans in three quarters only to be outdone in one canto where they fell behind by 16 points.

The Braves as a team proved to have the biggest punch of any Juniata team in history as they averaged 22 points for 20 games. This was mainly due to the fact that JC had three players who averaged better than 10 points per tilt; Handzelek, Pollock with a 16.1 average and big Walt Vanderbush with a 12.6 mean.

The Little Indians waged an even more successful season. Led by Jack Golden, George O'Brien, Lee Hallman, Bernie Oriss, Jim Boulton and Herb Law, the JV's showed great promise for improving Juniata's team strength for the next few years.

The future for the basketball here at JC seems to hold great promise. With the entire personel, except Halkovich, of the club both JV's and varsity, being underclassmen, the Tribe can look forward to possibly a great future on the hardwoods.

I-M Race Stays Tight Girls Leading At Close

Girl's Intramural games were played in the Memorial Gym for the first time last Tuesday night. This marked the end of the race for the leadership although some games still remain to be played. The Limpeps, a team of Junior girls, who have lost only two games in three years ended their second season of undefeated play, clinching the crown with nine wins.

Route Opponents By 94 - 59 Count

The Juniata Junior Varsity ended its season on a winning note as they thumped the Lebanon Valley Jayvees 94-59. In their first meeting played at Annville Juniata triumphed 83-46.

The first quarter was played on even terms with each squad gathering 16 markers. In the second period the Tribe broke away to sew up the victory by outscoring the Dutchmen 34-13. This gave Juniata a 50-29 halftime advantage.

The third stanza was a relatively low scoring one. However, the Braves again outscored their rivals by seven points to further increase their lead to 69-41 as the period ended.

The final quarter saw the Indians build up their margin. Although the Valley scored 11 points, their high for any quarter, the Braves came through to again outscore the visitors by seven points.

Although the action was light this past week in the men's intramural basketball league, some important games were played. Of the three league leaders the Hillboffers won two, the McKees Creek one, while the FM&M remained idle.

Saturday afternoon's games saw the Covites squeeze one out over the Jabberwockey's 66-65. George Pote and Gene Biddle both hit for 19 for the winners while Smith copped 22 in a losing cause. The Maulers, led by Kruzelock's 14 points, managed to sneak by the Day Students, 33-30. West had 19 for the losers.

George Newcombe poured 32 points through the nets to lead the the Hillboffers as they smashed the A. F. U.'s 111-58. Al Nyce had 15 in a losing effort. McKees Creek continued on their winning ways late Saturday afternoon as they thumped the Cyranaics, 73-48. Svitel had 18 for the winners while Hackman had 23 for the losers.

On Monday evening, the A. F. U.'s dumped the Aces, 82-53, as Stayer, Lashlee and Nyce dropped in 23, 20 and 19 points respectively. In a losing effort, Replogle had 28 for the Aces. In the other game played at the same time, the Covites were taking care of the Cyranaics, 63-58. Lingenfelter copped 21 points for the Covites while Bill Straughn hit for 18 for the "Philosophers".

Later in the day, the Globetrotters, led by the 17 points of Motisher, downed the Jabberwockey's, 53-47. Kaylor had 17 for the losers. Win number two for the Hillboffers came last week when they trounced the Turks, 62-46. Fusco was high for the winners with 12, while Zimmerman copped 17 for the losers.

Alumnus To Sing On Horace Heidt Show

William Wilson, a Juniata alumnus from Johnstown, has been chosen to appear in the "Youth Opportunity" portion of the Horace Heidt show at Johnstown, March 11.

A members of the class of 1949, he entered Juniata following a stint in the service as a medical corpsman. While at school he helped produce and perform in college musical shows. He received a bachelor's degree in biology. Wilson, a baritone, has done extensive amateur singing in the Johnstown area.

Shown above is one phase of the work done by students on the new Student Center. The shot was taken Monday during the first working session on the project.

JCA To Show Film

"A Time for Greatness", a sound film, will be shown at the weekly meeting of JCA Tuesday evening at 7:15 in Founders Chapel. After the showing of the film there will be a discussion on the basic issues of war and peace.

The movie is one which is to raise the fundamental issues of American foreign policy by presenting one point of view.

Deferment App. Due March 9

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, reminds qualified college students that applications for the April 23, 1953 Selective Service Qualification Test must be postmarked not later than midnight March 9.

To be eligible to take the Selective Service Test, an applicant, on the trusting date (1) must be a selective service registrant who intends to request deferment as a student; (2) must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course—undergraduate or graduate—leading to a degree; (3) must not have previously taken the test.

Their repertoire consists of two divisions: religious pieces and secular numbers. "Prayer Perfect" and "Little Things, My Lord" are two of their religious selections. The secular division of their repertoire is larger, having such numbers as "Cielito Lindo," "I Love Little Willie," "Hi-diddle-diddle," "Singin'," "The Blue Room," "Summertime," and "Stormy Weather." Their theme song is the peppy, "Tune-up Time."

Petrusky Elected '54 Senate Pres; 492 Cast Ballots

Bernie Petrusky, Bob Bridenbaugh, Juanita Carfora and Bob Fahrney were elected to the top four Senate offices as 492 students out of a possible 578 cast their ballots Monday and Tuesday.

Run-off elections were required Tuesday for president and vice-president so that one candidate would receive a majority vote.

Petrusky, a history major from Brisbin, is vice-president of the IRC, served as technical manager of the Masque and May Day Chairman. He was stage manager of "Romeo and Juliet" and set construction chairman for "Naughty Marietta."

The new vice-president, Bridenbaugh, is a math major from Martinsburg. He is vice-president of his class and of the FTA, assistant manager of the baseball team and a member of the Student Center Committee.

Taking over the secretary's position is Miss Carfora, a language major from Toms River, N. J. She is co-editor of the Scout, a Masquer, a member of the Pyrennees and WAA. She has served as set construction chairman for "My Maryland" and "Romeo and Juliet."

Elected as treasurer is Bob Fahrney, a business major from Harrisburg. He is a member of the Tycoon Club, Outing Club and Juniatian staff, in addition to being on the varsity golf team and active in intramurals.

Paper Features Ellis, Alumni

The recent issue of the Gospel Messenger, the weekly official publication of the Church of the Brethren, featured articles and news of President Calvert Ellis and four alumni or former students at Juniata.

An article entitled, "A Ministry of Reconciliation in Europe" authored by President Ellis is in the weekly along with an article by the Rev. Jacob Dick, a graduate of Juniata College. His article is on the work of Brethren Service Volunteers in Europe. A third article is contributed by Don Snider on the subject of the need for continued rehabilitation work in Germany.

A reprint of a letter for Vera Compton, telling of the 14 months she spent in Germany is also found in the issue. Mention has also been made of Hermann Pabst, who was formerly enrolled at Juniata as a German exchange student.

May Day Set May 2; Comm. Named

The annual May Day program has been set for Saturday, May 2, according to Phyllis Link, general chairman. The May Day breakfast is scheduled for Thursday, April 16.

The Central Planning Committee for the affair has been appointed by Miss Link. Bernie Petrusky will be in charge of set construction, while Jeanie Tait will handle publicity. Jo Pentz has been named chairman of the breakfast and Juanita and Lolita Carfora will plan the floral decorations. Miss Barbara Cochran is faculty adviser.

The first meeting of the Club representatives will be held Thursday at 10 a. m. in Founders Chapel. At this time a Club Coordinator for May Day will be elected.

Senators List Reclassification Of Campus Jobs

A Senate Committee on classification composed of Jack Ulsh, chairman, Ted McGwire and Wes Diemer has reclassified campus positions, according to a point system.

In order to prevent students from holding too many major positions on campus, the Senate Constitution limits the number a student may hold to the following combinations: One major office, one minor, one unclassified; two minor and three unclassified; three minor and one unclassified; one minor and five unclassified and seven unclassified.

Based On Time

Major and minor offices are figured on the bases of time consumption and complexity of duties.

Listed as major positions are the following: president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer of the Senate; Senate chairmen of Religious Activities; Underclassmen, Athletics, Social Activities, General Activities; editor of the Alfarata; editor of the Juniatian; and managing editor of the Juniatian.

The following are classified as minor offices: Senate chairmen of Men's House, Women's House and Publications; president of the Touring Choir; president of the Lambda Gamma; president of the Masque; manager of the Touring Choir; JCA chairmen of the Christian Heritage Commission, Social Responsibility Commission, Personal-Campus Affairs Commission, World Relatedness Commission, Bible Study and Doctrine, and Publicity.

More Listed

Head manager of the football, basketball, baseball and track teams; editor and business manager of the Indian; assistant editor of the Alfarata; business manager of the Alfarata, Juniatian, Scout; editor of the Scout; chairman of the JWSF drive; Student manager of the musical; All-Class Night chairman and editor of the Tomahawk.

All others are unclassified.

Lenten Services Held

Lenten Services will be held in the Stone Church Monday and Thursday next week. Devotions will be conducted by Gerald Richards, freshman student Monday and Thursday by Pat Henry, sophomore. Monday Betty Shearer will sing and on Thursday Helen Rosengren will provide the music, both juniors to be accompanied by Vada Jean Roof at the organ.

Choir To Give 2nd Spring Concert Sun.

The Juniata College Touring Choir will present the second in their series of spring concerts Sunday when they journey to Lewistown and Bloomsburg.

Directed by Prof. Donald Johnson and accompanied by a seven-piece string-wind ensemble, the group will present sacred music programs in churches of these towns.

Miss Doyle Plans 2-Week Tour

Miss Esther Doyle is planning a two-week personal tour of colleges under the sponsorship of the Arts Program of the American Association of Colleges. She will leave Monday for Indiana.

Included in Miss Doyle's itinerary of colleges for the next two weeks are Taylor University, Rose Polytechnic Institute, Evansville, and Manchester—all in Indiana. She will spend two days at each of these.

Her subject will consist of talks on English, speech and drama; and interpretations of poetry. She plans to use scenes from "Pygmalion" as well as sonnets and lyrics and to range in scope from Shakespeare to modern plays.

Her sonnets and lyrics will come from such poets as Amy Lowell, Sara Teasdale, and Edna St. Vincent Millay. She will also have a formal lecture recital on Robert Sherwood.

In 1948, Miss Doyle toured Tennessee and Arkansas under the same sponsorship—the Arts Program of the Association of American Colleges. This is the same organization that brought Sister Helene to campus.

24 Candidates Compete For Senate Chairmenships Tues.

Campaigning for the eight Senate Chairmenships got under way Wednesday with 24 sophomores and juniors in the running. Voting will take place Tuesday in front of Students Hall with run-offs being held Wednesday.

Harlacher, a sociology major from Harrisburg, is club editor of the Alfarata, head usher and a member of the Chapel Choir. He has served on the Juniatian staff and Social Committee.

Hailing from Lebanon, Myer is a business major. He is advertising manager of the Juniatian, on the Alfarata business staff and secretary-treasurer of the Tycoon Club. He is also manager of the track team.

Miss Tait, an English major from Philadelphia, is editor of the Juniatian. She is a Masquer, a member of the FTA, JWSF Committee and May Day Planning Committee. In addition she was a delegate to Leadership Conference last year.

Underclassmen

John Cook, Bob Flory and Ben Newcomer are running for the Chairman of Underclassmen.

Cook, a biology major from Hillcrest, has been class president for three years. He played varsity basketball in his freshman and sophomore years and is a member of the Underclass Committee.

Hailing from Waynesboro, Flory is a member of the J Club, Masque, and Chapel Choir. He appeared in three All-Class Night skits and "Naughty Marietta" and "My Maryland."

Newcomer is treasurer of the junior class, secretary of the FTA and manager of the A Cappella Choir. He sang the leading role in "My Maryland", is a member of the Varsity Quartet and has appeared in All-Class Night skits. He attended Leadership Conference last year.

Progress Good - Says Hill Booster Day Scheduled

by Eloise Holsinger

"Its progressing well, but there's still a large amount of work to be done," said Russell Hill, chairman of the Student Center Committee, when asked for a statement as to the progression, being made at the Center.

Monday, March 2, marked the beginning of the work to convert the Juniata College Women's Gymnasium to the "long-dreamed of" Student Center. The work got started with "a bang" on the first day with approximately half of the student body coming out to begin the task.

To the amazement of the administration, Monday and the days following saw the disappearance of the stage, the walls, and the floors from the gym. The students co-operated well, sacrificing considerable time to do all of this work in addition to digging entrance ways, removing the cement floor with the pneumatic hammer, piling bricks, that were removed from the walls, and performing numerous other odd jobs.

Dodge Wins GIQ; Snively Cops 2nd

Fred Dodge, senior pre-med student from High Bridge, N. J. and Jeanne Snively, sophomore elementary education major from Media, Pa. won first and second prizes respectively in the General Information Contest held annually under the sponsorship of Mr. John H. Biddle.

The contest, open to all Juniatians was taken by twenty-five students with results of the top two being announced. A system of number-identification was used, with the list being posted on Founders Bulletin Board. Out of a possible two hundred points the winner had the high score of 125 with the runner-up completing 120 correctly.

Mr. Biddle, the publisher and owner of the Huntingdon Daily News, is now on a tour of Europe and was unable to present the awards in person to the winning contestants.

More Campus Politics

Once again the campus buzzes with political campaigning, this time for the eight Senate Chairmenships. Once again we ask your cooperation in electing these people.

The Senate needs students who can and will devote their talents wholeheartedly to the tasks which are assigned to them. You as students can decide what kind of a Senate you want and it then lies in your power to provide for such a Senate.

When it comes to vote next week, think a little about the candidates and their qualifications for the offices for which they are running. Then pick up your ballot and mark it. But above all, vote, vote for your Senate.

Listed below are the eight chairmen and their duties as given in the Student Association Constitution.

● CHAIRMAN OF ATHLETICS: The entire program of intramural sports is in the hands of this person. The Senate Constitution says he must formulate and carry out a comprehensive program of student sports activities.

Automatically, this chairman is the student representative of the Faculty Athletic Council, the only Senator to be so connected with a faculty committee in his field.

● CHAIRMAN OF UNDERCLASSMEN: Along with his two committees—one for each sex—the Chairman of Underclassmen is constitutionally responsible for orientating the freshman class. He is in charge of the big-brother big-sister plan, supervises the initiation program and advises the freshmen in their organization.

● CHAIRMAN OF MEN'S HOUSE: It is his duty to see that proper order and quiet are kept during the dorms study hours and to promote cooperation in dormitory life. He is aided by the Men's House Committee, composed of representatives from each hall. Only men students vote for this chairman.

● CHAIRMAN OF WOMEN'S HOUSE: Her duties are similar in nature to the chairman of Men's House. She is elected by women only.

● CHAIRMAN OF GENERAL ACTIVITIES: It is the duty of this Senator to supervise All-Class Night, May Day, the Christmas activities and Move-Up Day. He assists faculty committees in planning Mountain Day, Homecoming and Parents Day. General club activities come under his care and he serves as co-chairman of the calendar committee.

● CHAIRMAN OF PUBLICATIONS: This senator maintains high standards in publications and publicizes the activities of the Senate. This is done through associating with the editors of the Juniatian, Scout and Alfarata. He recommends to the Faculty Publications Committee the editor, business manager and advertising manager of the Scout.

● CHAIRMAN OF RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES: Spiritual Emphasis Week is the greatest responsibility of this chairman as he plans and executes all phases of this program in cooperation with the faculty chairman of religious activities. In addition he supervises all religious activities on campus, aided by a committee of five.

● CHAIRMAN OF SOCIAL ACTIVITIES: The constitution requires the Chairman of Social Activities to provide a varied and adequate program of social activities. He also serves on the calendar committee.

Pat Henry For Religious Activities

Pat well qualifies for this office. First, her interest in J. C. A. (as a Council member) and in other religious activities is outstanding. Second, her willingness to work has prompted her to formulate certain plans for J. C. A.—of interest to all students. Third, her relationship with the Student Christian Movement (of which J. C. A. is a participating member) is of vital importance. She is Chairman of Area V of the Middle Atlantic Region for '53-54. She has attended two S. C. M. conferences and plans attendance at a Leadership Training Camp and future Regional and Area conferences. Fourth, Pat's experience with church work, J. C. A. and other club leadership is notable. These qualifications invite your vote.

Circuit Rider

Things have really changed around this place since we first came here back in 1948. Then we didn't have a new gymnasium, we didn't have the regular dances, we didn't have the quality of the sports program that we have now. That in itself constitutes one of the most remarkable differences.

Sports are really on the upgrade at Juniata. This year we had a fine football team, we had one of our best basketball teams (who can forget that last minute of the game with Lebanon Valley), and things look equally promising for baseball and golf.

And in the matter of Student recreation, we are building a new student center. That is practically revolutionary here. Those who have passed through this place can remember the four years as little more than a parade of rather insignificant social activity as far as that area of campus life goes. However, this college generation, and future ones, will have something that the others were not fortunate in having.

This college generation will have a core of unity, a share in one anothers experiences and activities because of the ambitious undertaking being planned by the Student Center committee. It will make a real and discernible difference in Juniata life.

I was in Washington last week visiting friends, the Bob Smiths, and while talking to them I got over to the topic of what former Juniatians were doing now that they were out. Bob, of course, is a Washington special correspondent for eight Oregon newspapers. He brought me up to date on some other people I had known. Jim Gittings is working for an Insurance firm in the Pittsburgh area and has written a book. Dick Burton works for the Trenton Times and has also started a book. Talking on these topics we decided that we had met some of the most interesting people that we knew right here at Juniata.

Juniata is a small school and not a very well known one. However, we summarized our thoughts with the conclusion that here, especially, it is not the school that makes the student. Its the individual who makes the school.

The Juniatian

Entered as second class matter at the Huntingdon, Pa., post office, this is an independent undergraduate newspaper published weekly throughout the College year except during vacation and examination periods by the Students of Juniata College.

The Juniatian is serviced by Associated Collegiate Press and is represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service.

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

We are in the midst of active campaigns for the various Student Senate chairmanships with the voters scheduled to go to the polls this Tuesday Just this past week the officers for next year's senate were elected. All this is of importance to be sure but back of this all we feel that the really significant point is the number of students who turned out to vote.

The American school systems and other pro-American organizations, for a long time, have been stressing the importance of expressing your desire in government by voting for your representatives. Since the terrific impact of Communist aggression is fully on the people of our democratic stronghold these institutions have stepped up this "vote—vote as you please, but vote" program. The true backbone of our way of life lies in this active participation of most of our citizens.

Just a few months ago the national elections were conducted with a record turnout of voters, a significant result to extensive effort. At Juniata we also held a presidential election and to the pleasure of all democracy minded leaders an exceptionally big turnout of voters cast their ballots for the representative of their choice. Eighty-six percent of the eligible students took the time and little effort to exercise their rights. In past year actual participates in these campus elections were below these totals. The vote that we cast on Monday and the run-off Tuesday may not have decided any foreign policy toward Russia but it shows an active interest in the governing body that directly influences you at the moment an puts you into the excellent habit of letting your representatives in government know what you desire. The old "if I'm old enough to fight I should be old enough to vote" argument might be controversial but it won't be long until you will be able to vote, as already a number of students on campus are.

When the time comes for your choice in the government to be expressed be prepared by previous voting experience. Vote next week for your senate chairmen in the same manner as the early elections.

This week we'll try another slant on the things that occur with some degree of regularity around this place. What it is is yet to be seen because we're making this up as we go along. But some things, as Dave Pollock has said at one time or another, tend to be constant.

We wish to call attention to the fact that applications for membership in the organization being formed by Bill (Swami) Swaim are now being received in his office at Skip's. This organization has been formed by Swaim for the purpose of enlisting peoples whose sympathies are with the men in the armed forces.

The new Student Center will definitely fill the need for a place to relax in. But it will never quite replace the old happy feeling of having no place to sit down in Skip's. Just think . . . a nice comfortable lounge instead of a booth. That sounds great doesn't it. But rest assured that the people will be the same. Halkovich towering over everybody, Nick relaxing on one of the stools, Dee holding conferences with the girls. Lets hope that the Student Center comes as quickly as it is planned.

We understand that Fred Dodge is planning some sort of a get-together for all his friends as a consequence of his winning the General Information test last week. He gave us the details but for further information contact Wild Bill Miller or Kingfish Sharbaugh.

We hope that this gets printed in the right order because we suspect that the printer, Dick Lewis, might be holding a secret grudge against us. Seems like last week we talked him into getting hypnotized only because we said we would follow him up to the stage. However, we forgot to follow him and Dick went up alone. He had a good time though, riding the range and shooting all them outlaws.

Bernie Petrusky said that since he's been elected, all members of this college are going to be required to take a loyalty test. This test however is not similar to those teachers have to take. All you have to swear to is that you are loyal to Petrusky.

Braves Set Seven New Marks; Best Season in 7 Years

The basketball record books have been revised at Juniata College as the freshman-dominated Tribe quintet enjoyed its best season in seven years and set seven new records despite a losing 9-11 record.

Jake Handzelek, the Shickshinny scoring sensation, and Dave Pollock, Berwick sophomore who captained the team, combined to score 54 percent of Juniata's record total of 1434 points and spark the team to a new average per game mark of 71.7. The 20-game average obliterated the former record of 62.5 set last season.

In individual scoring, Handzelek far surpassed two former scoring records at Juniata by tallying a new all-time high of 473 points and establishing a 23.7 average per game. This bettered the previous season high of 353 in 20 games set by Dick Wareham in 1944-45 and the 18.5 average maintained by Karl Park in 1950-51.

A fifth record was established by Pollock when he became the first man in Juniata's 49 seasons of basketball to score more than 300 points in two successive seasons. He tallied 301 this year after dumping 304.

Two other records fell this season when Lebanon Valley overpowered the Indians 116-75 early in the season. The 116 was a record high for opponents exceeding 102 set by Lebanon Valley in 1951-52; and the two-team total of 191 points topped the former mark of 180.

Walt Vanderbush, 6-6 freshman from W. Orange, N. J., and Howie Kerstetter, the Shamokin spark-plug, also topped 100 points for the season. Kerstetter led the team in foul shooting with 75.4 percent.

LV Wins In NCAA; Geneva Loses NAIA

Lebanon Valley, one of the Tribe's most powerful rivals, made an impressive debut on the NCAA tournament trial last Tuesday night as they downed Fordham at the Palestra in Philadelphia by an 80-67 count. Lou Sorrentino paced the Dutchmen with 30 points. LV travels to Raleigh, N. C., to face L. S. U. tonight.

Another of Juniata's rivals, Geneva, did not fare so well as they lost to Tennessee A & I in the NAIA tournament at Kansas City, 89-88. Pete Kinkead stole the show, however, as he dunked 43 points to set a new NAIA tourney record.

I M Loop Ends in Two Way Tie; First Four In Playoffs Tonight

The Hillboffers and the McKees Creek captured the laurels in the men's intramural basketball league as the loop reached its end last Monday night. Each squad terminated its season with identical 13 and one records. The Creeks handed the Boffers their only setback, while their lone defeat came at the hands of the Y. H. O.'s.

Playoffs, which include the first four teams in the league—the Hillboffers (13-1), McKees Creek (13-1), the FM&M (12-2), and the Covites (11-3), got underway last evening. The games are played on the main floor of the Memorial Gymnasium. A toss of the coin between the Boffers and the Creeks will determine first and second place. The team getting number one position will take on the FM&M, while the number two team will tackle the Covites. Following a consolation game, the winners will clash to determine the league champion.

In the initial game played Monday night, the Hillboffers sewed up their top spot by turning back the Four Shots, 97-60. George Newcombe and Dave Hackett both scored 22 points for the winners while Don Bottomly sank the same for the losers.

The feature attraction of the evening saw the Creeks hand the FM&M their second setback of the season. In so doing the Creeks tied for first place. The Creeks lead by Drexler with 18 markers jumped off to a 19-8 first period lead. At halftime they had increased their lead to 37-24. Each team scored 12 points in the final canto so that the seven point margin that FM&M ran up in the third period was not enough. The final score was 58-52. Henry Jara notched 17 counters for the vanquished and "Easy Ed" Svitel 15 for the victors.

In the other game of the night the Y. H. O.'s nosed out the Day Students 68-64. The winners barely got by as they were outscored 24-12 in the final quarter. Richman had 26 and Bayer 21 for the winners while West garnered 19 in a losing cause. The Y. H. O.'s were greatly aided in the final canto by Richard Hollinger's two beautiful sets. In the final game, the Turks led by Fran Zimmerman with 38 points, downed the Cyrenaics 73-56.

Schedules Announced For Spring

Veterans Report For Diamond Duty; All Spots Open

In response to the first call for baseball candidates for the 1953 season, approximately 30 hopefuls turned out and have been running through drills daily in the Memorial Gymnasium. Practice is expected to move out-doors however, as soon as the weather permits.

This year Coach Bill Smaltz has a large nucleus of lettermen from which to build a team, although no one is assured of a starting role and each position is considered wide open. Heading the lettermen is sophomore Joe Hinish, who compiled a .327 batting average and blasted 3 home runs to lead last year's team in those departments. Also in the selected circle are outfielders Tom McNeal and Fran Zimmerman, who batted in 14 runs last season; first baseman Wes Lingenfelter, second baseman Ken Leonard, third baseman "Monk" Simon, and pitcher Dave LeFevre. The rest of the candidates include pitchers Neil Spangler, Ron Morgan, Harold Estep, Jim Hunt, John Criswell, Gene Biddle, and Dick Middlesworth; outfielders Barry Drexler, Don Pheasant, and Bob Bailey; infielders Harold Gray, Bill Yerzyk, Jerry Wright, Dave Hackett, Jack Golden, Forrest Douds, Lee Hallman, Silas Dubbel, Bernie Oriss and Jake Handzelek; catchers Fred Hamor, Joe Trimber, and Bud Briner.

Weakest departments at the present seem to be pitching and catching. With all of last season's staff gone, LeFevre remains the only battle tested veteran. However Coach Smaltz may shift lefty Joe Hinish to mound duties if the freshman candidates do not come through. On the receiving end, only Fred Hamor has had any collegiate experience, but this position also remains a wide open race.

Coach Smaltz also indicated that anyone desiring to come out for the team should contact manager Don Conley and report as soon as possible.

WAA and J Club To Present Game

On a date to be named in the near future, the J Club and the WAA will hold a combined meeting at which a basketball game between the two clubs will be staged. The game will be played in the Memorial Gymnasium.

The players will be composed of members of both clubs only. Girls' rules will be used with some modifications on the foul rules. Girls only will be permitted the unlimited dribble, while boys will be given the handicap of playing with a boxing glove on one hand. The referees and the scorers will be a girl and a boy for each. Also there will be an award for the winner.

This meeting is a venture to promote relations between the women's and men's athletic clubs. The game may be viewed by anyone interested and according to club presidents Bob Muchoney and Rhoda Clemmer, the contest should be one of the highlights of the year for the two organizations. It was also announced that afterwards there would be a dance in the men's gym.

Faculty Approval On 42 Varsity Contests Given For April, May

The Juniata College Indians open their 50th season of intercollegiate baseball at Lycoming on April 14 and will appear before the home fans for the first time two days later. Also on the 14th the JC tennis team opens its 1953 campaign at the same school.

The following day the thinclads of Mike Snider open their season at Shippensburg and a week after this the golf team begins its season here against Dickinson.

Students To Give Recital Series

The music department has announced plans for a series of student recitals to be held in Oller Hall and Swigart Hall beginning Sunday, March 22.

Miss Mary Jane Pfotenhauer will present a group of voice students on March 22 and April 12. The group will be assisted on the first Sunday by an instrumental trio made up of Margaret Sims, piano; Clem Rosenberger, violin; and Nancy Rosenberger, cello. On the latter date, three of Prof. Brammer's students will participate; Janet Binkley, viola, Roy Rollman, violin; and Virginia Watson, cello.

The students of Prof. Donald Johnson will give an organ recital in Oller Hall on April 19 at 2 p. m. The same afternoon at 3 p. m. piano students of Miss Jaeger will perform in Swigart Hall. The recital in Swigart will be supplemented by instrumentalists—Thomas Somers, baritone; Ray McHenry, trombone; and a flutist.

The series of student recitals will be climaxed by a joint piano and voice recital to be given on Sunday, April 26 at 2 p. m. in Swigart Hall.

Club Column

Although in the midst of mid-term exams, the students on JC's campus are vigorously carrying on with their club activities. Two clubs are meeting tonight, members of another are journeying to Penn State this weekend, and some club meetings are already lined up for next week.

TYCOON CLUB

Meeting at 7:15 this evening in the I. Harvey Brumbaugh House, the Tycoon Club will hear Mr. John Plant, ex-vice president of the Union National Bank, discuss some of the general things about banking.

All those who are interested in atending the banquet next Wednesday at Twin Acres should be at the meeting tonight.

IVCF

Prof. S. Earl Dubbel, assistant professor of English, will speak to the IVCF this evening at 7:00 in Founders Chapel. All are cordially invited to attend.

DEBATE CLUB

This weekend three members of the Debate Club are attending the Pennsylvania Debators' Convention at Penn State. A model legislature is to be set up wherein bills are to be presented before the body.

Galen Frysinger, Louise Heinbaugh and Carol Shoemaker are those at the convention representing Juniata College.

Ron Cherry, president, announces that the Debate Club is interested in members for next year.

JCA

"Bunnies, Bonnets or '?'" is the title of the talk which Prof. G. Wayne Glick, assistant professor of the Biblical studies, will give to the JCA Tuesday evening at 7:00 in Founders Chapel. Everyone is welcome.

SCALPEL AND PROBE

At the next meeting of the Scalpel and Probe Thursday evening at 7:30 in Room 104 Dr. Homer C. Will, professor of biology, will talk.

As well, the election of officers will be held and refreshments served. All Scalpel and Probe members are urged to come out.

Binkley, Mays On Evaluating Comm.

Two members of Juniata College's faculty are currently serving on evaluating committees for the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Dr. Morley Mays, dean of the college, is at Emmitsburg, Md., for the evaluation of Mount St. Mary's College. His committee is headed by Dean A. G. Bridenstine of Franklin and Marshall College.

Dr. Harold Binkley, chairman of the division of arts and languages, is serving on a similar committee for the evaluation of the program at Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y.

Center —

Hill also stated that the number of students participating in the work had dropped. This was due to the number of exams being given at this time, he believed.

A booster day is planned for Saturday and it is hoped that all of the student body will participate in the jobs that are under way now. These include the digging of drains, sewer lines, and steam lines and the cleaning of lumber. The latter of these is particularly important since quite a sum of money can be saved, if the old timber is salvaged for use in the new building.

Grad Exam Scheduled Apr. 17

The next administration of the Graduate Record Examination is scheduled for April 17 and 18. Copies of the application blank are now available in the Office of Dean Mays, together with the Bulletin of Information.

Applicants must be received at the Princeton Office not later than April 3.

Chapel Programs Announced

The Chapel schedule for next week has been announced by Professor Glick. Doctor Crosby will address the student body Monday. Doctor Kiracofe will have charge of Wednesday's service, and Dean Mays will be Friday's speaker.

8 New Senators Chosen; Class Officers Elected

Joe Hinish, Abe Finton, Noami Kulp, Lolita Carfora, Jeanie Tait, Russ Hill, Ben Newcomer and Wilfred Norris were elected to the Senate chairmenships as 468 Juniatians went to the polls Tuesday and Wednesday.

In Tuesday's voting, Finton was elected to Men's House, Miss Kulp to Women's House, Miss Tait as chairman of Publications, Miss Carfora as head of General Activities and Norris as director of Religious Activities.

Run-offs Wed.

Run-offs were required Wednesday to put Hinish in office as chairman of Athletics, Newcomer as chairman of Underclassmen and Hill as chairman of Social Activities.

Election results for the class officers are as follows: John Cook will head the senior class for the fourth time. Aiding him will be John Dale, vice-president; Lolita Carfora, secretary, and Bob Fahrney, treasurer.

Junior Officers

The juniors will again be headed by Telford Knepper with Neil Spangler in the vice-president's chair, Mary Kay Jackson as secretary and Joe Hinish as treasurer.

John Yates will again lead the freshmen for the second time, while Dan Raffensberger will take over as vice-president. Kass Keeler will again fill the secretary's position with Bradley Nicholas and Ron Morgan as treasurer and chaplain respectively.

All will take office on Move-Up Day, next Friday.

Ellis Attends 2 Brethren Sessions

President Calvert N. Ellis spent the past week at two meetings of the Church of the Brethren organizations in Elgin, Ill. Saturday, March 14, he was at Chicago for the annual meeting of the board of directors of Bethany Biblical Seminary. He is a member of the board.

Leaving Chicago, President Ellis traveled to Elgin where he presided as chairman of the Spring meeting of the General Brotherhood Board, Church of the Brethren, Monday through Friday.

Staff Announces 2nd Blue-Gold Special

The Blue and Gold Star Special, an advertising-contest plan inaugurated by the Juniatian business staff the third week of February, will be conducted again this week, announces Paul Good, Business Manager.

The same system of number-matching will be used in the contest. The number found elsewhere on the page will have to correspond with a number found in the window of cooperating merchants. The advertisers participating in the campaign are designated by stars in their advertisements.

The persons holding the correct numbers will receive a gift or a gift certificate. All awards not claimed by Monday noon will be forfeited.

Haverford Opens Spring Practice

Haverford College began preparation for their 1953 grid season with the opening of spring practice Mar. 16. Although the practice is not compulsory, Coach Randall is hopeful of a large turnout. The Indians defeated the Mainliners 38-6 on Homecoming last Fall and will again face them in '53.

Open Senate Session Scheduled For Wed.

An open Senate meeting will be held Wednesday evening in Students Hall with both the members of the old and new Senate participating.

The purpose of the affair will be to orientate the new Senators and to allow students to give complaints, criticism and suggestions for the coming year.

Forensic Music Eliminations Held On Campus Today

The Pennsylvania Forensic and Music League district eliminations for high school musicians and forensic contestants from a 13-county area are being held today in Oller Hall, Students Hall and Swigart Hall. The winners in the district eliminations are eligible to compete in the state finals at Pittsburgh.

The district committee for conducting the contests, under the direction of Arther M. Stull, superintendent of Cambria County schools, are cooperating with the music and English departments at Juniata in conducting the all-day eliminations.

Music contests are scheduled in Oller Hall and Swigart Hall with Dr. Daniel L. Auchenbach, assistant superintendent of Cambria county schools, in charge of vocal groups and Prof. Donald Johnson, chairman of Juniata's department of music, in charge of solo and small ensemble contests. The first music competition gets under way at 10:45 in Swigart Hall.

Forensic contests will be held in Students Hall under the direction of Dr. Harold C. Binkley along with assistance from judges from the college and community. These are scheduled to begin at 11:00. In other rooms throughout Students Hall eliminations will be held in wildlife essays, original orations, extempore speaking, poetry reading, serious and humorous declamation, Shakespeare reading, and discussion.

Contests in piano, clarinet flute, cornet and voice are also scheduled for the day and in Oller Hall contests in chorus, mixed and boys', will also be conducted. Founders Chapel will serve as the headquarters for the contest.

Students To Give Voice Recital Sun.

The first in a series of student recitals will be given Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in Swigart Hall.

Nine pupils of Miss Mary Jo Pfotenhauer will sing and a trio composed of Clem Rosenberger, violin; Nancy Rosenberger, cello; and Margaret Sims, piano, will be featured.

The program includes "Vittoria" (Carissimi) by Jean Baker; "When the Roses Bloom" (Reichardt) and "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair" (Haydn) by Carrol Suter; "A Very Ordinary Story" (Haydn) by Vada Jean Roof.

"Sapphic Ode" (Brahms) by Betti Brumbaugh; "Du Bist wie eine Blume" (Schumann) and "None but the Lonely Heart" (Tschaikovsky) by Barbara Donnelly; "Alma del Core" (Caldara) and "A Resolve" (Fontenailles) by Harold Bowser.

"My Redeemer and My Lord" (Buck) by Jane Heinicke; "Les Cloches" (Debussy) by Mary Jane Hershberger; "If God Left Only You" (Densmore) and "The Cry of Rachel" (Salter) by Lala Heil.

The instrumental trio will play "Scarf Dance" (Chaminade), "Salut d'Amour" (Elgar) and "Andante Sostenuto" (Bargiel).

Gaius Brumbaugh

● Leaves Money ●

College To Get Money Bequest

The late Dr. Gaius Brumbaugh, honorary chairman of the Board of Trustees who died May 14, 1952, has bequeathed $9,000 to Juniata College.

In announcing the bequest, Pres. Ellis stated that $7,000 has been added to the endowment of the Dr. Andrew B. and Maria F. Brumbaugh Science prize fund and $2,000 to the Mary Eliza Buckley scholarship fund.

One of three members of the first graduating class in 1879, Dr. Brumbaugh had served 40 years as an active member of the board and was chairman from 1936 to 1948. He died in Washington at the age of 90.

He established three science prizes in memory of his parents, his father being one of the founders of the College. The Buckley Scholarship was established in 1934 by Mrs. Anna Secker of Washington in memory of her mother.

Clubs To Elect May Chairmen

All clubs are reminded to give the names of their president elect and May Day representative to Phyllis Link, Senate Chairman of General Activities before March 24, so that arrangements can be made for the Move-up Day Ceremony and May Day program.

Thursday at 10 p. m. in Founders Chapel, May Day Club representatives will hold their first meeting. At this time a general club coordinator will be elected.

Senate To Be Installed At Move-Up Day Next Fri.

Move-up Day at Juniata is scheduled for Friday, Mar. 27 and will be observed by a special program in Oller Hall at 10 p. m. At that time, new Senate, class and club officers will assume their duties.

The invocation and remarks by Pres. Calvert Ellis will open the program. Retiring president Bob Wagoner will introduce and install the new Senate officers. Following this, Bernie Petrusky, who was elected last week, will make a short acceptance speech and vice-president Bob Bridenbaugh will present class and club officers.

Following the program will be the recessional to Founders Porch. The Senate and seniors will line the front walk, the juniors will be on the walk from Founders to Students Hall and the sophomores lining the diagonal. The freshmen will be led up the diagonal, supposedly for the first time, to the front steps of Founders Hall.

Completing the program will be a freshman cheer and the singing of the Alma Mater.

Class ushers have been appointed to guide each class to its proper position. They are Frank Harlacher, head; Phil Norris and Phil Halicke, seniors; Fred Diefenbacher and Ray McHenry, juniors; Dick Ikeda and Rem Grove, sophomores; and Paul Morrison and Gerry Richards, freshmen.

College Communion Scheduled Thursday

A College Communion Service will be held Thursday in Oller Hall at 9 p. m.

Pres. Calvert N. Ellis will officiate and several of the ministers of faculty will participate. The service used is the modified form from the Amsterdam Conference held in 1948. It has been used in campus Commuion services for five years.

The whole college community—students, faculty and administration—are invited to participate in the service.

Dancing Group Featured Sat. At JCA Party

The New Bavarian Schuhplattlers of Penn State will be featured at the JCA folk and square dance tomorrow at 8:15 in the Memorial Gymnasium.

After the demonstration by the Penn State group, Dr. Rockwell will call squares for all the assembled party goers.

Schuhplattle is an old German folk dance, plattle meaning slap. The dances exhibited will include the Dance of Courtship, the Dance of Jealousy and the Haushamer and perhaps some Swiss dancing.

This type of dancing was introduced into Penn State by Warren Hommas. At present the group of eight is headed by Bob James. They have been performing for many organizations in and out of the state. Last weekend they danced in a Folk Festival at Syracuse.

Speaker, Choir In Chapel Programs

The chapel schedule for the week of March 22-28 has been announced by Prof. G. Wayne Glick.

Paul Robinson will address the student body at the Monday morning service and then on Wednesday the A Cappella Choir will present an Easter cantata in connection with the all-college communion service.

The Friday morning period will be devoted to the annual move-up day ceremonies.

May Day Theme, Colors Revealed

The May Day Central Planning Committee has decided upon a music theme for the ceremony to be held May 2. The breakfast, coronation program and club displays will be centered around this theme.

The color scheme for the set will be light green, silver and pink. Floral decorations will be lilacs.

It was also decided that the Prince Charming will be elected rather than chosen by the queen as was done last year.

Faculty Attends Ed Conference

Nine members of the Juniata College faculty attended a two-day conference on The Christian Faith and Higher Education. The conference was held at the Nittany Lion Inn, State College, Saturday and Sunday, March 14-15.

The Conference was arranged by the faculty committee of the Student Christian Movement in the Middle Atlantic region. Prof. G. Wayne Glick is secretary of the committee.

In addition to Professor Glick, others who attended are: Phillip Bedient, Jack Brammer, Miss Gertrude Butler, Dr. George Clemens, Dr. Kenneth Crosby, Dr. Edgar Kiracofe, Dean Morley Mays, and Miss Mildred Tausch.

The theme of the conference was college teaching as a Christian vocation. Discussions were then held in the areas of the humanites, social sciences, and natural sciences. Edgar Heiman and Arnold Nash led discussions in the social and natural sciences respectfully.

Dr. Richard Niebuhr spoke Sunday evening on "Christian Existentialism."

A similar conference is scheduled March 21-22 at The Hun School, Princeton, N. J.

Columbus Boys Choir To Sing In Community Concert Here

Friday, March 27, at 8:30 p. m. in Oller Hall, the Community Concert Association will present the Columbus Boychoir.

This group of approximately forty boys is from the Columbus Boychoir School in Princeton, New Jersey. Under the direction of Mr. Herbert Huffman, they have toured all over the United States and Canada. They have appeared, among other places, at Philadelphia's Academy of Music and New York's Carnegie Hall and Madison Square Garden.

Their voices, which reach an almost celestial purity, will blend in a beautifully selected program. Their music will include "O Fillie et Filliae" by Leisring, "Scherzo No. 2" by Mendelssohn, "Waltz Op. 42" by Chopin, and "Ave Maria" by Schubert. They will also present Mozart's "Bastien and Bastienne," a comic opera in one act.

Mr. Huffman founded the school in Columbus, Ohio, in 1939. He had the conviction that no musical boy could be a bad boy if given the opportunity to make the most of his talent. In 1950, the school bought a building in Princeton where they are now housed. The traveling choir is on tour about five out of the nine months of school. While traveling their holt classes in the buses. Piano lessons are even given in the back of the bus.

Annually, hundreds of boys audition for the school; but only about twenty are accepted. Boys meeting the requirements are accepted without regard to financial circumstances. This artistic venture is supported largely by concert fees and by public subscriptions.

The Lure Of Nature

According to Mr. Daniel Webster and various other compilers of what we call dictionaries, a walk or a pavement is a "place where one walks." Webster certainly didn't reckon with human nature when that pearl of wisdom left the great man's pen. Its meaning has so changed that to most of us today, a pavement is a place where one doesn't walk, a decorative bit of cement which one avoids whenever possible.

We realize, of course, that especially in the spring time, that the call of the wild is luring many of you to desert the conventional pathways of civilization for the beckoning green lawns. Is it the squish of mud under your feet, or the feel of Mother Nature solidly planted beneath you, or perhaps the vitality which springs into you from the growing earth—what is it that brings out the "nature boy" quality in you? What is it about spring that forces you from the tried and true pavements to go sprinting in all directions over the campus, anywhere so long as it isn't a pavement?

We sympathize with your love of spring and your urge to enjoy it. But surely there are other less destructive ways to communicate with nature than romping all over campus grounds. There are many places in the surrounding area suitable for hiking and communing with Mother Earth. Why turn the campus grounds into a trampled and footworn path?

The college is constantly working to improve our campus. Just last year the front walk was renovated. There are any number of conveniently located walks around the campus area. Take the diagonal for example. Each year the frosh wait eagerly for Move-Up Day when they are led up the sacred walk, theoretically for the first time. But no sooner permitted on the hallowed ground, they forsake it with the rest for the continual shortcuts across campus.

Now that the balmy weather is here at hand, we join with the administration in asking for your cooperation. Keep the campus looking at its best. Stick to the pavements and take your cross-country hiking somewhere else.

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

To smoke or not to smoke—that is the question, and a rather controversial one at that. The new Student Center is making a great deal of progress, thanks to the undying efforts of Russ Hill and his committee for the project. With a little help from the weatherman, time schedules will be met and the project will be finished on time, but what then—nobody seems to know.

Whenever a group of fellows and coeds get together anymore, it seems that the subject of conversation eventually turns to the smoking question. Administrative policies have not been stated on the issue at this point and rumors circulate fast and furious. It is rather evident, however, that the trend through the past has always been an emphatic 'no' in answer to similar questions. Now we wonder if the Board of Trustees, the powers-what-be, will bow to the apparent will of the students or, as one rather bitter individual puts it, "increase the business at Skip's".

Probably the administrative board feels that if the liberty of smoking in the union is granted that it will only be a short step until permission to smoke on campus will be sought after by the students. Maybe, this is so; but only time is equipped to answer questions of this sort. Personally we doubt that the students really have any ulterior motives of this sort for we realize that when we made the step to come to Juniata that certain privileges had to be relinquished to correspond with set customs.

The pressure was never really applied to the extent it is being now for the smoking privileges. A number of far-sighted individuals on campus realize the need for student cooperation in making the plan a success, both in the Spring is almost here. Another six days and the new season will be a fact. And then we can all look forward to the usual phenomena that accompany spring—lethargy and thoughts of love. Which inspires which. we don't know.

A look into things on campus would give a casual visitor the impression that spring had already visited Juniata's campus; that is if he happened to be present any of these last few nights on the patio of the Cloisters. And also assuming that he was skillful enough to avoid hurtling coke bottles and the noisy land mines laid for unwary night watchmen.

If he was not so fortunate he might be of the same frame of mind as Bernie Petrusky who said that he woke up and thought he was on the Choisin Reservoir in Korea the other night when some plucky musician essayed Reveille on his trumpet at three o'clock in the morning. Bewildered by the horns, bombs, firecrackers and yelling Bernie said he could visualize hundreds of North Koreans swooping down from the hills on our fair campus.

It certainly was an unusual affair. What provoked it directly is a matter for conjecture. Some are of the opinion that Spring and youthful fancy are responsible, while others blame it on certain measures the administration is employing at the present time. It could very possibly be Spring because the weather has been just short of balmy these last few days and on the other hand, the annoying hassle that takes place every so often in the parking lot may have led some to blame the administration.

Maybe it's a combination of both? That would seem the more likely reason. The ingenuity that was expended in preparation for the foray certainly suggests the renewed energy that accompanies warmer weather. And the choice selection of the night watchmen probably was due to their proximity to the gory ground.

Anyway if it happens again we'll probably have to blame springtime for it because since Dave Bayer's talk in Oller Hall last Monday night we were assured that the administration's reasons for using extra night watchmen were altogether good ones. It won't be necessary to cite them.

According to Prof. Glick's reasoning about swearing, many a JC student should swear: "By Skip's!;" "Oh, my cigarettes!;" or there are even a few who should say "Holy Library!" instead of the usual oaths.

Probably most of you have at one time or another noticed the words of wisdom on the bulletin board of the Stone Church. Besides reading and enjoying them I wonder if anyone ever thought to abide by them.

"Are you out of pep and energy? Do you have that tired and run-down feeling?" Instead of an ad for Sam's Super Syrup, that sounds more like a logical question to pose to the student body after those mid-terms. Oh well, t'aint nothin' eight hours sleep won't cure (a few A's might help compensate!).

"They'll do it every time!".... test at 10:30.... good speaker in chapel.... forgot your knitting and nothing else to do.... boring topic. Never fails! "And so to sleep again."

Daffy-nition of Social Rooms .... 12:30 to 12:45 a. m., parking space.... 9:30 to 10:30 p. m., parking place!

Gee, its gotten so a body can't brush his teeth or answer the telephone without having a "Go out for Gummup" or "Check that box for Babe—the blue ox"—sign staring you in the face! How frustrating can an election get?

While discussing Elizabeth Barrett Browning's sonnet, "How Do I Love Thee?", in Intro. to Lit. class, Dr. Binkley's comment was, "Who knows how often those words have echoed from a parked car?" How would you know, Dr. Binkley?

According to a recent survey it has been discovered that the work on the student center has yielded more dirty faces than any other project of Juniata College.

Have you ever wondered what Juniatians could ever do without Georgie German? After all, not every college has alligator sales in front of classrooms! Prof. Glick thinks so, too.

A few days ago Pres. Ellis was assured that Dave Bayer would make an outstanding track man when he saw Dave chase Louise Heinbaugh from Skip's to Student's Hall and then shove snow down her back. Remember, Dave?

As an assurance that Juniata kids are normal, beat your way through the fire tower any evening about 9:55 or better yet ask Mac. He's the man who ought to know.

Mary Jane (Mouse) Bridenbaugh serves as a very able referee for men's intramural games. What's it like to have a woman shove the rules at you, fellows?

All indications seem to suggest that spring is near; but must everybody enjoy nature by going to the "cliffs" on Saturday afternoon? It gets sort of crowded up there.

Juniata Golfers Await 1953 Season

by Fred Heydrick

Starting the sixth year as an established intercollegiate sport on campus, Coach Edgar Kiracofe's 1953 edition of the Indian's golf team will tee off in eight dual matches and two tournaments.

The Tribe will initiate the season with Dickinson on April 22 and wind up with the traditional alumni match May 30. In tournament play, the linksmen will engage in their own Juniata Invitational and the annual Western Maryland Tournament. Last year the Tribe played poor hosts by copping the Juniata Tourney for the second straight time but lost a close decision to finish second to the University of Maryland in the thirteenth Western Maryland classic.

The Indians also carried on the tradition of never losing an intercollegiate match on home grounds, and the streak now stands at 23 straight victories. In dual meets the linksters compiled a five win and three loss mark, for a winning season, but the poorest to date. Included in the loss column was the first shutout ever recorded against a Juniata golf team. This by the University of Pittsburgh 5-0. The win column was aided by double wins over Dickinson and single wins over Bucknell, Johns Hopkins and Albright.

Dr. Edgar S. Kiracofe
• Indian Golf Coach •

Although no captain has been elected as yet, four returning veterans are in the running. The list includes senior Dave Bayer, juniors Tom Cherok and Bob Fahrney and soph Frank Arisin. Three freshmen are expected to work into the picture and have shown up well in practice. They include Bill West of Huntingdon, Barry Montgomery of Merion and Keith Birmingham of Coraopolis. Birmingham entered the National Caddies Tournament last year and placed high in the final standings.

Informal practice is being held on the Huntingdon links whenever weather permits. Later five men will be selected as varsity material with playoffs among members of the squad being the determining factor.

Zimmerman Captures I-M Scoring Honors

With the final compilation of the intramural scoring statistics, it was found that Fran Zimmerman of the Turks easily led the league with an amazing 401 points in 14 games for a 28.6 point average. Zimmerman topped his nearest rival in the total points scored, Wes Lingenfelter of the Covites, by 166 points and his nearest competitor in average points, Ron Morgan of the Blivits, by more than 10 points.

Morgan, who appeared in only 10 games, had an 18 point average, while Lingenfelter ended up the season with 235 points in 14 games for a 16.8 average.

Third in the scoring column was Gene Biddle of the Covites with 229 points for a 16.4 average. Others above the 200 scoring mark were John Richman of the YHO's with 219 points for 15.6 average, and Barry Drexler of the championship McKees Creek team with 207 points in 13 games for a 15.9 average. Dave Bayer, also of the YHO's just missed the charmed circle with 198 points for a 14.1 average.

Others in the first ten in scoring were Smith of the Jabberwockeys with 191; and Hackett and Newcombe both of the runner-up Hillboffers, and Hoover of the FM&M, all with 187 points.

Four members of the McKees Creek club ended in the first 25 in scoring: Drexler, Conley with 149, Svital with 143 and Pheasant with 136. The Covites had four men in the first 17: Lingenfelter, Biddle, Pote with 186 and Burket with 160. The runner-up Hillboffers placed five of their members in the first 30: Hacket, Newcombe, Hamor and LeFevre with 160 and 151 and Fusco with 126 in 11 games.

The third team in the league standings, the FM&M, placed three men in the first thirty: Hoover, Jara with 144 and Knox with 134. Dick Bowker who played only 11 games, just missed the top thirty with 118 points.

McKees Creek Intramural Champions Down Hillboffers To Take League Crown

THE McKEES CREEK SQUAD—1952-53 Men's Intramural Basketball Champions who captured 15 out of 16 games, including two play off wins.

Last Half Rally Clinches Game

McKees Creek reigns supreme today as champions of the men's intramural league. After ending the season tied for first place with the Hillboffers, the champs downed that team in the final game of the playoff competition between the first four clubs.

To reach the finals the Creeks had to rally from a 13 point deficit with but seven minutes left to down the Covites 65-63 last Thursday in the Memorial Gymnasium. The Covites had taken the lead early in the second quarter and led at half time 34-29, but the champions behind the superlative playing of Drexler, Pheasant and Conley rallied late in the final canto to eke out their two point margin. Scoring honors for the game were shared by Drexler of the winners and Biddle of the Covites, each with 19. Pheasant swished 16 and Conley 13 for the winners while Burket and Pote sank 14 and 13 for the losers.

In the other game, the Hillboffers also had to come from behind to edge out the crippled FM&M 62-59. The score at the third quarter mark was tied 43-43, but soon after the beginning of the final canto Chuck Knox was hurt and Henry Jara, easily the star of the game, fouled out to leave the FM&M with only four players. In spite of this this Boffers could only outscore the losers by three points in that last quarter. Leading the Boffers to their victory were John Cook with 20, LeFevre with 15 and Newcombe with 14. The losers were lead by Ulsh, Knox and Bowker with 19, 12, and 11 respectively.

On the next evening the Creekers again had to rally to stop the Hillboffers, this time by a decisive 16 points 66-50 margin. The Boffers jumped off to a quick 17-10 first period margin and still led at halftime 27-23, but the Valley boys took complete control in the second half and ran the Boffers into the ground by a 42-23 second into the ground 42-23. Drexler led his team to their triumph with 24 points, while Conley and Pheasant chimed in with 16 and 13 respectively. John Cook also repeated as high scorer for his club with 16 points, while Hamor and Newcombe helped the losing cause with 11 and 10.

Athletic Subsidation Provides Policy Problems For College

by John Richman

Today in every college and university in the United States, both large and small, the question of athletics has grown to be a tremendously important one. Coaches, players, and even the administrations of many schools are under immense pressure to win—sometimes to win at any cost.

There can be no doubt that college officials and students are faced with many serious problems arising from the present state of intercollegiate athletics. What of athletic subsidies? What of discrimination against athletes? What of the effect of athletics on the school itself?

It cannot be denied that athletics are an important part of an institution such as ours. Ask yourself the question—What would Juniata be without them? Intercollegiate athletic competition is just as much a part of college life as is scholastic attainment.

Athletic subsidation does exist at Juniata. To contend that is does not would be blindly ignoring the facts. While many do not aprove of it, it is here to stay; and if realistically handled, this policy has many advantages, all of which Juniata is attempting to capitalize upon. Juniata, relatively new in this venture, has made many mistakes, but every effort is being made to remedy them.

While a few would have it believed that the faculty, administration and student body assume position of positive or negative discrimination toward athletes, this situation which has been present at Juniata is rapidly on the decrease. This has been the case during the last four years. The athletes of the freshman class have helped considerably to further break down this barrier.

Juniata's policy of athletics has not been one of win at any price but one of friendly rivalry with schools similar to her in size and ideals. At all times every effort has been made to face squarely the problem arising from athletics.

Jake Handzelek, Juniata guard, was named last week to the Associated Press All-Pennsylvania basketball squad. Handzelek, a freshman, rewrote the College scoring records this season, setting a new high for total points scored and game average with 473 and 23.7 points respectively. Joining Handzelek in the honorable mention list were many players from Juniata's opponents.

formitive stage and after the union is put into active use. Right now the administration has not released a policy on the issue and the students are continuing work on the project without any apparent qualms; but the question of the resulting reaction in the event that the project is finished and then administrative doctrines state 'no smoking' is a interesting one. As in any such controversy there are a number of students who say that an out right revolt of students will bring about the desires in a hurry. We realize however that in a school the size of ours those things just do not work out right especially with the student body generally unable to agree 100 per cent. And certainly it doesn't establish friendly relations and cooperative attitudes between the competing groups.

We don't agree with a radical reaction in the event of an anti-student ruling but we also don't want a Student Center devoted to just making Juniata more susceptible to cliques. The non-smokers would spend their time at the union and the opposite side would frequent the campus landmark, Skip's. Little groups would break off and form the cliques that can ruin nearly any progressive society in a way that most of us realize.

College Miscellany

ACP—A noted American writer has told the public, via the pages of Esquire magazine, just what he thinks of the country's system of higher education—and it isn't very flattering.

Louis Bromfield, author of "The Rains Came," thinks that too many ignorant people hold college degrees: "Many of our college graduates, perhaps a majority, cannot think at all; they can only emote."

He blames "this tragic general ignorance" on three things: "our failure to discipline our children, our tolerance of downright subversion in the schools, and our emphasis on the college degree rather than the college education."

Some of the reasons for "messy" education, he says, are "the poorly paid teachers, the vast number of young people who should not be occupying spaces in a college or university, the mass neurotic emphasis on sports, the pedagogic dry rot which has been eliminating the human and humanist element from our thought."

On The Light Side

Closing hours for women's houses at Kansas State College have been extended a half hour to 10:30 on week nights. The ruling was made despite strong opposition from frosh coeds.

The freshmen feared a time extension might hurt scholarship, result in less sleep. Upperclassmen had no such doubts—they voted for extension.

Listeners to University of Oregon radio station KWAX found a music program rather monotonous the other day.

Station staff members were accidentally locked out of the control room while a turntable went round and round playing the same record.

Absent Minded (?)

A coed at Drake University, Iowa, rushed into Spanish class a few minutes late, threw off her coat and started to sit down. Students began to chuckle. The coed looked down horrified, then quickly threw her coat around her again and ran out.

She'd forgotten to wear a skirt.

On The Club Scene

By Sherill Edwards

Elections are high-lighting the campus club activity as the college prepares for the annual Move-up Day next Friday. Some clubs have already elected officers for the new year, while others are planning to do so in the very near future.

FTA

Tonight at the FTA meeting at 7:30 in Founders Chapel Mr. Jack Schell, Guidance Director of the Tyrone Public Schools and a graduate of Juniata College, will show a movie and give an accompanying lecture on the Tyrone Public School System. FTA members are asked to attend, especially since the election of officers will be held.

PYRENEES CLUB

Electing officers for the new year and discussing business matters, the Pyrenees Club will assemble at 7:00 in Room L in Students Hall.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

Monday evening at 7:15 in Room 104 a representative of the Bell Telephone Laboratories will give a demonstration with relays to the Chemistry Club. All are invited to attend the meeting.

Recently the club elected officers for next year. They are as follows: president, Wilfred Norris; vice-president, Dave Hercules; and secretary-treasurer, Pat Turner.

JCA

Miss Anna Benjamin, assistant professor, will talk to the JCA at the weekly meeting Tuesday evening at 7:15 in Founders Chapel. Since the election of the committee heads will be held also, all members are urged to attend.

CAMERA CLUB

Last night the Camera Club had a slide lecture on the use of filters in photography from the Kodak Company. The newly elected officers are as follows: president, Bill Garrison; vice-president, Willy White; and secretary-treasurer, Sue Mullendore.

LAMBDA GAMMA

At their last meeting, the Lambda Gamma elected the following officers for the new year: president, Rainy Belle Linn; vice-president, Mikey Mick; secretary, Mim Myers; and treasurer, Mary Jane Bridenbaugh. At present plans are being made for the annual spring dinner.

Circuit —

A word of warning to you all: don't let word of this spread to other campuses. You remember what happened last year in the panty raids. It spread from college to college. More than likely the nylon industry got rich. However there aren't enough masons and carpenters in the United States to repair the damages if our local phenomena started making the rounds.

Vol. 29—No. 24 | Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. | Friday, March 27, 1953

Classes To Nominate Queen, Attendants For May Day Apr. 9

Nominations for May Queen and attendants will be made April 9, the Thursday following spring vacation, according to Phyliis Link, May Day chairman. Elections will be held Tuesday, April 14 and the results will be announced at the May Day breakfast, Thursday, April 16.

Nominations will be made at class meetings by all members of the respective classes. The May Queen and her Maid of Honor will be elected from the senior class, while each class will have two attendants. Prince Charming will be a senior, nominated by his class and elected by the entire student body, rather than chosen by the queen as was done last year.

Just to help Juniata Joes and Janes, the May Day Committee has suggested the following requisites for the queen and her Prince Charming.

Beauty plus pleasing personality are the top considerations for the 1953 Queen of May. Add to that a sweet smile, cheerful disposition and graceful carriage and you have your ideal choice.

To complement the lovely Queen, Prince Charming should be tall and dashing. A neat appearance, ready smile and friendly personality all combine to produce a prince to match our charming Queen of May.

JC, 37 Colleges Initiate Plan To Raise Money

Juniata has joined with 37 other independent Pennsylvania colleges in a "community chest" plan to help increase the financial means available to these institutions.

These colleges have formed the "Foundation for Independent Colleges," a non-profit organization. Its purpose is to present a joint appeal to commercial and industrial concerns for support in budget-balancing.

The money raised will be distributed among the member institutions to supplement the funds of the Colleges. Each college will continue to use its tuition, gifts and endowments as in the past.

Contributions to the Foundation will be used entirely for operating expenses, covering such items as faculty salaries, scholarship grants and maintenance of plant, according to President Calvert Ellis.

President Ellis at the present time is treasurer of the organization. The Foundation was developed by the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities of which President Ellis is vice-president.

Ellis To Speak At Liberal Arts Conf.

Tonight at the Annual Meeting of the Pennsylvania Association of Liberal Arts Colleges for the Advancement of Teaching President Calvert N. Ellis will be a principle speaker.

The vice-president of the executive committee, his topic will be "Problems of Accreditation and the Liberal Arts College."

Recess Starts Tomorrow 12; Ends Tues., Apr. 7, 8 A. M.

It's Easter Bunny time again! Juniata College students and staff will be going home for Spring Recess from tomorrow, March 28, at noon until Tuesday, 8:00 A. M., April 7. Unless there is further notice from Dean Mays, tomorrow's classes will run on the usual time schedule.

THE COLUMBUS BOYCHOIR directed by Herbert Huffman, will present a concert in Oller Hall this evening. Their appearance is being sponsored by the Community Concert Association.

Boychoir To Sing Program In Oller Hall 8:30

Tonight at 8:30 p. m., the Columbus Boychoir will present in Oller Hall a four-part musical program varying from classical to modern.

Highlighting the program will be the performance of "Bastien and Bastienne," a comic opera in one act by Mozart. Complete with authentic costumes, the choir will act out the story of the two sweethearts. The opera was composed by Mozart when he was twelve years of age, the average age of the members of the Boychoir.

Their other numbers include "O Filii et Filiae," Leisring; "Kyrie from the Seventh Mass," Lotti; "Repleti Sunt Omnes," Handl; "A Ceremony of Bells," Britten; "Scherzo No. 2 from Midsummer Night's Dream," Mendelssohn; "Romanze," Schumann; "Waltz Opus 42," Chopin. "Ave Maria," Schubert; "The Echo," di Lasso; "Lullaby," Mozart; Medley of American Show Tunes arranged by Riley.

The Choir is trained by Herbert Huffman, a graduate of the Westminster Choir College. He established the choir in 1940 in Columbus, Ohio, and has been its musical director ever since. In 1950, the choir, which was first known as America's Singing Boys, moved to Princeton, New Jersey and became a national institution.

In a cooperative program with the Westminster Choir College, the Columbus Boychoir is training young men to organize boy choirs throughout the United States and Canada.

The group of approximately 40 boys is on tour five out of the nine months of school. Classes, even to the extent of piano lessons, are held in specially equipped buses. The school covers from about the fourth to the ninth grades.

The Boychoir is supported largely by concert fees and public subscription. Boys meeting the requirements are accepted without regard to financial circumstances. The school is non-sectarian.

The choir has appeared in the Philadelphia Academy of Music, Carnegie Hall and Madison Square Garden.

Women's League Donates $1000 To Student Center

The Women's League of Huntingdon has donated $1000 to the Student Center project, reports Russ Hill, general chairman. The Women's League Committee, headed by Allegra Forney and Jo Pentz, has also contacted the Martinsburg and Johnstown organizations but as yet have no definite report.

"Progress on the Center last week was good," adds Hill. Three inch cement strips have already been laid, and the steel will probably be put in during spring vacation. He stated that the project has reached the point where student labor will be at a minimum, since water proofing is the next step in the work, and following that the concrete and rubber tiles will be laid.

The mailing committee under the direction of Dott Taylor and Bob Wagoner has already sent out the first mailings to the parents and friends of the college. Six hundred brochures have been mailed and work has begun on the second set. Shortly after vacation, students will be asked to give the name and address of some friend they think would be interested in contributing to the Center.

Schedule Listed For Career Conferences

The remaining schedule of career conferences has been released by Mr. Bob Newcombe, adviser for the programs.

One conference will be held on campus April 11 and 12 for the freshman class party, while the following week will see another group attending a movie in Oller Hall—"The Red Pony."

Two smaller conferences are scheduled for April 25 and May 9 and 10 for the County Chorus and Faculty Talent Night programs.

Senate Recommends Meal Table Policy

The new Senate has proposed that couples desiring to sit together at meal times may do so upon the request of both individuals involved. They will also be asked to indicate whether or not they wish to sit at a table with three other couples. This may be done by contacting Juanita Carfora, secretary.

11 JC Alumni To Get Degrees In Grad School

Eleven Juniatians will be graduating from professional schools in the health professions this Spring. This indicates, again, the major role which Juniata's science department shares in preparing men and women for the medical world.

According to Dr. Homer C. Will, chairman of the division of natural sciences, seven of the eleven will be graduating in medicine and one of those is a coed. Three will graduate in dentistry and one in chiropody.

Four on the list are seniors at Jefferson Medical College: Frank L. Dorman, Elizabeth; Donald D. Dunkle, Johnstown; David W. Kulp, Pottstown; and Raymond P. Beckinger, Johnstown, all Class of '49. Two are seniors at Temple Medical School: A. Dalton James '49, West Chester; C. Beth Wenzel '48, Pittsburgh. Robert E. Dixon '48, is a senior at Hahnesmann Medical College.

William D. Crain '51ex, Tyrone, is in the graduating class in dentistry at the University of Pennsylvania; Jay C. Weist '50, Ephrata, is a senior at Temple Dental School; and Fern E. Ewing '49, Richmond Furnace, is a senior in dentistry at the University of Pittsburgh.

Lecture Program Set For Chapel

Three guest speakers in government and religious education have been scheduled for a lecture series this spring by the public programs committee of the faculty.

Col. Francis Miller, consultant to the State Department, will open the series Monday, April 20. Dr. Russell Henry Stafford, president of Hartford Theological Seminary, will speak April 29 and Dr. John Dillinberger, associate professor of religion, Columbia University, May 4.

Each will appear in the regular chapel service in Oller Hall. Abbreviated class schedules will be arranged. Arrangements have been made to permit townspeople to attend the lectures.

In charge of the public programs committee is Miss Esther Doyle, chairman; Prof. G. Wayne Glick, Prof. Donald Johnson and Miss Miriam Schlegel.

JCA Commission, Cabinet Elected

The JCA commissioners and committee heads were elected at the regular meeting last week.

The Christian Heritage Commissioner is Ron Morgan, who will be assisted by Dan Raffensberger, Bible and Doctrine; and Betty Shearer, Worship. The World Relatedness Commission will be headed by Naomi Kulp, with Barbara Grim as head of Evangelism and Missions, and Mary Jane Bridenbaugh in charge of Ecumenical Emphasis.

Helen Stutzman will take over Personal Campus Affairs, aided by Joan Schwartz, Personal Guidance; Paul Morrison, Christian Vocations; and Elaine Zook, Recreation. Janet Claycomb will direct the Social Responsibility Commission with Pat Henry in charge of Applied Christianity and Carol Lowdermilk heading Higher Education. Publicity Director is Joy Rinehart.

JWSF Drive Far Short Of Planned $1953

The incomplete report on the 1953 Juniata World Service Fund drive shows that $1345.28 has been collected thus far with a number of pledges not yet accounted for.

Chairman Jack Freymuller states that this year's drive is destined to fall below the goal which was set up previous to the campaign. The explanations for this failure to reach the goal are evident when this year's receipts are compared with the previous year's total. The main difference occurs in the fixed categories or the ones that have their budget arranged prior to the drive.

Total contributions from the student body show an apparent drop of over $200.00 from last year while other big deviations are noted in the play receipts and the absence of the 'no desserts' program. The drive began with a large deficit this year due to the change in procedure.

The incomplete breakdown shows $384.51 coming from the students, $287.07 from the "My Maryland" production and $290 from clubs and other organizations. Other large contributions came from friends of the drive, $109, and faculty and administration with $148 and $109 respective. An additional $19.70 was acquired through dividends from the auction.

Girls Honor Board Fails To Receive Necessary Votes

At a meeting of women students Wednesday evening, the proposed Honor System and Board was not accepted.

The meeting was called by Ginny Yohn, chairman of Women's House. A panel composed of Dottie Darrell, Lolita and Juanita Carfora, and Judy Shanabrook answered questions concerning the set-up and procedure of the board.

According to Miss Yohn, only three-fifths of the women attended the meeting, and of this group two-thirds voted for the Honor Board. She stated that in order to introduce such a policy, it must have the wholehearted support of all the girls.

The question of an honor system was first brought up in December. After discussing the merits of either an honor system or a demerit system, the girls voted unanimously in favor of an honor board. At that time Miss Darrell, the Carforas and Miss Shanabrook were chosen general coordinators to supervise the work.

The rules committee and honor board committee were then set up, and in cooperation with the coordinators drew up the proposed system which was voted down Wednesday.

Original Painting Given To College

An original painting entitled "The Headwaters of the Juniata" has been given to the College as a gift from the estate of the late Dean Homer Vanderbule of Northwestern University.

Painted in 1830 by Thomas Cole, the historic American landscape scene has been placed in President Ellis' reception office. In addition, two Staffordshire plates and two sketches of the painting have been presented to the college library.

Dean Vanderbule, head of the School of Commerce at Northwestern University, was a personal friend of the late Dr. Norman J. Brumbaugh. Prior to his death in 1952, he had contributed volumes from his library of business publications to the College.

Next Juniatian Issued Sat., Apr. 11

The next issue of the Juniatian will be published Saturday, April 11. This change in the regular publications date is caused by the Spring recess which ends April 7.

Commentary

Conflict

By John Potteiger

There seems to be a consensus of opinion that a student form his own opinions about the different controversial subjects with which we are confronted in our college career.

The other day in one of the mid-semester exams, a question of this sort was thrown at the class. "What does this age have for us and why sho.ld we study this age?"

Could this question be stated, "How much is that little doggie in the window?" The student must think, concentrate, and draw his own conclusions that will help him in the future. Marks will not count in the final balance sheet of life: the particular authors' environment has nothing to do with the subject whatsoever; drink deep of the past to know how to judge the future.

There are the points one must consider in a question such as the above. So being a conscientious student, I thought, I shall not be too tight in my judgment for the teacher might think that I have not read the classics. Nor would I be extravagant as then I would not have learned the finer things in life. I would give a profound explanation as to why I chose this particular dog as the teacher might begin to believe that I do not know how to judge correctly between good and bad. So after long consideration and vivid mental explanation, I answered the question thus: "The dog is worth $3.75."

Permit me to explain the choice of the different breeds in the window. Swift had the mange and finally got distemper. Pope also had distemper. S. Johnson was a good melancholy dog but he had a limp. Ovid, Homer and Juneval were good dogs but they were all speaking in foreign tongues. Gray was a nice pup but he was out of style. Boswell was a Lap dog, with a dull personality.

After being on pins and needles, checking the dog market reports daily, reading the latest information in the classical literature on Sergeant Preston and his faithful companion, King, to my dismay and profound disappointment the paper was returned marked minus with the teacher adding these words.

"You do not know dogs or you have not read the classics on all the preceding literature on the important dogs. The price of the dog one should see at the start is worth more than $3.75." The teacher expounded further: "How in the world can one be so impatient and say he would only pay $3.75 for the dog in the window. Now! Well! Oh, Yes! you did not state which window the dogs were in. After due consideration, I cannot give more than a minus. Now I shall say again to think before you answer and to find the hidden meaning. It is there, as all dogs have their price, but you missed it. One must always include the space that lies between the tail and the body to answer anything correctly."

If one is to think for himself in the classroom and in a test, if he is judged for his thoughts by a teacher whose thoughts and ideas are different from the student, who is right? Does the teacher know how much the doggie in the window is worth?

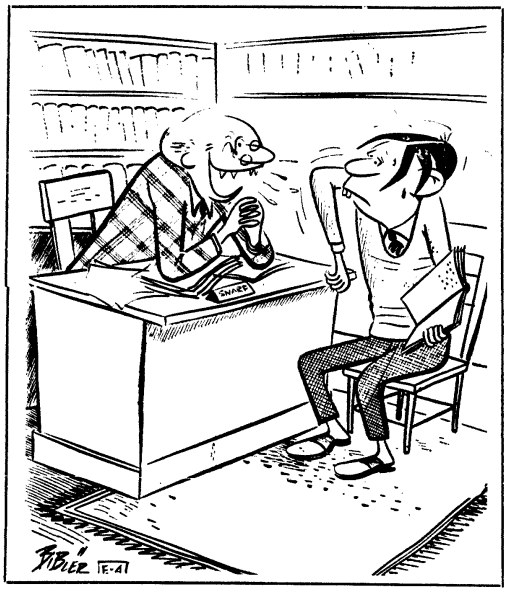
LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS By BIBLER



"Of course you could argue about this paper and prove me wrong—But why jeopardise yer whole future?"

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

An announcement has been released by radio station WHUN stating that the broadcasting hours will soon be increased. The station has been concluding each evening at 10:00 for the past few months.

When the short broadcasting day was first put into effect last winter the students on College Hill were slightly vexed because the popular Nightwatch record show was the program selected to be cancelled. Rumors always circulate when a curtailment is enforced on a function such as this. Many people were of the opinion that the radio station was in debt and would soon stop broadcasting altogether in a very short time. The refusal to explain the case on the part of the management didn't tend to alleviate the situation at all.

Now with the announcement of the resumed hours the explanations have come into the light. Technical difficulties rather than money matters seem to have been the most prominent in prompting the management to cancel late programs.

It is rather common knowledge that in the evening the atmospheric conditions provide a better sound reception for a radio beam. The radio stations are also permitted to increase their output following the daylight hours thus furthering the distance they can broadcast. It was here that the true difficulty faced WHUN for they are not the only station in this section of the country operating on the 1400 wave band, in fact there are nine other radio stations in the Eastern Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, Northern Maryland and Southern New York areas which broadcast on the same frequency. When the different waves intercept each other they cut out the signal thus limiting the area of broadcast reception. With WHUN's area so curtailed it became necessary for the station to stop broadcasting before the power increase went into effect.

Short Story

Schizophrenia

By E. L. Wilt Jr.

Imagine awakening, as after a long sleep, to find yourself lying on the broad steps of a stairway. You sit up, and all at once realize that it is not a stairway, but a wide escalator with smooth, white steps, and moving slowly downward. It is unusually wide, about twenty paces across; the wall-like banisters on either side are about three feet high and of a smooth, aluminum-like metal. The stairs stretch down in front of you as far as you can see, and the sides seem to come together like those of a railroad track and disappear from sight far, far below. Out in front of you, and around and above you, a myriad of tiny stars twinkle in a vast, black night. As you stand up to look around, you see the vague outline of your shadow cast far down upon the steps below. Quickly you turn around; there, a few hundred steps above, is an almost blinding luminous haze which seems to light the whole length of the stairway. You notice that the haze fades into the black night at the sides of the stairway and high above where the stairway disappears into it. The escalator-stairway is slowly but steadily bearing you downward and away from it.

A quick backward glance at the infinitude of steps below, and then you begin to mount the steps toward the light. Ten . . . twenty . . . twenty-five . . . you perceive that you have not overcome the downward rate of the escalator; you quicken your pace. Two steps at a time, now . . . forty . . . sixty . . . eighty . . . ninety, ninety-four, ninety-six—you stop, breathing hard. The light appears to be no closer than when you began to climb. You realize how tired you are, and at the same instant you know that you will not reach the top. The escalator continues steadily downward.

You observe that the banisters are not moving with it, but remain stationary. Hurriedly you aproach the one on your left. It is about a foot in width and has not sharp edges like those of the steps; the top surface is rounded and smooth. Beyond it, the stairs are not nearly so bright as those above, and as you peer over, they fade out until directly beneath, there is nothing but blackness. The luminosity is far up the steps now; you try to straddle the banister and hang on, but it is very smooth, and you begin to slide downward. You jump quickly off and hurry to the one on the other side. It is the same. And directly over and below—black nothing.

The light is farther than ever above. You sit down and try to think. There must be an end. There must be an end. But no end is in sight, only the light growing smaller behind you . . .

You turn your head to look at the stars out over the banister; suddenly you notice that the banister is a little bit higher than it was. You stand up to look at it—as solid, and smooth, and rounded as ever, but a little bit higher. You could barely get your leg over it now. Below, the stairway stretches out of sight. And over the banister—nothing.

Quickly you throw your right leg over the banister and assume a straddling position. The leg dangles in space, and the foot of your other barely touches the steps as you slowly begin to slide down the broad, smooth surface. Almost immediately your speed exceeds that of the descending escalator. Your foot does not brush the steps now, and you see that the distance from the top edge of the banister to the steps on your left is steadily increasing. Four feet above the steps now . . . faster and faster . . . six feet . . . ten . . . You know that if there is an end, you will be unable to stop yourself. You look over your shoulder; no end is in sight. For the first time you perceive that the width of banister between your legs is decreasing; the banister now is only about six inches wide. Your speed has increased tremendously, and you continue to accelerate. To your left, the stairway is twenty—thirty feet beneath; the steps are a mere blur. On your right—black nothing. The light far above is now only a tiny speck. You twist your head around and look below. On and on, faster still. No end is in sight. The banister grows narrower yet, and every nerve in your body is drawn taut as you try to keep your balance.

Then the top surface of the banister, growing ever narrower, becomes the thin, fine edge of a razor blade . . .

Wrestling Interests Tribe Fans; Possibility For Varsity Sport

The following article was written by a member of the Juniatian sports staff, Fred Heydrick, about one of the most exciting of spectator sports, collegiate wrestling. Heydrick, backed and prompted by a number of Juniata students who are interested in this sport, is from Clearfield, Pa., one of the biggest hotbeds of wrestling in Pennsylvania, thereby accounting for his great interest.

With the rise in popularity of intercollegiate wrestling in small colleges, circumstances point out that the initiation of the sport could be included in the expanding athletic program at Juniata. Facilities such as the new Memorial Gymnasium, plus the fact that Huntingdon does not support another wrestling team, point toward a possible high degree of interest from local and surrounding fans, as well as the student body.

Wrestling In Juniata?

But the question might be raised as to how Juniata could begin anything so big in scope as intercollegiate competition. This question could be answered by beginning an extensive intramural wrestling program which could be held on alternate nights with intramural basketball, or practiced in the regularly scheduled gym classes or in designated periods in the afternoon. These practices could be set up so that any boy with high school or collegiate wrestling experience could act as instructor. Later, if enough interest were shown, a practice schedule could be set up with nearby independent teams and prep schools, and as experience was gained, a definite varsity team could be formed.

Not Like Pro Bouts

Wrestling, as it stands today, is thought of by many people as a match between two muscle-bound men in a boxing ring, where they seem to delight to gouging out eyes and ramming each other's head against the ring post, while the referee stands idly by. However, intercollegiate wrestling is a far cry from that style of grappling. First of all, it includes a team of nine ranging in weight from 121 pounds up to the unlimited weight over 185 pounds. Thus this sport enables the 'little guy' to show his athletic prowess as well as the big man. The individual bouts take place on a 20' by 20' mat, and not in a ring. In intercollegiate wrestling the referee takes an active part in the action which takes place—in fact, a good ref can add excitement and even drama to a bout, for he is the court of final appeal in a match. He awards points to the wrestlers for the various actions of the mat. These include the take-down, when a man takes his opponent down to the mat from a standing position and thereby gains control; the escape, where a man escapes from his opponent's hold into a neutral position; the reverse, where a man escapes his opponent's hold and in so doing gains control over the opponent; the near fall, where the wrestler holds the other's shoulders to the mat for one second, and the fall where the shoulders are held down for two seconds, thereby ending a match.

Individual bouts are divided into three periods, each 2½ minutes long, and at the end of that time, a winner is declared on the basis of the most points scored, or on a fall, or pin. If the winner is a decision winner his team's score is boosted by three points; a fall boosts the team score six points if it occurs in the first period and five it it falls in either of the final two periods. Draws, or tie scores, add two points to each team score. Thus each man on a team has the opportunity to add points to his team's total. This is the appealing thing about wrestling, for each man, though a part of the team, is primarily an individual athlete during his time on the mat. This enables even a poor team to have men who are stars in their own right, even though their efforts are not enough to pull up the rest of the team to victory.

Outlook Good For Track Squad; Four Lettermen Return

The local thinclads are now in preparation for their opening track meet with the Shippensburg Red Raiders on April 15 by holding daily workouts on the College Field track. Although the Tribe has only four returning lettermen, prospects for the coming season appear to be the best in years. Coach Mike Snyder reports that 20 to 25 men, mostly frosh, are turning out for practice each day.

Having lost two star performers, dashman Jack Rothenberger and Don Brinton, distance man, from last year's squad, the thinclads will have big gaps to fill in these positions. However, the returning letter wearers, sensational Gene Rothenberger, hurdler and broad jump specialist, ace distance runner Bob Flory, half miler Wilfred Norris, and javelin thrower Larry Hartline, combine to form a promising nucleus for the club.

Also returning from last year's squad, although not letter winners, are Clem Rosenberger, pole vaulter and dashman, Chuck Knox, weightman, Lowell Hackman, hurdler and high jumper, and Dick Godshall, quarter miler.

As in most of Juniata's sports, the freshmen class constitutes the largest number of squad members. Particularly outstanding in pre-season practice are Don Davis, 440 man and high jumper, weightmen Al Nyce, Bill Yersyk, and Ernie Lashlee; dashmen Carl Trimber, Pat Tarquinio, Frank Campellone, and Carmen Ciarrocca; hurdler Tory Froisland, and distance runner Chuck Martin.

All Class Track Meet April 11

The annual all college interclass track meet will be held Saturday, April 11, it was announced this week by Athletic Director P. M. "Mike" Snyder. The competition will be held on the College Field track. All are invited to compete for their respective classes. This will be the big warmup for the Shippensburg meet which will be held the following Wednesday.

The Class of '54 will be after their third consecutive win, having won rather handily both their freshman and sophomore years. The Juniors have been paced both years by Norris, Flory, Knox, Henry, and Rosenberger. Regular intercollegiate track and field events will be held, with the exception of the 220-yd. low hurdles and the two mile run. All track candidates are especially urged to compete in this meet, for it is an indication to the coach of the capabilities of the men under pressure.

JC Invitational Will Be Golf Championship

The Juniata Invitational Tournament, a 36-hole medal golf tourney, has been scheduled as the golf championship event for the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference. The annual affair, which will be played for the fourth time May 9 at the American Legion Country Club near Mount Union, was won last year by the local golf team.

WAA Sinks J Club In Girl - Boy Basketball

by Nancy Blanck

Nearly everyone who witnessed the contest between the members of the WAA and the J Club last Friday night had this to say, "Basketball was never like this!"

The game, which was won by the girls by the score of 29-27, was full of excitement, thrills and laughs. Wearing boxing gloves did not seem to hamper the boys, all varsity-letter-winners, for they made some seemingly impossible shots, and often astonished the girls with their shifting defense. However, at the end of the regulation four quarters the score was tied at 27-all. Two overtime periods produced no score, so it became a struggle of sudden death. Almost immediately in this period June Inoye scored on a beautiful set shot and the girls became the victors.

It is the opinion of many that this game should become one of the traditions of Juniata College, and that the program of the game, the refreshments, and the dance afterwards was definitely Saturday night entertainment. It was also noted that this type of program reaches and pleases a wider group of students than have many other features on College Hill. The WAA and The J Club should be commended in that they have initiated something new and enjoyable for the students.

Hinish Reveals Policy; Spring Intramurals To Begin After Vacation

With the recent elections for Senate chairmanships, Joe Hinish has been elected Chairman of Athletics to replace Charlie Towns. Joe, a sophomore, is a letter winner in baseball, has played JV basketball for two campaigns, and is an active participant in intramural football.

In announcing his policy of office, Hinish stated that all intramural sports will be expanded to suit the needs and desires of the students. "Intramural softball, tennis and golf campaigns will begin immediately after spring recess", said Joe this week. The program is presently at a standstill because of the between-season break due to unpredictable weather conditions. "There will be a tennis tournament as well as a golf tournament for anyone interested in intramural participation," Hinish stated.

Divided Softball League

If the intramural softball league is overly large, it will be divided into two sections, with the winners of each section meeting in a playoff. Hinish also hopes to set up a commission such as was formed in the basketball league, to handle all disputes and to coordinate an umpiring system. Game schedules will be set up to meet the needs of the teams; i. e., games will be played in the evening for those teams which cannot play in the afternoons.

Wrestling Possible

When asked about the possibility of wrestling in the school's athletics, Joe replied that the intramural program could be expanded to meet this desire. He hinted that a wrestling tournament, or even a league might be set up if the students wish this next fall.

Another issue that Hinish discussed was the refereeing problem. He stated that a system could be set up whereby those fellows who are working for the college's athletic department could referee ball games and count these hours as working hours. An alternative plan could be that a third team would be responsible for supplying a ref for a game between two other teams.

Sixteen Out For Varsity Tennis

Daily practice sessions are being held by the JC tennis team on the downtown asphalt courts in preparation for the opening match with Lycoming on April 14. Coach James Penney has announced that there are 16 players registered for the six man team. Elimination playoffs will be held after Easter recess to determine the starting sextet.

These elimination playoffs are staged so that a player low on the starting listings may challenge a player four rungs above him in the ladder. However after the season begins a player may challenge a player only three rungs above him, and those in the first six may challenge someone only two rungs above him. Thus by playing a challenge match, a player may move several rungs up or down the ladder. The theory is that the best players on the squad are able to oust all the poorer players from the top positions and the best possible squad will result.

Those now in competition for these top six positions are: Bowker, Bruno, Byers, D. Brumbaugh, Dodge, Fusco, Gingrich, Gross, Hiemyer, Motisher, Mitchell, Pfrogner, Raffensberger, Shreiner, Underkoffler, and Wills. It was announced that all spots are still open, so others are still welcome to try out for the team.

9 Chem Majors Tour Industrial Plants In Penna.

The industrial chemistry seminar class has been on tour of industries in western Pennsylvania since Wednesday.

Dr. Donald M. Rockwell and Dr. Eva Hartzler, faculty members of the chemistry department, had charge of the tour which included visits to the U. S. Bureau of Mines, Bruceton; Koppers Co. Works, Kobuta; St. Joseph Lead Co., Monaca; Mellon Institute, Pittsburgh; and the Aluminum Company of America Research Laboratories, New Kensington.

Members of the class making the trip are Carol Shoemaker, Sid Clark, Jack Walters, Ray Fowler, Galen Frysinger, Wilfred Norris, Bill White, Maurice Henry and Dave Hercules. They will return to campus today.

Skips Now Under New Management

Mr. Earl Brenneman has become the new owner of 'the house of smokes and cokes' in a transaction announced last week. The former resident of St. Petersburg, Florida took over the management of Skips from former owner Joe Champa.

He has been in the restaurant business for a great part of his life and has been associated in restaurants in Huntingdon previous to this venture.

He has made known his interest in the wishes of the students in any improvements and changes to the newly purchased business place.

Jean Baker Takes Blue - Gold Special

Miss Jean Baker, a sophomore, is the only reported winner in the second Blue and Gold Star Special contest conducted last week.

The winner received a $2.00 gift certificate from Danks & Co. as her prize.

Polls Open Tues. For Election May Queen, Prince, Court

The Queen of May and Melody, Prince Charming and the attendants, who will reign over the May Day festivities, will be elected Tuesday by the student body. Polls will be open from 7:45 a. m. to 2 p. m. in front of Students Hall and from immediately after dinner to 7:15 p. m. in Founders Hall lobby.

All students will vote for two senior girls who will serve as Queen and Maid of Honor and for the Prince Charming. In addition, students will cast their ballots for two attendants from their own class. They are asked to elect attendants who will complement each other.

Eleven senior candidates are in the running for the coveted May crown. They are Jane Abel, Jody Casteel, Rhoda Gaugler, Phyllis Link, Mickey Monks, Marj Peightel, Jo Pentz, Martha Petre, Carol Shoemaker, Jean Staude and Jan Wenger.

Competing for the Prince Charming title are Dave Bayer, Don Bracken, Sid Clark, Bob Folk, Dick Hollinger, Ted McGwire and Bob Wagoner

Juniors Listed

Junior contenders are Peggy Brumbaugh, Marge Ferguson, Naomi Kulp, Nancy McCahan, Dorcas Mertz, Joyce Mullan, Mary Lou Neikirk, Helen Rosengren, Nell Shoop and Audrey Weber.

The sophomore attendants will be chosen from Jeanne Baker, Kay Bubeck, Donna Croft, Lucille Eshelman, Rainy Belle Linn, Doris Markey, Anne Lee Over and Joy Rinehart.

Revealed At Breakfast

The Queen of May and Melody, the Prince Charming and the court will be revealed at the May Day breakfast Thursday at 7:30 a. m. The color scheme of the event will be pink, silver and green; and in keeping with the music theme, the centerpieces will be music boxes, staffs and notes.

Jo Pentz, chairman, expects between 150 and 200 girls to attend the affair. Faculty members and wives have been invited.

The method of revealing the court is a top secret, but Miss Pentz has stated that they will be announced in the following order: attendants, Prince Charming, Maid of Honor and Queen of May and Melody.

Processional

Following the breakfast, the girls will line the walk from the dining hall and a processional of the Queen and Court will take place.

Members of the breakfast committee are Miss Pentz, chairman, Janet Claycomb, Rhoda Gaugler, Kay Kellogg and Dorcas Mertz.

Men students will eat at 6:30 a. m. Thursday.

Senate Discusses Center, Budget, Dining Announcer

The Student Center, the budget, and the appointment of a dining hall announcer were among the topics discussed at the first session of the 1953-54 Senate, Wednesday evening.

Russ Hill, Chairman of the Student Center, reported on the general progress of the project and stated that $450 had been given by the Women's League of Johnstown. Over $600 had been received to date from the first mailing to alumni, parents and friends of the college. A report was also given by John Dale, Chairman of the Work Committee.

Budget Presented

The new budget was presented by treasurer Bob Fahrney and accepted by the Senate.

It was decided that try-outs for dining hall anouncer will be held in the near future. Wilfred Norris, chairman, and Jeanie Tait were appointed as a try-out committee.

Wednesday at 7 p. m. in the Women's Day Students Room was chosen as the regular meeting time of the Senate.

Future Agenda

The future agenda will include Leadership Conference plans, the approval of delegates to this conference, and the appointment of the Athletic, Social and Underclass committees.

The outgoing Senate, at a combined meeting Friday, Mar. 27, voted to grant to Claudia Pilutik enough money from the Foreign Student Aid Fund to cover her tuition expenses.

At an open session, Mar. 25, the dining hall problem was discussed and Bob Wagoner was designated to call a meeting of all table heads to present suggestions.

Frosh To Stage Baseball Affair 8 p.m. In New Gym

The annual freshman class party will be staged tonight at 8 p. m. in the Memorial Gym. The entire ball has been arranged with the theme surrounding the opening of the major league baseball season. A wide program of entertainment has been lined up to provide pleasant hours for those attending, states class president, John Yates.

The musical portion of the program will be provided by the Royals, Juniata's own dance band. During the intermission an original skit will be presented featuring the freshman quartet consisting of Howie Kerstetter, Ernie Lashly, Don Davis and Barry Drexler.

An additional program of relaxation has been outlined by the Frosh for the hours preceding the dance program. Supper will be served tonight at 5 p. m. in order to allow all interested to participate in mixed softball and volley ball games in Sherwood Grove for the remaining daylight hours.

Sweaters and socks will be in order for the girls and in addition President Yates announces that a prize will be presented to the person wearing the most original pair of socks. Refreshments will be served at the dance.

To top off an already eventful evening the party will have as guest a TV celebrity. Rich Chaulk, who has been the MC of the Ralph Edward's TV show the past two years, will be on hand. Rich is one of about 30 sub-freshmen who are on campus this weekend.

Concert Pianist To Appear Mon. In AAC Series

Miss Iren Marik, Hungarian-born pianist, will give a complimentary public recital in Oller Hall Monday at 8:15 p. m. She is presented through the Arts Program of the Association of American Colleges.

In addition to her recital, Miss Marik will speak in chapel Monday morning and will talk and play for the music classes in Swigart Hall Tuesday.

Miss Marik, a graduate of the Franz Liszt Academy of Music in Budapest, was a pupil of Bela Bartok and is one of the foremost interpreters of his work. A series of recitals were the background for her appearance as soloist with the leading orchestras in Europe. Newspapers abroad have testified to her unusually beautiful 'singing tone', and her deep, sensitive interpretations. Miss Marik launched her American career with a concert at New York's Town Hall. American newspapers were no less enthusiastic than those abroad.

Now on the faculty of Sweet Briar College, Miss Marik is combining her profession of concert pianist with that of music teacher. Her aim is to give her students a basic, simple knowledge of piano technique on which they can build further if they wish to continue their studies more strenuously. For herself she sets a more exacting schedule—she practices five hours daily in order to be "in better hand."

3 Juniors Elected To JC Honor Society

Three members of the class of '54 have been elected to membership in the Juniata College Honor Society. They are Bob Bridenbaugh, Naomi Kulp and Wilfred Norris.

Qualifications for membership in the group are listed in the constitution as scholarly achievement, moral integrity and broad cultural interests.

The new members were elected by a committee composed of President Ellis, faculty members and students elected last year to the Society. Last year's members include Ron Cherry, Phyllis Link, Carol Shoemaker, Jack Ulsh and Jack Walter.

Bloodmobile Unit Due To Visit In New Gym May 4

Wednesday, April 29, a Red Cross Bloodmobile unit will be stationed at our Memorial Gymnasium for the entire afternoon to receive donations of blood from the students and faculty. Some of the donated blood will go to Red Cross units with our armed forces, and some will go to the local Red Cross Blood Bank.

Students and faculty members who wish to give blood are requested to obtain blood donor pledge blanks from the members of a special committee formed for the purpose of distributing these pledge blanks, and headed by Professor G. Wayne Glick. The members of this committee are Dean James Penney, Miss Barbara Cochran, Lolita Carfora, Kass Keeler, Jane Ellenberger, Dagmar Silldorff, John Martin, William Swaim, and Charles Townes.

It is hoped that there will be at least 200 donors from the college. Possibly 20% of the prospective donors will be physically disqualified from giving blood on the basis of the results of a brief physical examination which each prospective blood donor must undergo when he reports to the gym. It is estimated that the whole process of a physical examination and the donation of Student Recital Presented Sun.

The second in a series of student voice recitals will be given in Swigart Hall on Sunday, April 12 at 3:30 p. m.

Ten students of Miss Pfotenhauer: Donna Vasbinder, Jeanne Blend, Barbara Donnelly, Rae Bamforth, Ronald Dilling, Carol Lowdermilk, Mary Helen West, Sylvia Shuler, Helen Rosengren, and Paul Morrison will appear on the program assisted by Janet Binkley playing the violin and Virginia Watson at the piano.

The program will consist of Italian, German, French and English song literature.

All students and faculty are cordially invited to attend this recital.

Crosby Elected Senate Adviser

Dr. Kenneth Crosby, chairman of the history department, will serve as Senate adviser for the coming year. This will be Dr. Crosby's fourth consecutive year in this position. He was chosen at a meeting of the Senate held prior to the spring vacation.

Dr. Crosby graduated from Wilmington College, Ohio in 1939 and received his A. M. the following year from Haverford College. After serving four years in the army as chaplain, he entered George Washington University where he received his Ph. D. in 1949.

Dr. Crosby, a native of Ohio, came to Juniata in 1948 and was elected as Senate adviser for the first time in 1950.

Charity Ball Set May 13; Features Dorsey Brothers

The fourth annual Charity Ball will be held Wednesday, May 13, in the Memorial Gymnasium with music and entertainment provided by Tommy Dorsey and his orchestra, featuring Jimmy Dorsey.

The Charity Ball is planned with the purpose of raising funds for the J. C. Blair Memorial Hospital. This is the second year that the county-wide project will be held on the college campus.

According to Bob Newcombe, general chairman, dancing will be from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. Girls will receive special lates for the big affair. Bernie Petrusky and Harold Brumbaugh are serving as co-chairman of the decorations committee.

This is perhaps one of the first engagements of the merger of Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey into a new Dorsey Brothers orchestra. This 1953 reorganization of the outfit will mark the first time that the brothers have worked together since their first orchestra back in 1934.

A Case To Consider

Two weeks ago the Juniata College Debating Team was invited to send two delegates to the Carnegie Invitational Tournament in Pittsburgh, one of the important highlights of debating competition, in which approximately 20 schools would participate. However Juniata was not represented because the necessary financial means were not available. The team is supported by the College which felt that debators' past record did not merit additional money for the Pitt venture.

In their two tourneys, the debators came out with five wins and ten losses. In the state tournament at Lehigh, they took two out of nine and in the Mt. Mercy Invitational they split three and three.

This record may, at first glance, seem quite a blow to prestige on College Hill. But the fact that the team is in competition with large schools allotting a considerable budget and providing training for their debators sheds some light on the matter. There is a seeming lack of interest in our debating society. No coaching or training is [illegible] and it is only in the past months that the club has had an [illegible] such conditions the debating team has handled itself [illegible] torily.

Was it fair to deny to these debators who have worked [illegible] long hours the opportunity to participate in an outstanding [illegible] event of the year, just because their past record was not all that could be hoped for? In past years the College has continued to support teams whose records have been even less impressive. Should a team be overlooked merely because its popular appeal is perhaps not too extensive and its interest factor is limited? Undoubtedly, the student body does not follow the team's successes and failures with as much anticipation as other events on College Hill, but this is hardly reason enough to put a damper on the activities of any campus organization.

CIRCUIT RIDER

Here And There

by JACK FREYMULLER

Easter vacation over, the semester is in its homeward stretch. This part of the term is the hardest, too, because the courses have settled down into a routine broken only by sporadic testing. And the hurdle of warm weather and blooming trees and flowers is before us. It takes real determination to resist the urge to wander around campus during balmy days and instead remain in your gloomy room and pore over the texts. That is where they seperate the men from the boys—or more logically, the students from the convalescents.

Juniata is a nice place to be in the Springtime. Forgetting studies, there are places like Whipple's Dam and the Raystown, Greenwood and many other spots of natural beauty where one may find a few pleasant hours of relaxation with friends. It takes a car, of course, but there are plenty of them on campus.

So what do we do when Zephyrus once more blows his sweet breath over the countryside—as he said! We take to the hills.

Its remarkable the way this new Student Center has come to be an actuality. First it was rumor; a short time later it was an official possibility; then it blossomed out as a probability and also, a campus issue; now here it is voted, decided and begun. And all within the short space of a year if my memory serves.

One day the old gym stood there intact; the next it looked like an atom bomb had been exploded in the basement. But atoms can't stack bricks, pile up lumber, and lay cement. No, it took the labor of JC students who worked afternoons and evenings, in clear weather and fair. And they're still working at it.

Five years ago any sensible Juniatian would have scoffed at the idea of a Student Union. And with reason, too. It's remarkable that since then ideas have changed so that it is now being built. And it's fortunate that these ideas have changed because there is a pressing need for this organization on Juniata's campus. It should solve the problem of what to do in your spare time. It's one of the more serious problems that we face because it is a well-known fact to all who went here that amusement and recreation are invaluable rarities.

Moore St. Melodies

Anon

We're back again this week after a short vacation in which we managed to pile up a great amount of sleep and good food at home. And we sure needed it, too! Anything spent away from our own exclusive restaurant on campus is a good time. Easter was nice; no "mystery cake" [illegible] cabbage, no broccoli, none of [illegible]ville "purple potion" that is [illegible] off as a beverage. Gained [illegible] pounds. Eh, still didn't gain as much as George Hatfield. Still can't [illegible] belt in the back. [illegible] right, you rain.

People have come back from vacation sporting a number of new things like, for example, Larry Wright who exchanged his Mercury for a Ford while home. Seems like he's going the wrong way. And Peggy Barrington traded her old Jeep in on a newer and tinnier model. That's the way to go, Peg, but what happened to that '37 Olds? Board of Health get after it? Moon Mullin came back with long hair but within a day he was back on the ball.

Have you ever heard the original "bop" joke? Seems like when Teddy Roosevelt got up before the Congress about the Panama Canal, he said, "Man, dig that ditch!"

Some very interesting sights were to be seen at the softball game between the Campus Queens and the Doormats last Wednesday afternoon. It was rather a strange affairs as the 31-0 score in favor of the Doormats will testify. I guess they showed the Queens that they couldn't step all over them. One of the more interesting features of the game was the two-man catcher system employed by the Queens. I guess Doreen's pitching was too much for Nancy Phillips alone so Katie Kellogg stood six feet behind her in order to stop any wild ones. Referee "Chip" Bayley was in hot water many a time with his calls. Can't say as I blame him though. I think I'd be inclined to poor eyesight when the girls were at bat. The only incident to mar the game was the rhubarb that ensued when the Doormats wouldn't let "Hooch" Hoover play on the side of the Campus Queens. Better luck next time, "Hooch".

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

This fast paced world of ours is always regarded as one operating at a selfish, personal satisfying round of turmoil. Peace talks taking place half way around the world, investigations on everybody and everything here at home, mixups of every sort in government, labor and private business lead one to wonder if the person's warm feelings of the individual American is still intact.

There was a time in the early history of the United States, so the books says, when people were just as interested in helping one another as in their personal benefits. The country was operating on a basis of intercooperation among the early settlers; a helping hand was always present with only a slight beckoning needed to produce instant results. The neighbors were not just people who lived next door, and the people down the street had not reached the point of namelessness.

Indeed the American folks of 1953 and of many preceeding years have been accused of being cold and aloof to the problems and interests of even their very neighbors. But even though the outward signs of dependency have been erased from the hearts of the American people, a nation founded on a firm belief in personal freedom, remain the same when a tragedy strikes one of its members.

Two weeks ago in Johnstown, Pa. a small youth and his companion were playing in the small park bordering on the concrete river walls of the Conemaugh River. The hat of the one youngster, their names are not of importance, fell off his head and rolled over the wall and settled about four feet from the rain swollen waters of a generally shallow slow-flowing river. His companion clambered over the wall intent on retriving the lost headpiece. He lost his balance and plunged into the turbulent waters and was immediately swept away. At the time of this writing, two weeks after his disappearance, the body was still located somewhere in the river.

The heartaches caused by the loss of a son can only be experienced by the boys parents but the hearts of the people in the city were touched by this tragedy that had befallen one of their number. Operations were immediately commenced with the purpose of reclaiming the body of the boy from the waters; but as we have already stated the rescuers were unsuccessful.

The fireman of the city department and local volunteer outfits spent over 1700 hours on the river in the following days searching for the body of the youth. This time was all off-duty time and had no pay connected.

Intramural Spring Sports Start Softball Begins, 11 Team League

With the opening of the men's intramural softball league, Senate Sports Chairman Joe Hinish reports that eleven teams are now scheduled to participate this spring. All games will be played at 3:15 p. m. until the beginning of daylight saving time when evening games will be played. Hinish announced too that all games will be nine innings long, and that there will be no 'roving fielder' thus making nine man teams. Games are to be played on all weekdays, thereby utilizing all playable days for this spring.

A softball commission composed of Tory Froisland, Charlie Towns, Fran Zimmerman and Hinish has been set up to handle all disputes and to determine league policy. This commission has set up the policy that no player limit will be set for any team, except if a team should forfeit a game because of lack of players. In that case the commission will set up a definite number of players for that team, so as to eliminate as many forfeits as possible. The commission may declare a forfeit void, however, on appeal by the forfeiting team. This will be done only in special cases, and in these cases, the commission will treat the game as postponed and reschedule it.

The commission has also handed down a ruling concerning teams which may dissolve during the season. All games by that team, both played and unplayed, are declared forfeit. The players on such teams may be picked up by other teams by a system such as is used in major league baseball —the waiver system. This enables the bottom teams in the league to pick up new players. Also any player may at any time be transferred from their present club to a new one, also by the waiver route. This must be done only on appeal to the commission; and it enables a player who hasn't played much to get on a team where he may be able to get more action.

Other actions by the commission show that each team is responsible for one umpire at each of their games. Thus two umps will be present at each game. Several rules have been set up for the game itself. These deal particularly with passed balls and stealing home. Hinish states that no stealing home will be permitted. A batter may steal bases after the pitch, as usual but he is out if he does steal home, such as might occur in a missed squeeze play. A runner comes home only when batted across or forced across by a walk etc. The commission also announced that a deposit for each team will be set up again to cover the cost of the ball and bat used by each team.

50th Baseball Season Opens Tues.

Dave LeFevre Probable Starter; First Home Game Thurs. With L.V.

by Ted McGwire

The golden anniversary of "baseball" on the Juniata College campus will be noted this week as the Juniata Indians swing into their 50th inter-collegiate season. Three games are scheduled to be played and it is hoped the opener with Lycoming at Williamsport on April 14 will be the indicator to another successful season.

A record of 10 wins out of 14 games was the mark boasted by last year's squad. The home opener follows on Thursday when the Tribe encounters Lebanon Valley; this will be followed by a home contest with Elizabethtown on Saturday.

Six lettermen from last seasons winning club plus seventeen aspirants have bolstered Coach Bill Smaltz's hope for another successful season. The 'regulars' include Joe Hinish, Tom McNeal and Fran Zimmerman, the complete infield Wes Lingenfelter at first base, Ken Leonard at second, and Bob Simon at third. Dave Hackett, a second baseman is also a letterman.

Southpaw Dave LeFevre, not out last year, but still a two letter winner should again be the 'workhorse' of the mound staff. Pushing him all the way for starting assignments, however, will be Neil Spangler, Gene Biddle; Harold Estep and John Criswell.

Don Pheasant and Bud Briner are fighting it out for the number one catching post; both boys are freshman. Bernie Oriss, Lee Hallman, freshmen, are battling it out, along with Harold Gray, sophomore, for the shortstop position.

Jake Handzelek and Bud Douds are trying to 'steal' third base from Monk Simon while Barry Drexler, and Ed Svitil, frosh, are both trying out for outfield stations.

The Indians have a 16 game schedule this spring, which includes 8 games before the home fans and 8 more on the road and a season as successful at last year's is hoped for from all quarters.

Cindermen Face SSTC Netmen Play Lycoming

The 1953 track team under the direction of Coach Mike Snider will open their 1953 campaign April 15 when they meet the Red Raiders of Shippensburg State Teachers College. Last year the Tribe lost by a 82½-43½ count on the opponents track.

The backbone of the team will be made up of lettermen Bob Flory, Larry Hartline, Wilfred Norris and Gene Rothenberger. Flory, a junior from Waynesboro is a two letter winner who runs both the mile and two mile. Both Hartline and Rothenberger are sophomores and both hail from Boyertown, Pa. Rothenberger, who participates in the hurdles and broad jump, last year led the squad in total points scored. Hartline is a javelin and discus man. Norris, a half miler comes from Ambler, Pa.

Coach Snider is hopeful that some promising frosh will help bolster his squad.

The overall Juniata track schedule includes for dual meets (Shippensburg, Bridgewater, Albright and Dickinson), a triangular meet (Bucknell and Gettysburg), the Penn Relays and the Middle Atlantic Championships.

Tennis

A match with Lycoming College on April 14 will mark the beginning of the 26th tennis season on College Hill. The first home match will be held Saturday, April 18 against Elizabethtown.

This year the Braves will be under the direction of a new coach, James F. Penney and will attempt to better last season's 0-8 record. No returning lettermen are present but some men with varsity experience are available.

Coach Calls Chances Good Needs Battery Strength

by Fred Heydrick

The Juniata College baseballers will open the 1953 season with a veteran filling every position except the shortstop and catching slots. The shortstop position so far has been a hotly contested battle between Harold Gray and Freshman Lee Hallman. Gray, a sophomore, saw a limited amount of action last year, while Hallman, who hails from Pottstown, is trying his hand at college ball for the first time, and will probably see plenty of action.

The catching department is the biggest headache of all for Coach Bill Smaltz. Without one player on the varsity squad who could boast of any catching experience, Coach Smaltz assigned the glove and mask to crack freshman outfielder Don Pheasant. "A good or fair season will depend on how fast Don can adjust himself to the new position," said Smaltz. However Pheasant has caught all the intra-squad games and seems to give every indication that he will be ready for the opening tilt.

Asked about this year's pitching staff, Smaltz stated, "it's a little early to definitely tell. Our only tested veteran is Dave LeFevre, and with only three intra-squad games played, it is difficult to evaluate the other candidates." However he pointed out that big Harold Estep along with John Criswell will undoubtedly see action, and Neil Spangler and Gene Biddle may draw the roles of reliefers.

"Our hitting," continued Smaltz, "seems to be sharp for the amount of practice we have had." He also pointed out the fact that if the squad hits as well against their own teammates, the home fans will be guaranteed many exciting moments. Last year's batting champ, lefty Joe Hinish, will again be out to capture the crown, while it is likely that Fran Zimmerman, Wes Ling-

Bowker Chosen Capt.

Richard T. Bowker, 21 year old senior from East Orange, New Jersey has been elected captain of the 1953 Juniata College tennis team.

Bowker, a business administration major will lead his squad through an eight match schedule. Included among the candidates for the squad is Kitty Underkoffler, freshman co-ed from Bedford, N. Y. who will be battling with 15 others for the top positions.

Interclass Meet To Be Held 1:30

The annual interclass track meet will be held this afternoon on College Field. All are urged to support their respective classes in the venture. Last year the class of 1954 was victorious and will be out to capture the laurel for the third time today. The time of the meet is 1:30.

Bridgewater Replaces LV On Track Schedule

Bridgewater College, one of Juniata's sister colleges, has replaced Lebanon Valley on the Indians track schedule. The replacement was made necessary when the Flying Dutchmen dropped the sport. The Indians will travel to the Virginia school April 18 to meet one of the better small college track teams in the south.

JWSF Pledges Due; Contact Chairman

A number of pledges are still out for the Juniata World Service Fund. Drive Chairman, Jack Freymuller urges all those who have failed to acknowledge pledges to do so in the near future.

The drive is at present far short of the planned $1953 but when all pledges have been turned in the difference will be much less. Contact the JWSF drive chairman that you made your pledge with and settle your bills so that records may be finished.

Things —

For those critics of modern way of cold-blooded living we want to say that the hearts of the people in America will always turn to those in distress in more volume and expend more energy than at any other time. Maybe its human nature that attracts people to one another but it seems to me that real human attraction for help will never fail as long as we have a free living type of environment.

On Other Campuses

ACP—Two universities, one in America and the other in England have recently experienced panty raids in reverse—with the girls being the raiders.

At the University of Toledo, 35 girls raced through the men's dormitory, startling half-dressed male students and stealing pairs of shorts, as they stormed from one room to another.

And in England, six girl students at Cambridge University, having vowed to take baths at each of the men's dormitories in turn, are already reported to have been successful in two male dormitories.

In each bathroom the intruders have left their club's insignia—a single silk stocking.

You have to know how to write if you want to graduate from Michigan State College. A new ruling there states that seniors can't graduate until their "writing technique is improved to a point where they can write legibly."

Currently 418 students are enrolled in a non-credit writing course, designed to improve literacy among future degree holders. MSC officials have said nothing thus far about any reading requirements.

Blood — blood will require less than half an hour for each donor.

Students are urged to obtain donor pledge blanks and turn them in to a member of the committee as soon as possible. This is especially important for students under 21 years of age, for they are required to obtain their parents permission to donate blood in the form of a parent's signature on the blood donor pledge blank.

Students are reminded of one particular advantage of the Red Cross blood program: Blood donor credit may be transferred from one Red Cross Blood Bank to another upon request. In the event that a blood donor, or a friend or relative of a blood donor, should ever need a blood transfusion, the cost of the blood used in a transfusion may be discounted according to the amount of blood that has been donated.

Recital, Speakers Listed For Chapel

The chapel service on Monday will be devoted to piano renditions by Iren Marik, a pianist in the Arts Program of the Association of American Colleges. She will also informally discuss the music of Bartok.

Professor Kenneth W. Crosby will be the speaker on Wednesday morning, and on Friday morning President Ellis will preside over a Founders Day program.

Former JC Prof Commits Suicide

Dr. Harold A. Conner, former professor at Juniata, killed his wife and two children and then took his own life in their New York apartment two days before Easter.

The former head of the Business Administration and business and finance teacher at Juniata from 1931 until 1938 was serving at New York University as associate professor of marketing at the time of the incident.

Two years previous he had suffered a nervous breakdown and for a period a six weeks he was under a physician's care. In the past months he had shown signs of depression because he felt he had failed to achieve the goals he had ascribed for. He strangled his wife and two children and then took his own life with a butcher knife. It was nearly 48 hours before friends became concerned over his absence and entering their well-furnished Queens County, New York garden-apartment found the bodies.

Student Aid Still Needed On Union

Although the student's work on the Student Center is nearing completion, interest and enthusiasm seem to be falling off.

There is still some work that must be done by the students. They have to finish digging the ditch, pour three inches of concrete in the basement and have a general cleanup. After that, the cement has to be rubbed down and the forms of the stairways must be moved.

Several weeks ago, some forty students helped with the first mailing of information to parents, friends and alumni. Only about $800 was collected, of which only $200 came from parents. A goal of $5,000 has been set as the total contributions from parents. There are two more mailings yet to go. so students are urged to promote the idea of the Student Center.

SMALTZ—

enfelter, Lee Hallman, and Jack Golden will be in the running for the honors.

Finally when asked whether any positions are assured, Smaltz replied "no position will be absolutely assured throughout the season. A varsity man will not be able to loaf once he is inserted in the lineup, as he will be continually pressed by an up and coming freshman." In addition, he also stated that Jake Handzelek and Buddy Douds have already moved to the outfield and, more utility infielders may be switched to further bolster the outer pasture defenses.

Janice Wenger Reigns As Queen Of May, Melody

The Juniatian

Vol. 29—No. 26 Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. Friday, April 17, 1953

Jean Staude To Attend Queen; Ted McGwire — Prince Charming

At the May Day breakfast yesterday, Janice Wenger was revealed as the 1953 Queen of May and Melody. Together with Jean Staude, maid-of-honor, and Ted McGwire, Prince Charming, she will reign over the May Day festivities on campus May 2.

Also revealed was the May Court, consisting of seniors Phyllis Link and Rhoda Gaugler, juniors Naomi Kulp and Audrey Weber, sophomores Donna Croft and Doris Markey and freshmen Nancy Nevin and Maggie Sims.

Miss Wenger is the second consecutive education major to wear the traditional May crown. She succeeds Norma Gene Sinclair of Huntingdon. Hailing from Quentin, she was a Homecoming attendant this year. She is a member of the FTA and participated in the band, Chapel Choir and ABC.

Ted McGwire, Prince Charming, is a native of Watchung, N. J. A senior business major, he served as Central Treasurer of the Senate and president of the Tycoon Club. He is a member of the Juniatian staff and is active in intramurals.

Maid-Of-Honor

Appearing for the first time on the May Court is Maid-of-Honor Jean Staude, also an elementary ed major. From Telford, she is a member of the WAA and formerly of the ABC Club.

Rhoda Gaugler, a music major from Souderton, was a May Day attendant in her sophomore year. She is a member of the A Cappella Choir, having served as assistant manager, the orchestra and band. In addition she has taken part in several operettas.

The second senior attendant is Phyllis Link, was makes her second consecutive appearance on May Court. An English major from Johnstown, she served as Senate Chairman of General Activities and president of the Masque. She is a member of Who's Who and has had roles in four Masque plays.

Juniors—Kulp, Weber

Junior attendant Naomi Kulp is the present Chairman of Women's House. An elementary education major, she is a JCA Commissioner and served as All-Class Night Chairman in her sophomore year.

Audrey Weber, another elementary ed major, appears for the second time on the May Court. She is president of the FTA, a member of the A Cappella Choir and has appeared in three college musicals. She is a native of Erie.

Sophomores—Croft, Markey

Seen for the second time as a May Queen attendant is sophomore Donna Croft. A biology major from Bedford, she is secretary of the orchestra and Scalpel and Probe and a member of the band and choir ensemble.

Doris Markey, the second sophomore attendant, is concentrating in elementary ed. She is a member of the A Cappella Choir, sophomore girls' trio and has appeared in operettas. She hails from Johnstown.

Frosh attendant Nancy Nevin comes from Merion. Concentrating in elementary ed, she is a cheerleader.

Completing the list is Maggie Sims, a music major from Turtle Creek. She is a member of the orchestra, band and A Cappella Choir ensemble.

The pictures of the court were hidden in the table centerpieces of musical noted and staffs. Prince Charming stepped from a large central music box to conduct the Queen to her throne against a background of pink, green and silver.

Col. Miller To Initiate Chapel Plan

Monday, the first of a series of special chapel speakers' will be Francis Pickens Miller, who has gained recognition as consultant to the State Department and member of the Advisory Commission of the World Council of Churches.

Formerly president of the World Student Christian Federation, he is an active lay-leader in the Christian church and contributing editor of the "Journal of Christianity and Crisis." During the war he was a colonel in Berlin serving under General Clay. He will come to JC directly from Penn State.

The following schedule of classes and chapel will be observed.

First period—8:00-8:45
Second period—8:50-9:35
Chapel—9:40-10:45
Third period—10:50-11:35
Fourth period—11:40-12:25

There will be three special chapel services this semester, the first on Monday; the second will be Dr. Russell Henry Stafford, President of Hartford Theological Seminary who will speak April 29th; and the third will be Professor John Dillenberger, Professor in the Department of Religion at Columbia University.

Next year Juniata plans on having three of these lecture series per semester or six for the year. These will include Dr. Homer Thompson of the Institute of Advanced Studies at Princeton University in the field of archaeology, J. Donald Adams who writes "Speaking of Books" in the New York Times Sunday Book Review each week and who will speak on poetry and do some reading; and Norman Thomas, for many years leader of the Socialist party and author of several books on politics and history.

This is a new idea to increase the interest of the student in chapel services. At present it is entirely on a trial basis and will be left to the attendance of the student body to decide whether such a program will be a success. Since these lectures are by well-known men, and since they are on a variety of subjects which should be of interest it is hoped that the program will be received by all.

Chapel Programs Listed;

Biddle, Ellis To Speak

Chapel services for next week will be as follows: Monday Col. Francis Miller will address the student body in a special lecture series (See story on page 1).

John Biddle, editor of the Daily News, will be the speaker Wednesday (See story elsewhere), and Friday's service will be conducted by Pres. Ellis.

Biddle To Speak On Moscow Trip Mon.

John H. Biddle, publisher of the Huntingdon Daily News, will speak in Oller Hall Monday at 8:15 p. m.

Mr. Biddle was on tour of Europe and was one of nine news and radio men to go to Moscow. He will speak on his trip, featuring the visit to Moscow. His appearance is being sponsored by the combined civic clubs of Huntingdon.

All students, faculty and administration are invited to attend the lecture.

Comps Start Mon.; Given In New Gym

Written comprehensive examinations for seniors will be given Monday and Tuesday in the new Memorial Gymnasium, according to word received from the Office of the Registrar. They are scheduled to begin at 8:30 a. m. and continue until 12 noon.

Movie, Dance Set On Social Agenda

"The Red Pony," a movie chosen by last year's student body, will be shown in Oller Hall Saturday evening at 8:15.

The movie, which is in Technicolor, stars Myrna Loy, Robert Mitchum, Louis Calhern, and Peter Miles. The plot revolves around the pony, the nine year old boy to whom the pony is given as a gift, and the boy's father, who cannot adjust to ranch life.

Newly elected chairman of social activities Russ Hill has also announced that there will be an informal "record" dance in the Memorial Gym after the movie until 11:30 p. m.

Summer Term To Offer Study In 3 Divisions

The 28th Summer term on College Hill, scheduled to open June 15, will include a program of instruction in the three main divisions of study, according to an announcement from Dean of the College Morley Mays.

Courses available in Division I (Arts and Languages) will include literature, languages and instruction in organ and piano. Division II (Social Studies) will offer courses in economics, education, history, home economics, philosophy, psychology and sociology. Mathematics and physics will be offered in Division III (Natural Sciences).

The Summer term is divided into two five-week periods with all courses equivalent in quality to work of the regular fall and spring terms. The first period will begin June 15 and continue until July 18; the second will operate from July 20 to August 21.

The College will accept secondary school graduates, college students, teachers and other in-service persons for its Summer term.

Juniata On 1953 List Of Recommended Colleges

Juniata has again been included in the 1953 listing of recommended small colleges in the annual report of James W. Hampton. It is one of 25 independent liberal arts colleges selected in the East by an advisory board of regional consultants. A total of 113 from all sections is included on the list.

4 To Participate In Reading Fete

Juniata will again be represented at the annual Intercollegiate Reading Festival, held at Penn State College April 30 and May 1.

On the basis of try-outs, the following students were selected to attend the affair: Wilfred Norris, participating in the drama section; Betty Shearer, reading long poetry; Ken Sheetz, doing a prose narrative; and Jeanie Tait, reading short poems.

The festival, sponsored by the State College speech department, is presented in connection with the Arts Program. It is unique in that there is no competition. This year will mark Juniata's fifth appearance in the reading program.

Stackpole Contest JC Feature Since 1929

by Jim Hunt

Thirty-four years ago the late E. J. Stockpole initiated the history contest which now bears his name. He was extremely interested in the history of the Juniata Valley and in an effort to promote mutual interest on the part of the students at Juniata College he provided a prize of $25 for the best literary contribution on the early history of the area.

In the year 1929 the Stockpole History Contest came into existence and has now become a regular yearly project for students at Juniata. This year however there were no entries turned in by the deadline time of the contest and we were prompted to find out just a little bit more about this contest and some of the former winners and their topics along with the information on the original founder.

E. J. Stockpole, at the time of the origination of the contest, was the Editor of the Harrisburg Telegraph and up until the time of his death personally read many of the better entries. It was his hope that eventually the more informative papers would be combined into a book on the history of the Juniata Valley.

The first prize awarded in 1929 went to Thomas Knepp who wrote on the once-famous Greenwood Furnace. His article, supplemented by pictures and maps, received high praise from Mr. Stackpole and was later published as a small history pamphlet. The following two years he repeated with winning articles including one entitled "The Axes of Mifflin County".

A policy has been set up concerning the prize on the condition that a Juniata College committee, who read and evaluate the entries, decided if any are of sufficient quality to merit the prize. If not the award is not made that year. The last presentation was made to Joy Delores Douglas in 1949 on the subject, "The Geology of Huntingdon County".

We noticed in browsing through the past entries that a variety of topics are available on the contest with such subjects as theatrical performances, hotels, academies and historic landmarks which played important or outstanding parts in the history of the area holding sway most of the time.

Transfer Forms Available

Any Juniata undergraduate desiring to take summer courses at other institutions must obtain clearance from the Office of the Registrar.

Summer transfer clearance forms are now available from Registrar A. William Engel, Jr. Two forms must be filled out and submitted for approval. A signed copy will be returned to the student, if the transfer is satisfactory.

Summer bulletins from some other Colleges are on hand in the Office of the Registrar for anyone interested. More may be available later.

At 7:30 a. m. tomorrow, the JC track team will board a bus for their journey to Bridgewater College, Va., where their second match of the season will be held. Now Bridgewater is over 200 miles distant, and the meet will take place at 3:30 that afternoon, a rather rushed schedule, you must admit. Such conditions are hardly conducive to victory. In the opening match against Shippensburg, the team lost 86-40. How will they react after a six-hour long bus trip? Let's give the team an even break. Winning seasons don't result out of such poorly planned arrangements.

Opportunity knocks only once; but in the case of the Stackpole History Contest, it's been knocking for some four years without getting much of a response. A $25 prize is awarded each year to the students who by vote of the faculty has made the most important contribution to the history of Juniata Valley through research. The feature on page one presents more of the details of this contest. But we question the lack of interest shown by present-day students. Granted that to write an essay takes time and that time is an item which isn't too plentiful. But it's been done before, with great success, some having even been published. Did the students of ten years ago follow so different a schedule which allowed them more spare time?

Speaking about missing opportunities, what about the IRC Travel Study Award? Set up by this club, the fund is designed to aid some college student tour Europe during the summer. For three years now the IRC has offered this grant-in-aid and for three years, no action has been taken. The general attitude on campus is that $100 doesn't go too far for such a tour. Therefore to the IRC, we propose that the fund be allowed to accumulate from year to year. Eventually some student will come along to take advantage of this opportunity.

Lost, strayed or stolen. Anyhow, seemingly forgotten is the once active Radio Committee of Juniata College. We can remember in the not too distant past the Turntable Terraces and the Juniata College-on-the-Air shows presented every week by college students. Shall it stay forgotten? They were your shows, so let's hear your opinions on the subject.

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

Contrary to what the weather of the first few days of the week seem to indicate, spring has arrived on the Juniata campus. Many signs emphasize this fact including the traditional spring fever, but from the ground there arrives an even more positive sign. The little green sprouts of nature's velvet carpet have been showing themselves for a number of week's now or should I say have been attempting to do thus.

Although you may have bitter memories about the seemingly endless job of cutting grass last summer on the family lot, the fact remains that the green grass makes a much better appearance than the parched looking clay. It may seem a shortcut to slice a corner off by walking on the lawn but when this act is repeated 574 times a day you can imagine that even the persistent grass will eventually give up the fight. Nothing can make a lawn look so unimpressive as to see a beautiful section of green with a strip of brown through the middle due to the number of students who appear to desire to save wear and tear on the walks.

This past week two fellows who lived in the Lodge last year received a letter from Bill Wright, the popular Assistant Dean of Men and Lodge counselor at Juniata last year and who now is working at Columbia University. He write: "I'm interested in the Student Center to go in the Old Gym. Remember all the talks we had about it last year. Now it is becoming a reality. It makes me very proud to know that the students at JC are not just big talkers but big do'ers also. It's a real birds and bees day in Brooklyn. Just wish I could visit for a weekend. Juniata is one of the most beautiful places this time of year."

In addition to the little pat on the back for the work done on the Student Center he brings out a point that I have been working at. That our campus is a nice place to be in the springtime and we can help to make it even more so by heeding the appeal of the administration and confine our cross-campus hikes to the well-laid walks.

Is Interest In Center Waning?

by JACK FREY ULLER

We talked to a very discouraged Russ Hill last Monday afternoon. Russ, you know, is chairman of the Student Center Committee and has put almost a year's work along with his committee on the idea of a Center. For quite a while things had been going remarkably well, but according to Russ, the machine is starting to slow down. And its discouraging.

"The student's just aren't coming out to work," he said. "At first the turnout was fine, couldn't be better; but now, why hardly any one is coming out. Of course there are good reason's for it, I suppose, the seniors are studying for "comps", and softball season is here. But still, we ought to have more people out there." Russ went on to add that it was mighty important that they come out for these few final weeks: "We only have three more things to do and only about five weeks in which to do them. If there was some way we could get everybody out they would have the job done in no time at all."

The three things that he listed as remaining for the student body to finish are: cement work; digging of the ditch that extends toward the dining room; and final clean-up of discarded material. Each of these jobs is of a non-technical nature and, if left, for the company workers to do, will just increase the cost of the project that much more.

"The students ought to realize that," he said, "because already the job is going to cost the school $5,000 more than they had estimated!" Russ didn't elaborate as to what this involved, but he did feel that the student body could help some in keeping down costs.

Russ was also a bit concerned about campus opinion of the job that he and his committee had been doing. He'd heard that people were inclined to question some of the methods his committee had employed in order to get people out for work on the center. Things had been planned, he admitted, that just didn't show any promise of working out right—the "work cards", for example—and had been dropped from the schedule. That couldn't be helped, he said. But the committee was doing its level best on the project, that he insisted.

Saying goodbye to Hill, we walked over to Cloisters. There were a number of things that were worthy of comment, we thought. For instance, we could say that we felt that his committee was doing a fine job in a very difficult assignment. Ordinarily that is the type of work for a professional: recruiting labor, raising money, arranging work programs and just generally keeping the thing moving. Men get $10,000 a year in jobs like that. The student center committee gets nothing, except idle criticism when things strike a snag.

Russ had mentioned that a concentrated effort would be made to get people out this week. Announcements were scheduled for chapel, dining-room, and other meetings places. With the end of the student work program so near in sight it seems to be a reflection on the student body that we can't finish it. Consider it; there are only three tasks remaining: concrete must be prepared-for, the trench must be dug, and the rubbish outside the building cleaned up. With that, we will have fulfilled our committment. The administration is doing their part, why don't we do ours!

BOOK REVIEW

The Second Sex

By LOUISE HEINBAUGH

by Louise Heinbaugh

Who should know more about women than a woman? A Parisian and a Existentialist, Mlle. Simone de Beauvoir expounds her views and traces the history of The Second Sex in seven hundred and thirty-odd pages, from the dawn of history to the allegedly indignant but inefficacial creature of today. The title which Mlle. de Beauvoir has chosen for this all-inclusive treatise is quite apropos, for who but the bitterest of feminists would deny that man is the first sex? In fact, to say that men are the first sex and women the second belittles man, as this places man in a partner relationship. The women are the junior partners to be sure, but as Mlle. de Beauvoir harshly puts it, it would be inappropriate to describe men as the sex and women as the other sex.

But she passionately asks the question—and what a question it turns out to be—"Why are women in actuality the 'other' sex?" After drawing on the resources of history, anthropology, psychology, physiology, psychoanalysis, economics, philosophy, literature, and her own intuition, it seems that these were not one resources or intuition too many...

It is an established fact, according to the author, that the two sexes enjoy a far from equal division of opportunities, responsibilities, and even less of rewards. So why challenge such an obvious, known truth? If man has always, from time immemorial, grabbed the most savory bone from the pot and unhesitatingly clouted with his club to attain his ends it is because he is the first sex. To consider the opposite, that men are first because they have always got the best because they are the first sex, the sex, is only to support the original proposition, that it is their natural right. If women have been consistently dealt short measure, what of it? Have not they used it to their advantage and, with the magic of a woman's soul, turned it into something rather becoming? Are not women happy enough?...

Mlle. de Beauvoir caustically asks "enough for what?" and seems to answer that we cannot measure human happiness. She advocates the removal of the obstacles that stand in the way of making woman a full partner in this uneven drama of life.

The Second Sex is filled with dry humor and a deep-seated malice that will doubtdless prove confusing to some (women) and frightening to others (man). (What unsettles a man more than a threat to his virility?) The ruthless arguments, arranged in a precise manner, should take aback considerably the priests, philosophers, and scientists who have spent much time and effort to prove the ancient adage that women's inferior position was willed in heaven when Eve was shaped from Adam's rib.

Starting from the data of biology, Mlle. de Beauvoir has set down a detailed, adolescence, maturity, and old age under all aspects of the female sex. This book is, incidentally, one of the best manuals of instruction on love-making to be found anywhere.

The Second Sex is a book to be read in the light of the distortions, stereotypes, and generalizations that women have been faced with for ages. It is a work of art with a stinging recklessness, but we must keep in mind that it is also a work of a woman in a certain time and place, trying to do away with Eve...

Hank's A. C. Wins Two As Men's IM Softball Begins

With only four games having been played in the men's intramural softball league, Hank's A. C. has shown itself to be the team to beat. This team has won two contests by lopsided margins, showing much power in both games.

In their first game, Hank's A. C., behind the 10 hit pitching of Dave Pollock, knocked off the Dazeys by the score of 27-8. The winners collected 27 hits in the rout, including six home runs. Leading the victors at the plate were Henry Jara with six hits in six times at bat, and Patsy Morello with five hits in six times at bat. Contributing three hits to the winning cause were Anthony Segalovich, Bill Winans, Nick Rocco, Herb Halkovich, and Dave Pollock. Two of Segalovich's hits were homeruns, as were two of Pollock's. Winans and Halkovitch also powered one homer each. Leading the losers were Appleby, George Stever, and Hooch Hoover, each with two hits.

Wednesday the Hank's A. C. again showed their might by slaughtering the Buccos, 21-8. Leading them to their victory were Don Conley, who socked out six hits in six times at bat, and Nick Rocco, who belted a first inning grand slam home run. Rocco also collected three other singles for four hits for his afternoon's work. Segalovich again chimed in with three hits and Morello came through with two important hits. Again Dave Pollock took on the pitching chores, this time striking out 14 batters. Leading the losing cause were Newcombe and McGwire, each with a double and a single.

In Wednesday's other games, the Whiz Kids romped to an easy 30-12 victory over the Dazeys. Leading the 22 hit attack for the Whiz Kids were Joe Veto, who pounded the ball for five hits including two home runs and a double, and Hooch Hoover, who connected for four hits including a home run for the losers. In the last game, the Covites decisively downed the Aces 19-7. While gaining only 13 hits, the Covites took advantage of five Aces' errors to roll up the margin of triumph. Leading the batting parade for the Covites was Knepper, who collected three hits. Bob Bridenbaugh, Charlie Myers and Dan Replogle each stroked two hits for the winners. Heading the losing batters were Ed Svitil and Pone Martin, each with three baseknocks. Piazza and Asan, aided the cause with two hits each.

Harriers At Dickinson, Bridgewater; Injuries Hold Back Performers

The Juniata College track team leaves on the longest road trip of the year early tomorrow when they trip to Bridgewater College in Virginia for their second meet of the year. Then Wednesday the Tribe travels to Carlisle to meet the powerful Red Devils at Dickinson.

The locals will have their hands full while tangling with the boys from Virginia. Little is known concerning the quality of the material out for their track and field sport, but the Bridgewater squad will have the advantage of two or three weeks training period. Also rumor has it that our sister college produces some of the better cinder squads among the small colleges in Virginia.

The Tribe will face one of their better track opponents on Wednesday when they face Dickinson College at Biddle Field in Carlisle. The Red Devils boast 12 returning lettermen as well as four others claiming varsity experience Leading the D-son thinclads are Ogelsby, a middle distance runner, high jumper Dick Johe, Barrick, a distance runner, broad jumper Baumanis, hurdler Washinger, weightmen Phillips and Terry and five lettermen sprinters.

Golfers Meet D-son Here Wed.

Led by Captain Dave Bayer, the Juniata linksmen will open their seventh intercollegiate season Wednesday when they face Dickinson College at the Huntingdon Country Club. The time of the match is 1:30 p. m.

Since golf was initiated as a sport in 1947, the Indians have won 41, lost 7 and tied 1, and are as yet unbeaten on their home course. Under the direction of Dr. Edgar Kiracofe, the present coach, the record reads 39-5-1. The first match against Dickinson was played in 1948 and the Tribe has been victorious in all of the eight contests played thus far.

Along with Bayer, a three letter winner, the Juniata squad will have three other lettermen in action. They are juniors Tom Cherok and Bob Fahrney, and sophomore Frank Arasin. Freshmen Keith Birmingham, Bruce Montgomery, and William West complete the team. Cherok, from Verona, Pa., has the best individual won-lost record of anyone on the squad. His log reads 17 victories in 19 attempts.

Last season the Indians won 5 and lost 3 duel matches. In addition they also won the 3rd annual Juniata Invitational Tournament, the Middle Atlantic championship and placed second to the University of Maryland in the Western Maryland Invitational.

Smaltzmen To Play Three In Three Days

By virtue of the postponing of the Lycoming baseball game until this afternoon, the Juniata Indians will be playing their second consecutive game today. Tomorrow the Indians will complete their schedule of three games in three days by hosting the Elizabethtown nine on College Field at two o'clock. Then after three days of idleness, the squad will again pick up the war on Wednesday when they meet the visiting Red Raiders of Shippensburg.

Last year the Indians handily checked the boys from Williamsport via an 8-0 shutout. Not much is known about the quality of this year's team. Toeing the mound for the Braves will probably be either Harold Estep or John Crisswell.

The Elizabethtown Blue Jays come to town with only one game under their belts, that an 8-4 victory over Gettysburg. Leading the Jays in that tilt were first baseman Jacobs, who knocked out three hits, outfielder Meyers, with two, and Chittum, the pitcher, who also got two baseknocks. Chittum allowed the Bullets nine hits over the nine-inning route, while the hard hitting E-towners were smashing out 12. Last year the Jays were set back twice by the Braves, 9-5 and 7-0.

Nothing is known concerning the Shippensburg nine. This will be their first visit to the JC campus since 1951, as last year's tilt between the two was cancelled due to Juniata's 'annual monsoon season'.

Netmen To Open Season At Lycoming

The JC tennis team opens their campaign this afternoon at Lycoming with a match that was postponed from last Tuesday, and then plays again tomorrow afternoon by hosting the Elizabethtown Blue Jays.

Eliminations have been going on for the past several weeks and the squad has seemingly narrowed itself down to ten members. Topping the ladder are Everett Wills, Sam Byers, Dan Raffensberger, Ray Pfrogner, and Captain Dick Bowker. Sixth on the ladder is Kitty Underkoffler, while those still striving for a place in the top six are Dick Fusco, Don Brumbaugh, Paul Gingrich and Chuck Gross. All members of the squad except Bowker are untried in varsity competition.

The Tribe has played Lycoming three times without success. Last year the Indians went down to a 5-4 defeat at the hands of the Williamsport squad. This was the closest the courtmen came to a victory in eight defeats. Although losing two to E-town last year, both by decisive scores of 9-0 and 6-1, JC leads in overall competition with 15 victories as against 10 losses and two ties.

Dave Bayer Hits Hole-In-One Here

Dave Bayer, captain of Juniata's golf team, hit a hole-in-one at the Huntingdon Country Club last Wednesday. Bayer socked it on the short, 110 yard 12th hole during the first 18 holes of the playoffs for varsity positions. Tom Cherok and Frank Arazin led the golfers after the first 18, both with 73's, while Keith Birmingham came in with a 75.

Braves Lose Opener To Shippenburg Teachers; Rothenberger Wins Pair

The Indian spring sports campaign got off to a bad start Wednesday when the trackmen of Mike Snider went down to an 86-40 defeat at the hands of the powerful Shippensburg Red Raiders.

Apparently the lack of depth was the cause of the one-sidedness of the score. The Tribe carried off five firsts, but could garner only three seconds and six thirds. High scorer for the thinclads was Gene Rothenberger, who carried off first place honors in the broad jump, the 220-yard low hurdles, and got a second in the 120-yard high hurdles, for a total of thirteen points. Al Nyce contributed nine markers to the cause with a first in the discus, a second in the shot, and a third in the javelin. Larry Hartline continued his winning ways in the javelin with a throw of 164'6", while contributing a third in the discus.

Flory Wins 2 Mile

Bob Flory won Juniata's fifth event in the 2-mile run, and Carl Trimber also contributed five points with a second in the low hurdles, a third in the 100, and a third in the broad jump. The last points were added by Bob Godshall with a third in the 880, and Don Davis with a third in the 440.

Injuries hurt the Tribes chances considerably. Missing from the ranks of the point-getters were John Cook, ace sprinter, Clem Rosenberger, pole vaulter, Chuck Knox, weightman, Will Norris, middle distance man, and Pat Tarquinio, also a sprinter.

Freshmen Take Interclass Meet

The Class of 1956 reigns today as the interclass track champions. The winners deposed the two-time conquerors, the Class of 1954, by a one-sided margin of 44½ points. The frosh easily outdistanced the combined totals of the other three teams, scoring 77 markers while the juniors could chalk up 32½, the sophs 29 and the hapless senior class only 2½ points.

However the sophomores claim the high scorer for the meet. Resuming his high scoring ways of last year, the sensational Gene Rothenberger copped 22 points to lead his nearest competitor, Al Nyce of the freshman class, by seven points. To gain his total, Rothenberger took firsts in the broad jump, the 70-yard high hurdles, and the 120-yard low hurdles, while tieing Don Davis, a 12 point winner for the frosh, in the high jump. 'Iron man' Rothenberger also took a second in the 100-yard dash. Nyce, became a triple winner in all three of the weight events, winning the shot put, the discus, and the javelin throws.

Davis and Mohney Win

The frosh also produced two double winners in Davis, who won the 440, as well as tieing for the high jump and finishing second in the 220, and Ed Mohney who finished first in both the 100 and the 220.

Leading the junior contingent was Bob Flory, one of four lettermen back from last year, with 10½ points scored on a first in the 880, a second in the mile, and a tie for second in the 70-yard high hurdles. Clem Rosenberger abeted the junior's cause with a first in the pole vault and a third in the shot. The day's only other winner was Aurand in the mile.

Several good marks were made in the competition, considering the earliness of the season, the track's soggy condition, and the brisk, chilly wind, which made the weather very unsuitable for track and field competition. One of the best was Rosenberger's vault of 11'. Rothenberger's broad jump mark of 20'9¾" was also far better than average for this interclass competition, and Aurand's time in the mile, 4:53.3 was a commendable performance.

Juniata's Track Records Listed

For the interest of Juniata track fans, here are Juniata's track and field records, all of which have been scored in intercollegiate competition. To establish a new record, the Juniatian must win his event, although the competition may be either at home or on a foreign track. Efforts which better these marks, but still do not allow the Tribesman to win the event, are not eligible for the 'new record' department.

On The Club Scene

by Sherill Edwards

Although there are several meetings scheduled for tonight, the clubs on JC's campus are rather inactive at present. Of course, aside from regular work and duties, there are May Day plans to be completed and carried out, baseball, track, golf and tennis beckons, and even "comps" for those fortunate seniors. Hence, the "slump" in the activity of the clubs would appear to be well justified.

The Masque

Will Norris, president, announces that tonight at 7:15 in Oller Hall the Masque will hold a business meeting. Following the business proceedings, a "work shop" is to be presented. All members are especially urged to attend.

Pyranees Club

Meeting in the Women's Student Room at 7:15 this evening, the Pyrances Club members will conduct a short business session. Several items of business are to be settled.

IVCF

Having the regular Bible study and discussion, the IVCF will gather at 7:15 tonight in Founders' Chapel.

J Club

J Club members will assemble at 6:45 in the J Club Room Tuesday evening for a business meeting, Ron Clapper, president, announces.

JCA

The problems of church related colleges as compared with the problems of state related colleges is to be discussed Tuesday at 7:15 in Founders' Chapel by a panel made up of six students from both Lock Haven State Teachers College and JC. As well, there will be refreshments served.

Lambda Gamma

Joan Irvin, Rainey Linn, Mikey Mick, and Mim Myers have been selected to represent JC's Lambda Gamma at the state convention in Philadelphia May 1 and 2. In addition, plans are being laid for the annual Lambda Gamma banquet.

Library Meeting Scheduled Thurs.

Juniata will be host to the District Library Meeting which will be held in the Carnegie Library Thursday.

The annual meeting of the Juniata-Conemaugh District of the Pennsylvania Library Association includes the following counties: Blair, Bedford, Cambria, Centre, Clearfield, Huntingdon, Juniata, Mifflin and Somerset.

President Calvert N. Ellis will open the meeting at 10:30 a. m. after which a short business meeting will be held in the library.

Luncheon will be served in the Stone Church of the Brethren. The afternoon session will feature Dr. George Clemens, professor of modern languages, who will speak on the subject, "A Liberal Arts Education for the Library."

Since only the morning meetings will be held in the Library, it will continue to operate on its normal schedule as much as possible.

Next Draft Test Scheduled Apr. 23

The next administrating of the Selective Service College Qualification Test will be given here Thursday, April 23, in the new Memorial Gym. No one will be admitted without an admission card and all who expect to take the test should report to the Gym at 8:30 a. m. Results of this test are used by local selective service boards in determining whether a student is eligible for further deferment. Dean Morley Mays is in charge and Rev. John Middlekauff is proctor and security assistant.

Oil Paintings Shown By Downtown Stores

Over 30 oil paintings by students of the Community educational program are now on display in downtown Huntingdon.

The display is the climax of the 12-week course in oil painting completed by 40 persons under the instruction of Charles Pearce, art supervisor in the Tyrone public schools. The course was one of ten offered this winter by the College.

The paintings are being shown this week in the windows of the Pennsylvania Electric Company and Hixson's.

Room Drawings Set For Men May 4

Room drawings for the Fall term, 1953, will be made May 4 reports newly elected Men's House Chairman, Abe Finton.

At a mass meeting held last week he outlined plans for the drawings to be conducted on a seniority basis. All prospective roommates are asked to procure room slips from the information window and turn them in to Finton in the near future.

Harlacher Selected To Edit '53 Indian

Frank Harlacher has been chosen as the editor of the 1953 Indian by the J Club, according to the announcement from President Ron Clapper.

Recommended by Bob Asan, editor last year, Harlacher is a junior sociology major from Harrisburg and at present is serving as the club editor on the Alfarata. He previously held the position of news editor on the Juniatian and in addition wrote a movie column.

He will be assisted by Harold Gray, former sports editor on the Juniatian staff.

Johnstown League 1st To Aid Center

The Women's League of Johnstown, Pa., was the first Juniata Women's League to give its active support to the Student Center project.

When the idea of constructing a snack bar on campus was considered back in 1951, the Johnstown group made a contribution of $200 toward the cause. Later, in 1952, a second contribution of $250 was ear-marked from the League to the student snack bar.

This year, when plans for the Student Center began to materialize, the contributions of the Johnstown Women's League of Juniata College, totaling $450, were made available to the Student Center, thus making them the first contributors to Operation Cooperation.

JC Ranks 43 In Nation's Colleges, Universities

The Juniatian

Vol. 29—No. 27 Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. Friday, April 24, 1953

Cops 3rd Place In Ford Listing

Juniata College ranks 43rd among the nation's colleges and universities, according to a country-wide survey made for the Ford Foundation for the Advancement of Education. The College is one of only four in Pennsylvania included in the top 50 educational institutions.

The study was conducted by Dr. Robert Knapp and Dr. Joseph Greenbaum, both Wesleyan University psychologists. Its purpose was to determine which institutions of higher education were producing "young American scholars of promise." The authors concluded that our most productive scholars are produced by only 50 of the nation's 800 colleges and universities.

At the top of the list is Swarthmore College, followed by Reed College of Oregon, University of Chicago, Oberlin and Haverford

The other Pennsylvania institutions listed are Juniata in 43rd and the University of Pennsylvania in 48th position.

Published As Book

The study has been published in book form under the title "The Younger American Scholar—His Collegiate Origins." The authors found that only 50 colleges in the country produced 10 or more scholars for each 1000 graduates during the period 1946-51. A scholar is defined as one who had earned a Ph. D. degree or a university, government or private fellowship for academic excellence.

Knapp and Greenbaum found that private supported coeducation colleges in the East and Middle West are the main producers of scholars. Thirty-two of the top institutions are liberal arts colleges, 11 are private supported universities, two are privately supported technical institutions and only five are tax-supported institutions.

Thirty-six percent of the group has religious affiliations and 58 percent of the liberal arts institutions represented have some sectarian ties.

Complete List

The complete listing of the top 50 colleges and universities is Swarthmore, Reed, University of Chicago, Oberlin, Haverford, California Tech, Carleton, Princeton, Antioch, Harvard, Yale, Queens, Grinnell, Wesleyan, Kenyon, Johns Hopkins, MIT, University of the South, Knox, Cornell.

Cooper Union, Beloit, Columbia, Pamona, Wooster, Augustana, De Pauw, Amherst, Williams, Brooklyn, Berea, Bethel, Trinity, Purdue, Bates, Wisconsin, Hope, Alfred, Hamilton, Wabash, William and Mary, Brown, Juniata, Rochester, Calvin, Monmouth, Kalamazoo, Penn, Dartmouth and Coe.

Clubs Plan May Day Displays; Rules, Judging Policy Stated

Plans for the May Day Club displays are well under way with 11 campus organizations participating, reports Allegra Forney, club coordinator. In connection with this year's general music theme, each club will choose a popular song title and build a display pertaining to it and the club.

The list of club displays, their titles and general chairmen are as follows: Chemistry Club, "The Thing," chairman Bill Garrison; FTA, "A—You're Adorable," Jeanne Baker; Lambda Gamma, "Sho Fly Pie," Rainey Belle Linn; Masque, "Make Believe," Jeanne Snively; Pyrenees, "Far Away Places," Sue Jamison; and Scalpel and Probe, "Dry Bones," Marge Fish.

Other clubs which will participate are Camera, Sue Mullendore; Outing, John Dale; Sigma Gamma, Marion Veals; WAA, Doreen Fyock and Janet Cline; and the Student Center, Russ Hill.

Basis For Judging

Club displays will be judged upon originalty of idea and execution of idea. Under originality of idea, a maximum of ten points will be given for adaptability of theme song to display and ten for adaptability of the display to the club. Under execution of idea, 15 points will be awarded for cleverness of presentation and 15 for evidence of preparation. A maximum total of 50 points may be gathered.

The organization with the winning display will receive as a prize a gavel. For the past two year, the Lambda Gamma has copped top honors and will be trying to continue its record. Should a club take first place for three consecutive years, the name of the organization will be engraved upon the gavel and it will be presented to the winners.

Rules Listed

General rules for displays are as follows: they must be put up by 2 p. m. Saturday, May 2; they must be taken down between 5 and 8 p. m. that evening; they must be outdoors at the assigned places unless it rains; in case of rain, the displays will be erected indoors at an assigned spot.

Someone must be at the display at all times; the budget for displays is $5 and a written account must be handed in by May 1; and final plans should have been in the hands of the club coordinator Monday, April 20.

The rules for display judging and erection were compiled by a committee consisting of Phyllis Link, May Day chairman, Allegra Forney, Rainey Belle Linn and John Dale.

Final Recital By Music Students Scheduled Sun.

The last of the series of student music recitals will be presented this Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. in Swigart Hall. This final program in the series conducted this spring will feature piano students of Miss Marie Jaeger and voice students of Miss Mary Pfotenhauer.

The recital will start with Barbara Grim playing Prelude by Chopin and will be followed by O cessate di piagarmi, Scarlatti and Nymphs and Shephards, Purcell by Bonnie Brumbaugh: Sonata Op. 10 No. 3 1st mvt, Beethoven by Bonnie Speck.

The program will continue with Alice Jean Hoffman doing O rest in the Lord, from The Elijah, Mendelssohn and Gia il Sole dal Gange, Scarlatti, Humeresque, Rachmaninoff by Vada Jean Roof will be followed by Caro mio ben, Giordani and Die b eiden Grenadiere, Schumann by Lloyd Stauffer.

Sonata Op. 10 No. 1 1st mvt, Beethoven by Alice Jean Hoffman will be presented next followed by Tu lo sai, Torelli and In the silence of the night, Rachmaninoff by Lois Parker.

The program will come to a close with Clair de Lune, Debussy by Mary Louise Lehman and Such a I'll fellow, Dichmont and Chi vuol la Zingarello, Paisiello by Barbara Grim.

All faculty and students are cordially invited to attend, the last recital in this series.

24 Sub-Freshmen To Visit Tomorrow

Juniata will entertain 24 students from six different high schools this week in the next to last career conference of the year.

Students from Hollidaysburg, Bellefonte and Spring City in Pennsylvania will journey to College Hill along with a number from Pitman High and Burlington in New Jersey. The remainder come from Sykesville High in Maryland.

Admissions Director Bob Newcombe announces that the final career conference will be conducted May 9-10.

Choir To Tour Sun. In Last Spring Trip

The Juniata College Touring Choir leaves campus Sunday for the last in a series of three spring trips. Accompanied by the seven-piece string-wind ensemble, the choir will present concerts at Gettysburg, Waynesboro and Hagerstown, Md. Directed by Prof. Donald Johnson, the group will sing their regular sacred program.

4 To Do Readings In State Festival

Four Juniata students, accompanied by Miss Esther Doyle, will journey to State College next Thursday and Friday for the Intercollegiate Reading Festival. From 12 to 15 Pennsylvania colleges will participate in the annual event.

Jeanie Tait will read sonnets from Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Fatal Interview" Thursday afternoon for the short poetry section, while Wilfred Norris will represent JC that evening in the drama, doing scenes from Shakespeare's "Hamlet."

Friday morning Kenneth Sheetz will participate in the narrative program with selections from Tolstov's "War and Peace." In the final event of long poetry, Betty Shearer will present passages from "The Passing of Arthur," by Alfred Lord Tennyson.

Thursday the readers will attend a banquet at Penn State and following the evening reading there will be a coffee hour at Dr. Oliver's, head of the English Department.

Changes Listed In Draft Policy

Important changes in the provisions for statutory deferment of students who are ordered for induction into the armed services have recently been made and should be noticed by all men students, according to an announcement from Dean Mays.

Under the new provision, a college student who is ordered for induction cannot be granted a deferment in class 1-S (C) unless he himself submits a written request for such deferment to his local board, accompanied by a statement from his college presenting certain required information, including the fact that he is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction.

Formerly, if a college student was ordered for induction and there was evidence in his file that he was satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course, his local board had to defer him automatically in class 1-S (C).

Senate Debates Bulletin Boards, More Publicity

The appointment of a dining hall announcer, bulletin boards, better dissemination of Senate activities and a campus Safety Marshall were among the topics discussed at the regular Senate meeting.

John Yates was approved as dining hall announcer with Rem Grove as his assistant. It was recommended that the Senate be more strict in enforcing announcement regulations such as typing or neatly printing them, and that the announcer be placed near the booth in all table assignments. A resolution was made that there be a small decrease in meal expenses of the announcer each semester or that the position be established as a work assignment.

Investigate Bulletin Boards

A committee composed of Ben Newcomer, chairman, and Bob Fahrney, was appointed to investigate bulletin board facilities and to suggest to Dean Mays that a student should be hired to take care of such bulletin boards as decided upon by the committee.

In a discussion to better publicize Senate activities, it was decided that a copy of the secretary's report be posted each week, that three oral reports be given every semester in the 10 a. m. activity period and that a committee be chosen to study broader Senate representation. Members of the committe are Wilfred Norris, chairman, Bob Bridenbaugh, Abe Finton and Jeanie Tait.

Bernie Petrusky will investigate the status of the Debate Club and its lack of funds to defray traveling expenses to the Carnegie Invitational Tourney.

Hercules—Safety Marshall

Dave Hercules was chosen campus Safety Marshall, his duties to be set up by a committee appointed by the Senate.

The Senate went on record to recommend that the administration check the Men's Day Students Room and investigate the suggestions outlined by the Men's House Committee to Dean Penney.

Speakers Highlight Chapel Programs

Monday's chapel speaker will be Chaplain Bradford Abernethy from Rutgers University. Wednesday the second in the series of special chapel lectures will be given by Dr. Russell Stafford, president of the Hartford Foundation. Carroll Champlin of Penn State's School of Education Reading Clinic will speak Friday.

LV Prof To Head County Chorus Sat.

Tomorrow evening will mark the final performance of the Huntingdon County Chorus. This program will be the climax of three days work and study, and will be under the direction of Prof. Edward P. Rutledge, musical director of Lebanon Valley College.

The 155 voice chorus is composed of students from various high schools in this county. The host for this event is Mr. Herbert Williams, vocal music supervisor of the Huntingdon Public Schools, along with the Huntingdon High School mixed chorus, the Choralairs.

The Saturday evening program will consist of six parts, and will include spirituals, popular and semi-classical music, and a piano duet. Among the numbers listed are Fred Waring arrangements of "You'll Never Walk Alone," "Deep River," "One Little Candel," as well as "Kathryn's Wedding Day," and "Green Cathedral." The final section of the program is a "Tribute to Romberg," a medley of Romberg favorites.

The program will be presented in Oller Hall Saturday evening at 8:30. The admission price is $1.00 per person.

JC Blood Donors Contribute Wed.

Respond to the call for needed blood! The Red Cross Blood Mobile will be on Juniata College Campus Wednesday from noon until 6 p. m. The donors will be taken at fifteen minute intervals. You choose the time most convenient to your schedule. The whole painless process lasts about 30 minutes.

Miss Barbara Cochran announces that tests for blood type, heart, pulse, and blood pressure are made before the giving of blood to insure that the volunteer is physically able to be a donor. Sandwiches, fruit juice, and coffee are served after the donation.

Donor blanks are available in Dean Dove's office. Those under 21 must have a parent's permission blank filled out.

Biddle Talks On Soviet School System

by Jim Hunt

"The Russian students seem to be as interested in America and our ways as we are of theirs", was the way John Biddle, Publisher of the Huntingdon Daily News, who just recently had the privilege of being one of the first newsmen admitted in Moscow since the second World War, answered my inquiry on student attitudes behind the Iron Curtain.

Speaking with the tongue of a man who has seen more in the last two months than most of us can even hope to in our lifetime, he explained that the Soviet educational system was markedly different from the type we are associated with in the U. S.

Schooling begins when the child reaches seven and is compulsory for a number of years although at this point he explained that the Russian educators he was talking to were always vague and double talked their way around without answering the question. "This was a common everyday happening for if the Russian people don't want to tell you something they just precede to jumble the conversation to the extent that you don't remember the original question." Returning to the topic of education he explained that in order to qualify for admission to the University of Moscow or another institution of higher learning you must attend ten years of school and graduate with a medal certifying scholastic attainment.

Providing he has the necessary requirements then the Russian student may attend college for five years and Mr. Biddle pointed out that his Russian guests were very imperative in stating that the students are all earnest seekers of a diploma and not just taking up time. At the University of Moscow are 16,000 students, equally divided as to sex, who pursue a course of instruction in philosophy, history, philology (language), economics, law, journalism, geology, biology, chemistry, physics, geography or mechanical engineering. Often times the courses are known by different names but the context is similar to American instruction classification.

Room Rents

At a recent Senate meeting, the subject of room rents was brought up and tossed around a little. And then it was decided that, since this issue touches the entire resident student body, it might be a timely topic for an open session of the Senate.

Room rent for all campus dormitories—the Lodge, Cloister, and the Women's Dorm—is the same—$60 per semester. Undoubtedly conditions in all dorms are not equal; hence the recommendation that prices be varied. It was proposed that residents of the Lodge pay $55, Cloister $60 and Women's Dorm $65.

That the Lodge is hardly the ideal dorm does not even merit discussion. It is an army barracks, a temporary arrangement to settle the housing problem. It is a known fact that its inhabitants are laboring under decided disadvantages. The walls are paper-thin, so that sound carries easily. Fire protection is definitely inadequate as witnessed last week. Although the rooms are private, this does not make up for the previously mentioned liabilities.

On the other hand, it is pointed out that the women students enjoy certain privileges. Their rooms are cleaned twice a week. They are all together in one dorm. They are housed in the same building with the dining hall, thus eliminating the three-daily trudges through all sorts of weather. On the debit side, however, can be mentioned the heating system which doesn't function quite as it should.

Stated briefly above are the motives prompting the Senate discussion. The student government body did not go on record as either favoring or opposing this suggestion. Should the Senate decide upon a course of action, it can do no more than recommend to the administration. However whatever recommendation is proposed will depend on the reactions of the student body. So think about the problem, express your reactions, formulate your ideas and present them to your Senators.

Student Center

Two in a series of brochures concerning the Student Center have already been mailed to alumni, parents and friends of the College. Explaining the need of this center, the plan of the building and the role of the students, these pamphlets have as their purpose the raising of additional funds to finance your Union.

So far the results aren't all that could be hoped for. Oh, the contributions are coming in slowly but from only a small percentage of those contacted. The committee asks your cooperation in this solicitation.

It isn't the size of the contribution that counts, but the spirit of the giving. Any gift, no matter how small or insignificant it may appear, shows that its donor recognizes our social problem and our efforts to combat it and that he appreciates the work being carried on.

Give your Student Center a plug in your letters and visits home and to friends. Make them see the importance of our work and the need for their aid. Emphasize the thought behind the donation rather than its size.

Biddle Lectures —

When asked what the most popular subject was at the university Mr. Biddle replied, "I asked Madame Axmova, a prominent instructor, the same question and received as the answer that English was by far the leader. In addition American literature holds a high place in the Russian education, especially the 20th century classical novels which tend to criticize the American way of life.

The University of Moscow, Mr. Biddle went on to explain, is divided into 12 facultys (departments) of which six are in the field of humanities and six in science. If a student shows that he is of rather good intelligence he will receive a scholarship of 200 rubles per month. While in the university the student has the opportunity to study 50 different Russian languages due to the dialect differences found in the various republics.

Upon graduation from the university the student does not get a degree but is expected to go to school for three more years. After completion of this graduate school the student receives the degree "Candidate of Science."

To complete an interesting hour talking to Mr. Biddle, he told me of the new university building that was recently completed on Lenin Hill just outside of Moscow. The building which will house the University of Moscow is of fantastic size and the pictures he showed me make one think of an ancient castle. Mr. Biddle says, "the Russian ritual in their talk always surrounds the idea that Comrade Stalin had the building built so that the students would have better surroundings for study."

While I was preparing to leave Mr. Biddle added that in a conversation with the Associate Rector of the University of Moscow, the Russian educator had stated that they would "welcome the possibility of Student Exchange experiments."

"My entire stay in Moscow was one of contrast," he continued, "from the beautiful hotel and apartment houses to the poor run down houses in the slums and the government run farms. New cars are of American design but lack in number." Mr. Biddle spoke in chapel Wednesday and had numerous other comments to add on his trip through Europe but the real climax came with the trip to the capital of one of the most mysterious countries in the world at this time.

The Things Around Us

By Jim Hunt

We dislike very much to continually use this space as a place to air some gripes but in a number of instances we feel that they are called for and merit the small coverage they receive.

Last Saturday night the residents of the Lodge were greeted with a triple-red surprise upon returning to our domains following the evening meal. Huntingdon's fire trucks semed to be there in abundance including the hook and ladder truck which drew a number of snickers considering the Lodge is only a one story building. Immediately upon observing the local fire-fighters swarming over the Lodge various thoughts ran thru the minds of the residents of this temporary dorm. For we all realized that therein laid a good percentage of our clothing and a host of other relatively expensive items that were just to much to be replaced by the bankroll.

Within a few minutes we realized that all fears about destruction of our dear Lodge would not materialize so all concerned joined in to enjoy the different situation. A number of puns were tossed about concerning the origin of the blaze in which all seem desirous to claim credit.

A day or so later we learned that the damage of $200 was covered by insurance so that the administration had no worries concerning the small amount of damage that resulted. All this is past and nothing more needed to be said until we heard that the fire was started because of a bare wire.

It was then that we began thinking about the firetrap that we were living in and without a single bit of insurance on the clothing and personal possessions that we had in our rooms. With just some rough totaling we figure that every person in the Lodge has in his room possessions valued at over $200. Who will stand the loss if this place should go up in smoke some night? Or even better what happens if it should get to burning some night when all the fellows are in bed?

With the alarm system that we have the entire place could be on fire and until somebody started to hollar those away from the blaze could get no warning. When the Huntingdon firemen moved in to fight the fire the other day the one volunteer grabbed a fire extinguisher off the wall and immediately went into action—the action of putting it back on the wall for it was empty. Very good fire protection, wouldn't you say?

Now we asked the administration if it is beyond their scope to provide the residents of the Lodge adequate fire protection. If a life would be lost in a fire there some night they would indeed be sorry but a great deal of good that would be. The fellows feel that something should be done, so what about it?

CIRCUIT RIDER

Wake Up, Prof!

By JACK FREYMULLER

The time has come for us to air our feelings on certain classroom practices we have seen that seem unfair. Whether or not it will be called "sour grapes" is not our concern because we have been affected by it for so long that we feel justified in mentioning it. You all have seen these things but we think that few of you have taken the trouble to think it through.

We have no statistics to guide us here but we think it is reasonable to say that a large number of professors and instructors give classroom grades for recitation. That is, when a pupil offers enough verbal recitation he is given a mark that will be averaged in with his other marks. That would seem to be fair enough practice in theory. But in truth, it doesn't work out here in Juniata.

Why, you ask, doesn't it work out? Well, here is the fallacy. This system of marking depends on the student giving the right answer, of course, but it doesn't work here at JC because the professor gives the student the choice of where he gets the answer at the moment of recitation. Does he fish it out of the air remembering his reading of the text the night before? Or does he have the finesse that enables him to follow the outline of the lecture in the open text lying on his chair-arm and give an answer that he never saw before that minute? Mind you now, I'm not saying that this is true in all cases, but I could swear an oath to a great part of them.

The first thing that comes into your mind is the realization that if some of the students prepare their lessons and some don't—then somebody's getting shafted! In the long run, everyone is hurt because the professor doesn't realize, or ignores, the fact that he is killing off incentive. The class then is graded on their ability to leaf through so many pages and nonchalantly offer the right answer.

It is apparent that something is wrong. This system can only lead to desultory interest on the part of every student involved because he knows that his chances of recognition as a good student are no better than anyone who can read so many words per minute or who is a bit better than illiterate. And then what does he do? He slips into the very same rut as the rest.

Something should be done about it! If those professors who allow this practice would only wake up and see its effects, perhaps the lack of scholarship they deplore would be remedied. For it can be seen that it is mightily tempting to forgo a night's studying when you know you can "bull" it through in the morning with the aid of your text.

Here is what I suggest. I think a professor who wishes to continue using his text in class should not grade on class work. Those who want to grade on class work should require all books to be closed when recitation begins. Of course a text is helpful during lectures when something needs further illustration. But definitely not when the student's preparation is being tested.

Tennis Team Ties Match Unfinished

The Juniata tennis team still hasn't been able to complete a match. They almost finished one last Friday at Lycoming in a match postponed for three days, but Mother Nature again stepped in to halt things with only one more doubles match to be played. And to make matters even more uncertain, the score at the time was 4-4, with this match the deciding factor in the team score. The deadlock will be broken on May 23 when Lycoming visits here.

The entire match was played under the most adverse of weather conditions; a steady drizzle was present throughout and a cold wind swept the Memorial courts all afternoon.

The singles play was split evenly, each team winning three, as was the doubles play, with each taking one victory. Juniata's number one and two men, Sam Byers and Everet Wills, were downed in both their singles and doubles play. However, an Raffensperger, Ray Pfrogner, and Dick Bowker each won their singles matches, Pfrogner in straight sets. Raffensperger and Pfrogner also combined to win their doubles match. The squad's sixth man, Dick Fusco, was overcome by a late rally to lose. Bowker and Fusco were just beginning their doubles play when darkness set in to bring an end to the afternoon's events.

Seven Go To Penn Relays; Tennis Idle

Seven Juniata trackmen leave today for Philadelphia to compete in the annual Penn Relays. Three will take part in special events while the other four will run as a relay team in today's competition. Leading the contingent is Gene Rothenberger, who will compete in his broad jump specialty. Larry Hartline will throw the javelin, and Bob Flory will run in the two-mile.

Making the trip to become baton passers are John Cook, Dick Godshall, Don Davis, and Joe Trimber. Those qualifying in individual events today will be eligible to enter the finals tomorrow. However, only an upperclass relay team may run tomorrow, so Cook, Godshall, Flory and Rothenberger will in all probability make up that relay squad.

Host Bisons, Bullets

For the rest of the squad, a week long break is in order. The Tribe thinclads will not run again until May 1, when they host Bucknell and Gettysburg in our annual triangular meet. In the past several seasons the meet has been all Bucknell, perennially a power in track. However the man to watch this year will be Gettysburg's ace, Les Eckman, hurdler and high jumper extraordinary.

The tennis team also has a relatively light week, playing just one match. The Penneymen face only the Red Devils of Dickinson at Carlisle tomorrow.

Bridgewater, D-son Down Tribe In Track

The Juniata College trackmen tried to combat a potent mixture of a very wet and sloppy track, a cold rain, a seven hour bus trip, and an extremely good Bridgewater track squad, but found the combination too strong to overcome as they went down to a decisive 82½-43½ defeat last Saturday on the Virginians' home track. The Tribe thinclads could produce a winner in only five of the 14 events, with two of these by star freshman weightman Al Nyce.

Bridgewater, last year victor in the Mason-Dixon Track tourney (roughly equivalent to our own Middle Atlantics tournament), lived up to its advance notices by losing only one running event. Indian letterman Bob Flory splashed to the Tribe's lone track victory in his mile specialty. However, the Braves showed power in the field events with four victories, while our sister school could garner just two.

Rothenberger, Hartline Repeat

Winners for the Indians were Gene Rothenberger, who repeated in the broad jump, Larry Hartline, repeating his javelin victory of a week ago, Nyce taking honors in the shot and discus, and Flory in the mile. Rothenberger again proved to be an iron man by taking a second in the 100 as well as thirds in both of the hurdle events. Flory also took second honors in the two mile grind. Lowell Hackman broke into the scoring column for the first time this season, with a second place tie in the high jump, while Chuck Knox gained four points with a second in the shot and a third in the discus. Elvadore Mitchell won a second in the javelin and JC's final two points were scored by JC dashmen, Pat Tarquino in the 220 and Don Davis in the 440.

Devils Triumph

The Indian trackmen went down to their third successive defeat last Wednesday at the hands of the Dickinson Red Raiders on Biddle Field in Carlisle. The score was by a decisive 82-44 margin. As always, depth made the difference, as the Tribe took six first place winners, but could garner only two seconds in the 14 events.

The Indians came home with double winners; Bob Flory took both the mile and the two mile, and Al Nyce won the shot put and the discus. Nyce is currently undefeated in the discus. Larry Hartline won his javelin specialty for the third straight time with a toss of 160'7½", and Gene Rothenberger won his broad jump event, also for the third time in three meets, with a 20'9½" jump. Nyce had his best distance of the season in the discus with a throw of 118' 11¾", while Flory bettered his times in both his wins by doing a 4:59.8 mile and a 11:05.6 two mile.

High scorer for the Tribe was Gene Rothenberger, who scored the Tribe's only second place points by finishing runnerup in the 220 low hurdles and in the 100 yard dash, and taking a third in the 120 high hurdles. Other third place winners for the Braves were Davis in the 440, Trimber in the 220 and 220 low hurdles, Knox in the shot, Mitchell in the javelin, Hartline is the discus, and Rosenberger in the pole vault.

Linksmen Rout Red Devils, 8-1

The Tribe golfers opened their 1953 campaign on a successful note as they downed an invading Dickinson team, 8-1. Carrying off medalist honors for the day was Juniata's two year letterman, Tom Cherok, with a sterling 71. His running mate Frank Arasin followed closely with a 74. The win was the Tribes 24th on the Huntingdon course without defeat.

Only winner for the Red Raiders was letterman Skip Maseland, who downed Keith Birmingham in the closest match of the day, 2 & 1.

The summary:
Cherok (J) over Eisley, 6 & 5.
Museland (D) over Birmingham, 2 & 1. Best ball, Juniata , 3 & 2.
Arasin (J) over McGovern, 8 & 7.

Golfers Face Frankies, Lions, Bisons In Week

The Indian golfers will have a very busy week next week as they will meet three opponents, only one at home. Monday the Tribe trips to Loretto to face the St. Francis linksmen. The followingday, they face the Red Lions of Albright on the Huntingdon Country Club Links. And on Friday, the Braves travel to Lewisburg to face the powerful Bucknell Bisons.

This is the first year that the locals face the St. Francis Frankies. A relatively new sport at the Loretto school, little is known concerning the Frankies.

For the sixth time since the first meeting of the two golf squads in 1948, the locals will take on the Red Lions of Albright. The Braves lead in the series, 5-0. Albright opened their season last week by swamping Moravian, 8-1. Leading the Lion golfers is Capt. Jim Rutter, a two letterman. Others on the squad include two basketball stars, Ken Nase and Mike DePaul.

The Bisons of Bucknell are Juniata's oldest rivals in the game, the two teams having met nine times since the initiation of the sport here in 1947. JC carries a decided edge in the series, 8-1, as last year the Braves downed the boys from Reading, 7-2. This year the Bisons boast four returning lettermen from last year, lead by Jeff Mynott, last year's number one man. Also back are Bill Grim, Ted Stark, and Nelson Korb.

I am calling for a more realistic attitude on the part of both student and professor. I repeat that all are not guilty. Some professors don't believe in classroom recitation, some of necessity must use texts in their questionings, but the others, I believe, will see my point.

Some professor's have already cracked down on this; one of them caustically remarking, "Thanks for reading that out of the book!" Maybe more of you should be like that!

Smaltzmen Win Three

Drop LV, Lycoming, Shippensburg

Juniata College's baseball team opened its 50th season with a 7-4 victory over Lebanon Valley here last Thursday in a game hampered by wet, bone-chilling weather. Captain Dave LeFevre hurled for the Indians and scattered ten Dutchmen hits over the nine inning route.

His teammates meanwhile jumped on three LV hurlers for eight hits and seven bases on balls. Big stickman for the Tribe was Jake Handzelek who entered his first collegiate game as a pinch hitter for Monk Simon and promptly clouted the initial offering by Bob Austin 350 feet into deep center field for a four bagger. Lefty LeFevre disproved the theory that pitchers do not hit as he racked up a triple and single in three times at bat. Fran Zimmerman also posted two hits, one being a double.

Ken Leonard garnered the honor of collecting the most walks in the game, as he received four free passes, two of which he turned into runs for the Indians.

Lycoming Falls, 14-6

Playing their second game in as many days, the JC diamondmen set down Lycoming College 14-6 at Williamsport in a game called at the end of six innings because of darkness.

John Crisswell, ex-Huntingdon High ace, started on the mound for the Indians, but found the going rough as Lycoming jumped on him for five runs and three hits in the first one-third inning. Sophomore left Joe Hinish was then called in from left field to put out the fire, and he successfully quelled the Lycoming attack by giving up only one run and two hits in the five and two-thirds innings he worked.

Wielding big bats for the Braves were Wes Lingenfelter and Fran Zimmerman. Lingenfelter cracked two triples and drove in four runs while Zimmerman smashed a bases empty home run. Hinish helped his own cause by clouting a triple to drive in three runs, while his battery mate, Don Pheasant contributed two hits in two times at bat.

Juniata took the lead with eight runs in the fourth frame. Lycoming's starting pitcher, Cruckshank, started the inning by issuing five straight bases on balls, and then served up a triple to Lingenfelter. Cornish, his reliefer, didn't find the going much easier as the Indians belted him for three singles before the final out was recorded. The Tribe also scored double runs in the first, second and sixth innings.

Shippensburg Sunk, 14-3

Juniata's diamondmen won their third game within a week as they outgunned and outpitched the visiting Red Raiders of Shippensburg by a 14-3 count. The game was called at the end of six and one-half innings because of darkness. Dave LeFevre won his second decision of the year by giving up two runs and five hits in the five innings he pitched. John Crisswell came on in the sixth to hurl the last two frames, giving up the third run on two hits in the seventh.

Leading the Indian stickmen was Don Pheasant with a double and single in four trips to the barrier. Joe Hinish slammed a long home run in the third with one on to abet the winning cause, while Tom McNeal and Criswell each contributed triples in the later stages of the game. However the honor of the longest hit of the day went to Cherry of the Teachers who slammed a drive deep into left field in the third. The ball was tagged for around 400 feet.

The Tribe collected only 11 hits over the distance, but were aided by wildness on the Teachers' part, gathering all free tickets.

Indian Nine Meets Three More Foes

The powerful Juniata baseball squad faces a busy week with three games on tap. Tomorrow the undefeated nine trips to Annville to face for the second time in ten days the Lebanon Valley Flying Dutchmen. Making their second road trip of the week, on Thursday the Smaltzmen travel to Lewisburg to tangle with the Bisons of Bucknell. The next day the nine plays host to the Teachers of Indiana.

The Tribe met and defeated the Dutchmen on opening day by a 7-4 count behind the timely pitching of Dave LeFevre. In all probability Coach Smaltz will again throw his crafty southpaw against the hard hitting LV nine. Leading the Tribe in that contest were Fran Zimmerman, Jake Handzelek, and LeFevre himself.

Bucknell is one of the larger schools on the Indian schedule, an as such usually presents a powerful aggregation. The Teachers from Indiana are an unknown quantity this year, but last year the two nines split in two contests, the Braves taking the first one 7-5, but dropping the second, 6-4.

Indians Fall, 8-2

The Juniata College Indians down to their first defeat at Lock Haven yesterday by an 8-2 count. The Tribe record is now three and one. Joe Hinish started on the mound and was tagged as the losing pitcher. Harold Estep made his first pitching appearance of the season as a reliefer in the fifth.

Hinish tagged three hits to lead the Brave hitters. One of his hits was a double. Wes Lingenfelter abetted the losing cause with two singles. Leading the Teachers was Everett, who tagged two home runs and a single in five appearances. Two others, Yelovitch and Sundstrom, also had three hits.

Prof Oller Likes Skiing, English Cars

by Eloise Holsinger

"Cuisine, climate, and car" appear to be the three most significant words in the details of a nearly three-month-long vacation in Europe, enjoyed by Juniata's Assistant Professor of Modern Languages, Jack E. Oller.

Mr. Oller, who sailed from New York in the middle of January on "The United States," did not emphasize "cuisine" except to state that the French were still living up to the characteristic for which they were famous in producing very delectable and unusual food. The most important factor to him was the "climate" which determined skiing conditions that prompt these annual European visits.

With his headquarters or official European place of residence at Paris, Professor Oller left for Zurs in western Austria, where he found skiing conditions excellent. His next trip took him from Zurs to St. Moritz, Switzerland, which proved unfavorable for skiing to the "veteran mountain slider" because of the abundance of ice.

"Undoubtedly, the most outstanding skiing experience of the trip was received by me at Zermatt," stated Professor Oller, "for two reasons: the excellent skiing to be had there and the magnificent scenery to be witnessed." Zermatt is located in Switzerland at the base of the world-renowned mountain, Matterhorn, and he said that located on one of the slopes, at an altitude of approximately 1,620 meters, is a picturesque graveyard where are buried the bodies of those who have failed in their attempt to conquer the rugged Matterhorn.

Prof. Jack Oller
• Discusses Tour •

From Zermatt, the language professor returned to Paris and made the necessary arrangements to go to London where he intended to purchase the third significant part of his threesome, "the car." Probably the most interesting to the people in this immediate neighborhood, it was bought in London where Mr. Oller enjoyed two weeks of driving in the English countryside on the left side of the road. The car itself is an English Singer Roadster. It is very small and powerful with a 7'7" wheel base and a 6½" ground clearance.

The professor returned from London to Paris where he met the John Biddles, then making their tour of Europe. Through the efforts of Mr. Biddle, he was included in the group of journalists when they were entertained by the President of France in the Elysee Palace.

"I was extremely grateful for this opportunity," said Mr. Oller, "because I was present in person when the President of France gave his thanks to these representatives of the American people for the hospitality that had been extended him upon his visit to the United States."

On The Club Scene

With "comps", baseball, track, golf, May Day, and "finals" in the air, as well as its being spring, the time when the poet says "a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love", it is most surprising to observe that there is so great an amount of campus club activity. In fact, there are four club meetings scheduled for this evening alone.

IRC

It has been revealed by Bernie Petrusky, president of the IRC, that the organization will play host to Miss Greta Sorensen of Denmark this evening in the I. Harvey Brumbaugh House at 7:15. Miss Sorensen, who is a social worker in international problems and is at present studying at Columbia University, will discuss how Denmark handles her social problems.

Following the discussion, a "smorgasbord" lunch will be served. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

FTA

This evening at 7:15 in Room C, announces Bill Weyandt, vice-president, the FTA will have the opportunity to hear Jody Castille, Wes Diemer, Della Fulton, Bernard Lily, Martha Petre, and Ginny Yohn talk about their student teaching experiences. All FTA members are urged to come out to the meeting.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

Wil Norris, president of the Chemistry Club, states that a short business meeting of the group will be held this evening at 7:15 in Room 104.

IVCF

Assembling in Founders' Chapel at 7:15 tonight, the IVCF will conduct its weekly Bible study and business meeting. All are welcome to attend.

JCA

President Calvert N. Ellis will talk to the members of JCA Tuesday evening at 7:15 in Founders' Chapel on the subject, "Religion and Education", discloses Joy Rinehart, JCA Publicity Director.

LAMBDA GAMMA

Rainey Linn, club president, mentions that the last minute details are being taken care of for the Lambda Gamma chicken and waffle dinner at the Twin Oaks Tuesday evening. This is the club's annual spring banquet.

Altoona Band To Appear Fri.

The Rotary Club of Huntingdon will present the Altoona High School Concert Band in Oller Hall on Friday evening May first at 8:15 o'clock, it was announced today by President John A. Kunz. This popular instrumental group ensemble, under the direction of Mr. John C. Monti, will present a program which includes the works of composers from Beethoven to Sousa.

This band, with a personnel of 100 performers, boasts a vast resource of professional calibre soloists. Outstanding players will be heard on the clarinet, trumpet, piccolo, bassoon and drums. Brilliant and exciting numbers will be played by small groups, combos, trios and quartets.

There will be no admission charge to the public.

May Day Festival Scheduled For Tomorrow 2:30

Jr - Sr Reception Memorial Gym Saturday At 8:00

Saturday night is the night of moon-mist magic and dreamy music, which equals the Junior-Senior Reception as the climax of the day set aside for a tribute to May and Melody.

Dancing will begin in the Memorial Gym at 8 p. m. The affair is semi-formal, and corsages are in order.

Musical Set

The Carfora twins, co-chairmen of the decoration committee, have announced that the background for the crowning ceremony and the dance will be sheets of music, banked by musical staffs along the sides. The color scheme will be carried out in tones of pink, green, and silver.

Bob Landes will serve as master of ceremonies for the dance date Saturday evening. The Royals will supply the music, and during intermission the Queen of May and Melody and Prince Charming will be introduced. Entertainment will include selections by the Varsity Quartet, the Harmonettes Trio, and Helen Sell at the marimba.

Committees Named

The decoration committee for the dance is composed of the Carfora twins as co-chairmen, Bernie Petrusky, Dee Bramhall, Edie Engler, Joan Chase, Elaine Zook, John Dale, Joyce Mullan, Helen Rosengren, Abe Finton, Audrey Weber, and Nancy McCahan. The refreshment committee is headed by Carol Lowdermilk, and includes Marian Brightbill, Mary Lou Niekirk, D. D. Silldorff, Nancy Blanck, and Nancy McCahan.

Seeking entertainment for the dance found Bob Farhney, chairman, Ben Newcomer, Betty Shearer, and Jeanie Tait doing some fancy footwork. The last job, but certainly not the least, that of clean-up, will be done by John Dale, chairman; Paul Gingrich, Helen Stutzman, Betty Lou Smith, and Betty Shearer.

Fall Registration To Start May 8

Registration for the Summer and Fall terms will begin Friday, May 8. On this date, from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m., all classes will register for the Summer session.

Juniors will register Monday, May 11, for the fall term. Sophomores and freshmen will register May 12, and May 14 respectively.

Set For Students Hall

Registration headquarters are Room C of Students Hall. The advisers are located in Students Hall as follows: Room A—Dr. Binkley, Dr. Clemens, Prof. Johnson; Room B—Dr. Kiracofe, Miss Butler, Miss Schlegel; Room E—Dr. Will, Prof. Stayer, Prof. Yoder; Room F—Dr. Rockwell, Dr. Davis, Mr. Kimbrough; Room G—Dr. Henry, Prof. Glick; Room H—Dr. Crosby, Mr. Nolan.

All non-veteran men obtain three copies of Selective Service Form 169. Fill out items 1-6 and turn in all copies at check desk in Room C.

Arrange Consultations

Students are urged to arrange for consultation with faculty advisers or department chairmen during the week of May 4-9 to formulate a program for the Fall term before coming to register.

If a class or lab conflict prevents a student from registering at the appointed time, it will be necessary to report to Room C at 1:50 p. m., Friday, May 8; 10 a. m. Tuesday, May 12, or Thursday, May 14.

Registration after May 14 will be considered late and the late registration fee will be charged.

Summer classes will start June 15, and Fall classes Thursday, Sept. 17.

Art Prof Joins Faculty; Art Curriculum Expanded

A major expansion is being made in the art department of the Juniata College faculty by the addition of James B. Wilson, Columbus, Ohio, as assistant professor of art.

Mr. Wilson accepted the appointment to serve as an instructor in three sections of the freshman course in Arts and Humanities, and two new courses included in the Fall term.

Professor Wilson was born in Bloomington, Indiana, in 1911. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Indian University in 1934 and his master's degree from Ohio State in 1949. He is now a candidate for a Ph. D. degree in the graduate school of Ohio State University.

He has taken additional study in fine arts at Princeton University and John Herron Art Institute. He also completed research on the life, work and American catalogue of 19th Century French painter, Henri Fantin Latour. His research work has taken him to Mexico, Canada, Italy, France and Germany.

Six art courses will be available in the fall curriculum. In addition to Appreciation of Art and Elementary School Art, included in the present curriculum, Italian Renaissance Art, Modern Art, Drawing, and Elementary Oil Painting will be offered in the fall.

Juniatian Takes 2nd Place Rating

The Associated Collegiate Press has awarded the Juniatian a second-class rating for the first semester of the 1952-53 term. The paper was under the editorship of Jim Holsopple.

Out of a possible 1000 points, the Juniatian received 725. Papers are judged on the basis of news values and sources; new writing and editing; headlines, typography and make-up; and department pages and special features.

1:15 Lates To Be Granted For Ball

The fourth annual Charity Ball which will be held in the Memorial Gymnasium Wednesday evening, May 13 will mark the premiere appearance on the newly organized Tommy Dorsey orchestra featuring Jimmy Dorsey.

Under the auspices of the J. C. Blair Memorial Hospital, the ball this year is being supported by donations from "Vacation of a Lifetime" tickets which are being sold. A planned vacation worth $750 will be awarded to some lucky person the night of the ball. Anyone who is able to sell a book of these tickets will be given free admission to the dance. Anyone interested may contact Bob Newcombe for further information.

Tickets may be purchased at the information window for $2.50 per person which will include refreshments and a souvenir program. Dress is optional and corsages will be sold at the door.

There will be dancing and entertainment from 9:00 to 1:00. Resident women will be granted 1:15 lates. In keeping with our May Day decorations, the theme will be a springtime blend of music and flowers.

Grade Avg. For Fall Term High

Thanks to more industrious habits perhaps, the student body of Juniata College for the fall term '52-'53 appears to be .04 more intelligent than the student body for the fall term '51-'52. The comparison of average grades released by the Registrar's Office show that the all-college grade average for this past fall term was 1.36 as compared to the 1.32 average of the same term in '51.

The average grades, according to classes, fall into order with the seniors at the top and the freshmen at the bottom, having 1.60, 1.44, 1.36, and 1.11, seniors, juniors, sophomores and freshmen respectively.

Music Program, Tennis, Displays Featured During Afternoon Fete

The Festival of May and Melody will get under way tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. with Queen Jan Wenger and Prince Charming Ted McGwire reigning over the celebration.

Weather permitting, the coronation program will be held in front of Oller Hall. After the processional played by the orchestra under the direction of Prof. Jack Brammer, the 1953 Queen of May and Melody will be crowned by the Prince Charming. Queen Jan will wear a lavendar gown, while her attendents will all be dressed in pale green organdy.

To entertain Her Majesty, and to further emphasize the theme of the campus affair, a musical program will then take place on the lawn in front of the throne. The dances of the May Court will do the traditional May Pole Dance, after which the Chapel Choir, directed by Miss Mary Pfotenhauer, will present two numbers —"Deep River" and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

Dance Band To Play

The Royals Dance Band will then offer their salute to the reigning Queen—"A Pretty Girl is like a Melody." "They Say It's Wonderful" and "Almost Like Being In Love" will be sung by a mixed ensemble composed of Jean Baker, Jody Casteel, Allegra Forney, Nancy Rosenberger, Harold Bowser, Bob Landes, Paul Morrison and Ben Newcomer.

Rounding out the coronation program will be the Touring Choir's presentation of "Keys of Heaven," "Grandfather's Clock," and a medley from "My Maryland." The recessional will be played by the orchestra.

Court Named

Members of the May Court are Jean Staude, maid-of-honor, Rhoda Gaugler, Phyllis Link, Naomi Kulp, Audrey Weber, Donna Croft, Doris Markey, Nancy Nevin and Maggie Sims.

Following the coronation program, the club booths will be on display at various places on campus. After the judging of the displays the May Day gavel will be presented to the winning organization at 4 p. m. outside Founder's Chapel. Tennis matches are scheduled to begin at 1:30 p. m.

Climaxing the day's activities will be the junior-senior reception held in the Memorial Gymnasium at 8:30 p. m. (See story on page 1.)

52 Grad Expires

Miss Jeanne Link, a Juniata graduate of 1952, died at her home on April 12 following a short illness. Miss Link was a resident of Kenmore, New York prior to her illness and subsequent death.

Altoona Band To Feature Instrumental Specialties

The Altoona High School Concert Band, under the direction of John Monti, will appear in Oller Hall tonight at 8:15 p. m. The concert is sponsored by the Huntingdon Rotary Club and is free of charge.

Appearing on the program will be two student vocalists—Barbara Calcavecchia, soprano and Ronald Kibler, baritone, both of whom are members of the A Cappella Choir.

Instrumental soloists will be John Croft, baritone; Benny Grove, piccolo; Albert Hyde, bassoon, John Loose, clarinet; Sheldon MacDonald, trombone; and Michael Polignone, trumpet.

One of the featured events will be a modern combo, called the "Doodlers", composed of three clarinetists, saxophonist and drummer. The group will play a number entitled "Wham Doodle."

"The Three Gaybriellos" and the "Polkateers", trumpet trio and quartet respectively, will also play specialty numbers.

The band's concert program will feature classical selections in modern arrangements, novelty numbers, Latin-American music, marches and several works in the Tin-Pan Alley idiom.

Television Premier

Hallmark's Hamlet

E. L. Wills, Jr.

On Sunday afternoon, April 26th, at 3:30 began the video premiere of "Hamlet" over the NBC television network. The program was the Hallmark Hall of Fame, in tribute to our greatest dramatist and poet on his 389th birthday on April 23rd.

Maurice Evans, who is regarded as America's foremost interpreter of Shakespeare, was briefly removed from his uxoricidal endeavors in "Dial M for Murder" to play the title role; Ruth Chatterton made her debut as Hamlet's mother, Queen Gertrude; Joseph Schildkraut played King Claudius; Barry Jones was Polonius; Sara Churchhill, a regular star of the Hallmark Hall of Fame, took the part of Ophelia.

This was the inaugural of something for which many of us have long waited: the performance of the classics through the medium of TV. Unfortunately, performance and the adopted mode of presentation were far on the nether side of hope and expectations. For the two hour limit it was necessarily a streamlined version of the tragedy, but made even more so by Hallmark because they insisted on pumping in a tiresome five-minute commercial advertisement of greeting cards every fifteen or twenty minutes. The redacted and abbreviated arrangement hung together rather well in terms of the effectiveness of the plot, even though in following the original dialogue one found oneself skipping five pages and then turning back two, etc...

The acting was very well done in terms of both interpretation and rendition by all. And this in itself was a feat, considering that it was a two hour live performance. By "live" is meant that none of the play was on film, that the actors were acting on stage when we saw them. There were only two or three quite minor mishaps from this point of view, one of the more ludicrous when, during Hamlet's famous 'To be, or not to be" soliloquy, a dungareed stagehand wandered leisurely on and off stage.

But the anachronistic stage setting of the performance quite set one by the ears. It was the first time I have seen a Shakespearan play couched in the Victorian period, and I disliked it. The actors sported ruffled shirt fronts and sleeves, and the ornate mahogany furniture and colonial bay windows were a far cry from the stark castle in Olivier's "Hamlet." If Hallmark cannot afford to do a thing right, it is best left undone...

I witnessed this performance of "Hamlet" in the home of Miss Marjorie Bange. I do not know who was responsible for arranging the permission of Juniata students to see this television program in the various private homes, and to whomever was originally responsible for this arrangement, I hereby tender my heartiest thanks. My only surprise and regret is that not more students took advantage of the facilities at their disposal. Wherewith were ye surfeited on Sunday afternoon O ye cognoscenti et literati de Collegii Juniatiensis?

CIRCUIT RIDER

The Poet's Corner

By JACK FREYMULLER

I found two poems in my copy box the other day when I reported in at the Juniatian office. They were lying there without any clue to the name of the author or why they were written or, stranger still, why they were turned in to us. I was glad to see them, however, because I like to see some interest on the part of my readers. Therefore, they are appearing this week. My thanks to their unknown author.

The Heart Of a Mighty Light

Oh do you see! Oh do you see!
The Heart of a mighty light?
The searing flame of a brilliant sun
That glows on the naked's plight.

The brazen gates of Heaven clang,
Swing wide, out spreads the light;
The crawling souls lift up their eyes
As Truth casts out the night.

Exalt your soul, lift up your mind;
Oh let those blind eyes see.
Your late-bound frame begins to soar
Freed from its carnal fee.

The Devil shrieks and flaps his wings
His darkened chorus moans;
The two-fold self has joined as one
With strong translucent bones.

The Atheist

I have not heard the silver song of God
Float in dream-words on the lonely beach;
I have not felt the heaving spirit
Deep within me swell.
I have not known the hand of love
Along my arm....

Born in a fable
Raised on a tune
Weaned on a Bell
Alone at the Well....

I mourn
I mourn my life
It will not e'er return
And I will lose the memory
Of a natural song.

I have been near the dead light
I have heard the drumming wings
Of spirits on the shore—
—Their restless cries like breaking waves—

And did I watch
And did I turn
And did my stride
Break into madness
In the twilight

Running running running....
Along the rim of madness
Where the brimming depths
Throw up a chilling sigh....

Whirling of mad spheres
Spinning of slim stars
Mad discordance....

There you have it. Two rather strange pieces of poetry, but I was rather taken with them. I hope you will be, too.

Softball League Hits Midseason

With the intramural softball league at its halfway point, two undefeated teams have shown themselves in the incomplete standings. Still leading the list with five victories in five tilts is the Hank's A. C. nine. The newcomer in the fight for the lead is the Chimpchamps, led by big Walt Vanderbush and Torry Froisland, with three victories and no defeats.

Hank's A. C. continued their winning pace of the week before with three victories this week. They downed the P. H. D.'s, 10-7, the Aces 9-1, and the Jabberwockeys 7-6; all behind the pitching of Dave Pollock. In their victory over the P. H. D.'s, Pollock also blasted out a home run, while Henry Jara, Leo Kuhn, and Nick Rocco each collected two baseknocks. Leading the losers were Ayres, Wright, and Thomas each with two hits. One of Thomas' was a homer. The Aces went down behind the three hit pitching of Pollock while the victors collected 14 hits themselves. In this game Pollock collected his fourth homerun of the year. The Aces garnered the first triple play of the year in the first inning. The A. C. had to rally against the Jabberwocky's with three runs in the top of the sixth to win 7-6. Larry Confer led the losers both in pitching and batting.

Meanwhile the Chimpchamps also won three contests during the week's play. They downed the Aces 11-10, the Covites 11-9, and the P. H. D.'s 8-7. Against the Aces Bob Gottlieb lead the hitters with four hits including a double and a triple. Mohney and Kerstetter also socked out triples. and Svitil each with three hits. Leading the losers were Sid Clark and Svitel each with three hits. Piazza socked out a homerun also for the Aces. The Chimpchamps had to come from behind against the Covites with a six run fifth inning. Kerstetter led the winners with three hits. George Pote and Bob Bridenbaugh led the Covites each with a triple, while Bob Motisher had two doubles.

Against the P. H. D.'s Vanderbush collected three doubles and a homerun in four trips. Bill Yerzyk held the losers to seven hits, two of them by Al Nyce.

Golfers Win Streak Reaches Three, Meet Bucknell At Lewisburg Today

The Juniata linksters will take a three game win streak into their match with Bucknell University today at Lewistown. The Indians racked up their second and third victories by defeating St. Francis, 5-1, and Albright 9-0.

On downing St. Francis at the Summit Country Club on Monday the Tribe was forced to overcome the elements as the match was played in the snow and a high wind. In addition the course was extremely wet and muddy.

Medal honors went to Ron Sanker who shot a 76 over the par 72 Cresson course. Sanker scored the Frankies only point as he downed Tom Cherok 2 and 1. Cherok shot a 79.

Frank Arasin, Juniata's number two man shot an 83 while beating Tom Livingston who shot a 90, 5 and 4.

Keith Birmingham tallied the Indian second point by downing Charlie Starola 5 and 4. Birmingham had an 82 to his opponents 90.

Barry Montgomery defeated Ed Higgens 6 and 5, Dave Bayer, Juniata captain won his match over Regis Kozusho 7 and 5, and Bill West downed Connie Lang 6 and 5 to finish out the scoring. Montgomery shot an 81, Bayer 86 and West 87. Their opponent's had 92, 94 and 95 respectively.

There was no best ball. The very high scores may be attributed to the bad weather and competition. In reporting the match Captain Bayer wrote "disregard scores—weather too bad and competition tto poor."

Albright

In chaulking up their second home victory of the season last Tuesday the Indian tee-men had little trouble with Albright College.

Netmen Beaten Meet Pitt Sat.

Dickinson College scored an 8-1 victory to hand the Indian netmen their first loss of the season last Saturday afternoon at Carlisle. Tomorrow the Tribe will attempt to break into the win column when they tackle the University of Pittsburg on their home courts.

Bowker Wins

Ony Dick Bowker, Juniata's captain from East Orange, N. J., was able to conquer his Red Devil opponent. Bowker defeated Lynam 6-4, 2-6, 6-4 in a singles match.

The Tribe also tied a match with Lycoming 4-4. The match was halted because of inclement weather and will be played off when the Warrior netmen visit Huntingdon on May 23.

The summary of the match is as follows:

Singles

oHover, Dickinson, defeated Byers, Juniata, 6-2, 7-5.

Hayes, Dickinson, defeated Wills, Juniata, 6-2, 6-2.

Thompson, Dickinson, defeated Raffensperger, Juniata, 6-1, 6-3.

Rheens, Dickinson, defeated Pfrogner, Juniata, 6-1, 7-5.

Bowker, Juniata, defeated Lynam, Dickinson, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1.

Hering, Dickinson, defeated Fusco, Juniata, 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles

Hoover and Thompson, Dickinson, defeated Byers and Wills, Juniata, 6-0, 6-2.

Hayes and Rheens, Dickinson, defeated Raffensperger and Pfrogner, Juniata, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Cox and Garber, Dickinson, defeated Bowker and Fusco, Juniata, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1.

Indians Nip Lebanon Valley, Bumped By Bucknell, Indiana, Oppose Susquehana Saturday

by Fred Heydrick

The Juniata College baseballers came from behind to win their fourth game of the current campaign, against the host Lebanon Valley nine, 6-5. Earlier the Indians had defeated the Dutchmen 7-4 here at College Field.

Lefty Dave LeFevre again took the mound for Juniata and received credit for his second win over LV. In his nine inning stint he gave up just eight hits and three bases on balls while fanning five men. Miller, who started for Lebanon Valley, and Kosier, his relief man, were raked for 11 hits and nine bases on balls by Juniata batsmen.

Leading the Indian hitting parade was Wes Lingenfelter, who collected three doubles in five tries at bat, driving in three runs. These hits proved to be the only extra base clouts of the game for the Braves. Joe Hinish and Fran Zimmerman accounted for two hits apiece, and each drove in a run. Hitting honors went to LV's Heberling, however, as he socked a triple and two doubles in three official appearances at the plate.

Trailing 5-3 going into the top of the seventh inning, Joe Hinish started an Indian two run rally with a walk, and Lingenfelter promptly brought his home with one of his three doubles. Zimmerman later brought Lingenfelter into score with a single to center. The Braves scored the winning run in the top of the ninth on an error and Lingenfelter's final double.

BUCKNELL

Juniata took it on the chin for the second time this season as the Bisons of Bucknell edged the Indians 6-5 on the latters home field.

Captain Dave LeFevre, holding three out of the four JC wins was tagged with his first loss of the season. Working on only two days rest, he gave up eight hits, five walks and struck out four during his full nine inning stint.

Bucknell scored for runs in the first inning on four singles sandwiched around a fielders choice. In the seventh inning, the winning runs were scored on two walks and two singles.

Juniata was held hitless for three innings until Joe Hinish clouted a bases empty home run in the fourth. In the eighth, the Tribe's rally fell short by one run, as they could push only four markers across the plate. The Indians managed to get the first three men on base via bases on balls; Wes Lingenfelter's long fly produced one run, while another walk, a single by Jake Handzelek, and a balk brought in the rest of the runs.

Handzelek had two of JC's four hits in three trips to the plate and was credited with two RBI's.

Don Pheasant was the only other Indian to get a hit, as he was credited with a single. Fourteen Braves went down swinging under the combined slants of Tucker, Dailey and King.

Face Crusaders

The Tribe will travel to Selinsgrove tomorrow to face the Crusaders of Susquehanna. The Crusaders, winners of two games in their first two starts, including a 3-2 victory over Allegheny, are led by pitcher Ned Condon and former football ace, Rich Young. The Tribe is hoping to break a two game losing streak against their traditional rivals.

In the Allegheny tilt, Condon struck out 10 batters while relinquishing only six hits. Young, in the meantime, knocked in all three runs while playing a superior defensive game at short.

Sports Schedule

The following is the complete sports schedule of all Juniata teams for the ensuing week.

Today—Golf, Bucknell (away), Track, Bucknell, Gettysburg.

Saturday—Tennis, Pittsburgh, Baseball, Susquehanna (away).

Monday—Golf, Pittsburgh, Baseball, Pittsburgh (away).

Wednesday—Baseball, Dickinson (away).

INDIANA S. T. C.

The Indians lost their second game in a row by bowing to a mediocre Indiana State Teachers College team 6-2 on College Hill Field.

Freshman righthander Ron Morgan started for the Indians and found the going rough in spots as he gave up all six of the visitors runs along with nine hits. Four of the Teacher's went down swinging. John Criswell came on in the ninth inning in relief and squelched the final run producing efforts of Indiana. Dawson, Saboti, and Wohrall saw mound duty for Indiana, with Saboti picking up the win, although he surrendered 10 of the Indian's 12 hits.

Big stickman for JC was catcher Don Pheasant as he drove in the Indian's only runs of the day with a long drive into left center field good for a two run four sacker. Lee Hallman enjoyed a perfect day at the plate with a double and two singles and a base on balls in four appearances while Ken Leonard hit two singles and received two walks in five jaunts to the plate. Tom McNeal and Wes Lingenfelter each socked a triple; however, in both cases the following batters could not produce the hit to bring them in. The Indians recorded at least one hit in every inning but the eighth.

Indiana scored in the very first inning on a walk, infield out and a single. JC then took the lead in the third on a walk to Leonard and Pheasant's four base blast. Indiana regained the lead in the seventh, scoring three runs on three singles and a double and added the final two tallies in the ninth on three singles.

Dillenberger Speaks In 3rd Special Chapel

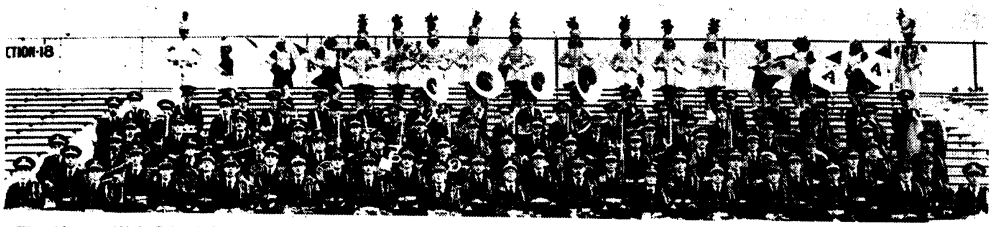
Dr. John Dillenberger, well known lecturer, author and theology instructor will be the third in a series of special chapel speakers to appear at Juniata.

He will be on campus May 4 at which time the special time schedule will again be in effect. Dr. Dillenberger is Associate Professor of Religion at Columbia University at the present time and has previously held positions at other institutions.

He graduated from Elmhurst College in 1940, receiving an A. B. degree and then was granted a B. D. from Union Theological Seminary in 1943. Following his graduation he entered the military service as a chaplain in the United States Navy where he served for three years.

After leaving the service he served as a Tutor Assistant in Theology at Union Theological Seminary for two years and as Instructor in Religion at Princeton for a like number of years. While he was teaching at Princeton he completed work on his Ph. D. at Columbia and was awarded the degree in 1948.

Dr. Dillenberger is the author of "God Hidden and Revealed" which is to be published in the spring of 1953 by the Muhlenburg Press and is coauthoring a book on Protestantism which is just now being prepared. In addition he has written a number of articles and book reviews.



The Altoona High School Concert Band which will present a musical concert tonight in Oller Hall is under the direction of John Monti. A number of soloists will be featured in the program which will begin at 8:15 p. m. Instrumental groups will be added to the program to make it one full of variety and good music.

WJAC-TV To Film May Day Festival

Parts of the Festival of May and Melody will be filmed for television Saturday by station WJAC-TV of Johnstown.

Arrangements have been made by the station with college officials for the first televised program on campus. All the filming will take place outside unless weather conditions force the program to be held in the Memorial Gymnasium.

The main emphasis will be placed on the choral numbers of the Touring Choir, under the direction of Prof. Donald Johnson, but the program will also feature scenes of the festival and other campus settings.

Average —

In the battle of the sexes, it seems the fair sex can claim an edge of .18 quality points on the brain matter. The average for the women by classes is higher than that of the men with one exception. The senior girls have an average of 1.41 while the male contingent boasts a 1.70. Averages according to other classes are: juniors, 1.55, and 1.35; sophomores, 1.61 and 1.14; freshmen, 1.31 and 1.11; women and men respectively.

Janet Claycomb Selected To Edit Alfarata; Business Manager To Be Fran Zimmerman

Janet Claycomb

● Alfarata Editor ●

Janet Claycomb and Fran Zimmerman will serve as editor and business manager respectively of the 1954 Alfarata.

The appointments were made this week by the present editor Bob Bailey and business manager Dick Hollinger and were approved by the Faculty Publications Committee.

Miss Claycomb, a sophomore from Johnstown, is majoring in elementary education. She is the JCA chairman of the Social Responsibility Commission at the present time. In addition she is active in WAA and has served on the Social Committee.

Hailing from Annville, Zimmerman is a junior business administration major. He plays varsity baseball and was a member of the basketball squad. He was recently elected vice-president of the Tycoon Club and secretary-treasurer of the J Club.

N. E. Ohio Alumni Banquet Tonight

The annual dinner of the Northeastern Ohio Juniata Alumni Association will be held Friday evening, at The Robin Hood Inn in Kent, Ohio.

Prof. J. Clyde Stayer, Dean Morley Mays, and Mr. Harold B. Brumbaugh will be attending this affair. The Girls Varsity Trio, composed of Helen Rosengren, Betty Shearer, and Rhoda Gaugler, will supply the music.

Bloodmobile Unit Announces Results

The results of the Bloodmobile Unit which visited Juniata College Wednesday, April 29, 1953, have been released by the local unit of the American Red Cross in Huntingdon.

From the 184 scheduled donors the following figures were compiled: 16 no-shows, 19 walk-ins, 34 rejects, 58 first time donors, and a net result of 150 productive donors, which amounted to 148 and ½ pints of blood.

The statement of the local Red Cross unit was that they were very pleased with the operation and they hope to come again next year.

Charity Ball Set For Wed. 9 P M New Gym

The music of Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey will be the featured event at the fourth annual Charity Ball Wednesday at 9 p. m. in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Sponsored by the J. C. Blair Memorial Hospital, the affair is being supported by donations from "Vacation of a Lifetime" tickets now being sold by various students and in town. The person holding the lucky number the night of the ball will receive a $750 planned vacation. Tickets are available at the Information window for $2.50 per person.

Dancing will begin at 9 p. m. and continue till 1 with resident women receiving 1:15 late permissions. Dress is optional and corsages will be on sale at the door.

According to Bernie Petrusky, chairman of decorations, and his committee, the theme will be in keeping with the May Day season.

The Charity Ball will mark the first appearance of the newly merged Dorsey Brothers orchestra. The brothers separated in 1934 and the reorganization occurred earlier this year.

Former Dartmouth Prof Takes History Position

A second addition has been made to the Juniata College faculty for the college year beginning in September. Dr. Theodore D. Lockwood of Hanover, N. H., now an instructor in the Great Issues course at Dartmouth College, has accepted an appointment as assistant professor of history.

Dr. Lockwood received his bachelor of arts degree in history and philosophy from Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., in 1948. Following graduation he continued his studies at Princeton and was awarded a master of arts degree in 1950 and a Ph. D. degree in history in 1952.

Dean Morley Mays announces that the addition of Dr. Lockwood to the faculty will make it possible to offer additional courses in the department of history and political science. A number of these have not been on the program for several years.

One of the more prominent additions is a course in International Relations which has been scheduled for the fall term along with those regularly offered.

Dr. Lockwood has written several publications among which is found the history of the famed 10th Mountain Division of World War II note. He served overseas with this division and then wrote the research project entitled "Mountaineers."

At the present time he is doing research work on French Socialism under the Third Republic. He has written for publication "Garrison and Lincoln the Abolitionist."

The new history professor has been an instructor in four summer schools at Trinity College, was an assistant in the history department at Princeton in 1949-50, and was master and teacher of history at Trinity-Pawling School before joining the Dartmouth faculty last year.

A family man, Dr. Lockwood is married and has three children ages, six, two and two months. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa, Pi Gamma Mu, and the American Historical Association.

JC Catalog Revised

The new Juniata College catalog for the school years '53-'54 and '54-'55 is now available to the student body, reports Dean Morley Mays who was in charge of revising the late edition.

A great number of changes have been made in the new catalog, the main one being the new division of topics. The four major divisions include Introductory information, the Academic program, Student Life, and a Directory. In addition a much-needed index has been supplemented and the page headings on each page keep one located in the book. The cover is alslo newly designed and there are line drawings of campus buildings before each major division.

Joseph Heads HMH

Mrs. Marjory Joseph, instructor in Home Economics, will take charge of the Home Management House during the summer term schedule instead of Miss Gertrude Butler.

Senate Names Delegates To Conference; Approves

The appointment of delegates to Leadership Conference and the approval of the Underclass Committee were the main items of business at this week's Senate meeting.

The Conference will be held Sept. 11-13 in Camp Kanesatake. In addition to class and club officers, the following class delegates and alternates were chosen.

From the class of '54—Nancy Blanck, Marion Brightbill, Tony D'Eustachio, Edie Engler, Dave Hercules, Dick Myer, Betty Shearer and Fran Zimmerman. Alternates are Carol Lowdermilk, Helen Rosengren, Dee Bramhall, and Bob Flory.

Juniors Named

Representing the class of '55 are Dennis Deegan, Sherill Edwards, Allegra Forney, Dick Fusco, Rem Grove, Dick Ikeda, Joan Irwin and Doris Wilson with Dottie Darrell, Donna Croft, Neil Spangler and Polly Fowler and alternates.

From the class of '56 were chosen Doreen Fyock, Jim Hunt, Kass Keeler, Bob Ripper, Maggie Sims, Barb Swyers, Sylvia Shuler and Joe Trimber. Alternates are Bill Haushalter, Nancy Nevin, Howie Kerstetter and Blynn Garnett.

Underclass Committee

Approved as members of the Underclass Committee were Nancy Blanck, Bill Brumbaugh, John Dale, Sherill Edwards, Edie Engler, Barbara Grim, Fred Heydrick, Dick Ikeda, Charlie Kipp, Mikey Mick, Bob Richards, Betty Shearer, Helen Stutzman and Doris Wilson.

Suggestions concerning fire precautions were presented by Abe Finton and will be turned over to Dave Hercules, Campus Safety Marshall. It was decided that a new hose should be provided for second floor Cloister, to be paid for by Cloister residents.

Petition Presented

A petition will be presented to the faculty asking the May Day be considered a school holiday with no classes. Judging of campus displays for May Day and other events was placed upon the agenda for Leadership Conference.

The picnic for the old and new Senates given by the Rockwells and Crosbys will be held Monday at Dr. Rockwell's.

Final Reports Show JWSF Collected $1458 This Year

The 1953 Juniata World Service Fund drive closed down this week with $1458.43 realized of its goal of $1953. Although held over repeatedly, the 1953 drive failed to reach its goal, the deficit of $495.57 being the first instance in recent years of the drive being unsuccessful.

At the close of the drive a large number of pledges were still outstanding and, due to the imminent close of the school year, had to be passed over. These were mainly from the student body.

Drive chairman Jack Freymuller pointed out that to get a more realistic view of this year's drive it should be shown that last year's drive began with approximately $500 more than this year's drive. Of this $180 came from a "no desserts" policy and the remainded from the proceeds of the student musical, "Naughty Marietta", which was more successful, financially, than this years production, "My Maryland".

The recipients of drive funds will be mailed checks to the amount they were allocated on the basis of donor preference. The final totaling of allocations showed a surprising similarity in totals, ranging from $356.63 to $388.35.

7 Cop Distinction In Comprehensives

Seven members of the senior class passed their comprehensives with distinction, according to an announcement from the Office of the Registrar.

Those attaining distinction were Judy Shanabrook, French; Jack Ulsh, modern languages; Dick Bowker, Ron Cherry, Dick Hollinger, business administration; Jack Walter, chemistry; and Tom Hoover, physics.

Examinations were administered this spring to 97 seniors.

Dick Myer Named Juniatian Business Manager For 53-54

Dick Myer has been appointed business manager of next year's Juniatian to succeed Paul Good who holds the position at present.

Dick Myer

● Heads Business Staff ●

Myer was named to this capacity by Good and received a nod of approval from the Faculty Publications Committee at a meeting earlier this week.

A junior business major from Lebanon, Myer is at present the advertising manager of the paper and a member of the Alfarata business staff.

In addition he is an active member of the Tycoon Club, having served as secretary-treasurer last year. He is a member of the track team and belongs to the J Club.

His appointment will be effective at the beginning of the next school term.

From the Editor

A perennial problem on campus, brought to our notice by last week's May Day, is the judging of club and class activities. Granted that during any competitive event there are bound to be hard feelings and gripes, the situation during the past few years has caused unnecessary friction.

In the minds of many Juniatians, an outstanding example of student discontent resulted from the All-Class Night program of two years ago and more recently from this year's May Day displays. To these can be added room judging and Homecoming displays. With all due respect to those people and organizations involved, we feel that several suggestions might prove helpful in the future.

First, the basis for judging should be more clearly stated. The connotations of such words as originality, preparation and execution can vary widely among both participants and judges. In some cases meteings were called for the specific purpose of explaining these terms. This practice might well be adopted as standard campus procedure for all competitions. Then, too, rating sheets should be made available after the judging in order to avoid any charges of predetermined winners and fixes. Although we do not go along with these accusations, it must be realized that they are made.

Secondly, the rules set up by the central planning committees should be followed. As one illustration we point to the May Day ruling that "someone must be at the display at all times." This was generally disregarded. Violations of these rules certainly should be considered in the final ratings.

Third, selection of judges should be handled differently. Students who spend time, effort and money on their activity like to know that it is being judged by qualified people. Of course here we run into difficulty, for how is one to draw the distinction between qualified and unqualified. This problem we do not attempt to solve. We offer the suggestion that students should participate in the selection of judges and that attempts be made to secure judges who might be expected to have above-average interest and experience in the particular event.

The Circuit Rider

by Jack Freymuller

We're in the final stretch now. Just think... three more weeks and the unholy grind will be over. That is... for three months. Then back it comes... just like the form from the Internal Revenue boys that says you still have to pay.

But the summer will be nice. Lots of Juniatians will be heading for the various beaches that dot our eastern coastline; there to sun themselves and bask on the sandy beaches. And maybe work a little bit. Not too much, though; it isn't good to get out of practice.

Yes, the North Jerseyites and the South Jerseyites will be headed back to God's country... that's what they call it. Its not what I call it! Its the only section of the country where the mosquitos have to be licensed by the Civil Aeronautics Board. They're as big as planes.

While us unfortunate Pennsylvanians will be pouring steel in Pittsburgh, hoeing potatoes in Bucks county and shepherding tourists in the Poconos. But we'll have fun. For three months we'll "kick the gong" around in mild fashion. Then back to school with a pocket-full of coin and a thousand summer friends who we will never write to.

That's the way it goes. Make hay while the sun shines. For one of these days you'll wake up and realize you're growing old.

I have another piece of poetry to offer you this week. Seems like last week's pieces caught on and encouraged someone else to proffer a poem. Its darn gratifying to me to be able to print these. I wish more of you would turn in material. Verse, prose, commentary... anything.

This week's bit of poetry is rather interesting. I'll explain it a little bit, or rather, as well as I can interpret it. It doesn't have a set form; there is no rhyme scheme. It is what you call free verse. It apparently attempts to create an impression through its use of the natural cadence of words that is inherent in them.

In addition there is an unsophisticated charm in the quiet reverence and mystical apprehension that quite carries the poem over the charge of being a fragmentary and incomplete image. I would venture that it was created in this manner; it was not a clearly-defined image, but a vivid impression.

There was once an ancient town
Whose golden spires rose to a glowing sun.
The people walked as in a dream
Over the gleaming streets.
They saw the meadows of the distant fields
Stretching far away and rising
Upwards to a mountain peak.
Towards this point they turned their eyes
In wonder—for a prophet had revealed to them
That from this height a Truth would be revealed.
Along the placid streams which flowed among the meadows

4th Annual Juniata Invitational At Mount Union Tomorrow

THE 1953 INDIANS—First row: Keith Birmingham, Bob Fahrney, Tom Cherok. Second row: Dr. Edgar Kiracofe, Barry Montgomery, Frank Arasin, Captain Dave Bayer, Bill West.

Golfers Conquer Bucknell; Lose First On Home Links

Playing between intermittent showers the Juniata College linksmen made it four wins in a row when they met and defeated the Bucknell golfers 5-4 on Friday, May 1 at Lewisburg. With the win, the Tribe could look at an overall record of nine wins as against a single loss since the teams first met in 1947.

Tom Cherok and Frank Arasin walked off with the medalists honors for the day with a 77 and 78 respectively. Cherok beat Ted Stack 4 and 3 while Arasin took care of Nelson Korb, 5 and 4. Keith Birmingham was defeated by Jeff Mynott, one down after 20 and Captain Dave Bayer was defeated by Homer Middleton 4 and 2. Barry Montgomery defeated Bill Grim two up and Bill West defeated George Sylvested 5 and 4. JC won best ball in the Cherok-Arason foursome while losing it in the Birmingham-Montgomery and Bayer-West foursome.

The heartbreaker came on Monday, May 4, when the U. of Pitt golfers invaded the Huntingdon Country Club to hand the Indians their first defeat ever on the home course. The score was 4-5 and until this time, the Tribe had a string of 26 consecutive wins on their own links. To top this, Pitt is the first team to ever beat Juniata twice.

Medalists honors for the afternoon went to Bob Wise of Pitt who beat Capt. Dave Bayer with a blazing par 70. In the same foursome, Bill Stockdale defeated Frank Arasin 4 and 3, the winner firing a 73. Tom Cherok beat Dick McCarthy 4 and 2, while Barry Montgomery lost to Phil Mubacker, 7 and 5. Keith Birmingham defeated Charlie Uram 5 and 3 and Bill West topped John Defibaugh, 4 and 3.

With this victory, Pitt could boast a record of 3 wins, 3 losses and one tie while the Indians could look at a 4 wins and one loss record. This Friday, May 8, the Tribe plays host to a Northern Maryland squad and on Saturday to their own Juniata College Invitational at Mt. Union.

Last week the sports page quoted Dave Bayer as writing in regard to the St. Francis golf match "Disregard scores—weather too bad and competition too poor". Captain Bayer informs us that he did not write these words...so our apologies to him. However the above remarks were writen at the bottom of the score sheet turned into the Juniatian Sports department.

Penneymen Lose; Active Sat., Monday

The Indian tennis team went down to its second consecutive defeat last Saturday when they bowed to the University of Pittsburgh 7-2 on the varsity courts. The season's record now stands at one tie and two losses. The final match of the 4-4 tie with Lycoming will be played here on May 23 when the Tribe hosts the Warriors.

The coming week will see the Penneymen in action twice. Saturday they take on the Elizabethtown Blue Jays at Elizabethtown, and Monday they play Indiana, also on enemy soil. A previous match with E-town which was to have been played April 18 was rained out. The next home match will be played with Albright May 16.

In bowing to Pitt, only Ray Pfrogner is the singles and Dick Bowker and Dick Fusco in the doubles scored Juniata's victories. Pfrogner defeated Jim Tully 6-1 and 6-4, while Bowker and Fusco downed Tully and Larry Mikolert 6-0, 6-3.

Sports Schedule

The following is the complete sports schedule of all Juniata teams for the ensuing week.

Today—Golf, Western Maryland

Saturday—Golf, Juniata Invitational (Mount Union)—Baseball, Elizabethtown (away)—Track, Albright—Tennis, Elizabethtown (away)

Monday—Baseball, Indiana ST C (away)—Tennis, Indiana STC (away)

Wednesday—Baseball, Albright—Golf, F & M.

36 Hole Tourney At Am. Legion C. C. Will Be Middle Atlantics Event; Indians Defending Champions

The Juniata College golfers will travel to Mt. Union tomorrow to take part in the 4th anual Juniata Invitational Tourney, along with eleven, and possibly more, schools.

Comprising the Tribe contingent will be Tom Cherok, Frank Arasin, Barry Montgomery, and Keith Birmingham. Juniata having won the event twice, will defend its title as well as the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference championship in the 36-hole test.

The tournament favorites, along with the Indians, are the Engineers of Lehigh, Franklin & Marshall College, and Hofstra College. Returning is last year's medalist, Henry Rutter, captain of this year's F & M golf team. Rutter is the brother of James Rutter, captain of the Albright linksmen who played here last week. Another ace entering the meet will be Ron Sanker of St. Francis, who handed Cherok his only defeat of the year.

Cherok and Arasin, who tied for third in last year's tourney, will be the two Juniata veterans shooting for medalist honors. Both shot 154's last year, four strokes off Rutter's winning score, a two-over-par 150.

The powerful Lehigh squad comes to the tourney with a nine and one season record, including a 9-0 win over F & M. The latter school appears with a six and two slate, while Hofstra is undefeated in six matches. Other colleges which have accepted invitations include: Albright, Clarion STC, Dickinson, Shippensburg STC, St. Francis, St. Joseph's, and Western Maryland.

Cindermen Outpointed; Host Albright College

JC vs. Albright

Tomorrow the Juniata trackmen will entertain the Lions from Albright College on College Field. The Lions have one of the best squads to face the Tribe this season. Till their defeat by St. Joseph's College the Albright tracksters had won 13 dual meets over a three-year span.

In their meet with St. Joseph's, the Lions showed their strength in the field events coming up with four winners. They were Jim Barnett, broad jump, Bruce Tenley, javelin, Elwood Albert, pole vault, and Jack Huntziger, discus.

Tenley won the javelin throw with a toss of 182 feet, seven iches. In the meet last season, Hartline outdistanced Tenley in the event.

Triangular Meet

Action last week saw the Indians finish behind Bucknell and Gettysburg in a triangular meet. Bucknell accumulated 68½ points, Gettysburg 57 and Juniata 28½. This was the sixth time Bucknell won the meet since it was inaugurated in 1947. Gettysburg has won one while Juniata has yet to triumph.

Juniata accounted for only two first places. Hartline won the the javelin with a heave of 170 feet 6 inches, and Rothenberger took the broad jump with a leap of 21 feet 7½ inches.

Losing Streak Reaches 4; E-Town Is Next Opponent

The Juniata baseballers travel to Elizabethtown tomorrow to meet the Blue Jays in the fourth of the current five road games. This will be the first meeting of the two teams this year, as the contest scheduled for College Hill field earlier in the season was postponed to May 29th.

Monday the Indians make their last away trip to meet Indiana State Teacher's College at Indiana. The Teachers took a 6-2 victory in a game played earlier at College Field, taking advantage of the Indian's slump in hitting power.

Wednesday, the Indian diamondmen begin a five game home stand by hosting the Lions of Albright. The Lions, winner of their first five out of six games, including a 5-2 win over Dickinson, are led by pitcher Bill Cohrs with a record of 3-0, and veteran Ed McNeill, a hurler from Atlantic City. Cohr's third victory was a decisive 12-7 win over Muhlenberg while McNeill was the victum of a three-hit, 4-2, Temple University win. Tony D'Apolito is also a star outfielder for the Lions along with Ray Stoneback of Red Hill, Pa.

The Juniata College baseballers suffered their first shut-out of the year when the Susquehanna Crusaders blanked the Indians 3-0 on the Selinsgrove field.

Captain Dave LeFevre suffered his second straight setback although he only gave up seven hits and two walks. The Indian batsmen collected eight hits and six walks off Crusader ace Ned Condon, but could not group them sufficiently to produce the needed runs. As a result, sixteen Braves were left stranded on the base paths.

Jake Handzelek led the Indians in the hitting department with two singles in four trips. Young, of Susquehana, also collected two singles in four appearances.

The Juniatians were handed their fourth straight loss when the University of Pittsburgh nine defeated them 7-6 at Pittsburgh.

Juniata was far out in front with a 6-0 lead after five innings, but then found their lead cut to 6-4 going into the bottom of the ninth inning. With one out, Pitcher Hal Estep gave up a walk, and then on the next pitch a potential double play was hit to the box. Estep made a hurried throw to second which was wild and this put runners on first and third. An outfield fly, a walk, and two singles then produced the three winning tallies.

Leading the Indians at bat was Don Pheasant with a double and two singles in four trips. Lee Hallman collected a triple and a single in four trips while Fran Zimmerman socked a double and a single in four appearances.

Estep, making his first start, gave up ten Pittsburgh hits and nine bases on balls, while striking out five opposing batsmen.

The game with Dickinson scheduled for Wednesday was washed out in the third inning when the scores stood at 2-2. Juniata had the bases loaded when the rains came.

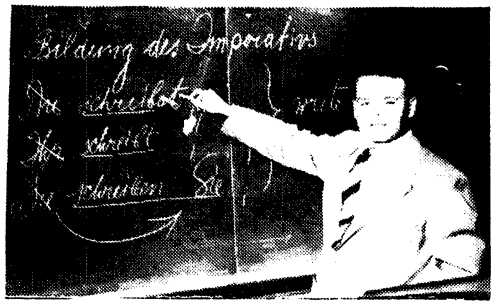
Dolnikowski — True Sucess Story

Adapted from a feature article by A. William Engel, Registrar and News Bureau head at Juniata.

If the facts of George Dolnikowski's life were set down by some author within a fictitious framework, an editor probably would reject it on the grounds that is was too fantastic.

Ten years ago George was a Russian inmate of a German prisoner of war camp. Three years ago, as a displaced person, he landed in America unable to read or write English and barely able to speak the language.



Now he holds not only a B. A. degree in history from Juniata but he also has served on the Summer faculty as a language instructor and at present is a graduate assistant at the University of Pennsylvania where he plans to obtain his master's degree in German literature.

George was born in a Russian town, the son of a Greek Orthodox father whose religious beliefs convicted he and his wife to Siberia in 1936. George then moved with his brother and shortly after enrolled in a school to study German with the idea of eventually teaching the language. He finished school in 1939 and was an instructor in the Institute of Foreign Language until June 22, 1941 when his life was completely altered by the events of war.

George served as an instructor in the Red Army until he was wounded and captured by the Germans. He was imprisoned until March, 1945 when the Russian forces forced the German troops to flee. He made his way to Munich and then to Salzburg, Austria where he became associated with the Church World Service Center and Mr. Joe Mow, Church of the Brethren representative.

Then, with church assistance, he made his way to New York with 1,200 DP's and from there, by way of the Brethren processing center, to Juniata. He arrived here on Saturday, Jan 7, and George says, "That's a date I will never forget."

George began work as a janitor and in addition took a course in History from Dr. Kenneth W. Crosby who made the suggestion that he strive for his college degree. The idea was formulated and was successfully accomplished of giving him credit for courses taken in Russian Colleges. The 88 transfer credits plus 42 which George completed at Juniata were sufficient to enable him to receive the bachelor of arts degree in June, 1952.

George then applied for graduate study at the University of Penn and was accepted. Meanwhile he accepted a position last summer on the Juniata faculty to teach elementary and second year German. He will return to the faculty here again this summer.

Indeed George Dolnikowski has come a long way since the days when as a prisoner of war he had nothing to eat but turnips and caggabe, "and bread twice a year—on Christmas and Hitler's birthday."

On The Club Scene

As the school year draws to a close, the campus clubs' activities likewise come to a halt. Scheduled for tonight is a public IRC meeting, the monthly Lambda Gamma meeting, and the IVCF's annual visit to Silas Dubbel's home. The Pyrenees Club and the JCA have plans laid for Sunday and Tuesday, respectively.

They walked in quiet reverence
And climbed the mountain to its summit.
Here they waited once a year
In solemn silence through a single day.
They looked upon their quiet land
Stretched out into the hazy distance
Blue and purple mixed with green.
They saw the minarets of temples reaching ever upward
Ever upward—they knew not why
But they were filled with awe upon this day.

IRC

Dr. John D. Hayes, a Presbyterian missionary to China for many years and now a spokesman for the Presbyterian Board of Missions in Washington, and Dr. C. C. Lee, medical doctor from Seoul, Korea, will speak on "Why Are The Chinese Fighting in Korea?" this evening at the final meeeting of the IRC at 8:15 in Founders' Chapel. The public is invited, and the members of the club are especially urged to attend.

Lambda Gamma

This evening in the Clothing Lab following their monthly business meeting at 7:30, the Lambda Gamma will present two films at 8:00 entitled "This Is Nylon" and "Facts about Fabrics". Rainey Linn, club president, states that all are cordially invited to attend and that refreshments will be served.

Pyrenees Club

Sue Jamison, president, announces that the Pyrenees Club will be having a picnic at Spruce Creek Sunday afternoon. Following the playing of outdoor games, the club members and their guests will eat a picnic lunch.

JCA

Tuesday evening at 8:15 in Sherwood Forest a campfire program will climax JCA's Tuesday meetings for this school year. After a period of singing and meditations, Prof. G. Wayne Glick, professor of religion, will speak. Jeans and dungarees will be in order as the meeting is outdoors and around a campfire.

Men To Fill Out Draft Form 109

Non-veteran male students will be requested to fill out three copies of the College Students Certificate (SSS Form No. 109) commonly known as Form 109, as an additional step in registration in Students Hall next week.

All copies will be returned to the office of the Registrar which will complete and send the forms to local boards within 30 days of the close of college on June 2. This form is prescribed for the use of the college in furnishing to the local board information regarding the status of the registrant.

Commencement Schedule Revised Due To Arrival Of Animals At Juniata

A new revised schedule of Commencement week-end activities was released today by Harold B. Brumbaugh, Assistant to the President. No official word was given as to why this change has been necessary.

Sources near to the President's office gave several unconfirmed reasons for these changes. The first reason is that an emergency meeting of the International Fruit Growers Association is being held on June 1 and President Ellis has been asked to speak there.

The second reason given by this unreliable source is that it was discovered during the past week that Oller Hall had been rented out by certain members of the Administration for the state meeting of the SPCA to be held all day on June 1 and 2. It was further stated that this was not officially noted on the calendar and was discovered when a shipment of animals was received Thursday for the meeting.

As a result of this, many drastic changes have been made in the week-end's activities. In the memo sent to this publication it was stated that any activity that did not fit into the time alloted to it would be dropped when the activity took place.

The biggest change that has been necessary is that of moving Commencement from Monday morning to Sunday afternoon at 1:30 P. M. Reception for seniors and their parents will be held immediately following in the new Student Center which will be decorated for this purpose.

Livestock Donation Eases Milk Situation

An anonomyous individual has given to Juniata College a gift of 79 pure bred Guernsey cows and 27 goats. Alumni representative Harold B. Brumbaugh has gratuitously accepted the gift which is said to come from an alumnus who has now retired from the dairy business. We understand that the animals will be housed in the Lodge this summer but when fall arrives they will be transferred to the basement of Students Hall which will be vacated through the transfer to the Student Center.

Dietician Francis T. Mathias announced that this will mean that more than two pitchers of milk will be available for the noon meal. Also milk may be served at the evening meal. For those lucky individuals who get up for breakfast, goats milk will be served at this meal. A petition has been sent to the senate to have a free milk dispenser placed in the library to aid those who wish to study through the meals.

The school workmen and the budget will also be aided by this acquistion for the goats will be

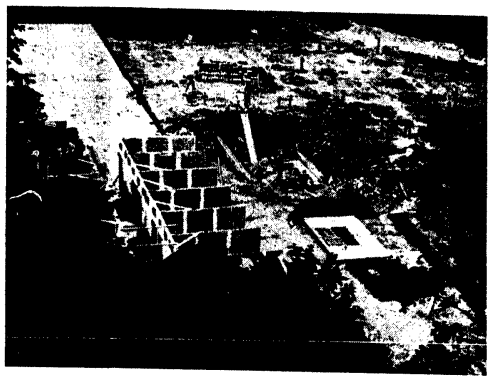
Ultra - Modern Structure Will Feature Four Room Apartments

Construction work has been started on the new mens dormitory, reports President Calvert N. Ellis.



The above is a recent photo of the extensive work being done on the new mens dorm. If in any case the picture is slightly familiar or appears to be somewhat distorted you might look at the Lodge and see some resemblance!

In response to numerous requests from the residents of the old dorm, better known as the Lodge, the administration has approved the construction of the new ultra-modern structure. The main difficulty in the proposed dorm is the lack of space for the building so at the present the construction is taking place on the athletic field and when work is completed they will transport it to the site selected by a student opnion poll. The two sites which seem to have attracted the most support from the students are the area in front of Brumbaugh Hall and the space directly in front of Oller Hall.

The plans now being formulated call for a faculty member to be housed at each end of the various halls thereby adding to the already excellent study conditions. All the rooms will be sound proof to keep outside noises out and inside noises in. The rooms will be combined into four room apartments thereby eliminating anti-socialities and giving the dorm that Brumbaughish effect that one and all desire.

The president also announced that payment for the dorm will be attained by placing a sales tax on all purchases made at Skip's and the Book Store. This decision was reached after an investigation showed that the 'little log hut' does more business than the rest of Huntingdon's business places.

Snider, Booth Interchange As Department Heads At JC

A major switch has been announced in the department heads at JC, according to a release from the office of Dean of the College, Morley Mays. The switch involving P. M. Snider and Sam Lees Booth will come as a shock to many of the former students at Juniata but to the present student body it has been an anticipated fact.

Mike (two games a day) Snider is slated to take over as head of the economics department as soon as the present sports season is terminated. It has been reported by reliable sources that he has been training for this position for a number of years and has increased this training following his retirement as basketball coach. It is hoped that Mr. Snider will be able to tighten the economics department to the standards that he has held in his own physical education department.

On the other hand Sam L. (what will the state department do without me) Booth will be returning in the near future to take charge of arranging Juniata's sports schedules for 1953. A man of vast and practical experience Booth is expected to take advantage of his knowledge of the business cycle in scheduling such teams as neighboring Penn State and one of the nation's top teams, Michigan State.

Dean Mays reports that the shift took place through mutual consent of the two involved as they realized that they had chosen the wrong goal in life.

Tissue Explained

Congratulations, you can read up side down! We were wondering if you could make the grade. No kidding, as you have probably already come to the tremendous decision that this is just a lot of fun to help take your mind of those finals for just a few minutes. We sincerely hope that nobody mentioned in this issue will take malice to the use of his name for it is all meant in fun with no attempt to ridicule anyone in particular. We were careful to use only persons whom we knew to be good sports and would go along with the whole idea. You must admit that some of the ideas are novel and laugh provoking. If that actually is the result produced on you then we will consider the little effort and great amount of fun we had publishing it as completely worthwhile. Good luck with the rest of the finals and we hope that our attempt to be funny might ease the tension slightly.

The Short Circuit

at intermission by a faculty committee with Dr. Binkley at the head. Miss Benjamin and Miss Butler can assist.

Maybe it would be nice to have incidental music for the participants so the services of Johnson & Brammer's Chowder and Marching Society band could be lined up. No rocks may be thrown at the musicians.

Now the best time to have this is the day before commencement. The parents will be up then and their services can be had as cheering sections and first aid parties.

Then when its all over and both sides go home in the spirit of great good fun we'll have the faculty come out and make rock earkens out of the left-over rocks. Any spare teeth they find laying around would make a pleasing stucco effect on the side of Students Hall.

Doesn't all this sound wonderful? Just the thing for after finals to relax. How about it?

Now as a reward, shall we allow the winning side the privilege of raising any campus building they wish? That sounds like a fair deal. Skip's is not counted as a campus building.

However you can't have any sort of fun without rules so maybe we ought to rig some up. Let's see . . . maybe we should have a battle line five feet wide that no body can cross. That means that the closest you can come to the other side is five feet. Okay, then lets rule that no rocks can be thrown at anyone out cold. But so the senseless one won't have an advantage, no tourniquets will be applied until the battle is over. Cold lunches should be served.

I have a suggestion that I hope our student senate will take up. It seems to me that there is too much apathy around here. No one ever gets their teeth busted in. Its positively terrible the way things go so peacefully. I don't like it. I want to see blood flowing down the diagonal. So here's my proposition.

Let's have a rock fight. The student senate should buy two truckloads of medium-sized rocks and then line the Dump them on the walk in front of Founders and then at a given signal, everybody starts heaving rocks.

Now as a reward, shall we allow the winning side the privilege of raising any campus building they wish? That sounds like a fair deal. Skip's is not counted as a campus building.

Then when its all over and both sides go home in the spirit of great good fun we'll have the faculty come out and make rock earkens out of the left-over rocks. Any spare teeth they find laying around would make a pleasing stucco effect on the side of Students Hall.

Doesn't all this sound wonderful? Just the thing for after finals to relax. How about it?

General Glick Asked To Head Reb Forces

Prof. G. Wayne Glick, leading Southern general in the Civil War, has been recalled by the President of the Confederacy, Adlai E. Stevenson, to lead the Rebel forces in their second bid for independence.

General Glick, who will lead the nation inspired by the Dixie National Anthem, "Save Your Confederate Money Boys, the South Shall Rise Again," has been noted for his devastating tactics.

Flash! Flash!

Dean Morley Mays has announced that the remainder of final exams will be taken when students return in the fall. For those students who have finals scheduled for next week this means immediate evacuation from College Hill. Seniors will be required to take all exams Sunday in order that they might receive their diplomas.

Students Shocked! State Of Confusion Exists; Ellis Stays On Campus For One Whole Week

Yes, its true! President Calvert N. Ellis, of our noble institution has been on campus one entire week. This is almost unbelievable, that the prexy has remained this length of time.

The reaction of the student body and faculty to this startling action is practically devistating. The infirmary is filled to its capacity, the doctors of Huntingdon and surrounding areas have been on emergency call for the past two days, and 15 students and five faculty members are confined at J. C. Blair Memorial Hospital. Prof. Herbie Miller is convalescing at home. The state of shock is even more far-reaching than this, however, for nervous tension among the entire student body has caused many students to flunk their final exams. This will mean a decrease in next year's enrollment. The long run results of this could be fatal to this institution.

● Pres. Calvert N. Ellis ●

(Ed's note—the above space was reserved for President Ellis, however, the one week is up and we were unable to locate him. So sorry!)

We hope that this action will not occur again or that an announcement can be made several weeks ahead of time so as to prepare the College Hill family of this action. We are sure that President Ellis will be considerate about this incident for the shock is more than can be born by the already complex strain on our nervous systems.

Newt Loses

Juniata business majors were in a state of apprehension during the past week over the fate Juniata's business-law instructor, I. Newton Taylor.

Now, however, the poor fretting boys have nothing more to worry about for Newt lost in his try for the judgeship and will be back to lead our future tycooners into the competitive world with a background of law.

The Juniatian takes this opportunity to express the sentiments of our heart-broken business majors by saying, "tough one to lose Newt."

Big Question On Campus Is - Can 'The Rock' Be Crushed?

Prof. Yoder Missing; Rumors Hint That He Was Murdered

A tragedy has befallen Juniata College! Prof. Paul Yoder has been missing for three days. State Police reports tend to feel that the well-loved professor has been coldly murdered.

Prof. Yoder is head of the physics department, and this the point where the police have begun an investigation. They feel that with finals now being taken that a frustrated student may have taken drastic steps to pass one of his courses. Beside this article is found a picture of the missing prof. Anyone who sees him or knows anything of his whereabouts is asked to contact the police.

Commencement —

The alumni day activities have not been changed too drastically and such changes will be noted later in the week when more is known about the affair.

Dave Bayer, President of the Senior Class, stated that he hopes that all members of the class can attend the events at their new time. He further stated that if individuals could not attend Commencement they could get their diplomas following Baccalaureate at the Director of Admissions office.

The Mantle and Candle Lighting along with Evangeline will be held on Friday evening May 29 at 8:15 p. m. The musical program originally scheduled for Sunday evening has been moved up to Saturday in order to fit into the new schedule.

Engel Returns

Bil Engel has announced that he will return to the track this spring in an attempt to better the 100 yard dash record now held by Mel Patton.

'Flash' Engel, as he was known during his days at Penn State, consistently drove Patton to his top performance in defeating him.

Study Reveals Secret Of A's

Hunting for a short-cut to a straight 'A' average? Then heed the following nine-point program to scholastic success—a program formulated for you by the editors of the Midland of Midland College.

1. Don't give your prof apples. Too obvious.
2. Find out his hobby and follow this up with well-planned questions to draw him out.
3. If the entire class walks out of the classroom when the prof is 10 minutes late, be the only one to wait, even if it's half an hour. This procedure is good for a B-plus any day.
4. Always greet an instructor pleasantly, never using his first name, but a cheery "Good morning, professor."
5. When sitting at the faculty table in the dining hall or walking about the Administration building always walk with your head down as if in deep thought, pondering some weighty problems in math or philosophy, for instance. This is highly recommended to get on the honor roll.
6. Offer to wash the professor's car, but don't accept any money for the work.
7. Apple polishing procedure in the classrooms includes sitting in the front row, responding to professional humor with loud, hearty guffaws.

(Ed's note: No more room but heck with a routine like that you might as well break down and study.)

Cows —

grazed on the athletic field, the lawn in front of Oller Hall and Geiger House lawn. The cows will be left to wander in Sherwood Forest. Student labor will be paid at the rate of 25c an hour to milk and tend the livestock. "Nickie", Prof. Brammer's dog, is being trained for use as a shepard dog.

Bob Newcombe, director of admissions states that "this will make farm boys and girls feel more at home at Juniata with these barnyard friends roaming the campus."

Dean Mays announced that now several courses can be offered in animal husbandry. These courses will be handled by Dr. Henry and Prof. Bartha.

The editors of this paper will not be at home to anyone for the next 24 hours. If any questions are asked just report that one and all are in hiding.

Attention Girls: Can this be you tonight at eight?

Coach Booth Declares "No" As Rothenberger Conquers

This question can still be answered by just one word, says Track Coach Sam L. Booth. The word is still "No". After winning honors in the Middle Atlantics, Rothenberger then went on to beat out Jessie Owens in the Olympic trials with a broad jump of 27 feet. He slipped when he made his jump, however, and is expected to do better in the Olympics of 1956. "If he keeps practicing he should do 30 feet by 1956," says Coach Booth.

PAUL FRIEND

Setting new records is not new to Rothenberger. "Rock" has set many new records at Juniata. Along with the broad jump, which is his speciality, he also holds the record in the 120 yard high hurdles, the 220 low hurdles, and the high jump. Setting these records has given Rothenberger many points (526) and he is expected to win his letter after no more than ten more meets. Rothenberger was not available for questioning as he has not yet returned from his victory celebration given by the American Olympic Committee in the Hotel Astoria in New York. He probably will return by the end of this week.

Not Alone

Along with "Rock" in setting records is Lamar Hartline, Al Nyce, and Don Davis. These three hold the rest of the track and field record that Rothenberger does not. Hartline's speciality is in the javelin throw was 260 feet. In winning this event, Hartline had to beat out Yrjo Nikkanen who held the previous world's record with 78.7 meters. The discus, which Hartline and Nyce tied for first in, was thrown for a distance of 190 feet. Nyce, still celebrating, then went on to nose out Jim Fuchs with a shot put toss of 60 feet 2½ inches. Rounding out the Juniata squad is Don Davis who holds the record in the 440, 220, 880, 330, 550, 660, and 770 yard runs. In explaining the extra races, Davis said, "I knew that I had a good chance in these races because no one else was entered."

With all of the same boys returning, plus some outstanding incoming freshmen (Bob Mathias, Emil Zatopek, and F. Isais, horseshoe champion), Coach Booth stated, "We should have a fair year."

100 Yd Waddle Team Trains For Olympics

Juniata's championship 100 yard waddle squad is now in post season training for the Olympics to be held in Saxton in 1956. Sam Booth, Juniata track coach, announced that his team is in great shape and while unbeaten this year, also hopes to do as well next year with a larger and tougher schedule.

The only requirement for this team is to weigh more than 200 pounds. This year's relay squad was spearheaded by Captain Ray Allen "Hooch" Hoover who was anchor man. Other members were Dick "Heavy" Myer, Ernie Lashlee, and Gene Biddle.

Because of lack of experience the team was not entered this past summer in the Olympics held in Helsinki, Finland. This was partly due to the College's cut in the athletic budget. But since the 1956 games are being held in nearby Saxton, the team will leave two weeks early so as to arrive on time and will waddle to the south-end of the county. This year's schedule, in which they shut out every team they played, was composed of the Alfarata Grade School, Johnstown Nurses, Millcreek Tech, Altoona Business College, and the Huntingdon Career College for Young Women.

The relay is 100 yards long, with each member waddling 25 yards of the way. Although this is a new sport on college hill, it has been a national sport in Zanzibar, Carpatho Ukraine, Lower Slobvania, and Northeastern Siberia.

Because the sport was profitable, drawing crowds of several thousand, a new schedule has been released. The school has worked out a cooperative plan with the U. of Miami whereas these students can transfer to Florida from February to April to enable them to have an early start at Spring training.

Just in case 'Uncle Joe' is looking we want one and all to know that this paper has "NO FIFTH COLUMN".

Senate Plans Open Sessions; Okays Frosh Study Program

At the first regular meeting of the Senate, the agenda included such items as the appointment of the coordinator for the All-College Musical, the presentations of the men's house committee and the Senate foreign student.

Deedee Silldorff and Doris Wilson were chosen to serve as coordinator and assistant respectively for the operetta. (See story elsewhere).

Men's House Comm.

The men's house committee, presented by chairman Abe Finton, includes Ron Clapper, John Dale, Tony D'Eustachio, Chuck Gross, Dick Ikeda, Howie Kerstetter, Herb Law, Fred Wian, Larry Wright, Bill Yerzyk and Fran Zimmerman.

The appointment of Rem Grove to the Underclass Committee was okayed by the Senate.

The Senate foreign student is Paul Amash, from Jordan. His finances will be paid from the Student Foreign Aid Fund, one of the recipients of the annual JWSF drive.

Supervised Study Plan

Also on the agenda was a discussion of the supervised study plan for freshmen which went into effect this week. A committee, under the direction of chairman Ben Newcomer, was appointed to work out the details for the operation of the program.

It was decided that the Senate will sponsor an orientation assembly for freshmen in which representatives from campus clubs will acquaint the frosh with the workings and activities of his organization.

At Wednesday's meeting, the topic of open Senate meetings was discussed. The group went on record as favoring all open meetings; however an executive committee composed of the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer can deem a subject inappropriate for public discussion and this matter will then be handled in an executive session. Although the student body is urged to attend these meetings, a formal vote of the Senate is necessary to enable student participation in discussing the agenda.

After a discussion concerning methods to improve pep rallies and support of the football team, this matter was referred to the next open session.

Suggestions for a constructive initiation and for the carrying out of the supervised study program were presented to the chairman of underclassmen.

Report Reveals Statistics For Alumni Gifts

The total gifts to Juniata College exceeded $103,000 during the 1952-53 year. Nearly one-half of this amount was contributed through the alumni fund.

President Calvert N. Ellis, in a report to the executive committee of the college alumni association, announced that the total gifts amounted to $103,439.50. The alumni contributions amounted to $50,024.17.

This represents the largest portion of total gifts given during the year, and marks the third straight year that the alumni fund topped $50,000. Harold Brumbaugh, alumni secretary, directs the fund.

Other major contributions were given in $27,000 of "special gift contracts", annuities, and $13,529 in bequests. The remainder was distributed as follows: Emergency Fund (Huntingdon), $4,428.33; C. C. Ellis Memorial Scholarship Fund, $4099; Annual Conference and Church of the Brethren, $2000; Student Center (non-alumni) $1099; Women's League, $860; and Waynesboro-Hagerstown Student Loan Fund, $400.

The fund report, which was published in the summer issue of the Alumni Bulletin, showed that the Class of 1930 gave $3,306.49, which is the largest amount recorded. Topping others in highest average contribution was the Class of 1921, with $272.77. This class rated 44 per cent in percentage of participation, also a "top" record.

Brumbaugh reported that the average gift to the alumni fund, previously $50.58, was raised to $50.94. This is compared to the record high of $56.95 made in 1950-51.

Debate Club Meets

The first meeting of the Debate Club will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in Room D. Anyone interested in participating in intercollegiate debate should plan to attend.

Unprecedented Investment Club Established By Class Of 1953

A 10-year investment club has recently been established by fifty-five members of the class of '53. The purpose of the club is to provide a method whereby regular donations can be given to the alumni fund of the college. Never before in the history of Juniata has such a plan been devised.

The members of "The '53 Investors", as the club is named, intend to invest ten dollars each year for the next ten years. The money will be used to purchase stocks and bonds under the guidance of a board of directors elected from the participating members of the class. At the end of ten years, all the securities will be turned over to the college. No commitment has been made for the use of the money. In the meantime, each member who has contributed ten dollars will be entitled to dividend benefits on his investment.

According to Harold B. Brumbaugh, alumni secretary, J. Paul Good, Youngstown, Ohio, has been elected to serve as chairman of the board of directors for a four-year term. Other members of the board of five are Phyllis Link, Johnstown, secretary for a two-year term; Edwin B. McGwire, Watchung, N. J., auditor for a one-year term; Ronald L. Cherry, Lewistown, treasurer for an unlimited term, and George P. Newcombe, Huntingdon, who will be in charge of investments for a three-year term. Herbert A. Miller, Huntingdon investment counselor and assistant professor of economics at Juniata, has agreed to serve as counselor for the club.

Hedgerow Theatre To Present Shaw Play In Oller Hall, Oct. 7

The Hedgerow Theatre Company will present Bernard Shaw's ironic romance, "Arms and the Man", in Oller Hall, Wednesday, October 7, at 8:15 p. m. Arrangements have been completed to present this widely acclaimed and popular dramatic group by the public events committee, headed by Miss Esther Doyle.

The only true repertory theater in the United States, the Hedgerow Theatre of Moylan, Pa., presents from 18 to 20 productions during its nine month season each year. Since its establishment in 1923 by Jasper Deeter, the theatre group has now grown to include 30 members, 25 of whom work part time. There are also people who act and work with the Company but who, through their own wish, take no part in the organizational functions.

Hedgerow has the plant and the skill with which to do all the creative and manual labor of play production. Hedgerovians have found that they are able to achieve the most satisfying artistic wholeness in their productions by using their own members as directors, actors, designers, and technicians—all accustomed to working together for the finest presentations of the play.

The publicity, sales, finance and box office departments of the Theatre are also managed and staffed by members of the Company.

The Hedgerow Theatre, in addition to producing plays in repertory in Rose Valley for the past 26 years, has, from time to time, conducted many different kinds of classes in acting. The first full-time day school, designed for those students interested in making acting their profession, was organized in the fall of 1946.

The appearance of the Hedgerow Theater Company will be the first by an off-campus theaterical group under college sponsorship since the Margaret Webster productions of Shakespeare plays several years ago. This production is directed by Rose Schulman.

Directors List Membership For 2 College Choirs

Membership for the 1953-54 Juniata College Touring Choir has been announced by Prof. Donald Johnson, director. Selections were made on the basis of try-outs. The complete list follows:

First sopranos: Jeanne Blend, Helen Rosengren, Betty Shearer, Audrey Weber. Second sopranos: Jean Baker, Bonnie Brumbaugh, Mary Jane Hershberger, Carol Suter. First altos: Ann Beers, Barbara Grim, Carol Lowdermilk. Second altos: Jacquelyn Hayes, Dorla Kinsey, Doris Markey.

First tenor: Paul Heart, Phil Lankford, Ben Newcomer. Second tenor: Paul Berkebile, Dick Caulk, Ron Dilling. First bass: Charlie Kipp, Dick Livingston, Paul Morrison. Second bass: Don Davis, Ray McHenry, Ken Rockwell.

At the same time, the list of those students selected to sing in the Chapel Choir was released by Miss Mary Jo Pfotenhauer, director. They are: sopranos: Jeannine Evans, Lois Parker, Nancy Rosenberger, Sylvia Shuler, Betty Lou Smith, Rae Bamforth, Judy Gearhart, Sue Hart.

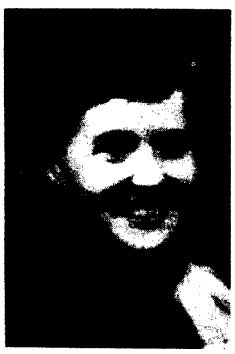
Silldorff Student Coordinator For Musical; Wilson Assists

The Senate has named "Deedee" Silldorff as student coordinator of this year's All College Musical, Gilbert and Sullivan's popular operetta, The Gondoliers. Miss Silldorff is a senior sociology major from Lebanon. A junior elementary education major from Haddon Heights, New Jersey, Doris Wilson, has been made assistant coordinator.

● D. D. Silldorff ●



● Doris Wilson ●

Both girls have had a background of experience in Juniata's theatrical productions and leadership. Miss Silldorff was class secretary for three years and is president of the sociology club, Sigma Gamma. She has worked on All Class Night productions and has attended Leadership Conference.

Miss Wilson, a veteran Masquer, is secretary of that club and she is make-up editor of the Alfarata. She also attended Leadership Conference and has taken part in all the college productions since she was a freshman in 1951.

As the student coordinator and assistant, Miss Silldorff and Miss Wilson will have duties similar to those of an assistant director. They will check costumes, set production, advertising material and methods, properties committees, and work with the actors on certain scenes. They will be general legmen for the directors.

The operetta will be given Parents Day Weekend, November 13 and 14. The general music director of the production is Prof. Donald Johnson. Miss Esther Doyle will be the dramatic coach.

Enrollment Drops For Fall Semester

September 13 started the influx of students to Juniata's campus for the fall term 1953-54. Approximately six hundred men and women made the journey to the College. When classes started Thursday the office of the registrar issued the following information.

Of the 494 resident students, 252 men and 204 women registered for the normal program. Twenty-five men and eight women are taking more than 17 hours and five men less than 12. Similarly 55 male and 21 female day students enrolled for the regular program with two men and one women taking more than the regular number of hours.

With the enrollment of four men and four women unclassified special students, the total number reached 586, slightly less than that of last year.

Faculty To Hold Reception Sat.

The students of Juniata College will be entertained at the Faculty Reception tomorrow evening with Prof. Philip Bedient acting as the Master of Ceremonies. The annual affair to which the upperclassmen escort their "little brothers and sisters" will begin at 8:30 p. m. in the Memorial Gymnasium. The guests will meet President and Mrs. Ellis and Prof. and Mrs. Brammer in a reception line.

A program of student talent will be presented and will include a solo by Helen Rosengren, music by Ray McHenry and his combo, and a marimba solo played by Helen Sell.

Royals To Play

Dancing will take place later in the evening with the Royals furnishing the music, and refreshments will be served.

Prof. Jack Brammer, General Chairman for the event has announced the following committees:

Decoration: Prof. Alex Bartha, Chairman, Miss Miriam Schlegel, Dr. Raymond Davis and Prof. James Wilson.

Program and Music: Prof. Donald Johnson, Chairman; Miss Esther Doyle and Miss Mary Jo Pfotenhauer.

Committees Listed

Food: Miss Francis Mathias, Chairman, Miss Helen Fisher, and Mrs. Marjorie Joseph.

Grand March: Miss Barbara Cochran.

Cloak Room, Chairs: Mr. P. M. Snider, Chairman, and Mr. Thomas Nolan.

Publicity: Mrs. Marjorie Johnson.

Penney Announces Revised Policy For Student Cars

According to Dean James Penney, the rules concerning student cars on campus have been revised and enlarged as of this year.

The maintenance of an automobile here by any student is permitted only if he obtains a car permit from the Dean of Men. The fee required for such a permit is one dollar.

No permit will be issued, under any circumstances, to students on academic or disciplinary probation. Anyone receiving financial aid may not possess an automobile, as the College would be contributing toward running the cars.

Freshmen will not be allowed to keep cars on campus, except in cases of poor health which would render walking prohibitive, and for use in going to and from self-help employment. In the fall term of 1952, there were twelve frosh cars on campus, about six percent of the class; this year only one permit has been issued to a member of the class of '57.

Car permits will be revoked if any violations of the Motor Vehicle Code, as distinguished from minor violations such as forgetting to put nickels in the parking meters, come to the attention of the Dean of Men. Permits may or may not be renewed the following semester, depending upon the seriousness of the violation.

Students in the three dorms are required to park their cars in the Oller Hall parking lot. Students living in private homes are expected to use this lot whenever they are on campus.

FROM THE EDITOR'S NOTES

When work began last spring on the Totem-Inn, student cooperation played an important role in accomplishing an idea that had long been cherished by a small group on campus. Now that this dream has become reality, student cooperation is again essential for the upkeep of the newest edition to College Hill. The delegates to Leadership Conference, acting in their capacity to represent the student body, pledged their whole-hearted support in the following resolution: "In appreciation of the College's efforts, we wish to assume the obligation of helping to pay in part the deficit of the student center by adding to the activities fee two dollars per student each semester and that this fee continue until the deficit is met."

The idea of this two dollar payment originated with the students, not with the administration. It should be pointed out that President Ellis prefers not to levy this additional amount but will go along with and support the student viewpoint. When the question was called for, a unanimous affirmative vote indicated our sentiments on this issue.

The finished product of the Totem-Inn went beyond the expectations of the majority of students. It also went considerably beyond the budget, some $20,000 over. Yet the administration, the trustees and the planning committee went all the way for us. They didn't cut any corners and refused to settle for less than the best even when they discovered the rising cost of construction. In view of their support, two dollars seems a small price to pay.

Undoubtedly, having the Totem-Inn is both convenient and advantageous. A place on campus for students to gather for dancing, recreation and relaxation has long been needed. A sub station post office saves time and trips down town, as does the book store. The low prices in the snack bar are an advantage to anyone's finances. These facilities need to be maintained; the cost of upkeep will run high. It is toward this upkeep that the two dollars will be used. The College has assumed the deficit of the center; it will be met by further donations from friends and alumni. It is our job to see that the Totem-Inn continues to be a well-kept, well-equipped student center.

It must be understood, too, that the profits, after the deficit is met, belong to the students. They are allocated to the Senate which will decide how they should be spent, possibly for work on the upstairs of the center.

The Totem-Inn has been our project in the past and it can continue to be so. A two dollar payment for each semester will insure the upkeep of the Totem-Inn, will prove our interest in an appreciation for it, and will make it truly our student center.

The Things Around Us

by Jim Hunt

We don't want anyone to get the wrong impression about this column if you have not already formed an opinion. This is not a place to air personal gripes but rather to give impersonal airing to topics on the campus. And this week we think we have a dandy.

There hasn't been a thing happen on the campus outside of the Totem-Inn that has caused more controversy and bitter words to fly that the maintenance assessment played on the residents of the Cloisters this past summer. Undoubtedly we have all heard the numerous gripes and remarks made concerning this new policy(?)

Let's go into the past if we may and recall the late presidential campaign held last fall. No doubt you all remember the slams of blundering politics and inefficient management that the Republican candidates threw at the Democrats, and following the election the reversal of these charges especially in the last month. The one blessing in this is that if we don't like the blundering and mismanagement that has or is taking place, the voters simply express their views and majority rule increases the moving van business in the Washington area.

Back to the present again: we all know that there are constant minor complaints in community living such as we are experiencing here at Juniata. This time, however, the blundering and mismanagement of a situation that would have been touchy at the best has brought a situation that is not at all up to the traditions of Juniata that we are constantly being reminded of. May we take this time to point our attack directly at the people who are responsible, or at least care to take the burden of carrying it out. Mr. Friend, Mr. Fike and Dean Penney, may we point out that the mismanagement at your hands this past summer has hit hard at the pocketbooks of many fellows at Juniata who find it hard to continue in school at the present assessment without the added burden of unfair and mismanaged assessments that were added. (At this place we must remind you we are not just speaking for ourselves but for the large number of fellows who felt it their place to sign and forward the petition that has been presented to the president of this institution, Calvert N. Ellis.)

I'm sure that you realize that this time you did not jump on the group of fellows that you have classified as the vandals of the campus but on the campus leaders that have been chosen by the students. With that in mind, surely you would have been careful and done a job that your training has made you capable of. This crack-down was not up to the standards of men in your positions.

Understand now that we all know that unnecessary breakage, continual maintenance and items of that nature are to be placed on the backs of the students as they have been in the past. There would have been little, if any, fuss if the program had been conducted in that manner; however, the blundering and mistakes are glaring and we demand an assurance that the treatment won't be repeated this spring and that proper restitution be made to those who were the unfortunate victims of your attacks.

Accent On Reading

Beginning this week, the Juniatian will carry a library column devoted to calling attention to some of the current books available in the library. It will be prepared by members of the library staff.

Amory, Cleveland. The Last Resorts, a portrait of American society at play.

Faulkner, William. Collected stories, a collection of short stories that have been unobtainable for some time.

Morrison, Theodore. The Stones of the House, a picture of a college community and the trials besetting an administrator.

Rasey, Marie. It Takes Time, an autobiography of the teaching profession.

Slonim, Marc. Modern Russian Literature from Chehkov to the present, a comprehensive account from the end of the nineteenth century.

Winwar, Francis. The Eagle and the Rock, the story of Napoleon as told in the words of Victor de Laurestan who knew him when the two were children in Corsica.

The Juniatian

Entered as second class matter at the Huntingdon, Pa., post office, this is an independent undergraduate newspaper published weekly throughout the College year except during vacation and examination periods by the Students of Juniata College.

The Juniatian is serviced by Associated Collegiate Press and is represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service.

The Sports Corner

Last Saturday the Juniata grid squad scrimmaged a well-conditioned Lock Haven State Teachers College eleven on the Teachers' home field. Offensively, each team scored a touchdown and even though the host team gained considerable yardage on the ground, Coach Smaltz was satisfied with the performance of the Indian squad; especially the surprising defensive play of the backfield.

Smaltz explained that as yet he has not stressed defense in his pre-season drills while Lock Haven, with its opener against Shippensburg only a week from tomorrow, had several well co-ordinated defenses already set up. Coach Smaltz was highly pleased with the aggressive play of sophomore tackle Hal Estep of Mt. Union. "The tackle situation appears a little brighter now," he stated. Another joyous note was that not a single JC gladiator sustained an injury from the contest.

One notable difference from last year is the relatively minor role the frosh will play. With so many battle-hardened upper classmen returning, Coch Smaltz thinks that a freshman will find it very difficult to edge out an upperclassman for a starting position, although they will provide the Tribe with strong bench support.

Questioned as to his personal outlook for the season, the former Penn State ace replied, "if we're lucky we'll win one-half our games, and if a miracle occurs we'll match last season's record. The change in systems makes an accurate prediction nearly impossible." He also added, "Injuries would hurt us seriously, but the team as a whole seems to be in good shape. Only the season itself can tell the story."

It seems that the plans for the laying of the new floor in the Memorial Gym again have suffered another setback. This week it was learned by the administration that the insurance company representing Smith-Hoopes Plumbing Company had withdrawn their go-ahead signal originally given to the Ritter Brothers Construction Company. No explanation has been received as yet for the withdrawal. So braves and bravesess, acquire your sea legs for the Homecoming dance, and hopefully pray that the opponents of the Indian cagers are not used to running up and down hills.

Wrestling is again in the spotlight at JC. Chairman of Athletics Joe Hinish announced that a committee composed of John Dale, Bob Bridenbaugh, Herb Harris, Larry Hartline, Fred Heydrick, Dick Ikeda, Jim Hunt, and George Beard had been organized to determine the popularity of the sport among the student population. If enough student support is shown in backing the project, and a sufficient number of males are interested in participating, then every effort will be made to incorporate the sport into the late winter and early spring intramural program. Hinish also stated that anyone interested in the sport and would like to help the committee in its work to bring wrestling to the JC campus should contact him.

If this movement succeeds, it will be the second time wrestling has made an appearance here on college hill. The initial program was set up in March of 1949 under the direction of Dick Stever, with practices being held every Wednesday and Saturday in the old gym with 15 men participating. The intramural matches were run off whenever time could be had in the gym, most of them taking place after varsity basketball games. According to an early March edition of The Juniatian, a good crowd was always on hand to watch the Indian's first "Grunt and groaners." As a final wind up of the program that year, a meet was scheduled with the Tyrone Athletic Club, and held in the old gym. Tyrone's experience proved to be to much that night as they won all but one match, and took home a 24-3 win. The only man to win for Juniata was Lloyd Keefer, although several of his teammates lost their bouts by only one or two points.

Perhaps this year may again bring wrestling to college hill and take up where the project of '49 left off!

Gym Rules Listed

All men interested in making use of our very adequate gymnasium facilities to gain that dreamed of 'Spartan' body, which will cause all our good looking JC co-eds to sigh in ecstasy please take note! The gym will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Monday through Saturdays, for the use of all those interested. As a new addition to this schedule, its use will be available also on Sunday afternoons.

Sneakers are in order at all times regardless of the activity being engaged in, and there are many of these to wet the interests of all including basketball, tennis, badminton, handball, weights and varied types of gymnastic equipment.

Also in effect for the first time will be a rule requiring a dollar deposit for the use of a lock and locker during the year. This was necessitated by the all to frequent disappearances of many of the expensive locks. The supply room in the boys locker section is the place to find any needed equipment, which must be signed out at all times; this includes basketballs, towels and other similar materials.

The gymnasium belongs to the students and is operated for their benefit, therefore, not returning equipment, and in general not cooperating with the policies in effect is hurting yourselves as well as those in charge. If we all remember this, we can look forward to another banner year at the gym.

IM Football Opens Monday; Commission Announces Program

The intramural football season will be in full swing by Monday. Seven teams have signed up to date and more are expected.

The games will be played weekday afternoons on two fields designated for the purpose. Two games will be played on each field on the designated afternoons. There have been no major rule changes this year. Everyone is eligible except men playing varsity football. A six man team is to be fielded: offensively, three men must be on the line and three in the backfield. There are no restrictions as to the type of defense used.

The following men's intramural football rules have been released this week by the intramural commission headed by Athletics Chairman Joe Hinish:

1. Each roster must have at least ten men.

2. Rosters must be in the hands of the Chairman of Athletics no later than 7 p. m. Thursday, Sept. 24.

3. A team consists of six men; the offensive team must have three men on the line and three in the backfield.

4. All players are eligible pass receivers.

5. There may be no quick kicks —the offensive team must announce each kick.

6. There will be no rushing the kicker; each team must have three men on the line until the ball is kicked.

7. A first down is 20 yards gained in four scrimmage plays.

8. Spikes of all kinds are outlawed.

9. A commission, consisting of the Chairman of Athletics and two upperclassmen, will be set up to hear protests, arrange schedules, and, in general, supervise the league.

10. Protests must be written up and submitted to the commission within 24 hours of the protested game.

11. Each team is responsible for supplying an able referee.

12. Each team is allowed one time-out in each quarter.

13. Games will begin promptly at 2:00 or 3:30.

14. Footballs to be used in the games will be issued in the Memorial Gym under the direction of Make Snyder; these are to be signed out and back in by the designated home team, and are the responsibility of that team.

Football Briefs

● Saylor Predicts ●

Roger B. Saylor, Penn State economist, released his Pennsylvania small college football standings from 1952 for the first time on Thursday. The outstanding sports statistician ranked Juniata College eleventh among a field of 46 schools in the Keystone State. West Chester's undefeated and untied team ranked first with Franklin and Marshall, with a 7-1-0 mark, second in the standings. Other teams ahead of Juniata were Waynesburg, Clarion, Shippensburg, Bucknell, Temple, Gettysburg, Scranton and Westminster. Only the latter school was on the Juniata schedule last season. The Indians piled up six victories against two defeats, including one to the Titans, in 1952.

● Tribe's Even Chances ●

According to a check of the football records, Juniata holds a slight edge on three opponents and rates even with another among the seven which it will face in football this season. The Indians held a 4-3 margin on Haverford; 5-2 on Grove City; and 3-2 on Ursinus. Juniata and Moravian are all even at 4-4-1.

The series records against Juniata's 1953 opponents are:

Grove City	5	2	0
Haverford	4	3	0
Ursinus	3	2	0
Moravian	4	4	1
Susquehanna	9	10	2
Dickinson	3	6	0
Penn Military	0	8	0

Arasin, Cherok Take Honors In Area Golf

Joe Veto
● Veteran Lineman ●

Juniata College's Frank Arasin carried off the championship of the Central Counties Tournament early last month to prove himself one of the top golfers in the central Pennsylvania district. This annual tourney is considered the top amateur golf event in this area. The competition was held on the Huntingdon Country Club course.

To win, Arasin had to defeat four top flight golfers. These included 1950's champ and one of the pre-tourney favorites, Bud Fields of Mt. Union; in the second round, the Tribe's number two man in the regular season turned back Alex Munro, former Penn State golf captain; then shot out a well-earned victory over Juniata team-mate Tom Cherok in the semi-finals; and finally, downed Huntingdon Country Club Champion Blair Miller to carry off winner's honors.

Cherok also had a taste of glory when he hammered out a one-under par 69 to carry off medalist honors in the qualifying round. Arasin qualified with a 75. In winning, Cherok added another trophy to those gained in his double victory in two major collegiate victories last spring. He won the Middle Atlantic Conference tournament as well as the medalist honors in the Western

Girls Begin IM Hockey Campaign

Girls' intramural hockey games will begin next week, supervisor Lee Englehart has announced. The girls who have signed for teams, and who are intending to enter the competition, will play for a championship, which has become a battle between the present senior team and this year's junior squad for the past two years. Schedules of games and officials will be posted on the bulletin boards.

Three new rules have been added by the WAA which apply to all intramural sports. They are: no one may play for more than one team; no games may be rescheduled except where weather conditions will not permit playing; and teams must report within 10 minutes after the time scheduled or forfeit the game.

In connection with the intramural sports program, an officials' class will be organized for each of the major sports, and WAA credits will be awarded to those officials who fulfill their duties. This has been done to insure a better sports program.

WAA Plans Big Hockey Play Day

Plans are now being laid for Juniata's first Hockey Sports Day here in six years. The event will be held Saturday, Oct. 17.

Sponsored by the WAA, the Sports Day will be one of the most important events of the year for that club. There has always been keen competition among the girls to represent J. C. on this day, and enthusiasm runs high; tryouts for positions on the teams have already begun, and all girls interested are urged to enter these tryouts.

The Juniata WAA has invited Bucknell University, Lycoming College, Penn State, and Pennsylvania College for Women to participate in the day's activities. The game, which will be played on the two hockey fields, will begin at 1 p. m.

Ice-Skating Project In Formative Stage

A recent investigation of the region proposed at Leadership Conference as the site for an ice-skating rink for the students has shown the project to be entirely possible and feasible. All those interested in helping with this undertaking are urged to contact Joe Hinish or Mike Snider. The tentative plan is for the main part of the work to be done by a bulldozer, although a considerable amount of the work is to be done by hand.

C. C. Ellis Fund Hits 20,000 Mark

Friends and alumni of the College have already contributed more than $21,000 to the Charles C. Ellis memorial scholarship fund.

The goal was set at $20,000 when the fund was established in 1951 as a memorial to the late Dr. C. C. Ellis, president emeritus who died in 1950 after serving the College from 1894.

According to alumni secretary Harold Brumbaugh, contributions to date total $21,027.53.

Every year two scholarships of $250 each have been given from the fund to students demonstrating unusual competence in scholarship and good citizenship.

Johnson, Yeager To Give Recital Sunday In O. H.

Professor Donald Johnson will present an organ recital in Oller Hall Sunday, at 2:30 p. m., assisted by Miss Marie Jaeger, pianist.

This is the tenth annual organ recital presented by Professor Johnson. In the program will be included a tribute to Mr. Johnson's former organ instructor, Dr. T. Tertius Noble, featuring a set of four compositions by Dr. Noble: Triumphal March, Legend, An Elizabethan Idyll, and a Fantasy on Leoni.

Miss Jaeger will perform the first movement of Robert Schumann's Concerto in A minor, for piano and orchestra. Prof. Johnson will also play works of Marcello, Camidge, Couperin, and the Fantasy in G Major, by Johann Sebastian Bach.

Students and faculty are invited to attend the recital.

Fisher Bequests 25,000 To J. C.

Juniata College has been named beneficiary of a $25,000 bequest under the will of Miss Anna Fisher, the income of which will be used for the assistance of college students for education. Miss Fisher, who died April 12, 1953, was widely known in this area for her philanthropic deeds.

Under the terms set forth in the will, preference will be given first to members of the Presbyterian denomination, especially in the Huntingdon area; and second, to students engaging in religious work. An additional provision stated that if sufficient income is available, it snall be used for the general assistance of needy students at the discretion of the president of the college.

Kulp, Brethern Missionary, To Reside In Huntingdon

The Rev. H. Stover Kulp, one of the pioneer missionaries of the Church of the Brethren in Africa, has made his home in Huntingdon since his return last month from Nigeria.

His last one-year furlough in the United States was in 1948-49 when he served as acting missionary secretary of the Church of the Brethren in Elgin, Ill.

Lives With Daughter

The Rev. Kulp is residing with his daughter, Naomi, a senior at Juniata, in an apartment at 301 Eighteenth Street, Huntingdon. Mrs. Kulp died more than a year ago while in Africa. The Kulps lived in Huntingdon in 1942 on an earlier furlough. A son, Philip, was graduated from Juniata in 1952.

Also a graduate of Juniata, the Rev. Kulp distinguished himself as an athlete and debater during his undergraduate days. He received his degree in 1918 and served one year as pastor of the New Enterprise Church of the Brethren. This was followed by three years in the pastorate of the First Church of Philadelphia.

Pioneer In Africa

The Rev. Kulp became one of two pioneers to "blaze the way" for a Brethren mission in Africa in 1922. He has given his life's work to this effort in the Dark Continent.

He has been executive secretary of the African Mission, editor of a London periodical for African villages, and has prepared several textbooks in the African languages.

Norman J. Brumbaugh Home To Serve As Women's Dorm

In memory of the late Dr. Norman J. Brumbaugh, leading Juniata College and nationally known educator for many years, President Calvert N. Ellis has announced that his former home will be known from now on as the N. J. House. It will be used as a resident house for upperclasswomen.

Ripper, Garber Get Juniatian Positions

Dick Myer, business manager of the Juniatian, has announced his staff for the fall term.

The position as advertising manager is filled by Bob Ripper, a sophomore business administration major. Harry Garber, sophomore pre-med student, is circulation manager. Others on the staff are Bob Mottisher and Shirley Nace.

Any others interested in belonging to the Juniatian business staff should contact Dick Myer.

New Loan Fund Set Up For JC Students

A loan fund has been established by the Waynesboro-Hagerstown area alumni association of Juniata College to help Juniata students from that area in meeting their college expenses.

Presently included in the fund are contributions from individuals in that area who have previously helped many students, in addition to the money paid back by students who have already received assistance. The cash available has now reached a total of $400.

1st Draft Test Set For Late November

Applications for the administration of the College Qualification Test will be available at the local draft board in Huntingdon. Eligible students should apply there for an application and a bulletin of information. The tests will be given November 19, 1953 and April 22, 1954. Application for the November test must be mailed to the Selective Service Examining Section, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 586, Princeton, N. J. no later than November 2.

Dean Morley Mays is the local administrator of SSCQT. Any students having questions are asked to contact him.

Plans For Men's Dorm To Soon Be Approved

The Juniatian

Friday, Oct. 2, 1953 | Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. | Vol. 30—No. 3

Northern End Of Sherwood Forest Selected For Site

Double-Winged Structure Of Red Brick To Be Connected By Lobby

Final approval is expected in the very near future on the architect's plans for Juniata's new 132-man residence hall and the plans will then be submitted to contractors for bids "during the month of October," President Calvert N. Ellis disclosed this week.

The general plans have actually been okayed by the building committee of the board of trustees, but officials have been forced to hold up until some details are "clarified". The bulk of this work is expected to be done at a meeting of the Planning Commission of the College scheduled for this evening at the Hotel Harrisburger in Harrisburg.

The original schedule was to open the bids in late October and let the contract after the meeting of the board of trustees at the college on Oct. 30. This schedule may be difficult to meet unless the plans can be submitted for bid promptly, according to President Ellis.

Two Separate Units

The plans, drawn by the architect firm of John B. Hamme, York, Pa., call for the dormitory to be constructed in two separate units with a connecting lobby unit.

The plot for the red brick structure has been staked off on the hillside site overlooking the campus northeast of the Cloisters and the Lodge, present housing facilities for men.

The East building will be a three-story structure with 38 rooms and two apartments housing 80 men plus one proctor. A similar building on the West will house 52 men and one proctor in 26 rooms and one suite.

Each of the two main sections will be 107' 8" by 41' 8" with the connecting building designed to fit into the central portion of 40' in front and 60' 3" in the rear. Included in the central building will be main floor lobby 36X32 feet with an attractively designed fireplace. Rest rooms for men and for women also will join this lobby. A concrete terrace is planned for in front of the main entrance.

In the central basement will be the boiler room and a trunk storage room. An oil burning furnace is expected to be used for heat.

Cast And Chorus Selected For Gondoliers; Rosengren, Livingston Chosen For Leads

The cast and chorus for the all-college comic operetta, The Gondoliers was recently announced by Prof. Donald Johnson, musical director of the operetta.

Helen Rosengren has been chosen to portray Casilda, the feminine lead. Miss Rosengren, a first soprano, has sung in each operetta since coming to Juniata. Last year, she played the lead in My Maryland. She is a senior from Philadelphia and is majoring in music education. Miss Rosengren is also secretary of the Juniata College Choir and a member of a recently organized mixed quartet.

Dick Livingston, a freshman and a native of Johnstown, was selected to play the male lead, Luiz. Livingston, a pre-ministerial student, sings tenor in the Juniata College Choir and has also had other musical experience. He directed a church choir for more that a year, has had nine years of piano lessons, and has done solo work in church and in high school.

Included in the rest of the cast are: Wilfred Norris, The Duke of Plaza-Toro; Carol Lowdermilk, The Dutchess of Plaza-Toro; Paul Heart, Marco Palmieri; Wayne Ulsh, Guiseppe Palmieri; Paul Morrison, Don Alhambra Del Bolero; Betty Shearer, Gianetta; Judy Gearhart, Tessa; Jean Baker, Fiametta; Barbara Grim, Vittoria; Mary Jane Hershberger, Giulia; and Jacquelyn Hayes, Inez. Antonio, Franceso, Giorgio and Annibale are small male parts which have not yet been cast.

The chorus includes sopranos Rae Bamforth, Jeanne Blend, Bonnie Brumbaugh, Jeannine Evans, Sylvia Shuler and Carroll

Brammer Lists Band Members

The JC Band is starting to get under way. Professor Brammer has 31 members thus far and hopes to recruit a few more trumpets. Playing the flute are Marjorie Lentz, Caroline Merroth, and Maggie Sims. The clarinets are played by Melba Smith, Joan Feight, Sarah Hawbecker, Bonnie Brumbaugh, Barbara Phennicie, Philip Shreiner, Donna Croft, Leona Davidson and Mildred Matthews.

Lined up for saxaphone are Joyce Bernard, Bill Seamon, Jeanne Blend, Dan Raffensperger, and Bill Smith. Horn players are Shirley Nace, Carol Olbrich and Lloyd Harkless. The trumpets are Larry Wright, Mervin Stombaugh, and Don Lowdermilk. In the trombone section are Frank Harlacher and Robert Barboni. Bob Sommers plays baritone; Dale Phenicie, the tuba; and the drums are mastered by Jim Beckley, Jacquelyn Hayes, Ross Wees and Kass Keeler.

Prof. Brammer has high hopes for the band, but has this to say: "The music sounds good—providing we don't run into too many lab conflicts; and providing the regulations involving supervised study don't interfere too drastically!"

Special Chapel To Feature Talk By Archaeologist

A special schedule of classes will be in effect on Monday morning in order to provide a longer chapel period. The speaker at the chapel that morning will be Dr. Homer Thompson.

Dr. Thompson is a professor of archaeology at the Institute for advanced study in Princeton, N. J. Born in Ontario, Canada, he studied first at the University of British Columbia, at Vancouver. Later, he received a fellowship at the University of Michigan, where he received his PhD degree in the classics and ancient history.

A former professor of classical archaeology at Canada's University of Toronto, he has also been associated with the American School of classical studies at Athens. His excavations in the American zone of Athenian Agora were "of great importance historically, topographically, and archaeologically."

His work at the institute in Princeton consists, in part, of cataloguing the great number of coins, sculptures, ceramics, and other artifacts unearthed during the excavations in Athens.

The class schedule for the day will be:

First period—8:00-8:45
Second period—8:50-9:35
CHAPEL—9:45-10:40
Third period—10:50-11:35
Fourth period—11:40-12:25

Wednesday's speaker will be Dr. Edgar Kiracofe, while Prof. Paul Yoder is scheduled to appear Friday.

Ironic Play By Shaw To Be Staged Wed.

Hedgerow Theatre's production of Bernard Shaw's ironic romance "Arms and the Man" comes to the stage of Oller Hall Wednesday night. The comedy first produced at Hedgerow by Jasper Deeter in October 1927 and now directed by Rose Schulman, continues to be one of their most popular plays.

Irma Hurley plays Raina Petkoff; Helen Alexander, Catherine Petkoff, Joseph Gistirak, the Swiss professional soldier Captain Bluntschli; Patricia Platt, the servant girl Louka; Richard Rodgers, A Russian Officer; Allen Cutler, the servant Nikola; Ronald Bishop, the patriarchial Major Petkoff; and Michael Kahn, Major Saranoff, the definitely unprofessional military "hero" of the piece. The scenery is by Michael de Beausset, properties by Ronald Bishop, costumes by Jane Lekberg and lighting by Ruth Esherick.

The voice of the arch satirist of the modern stage is heard in lighter and less philosopical tones in "Arms and the Man" than in many of the plays in which the target of his wit is a subject less serious than war. His satire on heroes and hero worship is nonetheless pungent.

In the days when Shaw wrote this play, war in the Balkans was likely to be thought of as comical or at least romantic, and his own play was promptly seized upon as the libretto for the Strauss musical "The Chocolate Soldier". That we no longer regard war anywhere as particularly funny or romantic adds point to the Shaw lines.

Those who are familiar with the play may care to look beneath the beguiling and provocative surface of the costume romance enlivened by Shaw's wit. The manner in which Director Rose Schulman has transformed and refreshed a play that has been in the Hedgerow repertory for a quarter of a century is worth studying. Her fertile dramatic imagination has discovered new potentialities in the well worn script and her command of the wellsprings of humor in various characters gives her most daring innovations the validity of authentic human life.

Forms For Draft Test Now Available

Application forms for the Selective Service College Qualification test which is to be administered on campus on Thursday, November 19, are now available at the local Selective Service Board, 707 Washington Street.

Any student who has not previously taken the test and who is registered with a Selective Service Board any where may take the test. Regardless of the Board with which he is registered he may obtain an application form at the Local Office or at any Selective Service Office.

Any students having questions about the Selective Service College Qualification test can consult Dean Mays who is the local administrator.

Correction Made On Car Permit Price

The issue of the Juniatian published September 25 incorrectly stated the price of student automobile permits as costing one dollar. The actual fee for the permit is 25 cents.

Open Senate Meeting Scheduled Tonight

The first open Senate meeting of the College year will take place tonight at 7 p. m. in Founders Chapel. All students are urged to attend this session, which will initiate a new policy of having all meetings open to the student body.

Five Seniors Enroll For Honor Courses

Five seniors have been approved by the curriculum committee to take honor courses during the fall term.

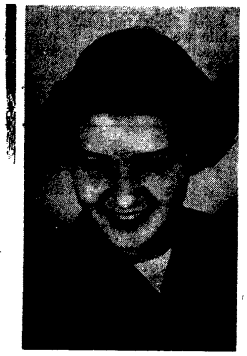
They are Peggy Brumbaugh, in the field of sociology, with Dr. James Penney, as instructor; Marjorie Fish, taxonomical botany, under Dr. Homer Will; Nancy McCahan, also in sociology, with Dr. Tobias Henry; Joyce Mullan, in social psychology under Dr. Wilson Kimbrough; and Wilfred Norris, in mathematics, instructed by Prof. Philip Bedient.

The college offers to some of its students these courses extending beyond the range of its regular curriculum. Any senior who has extensive interests and ability in one field may take an honor course in that department. In this course, one has a greater opportunity for independent research.

Shearer, Forney To Direct All-Class Nite

Betty Shearer and Allegra Forney have been appointed chairman and assistant for this year's All Class Nite competition scheduled for Dec. 5. Both appointments were made by the Senate.

Miss Shearer, a senior music major from Richmond Furnace, served as assistant chairman for last year's production. She is treasurer of the Masque, a delegate to Leadership Conference, and a member of the touring choir. Miss Shearer has appeared in two operettas and was recently named to the cast of The Gondoliers.



Betty Shearer

Also a music major, Miss Forney is a junior hailing from Martinsburg. In her freshman year, she directed her All-Class Nite skit. She is a member of the Chapel Choir, girls' trio and student center committee, in addition to being a Leadership Conference delegate.

Each year the four classes write and present an original 20 minute skit competing for a coveted trophy. This year's sophomore class will be out to repeat its performance and retain possession of the cup.

The experienced duo will be in charge of coordinating and staging the December event. A revised system of judging and selection of judges is expected to be incorporated this year following the recommendation of Leadership Conference.

15 Ed Majors Teach In Area High Schools

Fifteen seniors in secondary education have begun their student teaching in the area schools.

In Huntingdon High are Louise Gehman, English; Chuck Knox, history, Ben Newcomer, math; Bernie Petrusky, history; Helen Stutzman, history; Jeanie Tait, English; and Bill Weyandt, French.

Tyrone High receives Nancy Blanck, history; Bob Bridenbaugh, math; John Cook, biology; Ken Sheetz, social studies.

Going to Mount Union are Mario Gilberti, history; Don Koontz, math; Nancy Vaughn, math; while Pat Smith is teaching history at the Saxton-Liberty High School.

Psych Test Set For Freshman Assembly

Freshman assembly, Monday, will feature a test on the mind, under the supervision of the subject professors, Dean James Penney and Dr. Wilson Kimbrough.

The freshman assembly held last Monday afternoon, consisted of information on specialized personnel services offered by the College. Dean Penney began with a brief talk on the problems of adjusting to college life, particularly those involved in studying. Then Miss Mim Dickey, assistant librarian, spoke of the books which would be helpful in planning for a career.

Senate Meetings Opened To Aid Student Representation

Communication of ideas and policies has always been a problem, among nations, races and individuals. In a college community, this problem is a major one. At Juniata, the administration and the students are, is too many instances, two separate bodies with few connection links. Their views and the goals for which they are striving are very seldom complete autogonistic. However, because they look or do not wish to use the facilities for clear expression and complete understanding of their beliefs, they often seem in conflict.

The senate has as one of its goals this year, the promotion of adequate communication between students and administration and between students themselves. Tonight the Senate sets a precedent which it hopes will become a firmly established policy in future years. And this precedent is open Senate meetings.

In the past, the Senate has not been representative of the student body and thus has not been able to carry their sentiments to the administration. The sessions were generally closed; the students didn't know what was happening, and eventually they didn't care. One or two open meetings were conducted throughout the year, when the Senators discussed topics they thought to be of interest to the student body. This was required by the Constitution. The important work was carried on behind closed doors.

Last year a policy of posting Senate reports was initiated which will function this year along with Senate assemblies and oral reports. It was then felt that these policies would only tell what had happened, not what was happening or would happen in the future. So for this reason, the Senate went on record as favoring all open sessions, with the exception of personal business. An example of what is deemed personl can be cited in the making of appointments in which personalities will be discussed.

Of course the success of this plan, as in so many others, depends upon student response and cooperation. Should no one attend these sessions, the Senate cannot logically be blamed for not representing the student viewpoint to the administration and for not putting into effect student ideas. And followed through, the Senate cannot then be a student government; it can be only 12 individuals acting as they believe right. And what they feel right may not perhaps represent the students. Support of these open sessions is one good way of making the Senate a student government capable of expressing and carrying through student policies.

Letter Praises Student Support; Ability To Finish What They Start

To the Editor:

In view of the landslide student vote last Tuesday in favor of underwriting the deficit on Totem-Inn by a fee of two dollars per semester, it may appear unnecessary to deal further with the subject. Considering that a few questions appear still to remain in some quarters, however, it may be wise to attempt a definitive statement on the matter.

First and utmost, the whole plan for Totem-Inn originated with students. Their committee proposed to the administration and trustees:

(1) the use of volunteer labor so far as proved feasible;

(2) a student directed fund raising campaign among alumni, parents, and friends; and

(3) the application of the income from Totem-Inn to retire any deficit, that is, any difference between the cost of construction and the amount yielded by the campaign for funds. It was further agreed with the administration that when this deficit should be paid off, the income from the facility beyond operating expenses should be spent under the supervision of the Student Senate, first for the upkeep of the Inn, then for further improvement of social and recreational facilities on campus; further, that management policy should be made by a committee composed of the college treasurer, the business manager of Totem Inn and a student designated by the Senate. If thought advisable, an additional student committee designated by the Senate might be constituted to make suggestions to this managerial committee.

Several observations arise from this arrangement:

(1) Any college funds spent on Toten Inn were in the nature of a loan to be repaid by income from the facility:

(2) student participation in management would be extensive —as extensive as they could reasonably expect since manifestly the administration and the trustees must retain final authority over any activity occurring on campus; and

(3) the provision for the Senate's ultimately supervising the expenditure of income was implicitly contingent on financing Totem Inn without permanent investment of College funds.

It was originally thought that the facility would cost some $20,000; hence, the trustees at the outset authorized the total expenditure of that sum, which would include the money received from the campaign for funds. Despite the somewhat disappointing returns from this campaign, the trustees authorized the completion of the Totem-Inn during the summer in a manner that does the college real credit. In so doing, however, the administration perforce invested funds far beyond the amount envisioned at the outset, for the total cost, not including the facilities upstairs for the Women's Physical Education program, has amounted to $35,451.98. To date $10,654.00 have been contributed toward the cost of Totem-Inn from all sources, leaving a deficit of $25,851.98. It is evident that the original plan of having the income from the facility pay off this deficit is not practical —it is simply too large.

On learning these circumstances, the delegates to Leadership Conference felt that the students would wish to finish what they started. They accordingly adopted by a nearly unanimous vote the resolution concerning the two dollar fee. It was recognized that such action should be taken only if an overwhelming majority of the student body favored it—indeed, President Ellis expressed reluctance to consider the plan unless it came from the students, thus strongly supported—for Totem-Inn was a project to unite, not to divide the student body.

It should be pointed out that three sources of income are now available to retire the deficit: additional gifts from interested persons, profits from Totem-Inn and the fee voluntarily adopted by the students. Obviously, the length of time this fee will be collected depends upon the amount received from the first two sources.

The vote of last Tuesday, then, clearly demonstrates that Leadership Conference correctly judged student opinion on this important matter. It shows, moreover, that the students of Juniata College are able to complete a job they undertake, even though beset by unforeseen difficulties. Totem-Inn will long remain as a symbol of their responsibility, determination, and spirit of co-operation.

Editor's Note: This letter was written by Dr. Kenneth Crosby, adviser to the Senate and to the Student Center Committee.

Accent On Reading

Apart from daily preparation for class, two things which demand much of your time and consideration as well as long range planning, are term papers and tests. It is with this in mind that we present this week, instead of some suggestions for leisurely reading, two books of an instructional nature.

The first one, THE RESEARCH PAPER by Lucyle Hook, is a guide to help you gather library material, organize available information, and prepare a paper. It covers such topics as choosing a subject, using library tools, preparing a bibliography, making an outline, writing the rough draft, and finally completing the paper. Especially helpful are the illustrations of the correct forms to be used for bibliography and footnotes.

The other, HOW TO PASS A WRITTEN EXAMINATION by Harry C. McKown, attempts in the first chapter to answer that question which is asked constantly—Why do we have examinations? The rest of the book offers practical suggestions for preparing for examinations and answering different types of questions.

These and other books on the same subjects are available in the Library.

The Things Around Us

by Jim Hunt

During the past year at JC a great deal of attention was focused on the new social center, Totem-Inn. The student participation in this project and their whole hearted support caused the idea to be termed 'Operation Cooperation'. It was drawn to an extremely successful conclusion just a few weeks ago and will stand to serve as an example of what student-administration cooperation can accomplish.

Let it not be said that Juniata students are a do nothing group for just one year after the embryo of the Student Center was formed another project was formulated by your Leadership Conference representatives. Once again this idea has been one that has been tossed around for a number of years by both students and administration. We are talking about the recreational activity of ice-skating on College Hill.

A few years ago it was the custom when old man winter descended on Juniata to flood the tennis courts to provide an ice-skating area. Although the idea was a noble one, it proved rather disastrous to the courts themselves as the damage to the retaining wall will testify. In addition, it left the clay courts in an unplayable condition far into the spring. Mainly because of these drawbacks, the project had been abandoned in recent years but now a revival of the winter sport is evident in the future if the student body at Juniata once again is willing to spend a few hours on a college project.

Located just on this side of the Cold Springs Road, beyond the designated recreational areas, is the remains of an old pit which is mute evidence of former clay excavations. The spot is now grown over with water plants of various sorts but the already formed hole would take just a minimum of effort to clean out and adapt for flooding in the winter time thus making an accessible place for ice-skating.

The project, lets call it 'Operation Recreation', now lies in the hands of Chairman of Athletics Joe Hinish and his committee. Authorized by Leadership Conference to further investigate the feasibility of the project, the group has found that the project really shows every indication of possible accomplishment; if a certain amount of student labor and above all support and interest is available when the time comes for the go ahead signal to be given.

Joe tells us that a bulldozer would do the big bulk of the job of cleaning out the area but a certain amount of student labor would be necessary to complete the excavation work. A small dam would be placed across the creek that runs right by the pit and a ditch would be dug connecting the two. An additional outlet would have to be dug to permit a complete flow of water. Attempts are now being made to have the ditches dug by a machine. So you see the amount of labor desired would not be a tremendous total especially when it is compared to the Student Center.

So let us take this opportunity to ask Hinish and his committee to push the project to completion while we have good weather and to urge that when they send out the call for student help the same spirit that prevailed last spring will be evident.

Let's make 'Operation Recreation' as big a success as we did 'Operation Cooperation' this past year.

Braves Travel To Moravian For Grid Opener

Greyhounds Strong; Boast Veteran Line; All Backs Return; Expect Close Game

When the Indians of Juniata College take the field tomorrow at Bethlehem against the Moravian College Greyhounds, the contest will be one between two untested teams. Although both teams have a large number of returning lettermen, the tilt will be the first of the year for both teams, and this fact, combined with the change in substitution rules, causes the rise of the unknown factor.

The Greyhounds have 21 returnees as against the 16 returning lettermen for the Indians, while the 'hounds also have a number of big, fast freshmen. Returning to the fold of Coach Jim Shreve is the entire offensive backfield from last year; quarterback Marsh, fullback Weaver, and halfbacks Pezzuto and Evanko. Evanko was the Moravian offensive star in last year's contest, which JC won 13-7.

Feature Veteran Line

The Bethlehem squad also boasts a powerful line, with two returning centers and five lettermen guards returning. Moravian may have trouble in the tackle spot in trying to replace their two giant tackles from last year, Clarke and Nomogratz, both graduates. However, the 'hounds do have four veteran tackles back for another year. Only two ends repeat from last year's squad which won but one game in eight starts.

The Greyhounds are expected to come up with a much heavier team than the Indians, both in the line and the backfield, although the team as a whole is thought to lack a great amount of speed.

Women's IM Hockey Begins; Fowler Stars

The women's intramural hockey season opened with a big bang last Tuesday with the Juniors trampling the Sophomores by the lopsided score of 9-0. Polly Fowler and Lee Engelhart led the attack with the former getting eight of the nine goals.

The next games will be played Tuesday, with the Seniors, champions of the league for three years, meeting the Sophomores.

FM&M, Chimpchamps Win In IM Openers; Covites Win Once

The intramural football league got off to a fast start Monday with the Covites losing to the defending 1952 champs, the F. M. & M., by an 18-7 margin, while the Chimpchamps rolled over the Creepers, 38-6.

The F. M. & M. opened their season's scoring when they ran a series of pass plays which covered 50 yards and terminated in a short toss from Fran Zimmerman to Fred Wian. The try for the extra point was no good and at the end of the first period the score still stood 6-0. In the second quarter Dick Godshall intercepted an F. M. & M. aerial and galloped 50 yards to the opposition's 10 yard line. After a series of downs Bob Motisher hit Denny Deegan with a short pass for the TD and later converted, making the score at the half 7-6. The third quarter resulted in a punting duel with neither team organizing any serious drives. In the final frame, the F. M. & M. rallied to score the final points, one six points on a 70 yard pass play with Bob Fahrney scoring and later on a short pass from Fahrney to Steve Ulsh. Both conversion attempts were missed.

Vince Loschavio and Frank Ollweiler played a bang-up game at defensive positions for the F. M. & M., while Denny Deegan and George Pote helped bolster the Covites defenses. Fred Wian was particularly outstanding on offense for the F. M. & M.

Creepers Lose

The Chimpchamps found the going a little easier against the Creepers, as they scored 13 points in the first and third quarters, and six in both the second and last quarters for their initial win. The Creepers, mainly frosh, found the scoring range only once, and that came in the second frame. Kerstetter, Handzelek, and Golden all contributed greatly to the winning cause, while George Beard, Max Ardary and Don Murdoch were outstanding for the losing Creepers.

Covites Win

In the only game played Tuesday, the Covites came back with but one day's rest and romped to a 31-6 victory over the Heavenly Bodies. The first period saw the Covites score a total of 19 points on two Bob Motisher to Neil Spangler aerials and a wide end sweep by Motisher. The second frame found the Bodies' defense tighten up as both teams failed to push the pigskin over the goal line. This type of play continued into the fourth quarter until Mark Beech raced 20 yards around end for a Covite six pointer, and a few minutes later Deegan intercepted a Bodies' pass and raced unmolested for about 30 yards for another score. The extra point conversions were both missed. The Bodies then found a weak spot in the defensive array of the Covites as DeLuca hit Charlie Schaffer with a 30 yard pass which was good for their only six pointer.

Plans For Skating Pond Take Form; Want Student Help

'Operation Recreation' received considerable impetus early this week after a careful study and examination was made by Chairman of Athletics Joe Hinish and Athletic Director Mike Snider.

This operation for the construction of an ice-skating pond in the clay pits area east of College Hill, passed from the planning stage to the formative stage with the receipt of estimates for rental on a ditch-digging machine to dig the necessary trench from the water supply to the pond. This ditch is proposed to be 120 yards in length. A tile pipe line will be laid so that a constant flow of water can be kept flowing into the pond. An estimate of the price for this tile has also been made.

Still to be arranged is the securing of a bulldozer to clear off and level the site of the future ice skating pond.

According to Hinish, when all estimates have been received, the plan will then be submitted to the administration for final approval. If this approval is granted the use of student volunteers is to be utilized for the necessary labor. Already plans are in formation to use a large group of freshmen men in clearing the site of cat-o-nine-tails and small trees.

Smaltz Fields Veteran Squad; Sophomores Show Well; Backfield Strong

The Juniata College Indians will open their 31st football season with a sophomore-dominated team opposing Moravian at Bethlehem tomorrow in the 10th meeting between the schools.

The Moravian contest will be the first of three straight away games for Juniata—all in eastern Pennsylvania. The team travels to Haverford College on October 10 and then faces Dickinson at Carlisle on October 17, before opening at home on October 24 against Penn Military College.

Tribe Opponents Face Tough Weekend; Two Lose Saturday Tilts

Six of Juniata's seven 1953 opponents face gridiron tests this weekend, four of them for their opening games. Only P. M. C. has an open date on Saturday. The other three of the Tribe's future foes opened their campaigns last weekend.

The Indians will tangle with the Moravian Greyhounds at Bethlehem in both squads' opening tilts. Last year the Tribe stopped the 'hounds, 13-7. Juniata's second opponent, the Fords of Haverford travel to Staten Island, N. Y. to face Wagner College, also in both teams' opening games. The Fords fell to the Seahawks in 1953 by an 18-13 count.

Dickinson Hosts W & J

In a battle of once-beatens, the Tribe's third opponent, Dickinson, will host the Washington & Jefferson eleven. The Red Devils fell before Western Maryland last Saturday, 14-0. P. M. C., the Tribe's first home opponent, has the weekend off after a 27-8 mauling at the hands of the powerful West Chester Teachers under the arcs last Friday night. Juniata's Homecoming foe, Susquehana, will open their season by traveling to Collegeville, Pa., to face the Indian's Parents Day foe, Ursinus. Susquehanna copped this traditional tilt last year, 16-0.

Juniata's other opponent, Grove City, faces Geneva at Beaver Falls in each of their second contests of the season. Last week, the Grovers eked out a 7-0 victory over Marietta of Ohio.

As high as seven of Saturday's starters may possibly be second-year men who sparked Juniata as freshmen last year to its 6-2 record—best season in 30 years of football for the Indians.

The starting line-up is certain to be loaded with letter-winners. In fact, the only freshman expected to see much action is Joe Balint, 190-pound guard. Several non-letter-winning returnees are expected to see considerable action, especially John Winterstein and Pat Tarquino, both backs, and Buddy Douds and Hal Estep, end and tackle respectively. Saturday's opener will mark the first time in Coach Bill Smaltz's six seasons as head mentor that he has fielded an all-veteran team for the first game.

Clapper At Center

Perhaps the only sure starter on the Tribe eleven will be Ron Clapper, senior center and linebacker, returning for his fourth season. Clapper teamed with graduated Dave LeFevre the past two seasons at the linebacker posts to make up one of the most formidable defensive teams in small college football.

Alternating in the guard position will be Bill Haushalter, a sophomore, Myron Sevich, a two-letter winner, and Balint. The tackle post, although short in depth, is being handled by three capable J-winners: Chuck Knox, a senior three letter winner; and lettermen Joe Veto and Ed Svitil. Estep is also expected to fit in here.

The end position will be handled by three letter-winners and Douds. Returning are senior Harry Martin, and sophomores Keith Birmingham and Barry Drexler. A third sophomore, Don Conley, will rejoin the squad early next week after a two week layoff.

Backfield Experienced

Competing for the fullback spot are Vince Piazza, Tom McNeal, both lettermen, and Winterstein. Still in contention for the quarterback spot are Bill Yerzyk, last year's punter, and McNeal. The right halfback position looks like a tossup between junior Fran Wampler and sophomore Joe Trimber, while the tailback spot could go to either sophomore Don Pheasant or Tarquinio.

Almost any starting lineup Smaltz will use will leave at least six lettermen on the bench as well as four other holdovers and an ambitious band of some 20 freshmen, thereby giving the Tribe the most experienced bench support in recent years.

Asphalt tile and acoustic tile will be used on the corridor floor and ceiling throughout the building.

Students Gather Valuable Prizes At Open House

Murphy's open house, held Thursday evening, September 24, proved to be a very gala and rewarding evening for our students. There were two prize winning games.

The first one was a treasure hunt. The students were told to look for little silver letters spelling out the words Juniata College. These letters were hidden among the merchandise on the various counters of the store. When a letter was found, the student finding it reported it to the master of ceremonies and received either a pair of nylon stockings if it was a girl, or a notebook if it was a boy. Those receiving prizes were as follows: Frank Harlacher, Joyce Bernard, Carol Jenkins, Bill Straughn, Polly Fowler, Bill Garrison, Bill Brumbaugh, Chuck Gross, Dorcas Mertz, Bernie Petrusky, Paul Morrison, Joyce Butts, and Charles Myers.

When the students first entered the store they were given tickets with stubs attached to be deposited for a drawing later. Each student with a number corresponding to the number drawn, won a gift certificate which could be used for any purchase made at Murphy's. Those winning the gift certificates were as follows: $2.00 certificate—Lena Galuska, $3.00 certificate—Ron Lemin, $5.00 certificate—Tom Cherok, and the $10.00 certificate—Rainy Lynn.

Stutzman Selected By Senate To Head 1954 JWSF Drive

Helen Stutzman, a senior history major from Johnstown, Pa., has been named by the Student Senate to head the annual JWSF drive.

Throughout her college years at Juniata Miss Stutzman has been JCA secretary her sophomore and junior years, commission head the past three years, and a member of the WAA, FTA, and IRC. She was co-chairman of her All-Class Nite skit in her sophomore year.

The JWSF drive is the only drive on campus that has the approval of the Senate. It is closely allied with the World Student Service Fund, the goal of which is to finance the education of undeveloped and backward areas of the world.

Miss Stutzman will have complete charge of this yearly drive the purpose of which is to raise funds for various worth while organizations, such as World Student Service, Foreign Student Aid Fund, the Christian University of Toyko, and funds for the Brethren missionaries.

Women's House Leader To Be Elected Monday

The election for the Senate chairman of Women's house is scheduled for Monday with three candidates, Joyce Bernard, Edie Engler and Carol Lowdermilk, in the running.

Miss Bernard, a history major from Plainfield, N. J., is a member of the Women's House Committee. She is a member of the Aftarata staff, band, WAA, and sportsman's club; in the past she served on the Juniatian and Social Committee.

An elementary education major from Woodside, N. Y., Miss Engler attended Leadership Conference, is secretary of the FTA and a member of the Women's house committee. In addition she participates in Masque and JCA activities.

Miss Lowdermilk, also majoring in elementary education, hails from Uniontown, Pa. She is assistant manager of the touring choir and treasurer of the FTA. She belongs to the JCA and has participated in four operettas.

Polls will be open from 7:45 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and a half an hour after the noon and evening meals. Voting will take place in front of Students Hall during the day and in Founders lobby at night. All women students are eligible to vote.

Suter: altos, Elaine Aitken, Ann Beers, Dorla Kinsey, Doris Markey, Barbara Maurer and Elaine Zook.

Tenors, Paul Berkebile, John Corson, Ron Dilling, Phil Lankford and Jerry Wright; baritones and basses Don Davis, Joe Hinish, Don Lowdermilk, John Millar, Kenneth Rockwell and Klarc Sunderland.

Alice Jean Hoffman and Vada Jean Roof will serve as pianists.

The dramatic coach is Miss Esther Doyle and Deedee Silldorff, assisted by Doris Wilson, is the student coordinator.

The operetta is an annual college event, the proceeds of which go to the Juniata World Service Fund. This year, the performances of The Gondoliers will be given Nov. 13 and 14, Parents Day Weekend, at 8:15 p. m. in Oller Hall.

Poem Accents Social Calendar

by Betty Shearer

When assignments are on the increase,
And brain power seems to decrease;
When for hours you burn the midnight oil,
Thinking there's just no end to toil;
To your need there is an answer
This Saturday eve, if you're a dancer.
You join the gang at the Memorial Gym;
The Social Committee's at it again.
More study then, but a week away
Lies another dance by the F. T. A.
Hit the books again 'til the end of the week,
When to see the movie, Harvey, Oller Hall we'll seek.
The twenty-fourth of October, the day may be cold;
Wear lots of warm clothing, don't say you weren't told;
Our first home game is no mean show;
The team needs your cheering; you must go.
This day is a full one, all males hunt cover
The Sadie Hawkins disciples are out to discover
The particular lad they'll Twirp for the dance;
You can't escape 'em, boys, there's not a chance!
Your studies, well scheduled, by now should be
That your social engagements are always carefree;
October thirty-first is a day to remember
Not just because it's almost November;
It's the time of the year when old friends return
To pay there respects to JC you'll learn;
Homecoming Day is a treat for all;
The J Club sponsors its annual ball.
November seventh there'll be something to do,
The Science Clubs have plans in view;
The next week-end's gay, no time for tears
At Gilbert and Sullivan's Gondoliers;
It's filled with laughter, music, and jokes;
You'll certainly want to bring your folks.
December fifth, I hope will delight
All those who will work for All Class Night.
A home game in basketball, you'll remember
Is scheduled to be on the twelfth of December.
The Christmas Ball, as everyone knows,
Brings the fall-term very near to its close;
The exact date has not yet been set
But there will be one, I'd be willing to bet.

Lowdermilk Wins Senate Position As Women Vote For House Chm.

Carol Lowdermilk, senior elementary ed major from Uniontown, was elected Senate chairman of women's house, as 186 coeds cast their ballots at the polls Monday and Tuesday. Run-off elections were necessary Tuesday as no one candidate had received a clear majority of votes.

Miss Lowdermilk was recently named to play the role of the dutchess in the All-College operetta The Gondoliers. She is assistant manager of the touring choir, treasurer of the FTA and a member of the JCA.

Miss Lowdermilk will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Naomi Kulp who is living off campus with her father, the Rev. H. Stover Kulp.

The new Senator will assume her duties immediateiy. Her committees have been named, pending the approval of Dean Alice Brumbaugh Dove. Future plans, according to Miss Lowdermilk, include the annual firelighting service and the selection of a project.

Carol Lowdermilk

FTA Sponsoring Dance Sat. Nite

The Future Teachers of America have planned an unusual dance for Saturday night, October 10. The affair, the theme of which is "School Daze," will be held in the Memorial Gymnasium at 9 p. m. Party clothes will be in order for the evening.

Co-chairmen of the event, Jo Feight and Louise Gehman, promise fun for everyone with the elaborate decorations, unique elimination dances, and featured entertainment they have planned.

Chairmen of the various committees are: decoration, Eleanor Pielstick and Nan Heller; entertainment, Mary Ann Bailey and Jean Baker; Irene Davis will be in charge of refreshments.

Air Raid Is Success, Reports Hercules

Safety Marshall Dave Hercules reports that response and cooperation by students during the mock air raid this past Tuesday "exceeded all expectations." Only a couple of incidents marred an otherwise perfect record for the College. He praised the work of deputy wardens in enforcing the realistic attack.

29 Frosh Enroll In Reading Clinic; Conferences Set

A reading clinic has been set up to aid the Freshmen in becoming orientated to work on a college level. Twenty-nine Freshmen have been enrolled in this clinic, and all others are invited to come.

The first meeting will be held at 1:30 p. m. today in Founders Chapel. Dean James F. Penney will give a detailed explanation of the purposes of the clinic and a reading test will be administered to determine weak points in the reading of each individual student. Dean Penney will meet each student twice a week thereafter; once in the group meeting and once individually.

All Freshmen are scheduled for individual conferences with either Dean Dove or Dean Penney. The purpose of these conferences is to enable the deans to become better acquainted with the students and their individual problems.

Senate Discusses Inn, Pep Meetings At Open Session

The first open Senate meeting of the 1953-54 term was held Friday in Founders Chapel with a report from Senate president Bernie Petrusky, the Totem Inn and pep meetings featured on the agenda.

Petrusky reported on the Student Presidents Conference which he attended during the summer at Ohio State University.

Concerning the Totem Inn, a committee composed of Russ Hill, chairman, Bob Fahrney and Bernie Petrusky, was selected to work with John Fike, treasurer of the College, on the clarification of the center's financial statement. The same committee will also check with Harold Brumbaugh on the amount given to the Totem Inn from the annual alumni drive. It was also announced that there will be separate bookkeeping for the Totem Inn.

Student Spirit

The discussion on methods of improving spirit at pep rallies and football games was thrown open to the student body. Pep rallies will be held before all games, both home and away, and will be sponsored by the four classes. The Senate went on record as favoring sending the band to the Dickinson game and Joe Hinish was appointed as head of a committee to check with Prof. Bramer concerning band activities.

Standing Stone

The Senate then voted to request that the Standing Stone be placed in the Totem Inn.

It was decided that the after dinner dance should be held Wednesday evening beginning at 6:45 p. m. Chairman of social activities Russ Hill will check with the proper authorities to see if the weekly affair may be extended until 8 p. m.

Claycomb Sets Staff, Policies For Alfarata

The staff of this year's Alfarata has been announced by Miss Janet Claycomb, editor. Allegra Forney has been named Associate Editor, with Doris Wilson in charge of the make-up of the yearbook, Sue Jamison is club editor, Fran Zimmerman Business Manager, Bill Garrison in charge of photography, "Goose" Gray sports editor, Louise Gehman in charge of literature, and Mickey Mick as class editor.

A new policy has been instituted in regards to club photographs. This year a Huntingdon photographer will take the club pictures. Each club will have a definite appointment, will be informed in advance by a notice in the Juniatian. The clubs are requested to watch for these notices, and keep their appointments.

Any informal pictures of the campus, or any aspect of campus life, if good, will be appreciated and used.

May Dubbel Stouffer, College Friend, Dies

Mrs. May Dubbel Stouffer of Waynesboro, Pa., the sister of Professor Earl Dubbel, died on Sunday, October 4.

Mrs. Stouffer was a frequent visitor to Juniata and the mother of Rush E. Stouffer, Jr. '39, of Takoma, Washington, and Mrs. Josephine Stouffer Gower, '42, of Oak Ridge, Tennessee. Mrs. Stouffer was a grandmother of the late J. F. Oller, one of the early trustees of Juniata College.

Paradise Will Be Scene Of Mountain Day Wed.

As the song goes—"if you smile, and smile and smile, you'll smile the clouds away"—please smile, grin or howl, if necessary, for we would like fair weather for Wednesday.

It might be well to go for a few short walks so that your muscles become accustomed to climbing 'them thar hills.' By now you must have guessed that the annual Mountain Day is in the offering for next Wednesday. This year the jaunt will take us to 'The Forge', beyond Marklesburg, sometimes known as Paradise.

The Forge has a bit of historical significance in connection with Juniata College. It was there that three students, Benjamin Bowser, Levi Stoner, and William Beery moved in the period around 1877, when the small pox epidemic had forced other students to leave Juniata or Normal Select School as it was then known.

These three students, upon their return from The Forge, brought with them a boy whose acquaintance they had made there, Martin Grove Brumbaugh, who eventually served as president of the College.

And now to the present: Mountain Day, this year, sounds very inviting, with plenty of hiking assured those who complained of too little last year.

Under Prof. Yoder's chairmanship, Mike Snider, Francis Mathias, Russ Hill and Joe Hinish have made plans to serve our needs from food to games. Bus transportation will be provided for all students who are to be prepared by Monday morning to indicate their transportation needs. The buses will leave from Founders at 8:30 Wednesday morning.

The faculty, administration and their families are cordially invited to join the 'expedition', and faculty, please don't forget your musical instruments.

'Operation Recreation' Gets Go-Ahead Sign

Operation Recreation (the ice skating project) has received the official administrative go-ahead sign, according to Joe Hinish, head of the project.

In a conference with Hinish, President Calvert N. Ellis authorized the expenditure of up to $300 for construction purposes. However, he specified that all student labor must be employed, with the exception of the use of the ditch-digging machinery.

Estimate Expected

All that is now needed to initiate Juniata's second all-student project is the official estimate of production costs from the Detwiler company.

Dick Barefoot has contracted to bring in the ditch-digging machine and to supervise the tile laying for the inlet and outlet of the pond.

Hinish reports that the biggest difficulty encountered so far is that the lack of tools and equipment will prevent large groups of students from working at the same time.

Students Do Labor

A large part of the student labor will be directed toward clearing off the pond, digging the inlet ditch and laying the tile.

Saturday, the frosh, in connection with the constructive initiation program, dug the outlet ditch of about 25 feet and cleared nearly half the area of the pond.

Anyone interested in working on Operation Recreation should contact Hinish.

Women's League To Bake Pastries

The Juniata Women's League of Huntingdon has announced a new program to help aid the success of Totem Inn, according to a statement by Mr. Robert Fisher, manager of the Inn.

Two days of every week the women will bake pastrys and sell them to the Totem Inn and after a markup will be available to the students at a nominal charge. Naturally the profits made on the articles will go to Totem Inn profits but eventually the money the league makes will be used to benefit the College.

The women plan to provide pies on Tuesday and cakes, cookies and similar articles on Thursdays as the plan progresses. The actual baking process will be handled equally by the members of the league with the member donating the ingredients.

Editors Choose Juniatian Staff

The Juniatian news and sports staffs for the fall term have recently been announced by news editor Alma Skinner and sports co-editors John Dale and Fritz Heydrick.

The news staff include: Rae Bamforth, Leona Davidson, Nancy Freed, Blynn Garnett, Judy Gearhart, Joy Hardesty, Nan Heller, Joan McClure, Joan Merklinger, Carol Newborg, Mary Ellen Rose, Helen Schmidlen, Betty Shearer, Jim Stayer, Alice Waite, Linda Weeast and Mary Ann Bailey.

On the sports staff are Nancy Blanck, Bob Gottlieb, Herb Harris, Sue Jamison and Walt Vanderbush.

An addition to the business staff is Steve Ulsh.

2nd Leadership Conf. Set For Sun., Oct. 18

The Leadership Conference personnel will hold its second meeting Sunday afternoon, Oct. 18, according to Senate president Bernie Petrusky. The agenda will be available soon. It will include reports on the resolutions made at Camp Kanesatake.

Hawaiian Weather, Food & Leis Fascinate Miss Fisher

by Nancy Freed

Nine hours aboard a trans-world airplane and Miss Helen Fisher, one of Juniata's Home Ec instructors, found herself in Hawaii, the land of palm trees, soft music, and happiness. Every moment of the seven weeks was one of complete enchantment although she discovered the eight little islands somewhat different from the picture created by the imaginative American mind.

In Hawaii no one does anything about the weather because no one complains about it. Miss Fisher describes it as "just perfect". Every day, generally in the morning, as a fine misty rain falls, the sun continues to shine. Consequently the sky is always bedecked in an array of beautiful rainbows. Due to the trade winds there is a constant breeze causing the trees and flowers to billow gracefully back and forth.

Unique Delicacies

To a connoisseur of foods Hawaii is indeed an ideal place. Miss Fisher was fascinated with the various delicacies presented at the Hawaiian feast or "luau". The main dish consisted of pig stuffed with hot lava coals, covered with ti leaves, and barbecued in a ground oven or "imia" for three to six hours. Baked sweet potatoes; baked bananas; lata, fish and pork wrapped in laro leaves; lomi-lomi, raw salmon, tomato, and onion salad; poi, a pastry substance made from the root of the taro plant; chicken and spinach cooked in cocoanut milk; and dried seaweed constituted the side dishes.

Miss Fisher also visited Honolulu, the industrial center of the isles. Here she drove through the large coffee plantations and visited some of the mills. The isle of Kauai commonly called the "Garden Isle", proved quite interesting, displaying ferns as large as trees and many, many native flowers.

First Constructive Initiation Test Produces Good Results

A tremendous step in the progress of a constructive initiation program on College Hill was made last Saturday under the direction of chairman of underclassmen, Ben Newcomer. The plans for a purposeful initiation have long been a discussion point at Leadership Conferences but the project last week was the first actual step in that direction.

A large part of the efforts of the Class of '57 was turned to the initial steps in the launching of 'Operation Recreation' so the work last Saturday served a twofold purpose.

28 Freshmen Help

Approximately 28 freshmen fellows turned out for the afternoon project. Under Newcomer's direction the Frosh were divided into three groups with Fran Zimmerman, Bernie Petrusky and Joe Hinish heading the respective groups as work directors.

The first point on the program for the afternoon consisted of cleaning up desecrated public places (diagonal) and a general clean up in the area in front of Founders. The leaves and paper which littered the area were gathered and removed.

'Operation Recreation' Started

At the same time a second group was beginning the first work of Operation Recreation under direction of chairman of athletics Joe Hinish. This group dug a drainage ditch from the clay pit area and cleaned the tile in preparation for relaying. In addition the large amount of brush and trees found in the area were partially removed. Hinish reports that "nearly half the work that is required before a bulldozer can begin work has been completed."

A third group was busy at work down on the athletic field wire brushing the metal parts of the bleachers in preparation for maintenance men to paint

From The Editor's Notes

One of the problems long evident on campus is the lack of spirit, whether it be for athletic events or class happenings. Of course there is a certain amount, but ironically enough, it is generally either of a destructive nature, witness the class of '57's attempt at decoration; or of a bitterly competitive type such as All-Class Nite.

The time has come to rechannel the little spirit we do have and to create what we do not have. There is no better beginning than now, during the football season, when our support can perhaps mean the difference between a win or a loss. Saturday the team brought home a victory. They had a good send-off, and even better "welcome back." Would this hold true, if the boys were to come home defeated?

Action has been taken toward renewing campus spirit. Pep rallies are scheduled for both home and away games. Saturday saw the initiation of a policy to greet the team on its return. The Senate is pushing to have the band sent to the Dickinson game and to charter student buses. The cheerleading squad has been enlarged; new cheers are promised. The win over Moravian will bolster many failing spirits.

These things are temporary and seem to hinge upon the future records of the team. Should the season be a losing one, loyal rooters with their enthusiasm will soon dwindle. These measurers, then, will lose their effectiveness.

The spirit on College Hill should not, and does not depend upon any one team's record. It depends upon the students and their willingness to throw themselves wholeheartedly into any project they undertake, whether it be the cheering for a team, the construction of an ice-skating pond, or the support of class and club activities.

The Juniatian

Entered as second class matter at the Huntingdon, Pa., post office, this is an independent undergraduate newspaper published weekly throughout the College year except during vacation and examination periods by the Students of Juniata College.

The Things Around Us

by Jim Hunt

This week instead of directing our pen in a specific area, let's spread out a little and touch on a variety of subjects. So with all due apologies to the former popular song we drew our sub titles from, let's get under way.

SOMETHING OLD . . .

We were very pleased this past week to see the efforts taken by Dean Penney and Mr. Fike along with chairman of men's house Abe Finton to prevent a reoccurrence of trouble in the room assessment problem. The trio visited each room and took into account the damage now evident in the rooms and their present condition. It was particularly noticeable that they were exercising extreme caution in noting all the room damage, so that when the spring of 1954 rolls around and the time comes again for a check they will be able to provide an accurate estimate.

Due to the caution exercised, we feel sure that there will not be any major gripes this spring. Everybody who is living in the Cloisters this year and those who will be among the occupants next year are all anxious to keep the dorm looking as a tribute to the campus. This step in the right direction by the administration will be of benefit to all concerned.

SOMETHING NEW . . .

Walking back from breakfast this week with senate president Bernie Petrusky, we suddenly realized that our campus was beginning to look slightly like a rubbish dump. No, no, we don't mean the kind you see along the highways, but the paper and litter found along the walks was extremely unsightly. The custodian staff of the College is constantly after this mess in an effort to keep the campus looking tidy, but if a number of students continually insist on dropping candy bar wrappers, and various other pieces of paper, they just can not keep up.

So may we make the suggestion that you just hold those bits of paper (perhaps lousy exam resuts) until you return to your respective dorms or appropriate places along the way where trash cans are provided to dump such articles. A little bit of extra effort on the part of all of us would benefit the appearance of College Hill a great deal.

SOMETHING BORROWED . . .

This is directed to the student senate; while at the Moravian game this past Saturday we had the opportunity to view with great interest the new field house erected at the College. Although the building was a beautiful affair, the thing that really took our eye was the college pennants that were hung at one end of the basketball court. Upon inquiring with Head Coach Jim Shrieve we found out that the pennants were hung there one by one, previous to the Moravian encounter with the respective college on the basketball courts.

Now we know that it seems a long way until the basketball season gets under way on College Hill but here is our proposal. Wouldn't it be possible to have pennants made reprsenting colleges that the Indians will face this winter and have them placed in the Memorial Gym before each game? As a solution to alleviate costs, wouldn't it be possible for the home economics classes to do the actual work? They really do add a great deal to the atmosphere of collegiate athletics.

SOMETHING BLUE . . .

Just a note of sympathy to those on campus who faithfully rooted for the Dodgers in the World Series. But in the words of the colored fellow talking to St. Peter, "I fit a good fite but my razor was dull."

Accent On Reading

American biography is the keynote this week.

The life of Edwin Booth (brother of Lincoln's assassin) is the story of a genius of the American stage, known for his dramatic interpretations of Shakespearean characters. In PRINCE OF PLAYERS, Eleanor Ruggles captures the personality of a man whom millions idolized but only a few knew. Here, too, we get a glimpse of San Francisco, New York, Boston, and London in the latter part of the nineteenth century.

In the biography of WILLA CATHER by E. K. Brown we have not only biographical information but also a critique of all her writings. For anyone familiar with her works—short stories, novels, poetry—it provides an interpretation and a reintroduction to the characters.

Another contribution to the American scene is ALWAYS THE YOUNG STRANGERS, an autobiograhy of Carl Sandburg. Here he tells the story of his life in the town of Galesburg, Illinois, where he was born. It is the story of life in a typical American town of that period with emphasis on the part played by the Swedes in the settlement of the Midwest.

After seeing the production of "Arms and the Man" by the Hedgerow Players, you may want to read GEORGE BERNARD SHAW AND MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL; their correspondence, a collection of letters exchanged between the playwright and an actress.

Indians Win 20-6 In Opener, Meet Fords Sat.

Tarquinio Paces Smaltzmen, Passes For Pair, Scores One

by Walt Vanderbush

The 1953 edition of Coach Bill Smaltz' Juniata gridmen opened up what could be a banner season for the Indians with a decisive 20-6 victory over the Greyhounds of Moravian at the Bethlehem school's home field.

Sparked by a fighting defense and a definite winning spirit, the Blue and Gold stemmed a desperate third period Moravian rally and then went on to ice the game midway through the fourth period on Pat Tarquinio's one yard scoring plunge. This gave the Indians the two touchdown lead with which they finished.

The first period saw the Indians control the ball throughout, but they were not able to score, as their somewhat ragged offense bogged down at critical times. Moravian had their backs to the wall throughout the quarter and never advanced the ball from their own territory.
territory.

Birmingham Covers Fumbles

The second stanza was a different story, however, as the Indians began to roll. Keith Birmingham, who played alert defensive ball throughout the game, set up the first Tribe TD by recovering a Greyhound fumble on the home-team's twenty-five yard stripe. After Tarquinio had picked up nine around end to the sixteen, he took to the airlanes and hit Vince Piazza on the ten, and the stocky fullback from Pittsburgh ran over for the score. Joe Veto's attempt for the conversion was wide and the Smaltzmen led six to nothing.

The Tribe's second score was obtained in much the same manner as the first. Birmingham's recovery of a Moravian fumble again set up the tally. After two quick first downs, Barry Drexler, sophomore end from McKees Rocks, snagged another Tarquinio pass in the end zone. Veto's conversion attempt was good and the margin was Juniata thirteen, Moravian nothing, as the half ended.

Clapper, Trimber Lead Defense

There were several individual standouts, although the victory was essentially a team one. Bill Yerzyk's fine punting (41-yard average for five punts) kept Moravian deep in its own territory thus giving JC a decided advantage. Particularly outstanding were the defensive play of linebackers Ron Clapper and Yerzyk, as well as that of Trimber and Piazza at the halfback posts; the defensive line was also bolstered by the fine play of Haushalter, Sevick, Svitel and Birmingham. Impressive performances were turned in offensively by Pat Tarquinio and Don Pheasant, particularly during the second quarter scoring drives.

Tribe Opponents Split Even In Saturday Tilts

Juniata's seven opponents divided 50-50 in games played over the past weekend with three winning their tilts and three losing, while the seventh, Penn Military College remained idle. All are active this Saturday.

The Greyhounds of Moravian were stopped by Juniata's Indians, 20-6, in both teams' opener. The 'hounds oppose Upsala at Bethlehem for the second of three straight contests. Haverford ended its long losing skein at 14 games by downing Wagner, 13-6, behind the fine running of Bill Ortmann and Don Cohill. The Fords host the Tribe this Saturday.

Devils Stop W & J

The Red Devils of Dickinson evened their season's record at one and one by surprising Washington & Jefferson, 7-3, after scoring late in the fourth canto on a 20-yard pass by Al Barilar. The game ended with W & J on Dickinson's three-yard line. The Red Devils will be hosted by the Diplomats of Franklin & Marshall College Saturday. Trying to better their 0-1 record, P. M. C. will have an invading Lebanon Valley contingent to handle.

In a battle between two of the Tribe's opponents, Ursinus dropped the Crusaders of Susquehanna, 32-14 in a wide open contest. The Crusaders play Swarthmore Saturday at Selinsgrove, while Ursinus travels to meet Drexel Tech. Grove City, Juniata's November 7 opponent, dropped its first game in two starts at the hands of Geneva, 26-13. The Grovers engage an invading Hiram squad in its third tilt.

Mainliners Feature Heavy Line, Switch To T-Formation Attack

The gridiron charges of Coach Bill Smaltz will hit the road for the second straight time tomorrow, when they travel to Haverford to participate in the Ford's home opener.

The victory-hungry Scarlet and Black will be out to make it two wins in a row, as they successfully opened their 1953 season last Saturday with a 13-6 win over Wagner College. Previous to this, Haverford had lost 14 straight ballgames including two one-sided losses to the Indians.

For the second straight year Head Coach Roy Randall has a good crop of freshmen to bolster his squad. However, with eleven rookies on the squad, the predominance seems to be in linemen, but this fills in well with last season's crop of freshman backs.

This year the Mainliners will employ the T for the first time since 1949. Sophomore letterwinner Phil D'Arrigo opened at the all important quarterback slot against Wagner last week, and will probably be directing the Haverford offense against the Indians this week. Behind him are Classmates Hal Weaver and Sellers Walton, who will fill the halfback positions. Bill Ortman, leading scorer last year with seven TD's, will probably handle the fullback chores. Should Coach Randall choose to test the Brave's pass defense, then Ortman, also a fine passer, will take over as quarterback, leaving his post to be filled by Tom Martenis. Undoubtedly Don Cohill and Ted Regen will also see plenty of action in the backfield for the Fords, as both are returning monogram winners.

Feature Big Line

The keystone spot in the line will be handled by co-captain John Rettew, while flanking him will be the other co-captain, stocky, 5-7, 190 pound Ed Hollingsworth and 205 pound Bray Manchester. The two co-captains are the only representatives of the senior class on the team, while Manchester is a junior. Jack Strotbeck, also a junior, is the only returning tackle, but big 6-1, 210 pound William and Mary transfer student Joe Cauffiel, has already proven that he is capable of holding down the other tackle spot. Another factor in reserve strength is monsterous 250 pound Blaine Block, who although only a freshman, has been pressed into service to stop the opposition's running attack.

At the terminal spots junior John Allen and sophomore John Thomas will draw the starting assignments, but either may be replaced by up-and-coming Gene Hudson.

The Juniata-Haverford series was started in 1924, but was discontinued until 1948. Since then the Indians have won four while dropping only one contest. The overall standings shows Juniata in the lead four games to three.

FM & M, Killers Lead In I-M League; Wian, Simon Head Scorers

The FM & M rolled on undefeated in the intramural football league as they defeated the Creepers 26-7 and shut out the Chimpchamps 19-0. In other games, the Killers picked up their initial win by shutting out the Heavenly Bodies, 14-0, and the Covites won their second game via a forfeit over the Creepers.

The FM & M showed an excellent passing offense in their win over the Creepers. In the first quarter Nick Rocco found Joe Hinish and Fred Wian on the receiving ends of several pass plays which put the ball on the 10 yard line. Steve Ulsh then carried the ball on a wide end sweep for the score. Hinish converted, and the half ended with the score still 7-0. The third frame saw the FM & M take a 20-0 as Ollwieler hit Bob Fahrney with the first TD pass and a few minutes later Ulsh found Hinish with a short toss which put the ball on the 20 yard line. Loschavio then heaved the oval to Rocco for the score. The Creepers scored their lone TD in the fourth when Murdoch caught a short pass and sprinted the remaining two yards to pay dirt. He also converted for the extra point. The final FM & M points evolved when Rocco intercepted a Creeper pass and lumbered all the way for the score.

Fahrney, Wian Lead FM & M

By virtue of their victory over the Chimpchamps, the FM & M kept their loss side of the ledger clean. The first period went by without a score, but early in the second Bob Fahrney raced around end for an FM & M score, giving them a 6-0 halftime lead. The second half found Wian on the receiving end of two TD passes to complete the scoring. The Chimpchamps were continually bottled up by the effective pass defense of the FM & M throughout the game, but defensively, Kerstetter and Froisland were continually breaking up other potential FM & M scoring plays.

The Killers broke into the win column when Monk Simon hit Pfitzinger with a short pass and the latter ran 45 yards for the score. Again in the second period a Simon to Gombos pass traveled 40 yards to complete the scoring of the game. The Heavenly Bodies offense was held down by the fine defensive play of Joe Zupancic and Bill Brumbaugh.

Running The Gauntlet

by John Dale

The sophomore-dominated grid squad of Coach Bill Smaltz showed occasional flashes of real brilliance last Saturday at Moravian, especially in the second quarter when the Indians scored a pair of six-pointers. The Tribe's attack ran roughshod over the Greyhounds early in the first half, but were frustrated in several attempts to cross the double-stripe, once by losing the ball on downs on the Moravian 14, and then two fumbles, one on the nine, and one on the two only minutes later. Alert play by Keith Birmingham in covering two Moravian fumbles led directly to both of the Tribe's scores in the second quarter.

JC's tailback post seems to be one of the team's biggest assets with the double-barreled punch of Don Pheasant and Pat Tarquinio. Both boys looked good against the Greyhounds, barring normal first game nervousness. Pheasant appears to be one of the hardest running backs on the team, and is a fine passer. He completed two out of three throws for 21 yards; one toss was a sensational flip to Joe Trimber after he had been chased back deep in his own backfield and almost caught. Tarq is a real triple-threat man: he ran 16 times for a 39 net yardage, tops for JC; he completed five of nine passes for 70 yards and two TDs; and he punted once for 35 yards after Bill Yerzyk had been injured.

Ran across a couple interesting scores in last Saturday's games: Wisconsin stopped Marquette by the count of 13-11, while the Engineers from Georgia Tech edged a big S. M. U. team, 6-4.

Another interesting statistic was the attendance at the fourth and fifth games of the Series, which were played at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn. Both games drew identical amounts of 36,775.

I have been told that all sports columns are to have some sort of guessing contest by the writer as to the outcome of weekend games. Although this writer has never attempted such a thing, it appears as the advisable thing to do, 'builds up interest in the page, you know'. So here goes with the outcome of games being played by Juniata's seven opponents, and three other games of interest thrown in to round out the proper ten.

Juniata 20, Haverford 7; the Fords suprise shift to the T will not be enough to outscore the Tribe.

Upsala 20, Moravian 12; the Greyhounds will be outclassed but not outfought.

F. & M. 34, Dickinson 6; no contest.

P. M. C. 14, Lebanon Valley 13; the soldiers had last week to recuperate from their slaughter by West Chester.

Swarthmore 28, Susquehanna 19; free scoring, but the Crusaders don't have anyone to take Dick Young's place.

Grove City 13, Hiram 6; the coin said heads.

Ursinus 19, Drexel 13; another tossup.

Pitt 28, Nebraska 6; the Panther will be hard to handle after last week.

Penn 20, California 13; the Quakers have the T to go with their single wing this year.

Penn State 28, Boston U. 21; the Lions have to start winning soon.

Hedgerow Group Praises Audience, Good Facilities At JC Performance

by Jeanie Tait

"It was a pleasure to perform for such an audience," this was the opinion voiced by members of the Hedgerow Theater Company after their production of Shaw's Arms and the Man in Oller Hall, Wednesday.

Spokesman Joseph Gisterak, cast in the role of the chocolate soldier, thought at first that the entire audience had read the play, as their response was so good. "They laughed at all the right places, and caught the most subtle lines which many audiences overlook."

After the performance, the ten members of the touring company gathered in the I. Harvey Brumbaugh House, for an informal supper with the Masquers and some faculty. While eating, they discussed drama and its various production phases.

"Colleges are the places to experiment," was the common belief of the company, "especially in stage design and set contruction." They pointed to their own set as one example of what could be done. "We very seldom use a set made entirely of flats; it's too difficult to manage." For our college productions, they suggested that a curtain, expert lighting, and stage props would be more effective and more original than an elaborate construction of flats.

They found Oller Hall an excellent place in which to stage their play, lavishing praise on the "very adequate stage and excellent lighting facilities."

"Touring a play is a very satisfying experience," stated one, "because the results of our efforts are so clearly seen. The rehearsal takes place in the afternoon, the performance in the evening. There are no long periods of rehearsals before we get a chance to see what we have accomplished." They added that taking a college production on the road would be of valuable experience. From their performance here, the Hedgerow Group went on to Philadelphia.

Open House Planned At Fiberglas Plant

All students of Juniata College are invited to attend the Owens-Corning Fiberglas Tenth Anniversary Celebration. It will be held Wednesday from 1 to 8 p. m.

There will be refreshments, door prizes, and tours of the plant on the agenda for those who go. The company will show many finished products now being made from glass yarns, featuring an Oldsmobile Fiberglas body sport car.

Listening Hour Is Planned For Sun.

For those who like a time to relax and enjoy good music, the Listening Hour is ideal. Each Sunday from 2 to 3 p. m., except when special events are planned, students are invited to go to the main recital room of Swigart Hall for an informal hour of music. Both classical and semi-classical selections are played.

Miss Marie Jaeger chooses the music from the records available, but requests of the students are welcome. The aim is to play music the students want to hear.

From The Clubs

President Calvert N. Ellis will be the speaker at the regular JCA meeting, Tuesday at 7 p. m. in Founders Chapel. At this meeting, the JCA commissioners will explain the year's program for the club.

The Chemistry Club met Friday with Dr. Eva Hartzler as speaker. According to president Wilfred Norris, the group will meet the first Friday of each month and expects to take an active part in the safety program of the College. The club is a chapter of the Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society.

The first meeting of the Masque was held Thursday. After a business session, JC representatives to the Penn State Reading Festival last year read their selections.

stay, she walked to the edge of the crater and saw the smoldering rocks. She was intrigued as she drove over the roads constructed on the top of the Mauna Loa flows of 1950.

The Hawaiian people have a unique way of greeting you. At the airport or dock everyone comes to welcome or bid you good-bye with a garland, a string of fresh flowers made to hang about the neck. These are made by the lei-venders, Hawaiian women who sit in small huts located near at hand. The most popular ones are made of baby orchids. As Miss Fisher's friends adorned her with garlands, she found it hard to say good-bye to the "lovely and serene isle of Hawaii."

Jefferson Accepts 3 Juniata Students

Three Juniata seniors received their admittance to medical school last week. Paul Berkebile, Fritz Blechschmidt and Charlie Kipp will enter Jefferson Medical College in the fall of 1954.

Classes Sponsor Pep Rally At 1:15

A pep rally under the joint sponsorship of the junior and sophomore classes is scheduled for today at 1:15 p. m. in front of Oller Hall. The affair is being directed by Mickey Mick.

The entire football team will be on hand with the co-captains making speeches. The newly chosen cheerleaders will make their first appearance and the band, under the direction of Prof. Brammer will add plenty of spirit to the event.

1st Grad Record Exam To Be Given Next Month

The Graduate Record Examination will be administered for the first time during the year 1953-54 on November 14. Application forms for the examination will be available within a few days at the office of Dean Mays.

Results of the Graduate Record Examination are used by many graduate schools for admission purposes. Any senior contemplating graduate study next year should determine whether or not the institution to which he expects to go desires to have these results. The examination will be administered again on January 30, and May 1. However, the various graduate schools usually indicate the date by which these results must be submitted.

Applications and fees must be received at the headquarters office of Educational Testing Service before October 31.

The locations of the testing centers for the administration of November 14 are available at the office of Dean Mays.

JC Cheerleading Team Announced For 53-54

After many trials and tribulations, cheerleaders have been chosen for the present year at Juniata. A new feature of the cheerleading squad is the addition of two boys to the group. They are Larry Cape and Bob Ripper, both members of the sophomore class.

The female members who have been chosen are Nancy McCahan, Nancy Blanck, Edie Talbot, and Peggy Brumbaugh, seniors; Polly Fowler, Allegra Forney, and "Mikey" Mick, juniors, and Norma Cale, sophomore.

The cheerleaders will visit the next meeting of the freshmen assembly in order to teach the freshmen the cheers, both new and old.

Annual JC Twirp Week To Get Under Way Mon.

by Nancy Freed

Has you tooked a "crazy" likin' to a certain special guy? Now you ain't got to catch him with the gleam in your eye. Just march right up and ask him; gee isn't that unique? The reason you can do this—the eighteenth starts "Twirp Week".

That's right, fellows. Your freedom ends Sunday at noon. You'll find the girls will be chasing you instead of vice-versa. If you think that's awful, just remember, that while the gals do the asking they also do the paying. Won't it be "tremenjus" to have the females fork over the dollar so you can enjoy the movie?

Be sure to attend the after-dinner dance on Wednesday evening in the Women's Gym whether some chick has gotten around to asking you or not. If she hasn't asked you by then, she's sure to ask you to be her dancing partner when there.

The paramount feature of this "boy ask girl" venture is the big dance Saturday evening, October 24. The gals do the bidding as well as the "fetching" at Lodge, Cloister's or, where be it. As with all big social affairs, a corsage is necessary, but this time it adorns the boy's lapel. Any kind will do, any kind that is except one made of flowers. Use some garden vegetables, pipe-cleaners, candy; anything just so long as you make it with your own initiative and the poor guy can wear it.

Catch as catch can, "Marrying Sam" will be on hand to tie the knot. In case you think "HE may falter going to the altar," at the slightest evidence of the gal "itching to be hitching", the Hillbilly Brothers, better known as the Scraggs of Dogpatch, will march him there at the point of a gun.

They'll also be brewin' up a fresh pot of Kickapoo Juice for the refreshment of all.

It's too much fun for anyone to miss! Gals, grab your guys! Remember this isn't leap year, so it will be your only chance to sweep your man off his feet.

Doyle To Read, Lecture In AAC Tour Of Kansas

Miss Esther Doyle, professor of English, will leave campus Wednesday to visit various colleges in Kansas, under the auspices of the Association of American Colleges.

Miss Doyle will give a program of lectures and readings at such schools as Sterling College, Baker University, Friends University, Kansas State Teachers College and the Brethren College McPherson. Her visits to each college will last two days each, while she reads and lectures to classes and clubs about the campus.

Her program is chiefly constituted of poetry and modern drama. Scenes from Maxwell Anderson's Elizabeth, the Queen, T. S. Eliot's The Cocktail Party, as well as portions from The Lady's Not For Burning by Christopher Fry will be read.

Esther M. Doyle

The poetry includes works of three women poets: Edna St. Vincent Millay, Sara Teasdale and Amy Lowell, plus some Shakespearian sonnets. Lyrics and ballads will also be included in the program.

The Association of American Colleges was responsible for sending pianist Iren Marik to JC last year. In the past, appearances by artist Grant Reynard and sculptress Sister Helene were sponsored by this group. This year Elmer Tidmarsh of Union College will be sent to our campus as will the Muirs, a husband and wife team who do wood sculptoring and painting.

Talent Program Set For Mon. In Frosh Assembly

A talent show will be given by the class of 1957 in their meeting of the freshman Assembly on Monday. The program will be open to interested upperclassmen and faculty members.

Rod James of Merchantville, N. J., chairman of the show, has given a brief outline of the program. Bob Hamm of Hanover, Pa., and "Gipp" Ciminera of Philadelphia, Pa., are dividing the position of master of ceremonies.

The main part of the program will consist of a Dixieland combo; three individual vocalists, Dick Gaulk of Pitman, N. J., Judy Gearhart of Upper Darby, Pa., and Phil Lankford of York, Pa.; a tap dance by Dottie Stricker of Lansdale, Pa.; a male quartet; a girl's quartet; and an accordian solo by "Skip" Oesterling of Indiana, Pa. Dick Livingston of Johnstown, Pa., and Dean Hancox of Cumberland, Md., will accompany the musical numbers. There may be additions to this tentative program.

IRC To Present Korea POW Thurs.

A special meeting of the IRC Thursday in the I. Harvey Brumbaugh house will feature speaker Sfc. Jesse Snyder, recently freed after 34 months in a Chinese Red POW camp.

Snyder will discuss his experiences under the Chinese Communists. The 24-year old soldier from Brady Township, Mill Creek, has been in the service for nearly seven years. A member of the seventh Cavalry Regiment, first Cavalry Division, he was captured in Nov. 1950 during the severe fighting around Chosin Reservoir. He had been in Korea only three months before taken prisoner.

September 5, Snyder passed through Freedom Gate at Panmunjom and was sent to the U. S.

Piano Playhouse To Perform In Oller Hall; Feature Cross

The Huntingdon Community Concert Association has cordially invited the students and faculty of Juniata College to attend a performance of Piano Playhouse, ABC's great network show, on October 28 in Oller Hall.

The Piano Playhouse will feature Milton Cross, well known music commentator. Mr. Cross was the regular commentator for the weekly Metropolitan Opera broadcast and has also been awarded the gold medal for diction by the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

The keyboard stars who will be featured are Grace Castagnetta who has achieved eminence as an improvisor, Ken Clarke, considered by many of the top authorities of the day to be the greatest living jazz pianist, and Ferrante and Teicher, classic-popular duo-pianists. The producer of the Piano Playhouse is Maggie Fisher.

This concert is one of a series sponsored by the Concert Association, of which Miss Kathryn Langdon is president. Mrs. John D. Pennington is concert presentation chairman and the publicity is being handled by Prof. Brammer.

The admission is free of charge and the Concert will begin at 8:30 p. m.; however, it has been requested that everyone be in his seat by 8:20 p. m.

Pa. Students Dominate JC Campus, N. J. 2nd

Juniata's full-time enrollment this fall is again dominated by Pennsylvanians with 81 percent of the 576 students coming from 46 of the Keystone State counties. Eleven states, the District of Columbia, Germany and Jordan are represented in the annual geographical distribution report.

New Jersey ranks behind Pennsylvania with 11½ percent of the undergraduates — 66 students — coming to this Central Pennsylvania liberal arts college. Maryland again is third.

York county moved into the "top ten" replacing Westmoreland in the distribution report issued by the office of the registrar. The first 10 counties are: Huntingdon 77, Blair 49, Allegheny 39, Montgomery 26, Bedford 24, Cambria 19, Mifflin 19, Philadelphia 19, Somerset 18 and York 15.

Movie, Dance Feature Social Calendar

According to the report of Russ Hill, chairman of social activities, Saturday night, Oct. 17, will be fun for all. At 8:15 the movie Harvey, will be presented in Oller Hall.

Harvey is the story of an invisible rabbit and his constant companion, Dowd, Elwood P. The movie takes them through their adventures in a downtown bar to their short stay in an insane asylum where they have all the doctors wondering just who is crazy. The complications Dowd faces in his life with a rabbit nobody else can see makes this a laugh-filled movie.

After the show there will be informal dancing in the women's gymnasium to round out the evening's entertainment.

Reviewer Praises Doyle's Reading Of Shaw's Pygmalion Last Evening

by Betty Shearer

For two weeks in succession Oller Hall stage has been the scene of the works of Bernard Shaw. Last week found the Hedgerow production of Arms and the Man, while last evening Miss Esther Doyle read scenes from Pygmalion.

Last week's play, Arms and the Man was no more ably presented than was Miss Doyle's reading of Pygmalion last night.

This was most noticeable in her second scene where Higgins begins his tutoring by causing Eliza to say her alphabet, which is a preliminary step to learning the language of Shakespeare, Milton and the Bible instead of the gibberish of a common gutter snipe.

Shaw's keen understanding of human nature on other levels of life beside his own was caught by Miss Doyle in the equal excellency with which she portrayed Higgins, Colonel Pecaering and Eliza. Speaking as a student, I should be pleased to see more such performances come from the Oller Hall stage.

Shaw's works are very often characterized by their accent on phonetics, and Pygmalion is certainly a manifestation of this trait. When Higgins takes a Cockney girl from off the streets, where her sole aim in life is selling flowers, and bets that he can make a duchess of her, the use of phonetics assumes a position of great import. It is chiefly through the correction of her slovely speech that the former flower girl becomes a duchess.

It is not until the end of Higgin's labors that he realizes that he has been able to arouse in another human creature a spirit of a higher level, an accomplishment that far surpassed the requirements of his bet.

It is fitting that Shaw should have named his play Pygmalion after the old myth of a Greek sculptor who had created with his clay the figure of a woman so beautiful that he wished with all his heart that she might become a living thing. Mythically enough, in answer to his desire, she assumes life.

Frosh Tell Why They Chose JC

The results of the annual questionnaire which is given to students enrolled at Juniata for the first time has been released.

The first question which the new students were asked dealt with the reason they selected Juniata as their college. The reason given most often was that Juniata is a small college. By a small margin, the scholastic reputation of the College was the second reason. Third was that the ideals of the College appealed to the person in question.

The second question concerned the media through which the student first learned of Juniata. The most frequent media was literature sent by the College. Media through which the next highest number first learned of Juniata was a Juniata representative and the third was that the Juniata ACE test was given in their school.

Women's Comm. To Plan Traditional Firelighting

by Nan Heller

The Women's House Committee, under the leadership of the newly elected chairman, Carol Lowdermilk, has established the committees for the year's projects.

The Fire-Lighting Committee consists of Helen Stutzman, chairman; Edie Engler, Kass Keeler and Nan Heller and is the first group to get under way by making plans for the annual Fire-Lighting Ceremony which will take place on October 25 in the social rooms after the evening curfew.

The Indian princess, Nancy Vaughn, and the fire-builders will lead the procession to the mystic beat of a tom-tom. The log will then be lit and the poem, "The Sacrament of Fire" will be read.

Joy Rinehart, JCA commissioner, will read the prayer, following which comes the impressive "Fire Poem." There will also be a double trio to sing appropriate songs as part of the evening's performance.

Other committees chosen for the projects of women's house are: phone duty—Mary Jane Hershberger; concessions—Jo Feight, Rae Bamforth, Maggie Sims, Marge Fish and Rosalie Langer; exam teas—chairman Joyce Bernard, Elaine Aitken, Jane Hoover, Barbara Phennicie and Vivian Livingston; formal dinners—chairman Mary Louise Neikirk, Joyce Mullin, Sally Coulomb, Joy Rinehart and Nancy Rosenberger; projects—chairman Micky Mick, Doris Wilson, Norma Hottle, and Joan Lenhardt; and faculty Sunday dinner—chairman Marion Brightbill and Dot Kettering.

From The Editor's Notes

Tomorrow, in order that students may attend the Dickinson game, a shortened class schedule has been approved by the administration. Dinner will be served early and there will be buses to transport the students to Carlisle.

All these arrangements came about at the request of the student body. The administration did us the favor of shortening classes so that there will be ample time to reach Dickinson before the game begins; it remains for us to cooperate by attending all our Saturday classes.

It is true, of course, that as many as possible should support the team at Dickinson. The problem of a lack of spirit, generally so prevalent on campus, seems somewhat alleviated over this Dickinson game. There is a mounting enthusiasm on College Hill, caused probably by the provisions being made to send the band, to charter student buses and to shorten classes. Enthusiasm is fine, we commend it. But don't let it get to the extreme where it forces you to leave campus early, in defiance of the administration's request. The buses will get you there in time; you'll have ample opportunity to cheer the team on to victory. There's no good reason to take advantage of the administration's support in this matter.

To those of you who ask, "Why not cancel all classes?", it is enough to say that the main purpose of a college is education, not extra-curricular activities. The College is liberal in its policy of holidays, shortened classes and half-days. Only this week, we enjoyed a traditional Juniata holiday in Mountain Day.

The policy of shortened classes in years to come depends largely upon our cooperation tomorrow. It is not fair for the few students with cars who will leave early to ruin our chance of enjoying this privilege in the future.

The Things Around Us

by Jim Hunt

Another week comes and goes on College Hill and we find that this column is again pressed to take the role of a crusader for the Juniata students.

Everywhere you look these days you see evidence that fall has arrived but aside from the signposts of nature what else does the fall season bring to mind. Sure it points the way to Homecoming, Parents Day, mid-term exams, Twirp Week, Mountain Day and of course reminds us that Christmas is on the way. Now from out of the vague statement that procedes we do have a point to make so lets take the first two items and examine them a little closer.

Homecoming and Parents Day; in addition to the gridiron battle that typifies each of these special days we find the campus in a decorative, festive character. Special ceremonies and dances are held and everybody is expected to pitch in and have a good time. Rewards of congratulation are liberally given to the football team, the queen and other participants and although they might richly deserve the praise we feel that a great injustice is done at this time and throughout the college year to members of an important college group, the band.

The Juniata College Band has the nucleus of an extremely fine small college organization and we should wise up and recognize this fact. During the past two weeks we had the opportunity to travel to Moravian College and Haverford College and view the musical organizations that represented these schools on the field. They were much smaller than JC's band and seemed to be a lot less musically inclined. But why is it that we don't recognize our band in the light that they deserve?

We put that question to a great number of students during the past few weeks and were really surprised at some of the answers we received. Out of the resulting discussions we did manage to draw up a few conclusions, criticisms and suggestions which we will endeavor to present to you for your approval or rejection.

First of all it seems rather universal that the students feel the band is not given ample opportunity to perform before the student body and they tend to become disinterested. We are pleased to hear that the band is going to the Dickinson game tomorrow and wish to congratulate the Senate for the part they played in this progressive movement. But wouldn't it be a possibility to let the band perform at a chapel session or two during the year. We feel sure that Prof. Brammer can arrange a program that would make an interesting and profitable chapel session.

Just about all the people we questioned seem to feel that this year's band will be strong instrumentally and will have a better selection of music to play. So lets keep up a good calibre by creating interest in the band and making them one of the highlights of the campus. Perhaps if a policy of band letters or a collective banquet for the members were held at the end of the year a spirit of pride could be developed in our band.

So tomorrow at the game and in suceeding weeks when we open our home football season take a moment to consider the work that the members of the band do to perform at the game and take pride in the fact that they are an important part of the Juniata family.

Accent On Reading

James B. Conant, former president of Harvard University, now United States High Commissioner of Germany, has written several books on science, one of the most recent being Modern Science and Modern Man. The philosophical implications of modern physics and modern chemistry are producing an intellectual revolution. In this book the author tells what these profound alterations in the nature of science may mean to the ambitions, hopes, and fears of intelligent people. He shows how, since 1900, theoretical structures of physics and chemistry have been greatly altered. By analyzing the philosophical implications of new discoveries he shows how physical and chemical theories are now considered guides to action and not keys to understanding the universe.

In an earlier book, Science and Common Sense, Dr. Conant explains the methods of science through a historical approach. He shows what science is and what it is not by describing how the problems appeared to the people who had to solve them as they struggled against their own and others' preconceptions. This book is written particularly for an audience of non-scientists living at a time that is being revolutionized by the application of scientific concepts they do not fully grasp.

Tribe Tops Haverford, 27-13; Face Red Devils

Indians Stage Rally In 4th Quarter; Interceptions, Fumbles Hurt Fords

by Fred Heydrick

The gridiron Braves of Juniata continued down the unbeaten warpath by virtue of a rousing 27-13 victory over the Mainliners of Haverford on the latter's home field.

Running from the T this year, the Fords kept the Tribe defense constantly on the alert, and at one time in the game they trailed by the slim margin of only one point.

The first quarter found the Braves receiving the initial kick-off, but being unable to solve the big Ford line on the first series of plays, they were forced to punt. The Mainliners were equally as ineffective against the veteran JC forward wall and returned a kick to the Indian 25. After a five yard smash put the ball on the 30, tailback Don Pheasant slipped the ball to Joe Trimber and the speedy back broke through the Haverford defenses and galloped 70 yards for the Braves initial score. Keith Birmingham added the EP to give the Smaltzmen a 7-0 lead.

The Tribe threatened again in the dying moments of the period when Trimber set the ball on the Ford's 15 yard line by virtue of a 37 yard jaunt through the Haverford secondary. This time however Juniata found the opponent's forward wall too tough to crack, and the Mainliners took over on downs.

Tie Score At Half

Haverford made the score 7-7 at halftime as Don Cohill intercepted a Tarquinio aerial on his own 12, and raced to the Juniata 15 where fleet-footed Trimber made the save for JC. However four plays later, Bill Ortman plowed over for the score.

Reliable Trimber again sparked the Indians to their second touchdown, as he filched an early third quarter Ford pass on the enemy 34 and raced to the two yard stripe. Don Pheasant then smashed over for the score, and Birmingham again converted for a 14-7 lead. The rest of the quarter was spent in Juniata territory although no real Haverford threat developed.

Fumbles Stop Fords

A total of 19 points was scored in the last frame. In the opening moments, the Fords pulled within one point of the Indians when Hal Weaver tossed a fourth down desperation pass from the twenty yard stripe which bounced off a JC player and into the waiting arms of Ted Regan for the score. A tie was averted when big Chuck Knox broke through and blocked the extra point attempt. From this point on the scoring was all Juniata. Veto recovered a fumble on the home 46, and Tarquinio promptly found Birmingham with a 39 yard pass. "Turq" then went over standing up to make the score 20-13. The Fords proceeded to lose the ball via a fumble on the kickoff return. Winterstein added the final points on two yard drive into the end zone. Veto's extra point was good to give the Braves their 27-13 victory.

Four Netmen Are In Court Tourney

Four Juniata varsity tennis veterans have been working out on the local courts in preparation for the annual Middle Atlantics tennis tournament to be held at Bucknell University Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. Competing for the Penneymen will be Dick Fusco and Paul Gingrich in singles, and Dan Raffensperger and Ray Pfrogner in doubles play.

All of the smaller NCAA colleges in the east will take part in the three-day event. This will be Juniata's first participation in several years.

Running The Gauntlet

by John Dale

Last Saturday's Haverford contest showed the importance of the 'breaks' in football. These most important of factors often change the entire complexion of a game and throw victory from one team to another. The Tribe got what could be considered a break against the Fords when Joe Trimber ran a 70-yard reverse through the entire Ford team for our first TD, an exceptionally long gain for that play. Then the Fords intercepted a Tarquinio-to-Drexler pass, the first Indian pass to be intercepted this year, and ran the ball back 78 yards to our 15. This lead to the Mainliners first score.

The Tribe turned the same tables on the Fords in the third quarter when Trimber intercepted a Haverford aerial and returned it to the 1. Then the Mainliners got a big break in the same period when a deflected Haverford pass was caught over the goal by a halfback who was lying on the ground. The Tribe got their two biggest breaks when over-anxious ball handling by the Fords caused two fumbles which the Tribe turned into TDs. Another break occured in this last touchdown drive when a 5-yard penalty against the Fords gave the Tribe a first down when they had not been able to gain the necessary 10 yards in their four plays. The ironic part about this was that there were only three penalties called against the Mainliners all afternoon.

* * * *

Brother, prognostication isn't as easy as its cracked up to be! That coin I used must have been four-faced, two-faced on each side, because it sure didn't call many right for me last week. Altogether I did manage to get a .500 mark with five calls out of ten. Maybe I should quit now before I'm too far behind, but sports writers never quit, so here goes.

JUNIATA 12, DICKINSON 7; cross my fingers... this one goes as the 'breaks' go.

P. M. C. 21, MORAVIAN 13; both teams surprised me last week ... that big Cadet line will tell the tale.

URSINUS 26, HAVERFORD 19; the Bears should be able to stop the Ford's attack.

National Aggies 20, SUSQUEHANNA 6; neither team is overly potent, but the Aggies have a good passing game.

Westminster 28, GROVE CITY 6; the Titans will be too much for the Grovers.

Notre Dame 21; Pitt 14; game of the week in the east... the Irish will have a rough afternoon, but had a two-week rest for Leahy to iron out the kinks.

Ohio State 27, Penn 14; the Ohio boys lost a big one last week, while the Quakers lost a bad one.

Penn State 27, Syracuse 21; State looks good, so does Syracuse... should be a good game.

Maryland 21, North Carolina 0; not too much doubt.
Georgia 21, L. S. U. 13; Zeke will drive the Louisianians crazy.

WAA Hosts Play Day; Penn State, Lycoming, Bucknell To Take Part

Tomorrow the Women's Athletic Association will play host to three other schools when they sponsor a Hockey Sports Day here at Juniata. A Sports Day is a schedule of games in which teams from each school compete against teams from the other schools.

Teams from Bucknell, Lycoming, and Penn State will visit the campus to participate in a series of ten games which will begin at 1 p. m. Rated referees will officiate at the games. The temporary schedule is:

1:00 p. m.—Juniata vs. Lycoming; Bucknell vs. Penn State I.

1:45 p. m.—Juniata vs. Penn State II; Lycoming vs. Bucknell.

2:30 p. m.—Penn State I vs. Lycoming; Bucknell vs. Penn State II.

3:15 p. m.—Juniata vs. Penn State I; Lycoming vs. Penn State II.

4:00 p. m.—Juniata vs. Bucknell; Penn State I vs. Penn State II.

Smaltz Predicts Tough Battle With D-son, PMC

by Bob Gottlieb

"The next two games can make or break our season" retorted genial Bill Smaltz when queried about this Saturday's Dickinson game at Carlisle. "I figure that two teams, Dickinson and Penn Military College are stronger than we are and if we are able to beat either it will be an upset. If we are to accomplish this our pass defense will have show improvement, along with our defensive blocking and aerial game."

Coach Smaltz called the exploits of Joe Trimber in the Haverford game "the most outstanding individual performance since Mike Dzvonar ran roughshod over Moravian in 1949". Also singled out for indidivual plaudits because of their yoemanlike play on offense and defense were Chuck Knox, Ron Clapper, "Killer" Conley, Keith Birmingham and Bill Haushalter.

Although the Tribe suffered no serious injuries, nearly all the Indians were bruised and cut up in the rough Haverford tilt. When asked about last week's game, Smaltz stated, "Haverford is really tough—they'll win their share of ball games. They put our boys through a real hard sixty minutes. Their line was big and their looping defense had us baffled at times. Our passing offense was off, so we had to stick pretty close to the ground."

Dickinson Beaten Twice; Have All Veteran Squad

by Walt Vanderbush

Juniata's high-riding Indians will be hittin' on all cylinders ... oops—all hoofbeats, that is, tomorrow as they leave the Huntingdon reservation for the third straight week in an attempt to add one more scalp, that of arch rival Dickinson, to their rapidly growing collection.

Veteran Senior Tackle
• Chuck Knox •

Dickinson, always a formidable opponent, will go in to the game with a 1 won and 2 lost record, and a victory over the Smaltzmen would serve a threefold purpose. First of all, a win would balance the Red Devils slate at the five hundred mark. Secondly, last year's 10-8 loss at Huntingdon will not be forgotten in the town of Carlisle and revenge would be sweet. The third reason is tomorrow is Parents Day on the D'son campus, giving the Red and White added incentive for victory.

Dickinson opened the season by bowing 14-0 to the passing attack of Western Maryland and the following week came from behind in the last quarter to pull out a 7-3 margin over once powerful Washington & Jefferson, who in recent years has been promoting a de-emphasis program, but still is very strong in its class. This game ended with W & J on the Dickinson 3 yard marker. Last Saturday the Red Devils really fell apart at the seams, falling victim to a powerful Franklin and Marshall eleven who rolled up a 39-6 count against the undermanned Red and White.

Hit By Eligibility Rule

Enforcement of the freshman eligibility rule, which states that no college having over five hundred male students may use freshmen, has been a big blow to Coach "Sam" Ransom's efforts to improve on last year's 3 win and 5 lost record. The 1953 squad has only twenty five members, one of the smallest Dickinson squads in years, but the fourteen lettermen on hand within this group makes the outlook a bit brighter. Nevertheless, this obviously leaves little depth at any position, and one or two key injuries could prove to be disastorous.

Charles Garwood and George Paofes are the only experienced backs available; to bolster this department Ransom has converted three of his best linemen of 1952 into ball carriers. Gordon Haney, topnotch backer up; George Nauro, fleet end, and Joe Minkevitch, 210 pound tackle, were the men involved in this switch.

Line Experienced

Ransom has good experienced forwards in Andy Cominsky, Paul Tarr and Hugh Haughney, the tackles; Jim Nellas and Joe Kunda, guards, and Don Bush senior center serve to form a strong line. To gain additional middle-of-the-line strength he has shifted Dave Orbock from end to guard. There is a shortage of experienced ends following the shifts but Craig Wydoff, a 6-5 225 pounder, Dave Allegretto and Frank Schwartz, a sophomore trio are expected to hold down the terminal posts.

Dickinson holds a six to three edge over JC in the gridiron series which started back in 1921.

Tribe Opponents Fare Poorly Over Weekend

The seven 1953 opponents of the Tribe did not fare at all well in weekend play, with only Moravian winning their contest, while the other six each lost by at least two touchdowns.

The Greyhounds rebounded from its opening loss to Juniata with a 20-13 upset win over Upsala at Bethlehem. They play their third consecutive home tilt Saturday by hosting the Cadets from P. M. C., a future Tribe opponent. The Fords of Haverford lost their first game in two starts to the Tribe. This week they travel to Collegeville to meet the Ursinus Bears in an all-Juniata-opponent contest.

D-son, PMC Lose Second

Dickinson lost its second game in three starts, by the margin of 39-6 to a rampaging Franklin & Marshall eleven. The Diplomats scored twice in each the first, second, and fourth periods to romp over the outmanned Red Raiders. P. M. C. lost its second tilt in as many starts by a second half Lebanon Valley rally, 25-14. The Cadets lead 14-13 at halftime, but Lou Sorrentino, former Tribe nemesis, tossed the Dutchmen to victory.

The Crusaders of Susquehanna also dropped its second in as many starts as Swarthmore dropped them 21-7. The Crusaders were held to a mere 74 yard total yardage and scored only in the final two minutes of the contest, while the victors crossed the double stripe three times in the first half. The Crusaders face the National Aggies this weekend.

Grove City was handed its second loss in a row against a single victory by Hiram College of Ohio, 13-0. The Grovers meet a powerful Westminster eleven Saturday. The Bears of Ursinus fell before a 20-point second half Drexel Tech rally, 20-6, for their first loss in two starts. The Bears scored on a 71 yard drive in the second period, led by senior Dick Glock.

Memorial Scholarship Slated For Brumbaugh

In appreciation for the great amount of good he did for so many students and friends of the late Dr. Norman J. Brumbaugh are establishing as a memorial to him a scholarship fund to keep promising chemists in their study at Juniata College.

By his will Dr. Norman J. Brumbaugh established a memorial professorship in chemistry honoring his parents and allocated additional money to the Professor Jacob H. Brumbaugh scholarship in chemistry. In addition, the College has been given the home of 1808 Moore Street here in Huntingdon which is being used now for a student residence.

It is appropriate that others who cherished Dr. Brumbaugh's friendship and benefited by his teaching would complement the memorials he has left. This is a practical way to pay tribute to Dr. N. J. in a project which meant so much to him—the recognition of scholarship in the study of chemistry.

Pep Rally Planned By Seniors, Frosh

The seniors and freshmen are sponsoring a pep rally this evening to give the Indians a whooping big send-off for their trip to Dickinson in Carlisle.

Everyone is to meet at Founder's Porch at 9:15 p. m. for cheers and songs led by the cheerleaders and the band. There is to be a parade across campus, through the arch of the Cloisters, and down to Sherwood Forest. A bonfire is also anticipated.

Ben Newcomer, chairman of underclassmen, has authorized a change in the time of freshmen study hall for tonight. It shall be from 7:15 to 9:15 so that the frosh can attend the entire rally.

Come one, come all, to support our team as they go to their game with the Dickinson Red Devils!

Entertainment Bureau Scouts Talent At JC

Perhaps one of the busiest but least known of the campus facilities is the Entertainment Bureau of the Public Relations Office.

The members of this bureau act as "talent scouts" for students skilled in the fields of music, dramatics, or oration. Various service clubs in Huntingdon and the surrounding communities are sent lists of this Juniata talent and from them may select soloists or group entertainers for an evening's program which is entirely free of charge.

This program has a dual purpose. Music students are aided by gaining experience in performing before groups and wholesome entertainment from our campus is provided in the community which helps cement cooperation and friendship between the two.

From its successful beginning 10 years ago, the Entertainment Bureau has provided 40 to 50 programs a year.

Lectures by foreign students constitute a portion of this program. Through a discussion of conditions in each country and a comparison of standards, better understanding is promoted between the American people and those countries represented by Juniata students.

Short Class Period Arranged Tomorrow

Dean of the College, Morley Mays has announced that classes will be shortened tomorrow so that students desiring to attend the Dickinson football game will be able to do so without cutting classes.

The revised class schedule is as follows:

First period 8:00-8:40
Second Period 8:45-9:25
Third Period 9:30-10:10
Fourth Period 10:15-10:55
Lunch will be served in the college dining hall at 11:00.

On The Club Scene

by Joy Hardesty

The Scalpel and Probe will have a distinguished guest speaker at its meeting Friday night, October 16. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. in room 104, Science Hall. Dr. Fillman, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, will speak to the members on the subject, "Abnormal Births." Dr. Fillman is a noted gynecologist and obstetrician.

Ten Nominated For Homecoming Queen; All Campus Election Slated For Monday

The Juniatian

Friday, October 23, 1953 | Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. | Vol. 30—No. 6

7 Seniors, 3 Juniors Run For Miss Homecoming VII

Juniata students will choose Miss Homecoming VII Monday in an election sponsored by the Juniatian.

Nominated for the royal position are seven seniors and three juniors; Peggy Brumbaugh, Lou Gehman, Nancy McCahan, Joyce Mullan, Helen Rosengren, Nell Shoop, Audrey Weber, Jeannie Baker, Donna Croft, and Doris Markey.

Election polls will be open from 7:45 to 12:30 in front of Students Hall, from 1:15 to 1:45 and 6:45 to 7:15 in Totem Inn. All students are eligible to vote. Results will be announced in next week's Homecoming edition of the Juniatian.

The new queen will be crowned at halftime of the Homecoming Day football game between the Juniata Indians and the Susquehanna Crusaders.

The ten candidates were chosen by a committee of male members of the Juniatian staff and the Senate. The criteria kept in mind were "personality, appearance, and college activities". Only seniors and juniors were considered by the nominating committee.

Brief biographies of the candidates follow for the convenience of the voters:

Peggy Brumbaugh, a senior from Chevy Chase, Md., is concentrating in sociology. She is a member of the cheerleading squad, JCA, and WAA. Last fall Peggy was Miss Homecoming VI.

A senior from Windber, Pa., Lou Gehman is a secondary ed major with special concentration in English. She has been a member of FTA, WAA, and the Student Center Committee. She was co-chairman of the junior All-Class Night production last year.

A senior sociology major from Chester, Pa., Nancy MaCahan is captain of the cheerleading squad, Secretary-Treasurer of Sigma Gamma, a member of WAA, and is active in intramural sports.

From West Virginia comes Joyce Mullan who has been in charge of Sub-Frosh Career Conferences, is a member of Sigma Gamma, WAA and the Women's House Committee. She is another senior sociology major.

A senior from Philadelphia, Helen Rosengren is concentrating in music. She has been active in three college musical productions, played the leading role in last year's dramatic presentation, is secretary of the JC Choir, and is a member of JCA and the newly formed mixed quartet. This year she will play the leading feminine role in the All-College musical, The Gondoliers.

Nell Shoop, a senior from Mapleton Depot, Pa., is an elementary education major. She is a member of FTA and JCA.

Audrey Weber, an elementary education major, also, is from Erie, Pa. Audrey has been active in operettas and the Women's House Committee. She is a member of the JC Choir and is president of FTA.

Radio Committee, Post Office Get Senate Approval

The radio committee, All-Class Night, communication with day students and the post office were among the main item of business for the Senate which met last Friday and again Wednesday.

The Masque was authorized to present a half-hour monthly radio show on WHUN under the jurisdiction of the chairman of publications. Any other clubs or campus organizations interested in radio programs are asked to contact the publications chairman Jeanie Tait.

The All-Class Night policies were referred to Leadership Conference at which time they received the official okay from the Senate.

The day students presented their ideas concerning representation on the Senate. No definite action was taken along that line. Two day students will be elected to serve on the women's house committee to handle problems pertaining to day students. Elections will be supervised by chairman of women's house Carol Lowdermilk.

According to a report from Jim Pfitzinger and Fran Zimmerman, the post office in Totem Inn will become a sub-station Nov. 2, with hours from 9 to 11 a. m. and 1:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Prices for the operetta tickets were set at $.90 Friday and $1.10 Saturday. Tickets will be available to high school students for the Friday evening performance at $.50.

Russ Hill was appointed chairman of a committee with Bernie Petrusky to check with the administration on the possibility of buying rubbish collection units.

Concerning initiation, the Senate approved the program presented by chairman Howie Kerstetter. The group favored the elimination of any type of initiation in the dining hall.

A discussion was held on the improvement of relations between the town, high school and College. Suggestions will be referred to a committee to be appointed by president Bernie Petrusky.

The Senate then went on record as favoring a day off from classes provided we win the Susquehanna football game on Homecoming.

Dorms Offered Display Prizes

Rules for the Homecoming displays have been set up by the Juniatian committee sponsoring the activity. Ten dollars will be awarded to the winning displays; first prize is $7.50, second prize $2.50.

There will be four displays from the womens dorm, one from the Cloisters, and one from the Lodge. Drawings will be held to determine the location of these displays.

- Contestants must designate which group they represent.
- All displays must be erected by 9 a. m. Saturday, Oct. 31.
- The exhibits must all be taken down by 5 p. m. Sunday, Nov. 1.
- No more than five dollars may be spent on each display.
- Exhibits will be judged on the basis of originality and pertinancy to both football and Homecoming.

Sadie Hawkins Dance Will Feature Marrying Sam, Scragg Brothers

by Helen Schmidlen

Girls! Here's your last chance to ask that fellow you have been itching to date to the big Sadie Hawkins' Day dance in Memorial Gym tomorrow night.

Toss on your Sunday-Go-To-Meetin' clothes, limber up for a few good old hillbilly tunes, and make your date a corsage out of anything but flowers.

Put on your thinking cap and dream up some crazy original that will be sure to win you a prize, and elevate you in the opinion of your Li'l Abner.

Marrying Sam

On hand at the dance will be Sadie Hawkins' dearest friend, Marrying Sam, in the person of Bob Flory, to hitch up several unsuspecting couples. The marriage will be complete from marriage license to wedding ring (those things that cut off your circulation).

All you Sadie Hawkinses and your beau will be royally entertained, Dogpatch style that is, by the Scragg Brothers: Howie Kerstetter, Ernie Lashley, and Don Davis, plus Helen Rosengren and several others.

Kickapoo Juice

Fellows, if you're not in the mood when Marrying Sam asks that crucial question, there will be plenty of Kickapoo Juice available to raise your spirits and put you in the right frame of mind.

In addition to all this, there are secrets in store that will only be revealed to those who attend.

Yearbook Picture Schedule Set Up

The following schedule has been set up for the remaining Club pictures for the Alfarata.

The stomping ground is in front of big teepee with many white poles.

Big Chief Smaltz show pictures of Indian scalping party at Dickinson in Council Hall at 8:15.

Piano Playhouse Concert To Feature 4 Noted Soloists

On Wednesday, October 28, Maggie Fisher's Piano Playhouse, a regular ABC network show, will perform in Oller Hall. Under the auspices of the Huntingdon Community Concert Association, the Playhouse has planned a fine program for your listening enjoyment.

After the introductory remarks by Milton Cross, noted music commentator, Ferrante and Teicher, duo-pianists, will open the show with Warshaw's Cramer-iane and Variations on a Beethoven theme by Saint-Siens. Miss Grace Castagnetta will continue the program with Chopin's Spianata and the Grand Polonaise, opus 22 in E flat major and concert improvisations—an art for which she has achieved international eminence.

The three aforementioned keyboard artists will combine their talents on three pianos to entertain us with Bach's Concerto in C Major.

Will Include Jazz

Following a brief intermission, Miss Castagnetta will resume the program, playing The Goldfish by Debussy and Vienna Life by Strauss. Following this, the duo-pianists will return to play the ever popular Rhapsody in Blue by George Gershwin. Continuing in a lighter vein, Ken Clarke, one of our greatest living jazz pianists, will "tickle the ivories" with jazz from "Bach to Bop".

To wind up the program, improvisations will be played by a piano quartet. These unrehearsed variations on pop themes will be played individually and collectively on four pianos. Mr. Cross will intersperse the program with his commentaries.

Firelighting Plans Near Completion

Final plans for the traditional Fire-Lighting Ceremony have been made. The ceremony is to take place in the social rooms at 10 p. m. Sunday.

According to legend, it is said that Alfarata, an Indian princess, lit camp fires on the hill where our College now stands. At the Fire-Lighting Ceremony, fires are again lit to initiate the coming of fall and winter.

A women's double trio, consisting of Judy Gearhart, Jackie Hayes, Dorla Kinsey, Barbara Grim, Ann Beers, and Jeanne Blend will sing. Nan Heller will add to the atmosphere with the beating of a tom-tom. An original poem by Elizabeth Shoemaker will also be read.

Editorial Supplies Answer For Campus Issue

Tomorrow afternoon will mark the beginning step in a long range plan under the sponsorship of the Senate to promote better and more sincere relationships with the town of Huntingdon. Throughout the history of Juniata College there have been continual instances where misunderstandings have produced strained conditions between College Hill and the community as a whole. These things have been extremely regrettable and yet little was concretely done to promote better understanding. 'Heap big talk and little action' seems to summarize the real developments. Dreams of a Utopian settlement are always left in the realms of fantasy because the groups involved fail to take a realistic view of the problems that face them.

Our student Senate has taken it upon themselves to launch a program of firm but sincere action to correct these problems. At this time we will not take it upon ourselves to praise or condemn their actions as a whole but merely try to express the feelings that they have and the long-range program they are attempting to begin.

At the Juniata and Pennsylvania Military College game tomorrow afternoon, the Huntingdon High School band will perform at half-time intermission for the entertainment of the spectators. The situation was explained to us by the Senate in this manner:

(1) The advent of the high school band at College Field tomorrow was not done to show up our band or to imply that we felt that they are not good enough to perform at the games. If this had been the case certainly we would not have pushed to have them taken to the Dickinson game. Undoubtedly this was an indication of the pride we feel in our band and the musical talent included thereof.

(2) The main point was to find a starting point in betterment of relationship, and where could we find a more advantageous way than to invite the people who in all probability will sometime be the adult citizenship of Huntingdon. Opinions that they form early will hold and be an important point of influence as they grow older. In addition the parents and friends of the school musical organization will be pleased and, we hope, proud that their children were asked in all sincerity to perform at a college function.

(3) The third point in the plan ties in directly with the second for it is hoped that with the Huntingdon band actively participating in our activities, the parents and friends that we mentioned previously will feel more inclined to come and see the excellent football team that we are so proud of on College Hill. We all know that nothing can tie two bodies together more than mutual pride in something that they both feel is theirs. A football team at Juniata College is also a football team in Huntingdon, Pennsylvania and the entire population should have the feeling of pride in their accomplishments.

So in context the above is the underlying reasons that when you attend the football game tomorrow you will find in addition to our wonderful musical organization another group on hand to add spirit and zest to an afternoon that can provide victory number four for Huntiata and promote a relationship that can be just as close as the name we mentioned implies.

J. D. H.

The Things Around Us

by Jim Hunt

Another week of school rolls by and with it another victory is added to the impressive list of wins credited to the Juniata College Indians. However, with out a doubt this week was a little different; for some reason we hesitate to mention that very obvious difference. At first thought we sort of figured it would be a good idea to just forget about the whole issue and hope that we didn't get burnt but doing that would be evading the entire principle of having a paper on College Hill.

The activity down at Dickinson last Saturday morning (3:00 until 3:45 a. m. to be exact) is something that has caused a certain amount of repercussion and discussion here at JC. As a matter of fact it has produced situations that are not at all for the best interests of Juniata. Before we go any farther let me make it clear that we were among the 22 who made the early morning trip and we wish to say this not in a bragging tone or again in repentance but just to clarify the fact that we are going to try to bring forth the point of view of those involved and the feeling which we possess following the discussion this week.

The campus on College Hill this year is nearly fanatical with the tremendous amount of spirit that is found in the student body, the faculty and the administration. President Ellis himself said that he is "pleased and proud of the wonderful spirit that prevals this year for I have seen nothing to compare with this for eight years". He quickly went on however, in the private meeting with the guilty 22, to make clear the point that "he was very disappointed that we had carried our spirit off College Hill and down to Dickinson in a destructive manner."

Perhaps since this is all old news we should let our discussion wander to another point in this fracus, namely what will happen if a repetition of this incident were to occur in the future. He stated definitely and quite clearly that the college will not permit such goings on to happen at Juniata. Taking a slight bit of blame on himself he felt that perhaps the college was to blame for not stating clearly their position in the case before anything was allowed to happen. "This will not be the case in the future", he firmly announced and went on to inform the fellows that the group will be responsible for making restitution to Dickinson College when the Carlisle school forwards the bill for damages.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS — By BIBLER

Letter To Editor Humorously Reviews JC History Of Paint

DEAR EDITOR:

Since the semester began the popularity of painting has soared to an all time high. Perhaps Sherman-Williams will succeed in "covering the world". If not, at least three incidents will have provided a colorful year at JC.

The first, initiated by the administration and financed by the male populace, received disapproval from the students and, it's rumored, the faculty; but, negotiations with the Treasurer solved the problems of the Cloister. Next, the paint, a seemingly innocent product, was splashed to form the symbol of revolt: "57". This also was frowned upon by students and administration who suppressed the "misdirected spirit" and restored the traditional law and order. Following these two unsuccessful attempts to gain social recognition, the paint journeyed to Dickinson. This method of expression was approved by the students as evidenced by the spontaneous indoor pep rally. Once again the administration raised its opposition.

After these observations on Juniata's history of paint, the evident conclusion seems to be that no applicable universal principle has been established concerning its use. Furthermore, justification seems relative to each situation. Therefore, trial continues and error is committed in our experiments with paint.

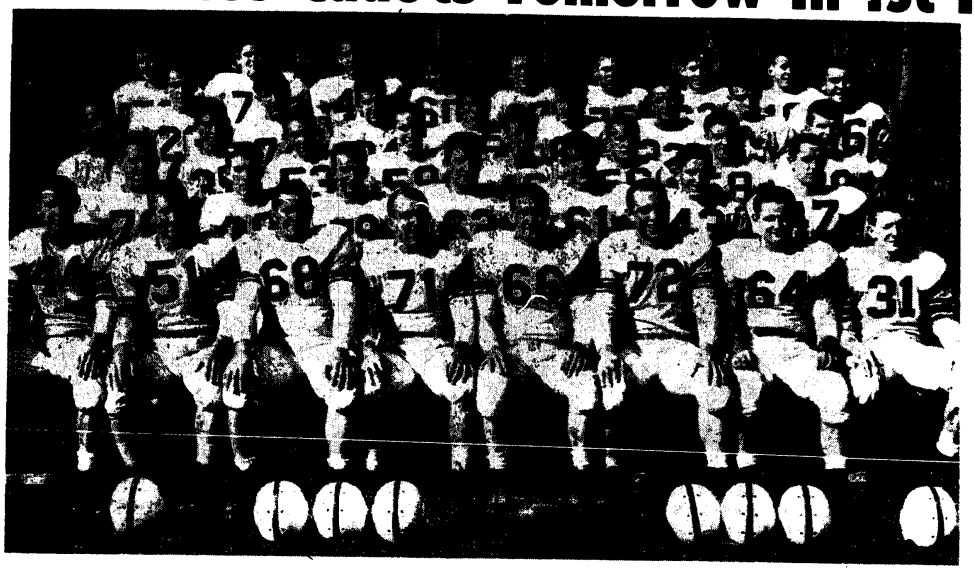
Tribe Faces Cadets Tomorrow In 1st Home Tilt



The 1953 edition of the Juniata College football team. The Indians will meet the Cadets of Pennsylvania Military College tomorrow on College Field in quest of their fourth straight victory.

Cadets Boast Big Line; Indians Play Initial Home Game

The undefeated Juniata Indians will open a four game home stand tomorrow when they entertain the Cadets of Pennsylvania Military College on College Field at 1:30 p. m. This will be the first meeting of the two squads since 1942.

A Juniata win would set two marks. Not only would a victory add the fourth straight scalp to the Tribe's collection, but it would also end a string of eight consecutive Cadet wins over the Indians against no losses. An added incentive to urge the Braves onward will be the fact that they will be playing before the home crowd for the first time this season.

Cadets Have 1-2 Slate

PMC opened their season with a 28-7 loss to a powerful West Chester STC team. In their next outing they faltered against a sharp second half passing attack to lose to Lebanon Valley 25-14, after leading 14-13 at halftime. Last Saturday the Cadets opposed the rugged Moravian College eleven, an early season Tribe victim, and pulled a 13-7 victory out of the fire in the last ten seconds on a short TD pass.

The 35 man squad of Coach George A. Hansell has already equaled its victory output of last year, when the team won only one game and lost six against some stiff competition. With 16 lettermen returning, all positions on the team are well covered and injury would not pose a real serious problem for the Soldiers.

Ziggy Leads Scoring

Six of the eleven backs are lettermen, lead by 5'11', 190 pound Tom Ziegenfuss who heads the PMC scoring parade, having scored one in each game. Other returnees in the backfield are Joe Ambrosino, Tony Fini, and co-captain Martin Stiles. Capable subs are 175 pound Rodger Cody and little 5-9, 150-pound scatback John Cook to help operate the hard running single-wing attack.

Hansell has a veteran line headed by 190-pound co-captain Rocco Palermo at center, while Bill Crouthers, Burton Ploner, and Don Riggens alternate at guard. The tackles include 200-pound Charlie Callahan, 6-5, 215 pound John Klotz, and 190 pound Alex Woschenko, with the end position having 6-2 John Udovitch and 6-1 Joe Hearn. This will be the biggest line the Tribe has faced all season.

Tribe Scores 28 Points In 2nd Quarter; Roll Over Dickinson 43-13 For 3rd Win

As the traditional refrain goes, Saturday was "Juniata's Day" as Big Chief Smaltz's frisky braves shattered the idea that they are a strong defensive club but weak offensively by overwhelming a fighting, but under-manned Dickinson by a 43-13 count. The Indians passed and ran their way to five first-half touchdowns, converted on all five, and held a 35-7 lead as the whistle blew signifying the intermission; the second half was anticlimatic as the outcome was no longer in doubt, and the Red Devils were fighting merely to keep the score from mounting any higher and save what "face" they could. Meanwhile, Coach Smaltz was giving his entire squad the opportunity to see action as a tuneup for this week's home opener with PMC.

The Indians wasted no time in striking paydirt; with the game but five and one-half minutes old, Joe Trimber took Don Pheasant's aerial at midfield and with the aid of a fine block by Bill Yerzyk broke into the clear, and galloped the rest of the way untouched. Joe Veto converted his first of four extra points.

The blue and gold machine sputtered momentarily, and at the end of the first quarter the score remained 7-0. As the second quarter opened, the Indians were back in high gear again, and taking to the air struck quickly by way of Pat Tarquinio's pass to Keith Birmingham who had eluded the Red Devil secondary. The big Indian end gathered in the pigskin on the 15 yard stripe and went the rest of the way for the score.

Tarquinio's Sets Up TD

After muffing an opportunity to score again when Tarquinio recovered a Dickinson fumble on the ensuing kickoff on the Red and Whites' 19 yard line, the Indians received another break when the alert "Tarq" intercepted a pass on the first play from scrimmage on the Red Devils' 21 yard marker. The Juniatians were not to be denied, and had their third TD in three plays with Tarquinio's nine yard off tackle stant culminating the short drive.

Dickinson fumbled Joe Veto's kickoff, and this time Barry Drexler recovered for the Tribe on the Dickinson 21. The following series set up what was probably the outstanding offensive maneuver of the day. Tarquinio passed to Drexler for a first down on the five, but the attack stalled until fourth down. At this point, the Indian bench threw out the tee for what appeared to be a field goal attempt by Joe Veto with Tarquinio holding. Instead of putting the ball on the ground, however, Tarquinio took the snapback while raising himself from a kneeling position and passed to Buddy Douds who had slipped unnoticed behind the Dickinson secondary into the end zone, to give the Indians a 28-0 lead.

It was at this point that Dickinson finally made its presence felt. Aided by a pass interference penalty, which gave them a first down on the JC one yard line, the Red Devils scored with Gordon Haney cracking through the JC forward wall. Andy Comisky's conversion was good, and the score was 28-7.

95 Yard Runback Scores

Juniata added their final points for the first half when Joe Trimber (that man again) hauled in the Dickinson kickoff and with the help of some fine down field blocking initiated by Pheasant's pasting of the first Dickinson man with a chance at Trimber, ran ninety-five yards for the touchdown that put the crusher on even the most die-hard Red Devil supporter. Keith Birmingham converted and the score stood 35-7 at the half.

The Tribe's other score came on the first play of the final quarter with Tarquinio fighting his way over from the one. The Red Devils answered back with two pass plays which resulted in the final touchdown of the game to make the score 41-13.

With one and a half minutes left in the game, Kissil fumbled deep in his own territory and the ball was recovered by a Red Devil player in the end zone for a safety, giving Juniata a final 43-13 margin.

Play Day Big Success; State & Juniata Tie

Last Saturday, Juniata College was the scene of one of the most successful women's athletic events in recent years. The WAA was the sponsor of the Hockey Sports Day which brought teams from Bucknell, Lycoming and Penn State to compete with Juniata.

The outcome of the games was balanced between three schools—Juniata, Bucknell and Penn State, each registering two victories and one defeat, while Juniata and Penn State battled to a scoreless tie. Lycoming was on the losing end all afternoon.

Chairmen Named; Plans Set For All-Class Night

A committee consisting of Lolita Carfora, chairman of general activities, Betty Shearer, chairman of All-Class Night, Allegra Forney, Naomi Kulp, Fran Zimmerman, and Remle Grove met and discussed the judging problem of All-Class Night. The source of the difficulty of judging the plays seemed to be the great variations between skits.

The four categories of historic, musical, drama, and comedy were selected. All the skits for one year will be of one category. Each class will have a chance at each one of the four, however, since the categories are to be used on a rotation system. Suitable rules will be set up each year until a pattern is set.

This plan was accepted by the Leadership Conference personnel October 18 and made official by the Senate the same day.

History

The historical category has been adopted for this year. History is not confined to civil history but legendary, biblical and mythical history are acceptable. The skit must be based on factual incidents or figures in history.

The much-changed point system has been eliminated, and the judges will now be given criteria for judging. The judges will include three fairly recent alumni, one visiting judge from a neighboring college, and one member of our own faculty.

Chairmen Selected

Fritz Blechschmidt, a pre-med major from Cressona, Pa., was chosen as the senior All-Class Night chairman. The junior class selected Pat Henry, a sociology major from Philadelphia, Pa., as their representative. Nan Heller, an elementary education major from Hollidaysburg, Pa., will head the sophomore All-Class Night committee.

Faculty Members To Hold Series Of Book Discussions

A group of faculty members are arranging a series of four discussions on books which, for various reasons, they consider interesting or valuable.

The reading group is not formally organized and membership is voluntary. Any faculty member who wishes to join the group should see Dean Mays. The only requirements for membership are that everyone must read the book and participate in the discussion.

The first discussion will be centered about the book, The Courage To Be, by Paul Tillich. Two Greek plays will constitute the material for the second discussion. They are Lysistrate by Aristophanes and Oedipus Rex by Sophocles. The poems of Dylan Thomas and Karl Heim's Christian Faith and Natural Science have been chosen tentatively for the other two discussions.

Columnist Lists Qualifications Used In Candidate Selections

Before the start of the annual Homecoming game scheduled for Saturday, the 31st of October, the ceremony of the coronation of Juniata's Homecoming Queen will be staged before hundreds of Juniata Alumni and students. At this time the results of the election to be held next Monday will disclose the student's choice of their 'typical' co-ed.

To us the word 'typical' covered a multitude of meanings so we thought it might be of some solace to the voters if we sort of explained at length the meaning of the word as used in consideration of the candidates.

The Factors

First of all the factors in the selection of the aspirants was the combination of personality and disposition. Many times this question was asked, "Is she usually cheerful and does she have a ready smile?" This was considered important because friendliness and a hearty welcome are underlying themes of Homecoming Weekend, with many "old grads" returning to live again for a day their college memories.

The second, but by no means most important factor, was that of personal attractiveness. This was based more on an impression of neatness and good taste than on physical perfection for it was thought that mere beauty was meaningless unless complemented by the good sense of the candidate.

The Juniata Ideal

The third factor was that of participation in college activities to some degree. Miss Homecoming is actually the personification of the Juniata ideal: the girl who is active in extra-curricular activities as well as those scholarly.

Editor's note—This column was written last year by Jack Freymuller but it covers a pertinent subject so thoroughly that we felt it would be valuable to use again this year previous to the Miss Homecoming election.

Miss Nancy McCahan who will reign at tomorrows Homecoming Day activities as Miss Homecoming VII.

Music Majors Hold Annual Group Dinner

The annual Music Major's Banquet was held Friday evening, October 23, at the Helfrick's in Big Valley.

Approximately 35 students attended, along with the music faculty. After a delicious meal of chicken and waffles, everyone participated in a program of group singing and charades.

Homecoming Weekend To Feature Half-Time Program, Show, Dance

The 1953 Homecoming will begin this evening with a pep rally sponsored by the sophomore class. The real excitement starts tomorrow morning when the old grads and friends begin to swarm onto the campus.

The first activity of the day will be the freshman-sophomore girl's hockey game at 9:45 which will be followed by the touch-football game and tug-of-war between the freshman and sophomore men. If the frosh win two out of these three events, they may discard their dinks, socks, bow ties, and namecards. If the sophomores win the majority of the events, the frosh must continue wearing their regulations for an additional period. Ben Newcomer, chairman of underclassmen, is in charge of these games.

Open House

There will be open house in all dorms from 10-12 a. m. and from after the afternoon's football game until 5 p. m.

Luncheon will be served in the college dining hall at 12 o'clock.

Kick-off for the Homecoming football game between the Juniata Indians and the Susquehanna Crusaders will be at 1:30 p. m.

Half-Time Ceremonies

A program has been planned for half-time. First, the freshmen will give an Indian dance. This will be followed by the ride of Miss Homecoming VII, her attendents, and Miss Homecoming VI around the football field. Miss Homecoming VII will be crowned by last year's Homecoming queen, Peggy Brumbaugh. She will be brought back to the stands to view the rest of the program. The JC band will march. A dedication of the Susquehanna-Juniata Trophy will be held before the game.

Post Game

A post game get-together for alumni, students, and friends is to be in Totem Inn.

A Variety Show will be given at 8:15 in Oller Hall tomorrow evening (see article elsewhere).

The J Club Frolic will be held in the Memorial Gymnasium at 8:15 p. m.

JC Alumni Council To Discuss Ways Of Getting Funds

The annual Homecoming meeting of the Juniata College Alumni Council will be held this Saturday at 9:45 a. m. in the Carnegie Library.

Plans will be formulated for the switch from the central alumni office mailing system for soliciting contributions for the Alumni Fund to a class agent system. This new set-up will mean that representatives from each of the various classes will solicit their own class mates. However, the alumni office will assist the class fund agents in the mimeographing and mailing of alumni fund letters.

According to Harold B. Brumbaugh '33, alumni secretary, "the most successful college alumni funds have been operating by a class agent system—for example, Dartmouth, which has a record of 66% of the alumni contributing. Juniata is high in average gift, but not in percent of participating alumni." Mr. Brumbaugh believes that "this technique will probably increase the number of givers."

LeRoy S. Maxwell '36, Waynesboro, president of the National Alumni Association, will preside at the meeting. Officers of the alumni association, the executive committee, class representatives, class fund agents, and local alumni association presidents and secretaries will be present at the meeting.

Crowning Set For Tomorrow; Attendants Are Croft, Mullan

Nancy McCahan will reign over the weekend activities as Miss Homecoming VII. Approximately 77 percent of the eligible voters, 447 students, went to the polls Monday to cast their votes for the typical JC coed. Runners-up in the election were Donna Croft and Joyce Mullan, who will serve as attendants to the Homecoming queen. (See story page 6).

In her official capacity, Queen McCahan will preside over the various campus events tomorrow.

The coronation is scheduled for halftime during the Juniata-Susquehanna game, at which time Miss Homecoming will be presented to the student body, alumni and visitors. Last year's queen Peggy Brumbaugh will crown her royal highness.

She will be the featured guest at the J Club dance tomorrow evening (see story elsewhere) when she will receive a gift from the J Club and Juniatian.

Miss McCahan is the second member of her class to wear the royal crown. A senior sociology major from Chester, she is captain of the cheerleaders, secretary-treasurer of the Sigma Gamma, a member of the WAA and is active in intramural sports.

Chapel Plans List Guest Speaker Mon.

Dean Morley Mays has released the schedule of chapel speakers for this coming week. The Reverend David J. Heim of the Baptist Church in Huntingdon will speak on Monday. President Calvert N. Ellis will be in charge Wednesday. Friday, Dr. Tobias F. Henry will be the speaker.

Locations Chosen For Displays; Themes Set

Saturday will be a big day on Juniata's campus. Among the Homecoming activities there will be a judging of the various dormitory displays.

With a theme of 'What's New on Campus', the Brumbaugh display will be located outside of the women's gym. First Brumbaugh and Onieda Hall, with a combination of football and Indians, will locate their display in front of Science Hall.

Going together with the Annex, Founders Hall will use its theme, From Old Founders to New. This display will be located outside the old chapel. Combining Hallowe'en and Homecoming, the NJ House will place its display at the House. The Geiger House and Home Management House display will be on the campus near the Bell Tower.

The boys' dormitories will also have displays. Locating its display in front of the building, the Cloisters is using an Indian theme, while the Lodge display may be seen in front of Oller Hall.

Schedule Listed For Homecoming Day

Jordan Student Reveals Impressions Of U.S., JC

by Mary Ann Bailey

The background of Paul Amash, freshman, is a little different from most students here at Juniata. He was born in Jerusalem and has lived in Jordon all his life. He attended a school financed by the Quakers, from whom he heard about Juniata.

In traveling to the United States, he visited Egypt, Lebanon, Syria, Greece, Italy, France, Ireland, Greenland, Canada, and now the United States. Paul has a speaking knowledge of Arabic, Spanish, French, and English. The reason for this fluency probably stems from the fact that in school last year he was taking nine subjects, attending school from 8 a. m. until four p. m. with one hour off for lunch.

When asked what he thought of the country and Juniata in particular, Paul replied that the transition had been pretty easy for him and he attributes this fact to the spirit of cooperation and friendliness at Juniata.

One idea about the United States which Paul has found not quite true is that, due to the United States being an industrial country, the people should always be busy and rushing about. He finds that most of us take life pretty easily. As far as American jazz is concerned, Paul says that his "stomach won't digest it yet." American women? They are the same as far as he can tell, as in Jordon, except that here they wear pants and lipstick. In Arabia they are more respected and are not given as much responsibility as in the United States.

Paul plans to major in languages at Juniata and to stay in the country at least four years and then work towards a degree. He is interested in becoming friends with the Americans and learning our way of life, with the provision that he can always remain himself.

BEAT SUSQUEHANNA

From The Editor's Notes

Dining room conduct has long been considered as a major problem on campus. During the past year, it has reached such proportions that, if, we, the students, cannot correct the situation, adequate and forceful steps will be taken by the faculty and administration to eliminate unseemingly actions.

First on the list of complaints against students is the noise during grace and announcements. A period for silent or audible grace is allowed before meals in most institutions, regardless of whether or not they are church-affiliated. Surely a few moments of silence each day is not too much to ask of students who are some day expected to become leaders in society. Talking, moving of chairs and passing of food are inexcusable during the prayer, and those guilty of this offense are giving testimony to their juvenile status and distorted sense of values. Concerning announcements, the dining hall is the only place outside of chapel, to reach the majority of students with the important events of the day.

Second, weekend slips must be filled out accurately. Too many students check each meal regardless of whether or not they will eat in the dining room. The purpose of these slips is to help Miss Mathias and her staff prepare the right amount of food without having great quantities left over. The evening of the Dickinson game, 14 tables were set up and unused, simply because of carelessness in marking these slips. Although some of that food went to other tables, most of it was sent back to the kitchen to be used at another time. None of us find reheated food particularly appetizing; yet it cannot be wasted in such large amounts. The intentional inaccurate marking of weekend table slips seldom provides more food for those few who are guilty; instead it provides left overs and reheated foods for all of us.

Third, being a table head is a position of responsibility. Table heads are expected to set good examples and to determine conduct at their tables. Passing out milk and bread before sitting down, dishing out meat and talking during grace should not be carried on nor permitted by any table head. Those who allow these and similar actions are not capable of accepting responsibility and should not continue in the official capacity of a table head.

Fourth is the matter of theft. It is unfortunate that a portion of the student body can be accused of this; but silverware, dishes and glasses are continually disappearing from the dining hall. Each fall and each spring an inventory is taken. Whatever is missing from the dining room is charged, not to the administration, but to the waitresses, who must each year pay for items which are lifted by their classmates. One glass might not seem much to the guilty party, but suppose each of the 494 resident students felt that way? It is decidely unfair that the waitresses are forced to pay for careless, irresponsible students.

All four criticisms can be blamed directly on the students and can be remedied by them. Will we leave it to the administration or can we correct these situations ourselves?

Fisher Announces New Inn Ticket Service

Mr. Robert Fisher, manager of Totem-Inn has announced a new plan for operations to take effect today immediately after chapel. He states that five and ten cent tickets will be sold at each entrance of the Inn and then they will be used in the place of currency at the Snack Bar.

This new plan will be used to offset the large amount of business that is anticipated for Homecoming Day, tomorrow. Mr. Fisher explains that the plan is being put into effect on Friday in order to familiarize the student body with the set up.

OTHER BOOKS

Lindberg, C. A.—The Spirit of St. Louis. An autobiographical narrative of the planning and execution of the first non-stop airplane passage between the continents of Europe and America, concluding with an hour-by-hour account of that momentous, desperate, triumphant, first flight over trackless water.

Seroff, V. I.—Maurice Ravel. A biography of the French composer which extends to his contemporaries. Ravel himself was one of the central and controversial figures of the Parisian world of music, often unfortunately compared with Debussy as his imitator.

Wiener, Norbert— Ex-prodigy. The author (whose wife was once a member of the Juniata College faculty) is nationally known as one of our leading scientists. This is the story of his childhood and his youth. At age 11 he entered Tufts College as a freshman; at 14 he entered Harvard as a graduate student; and at 18 lectured at Harvard.

Collegiate Editors Report On Sights In Moscow Visit

Just recently three American college students had an opportunity to take a visit behind the Iron Curtain and their report found in a recent issue of Time Magazine is one that gives an excellent view of Moscow through collegiate eyes.

The three, Daniel Berger, 21 (Oberlien), Mark Edmund, 25 (University of Colorado), and Zander Hollander, 22 (University of Michigan) payed their own way and got a $19-a-day Intourist tour of Moscow, Kiev and Leningrad. They report that they were permitted to take pictures of everything except factories, military installations and national shrines.

Among the impressions that they expressed were: TV screens are tiny but programs excellent, youth paper have luxurious offices but sound "as if written by the Dean," students are friendly but primed to criticize the U. S., girls are "sweet, naive and not sexy," children often seen with nurses in parks are well cared for. Editor Berger said: "The best-dressed Russians are under ten years old."

The Things Around Us

by Jim Hunt

We would like to make the suggestion that somebody write a book entitled 'Life at Juniata College' for we have a feeling that it would end up being a best seller. It seems that the book markets are flooded with stuff about suspicion, character assassination, suspense, murder, sex, under table dealings, intrigue, people who are unable to trust each other and therefore have to be willing to cut each others throats and various other topics which are just about as juicy.

Cut out the section of sex and murder and every one of them could be used to describe Juniata, or at least it is beginning to appear that way. Personally we are getting sick of this constant struggle and attempts to get back at one another. Even though we have been at numerous times involved in such happenings, some times in self defense and others on the initiative, it has got to a point where it is becoming down right disgusting.

It is the part of a newspaper columnist to devulge to the readers material of interest that he receives and feels would be of interest to them. Admittedly this column has been filled with this type of material throughout the year and there just should not be the amount available at such a small college as JC. There have been times when we could have come through with some stuff that would probably have resulted in one less sophomore on Juniata's campus but discretion prevented it from being published.

There were times last year when it was almost impossible to find anything that was of reader interest to write about on College Hill so we turned to national news but this year there certainly has not been a lack of such material. This week for instance the outstanding point of discussion (and we really are using that word literally) is freshman initiation. We doubt if there is one person on College Hill who hasn't heard some crack about the initiation program; but from which point of view did they get their information.

There are for example six different views and stories floating around. President Ellis, the administration, the Student Senate, the faculty, the sophomore class (which in itself is split in numerous ways) and the freshmen class all have conflicting or shall we say politely differing opinions on the matter. That is the way it has been all year long and its about time we get together and do something as a united group. About the only thing we have in common on this campus is a feeling of pride towards the football team, and we even doubt some people on this aspect.

Perhaps this is the expected reaction on a college campus but we doubt that very much for sooner or later we will have to come to a united understanding or things will become so confused and disgusting that the whole works will blow up in our faces.

Leadership Conference II Revie ws Recommendations, Hears Reports

The second meeting of the Leadership Conference personnel was held Sunday, Oct. 18 in Oller Hall to review the actions taken on recommendations made at Camp Kanesatake.

Dean James Penney reported on the proposal to initiate a faculty advisory system for freshmen, giving the reasons why this plan was not accepted by the faculty.

In connection with the recommendation that men day students be represented on the men's house committee, chairman Abe Finton reported that John Cook and Dick Corbin had been elected in this capacity.

All-Class Night

The new plan for All-Class Night—that of alternating each year with history, drama, music and comedy—was presented by the chairman of general activities Lolita Carfora and received approval from the entire group. The Senate then took official action to accept the proposed plan and regulations.

A report on the formation of a student publications committee was given by publications chairman Jeanie Tait. The committee has been formed to determine advertising policy for all campus publications and has received official approval from President Calvert N. Ellis.

Intramural Wrestling

Joe Hinish, chairman of athletics, reported on the progress of the ice skating pond and intramural wrestling. Coach Bill Smaltz is aiding in setting up the intramural program and is investigating the possibility of buying mats.

The group went on record as suporting the use of the loudspeaker in chapel programs.

This is the first year that the Leadership Conference group has had repeat meetings after the weekend at Camp Kanesatake. Two additional meetings will be held throughout the school year.

The Juniatian

Entered as second class matter at the Huntingdon, Pa., post office, this is an independent undergraduate newspaper published weekly throughout the College year except during vacation and examination periods by the Students of Juniata College.

The Juniatian is serviced by Associated Collegiate Press and is represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service.

3. Request for whirl-pool bath for treatment of athletic injuries.

Letter From Student President At Susquehanna Praises Trophy

Student Senate President Bernie Petrusky received a letter this past week which we feel should be of interest to the student body. The goal post incident has for the past year been a touchy situation and we feel sure that the attitude that is expressed in this letter should be perpetuated.

President, Juniata College Senate
Juniata College
Huntingdon, Pennsylvania

Dear Friend:

I received your letter this morning concerning last year's goal post incident and the trophy that has come into being as a result of that incident. It certainly was a fine idea of creating such a trophy as a symbol of the fine rivalry between our two schools.

We will be looking to the first occasion for the winning of this trophy on Oct. 31. Your pre-game ceremony sounds very fitting. We will be happy to have a representative of our Men's Student Council present at the ceremony to make some fitting remarks. I will personally see to it that the school paper will publicize the proposed plan for promoting a spirit of friendly rivalry between our schools.

On behalf of the Student Council, the student body, and the University I want to extend our thanks to those persons at Juniata who were responsible for this gesture of good sportmanship.

Sincerely yours,
Reuben Henry
Pres., Men's Student Council

Juniatian Begun 29 Years Ago By Student Petition

The Juniatian celebrates its 29th anniversary this week.

Begun in 1924 as a result of a student petition for a weekly paper, the Juniatian was a continuation of the "Juniata Echo", a monthly paper which had existed since 1891.

Its aims, as listed by the first editor Stanley Stroup, were as follows: 1—to mold student opinion, 2—to report campus events, 3—to portray student opinion, and 4—to cement the relationship between students and alumni.

From the period 1926 to 1934, the paper was a six column one, several inches longer than the present issue. The back page was devoted entirely to alumni news while each issue contained a column of personals and a Lyceum Club column.

In 1934 the Juniatian became a member of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association.

A glance over back issues shows that Miller's Hardware has been a steady advertiser since the inauguration of the paper.

In 1932 editor, Dean Morley Mays, reports that each issue, before being printed, had to receive a nod of approval from the president, then Charles C. Ellis. Harold Brumbaugh, assistant to the president, served as business manager in 1933.

Drapes Found In TV Lounge Section Of Totem-Inn Made, Donated Through Work Of Lambda Gamma

The picture shows Lambda Gamma president, Urania Belle Linn and the club vice-president Mikey Mick as they look over the curtain their club made and donated to Totem-Inn.

Early last spring initial action was launched for procurement of drapes for the Totem-Inn and two weeks ago they were placed in the Inn with absolutely no cost to the residents of College Hill.

Mr. John Fike took the first step by traveling to Altoona as plans for the Student Center were pushed into operation last spring and procured samples of material. Miss Fisher, Mrs. Ellis and Mr. Fike then proceeded to work out the color schemes best suited for the Center and after making a selection they contacted the dealer for delivery only to find that the pattern that they had picked was now out of stock.

The trio now more than ever convinced of the value of their choice had the dealer make direct factory contacts. It is at this point that the Lambda Gamma volunteered to buy the material and to do the actual work connected with completion of the drapes.

Under the direction of club president Urania Bell Linn the group made the necessary arrangements. This fall the advanced clothing class of junior girls brought the project to a successful conclusion as is evidenced by the drapes now hanging in the lounge section of the Totem-Inn.

Miss Linn reports that the club will conduct a fund raising project sometime during the year to pay for the costs of the project.

JC Band Is An Activity Explains Prof. Jack Brammer

by Nan Heller

Simplicity and quality are the key words to Professor Jack Brammers's JC pep band. Although studies reign on the Juniata campus, there is always a band present when it is needed.

Professor Brammer explains the reasons why we do not have more elaborate displays and marching tactics as follows; first we must realize that the larger colleges have as many interested in the band as we have members of the entire student body. They have conservatories and a compulsory band course while here band is an activity. At our college the band membership is on a voluntary basis and those who participate are doing so for their own enjoyment and musical experience.

Secondly, since scholarship is of first importance at JC the students can afford to spare time for only three practices weekly. Professor Brammer uses State's band as an example. Daily practices of two hours and three evenings a week are spent rehearsing the Penn State marches. Studies precede football, band and all other extra-curricular activities at our school and the time spent perhaps in your high school musical group is used as study time in college.

The last reason for our lack of showiness is perhaps the best. This is that we do not have a need for a demonstrative band.

Band director Brammer says the band's role on our campus is that of a pep band. He says the band has more pep this year than he has witnessed in previous years, and therefore it fulfills its need.

At football games and pep rallies their duty is to spur enthusiasm which, it has been obvious to all, they most certainly do. Formations at half time are impossible due to our shortage of uniforms and would be almost entirely in vain due to the poor visibility from the grandstands. When Brammer's band does perform you will notice they usually form block letters and the like, because of the disadvantage.

Homecoming and Parents Day will find the band in on the activities. Another occurrence in the band's future will be a chapel appearance. Lets realize the sad disadvantages under which our band operates and then survey the performances they present. When we are boasting of our newly acquired pep, lets acknowledge the band's share of the glory.

JC Holds Slight Edge On Majority Of Football Foes

Juniata College holds a slight edge over four opponents among the seven which it faces in football this season. The Indians now hold a 5-3 margin on Haverford; 5-4 on Moravian; 5-2 on Grove City, and 3-2 on Ursinus. They trail Susquehanna 9-10 with two games tied, Dickinson 4-6 and registered their first win over PMC last week to make the series stand at 1-8.

In The Clubs

by Joy Hardesty

The CAMERA CLUB will hold a brief business meeting Thursday, November 5. At the meeting, which will be held at 7:00 p. m. in Room B, plans for the future will be discussed.

The Reading Committee will be in charge of the MASQUE, when it meets Thursday. According to president Wilford Norris, selections from various plays will be read.

The PYRENEES CLUB will meet in the Women's Day Student Room at 7:15 Friday night. After a short business discussion, an up-to-date newsreel will be shown. The movie will be in Spanish.

Members of the IVCF will continue their study of the First Epistle of John at 7:15 p. m. Friday night in Founder's Chapel.

At 7:15, Thursday night, the WAA will hold a business meeting in the WAA room. The Hockey Sports Day will be discussed, and Miss Cochran will present the awards from last year.

Running The Gauntlet

by Fritz Heydrick

Some of the most feared powers of the gridiron toppled from the unbeaten ranks on Saturday... Michigan State, Georgia Tech, Navy... but the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame still roll down the undefeated road. The Irish have scored four successive wins and racked up 115 points to their opponents 56. Right behind Notre Dame comes our own Juniata Indians with an identical won and loss mark, however, the Indians have only scored 114 points but have allowed only 39 counters to be marked against them. Of course if The Irish end up with a perfect record of 10-0 they shall have an edge of three games over a similar Brave team, but Notre Dame has already stated that they will not accept any bowl bids while the possibility that Juniata may be invited to take part in a New Years Day clash could be food for thought!

* * * * *

Speaking of undefeated teams, a small Southern team, Florida A. & M. has been the victor in five games so far this season, and has scored a grand total of 194 points. The most unusual thing about this situation is the fact that not one of their opponents has been able to push across a TD or score in any form. Not a bad record in any man's book!

* * * * *

Last Saturday's PMC contest produced a wierd scoring play that still has the fans talking. It seems on the third play in the second quarter, the Indian ends came charging through the PMC defense to throw back John Cook for what appeared to be a sure loss. However, Cook managed to hurriedly toss the ball toward the line where a Juniata man accurately batted the ball back toward the astonished backfield. Barry Drexler, who was the fifth man in the Soldiers backfield all day, snagged the elusive oval right beside the befuddled Cook, and took off for the end zone like a frightened rabbit. Joe (The Toe) Veto split the uprights for the first of his five points of the day to give the Indians a lead which they never lost.

Tomorrow's Homecoming tussle with Susquehanna should really produce some razzle-dazzle football, since the Crusaders are known for this style of play. Although they bring to College Hill a very unimpressive record of no wins and four defeats, all records may be thrown out the window once the actual game gets under way. Of course besides this great rivalry on the gridiron, the color and tradition of Homecoming will unfold before the game and at half time. The main highlight will be the appearance and the crowning of Miss Homecoming VII at half time ceremonies. Not to be forgotten, the Frosh will lend their bit to the color with traditional Homecoming garb bedecked with Blue and Gold streamers. Pre-game ceremonies call for a switch when the Indians will run a gauntlet composed of the members of the Class of '57. (In the olden days the Indians forced their captives to run a gauntlet as a form of torture.) No torture will be involved tomorrow, but rather in its place it is hoped there will be the spirit and inspiration which is needed for another Juniata victory.

* * * * *

One of Pennsylvania's better small college backs will perform for the Juniata fans come November 14. Ace of this year's Ursinus team is Dick Glock, a hard runing 170-pound half back who very well could rate Little All-America consideration. He has several long runs to his credit this year and is a difficult man to knock down on running plays. Glock, of Maywood, N. J., also is second in the Philadelphia area scoring with 41 points, which is also good enough for fourth place in the leading scorers of small colleges in Pennsylvania. Prender of West Chester STC leads the way with a total of 43 points.

Here we go again this week, sticking our neck out on ten predictions of interest to Indian fans. So far this column hasn't done bad for itself. Out of twenty games prognosticated, we've hit 14 and missed 6 for an even .700 average. This week we have an added advantage as that famous football forcasting geni Derf Yeh has consented to help us select the winners, so here goes.

JUNIATA 27, SUSQUEHANNA 7; The Crusaders will be up for this one... but won't be able to stop the hard hitting Smaltzmen.

W. Maryland 7, PMC 6; Yeh had to use his magic coin on this one!

Albright 21, MORAVIAN 7; Albright should be able to stop the Greyhound attack.

Drexel 14, DICKINSON 7; The Red Devils still haven't recovered from Juniata... even after two weeks' rest.

GROVE CITY 20, Theil 14; purely an upset difference.

URSINUS 27, Wagner 13; Glock should spell the difference.

Notre Dame 28, Navy 7; Navy's good but the Irish are better.

W. Virginia 28, Penn State 21; the Mountaineers look good, State is up and down, should be a good game.

Maryland 40, South Carolina 6; no competition.

Michigan 27, Penn 20; the Quakers got their big win last week.

* * * * *

Barring a radical change in individual performance because of the two-platoon system, small college leaders in individual grid performance should do even better this year than last. Only four individual champions of 1952 graduated in the spring.

An outstanding gridder back on the football scene is Wes Bair of Illinois State Normal who won the passing championship as a sophomore with 135 completions. Jim Ladd of Bowling Green returns seeking to better his record of being on the scoring end of 11 touchdown passes.

In addition, eight of nine rushing leaders and three of the nation's first five punters are back on the scene. Leading the ball carriers is a trio composed of Jules Deroued of McNeese State, Richie Woit of Arkansas State and Leo Lewis of Lincoln Missouri, each of whom carried for 1200 yards. Three punters are tied with an average of 41 yards per boot in 1952. All are seeing action this season.

Indians Lose; Swarthmore Is Tourney Champ

Last Thursday four members of the Juniata varsity tennis team represented the college in the Middle Atlantic tennis tournament. It was the first time in several years that Juniata attended the tournament. Paul Gingrich and Richard Fusco competed in the singles matches, while Ray Pfrogner and Dan Raffensperger played as a doubles team.

Although the Juniata contestants were eliminated in the first round, they gave each of their opponents a sharp battle before being eliminated from the tourney.

Gingrich had the misfortune to draw top seeded Bob Coss for his first opponent and while playing good tennis, he found Coss to strong for him and was beaten 6-1, 6-0. Fusco was defeated by a Moravian man 7-5, 6-4, and the doubles team lost to a Washington College team 7-5, 6-4.

Ten colleges from the middle Atlantic states were entered in the tournament. They were: Juniata, Albright, Moravian, Swarthmore, Muhlenberg, Ursinus, Washington, Franklin and Marshall, Lehigh and Bucknell. Swarthmore came out on top in the team score and Coss, also a Swarthmore man, pulled top honors as individual singles champion.

Traditional Interclass Games Highlight Initiation Events

Highlighting the traditional Homecoming activities tomorrow will be the climax of Freshman Initiation, when the class of '57 attempts to prove its mettle by conquering the Sophomores in two out of three events to be held beginning at 9:45 at Sherwood Forest.

Regulations May Go

A women's hockey match, a touch football game, and a tug of war will be held between representatives of the two classes. Should the frosh win two out of the three events freshman regulations will be lifted as scheduled, while if the sophomores win, the freshmen will be required to wear their dinks for another week.

In the girls hockey league the freshmen now sport a 3-1 record, while the sophomores have not won in four starts. A scrimmage between the juniors and freshmen in touch football lasted for three minutes, at which time the juniors led 13-0.

Frosh Lose Last Year

The Class of 1955 last year defeated the frosh in football and the tug of war, while as freshmen the 55's defeated the class of 1954 in the same two events to win freedom from freshman regulations.

As freshmen, the class of 1954 managed to win only the hockey match, dropping the tug of war and the football game to last year's graduating seniors.

Crusaders Carry One Game Edge Into Annual Tilt

Tomorrow's meeting between the Tribe and the Crusaders of Susquehanna University will be the twenty second encounter between the two teams. The Crusaders will have a slight edge in the all time record with ten wins against the Indians nine. Two ended in scoreless ties.

The Crusaders have been on the Juniata schedule since 1923 except for a six year lapse during the thirties, and during the war when neither school fielded a squad.

Below is the season by season record for the entire series.

Year	JC	SU
1923	0	5
1924	0	10
1925	0	0
1926	0	14

Indians Win Over PMC; Seek Five In Row

Braves Topple PMC In Second Quarter Splurge

by Bob Gottlieb

The Indians of Chief Bill Smaltz broke the Pennsylvania Military College jinx in fine style last Saturday afternoon to the tune of 24-7. Before a near capacity audience the Blue and Gold recorded their first win over the Chester eleven since the series was inaugurated in 1923. This was, incidentally, the same year in which the Tribe began their series with Susquehanna, tomorrow's opponents. PMC had previously taken eight in a row without an Indian win.

Outweighed by almost 14 pounds per man, the JC forward wall nevertheless stole the show from the heralded PMC line. The hard charging white shirted Warriors constantly harried PMC quarterback Jody Ambrosino with the result that three of his tosses were intercepted and his attempt-completion log showed a dismal two out of 14.

PMC Fumbles On JC 30

While throughout most of the first quarter PMC was bottled up in its own territory, the waning minutes of the period found PMC on the Juniata 30 yard line. PMC then fumbled and Ed Svitil recoered for the Tribe. After gaining a first down through the efforts of elusive Joe Trimber and piston kneed John Winterstein the JC attack faltered.

Ambrosino returned Bill Yerzyk's punt to his own twenty yard line and from there PMC moved it to the 35 yard stripe where they were forced to punt. After the runback, tailback Don Pheasant passed 23 yards to end Keith Birmingham but again the Indian attack failed, this time on the Cadet 21.

Assist Leads to Score

The easterners ran the ball to their own 36 as the gun sounded to end the quarter. After Ambrosino crashed to the 44, halfback John Cook attempted to pass. Here the alert brain as well as brawn of Chuck Knox came to the fore. He deflected the pigskin and, seeing that end Barry Drexler had a clear field, batted the ball to him.

The shifty Drexler was off to the races. Joe Veto added the extra point and Juniata led 7-0.

Failing to gain a first down after Veto's kickoff, Ambrosino punted to the PMC 49 where Trimber received. The Blue and Gold racked up two first downs to the visitors' 25 yard stripe, but an offensive holding penalty forced JC back to the 41. A Pat Tarquinio pass to Trimber gained back the lost yardage, but a buck through the middle followed by an incomplete pass did not yield sufficient yardage for the first down.

Veto Boots Field Goal

On fourth down Joe Veto kicked a field goal for three points from the 28 yard line to give JC a 10-0 margin.

After the kickoff, the Cadets moved to their own 35 yard stripe before being set back to the 23 by a 15 yard penalty. Ambrosino's pass was incomplete and on the next play he fumbled. Vince Piazza recovered the ball on the PMC 24. Tarquinio then passed to Drexler who made a leaping catch on the goal line. Fran Wampler's extra point gave the Indians a commanding 17-0 lead.

PMC Gets Touchdown

Penn Military's lone score was set up by a 42 yard kickoff return by end Joe Hearn. He took the ball on his own 25 and returned it to the JC 33 where he tripped over a team mate.

Hugh MacCotter and Tom Ziegenfuss spearheaded the PMC drive to the Juniata five. Winterstein spilled Ziegenfuss for a four yard loss but Ambrosino, using a spread formation, bulled to the two. Conley then stopped Tony Fini of the Cadets for a net loss of three yards before Fini bulled over for PMC's lone score of the afternoon. Fini added the extra point and the score at the half gave Juniata a 17-7 edge.

JC Marches 62 Yards

Bill Yerzyk and John Udovich locked horns in a punting duel early in the second half, but midway through the third quarter Juniata gained possession of the ball on its own 28 to begin a 62 yard scoring drive.

Don Pheasant's accurate passing and clever footwork moved the ball down to the PMC 14. After two running plays had put the ball on the nine, Pheasant romped over right tackle for the game's final tally. Veto added to his total for the day by booting his second extra point of the afternoon to give Juniata its final 24-7 margin.

The final frame remained scoreless as Juniata empied its bench, with all reserves seeing some action.

Tribe Win Hands Smaltz Seventh Successful Season

Last week's Indian win over PMC guaranteed Coach Bill Smaltz his seventh successful football season since taking over as head coach at Juniata in 1947. In seven years Smaltz has never produced a team with a less than even record. Last year's 6-2 streak was the best in the 33 year football history of the College.

The Indians' record since Coach Smaltz joined the squad stands at 29 wins, 17 losses, and two ties.

SHOWN IN characteristic position is sophomore back Pat Tarquinio, known as Tarq or TQ. Tarquinio is playing his first season of ball for the Indians. A former student at Pitt, Tarq was ineligible to play last year because of the transfer rule. He was responsible for a touchdown pass to Barry Drexler in last week's 24-7 rout of PMC. Tarq weighs in at 170 and, like many other Indians, calls McKees Rocks his home town.

Courtmen In Spotlight As First Session Held

The 1953-54 edition of the Juniata Indian basketball team will begin regular practice sessions next week in preparation for a 21 game schedule. Workouts will be held every afternoon in the Memorial Gym, and a total of 17 players is expected to report for the sessions.

All members of last year's team are back except stellar guard Dave Pollock, who was called into the service. Six freshmen are expected to vie for team positions, along with eight sophomores, two juniors and one senior.

Last year's freshman dominated team of Kerstetter, Froisand, Vanderbush, Handzelek, and Pollock piled up a 9-11 seasonal mark. This year's squad will shape up in this way: At the forward positions, Howie Kerstetter, Tory Froisland, Chuck Gross, George O'Brien, Bernie Oriss, Andy Balog and Bill Burchfield; Centers Walt Vanderbush, Herb Law, and Joe Zupancic; Guards Jake Handzelek, Lee Hallman, Jack Golden, Jim Boulton, Joe Dinichola, Bob Gombos, and "Doc" Kramer.

Susquehanna Crusaders Face Tribe Tomorrow

The Indians will be seeking to extend their win streak to five games tomorrow as they lay their winning record on the line against the hapless Crusaders of Susquehanna University. A victory will enable Juniata to remain undefeated, as well as to tie up the all-time series record against the visitors from Selinsgrove.

The game will be the twenty-second in a string that began in 1923. Susquehanna now leads with ten victories, nine defeats, and two scoreless deadlocks.

A Homecoming Day highlight, the game will begin at 1:30 p. m. At the half ceremonies will be the crowning of Miss Homecoming VII.

Crusaders Are Winless

The Crusaders of Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg, Jr., are winless this season in four starts. They have bowed to Ursinus 32-14 in their season's opener, and lost to Swarthmore 27-7 and the National Aggies 13-7 before dropping last Saturday's game to Johns Hopkins, 12-6.

Coach Bill Smaltz will be aiming for his fifth win in seven starts against the Stagg-coached Crusaders, but he does not admit that the victory will be easy. As in all other starts this season, the Indian forward wall will be outweighed by the opposition's line. The margin this time will amount to about 11 pounds per man. In addition, Coach Smaltz warns that Susquehanna will be aiming for an upset.

May Take To Air

A high scoring aerial battle may take place because of the wide open type of game employed by the Staggs, and because Smaltz has indicated that he will have the Indians ready to go with an air attack from the single wing.

Susquehanna will be counting heavily on the passing arm of senior halfback Sam Ross while the Indians will counter with triple-threat tailbacks Don Pheasant and Pat Tarquinio.

Starting the game for Juniata will probably be Barry Drexler and Keith Birmingham at end; Chuck Knox and Ed Svitil at tackle; Bill Haushalter and Myron Sevick at guard positions; Ron Clapper at center; Don Pheasant and Joe Trimber at half, and John Winterstein in the fullback slot.

Likely starters for Susquehanna will be ends Eugene Lonski and Leonard Quick; tackles Arthur Leonard and James Anoia; guards Louis Szabo and Bob Chamberlain; center Reuben Henry; and a backfield composed of Kay Campbell, Sam Ross, Ken Erdley and Jim Dell.

Juniata Opponents Have Relatively Unsuccessful Week

The opponents of the 1953 Indians faired rather poorly over the weekend, as only Ursinus and Grove City won their contests while the other four found themselves on the short end of the scoring. Dickinson, the Tribe's third victim, was idle.

Ursinus gave Swarthmore a rude shock when they rolled over the previously unbeaten Garnet 38-21. The Brave's Parents Day opponents scored all their points in the first three quarters, taking advantage of three Swarthmore fumbles for TD's while the Garnet could only dent the visitors end zone twice in the second period and once in the last.

Grove City score in every period to trounce Allegheny College 25-6 and virtually ruined Allegheny's Homecoming Day. The Grovers flashy back Bob Camel scored one TD and threw passes for two more while Allegheny saved themselves from a major disaster as they scored a six pointer in the last period.

Crusader, Fords Lose

Tomorrow's Homecoming opponent, Susquehanna, continued on their losing ways as the University of Johns Hopkins scored a third period touchdown to give them a 12-6 victory over the hapless Crusaders. The game was a battle of the winless, as both teams had failed to record a victory in three games.

Hamilton College handed Haverford its third straight loss 13-0, by virtue of scoring a TD in each the second and third period. The Continentals were forced to stop no less than five Ford threats in the final half to preserve their 13 point margin. The Indian's old rivals, Lebanon Valley pulled a thrilling 19-18 decision out of the fire in the last quarter in beating Moravian. Lou Sorrentino flipped an underhand pass to Art Ritrivi for the only EP in the game, but it was good enough for the win. In their last frame surge, Sorrentino passed three times for completions and carried four times himself for 36 yards, scoring the touchdown from the four.

Team Statistics Shown For First Four Games

Joe Trimber continues to lead in the yards gained department for the Tribe as in 20 carries he has piled up a net gain of 165 yards or 8.2 yards per try. Pat Tarquinio holds down the number one position in the Indians passing attack as in 35 attempts he has completed 13 aerials for 233 yards and five TD's. Bill Yerzyk leads in punting, having sent the oval 20 times for a total of 602 yards.

Variety Show Scheduled For Saturday; Hamm Will Be MC

Part of the evening entertainment for Homecoming festivities will be the variety show scheduled to preceed the J-Club frolic. The program of mixed entertainers will get under way at 8:15 p. m. in Oller Hall with students from College Hill taking part, according to an announcement from the entertainment bureau.

Robert Hamm has been selected to act as master of ceremonies for the program which will get under way with singing by the Men's Varsity Quartet, composed of Paul Morrison, Richard Caulk, Ken Rockwell and Ben Newcomer. .

The quartet will be followed by vocal solos by Helen Rosengren and Dick Caulk and an instrumental trio featuring Clem and Nancy Rosenberger and Maggie Sims. The spotlight will then be taken over by a mixed quartet including Helen Rosengren, Betty Shearer, Dick Livingston and Phil Lankford.

The program will conclude with singing by two feminine trios. The first of these groups will be the Harmonettes, Allegra Forney, Jean Baker and Doris Markey. The second will be composed of Jeanne Blennd, Maggie Sims and Barbara Grim.

The Class of '56 will sponsor a pep rally this evening on Founders steps. Following a session of cheers and songs, led by the cheerleaders and the band, the students will march to Sherwood Forrest where a bonfire will be held and refreshments served.

Starting time for the rally is 7:00 p. m. and it will be over in time for freshman initiation at 8:00 p. m. Everyone come out and let the team know you are behind them for this all-important Homecoming game.

Griffith & Combo To Play For J-Club Frolic; Dress To Be Optional

Twirp Week is over, so you fellows can come out of hiding and ask your favorite gal to the annual Homecoming Dance which is sponsored by the J Club. This dance, to be held tomorrow night in the women's gym, will climax the long schedule of Homecoming events.

Ron Clopper, J Club president and chairman of dance arrangements, has announced that Nels Griffith and his combo have been engaged to provide the music. Griffith, a part-time student here, has previously played for college affairs.

The dress is optional; that is, you may come formal if you so desire but party clothes are also in order.

Refreshments will be served. The decoration committee is headed by Howie Kerstetter.

Starting time for the dance is 8:15 p. m.

Ellis Elected President Of College Association

During the past week President Calvert N. Ellis received the honor of being elected as president of the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities at the 57th annual meeting in the Hotel Schenley, Pittsburgh.

The honor of being selected at this time has an added significance for last Friday was the 10th anniversary for President Ellis at Juniata College. (Next week's Juniatian will carry a story on his report of the 10 years as president and in addition the preview of what the future holds for Juniata in the next ten years).

President Ellis succeeds President Francis X. N. McGuire of Villanova College as head of the association. He served during the past year as vice-president and was formerly treasurer.

In addition to his position in the Pennsylvania Association of College and Universities, Pres. Ellis is serving as a member of the important accrediting committee, known as the Commisson of Institutions of Higher Education of the Middle State Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and is chairman of the 12-member Commission on the Arts of the Association of American Colleges.

President Ellis' other important post in education has been as a member of the advisory committee on education to U. S. Congress during World War II.

Wave Representative In Totem-Inn Friday

Lt. Cmdr. Jane Boyd Roper from the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Pittsburgh, Pa., will visit Juniata next Friday to talk with young women interested in obtaining a Navy commission.

The purpose of Miss Roper's visit is to insure that all women students have an equal opportunity to gain information concerning opportunities for Reserve and Regular Navy commissions.

Miss Roper will be available in Totem-Inn from 10:30 a. m. for a morning visit. All those that are interested are urged to meet and talk with this naval representative.

Miss Mim Dickey Attends Library Conference In N.J.

Miss Miriam Dickey was one of 750 delegates to the Middle Atlantic Regional Library Conference held in Atlantic City in the Ambassador Hotel, from October 15th through 17th. This conference is a division of the American Library Association.

The theme for the conference was, Business Advises Librarians. This meant that there were not only members of the library world present, but a host of representatives from the realms of business who brought in their ideas with the aim of adapting them to the library situation. Architects, business managers, salesmen, public relations advisors, and representatives of such companies as Remington Rand and the Coca Cola Company were there, as well as an engineer from the DuPont Industry.

Librarians were advised to advertise more thoroughly, so that people know just what they have to offer. The part of the library that is used the most should be watched and its drawing points extended to the other parts of the library. The processes of the library as a whole should not interfere with maximum efficiency.

Miss Dickey was especially impressed with the presentation of Virgilia Peterson who is moderator of the television show, The Author Meets the Critics. Her topic was, Does American Literature Mirror American Life? She concluded that it did not with such exceptions to the rule as Gone with the Wind, and Spirit of St. Louis which are now available in our library.

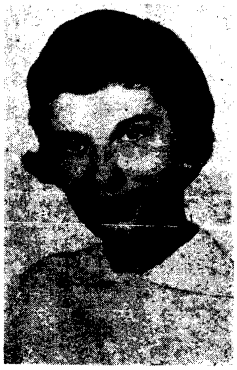
Mullan, Croft Chosen For Queens Court

Miss Homecoming VII, Nancy McCahan will be accompanied to the coronation ceremony tomorrow afternoon by the two members of her court, Miss Joyce Mullan and Miss Donna Croft.

Miss Mullan is a senior sociology major from West Virginia. She has been in charge of Sub-Frosh Career Conferences and is a member of Sigma Gamma, WAA and the Women's House Committee.

Miss Donna Croft

The only junior of the trio, Miss Croft, is from Bedford, Pa., and is majoring in biology. She has been active in Leadership Conference for two years, orchestra for three y ears, the Women's House Committee and the JC Choir ensemble. During her freshman year she participated in the All-Class Night program and for the past two years has been a member of the May court.



Miss Joyce Mullan

Calvert N. Ellis Reviews Ten Years As Juniata President

"This is a report of my ten years as president of Juniata College. It is a report of the devotion, toil and fellowship of many people. A college president who survives ten years has many persons to thank—the trustees for their courage and tolerance, the faculty for their imaginative perseverance,, and the students for their desire to learn, which contributes to their becoming important alumni! Therefore, let me say at the very outset that whatever may have been achieved during these years should be credited to many, not a few.

The past ten years have been a significant span in the 77-year history of Juniata College. Indeed, the years since World War II have brought many changes both in personnel and campus. But Juniata today remains steadfast to its heritage: the enduring conviction that high academic attainment should go hand in hand with Christian living throughout the college community."

This is the manner in which President Calvert N. Ellis begins his review of ten years as president of Juniata College. In 1943 he succeeded his father, the late Charles C. Ellis, during the depths of the years of World War II and from there laid the plans that have pushed Juniata to a point of national recognition. He attributes a large percentage of this success to the various members of the Juniata family. In the remaining part of this review we want to bring you the parts of the College Hill story that President Ellis feels should be known to the students who will determine Juniata's place in years to come.

Enrollment

Throughout the United States there are a great number of colleges and universities which are larger than Juniata and some of them are church affiliated while others are not. The leaders of our college do not choose to compete with these schools for increased enrollment. President Ellis goes on to say in his report; "In my first report I stated that we believed in a small college and hoped to have a post-war enrollment of 450. However, our goals have been raised by economic necessity and we have admitted 600 students." The crowded conditions that have resulted from this increased enrollment are characteristic of the growing pains of many institutions of higher learning and we will comment later on in the article on plans for relieving these conditions in the near future. It is important to point out that Juniata has reached the highest point in enrollment that is desired and the hope and plans for the years to come call for a steady student population of around 600.

Attributed to the early affiliation with the Church of the Brethren, the largest body of JC students are still connected with this church although in recent years this majority has decreased. It is also notable that the excellent Juniata high school testing program which former Dean J. Melvin Rhodes worked out has been responsible for succeeding classes of better students. President Ellis continues in his report by saying, "No one would say that the students are completely satisfactory. We often wish that they were not so sophomorish, nor so disrespectful of the past, or so careless in their dress. However they have a concern for the social issues of our time and a serious desire to secure the tools with which to live a satisfying as well as remunerative life.

- Total assets increased from $1,867,576 to $2,809,741
- Endowment increased from $637,261 to $954,203
- Per capita alumni giving up from $19.16 to $50.94
- Facilities added or improved: Memorial Physical Education building, Swigart Music Hall, Faculty Club, new dining hall and kitchen, Totem-Inn, Sherwood Lodge and 'Village' apartments (temporary), Home Economics building (temporary), I. Harvey Brumbaugh house, N. J. Brumbaugh House.

Assets

The loyalty of Juniata alumni comes to the fore at this point for we see that total assets have increased from $1,867,576 to $2.809,741 and the annual financial statements for the ten year period show a total equipment depreciation of $100,000. An achievement that shows the sacrifice of Juniata's alumni and friends.

Administration

With only a few exceptions the entire administration has been appointed in the last decade. Such campus figures as Dr. Morley Mays, John T. Fike, Dr. James F. Penney, Mrs. Alice Brumbaugh Dove, Mr. A. William Engel, Jr., Paul Friend, and Bob Newcombe have all come to College Hill as administrators under the tenure of President Ellis. At the same time a number of the faculty have retired during this time and been replaced by younger members of the faculty. At present there are fourteen professors, 16 assistant professors and seventeen instructors employed at Juniata.

Physical Plant

Perhaps the most tangible way to judge a college is by the progressive manner in which they construct buildings to meet their changing needs. In 1944 the Board of Trustees appointed a Planning Commission to study the place of Juniata in the post-war world. It was through their efforts that a number of buildings were added to JC's growing campus. (A list of these addition are listed in the bold face insert.)

Recognition

Although the physical plant is one way to judge Juniata, the best way is through the ratings of its graduates and the ratings of the institute as an academic standard. The Ford Foundation survey which was released last year showed Juniata 43 in the nation and third in Pennsylvania in the number of "young American scholars of Promise". We were one of the first small colleges to be recognized by the American Chemical Society. The list which includes other impressive recognitions that have come our way expresses the high standard of academic work pursued at Juniata.

So it goes in the past ten years of Juniata's relatively young history, the future shows an equal amount of promise. Plans are laid for the construction of a new Men's dorm, a new library and a number of other constructional additions.

"Christopher Saur, the colonial printer of Germantown, had as his motto, 'the glory of God and my neighbor's good'. He was one of the earliest members of the Church of the Brethren to come to the new world and represents those colonists who came on the invitation of William Penn to seek religious freedom. The founders of Juniata College were the spiritual descendents of Christopher Saur. They believed in the need for Christian faith and a trained mind. These are the ideals of Juniata and the distinction of its graduates."

Brammer Names Orchestral Group For JC Operetta

Prof. Jack Brammer will direct the College orchestra in playing the music of Gilbert and Sullivan's Gondoliers Nov. 14 and 15.

The list of members, released by Brammer, includes: violins—Lona Beabes, Dr. Raymond Davis, Paul Gingrich, Luetta McIlroy, Roy Rollman, Clem Rosenberger. Viola—Janet Binkley. Cello—Nancy Rosenberger. Bass—Nels Griffith.

Flutes—Ray Chilcott, Eleanor Furry, Maggie Sims. Clarinets—Donna Croft, Natalie Laird, Phil Shreiner. Oboes—Betty Lou Smith, Barbara Phennicie. Bassoon—Melba Smith. French horns—Lloyd Harkless, Shirley Nace, and Carol Olbrich. The piano accompanists are Alice Hoffman and Vada Jean Roof.

Mid-Term Grades Available Nov. 16

The office of the Registrar reports that mid-term grades will be issued on November 16. Tomorrow will be the final day for exams and the faculty are expected to have grades in by November 11.

Girls Displays Win Homecoming Awards

The Homecoming displays contest, sponsored by the Juniatian, was won by Founders Hall with combined Oneida and first Brumbaugh Halls taking second prize.

The first prize of $7.50 went for the display entitled "From the Old Founders to the New," located outside of Founders Chapel. Chairman for this hall was Joan Chase. Oneida and first Brumbaugh Halls, under the direction of Joy Hardesty, copped $2.50 as second prize. Their display depicted the history of the Susquehanna-JC rivalry.

The judging committee was composed of Ruth Amos, Jo Pentz and Kenneth Fegley, all alumni. Basis for judgments were originality and appropriateness to either football season or Homecoming.

Senate To Hold Meeting Tonight

This week's Senate meeting, previously scheduled for Wednesday, will be held tonight in Room C at 7 p. m. Several new items, including initiation, bulletin boards and fire drills, have been added to the agenda printed in last week's Juniatian.

Two reports will be made—one on the Totem Inn deficit and the other on bulletin board facilities.

The first topic on the agenda is the formation of a committee to suggest possible ways of revising the Senate constitution in order to provide greater continuity and insure competent leaders.

The use of trees and Totem Inn for publicity, the request for a whirl-pool bath for treatment of athletic injuries and the possibility of fire drills held during class periods will be discussed.

A letter written by members of the sophomore class concerning future initiation programs will be read to the Senate. Also referred to the Senate by the women's house committee is the matter of the unauthorized initiation in the women's dorm.

FTA Club Sponsors Halloween Party Fri.

Friday, the FTA, under the chairmanship of Joan Chase, sponsored its annual Hallowe'en party for the three first grades of the Alfarata School in Huntingdon.

Approximately 110 children in costume attended the affair which was highlighted by a grand march and various other games. Decorations and refreshments were in keeping with the Hallowe'en theme.

Robinson, JC Grad, New Bethany Pres.

Monday, Dr. Paul M. Robinson, graduate of the Class of '35 of Juniata College, will be inaugurated as the fourth president of the Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago, Illinois.

A distinguished alumnus, Dr. Robinson received his Doctor of Divinity degree from Juniata College in 1949. The ceremony will be held at the First Church of the Brethren in Chicago.

3 Speakers Scheduled For Chapel Services

The speaker at Monday's chapel service will be the Rev. David Heim of the First Baptist Church of Huntingdon.

Mr. Ray McCorkel, of New York City, will be in charge of the program Wednesday. McCorkel is director of CARE's Self-Help Program.

Friday, Dr. George Clemens will conduct the service which will be an observation of National Book Week.

Student Ticket Program Slated For Gondoliers

Student tickets for the all-college production of Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, The Gondoliers, may be obtained by presenting activities cards at the information window any time until tomorrow noon. This is done so that it may be determined how many plan to attend the performances November 13-14.

Those students who wish to purchase tickets for their parents may do so for $1.20 per ticket at a time and place be designated later. Parent's tickets may also be purchased before the Saturday evening performance.

Those students who do not plan to attend the performance with their parents on Saturday are urged to attend Friday night.

Parents Day Plans To Include Open House, Lunch, Game

Parents Day will be Saturday, November 14, this year.

Upon arriving on campus, the parents are to report to Founders Chapel. The chapel will open at 9 a. m. for registration. Luncheon tickets may be obtained there, also.

Parents are invited to visit classes. A list of classes which are not having tests and their room numbers will be posted on the bulletin board in Founders Hall.

There will be open house in all dorms from 10 a. m. until 1:30 p. m.

Parents are to be guests of the college at a cafeteria luncheon beginning at 11:45 a. m. and ending at 1:15 p. m. Guests must have complimentary tickets given out at registration.

Saturday afternoon a football game will be played by the Juniata Indians and the Ursinus Bears. Kick-off time is 1:30 p. m.

The All-College operetta, Gilbert and Sullivan's The Gondoliers, will be presented in Oller Hall at 8:15 p. m.

College Music Organizations Include 'Busy' Mixed Quartet

MUSIC! It seems to be the keyword on the tongues of all "college hill" associates. Professors, students, and friends are all talking of JC's enthusiastic and growing band, of the up and coming production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Gondoliers", and of the fine performance of the artists of Piano Playhouse.

With such musical feats presented before our eyes, it is easy to overlook the accomplishments of smaller, less recognized groups.

Many trios and quartets will long be remembered by everyone as having rendered a great service and much enjoyment to Juniata College and the towns nearby. Striving for a place in Juniata's music Hall of Fame is a newly-formed quartet consisting of two senior girls—Betty Shearer of Richmond Furnace singing alto and Helen Rosengren, soprano, of Philadelphia and two freshmen fellows—Richard Livingston, bass of Johnstown and Phil Lankford of York singing tenor.

At the Men's Work Banquet in Martinsburg and the James Creek Church of the Brethren this quartet has presented several musical selections. Their debut at college hill took place last Saturday evening at the Variety Show where their presentation of some melodies from Brigadoon were received with enthusiasm.

From The Editor's Notes

Dear Editor:

Initiation always calls to mind many different ideas, and the feelings it creates, when completed, are no less varied. Initiation at Juniata is a tradition, a tradition which in the minds of many ought not to exist. Of course, to some sophomores, initiation is a glorious event, a time for showing authority, a chance to display skill in inventing the messiest and smelliest mixtures ever invented. Unfortunately initiation is always left in the hands of that type individual. Friday's affair was no exception.

The usual arguments, in fact the only arguments, in behalf of initiation are "It was a lot of fun and nobody got hurt." To the sophomores, putting the frosh through many things which they themselves never had to go through was obviously a great deal of fun. Blindfolding, hair dye, flour, paddles, mixtures to eat, drink and walk through could be expected of high school students, not of mature college adults. Furthermore they have no possible value in initiating freshmen into college life. No one was hurt, physically at least; but the impressions gained on initiation night can persist through four years of college, and the damages to friendly relations between classes can be considerable.

The events in the gym can perhaps be excused, but what happened following the formal initiation cannot be. An impressive and unusual ceremony was held for frosh women in the social rooms in order to create good feeling. This aim was achieved, but only temporarily. Certain sophomores, at the time when the ceremony was going on, visited frosh rooms to soap mirrors, mess up beds, and in general destroy all good feeling that had been created. Such actions were not approved by the entire sophomore class nor should they be tolerated by them.

The idea of constructive initiation, so long considered and never achieved, almost reached its culmination this year. However this plan fell through when the sophomores were not permitted by the administration to carry out certain other of their plans. The valuable aspect of initiation was ignored when others of no value could not be attained. Undoubtedly there are, in this connection, several just grievances against the administration. The refusal of the administration came only one day before the scheduled event, after plans were well under way. Also, certain administration members were quite aware of the formulated initiation procedure and never gave any signs of disapproval; in fact some voiced approval. The sophomores can hardly be blamed for their bitterness, when such things are brought to light; however this does still not excuse the elimination of the constructive initiation.

The answer to all this lies with the freshmen. This group is to be commended for its fine display of class spirit and attitude toward initiation. It is hoped that the class of '57, when its turn comes, will evaluate sanely the various problems arising from initiation and will take decisive steps to correct them.

Accent On Reading

Barrett, E. W. Truth is our weapon. The author, former assistant secretary of state, dissects the pattern of American information and propaganda abroad, casts fresh light on the controversial Voice of America operations, re-examines our strategy and offers new proposals for waging peace.

Dean, Vera M. Foreign policy without fear. Here is an attempt to provide answers to questions about our foreign policy. Have the right steps been taken? Where will they lead? Where should they lead? The book gives a thought-provoking summary of the challenges presented by Europe and Asia.

Snyder, H. E. When people speak to peoples. An action guide to international cultural relations. It starts from the thesis that the human being is central in foreign affairs. Based largely upon the activities of two American voluntary agencies that were organized to give educational and other assistance to the devasted countries of Europe following World War II—the Commission for International Educational Reconstruction and the Commission on the Occupied Areas—it deals with human relations and cultural relations as factors in the conduct of world affairs.

'Fiery' Article To Students Hits Bitterly At Initiation Controversy

To the Student Body:

The blindfold has been removed; the girls have shampooed their hair from six to twelve times; the boys have recovered from doing ten to 150 push-ups, but what has actually been accomplished? In my estimation, and the estimation of many other freshmen, sophomores and upperclassmen, absolutely nothing has been gained except some undesirable and unnecessary sore muscles, raw skin and, in one case, bruised elbows.

Before the actual initiation, those who were backing it made a somewhat feeble attempt to justify their case by saying that it would unite the freshman class. Allow me to cite the example of the freshmen who were "politely asked" to clean the gymnasium the morning after initiation. When they asked why they were chosen, they were told, "Because you gave us 'a hard time' during the initiation." 'A hard time' consisted in answering "57" when asked, "Which is the best class?" Now, if the purpose of initiation were really to unite the freshman class, wouldn't it be logical to say that the freshmen who yelled, "56" would have to clean up the gym? Initiation became a matter of personal grudges and, more than likely, the "clean-up" committee had been chosen long before the night of October 30

Furthermore, is it desirable to unite the freshman class at the risk of starting a rift between the individual classes? There were many sophomores whose senses of humors haven't been warped, and many upperclassmen, too, who were quite indignant about the the manner in which whole affair was executed.

Another thing, those freshmen who were to participate in the freshman-sophomore Homecoming games were made to do a ridiculous amount of push-ups and the girls' rooms were upset in order to make the hockey players stay up late and so lose the sleep they would need in order to play the following day. Of course, the '57 spirit triumphed again and we won the contests, but, still, everything should be carried out in a fair and square manner and initiation should have been uniform.

The sophomore cries of "Unfair!" heard at the tug-of-war were quite amusing, too. Look at who was talking!

In view of the facts just stated, what could possible justfy initiation, or, more exactly, such extremes in initiation? Tradition? That's a fancy term often used to cover a multitude of sins.

The only other excuse, and a feeble one at that, was, "Just think how much fun it will be!"

"Fun" consisted of forceful paddling, peanut butter thrust roughly into ears and nostrils, molasses shoved under armpits, hair mangled by vegetable dyes, powder and glue, and, in the case of one freshman, elbows paddle-beaten until they bled. There was other such asinine, nonsensical treatment such as the smell of dead fish and limburger cheese which was conducive to one girl's fainting.

Several have tried to excuse all this by saying that the only reasons it was done that the administration and student senate thwarted the original, even more radical plans. It's very illogical and unfair to slap Mary because Johnny won't give you a bite of his candy. The freshmen had nothing to do with the alteration in initiation plans and so they shouldn't have had to pay for it.

My purpose in condemning the actions of the irresponsible boys and girls, supposedly college men and women and class leaders, who were the cause of the initiation's getting out of hand, is not to start a feud between the classes, nor to create hard feelings among individuals. It is for the sole purpose of pointing out to the freshmen, the utter uselessness of initiation, with the hope of having them abolish it next year.

Namecards serve a purpose, dinks are the trademark of a freshman, even the despicable blue and yellow socks and bow ties can be tolerated, constructive initiation is practical and the Indian dress and dance showed spirit for our football "Indians". We wore our regulations for six weeks and, had we lost the Homecoming contests, we'd still be wearing them, unlike our immediate predecessors. However, as far as a ridiculous waste of food, money and time, especially near mid-terms, goes, it should be done away with completely. If the abolishment isn't complete, there are always a few who would let it go to extremes.

The Class of '57 has shown much enthusiasm in pep meetings, the punishment after the riot, and, in general, have displayed great spirit. Now that the Class of '56 has had their fun, let's forget all about Oct. 30, but, next year, when initiation time rolls around, let's vote to abolish it. What do you say, frosh?

Tribe Tops Susquehanna; Seeks Sixth Victory

Win Makes Juniata One Of Three Penna. Teams Still Unbeaten

by Bob Gottlieb

After five games Juniata still remains among the elite. Saturday's 39-0 victory over Susquehanna enabled the Blue and Gold to remain, along with Shippensburg and Westminster, as one of the three unbeaten and untied college teams in Pennsylvania.

While the score of Saturday's encounter with the visitors from Selinsgrove indicates a rout in many respects, it was no walkaway. Throughout the first half the Tribe was continually being frustrated in their relentless quest for touchdowns.

Although unable to deliver a killing blow in the opening frames, the Indian defense functioned flawlessly as it held Susquehanna to three first downs and a grand total of 92 yards offensively. The visitors had not earned a single first down until after the halftime intermission. Juniata recorded 16 first downs and a grand total of 315 yards on the ground and in the air.

JC Scores Quickly

To open the ball game, Joe Veto kicked off to halfback Jim Dell who carried to his own 10. Failing to gain a first down, the Crusaders punted to the 43 and the Indians took over. Don Pheasant was held to no gain, but on the second play from scrimmage Joe Trimber carried 43 yards for a TD. Veto converted, and Juniata had a 7-0 advantage before the game had well begun.

On the ensuing kickoff, Susquehanna's Kay Campbell fumbled and Ed Svitil recovered. Trimber gained eight, but a 15 yard penalty set the Smaltzmen back to the Crusader 20. Pheasant tried a pass, but Sam Ross intercepted on the Susquehanna one yard line. The visitors punted on the first down to their own 41.

Juniata received, and on second down a fumble by Yerzyk gave the pigskin to the visitors. Again they could not take advantage of the situation, and were forced to kick. Juniata moved for three successive first downs, but was again stymied.

JC Leads At Half

Chuck Knox recovered a Crusader fumble on the Susquehanna 30, but a Pat Tarquinio pass was filched in the end zone. The Staggmen punted to the Warrior 45 where Trimber received and returned the ball to the 38. Penalties kept JC from making a first down, but after an exchange of punts a pass from Tarquinio to Conley led to a touchdown by TQ, and the Indians led 13-0. An attempt by Trimber to convert was wide, and the score remained the same at the half.

Deciding to terminate this fold-rol, the Indians stormed out of the dressing room to begin play in the final half. Vince Piazza, the exotic dancer, bulled his way to the Crusader 12 with an assist by Pheasant, who carried for the score. Veto's attempt for a point was wide and the score favored Juniata 19-0 at the end of the third quarter.

After the kickoff, the visitors were forced to punt, but Yerzyk shot through the Crusader line as though it were made of cheese. Pheasant and Piazza ground out yardage until Don went over from the four. Veto again converted and Juniata led 26-0.

Tribe Widens Margin

The Tribe then showed the Homecoming Day throng that the game was not yet over by quickly scoring a fifth touchdown. Piazza returned a punt and Tarquinio gained 18 from scrimmage for a first down at the five yard stripe. A 15 yard penalty for a personal foul put the Big White back to the 20, but two running plays carried to the 10 and Piazza completed a jump pass to Conley for the score. Veto kicked the extra point and it was 33-0 for the hometeam.

Aided by Buddy Douds who batted the ball into the air, Hal Estep intercepted a Bill Church pass on the Susquehanna 20. Buck McNeal ran the ball to the three and Ron Bechtel carried it over for a score. McNeal's try for the extra point failed, and the score remained 39-0 as the game ended.

Running The Gauntlet

by Fritz Heydrick

With the fifth victory safely tucked in the fold, the Indians will turn their attention to the next challenger scheduled to appear at College Field, and that is in the form of a very upset minded Grove City eleven. The Grovers sport a 2-4 record but despite this poor seasonal showing, they feature a big shifty line, and fast, hard running backs. Again, as in the Braves' other five contests, the forward wall will be outweighed almost 10 pounds to the man. However, since Clapper and Company seem to delight in ripping Mack truck size holes in opposing team's front line defenses, JC's versatile eight man backfield should bring the crowd to their feet with 60 minutes of thrilling passing and running.

* * * * *

The Juniata line seems to be at home equally on defense as well as offense. In compiling their five successive victories, Indian's defense has yielded only 7.8 points per game, although the opponents were only able to gain 91.6 yards rushing, and only 73.2 yards passing. These combined statistics show a total defense of 164.8 yards per game which should be good enough for a ranking in the first 25 in the nation's NCAA standings. This record has been attained by the whole team, and not any one sparkplug. Probably the closest to a key man is center Ron Clapper, who calls the defensive formations which are designed to stop the enemy offense. By virtue of the given statistics, his success is obvious!

* * * * *

With the donated help of Derf Yeh in predicting last week's games, we managed to hit eight out of ten to give a seasonal mark of 22 right and 8 wrong for a .734 average. Dickinson fouled us up by winning their second game of the season over Drexel 13-7, and Theil really crossed us up by soundly thumping Grove City 28-7. Without further comment we shall delve into this week's schedule.

JUNIATA 21, GROVE CITY 6; the games will be getting tough now as everybody tries to knock off the winner . . . but this isn't the week for the Grovers to do it.

Grove City Looks For Upset Win Over Tribe; JC Line Outweighed

Juniata will pit its five game winning streak against a heavy and rugged Grove City eleven tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 at College Field.

For the sixth straight time the Indians will be facing a heavier squad. The Grovers will field an experienced line that will outweigh the Indians' 178 pound forward wall by about ten pounds per man.

Grovers Have Losing Record

The Wolverines will come to Huntingdon on the short end of a 2-4-0 season's record. Victorious over Marietta by a 7-0 count and over Allegheny 25-6, the Grovers have dropped games to Geneva 13-26, Hiram 0-13, Westminster 14-20, and Theil 7-28 in a game played last Saturday.

Grove City will field a veteran squad with only Joe McCabe, the left tackle, playing his first year of college ball. Ends will be Bill McWhirter, a senior with two years of pass receiving under his belt, and Ron Altany, a sophomore who played excellent ball as a freshman last year.

Tackle Weighs In At 220

Filling the tackle slots will be McCabe and Ray Coccia, a top flight runner and heaviest man on the squad at 220 pounds.

Guards will be Regis Brown who was the fastest freshman lineman last year, and Marlin Getty, a two year letterman. At the center slot will be marine veteran Dick Hawke, a junior weighing in at 195.

Halfback Scoring Threat

The Wolverine backfield will be made up of Lloyd Mawhinney at quarter; left halfback Bob Camel who was high scorer on the gridiron last year as a freshman; right halfback Dick Koitzsch, a senior with three years experience; and fullback Harold Wise, heaviest of the four at 205.

New Sub-Post Office Opens In Center For JC, Community

A sub-post office for the convenience of students and uptown residents of Huntingdon was officially inaugurated last Monday.

Listed in the official books as a non-delivery contract station, the office is located in Totem-Inn. Robert Fisher, manager of the center, is in charge of the postal station.

Mr. Fisher has announced a list of the initial customers in the varied aspects of the office. Les Querry was the first customer and also the first purchaser of a money order. Don Conley mailed the first package by a student while Mrs. A. William Engel, Jr. holds the honor for the uptown residents. The first insurance on a package was taken out by Ed Simons.

All-Class Night Plans, Comm. Underway

All-Class Night chairman, Betty Shearer reports that the individual class chairmen have selected their committees and work has begun in most instances. The incomplete skit is due Monday, November 9. Miss Shearer also revealed that several of the classes have started work on the dialogue.

Frosh Victorious In Soph. Games

Playing before a large, enthusiastic audience, the freshmen Homecoming teams were victorious in girl's hockey and the men's tug-o-war last Saturday in the traditional Homecoming games. Although the frosh football team lost 16-2, the tug-o-war victory gave them the right to doff freshmen regulations.

The sophomore football team scored two quick opening touchdowns in the first period and then coasted to an easy 16-2 victory. Although the frosh team threatened several times, a stout soph defensive forward wall stopped them from pushing the oval over the double stripe.

After receiving the kickoff, the frosh failed to gain the necessary yardage and were forced to kick. With a combination of running and passing by Lee Hallman and Walt Vanderbush the sophs had their first TD in a quick series of plays. Tory Froisland booted the EP. After another frosh punt, the second classmen garnered their last touchdown of the afternoon on a pass from Hallman to Oriss. Froisland again converted. At this point the frosh defense stiffened and held the sophomores to a single safety for the rest of the morning, but were not able to add points to their own cause except for a similar safety in the third period.

The freshman girl's hockey team faired a bit better as they were awarded a win after being tied by an underdog, but highly spirited sophomore team. The frosh found the scoring range first when Nancy Bachman slipped the hockey ball past goalie Alma Skinner, but the sophs roared right back when Nancy Rosenberger blasted a score past frosh goalie Barbara Ann Maurer. Since the game ended in a tie, the freshmen were awarded the win by Homecoming rules.

The freshmen cinched the Homecoming victory when they outtugged the sophs, two out of three, in the tug-o-war.

Cinderella Journeys To Korea For Modern Version Of Old Fairy Tale

This is the story of Cinderella, as interpreted by a group of South Korean children, using the slang of the American soldiers:

"The Story of Skoshi Cinderellasan"

Taksan years ago, skoshi Cinderellasan live in hootchee with sisters. Poor little Cinderellasan ketchee no fun, no social life. Always washee washee, scrubee scrubee, make chop chop.

One day Cinderellasan's sisters ketchee postcard from Seoul. Postcard speak Number One Prince have big blowout. Taksan kimchee (beer), play "I Ain't Got No Yo Yo". Everybody dance.

Cinderellasan's sisters taksan exited. Start having poor Cinderellasan police up clothes. Sisters go black market, ketchee fatigues, new combat boots, bring hootchee and Cinderellasan cut down.

No one ever speak Cinderellasan go shindig. Big night come, sisters take off, leave poor little sister taksan blue sitting by hibachi.

ZOUNDS! Appearing Fairy Godmothersan. She speak, "Cinderellasan, don't worry. I ketchee you number one outfit and you go Number One Prince Hoedown".

Godsmothersan speak: Cinderellasan got one mouse and mousetrap. Waving wand and Cinderellasan's old OD blanket dress changee changee into sharp fatigue jacket and slacks. Old rubber shoes changee changee to polished jump boots.

One thing, Kideesan," speak Fairy Godmothersan, "Knock it off by 2400. I gotta get these clothes back to QM Warehouse."

"Dai jobu," speak Cinderellasan, taksan happy. And she rushes to Seoul to hootchee of Number One Prince.

Cinderellasan ketchee big hit at Honeybucket Frolic. All other mooses hags by comparison. Number One Prince is on prowl. He ketchee beer and spam sandwiches for Cinderellasan and dance "I Ain't Got No Yo Yo" eight times.

Suddenly clock strike 2400. Cinderellasan barely time to speak "sayonara" to Number One Prince and start chogee to ox cart pool to go hootchee.

Hubba hubba but too late! Changee back drab kid. But first she lose Corcoran jump boot, and Number One Prince chase chasee, ketchee boot.

Next day big I & E Bulletin go out. Number One Prince meeda for sheba whose skoshi foot go into jump boot. Ketchee and marry number one sheba in whole Korea.

Prince make rounds. Ketchee corns and callouses, but never find foot to fit jump boot. Finally comes to Cinderellasan's hootchee.

Sisters all exited. Sit giggling on straw mat as Number One Prince try jump boot on number 12 feet of each josan.

"Never hotchee," he speak. "Who's this josan doing the washee?"

Sisters laugh. Speak, "Ugly Cinderellasan, napumnida kid."

"What's to lose?" speak Number One Prince. "Let's give try."

Cinderellasan is grinning. She ketchee five aces in this deal. All time know jump boot will fit. Prince slides boot neatly on skoshi foot.

"Kid you it," he speak. "Come-on-a my house, be number one Princess more skoshi. You ichi ban."

"So long, you old hags," speak Cinderellasan to sisters, who are highly teed off. "No more ketchee washee and scrubee. From now on stack arms." Then Cinderellasan go with number one Prince taksan happy working in Royal Rice Paddy ever after, raise taksan babysans.

Vol. 30—No. 10 | Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. | Friday, Nov. 20, 1953

6 Juniata Seniors Named To Latest Edition Of Who's Who

Six Juniata seniors, five of whom are members of the student Senate, were named to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. They are Juanita Carfora, Lolita Carfora, Naomi Kulp, Wilfred Norris, Bernie Petrusky and Jeanie Tait.

The nominating committee considered the following qualities in naming candidates: excellence and sincerity in scholarship, leadership and participation in extra-curricular and academic activities, citizenship and service to the school, and promise of future usefulness to business and society.

Juanita Carfora

Juanita Carfora, secretary of the Senate, is a language major from Tom River, N. J. Miss Carfora numbers among her activities: co-editor of the Scout, a Masquer, member of the Pyrenees Club and WAA and set construction chairman for operettas, Masque plays and May Day.

Lolita Carfora

Lolita serves as chairman of general activities on the Senate. She is secretary of the senior class, co-editor of the Scout, a Masquer, member of the WAA and Pyrenees clubs and has been in charge of set construction for operettas, plays and May Day.

Naomi Kulp

An elementary ed major from Red Lion, Miss Kulp is JCA chairman of the world relatedness commission, served as co-chairman of her sophomore All-Class Night skit and is active in intramurals. She was a member of last year's May Court and also served as Senate chairman of women's house.

Wilfred Norris

Norris, a chemistry major from Ambler, is Senate chairman of religious activities, JCA president, and president of the Masque and Chemistry Clubs. He recently appeared in the Gondoliers and played the leading roles in Romeo and Juliet, and the Importance of Being Earnest.

Bernie Petrusky

The fifth nominee is Senate president Bernie Petrusky. In addition to his Senate duties, he is president of the IRC and a member of the Masque and FTA. He has worked on set construction and stage crews for various operettas and Masque plays. Petrusky hails from Brisbin and is a history major.

Jeanie Tait

Completing the list is Jeanie Tait, Senate chairman of publications. Miss Tait is editor of the Juniatian, a Masquer and a member of the FTA. An English major from Philadelphia, she has worked on several operettas and has done publicity for plays, May Day and All-Class Night.

Harpist Will Appear At Community Concert In Oller Hall Monday

Monday night is the date for another community concert, this one featuring Miss Mildred Dilling, harpist. To display her technique, Miss Dilling has chosen a varied program. Variations on an Old French Carol by Marcel Samuel Rousseau will be her first presentation.

For her second number, Miss Dilling will play Gavotte from Bach's Violin Suite in E Major. This will be followed by Sicilians, a sixteenth century melody arranged by Ottorino Respighi. Le-Coucou by Louis Claude Daquin and Gabriel Faure's Impromptu will conclude Miss Dilling's first group of selections.

The second section of the program begins with LeJeune et la Vieille by Felix Godefroid. Frederic Chopin's popular Minute Waltz, Franz Liszt's Etude in D Flat, arranged by Henriette Renie, and The Fountain, by Albert Zabel, will be played.

One of the works of a famous recent composer, Albert Roussel, will begin the next part of the program—Impromptu. Valse Romantique by Deodat de Severac, a contemporary French composer, is to be the second piece. Third is the familiar Clair de Lune by Claude Debussy. In Torre Bermeja, Issac Albeniz has made the color of old Spain prevail throughout the music.

In the final part of the program, Marcel Tournier's Grey Donkeys on the Road to El-Azib will be played with The Forest Pool, also by Tourneir, as the second number. The final number is Legende by Henriette Renie.

Oller Hall will be the place; 8:15, the time; Monday, the date; and Miss Mildred Dilling, the performer.

Next Paper—Dec. 4

There will be no Juniatian next week due to the Thanksgiving vacation. The next issue will be published Friday, Dec. 4.

A-Bomb Scientist To Speak Nov. 30

Monday, Nov. 30 at 8 p. m. in Oller Hall, Prof. Hubert N. Alyea will speak on the topic Atomic Energy: Weapon for Peace.

The prominent scientist and lecturer will trace the growth of ideas which led to the making of the atomic bomb and the utilization of nuclear energy. Dr. Alyea will illustrate his review with chemical experiments and lecture demonstrations. In his discussion he will also include the possibilities of other nations using the A-bomb, the necessity for a world-wide control of this weapon and the advantages which can come from the proper use of atomic energy.

Dr. Alyea graduated from Princeton University in 1925, following which he spent a year in study at the Noble Institute in Stockholm, Sweden. He then returned to Princeton where he received his doctor's degree in 1929. He has studied further at the University of Minnesota and the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute in Berlin, Germany. He is now associate professor of chemistry at Princeton.

This lecture, which is not of a highly technical nature, is free of charge and open to the student body.

Plans For Christmas Pageant Set; Eberly, Baker To Act As Co-ordinators

Miss Mary J. Pfotenhauer, director of the chapel choir, has announced that plans for the production of the annual Christmas Pageant are underway. In charge of the plans for the Pageant is the student coordinator, Wilda Widdowson Eberly, assisted by Jean Baker. Mrs. Eberly is a senior music education major, and Miss Baker, a junior, is also majoring in music education.

This year the pageant will be in the form of a tableau; that is, a series of pictures by such noted artists as Rembrandt and Corregio, which portray various Christmas scenes, will be depicted by a selected cast while the Chapel Choir provides music appropriate to each picture.

The chairman of the various committees are Barb Grim, publicity; Joan Feight, costume; Bill Braunworth, lighting; Charles Myers and Telford Knepper, stage crew; Frank Harlacher, ushers; Joy Rinehart, properties, and Marion Brightbill, make-up.

The choir has begun rehearsing the music for the production which will be given Sunday, December 13 at 3:30 p. m. in Oller Hall.

Gondoliers Praised As Entertaining Musical

by Jeanie Tait

Lilting music, gay dances, confusing complications, colorful costumes and set transformed Oller Hall into a Venetian fairyland complete with gondoliers and gondola, and provided amusing entertainment for theater-goers last weekend when the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta The Gondoliers was staged.

Gilbert and Sullivan musicals are no easy feat for a group of amateurs to present and for that reason alone, the cast, chorus and directors are to be commended for their fine work. Particularly to be praised are the efforts of Miss Doyle to produce that crisp, distinct enunication which could be heard in the very rear of Oller Hall and which is so esntial to Gilbert and Sullivan works.

It would be difficult to single out any particular member of the cast, for all were well selected and each did his part toward making a successful performance. The stage presence and poise of Helen Rosengren lent itself admirably to her portrayal of the regal Casilda and her singing, good as usual, blended well with that of Dick Livingston who was cast as the lost king in the guise of a drummer boy. Wilfred Norris, Casilda's father and the Duke of Plaza-Toro, and his demanding spouse Carol Lowdermilk enlivened many a scene with their grandiose pretensions and witty comments, especially those concerned with their ideas on matrimony.

Words of gratitude and commendation are due every student member of the committee, stage crews, orchestra, chorus and cast who contributed time and talent to our production of THE GONDOLIERS. The three faculty directors join the audiences in applauding you.

Amusing Gondoliers

Making their first appearance on Oller Hall stage were the two gondoliers, Paul Heart and Wayne Ulsh, who got many a laugh with their amusing antics when on the royal throne, especially their very unkingly robe-kicking. Providing some of the most delightful music and acting (especially in the number In a Contemplative Fashion) were the royalty-aspiring wives, Gianetta, Betty Shearer, and Tessa, Judy Gearhart.

Not to be overlooked is Paul Morrison's very capable characterization of Don Alhambra, the Grand Inquisitor. His actions and singing were completely in accord with his part which was one of the most amusing of the entire musical.

Praises Chorus

In the past it has been a known fact that the stellar attraction of any JC musical is the chorus, and this year's was no exception. The musical background and dancing provided by this group added color and zest to the evening's performance.

A final word of praise is due the stage crew which created an authentic and eye-catching Venetian square with a gondola which sailed smoothly across the stage, much to the delight and curiosity of audience members.

All in all, the Gondoliers was a well-done, entertaining production which certainly measured up to the expectations of its many viewers.

Special Bowling Rate Announced

The manager of the Arcade Bowling alleys in Huntingdon has announced that a special rate of 20 cents per game will be charged to College students Friday evenings.

From The Editor's Notes

Congratulations seem to be in order this week and they go first of all to the football team and Coach Smaltz for JC's first perfect football season. Not much new or different can really be said, but we add our thanks for the team's efforts, cooperation and spirit, the results of which could be seen by each game's score. Along this same line of thought, our thanks go also to the student body which, for the first time in several years, had a live and vital spirit. Let's keep that spirit, and in the words of Coach Smaltz, "May the spirit of operation co-operation continue throughout the year."

• • • •

Congratulations are also in order for all the students and faculty whose efforts contributed to the success of the All-College musical, The Gondoliers. Long hours of hard work and preparation were certainly not in vain, considering the end results of entertaining evenings for all listeners.

• • • •

Changing our tune somewhat, we take this opportunity to direct to the administration a request for new or at least safe fire escapes for the girls' dorm. Supposedly checked by responsible individuals before being used, the escapes in most cases are both unsafe and certainly more dangerous than fire would be, as witnessed by Monday night's fire drill.

On Founders Hall, the hinge which allows the escape to drop to the ground was broken, with the result that severe injury might have easily occurred to the first person using the stairs. As it was, it was only by pure luck that no one was hurt. Had more than one person at a time been on the swinging part, it is possible that the entire section might have collapsed.

The lighting facilities are inadequate, for it is next to impossible to see the steps if anyone is in front. The vines clinging to the building are dangerous in that they catch at clothing and could result in someone's tripping.

In short, the fire escape situation in the girls' dormitory is extremely dangerous. The ideal solution would be the building of permanent fire escapes. However there are two arguments against this. First, that they mar the appearance of the campus and second, they are expensive. Surely the safety of the students should be of more concern than the appearance of the campus. If the expense prevents building new escapes, it is not too much to ask that the old ones at least be fixed and frequently checked as to their safety.

The Things Around Us

by Jim Hunt

Little bits of this and that around Juniata!

Shucks, why talk about anything but football, it seems that it is still the chief topic of discussion on College Hill even though the football season closed officially last Saturday. Oh, and by the way it also appears as if the gridiron season closed completely and finally. Rumors of a post-season game become more vague and remote from completion as each day rolls by. Misunderstanding has raised hopes at various times during the past week but the informed sources state that the possibility of a post-season game with undefeated Westminster College has not really been seriously considered and acted upon.

It is evident the feelings that the student body has on this subject following the riotous evening that was put in last Tuesday but things like this game are not in student power to decide. Even if Juniata would formally back such a proposal it would by necessity have to be approved officially by the west-penn college. It has been confirmed that Westminster officials are seriously looking for a bowl bid for New Year's Day and reports show that they do have good possibilities.

All in all it looks like football has been completed on College Hill for another year and the Braves of Coach Bill Smaltz will have to hang up their pads and cleats until the fall of '54.

Recess To Begin Wednesday, Nov. 25

The Office of the Registrar announces that all students will be excused for the Thanksgiving holiday at 12 noon, Wednesday, November 25th. Classes will resume the following Monday, November 30, at 8 a. m.

Thanksgiving Chapel Planned For Monday

Mr. Jack Padgett will conduct the annual Juniata Thanksgiving chapel services in Oller Hall Monday in the only chapel program scheduled for next week. Dean Morley Mays has announced that there will be no chapel on Wednesday morning.

Juniata Triumph Over Ursinus Produces First Unblemished Record In Gridiron Sport History

Juniata College's undefeated Indians capped the most successful season in history with a 21-0 victory over Ursinus College last Saturday at College Field. The power-laden Braves scored once in the first half and twice in the second to rack up win number 7 in the final contest of 1953.

The Indians won the toss for the 6th time in seven games and elected to receive. Glock booted the initial kickoff to the JC 25 where Drexler returned to the 32. Juniata proceded to drive to the 45 but the Bear's defense stiffened and Yerzyk was forcd to punt. Ursinus took over on the 32 and with Glock and Milakin carrying the brunt of the attack, rolled to the JC 35, where the Indians took over after four Bear plays failed to gain the necessary yardage.

After another exchange of punts, the Indians took over on their 21. With tremendous driving spirit, they moved the ball to the Ursinus 28 as the quarter ended. The third play of the second quarter found Piazza hammering through the Bear defense for 13 yards and a TD. Veto's EP was perfect and JC lead 7-0.

The following kickoff found the Bears showing some of their terrific driving plays. Several times the Juniata ends were caught in and Glock and Milakin broke loose for considerable yardage. However, each time the Indian's defense stiffened, and prevented a score. Thus the half ended with the score still 7-0, Juniata.

Big Chief Bill Smaltz and his four main warriors riding in on 'heap big canoe' at last weeks giant pep rally.

Juniata kicked off to start the second half and it became extremely evident that the forward wall had tightened up the holes that developed in the first halt. Milakin tried two plays and Glock one and only gained 7 yards, forcing Neborak to kick to the Indian 20 yard line where Joe Trimber received and was tackled in his tracks.

From that point the charges of 'Bull' Smaltz began a sustained drive which netted them their second touchdown. Runs bv Don Pheasant, who gained 129 yards on 21 attempts for the entire game, and John Winterstein moved the ball up the field with four successive first downs.

Winterstein capped the drive with a six yard plunge and Joe Veto kicked his second extra point of the afternoon to make the scoreboard read Juniata 14, Ursinus 0.

The Indians kicked off and once again stopped the Bear attack cold after the visitors had managed to pick up the only first down that they received in the third period. Pheasant and company start out touchdown bound once again but this time were stopped short of the golden marker. Possession of the ball changed hands several times before the end of the quarter.

The final session got under way with the Indians destined to crack the double stripe at least one more time. The Bears were now taking to the airlanes and the JC defense tightened and

Running The Gauntlet

by Fritz Heydrick

As the interest of Joe Fan of Juniata College turns from the gridiron to the hardwoods, the thrilling memories of an unbeaten football season still remain. How could he forget the stirring sight after the final whistle of last Saturday's terrific 21-0 victory over the Ursinus Bears? Such things as the overjoyous players hoisting Coach Bill Smaltz to their shoulders along with the four co-captains, and carrying them off the field; the huge victory parade forming behind the band and then marching around the campus and adjoining areas; and then of course the tremendous Monday night pep rally which honored the whole team and all that participated in making it the season what it was, will always remain with him. Indeed, Joe Fan will agree that this is THE year for the Juniata Indians.

* * * *

Not only was everybody wild about the fanatic final, but the victory made sports history in five different ways:

1. Provided Juniata with its first unbeaten and untied football team in the 77-year history of the college and 31 seasons of football.

2. Gave Coach Bill Smaltz his first perfect season in seven years of coaching, all on College Hill.

3. Established a new winning streak of seven straight.

4. Shattered the previous season scoring mark with a total of 196 points compared to the 150 scored in 1938 (Won 3; Lost 4)

5. Marked a new low for the opponents' scoring with 39 compared with a previous low of 51, also in 1938.

This is undoubtedly the greatest entry in the football section of the Blue and Gold sports log that has ever been made.

* * * *

We feel that credit is also due to Bill "Harry Wismer" Engel who substituted this year for Prof. Wayne "Bill Stern" Glick in doing the play-by-play over the public address system. In addition to this Bill also is responsible for the issuing of the game stories and other releases to various papers throughout the state. Also, along with being the one man Juniata College News Bureau, one can also find him in his spare time performing his duties as Registrar of the College.

Juniata Triumph —

Trimber-Clapper double team ended with Clapper intercepting a Walker pass and returning from the 21 to the 29. From there it was only a matter of some hard driving by the Brave backfield before Juniata took a convincing 21-0 lead.

Once again Don Pheasant took charge and led the Indians the total 79 yards. Twice when the drive appeared to be stopped he went to the air and connected with essential gains. Pheasant gave the Indians their third touchdown by polishing the drive off with a 19 yard run on a buck-lateral play. Joe 'the toe' Veto added the extra point and the scoring was finished for the day.

Greene Forcasts Good Season For JC Cagers

by Bob Gottlieb

With the football season still in the minds of the fans, a basketball preview seems a bit out of place, but the Indian cage squad is well into its routine of pre-season practice for the season's opener with Franklin and Marshall on Dec. 5 in Lancaster.

An interview with Dr. T. Arnold (Doc) Greene, JC basketball coach, has revealed a promising outlook for the squad which turned in a 9-11 record last season for the Indians. This was the best Juniata performance in basketball in seven years. In looking to the future, Coach Greene states, "Our squad should be better this year: not great, mind you, but much improved over last year. This will be mainly because the boys will have had a year of varsity competition under their belts."

DR. T. ARNOLD GREENE. Indian basketball mentor, has been holding practice sessions for the Tribe netmen in preparation for the opening of the season on Dec. 5 at Franklin and Marshall. Greene will be seeking to better last year's mark of nine wins and eleven losses in Juniata's fiftieth a hoop season.

Squad Shows Hustle

Doc seemed to be highly pleased with everyone's hustle and eagerness to get into shape for the Tribe's fiftieth season. He feels that as of now his starting lineup for the opener is still very tentative, with the exception of sophs Jake Handzelek and Walt Vanderbush.

Concerning Vanderbush, the Huntingdon dentist said, "I look for Walt to come into his own this year, thereby realizing his tremendous potentialities." Of Handzelek, who last year averaged 23.7 points per game as a freshman, Greene states, "He seems to be sharper than last year."

Other upperclassmen who will see considerable varsity action are sophs Chuck Gross, Torry Froisland, Howie Kerstetter, Jack Golden. Lee Hallman, Bernie Oriss, and juniors Jim Boulton and George O'Brien.

Six Frosh Turn Out

The mere mention of the six frosh members of the squad brings a gleam to Greene's eye. Reluctant to single out any single individual for praise, Doc is especially pleased with the clever ball handling of Bob Gombos and the smooth style of Joe Zupancic.

As was the custom last year, everyone will dress for the varsity games with the subs playing the JayVee contests. Individual game performances will determine whether a player works with the varsity or "Little Indians."

Greene plans to use the fast break extensively, but he also has other offensive and defensive surprises for the rivals of the Indians. Thus, all devotees of the cage sport can be assured of many exciting evenings in the Memorial Gym this winter when the Indians tangle with their opponents in a schedule showing ten home contests.

Full Season Statistics Reveal Team Leaders Pheasant, Tarquinio, Trimber, Yerzyk Excel

Final season's averages for Juniata's unbeaten football squad reveal the best scoring record in history for the Tribe. Amassing a total of 196 points against only 39 for the opposition, Juniata piled up a net gain of 1985 yards while yielding only 1093. Don Pheasant led the team with 662 yards to his credit. Doyle Reports On Reading Tour; Finds Kansas Students Friendly

by Linda Weeast

Miss Esther Doyle, professor of English, recently returned from a tour of Kansas. While there, she gave lectures and readings at various colleges, spending two days at each one.

When asked her impressions of the colleges she visited, Miss Doyle spoke first of their physical qualities. She said that there is a feeling of spaciousness at the middle western colleges, because of the level ground, and that the campuses are spread out more than ours. Students there have to walk farther to get from one building to another.

She was very pleased with the friendliness on the part of the students toward a visitor. Students often spoke to her whether or not she had had them in any of her classes. This helped her to feel very much at home. She said that everyone adds to the total atmosphere of the campus, since no two groups of people are alike, so no two campuses are alike. The most friendliness and vocal appreciation she received was at the Brethren College, McPherson. Students seemed to enjoy best the readings of scenes from "The Corn is Green." She considers that the best compliment she received was "Gosh, I didn't know poetry could sound like that!"

There were no particularly harrowing experiences in her trip, but she was a little bewildered once when there was no one to meet her and found that she was not expected until the following day. She was also a little worried when one bus broke down and she thought she would be late for an appointment, but she was relieved to find that another bus was awaiting.

On the tour, she met Miss Anna Benjamin, who asked to be remembered to all her friends at Juniata. Miss Benjamin said that she enjoys very much her work at the University of Missouri.

To the question "Any other remarks?", Miss Doyle replied that she was glad to come back to JC.

All-Class Nite History Reviewed; Skits Ready Program December 5

The original purpose of All-Class Night as stated by one of its founders, Dr. Donald Rockwell, was to draw the campus together through one night when each club on campus could present a short skit. The secondary purpose was to provide for an evening of entertainment in the school calendar which, at that time, (believe it or not), was rather skimpy.

Time has brought about a definite change in this original idea. Now each of the classes presents a 20 minute skit which takes the place of the ten minute skits once presented. It was felt that more interest would be stimulated through competition, so judges were called in to determine the winner

December fifth, All-Class Night will again be observed. All scripts have been turned in and are being read by the committee composed of Dean Alice Dove, Dr. Rockwell, and chairman of All-Class Night, Betty Shearer.

Harold Brumbaugh is complying with the resolution concerning the judging problem. It was decided, with the consent of the student Senate and the Leadership Conference personnel, that there be five judges: three of whom will be alumni of at least three years who have had intimate contact with All-Class Night while at Juniata, one who is a faculty member, and one, a department head in English or dramatics from a neighboring college.

Now, one question for all students to really think about. Don't you think that the All-Class Night trophy should be on display somewhere on campus?

Five JC Students To Attend Youth Conf.; Glick To Speak

The Brethren Student Christian Movement will hold its Thanksgiving Program at Manchester College, in North Manchester, Indiana. The theme of the Conference is Dare To Believe, with an exciting program designed to carry out the theme. The conference will be on Thursday, November 26, and continue through Sunday, November 29.

Professor G. Wayne Glick who has a leave of absence from Juniata where he taught Biblical Studies and Philosophy will contribute to the conference Friday morning with an address entitled "What Brethren Youth Need Most."

Paul M. Robinson, the newly elected president of Bethany Biblical Seminary, will speak at three meetings during the conference on "Things We Believe In", "A Way of Life"', and "What We Believe and What We Do."

Ed Crill and Vernard Eller, whose offices are in Elgin, where they contribute much by way of literature and advice to Brethren youth, are scheduled to help lead the conference. Ed, it would seem, is a kind of toastmaster, for his duties are suggested under the heading "Chat and Chew with Ed!" Eller, whose articles appear in Brethren Sunday School Quarterlys and Youth Magazines such as Horizons, will speak Friday morning.

The conference will worship Sunday morning in the Manchester Church of the Brethren where President Schwalon will deliver the message "Jesus Christ, Lord of Life."

Representing Juniata at this conference will be Nancy Rosenberger, Ernest Lashlee, Ron Morgan, Dorla Kinsey, Carol Jenkins, and possibly Mr. Jack Padgett.

All-Class Nite To Be Presented In Oller Hall Tomorrow

The Juniatian

Vol. 30—No. 11 | Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. | Friday, Dec. 4, 1953

Sketches Of All-Class Nite Plots Released; Juniors 1st On Program

Today will find many excited people scurrying hither and there attending to last minute details in an effort to perfect the productions of tomorrow's traditional All Class Night. Now that the hours of research are over, the tedious job of rewriting the script completed, and the difficult task of selecting a cast accomplished, there remains but the final practice before the curtain rises on the opening night.

In order that the judges might have a more equalized basis on which to judge the various class presentations, each skit is written on a historical foundation.

Frosh

The freshmen under chairman and director Bob Hamm will bring to life the famous court trial of John T. Scopes featuring a brilliant battle of legal wits by Clarence Darrow and William Jennings Bryan. The trial centers around the age-old question of science versus religious fanaticism.

Sophs

The sophomore class will portary, through the editors, reporters, and other characters in a newspaper office on the night of the election of 1920, how various people comprehended the then radical idea of Woodrow Wilson for an international peace organization and their consequent actions. Nan Heller is filling the position of chairman with Elinor Pielstick serving as director.

Juniors

Another tradition of Juniata College, but one of which the students are perhaps unaware, is the story of Alfarata and her lover. The class of '55 under Pat Henry, chairman and director, will present for your enjoyment their presentation of this romantic legend.

Seniors

Lonely Outcry, the senior class production, is a story of a Spartan family as it faces the decision of whether or not, on moral grounds, to fulfill a demand placed upon them by the state. The theme of the story, which is carried by a chorus, might be very aptly stated as being representative of man's endless struggle for progress. "Fritz" Blechschmidt is acting as both chairman and director.

The sequence of presentations was determined purely by chance in the drawing of slips. The order will be as follows: juniors, sophomores, freshmen, seniors. Bill Weyant will play the organ and Bill Braunwarth is in charge of lighting.

Social Calendar Features Clubs, Class Programs

Plans for the social calendar for the remainder of the College year are well under way, according to Russ Hill, Senate chairman of social activities.

Finishing out the round of social events this semester are a basketball game, Dec. 7; the annual Christmas dance, Dec. 15; the movie, All My Sons, Jan. 9; and an affair sponsored by the WAA and J Club Jan. 16. During final exams, nothing has been scheduled.

Starting off the second semester with a bang will be the sophomore class party under the direction of John Yates, Feb. 6. Basketball again takes the spotlight, Feb. 13, Elizabethtown and Feb. 27, Lycoming. The movie, Great Expectations, is set for Feb. 20.

The class of '57 will get its chance Mar. 6, with the social committee taking over Mar. 13. The Masque play is scheduled for Mar. 19, 20 and 21. April 10 will find the JCA providing a program, while another movie, Bright Victory, will be shown April 17. The Pyrenees Club will sponsor the Saturday entertainment April 24.

The biggest social event of the second semester, the junior-senior prom, will be held May 1, in connection with the May Day celebration. The Masque will be featured May 8, a faculty talent show, May 15 and the Outing Club, May 22.

Dunbar To Speak In Special Chapel

The second long assembly program of the semester is scheduled for Monday with Olive Dunbar presenting a program of poetry and drama.

Miss Dunbar, a professional actress, studied at the Yale Drama School. She appeared with Ethel Barrymore in Joyous Dream, with Maurice Evans in the Devil's Disciple, with Gertrude Lawrence in Tonight at 8:30, with Basil Rathbone in The Heiress, with Mady Christians in I Remember Mama, with Celeste Holm in She Stoops to Conquer and with Eva LeGallienne in The Corn is Green.

Recently she took part in Camille in the Studio I television production. She has had extensive radio and television experience. Miss Dunbar has appeared in guest star performances in college productions and has also had theater-in-the round experience in Texas and New York.

Donald Adams, who was to speak at this program, had to cancel his lecture because of illness.

The following schedule will be in effect Monday:

First period—8 to 8:45
Second period—8:50 to 9:35
Chapel—9:45 to 10:40
Third period—10:50 to 11:35
Fourth period—11:40 to 12:25

Second Dues Day Scheduled Tues.

Tuesday has been set for the second Dues Day of the semester, according to Lolita Carfora, Senate chairman of general activities. Representatives from each class will be on hand in front of Students Hall to collect the dues. Provided the weather is bad, they will be stationed in Totem Inn.

This second Dues Day has been scheduled since the results from the first one were very poor.

Christmas Pageant Soloists, Music Numbers Announced

The cast and crew of the annual Christmas Pageant, under the direction of Miss Mary J. Pfotenhauer, are working diligently to perfect their production, which is to be given Sunday, December 13. The pageant, in tableau form, will feature depictions of the art works of Simone Martini, Fra Bartolommeo, Plockharst, Corregio, and Rembrandt.

The students who will depict the various characters are Doris Markey and Ruth Bowser as Mary; Rem Grove and Ron Morgan as Joseph; Mark Beech, Ray Pfrogner, and Alfred Nyce as the shepherds; Jack Golden, Ben Newcomer, and Bob Bridenbaugh as the three wise men; Ron Dilling and John Dale as attendants; and Shirley and Charlotte Detwiler, and Nell Shoop as angels.

Bach's Break Forth O Beauteous Heavenly Light, Praetorius' Today Is Born Emanuel, Luther's Cradle Hymn, Pergolesi's Glory to God, Cornelius' Three Kings, and As With Gladness Men of Old by Kocher are a few of the numerous musical selections which will be sung by the Chapel Choir, and soloists Lois Parker, Nancy Rosenberger, Judy Gearhart, Wayne Ulsh, Ernie Lashlee, Clem Rosenberger, and Wilfred Norris. Professor Donald Johnson will accompany the choir on the organ.

The admission to the Christmas program is free, the time is 3:30 p. m., and the place is Oller Hall.

Book Auction Ends Monday

The book auction sponsored by the JC library will close Monday at 4 p. m. At that time books in great demand will be subject to active bidding.

The auction began Tuesday, Dec. 1. All types of books are on display in the Pennsylvania Room of the library where students may place their bids. The minimum bid is five cents.

Frosh Officers Elected Monday

The Class of '57 elected its class officers Monday in freshman assembly. Bob Hamm, from Hanover, will fill the office of president. Hamm is also the freshman chairman of All-Class Night.

Vice-president is Dave Amidon of Lititz. Amidon was temporary treasurer of the Class and a member of the steering committee.

Peggy McDonald, from Hanover, was elected the Secretary of the class. Jim Martin, of Colver, is the treasurer.

The class also elected Ted Grothe, of York, as parliamentarian and Rich Caulk, of Pitman, N. J., as chaplain. Grothe is interested in playing golf for Juniata and Caulk is a member of the Varsity Quartet and the Touring Choir.

Filing System, Chapel, Study Program, Bands Discussed At Senate

The supervised study plan, a filing system for campus activities, and Christmas decorations were among the main items of business at Wednesday's Senate meetings.

The supervised study plan was reviewed and will not continue any longer. The official Senate statement can be found on page two.

It was suggested that a permanent filing system be maintained by all clubs and campus organizations in order to pass on pertinent information from year to year. Folders will be purchased for each organization and the program will be put into effect this year.

Financing Decorations

In the matter of financing Christmas decorations, the money in the general activities fund allotted for Christmas decorations will be divided among the four classes. Should any more money be needed, it will come from the individual class treasuries.

Carol Lowdermilk was made responsible for checking laundry facilities and for posting directions for use of laundromats and driers in the laundry room.

Memos will be sent to both President Ellis and the J Club requesting the installation of coke machines in the men's dorms.

Hanger Facilities

The hanger facilities at the men's entrance to the dining hall were then discussed. The movable hanger stands used on campus will be transferred to the dining hall.

A report was then given on Totem Inn. The walls will probably be painted this summer, definitely not this year. The jukebox speaker will be connected upstairs for use at after-dinner dances and a committee has been appointed to handle problems pertaining to the juke box. Russ Hill will check concerning the

Spring Curriculum Has Three Additional Courses

According to A. William Engel, registrar, three new courses have been added to the spring curriculum. Also several courses are being presented in an entirely differently manner this next semester. History of Russia, a course that was in the curriculum several years ago, is being offered again.

There are two new art courses which will be taught by Prof. James Wilson. The first course is Modern Art 4 which is a study of the western art of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Emphasis will be placed on contemporary directions of art in relation to their cultural and aesthetic roots. The course will be presented in the form of illustrated lectures, readings, and reports. The other new art course is Elementary Oil Painting 8. This course will be taught with the object of developing techniques in observation and in the handling of medium as well as acquiring basic elements of composition, color, and design.

Applied Psychology, under Professor Wilson Kimbrough, is another new course. The purpose of this subject is to place emphasis on contributions of psychology to business, medicine, law, and other professions. Basic concepts of psychology are applied in acquiring an understanding of human problems in these fields.

Biblical history, taught by Mr. Jack Padgett, will consist of two lecture periods Tuesday and Thursday at 11:30 in Oller Hall, and one class period a week. The 200 freshmen will be divided into ten groups for this class period held in Students Hall.

Principles of Political Science by Dr. Theodore Lockwood will consist of two lecture periods Monday and Friday at 1:45, and discussion sessions to be assigned from the groups.

Students can pick up copies of the spring curriculum schedule in the registrar's office.

From The Editor's Notes

Throughout the school year, the Senate has asked and will continue to ask the support of the student body on certain problems and issues. Now the Senate brings to your attention and asks your help on a problem which has existed since the opening of school and which has grown worse with each passing week. That problem in reverence in chapel.

Three times a week you go to Oller Hall for a religious service. You either go inside quietly and sit down, or more likely you wait outside until the last moment, talking with your friends; that talking never ceases until the service is well under way. The services in Oller Hall are primarily religious; and regardless of your religious beliefs and your opinions concerning these chapel programs and speakers, you should enter Oller Hall in a reverent spirit. Surely the talk and companionship of friends can be postponed for one-half hour.

It might be argued that the atmosphere of Oller Hall is not conducive to a reverent spirit. It is an auditorium with which you associate plays, operettas, lectures, not religious services. Founders Chapel was originally used. The possibility of having chapel in the Stone Church has been discussed and discarded for several reasons: the wear and tear of 500 students three times a week would not be easy on the church, it is a Brethren Church and cannot be entered by some students, and it would soon be taken for granted and the general attitude would be no more respectful than it is at present in Oller Hall. There is not a chapel on campus. So the services are conducted in Oller Hall. But how important actually are surroundings? Is religion a matter of lighted candles, stain-glass windows and flowers? It is individual response to beliefs and faiths, and no amount of appropriate decoration should be necessary to strenghten your faith.

On coming to Juniata, you accept the fact that it is a religious college and you should be prepared to participate in that phase of college life. Chapel is one part of this religious life. The programs, on the most part, are designed as religious services and should be just that. No amount of administrative regulations or requesting can make them so, unless you accept your individual responsibility. And that responsibility is to attend the chapel program in Oller Hall with quiet and respectful attitude.

This problem was referred to the Senate which discussed it and made several suggestions. However the Senate can do no more than suggest ideas. The rest is up to you. The Senate is now suggesting this idea of a more respectful attitude in chapel; will you do your part?

Senate States Policy On Frosh Study Plan

The official statement of the Student Senate concerning the supervised study plans is as follows:

The Senate feels that the purpose of the plan has been accomplished and therefore the study sessions will be discontinued.

By this time, students should be aware of what is required to maintain satisfactory academic standing. The mid-term grades have given to each student some indication of how much work he need do to meet the College standards.

The program has lasted long enough for each student to set up his own study habits which should be continued throughout the year.

The conclusion of the Senate is that the supervised study program has started the freshmen in correct study habits; it is their duty to carry them on.

A comprehensive evaluation of the program will be made; and on the basis of this inquiry, the Senate will recommend that the study program be again established for the same period of time next year and in subsequent years.

The Things Around Us

by Jim Hunt

A true test of that 'Juniata Spirit' will be made in the very near future. Of course we are referring to the coming cage season which will start round number two on the College Hill sports program for 1953-54. Many questions will be answered in due time such as 'was the spirit completely dependent on an undefeated football team'?—can it be carried on to another activity which possibly might not prove to be as successful.

Nobody can truthfully answer these questions at this time and there is absolutely no value in trying because the only true test in this case is a test of 'time will tell'. Juniata's cage schedule this year is a real rough one that will test to the utmost the ability of our team and the coaches. Hopes of an undefeated season in basketball are highly improbable although they cannot be ruled out as impossible. But does this really matter when one talks of school spirit and loyalty.

We will probably lose some basketball games but in the event we do it will not be sufficient reason for support on the part of the student body to disintegrate. The football team recognized and responded to the prevailing spirit during the fall and we wonder if the basketball team wouldn't be affected the same way. This year's team is relatively young for a college outfit (that's putting it mildly when we realize there is not one senior on the entire squad) but the varsity has a year of experience under their belts and it should be real evident, increasingly so as the season rolls along.

So when Monday night rolls around why not let the basketball team know we are really behind them by turning out to see the Geneva game. But whether or not we are able to see the game let's all remember that all year long we will back our basketball team.

Accent On Reading

If you like tending to other people's business, there is no reading like biography. Try it!

THE OLIVERS, by Felix Barker. A tribute to a remarkable talented couple—Sir Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh. It concerns their personal lives as well as their theatrical careers. In compiling this biography the author had access to the theatrical and movie records, personal diaries and letters, and information from friends and relatives.

BOSWELL ON THE GRAND TOUR, Germany and Switzerland 1764, edited by F. A. Pottle. This fourth volume of the "Yale Editions of the Private Papers of James Boswell" is a wonderfully fresh and detailed journal of Boswell as he samples the dazzling court life in Germany and seeks out two of the greatest men of his day—Rousseau in Switzerland and Voltaire in France.

CHARES DICKENS, his tragedy and triumph, by Edgar Johnson. There is much new material not included in other biographies. The author presents analyses of each novel, each with its social and historical background. This is likely to remain the definitive Dickens biography for years to come.

Mens IM Loop Opens; League Procedure Set

The men's intramural basketball season opened last night in the Memorial Gym. According to Chairman of Athletics Joe Hinish, games will be scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday nights and Saturday afternoons.

Intramural games will be played under regular collegiate rules, with the exception that four twelve minute quarters will be played, with the clock allowed to run during one minute time outs. However, in order to prevent stalling by the team which is ahead, only one time out will be permitted in the final quarter.

Each team is required to have at least eight players on its roster, and a system of intra-mural league transactions involving player personnel will be conducted just as it is in professional sports. That is, a system of waivers will be used whereby the weakest club will get first choice if a player gets cut from his team.

Starting times of the Tuesday and Thursday night games will be 7:00 and 8:15, thus enabling a total of four games to be played in an evening. The first series of games is being scheduled on a tentative basis until a season schedule can be worked out for the 15-team loop.

Hinish also stated that anyone who has high school or other basketball experience and who would be willing to referee the games is requested to contact him as soon as possible.

Blue All Stars Take Crown In Hockey League

The girls intramural hockey season came to a successful close as the Blue All-Star team defeated a similar Gold team in two out of three games. These teams were composed of eight girls from each of the four teams in the league during the regular season.

The players were chosen for the Blue and Gold teams on the basis of individual playing ability and team cooperation. The captains of each league team were responsible for selecting the eight outstanding players on their teams.

The hockey season for 1953 was an extremely successful one because of the keen interest shown by all the squads. Each team, composed of girls interested in hockey but who were not necessarily members of the WAA, played the other three teams twice during the season.

Running The Gauntlet

by Fritz Heydrick

CONGRATULATIONS are in order to Pat Tarquinio, Joe Trimber, and Don Pheasant for being named to an Honorable Mention spot on the 1953 Associated Press All Pennsylvania collegiate football team. Sportswriters and broadcasters throughout the state voted for the players which they thought would make the best Pennsylvania "Dream" team. Biggest vote getter was little Joe Ujobai of Gettysburg, who also copped the state scoring crown.

• • • •

Incidentally, a total of 19 teams completed their football schedules unbeaten and untied. The only major team in this select few was the University of Maryland, which scored 298 points over the season as against 31 for the opponents. East Texas State and Prairie View join Maryland in winning 10 games, while four teams ended their season with nine wins; nine schools had eight straight victories; the Indians had the distinction of being the only team in the country to win seven games in a row; and two squads finished with six wins. Juniata was seventh in total points scored by the opponents, and 13 in total team points scored.

• • • •

As a closing note to the football season, it might be pointed out that a new Northeast Conference has been proposed, and would take in most of the major college teams in the lower New England-New Jersey-Pennsylvania area. The conference is being formed to stimulate attendance, cut down expenses, and foster new rivalries among these "independents." Now, if these larger football powers feel that this is the only way to bolster the general interest among football fans, then why would it not be plausible to set up a similar conference for small colleges to promote the same ideas? Many of smaller colleges such as JC are finding the struggle to maintain a football team almost useless, and if such a conference would do what it has been proposed to do for big college teams, then it would also be a blessing for small college teams!

JC Hoop Squad Begins Slate At F&M Tomorrow

Three games in the next five days will inaugurate Juniata's fiftieth basketball season. The Tribe will encounter Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster tomorrow in the season opener, and Geneva on Monday for the first game of the year in the Memorial Gym. On Wednesday the squad will travel to play Ursinus.

With a year's experience under their belts, the Indians will be expected to provide more formidable opposition than they did in last year's game as they invade F & M tomorrow. Victims of a 79-58 romp by this opponent last season, Juniata is expected to floor a starting lineup consisting of five sophomores.

JC Starts Sophomores

At forward will probably be Howie Kerstetter and Chuck Gross; Walt Vanderbush is expected to start at center; and the guards will be Jake Handzelek and Lee Hallman. The latter is probably the most likely candidate to take over the post left vacant when sophomore ace Dave Pollock left JC to enter the armed forces.

Pollock scored 301 points last year to be the first JC basketball player ever to break the 300 point mark for two seasons in a row. Handzelek led last year's squad in point production with 473, Vanderbush netted 263, while Kerstetter is the third returning letterman who broke the century mark with 133 tallies. Gross accounted for 38 points in 1952-53 while Hallman, who saw limited varsity action, netted 27 points for the Indians.

Starting for Franklin and Marshall will be Richard Dunn whose 329 points paced the Diplomats in scoring last year. Other lettermen who will see action tomorrow night are Carson Lovett, Dale Ritter, Lee Pitock and Carl Yoder. All but Ritter stand over six feet tall, and Lovett stands at six and a half even.

Geneva 1st Home Game

Pacing Juniata in last year's encounter with the Dips was Handzelek who netted 24 points, while Lovett had 22 for F. & M.

Providing the opposition in Tuesday's home opener will be a strong Geneva team. The visitors, who played their first 1953 game in the NAIA tournament in Kansas City, will be without the services of five of last year's squad. Three of the five were regulars who helped Geneva capture the Pennsylvania small college title.

The Geneva team will be no strangers to the Memorial Gym, for it was here that it faced Millersville State Teachers College in the game which netted the Covenanters the District 30 NAIA crown.

Ursinus Seeks Revenge

Ursinus will be seeking to avenge an 88-77 defeat by Juniata on Wednesday. The Bears will be sparked by Swett, a 6'8" giant, who scored 256 points last year to pace the team in that category. Six returning lettermen will add strength to the Bears' squad. Schumaker, Knull and Eddy netted 575 points among them last year for the home team.

On The Club Scene

by Joy Hardesty

The club schedule this week is a full and interesting one, for it includes several outside speakers and a panel discussion.

IRC

The IRC meeting will be held Thursday, Dec. 10, at 7:45 p. m. in the I. Harvey Brumbaugh House. After business matters have been taken care of, the meeting wil consist of a panel discussion on the United States foreign policy. Everyone who is interested in hearng this is invited to attend.

Tycoon

Mr. Ray English, a prominent local merchant, will speak to members of the TYCOON CLUB at 7 Friday evening, Dec. 4 in the I. Harvey Brumbaugh House. His subject will be "Buying and Selling."

IVCF

The IVCF will feature Miss Marilynn Smart, a missionary candidate of the "China Inland Mission," when it meets at 7:15 p. m. Friday, Dec. 4 in Founder's Chapel. Miss Smart has just finished her missionary training and will leave for the Orient in January. Her talk, on the Biblical basis for missions, will be illustrated with slides. Friday afternoon, Miss Smart will be talking personally with people who are interested in this sort of work. Anyone who would like to make an appointment with her should contact Marilyn Walters.

The following clubs have not yet devised a definite program:

LAMBDA GAMMA—7:15 Friday evening in the Clothing Lab.

J CLUB—7:45 p. m. Thursday, in Room C.

JCA—7:15 Tuesday evening, in Founder's Chapel.

Registration For Spring Term Fri.

The following plan of registration for the Spring term has been announced by the Office of the Registrar:

Friday, December 11—members of the senior class, all home economic majors, and all music majors. (Also to be included in this group are those who seek outside employment during the holidays.)

Monday, December 14—members of the junior and sophomore classes.

Tuesday, December 15—all freshmen.

The procedure to be followed will be similar to that employed during the Fall Term Registration, beginning in Room C.

Senate — bookstore and post office hours and a more satisfactory arrangement will be worked out.

Off-Campus Bands

The Senate went on record as favoring permission to use off-campus musicians for the Homecoming dance, Christmas formal and junior-senior reception. A committee composed of Russ Hill, Bernie Petrusky, Bob Bridenbaugh, Abe Finton and the class presidents, will discuss the matter with President Ellis.

Four campus locations were chosen for Christmas decorations with each of the four classes taking one. The freshmen will take the front campus site while the sophomores will decorate Founders Porch. Totem Inn will be decorated by the junior class with the seniors taking over the Social Rooms.

Chapel

The Senate then discussed the problem of reverence in chapel. Several suggestions were made including many varied types of speakers, variations in the program order and a Senate request to the student body.

A motion was made that the Senate underwrite an eye examination and the prescription of glasses for Paul Amash, the Senate sponsored foreign student.

Records are needed for the dining hall. Anyone having spare 78 or 33 inch records which could be used in the dining room is asked to contact any member of the Senate.

Brethren Conference Gives Rich Experience For Seven Juniatians

by Nancy Rosenberger

For most Juniatians, Thanksgiving was spent smelling and eating a mouth-watering turkey with all the trimmings; but for seven of us, the day was spent in a far different way. Wednesday afternoon, Ruthie Bowser, Dorla Kinsey, Ernie Lashlee, Ron Morgan, Don Replogle, Mr. Padgett and I met a busload of students from Elizabethtown on the turnpike and started for North Manchester, Indiana, to attend the Brethren student Christian Movement Conference at Manchester College.

Our Thanksgiving dinner was eaten at a tearoom with 50 other conference students. The main part of the conference started that evening with registration and recreation.

This Brethren Conference was attended by more than 100 students representing all six of the Brethren Colleges. Art Hunn, a senior at Manchester and president of BSCM, was in charge of the conference.

The main speakers were Dr. Paul Robinson, the newly-elected president of Bethany Seminary and a Juniata graduate of the class of '35, and G. Wayne Glick, in leave of absence from JC. Prof. Glick provided the answer to the question What Do Brethren Students Need Most?—"a creed of the heart." Prof. Glick sends best wishes to all at JC.

Mays Announces Community Educational Service Program

Plans are now under way to prepare another program of short-term, non-credit courses for Juniata's third community educational service. The program instituted two years ago has been such a success that Dean Morley Mays reports that the College is more than willing to make the opportunity available again.

Dean Mays, administrator of the program, stated this week that "at least eight courses are under consideration" and others will be considered "if suggestions are made." The 1954 program will open in January following the Christmas and New Year holiday.

Because of the increasing interest in painting as a hobby, the program will offer three courses in that area, according to Dean Mays. Courses considered are elementary oil paintings, advanced oil painting and water color.

Public speaking, current affairs, cooking and child training also are included on the preliminary listing of courses. A course in "How To Take Pictures" is planned as a follow-up to last year's course in photography.

The entire program is "designed to serve the needs of those whose formal education may have been incomplete as well as those who feel the need to be better equipped to cope with current problems —even if the problems are in a hobby," Dean Mays explained.

The courses will be open to any one with a low fee to cover operating costs. Each class meets once a week for approximately six weeks. No college credit is given.

Dean Mays went on to state that details of registration will be announced in the near future.

Christmas Dance Highlights Season

December 15, 1953 is a big day for Juniatians, for this is the date set for the annual Christmas dinner and dance.

The women's house committee has charge of the dinner. The dance will be held in the new gym, at 8:30 p. m. complete with an outside orchestra.

The theme is to be Santa's Workshop, and Russ Hill, committee chairman, says that the decorations will be extra special. This semi-formal dinner and dance is the last big social event before the Christmas Holidays.

At a business meeting Saturday, Ernie Lashlee was elected as Juniata's representative for the cabinet for the coming year. Don Replogle is his assistant.

Following the business session, the students were divided in teams of six each to canvass the town for old clothes for overseas relief.

Saturday evening's banquet was followed by a program of skits by each college. JC enacted a marriage ceremony.

President Schalm of Manchester College delivered the morning address and music was provided by the conference choir.

In the afternoon we said goodbye with words and snowballs and headed for Pennsylvania through ice and snow. Juniata welcomed us at 6:45 Monday morning.

We wish to express our thanks to all those who made it possible for us to attend the BSCM conference. It was truly a rich experience to see old friends, meet new ones and, most of all, to strengthen our Christian beliefs.

Seniors "Lonely Outcry" Selected As Top All-Class Night Skit

Semi-Formal Dance Scheduled For Tuesday Eve.

Four Class Skits Provide Evening Of Entertainment

by Jeanie Tait

Saturday's 17th All-Class Night certainly provided enthusiasm and spirit for the heretofore failing campus activity. The four skits proved, without doubt, that All-Class Night can be a success and can present skits which are both entertaining and worthwhile.

Each of the productions reached a level superior to those of past years; certainly more time and effort were put into each one. Whether this was due to the new system of categories or to the general committee directing affairs cannot be determined; however it is certain that this year's plays will revitalize the All-Class Night activity.

Juniors

The juniors, depicting a familiar JC story, The Legend of Alfarata, did more with their simple plot than might have been expected. The realistic setting, the very effective lighting, and the chorus were the factors that made the skit. An innovation to All-Class Night productions, the chorus read well both as a group and individually, although its lines were somewhat suggestive of last year's Evangeline. The actors were better in pantomine than in voice; for that reason the chorus did a double duty—it carried the story and made up for the handicap of inexperienced actors.

Sophs

The sophomore presentation, Harding Was Their Choice, had possibilities which weren't realized, with the exception of a few individual performers and lines. Inexperienced actors, again, were probably the downfall of this particular skit. None seemed to consider audience reaction; they recited their lines when the spectators were still laughing at a previous comment, with the result that many lines were either muffled or completely unheard. The flapper, who is rapidly becoming an All-Class Night tradition, made another appearance which was unnecessary in a newspaper scene. The overplayed politicians and several of the minor characters in the newspaper office were well-played and highly amusing; the dialogue in most cases, was clever and in keeping with characters.

Christmas Dance Tuesday; Royals Engaged To Play

Santa Claus will come to town Tuesday evening when the women's gym will be transformed into Santa's workshop for the annual Christmas dance, beginning at 8:30 p. m.

Santa and his reindeer will make an appearance at his workshop sometime during the evening. All the Yuletide spirit will prevail with a tree, presents, Santa and even egg nog.

The Royals will provide the music for the affair which is presented by the Social committee under the direction of Russ Hill, chairman of social activities. A dance program will be given at the dinner for signing up different dance partners for five dances.

Prior to the dance, the annual Christmas dinner will be held in the dining room at 6 p. m. sponsored by the Women's House Committee. "Weezie" Neikirk is in charge with a committee composed of Joyce Mullan, Sally Coulomb, Joy Rinehart and Nancy Rosenberger.

John Cook will be master of ceremonies for the event. Entertainment will consist of a quartet of carollers, group singing and the appearance of Santa.

Students bringing guests to the dinner may pick up tickets in the treasurer's office for $1.50. All students attending the dinner are asked to sign the list posted in Founders Hall.

Senate Appoints Four Committees; Names Chairmen

The following committees were named by the Senate to investigate and handle campus matters:

The committee to study the revision of the Senate constitution and to suggest changes within the composition of the Senate will be headed by Wilfred Norris. Named to the committee were Bob Bridenbaugh, Jim Holsopple, Bernie Petrusky, Nancy Vaughn Sergeant and Jeanie Tait.

Bob Flory is chairman of the campus landscaping committee while Sue Jamison will take charge of the committee working on identifying signs for the campus and buildings.

The committee to investigate Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities includes Jeanie Tait, chairman, Juanita Carfora and Abe Finton.

Joe Hinish, Senate chairman of athletics, gave a report on the progress of Operation Recreation (the skating dam). Work yet to be done includes leveling off the grounds and laying the pipe.

Final Pageant Plans Set; Soloists To Be Featured

Final rehearsals for the annual Christmas Pageant, a chapel choir presentation, are underway, under the direction of Miss Mary J. Pfotenhauer. Two music education majors, Wilda Widdowson Eberly and Jean Baker, are acting as student co-ordinators for this production.

The Pageant, in tableau form, will feature soloists Lois Parker, Judy Gearhart, Nancy Rosenberger, Wayne Ulsh, Ernie Lashlee, Clem Rosenberger, and Wilfred Norris, in numerous musical selections, beginning with Bach's Break Forth O Beauteous Heavenly Light. Accompanying these musical selections on the organ will be Professor Donald Johnson.

Cast in the main roles of the depictions are Doris Markey and Ruth Bowser as Marys, and Rem Grove and Ron Morgan as Josephs. The scenes to be depicted will be taken from the works of Martini, Bartolemmeo, Rembrandt, and several other noted artists.

The student body and faculty, as well as the townspeople, are cordially invited to attend this program, free-of-charge, Sunday, promptly at 3:30 p. m. in Oller Hall.

JCA, Santa, "Parents" To Entertain Children In Annual Xmas Party

by Betty Shearer

Love came down at Christmas,
Love all lovely, love divine.
Love was born at Christmas
Stars and angels gave the sign.

These words by Christina Georgina Rosetti, although certainly not famous, contain the innermost meaning of Christmas. One of the ways in which this meaning is made manifest on campus each year is through the Christmas party given for the underprivileged children of Huntingdon and Mt. Union.

Through the Salvation Army Headquarters in Huntingdon, 60 children have been contacted and two "parents" per child have been secured from the student body. The little boys and girls age from four to ten years. They will be brought from Mt. Union to the Salvation Army Headquarters where their adopted parents may find them.

Special Program

A program, to be held at 8:15 p. m. in the old gym, has been planned for the children. It will consist of group singing, a reading of the Christmas story by Pat Henry and a special number which will be a surprise.

Santa Gifts

Santa will present each child with two gifts, one from the JCA and the other from his "parents", after which refreshments will be served. A dance for students is scheduled for the latter part of the evening.

The JCA is responsible for the party which comes under the Personal Campus Affairs Commission. "Shorty" Zook, chairman of recreation under this commission is in charge of the party with Pat Henry from the Social Responsibility Commission as her assistant.

Request Stated By Post Office

The Huntingdon Post Office has requested the cooperation of the student body in the following matters:

Students rooming in private homes are urged to use Juniata College as their mailing address. Delivery will be speedier, householders will not be inconvenienced and forwarding of mail at the end of the term will be facilitated if this is done.

If students insist on receiving mail at private home addresses, they are urged to file change of address forms with the College postal sub-station. This is so that the post office can deliver incorrectly addressed mail.

Questions concerning these and other matters of post office policy and service should be referred to Mr. Robert Fisher, manager of the Totem Inn.

Caroling, Dickens Christmas Carol Reading Featured In Next Weeks Christmas Activities

by Joy Hardesty

"for Santa Claus is comin' to town . . ."

Yes, the students at Juniata are not lacking a bit in Christmas spirit, even though the weatherman doesn't seem to want to help out with some light fluffy snow. In keeping with this spirit, a great whirl of activities, designed to send us home feeling all "Christmasy" and ready for old St. Nick, will be coming up next week.

Monday evening at 7, the JCA has planned a surprise program to be held in the social rooms.

Formal Dinner

Tuesday night, of course, is the big formal banquet, with turkey and all the trimmings, followed by the dance in the women's gymnasium.

From 7 to 7:30 Wednesday evening, there will be Christmas caroling in the social rooms.

Dr. Harold Binkley will entertain Thursday night with Scrooge, Tiny Tim and all the others, when he presents his traditional reading of The Christmas Carol by Dickens.

Caroling

Caroling in the social rooms will again be the "order of the day" Friday evening.

Saturday morning, beginning at 5:30 a. m., there will be Christmas caroling at the homes of faculty members and friends of the college for the early-birds. Miss Mathias promises a good, hearty breakfast afterwards.

After all the Christmas festivities here at JC next week, anyone who goes home lacking the proper spirit is really a Scrooge!

League Gives $160 To Inn

According to an announcement from Harold Brumbaugh, alumni secretary, the Johnstown Women's League has decided to use their contribution of $160 given last year to pay for the woven wall partition in Totem Inn.

Christmas Spirit At JC Shown In Bright Holiday Decorations

The Christmas decorations to beautify the Juniata Campus are making rapid progress. The Class of '54 is responsible for the Brumbaugh Social Rooms. Lo Carfora and Bernie Petrusky, committee chairmen, say that the decorations will include a manger scene, wreaths in the windows, a centerpiece on the piano, birch logs, and a Christmas tree decorated with lights and icicles, under which will be a toy village.

The juniors have charge of Totem Inn. Kay Bubeck and Telford Knepper, committee chairmen, say that the color scheme is blue and silver, with spruce banking the walls. There is an eight foot Christmas tree elaborately decorated, and lanterns to hide the the mistletoe which is supposed to catch one unaware!

The sophomores have Founders' Porch to decorate. The feature will be 18 six foot candles which will be attractively arranged; their plans also include a Christmas tree, a snowman made out of paper mache, and music over an amplifier as a background.

The Class of '57 is responsible for decorating front campus. Their idea is to have two decorated Christmas trees in front of the lamp posts. Also, there will be a 15 foot arch spanning the entrance, which will be attractively decorated; and two large candy canes will be placed on top of the brick posts.

All the decorations are to be completed by tomorrow.

From The Editor

Congratulations to all who worked on the All-Class Night production! In past years, this activity had lost much of the enthusiasm and interest which it should have fostered. It was due partly to disagreement, if not active opposition, to the decisions of judges, partly to the difficulty of judging four so unlike amateur skits, and partly to the short time allowed for preparation.

The new plan put into effect this year has answered the first two problems. Alumni who have worked closely with All-Class Night can recognize the problems involved and can appreciate the final results; a Juniata faculty member is acquainted with the ideas and practices of All-Class Night; a dramatics or English professor from another college will react from the standpoint of both audience appeal and familiarity with dramatic techniques. All in all, this system provides for a varied group of judges, all of whom are competent in their particular area.

The system of four categories, to be used in consecutive years, allows a more equal basis for judging. Four skits, the plots of which are taken from history, will have certain common characteristics which can be evaluated. Certainly there is no justification for the argument that four histories or four comedies may be boring. Saturday night proved what a variety of plots are available from the common foundation of historical themes.

The third problem, that of the crowded calendar, is more difficult to correct. The calendar for the past few years has been approximately the same. And yet each of the skits showed evidence of more time and effort in preparation. Credit is probably due to the individual class chairmen as well as the general All-Class Night committee.

All-Class Night is valuable in that it provides class unity and discovers and makes use of class talent. By means of the new system, the interest aroused this year and the generally high level of class skits, a big boost has been given to this campus activity. If future All-Class Nights can capitalize on the improvements made now, the chances are that this activity will regain its prestige and fulfill its purpose—keen class competition channelled toward the production of worthwhile entertainment.

Class dues day, held Tuesday, brings to light one of the perrenial campus problems. How can dues be collected? All the classes need the small amounts of money which they set each year as dues, some more than others. Obviously, though, this method is not too successful. The fact that a second dues day had to be set aside for the collection of dues illustrates clearly the lack of cooperation between class officers and class members. Of course some of the blame can be laid upon the class officers for not organizing this project. Several times throughout the morning there were no representatives from any class on hand to collect the money. If class dues day is not fulfilling its purpose, then it is time to suggest new methods to meet this problem.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS By BIBLER

Yes! There is was right among his books all the time. Wonder if this could fit some JC prof?

Accent On Reading

THE CHRISTMAS STORY as told by St. Luke and St. Matthew illustrated with paintings from the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the National Gallery of Art. The principal events of the Christmas story are narrated in words and pictures.

AMAHL AND THE NIGHT VISITORS, a narrative adaptation of Gian-Carlo Menotti's opera by Frances Frost who has kept close to the original text. It is a beautiful Christmas story of a poor shepherd boy and his mother who gave shelter to three kings on the first Christmas eve.

LET'S KEEP CHRISTMAS, a sermon by Peter Marshall. This is one of Peter Marshall's most inspiring sermons—a moving expression of gratitude that the Christ Child came into the world and a plea that we keep Christmas "in all the loviest of its ancient traditions."

And in a lighter vein may we suggest CHRISTMAS EVE, by Alistair Cooke.

The Things Around Us

by Jim Hunt

SOMETHING OLD

The food in the dining hall has been a topic of constant discussion for many years before we came to College Hill but it seems that there has been a noticeable decrease in the quality of the food since last year. It doesn't seem to do much good to complain so why take up space in the Juniatian moaning about the food; instead I would like to pass along a little gem that was handed to me following a noon meal last week.

I march toward my fate...
And reach the place midst shrieks and cries.
I cringe, choke, hesitate...
Should I go on? Or turn and run?
Perhaps I could go free...
But yet the trail is nearly done.
No! No! I will not flee!...
And so I step right through the door,
And bravely face my doom...
The end is here; it's over, for
I'm in the dining room!

SOMETHING NEW

Study conditions in the Wing area of the Cloisters have reached a dangerous stage and everyone of us must do something to correct the situation. Although this can hardly be classified as new it was just recently brought to a head by Men's House Committee action. The noise in the dorm, particularly in the evening has been increasing as the year progresses and more than just a few are to blame for contributing their share.

The trash cans and fire crackers have been liberally used as methods of disturbing peace and quiet during study hours. A certain amount of horseplay is expected among a group of fellows but the actions have now gotten to a point where personal welfare can actually be indangered. We have all been guilty in one way or another of causing disturbances during the year even if some haven't gone quite so far. A number of students don't realize how sound will carry and vibrate through the halls when they raise there voice to yell at somebody. Abe Finton has asked to us honor his committee and ourselves by limiting to a minimum the amount of noise in the Cloisters in an evening. It is for the benefit of every individual resident of the dorm to attempt to do this for we don't feel anybody desires to be subjected to the threatened 'dorm policing action.'

SOMETHING BORROWED

From Associated Collegiate Press, "College students drink, all right, but nowhere near as much as has been supposed. That's the conclusion of a 214-page report just published by two Yale professors who've spent the last five years studying the drinking habits of nearly 16,000 students of 27 representative United States colleges.

Seventy-four per cent of the nation's students admitted taking a nip every now and then but more than 90 per cent proved to be very moderate imbibers. Students at "dry" colleges which outlaw alcohol ran up an average drinking score only six per cent below the national average, and they demonstrated that when they do drink, they get drunker than students at "wet" colleges.

The report also said students at women's colleges drink more than women at coeducational institutions. Most common reason given by the women for their drinking habit was that it helped them to get along better on dates."

SOMTHING BLUE

The first home game of the 1953-54 edition of the Juniata cage team was rather disappointing for the home fans but lets not be too quick to condemn the team and Doc Greene. The opposition for that game was of top-notch quality as was easily evident to anyone who saw the contest. Tomorrow night the Braves move back onto the Memorial Gym floor for the second time this season with the opponents coming from Moravian College. The quintet from Bethlehem are rated pretty high but we are betting on the boys from College Hill to make a real good showing so lets come out and support the Indians.

Running The Gauntlet

by Fritz Heydrick

The Indian cagers seem to be setting all kinds of records in scoring this year. Although they suffered a 110-96 setback at the hands of the F & M Diplomats, the Braves proved that they were a scrappy and high scoring outfit. The 96 points eclipsed the previous high of 88 by eight points and that mark was set last year by Dave Pollock and company. The Brave hoopsters then helped set three new Memorial Gym records when they attempted to play the Geneva Covies in the second game of the season. Not only was the total game scoring record broken, but also the individual point total; one team scoring for one game; most individual field goals; most field goals for a team; and total field goals for both teams. The Covies set four of the records while JC figured in the two-team total records.

Juniata's football squad will be honored tonight at the Huntingdon Country Club in recognition of their undefeated season. Principal guests will be the college's football pioneers; the members of the first team in 1920. A majority of the 25 men who organized a "fund to buy a football" in the post World War I days are expected to attend. The Honorable Richard C. Snyder, judge of Bedford County and a member of the 1920 team, will be the guest speaker. Henry B. Gibble, chairman of the college's board of trustees will be toastmaster.

THE WAY IT USED TO BE—The Indians played their first basketball game against an independent team from Tyrone on Dec. 21, 1904. ... The first Juniata College basketball team recorded its only opening season victory over Bellefonte Academy by a 39-15 count on March 18, 1905 ... The game with Lock Haven Normal on March 25, 1905, was considered Juniata College's first intercollegiate basketball contest ... Lock Haven won 27-10 ... In 50 years of basketball, the Indians have played 710 games against 122 opponents. They have won 307 while dropping 403 ... The most successful season in the history of Juniata was the 1924-25 season when the Braves won 13 out of 18 games played. Among the defeated opponents were Penn State, Duquesne, Gettysburg and Lebanon Valley.

Squads Ready In WAA Loop

Once again, the Juniata co-eds will make their appearance on the basketball court of the Old Gym. With a renovated floor as the major improvement, the girls are looking forward to a lot of fun—and competition! Ten energetic-looking teams are under contract, and from all indications the top berth of the league will not be achieved easily by any one particular team.

The names of the teams are as follows: Tridelts, Krazy Kids, Limpeps (last year's champs) Pygmies, Red Devils, Geiger-Counters, Spookers, Rowdies, Dinettes, and derChums. The intra-mural program will be carried out similar to that of last year. The tentative schedule provides for three games to be played each Monday and Thursday night, under the supervision of Miss Barbara Cochran.

Pictured above is high scoring Jake Handzelek, point making sensation from Shickshinny. A sophomore, Jake last year set an all time Juniata scoring record with 473 tallies for a 23.7 points per game average. Handzelek kept his hand in the 1953 opener as he dumped 40 points through the hoop in a game at Franklin & Marshall College.

Intramural Basketball Away To Fast Start; One Game Tomorrow

The men's intramural basketball season started off with a bang this year. A total of eight games have been played so far, and already there are indications of several good teams in the league and the competition among the top runners should be keen.

The Covites got off to a flying start by downing the Deacons to the tune of 65-46. Glen Burket was high scorer for the Covites with a total of 23 points, while Hill and Lankford tied for top honors for the losers with eleven each. In another Thursday night tilt, the Shafters lived up to there name in defeating the Jokers 57-30. Nyce and West were high scorers for the game with 14 apiece. The Sunbrookers outpointed the Jabberwockeys by a 61-54 count and the Rackers came out on top in an encounter with Pavlov's Pals, 49-38, in other Thursday night games. Zimmerman dumped in 24 for the Sunbrookers taking honors for the night and Reese was high for the Rackers with 21.

McKees Creek started off Tuesday night's activity by annilating The Vagabons 108-45. Drexler was high man for the night with a total of 39 points for McKees Creek. The Sunbrookers stayed in the win column by defeating the D. H. D.'s in a fast game 66-60. Zimmerman was again high scorer for the Sunbrookers this time dumping in 26 counters. Staley was top man for the losers with 19. The Maulers opened their season with a decisive 55-34 victory over the Cards, and the K. K.'s trampled the Trotters 51-29 to finish out the evening.

Moravian, Bucknell Cagers Set To Meet Juniata In Pre-Holiday Games

Home games with Moravian College and Bucknell University will wind up Juniata's pre-Christmas vacation basketball schedule. The Tribe will be looking for its first Memorial Gym victory in the 1953-54 season tomorrow night when the Greyhounds of Moravian College travel as JC plays host for the second time this season.

Coach Harvey T. Gillespie's charges will be playing their fifth game of the season tomorrow. The Greyhounds lost their season opener by dropping a game to Muhlenburg 84-78, while crushing Susquehanna 84-33 in their second game.

Last year the visitors compiled a 5-13 record, copping games from Haverford, Scranton, Washington College, Lincoln and Wilkes. The Indians did not face Moravian in 1952-53.

Big man in the Greyhound lineup is towering center Dick Zahn, who is also high scorer for the visitors. The squad averages just over six feet in height.

On Wednesday, Dec. 16, Juniata will face one of its oldest basketball opponents, Bucknell University. In a series of 40 games dating back to the 1913-1914 season the Indians have managed to cop only two contests while losing 38. Last year Bucknell squeaked by the Tribe by a slim 76-73 count.

Coach Ben Kribbs hopes to have the visitors in shape to better last season's 3-16 Bucknell record. Although short on height and experience, the Bisons will be built around five returning members from last year's aggregation.

Jim Poff, senior forward who was out of action last season because of injuries will be expected to spark the visitors.

Braves Win 77-65 In Ursinus Game; Defeated In First 2

by Bob Gottlieb

The Indians captured win number one of the current season after two earlier setbacks Wednesday night at Collegeville where they overcame a first half lead to defeat Ursinus College 77-65.

The first two chapters started off on the rough side for the cagers of Coach Doc Greene as some ragged playing by the Braves gave the home team an early jump. When the halftime intermission rolled around the Blue and Gold were faced with a two point deficit and what looked like defeat number three.

They came back from the rest period and began to play the type of ball which had been expected and yet was lacking during the first two games. Jake Handzelek began to find the range on some well executed two-man fast breaks while George O'Brien, Chuck Gross, Bernie Oriss and Howie Kerstetter began to control the boards.

Lee Hallman played an exceptional floor game during the second half and was credited with 13 assists as well as dropping in 16 markers.

High-scoring Jake Handzelek was high man on the scoring totem-pole with 28 markers followed by Hallman.

F & M

Last Saturday night the Indian cagers opened their 1953-54 schedule with Franklin and Marshall College at Lancaster. The result was a new all time Juniata scoring record for the most points by both teams in a single game. Both teams were hot shooting wise as Juniata hit for an amazing 58% of their shots while F & M found the range only 49% of the time. However, the Diplomats ended up on the long end of the score 110-96.

Gus Lovett, the six foot eight inch center who topped the nation in rebounds last year lead the scoring parade with 46 points.

When the Blue and Gold zone defense bottled up Dick Eberle and Roy Pitcoh, the other Diplomats threw the ball to Gus who outjumped the JC defenders and deposited it in the hoop. Lovett recovered many offensive rebounds with the result that F&M had three or four shots at the basket every time they had possession of the ball.

Defense Poor

The Juniata offense looked very good but the defensive play was poor. The Indians had fifty fouls called on them and five men left the game on personals.

In the scoring department Juniata had four men in double figures. Jake Handzelek led the parade with 40 points connecting for 15 goals out of 23 attempts and 10 of 15 foul shots. Lee Hallman and Howie Kerstetter had 14 each and Walt Vanderbush came through with 11. Chuck Gross and George O'Brien were the rebounding artists and were credited with many scoring assists.

However, the Indians were in the game until the closing minutes and when Lovett was given a brief rest in the third period, they had narrowed the gap to three points.

GENEVA

Monday the JC fans were hoping that Geneva would come to college hill as a demoralized squad after being beaten by Duquesne. They were sadly mistaken.

The Covies from Beaver Falls were a clever passing and accurate shooting team as they decisively defeated the Indians 113-87. Another scoring record was broken as the total points added up to 200. This broke the former high of 177 which was accomplished by JC and Lebanon Valley on April 15, 1952.

The Indians at the outset used a man to man defense but unfortunately the Covies kept getting a jump on their guards to develop the disasterous results. Most of the Covies scoring was done by the push-shots of Stan Yuchika or the jump shot of Bill Blair. They had 80 points between them as Blair scored 50 points and Yuchika chalked up 30. Blair's total of 50 topped Davey Pollock's old Memorial Gym record of 43.

The Indians didn't seem to be able to do anything right, although Bernie Oriss looked good in racking up 16 points in the fading minutes of the game. Handzelek was not up to par, and Vanderbush, Hallman, Kerstetter, and Gross showed only flashes of their true ability.

Geneva seemed to be a true championship team. Blair handled himself well on the floor in addition to his exceptional shooting ability. Yuchika proved his shooting eye was not his only asset as he pulled down more than his share of rebounds.

Health Service Topic At Frosh Assembly

The College health service will be the topic of discussion at the freshmen assembly Monday.

On hand to present and clarify this program will be one of the College physicians and the two College nurses, Eleanor Furry and Nancy Sollenberger. The benefits of this program to which all students are entitled and further insurance coverage beyond that provided by the College will also be explained.

The class of '54 receives recognition as winner of this year's All-Class Night skit competition. Fritz Blechschmidt, author, chairman, director, and narrator of the senior skit is pictured accepting the All-Class Nght trophy from the chairman of All-Class Night, Betty Shearer.

Chapel To Include Choir, Bottiger

The programs for the chapel services during the last week of school before Christmas vacation have been announced by Dean Morley Mays.

Monday, the Chapel Choir will present a program of choral music. The Reverend Marlin C. Bottiger, Protestant Chaplain of the Pennsylvania State Institution here in Huntingdon, will speak to the student body on Wednesday. The last chapel service, Friday will be presented by President Ellis.

Mastodon Bones Given To Museum

The last remains of a mastodon which was found in 1896 in Huntingdon County, were recently presented to the College science museum by the Rev. George Swayne.

The bones were unearthed by Swayne and his brother from a peatbog southeast of Shirleysburg. Swanye attended Juniata for two years.

Regular Schedule For Sat., Dec. 19

From the office of Dean Morley Mays comes the following report concerning the Christmas vacation schedule.

There will be no change in the regular Saturday morning schedule. Classes will be held from 8 a. m. until 12 noon with lunch being served in the dining hall at 12:15 p. m. Dec. 19.

After the two week vacation, classes will resume at 8 a. m. Monday, Jan. 4, 1954.

Student Recital Scheduled Thurs. As Portion Of Christmas Activities

A program of organ and instrumental music will be presented Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in Oller Hall. Fifteen students—eight organists, one pianist, and six orchestral instrumentalists—will take part in this pre-Christmas interlude.

The following numbers will be played:

Organ

Organ: Fantasia (West) by Rae Bamforth; Entreaty (West) by Jeanne Baker; Postlude Cantique (Dubois) by Reta Peck; Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silence (Noble) by Elaine Aitken; and Allelulia (Mozart-Felton) by Jay Bowser.

Piano and organ duo: Overture to the Messiah (Handel-Hollings worth) by Dick Livingston and Bill Weyandt.

Organ

Organ: Christmas Eve (Malling) by Sylvia Shuler; While Shepherds Watched (Mauro-Cottone) by Vada Jean Roof; and Carol Rhapsody (Purvis) by Bill Weyandt.

String-wind ensemble: Andante and Allegro (Mozart), by Roy Rollman and Paul Gingrich, violins; Janet Binkley, viola; Nancy Rosenberger, cello; Maggie Sims, flute; Donna Croft, oboe; and Bill Weyandt, organ.

Frosh

Your Old Man's a Monkey, the frosh skit, after getting off to a rather slow start, provided highly dramatic entertainment. The rather mechanical getting up, reciting, sitting down process of the first few speakers was definitely a drawback, but the action picked up when orators Darrow and Bryan took over. One complaint might be that two people carried the entire play; but then the frosh could have done far worse than to base their hopes on the respective characterizations of Darrow and Bryan. The only criticism concerning acting is that there was too little contrast between the main figure. Calling people from the audience was a new trick and seemingly spontaneous outburst from the balcony both startled the audience and enlivened the skit.

Seniors

The seniors' Lonely Outcry was a fitting climax to a very successful All-Class Night. The stage presence and informal, relaxed attitude of the narrator set the mood which was skillfully picked up by each individual performer. Plot, dialogue, setting and costumes were all good and were all subordinate to the actors, everyone of whom was in character. The contrast between persons was probably the most noticeable and outstanding aspect of the production.

Edwin Donaldson Trophy Awarded To First Undefeated Football Team

Juniata's undefeated and untied gridiron eleven was the recipient of official congratulations from the College and all connected at a banquet held at the Huntingdon Country Club last Friday night.

A surprise feaure of the evening was the presentation of a trophy to the 1953 team from the members of Juniata's first football team in 1920. The trophy is a memorial to Edwin Donaldson who was the first captain of a JC football team.

Mr. Donaldson was captain in his junior year but the following season in 1921 he was unable to participate in athletics due to an ailment that took his life one year later. His teammates inaugurated the trophy at this time as a monument to this outstanding Juniata athlete.

The stipulation added to the trophy was to be awarded to the first undefeated football team (playing more than six games in the season) at Juniata. This year's team qualified with flying colors and the trophy will be inscribed appropriately as a tribute to the 1953 football team.

A full-course turkey dinner was served at the banquet which was followed by program of tributes to this year's football team with Mr. Henry Gibbel, Sr., acting as toastmaster.

Mr. J. Harold Engle, '23, presents team captain Ron Clapper with the Edwin Donaldson trophy as a tribute to Juniata's first undefeated football team at the banquet held last Friday.

Enthusiastic Students Start Men's Glee Club

A new musical organization has been born on College Hill thanks to some energetic backing of a number of Juniata students. The new group officially called the Men's Glee Club is expected to make its initial public appearance early in the second semester.

Miss Mary J. Pfotenhauer, director of the group gives all the credit for its origination to several JC fellows who talked up the idea and created the interest and desire for such a musical organization among our extra-curricular activities. The group is not chosen by audition and is therefore open to any fellow who likes to sing.

40 In Group

The new Men's Glee Club has already had four practice sessions and Miss Pfotenhauer reports that the "enthusiasm is tremendous". Approximaely 40 men have turned out for each of the practice periods.

The group does not plan to limit their selection of music to any specific type but will sing anything from sacred to secular music when they make their first public appearance.

Lashlee, Ulsh Originators

Ernie Lashlee and Wayne Ulsh, both very active in musical productions and activities on campus, were the chief promoters of the musical group and started the movement to have it officially started.

The present plans for the group are only tentative but they hope to start actual performances in the early part of next year. The Glee Club will probably make their debut at a chapel session and if response is favorable they hope to expand their activities to include several other engagements.

Seniors To Plan Three-Day Tour For Class Skit

A new College feature will be inaugurated concerning All-Class Night when the seniors take their prize winning skit, Lonely Outcry, on the road between semesters.

The our will be a three day one. At present no definite places have been scheduled for appearances, but the skit committee is working through Harold Brumbaugh, to line up locations for performances.

Spokesman Wilfred Norris says that the group hopes to make three appearances a day at high schools and service clubs. "There will be no financial gain from the tour; it's just for the fun of it," says Norris. "We hope to break even, with the places where we appear meeting the expenses."

Members of the cast of the skit are Rae Bamforth, Fritz Blechschmidt, author and narrator, Maurice Henry, Dave Hercules, Wilfred Norris, Clem Rosenberger, Helen Rosengren, and Bill Straughn. The stage crews have not as yet been selected.

Supplementing the skit will be selections from Oscar Wilde's The Importance of Being Earnest which was produced by the Masque last year. Miss Rosengren, Blechschmidt and Norris will take part in the scenes from this play.

Lonely Outcry is set in ancient Sparta and deals with the problem facing a Spartan family. According to laws of the state, young male children who are not deemed strong enough to take their rightful place in society must be abandoned on the hill. The skit revolves around the family conflict when this situation arises. The skit was awarded the winning trophy by unanimous decision of the judges.

Women's House Plan Caroling Tonight

Tonight from 11 to 11:30 p. m., the women's house committee will sponsor a program of carol singing for all resident women. Group singing, a program of entertainment and refreshments will be featured.

Tribe Scores Overtime Win On Handzelek's Three Charity Throws

The Juniata Indians evened their season's record at two wins and as many losses Saturday night as they defeated visiting Moravian College 87-86 in an overtime thriller.

The visitors jumped off quickly to a 9-1 lead in the opening period before an Indian rally, sparked by Jake Handzelek, put Juniata ahead 22-14 as the quarter ended. The Tribe enjoyed a 12 point advantage at the half, leading 47-37.

In the third frame, Moravian slowly narrowed the margin to four points, and shortly after the final period began the visitors tied up the contest. A see-saw, basket for basket thriller followed, as the lead changed hands frequently.

Although leading by four points at one time in the waning minutes of play, the Greyhounds were tied 81-81 as Handzelek missed two free throws with seconds remaining in regulation play.

Moravian jumped off to a quick lead in overtime, and a late JC rally cut the score to 86-84 with 24 seconds remaining in the contest. Handzelek was fouled and sank two free throws to tie the game 86-86. He followed with a point on a technical foul to conclude the scoring for the evening. Juniata froze the ball for the final 29 seconds to hold on to an 87-86 edge as the final gun sounded.

Handzelek had 38 points to wind up as high man for the evening. Lee Hallman and Howie Kerstetter each had 13 markers for Juniata while Bob Jones' 20 points led the visitors. Next man for Moravian was Dick Zahm who netted 18 points.

In the preliminary contest Juniata's Junior Varsity rallied in the final quarter to defeat McKees Creek of the Juniata Intramural League by an 81-71 count. Burchfield of the winners was high man for both teams with 28 tallies.

Four Writers Named To Publish Tomahawk

The staff for this year's Tomahawk, the basketball program, has been named by J Club president Ron Clapper.

The editorial board, which will be responsible for editing the program, consists of John Dale, Fritz Heydrick, Jim Holsopple and Jim Hunt. Dick Myer will serve as business manager with Bob Gottlieb in charge of circulation.

Regular Schedule Tomorrow

The regular Saturday class schedule will be observed tomorrow with classes being held from 8 a. m. to 12 noon. Lunch will be served at 12:15 p. m.

Caroling To End Xmas Activities

Finishing out the round of Christmas activities will be the song fest in the social rooms tonight and the caroling for early birds tomorrow morning.

Tonight immediatly after dinner, students are invited to gather in the social rooms for an informal program of caroling led by Vince Piazza.

At 5:30 a. m. tomorrow all caroling fans, early risers and those who never got to bed will meet on Founders Porch to begin the tour to homes of faculty and friends of the College. Wilfred Norris will take charge of the caroling. Afterwards a hearty breakfast will be provided by Miss Mathias.

Movie Schedule For Sat., Jan. 9

January 9, the Saturday night after we return from Christmas vacation, the social committee will sponsor a movie, All My Sons, to be shown in Oller Hall.

Russ Hill, chairman of the social committee, has announced that the starting time will be 8:15 of course, and the movie will be followed by informal dancing to records in the women's gym.

Several Teams Continue Undefeated In IM Loop

The Intramural basketball league finished its pre-Christmas schedule with nine games being played.

In Thursday night games the Jabberwockies crushed the Jokers 65-26. Mark Beech was high man for the Jw's with 17 points, while Denny Deegen scored eight for the the hapless Jokers.

The Deacons won their first game of the season as they effectively took care of Pavlov's Pals to the tune of 60-36. Phil Lankford was top man of the game with 19 counters for the Deacons. In other Thursday action, the Covites downed the Shafters 75-43 with Motisher getting 19 for the Cove boys, and the Cards took a close one from the Rackers 65-56. John Cook was high scorer of the night with 26 points for the Cards.

A lone Saturday tilt showed the Sherwood Trotters leading the way over the Vagabonds by a 64-24 score. Grothe had 20 to aid the Trotters cause.

Monday night's games produced a variety of scores. The Kinsey Kids won their second straight game as they took the Vagabonds to camp by a 54-30 margin. Wampler was high for the winners with 16 counters. The Sunbrookers won their third straight game as they stopped the Shafters 72-52. Fran Zimmerman continued to pile up the points as he led the way with 23 markers, which was tops for the winners. The Covites also went on their winning ways as they handed the Jabberwockies a 53-42 loss. Joe Hinish and Neil Spangler shared the scoring honors for the winners with 14 points apiece, and Sonny Kaylor scored 13 for the losers. In the final game the McKees Creekers whipped the cords 44 times for FG's to annihilate the laughless Jokers to the tune of 107-28. Barry Drexler led the scoring parade with 31 points. Don Pheasant was second with 20, while Jim Hunt hit all the way of seven for the losers.

Next Juniatian Set For Sat., Jan. 9

According to a decision of the editorial board, the next Juniatian will be published Saturday, Jan. 9, 1954. This is due to the fact that classes do not resume until Monday, Jan. 4.

Indians Take Third Straight By Defeating Bucknell 83-60

by Jim Holsopple

Juniata College increased its winning streak to three straight games Wednesday night when the Indians mauled the Thundering Herd from Bucknell by an 83-60 count. All members of the JC squad saw action in the rout.

Bucknell's Juniors trounced Juniata 78-54 in the evening's warm-up. Jake Handzelek and Walt Vanderbush shared scoring honors in the varsity game, dumping 34 and 23 tallies respectively. Jim Poff paced the losers with 19, the only Bison to hit double figures.

The outcome of the game was never in doubt as the Tribe outscored Bucknell 19-15 in the opening frame. JC led 39-23 at the half. Bucknell's only real threat was posed in the person of Jim Poff, a 6-3 senior from Kingston. Poff had previously shown his ability in last year's encounter as he set a new Bison record by gathering in 17 rebounds against the Tribe. He was largely responsible for the 76-73 victory Bucknell posted in that game.

The win Wednesday enabled JC to pick up a game in the long-standing rivalry with the visitors from Lewisburg. Juniata has now beaten Bucknell three times in 41 contests. The last Indian win was posted in 1934-35 when the Blue and Gold captured a 44-22 verdict.

The varsity game itself was no contest. After the initial Bison bucket JC roared back to lead throughout the game. Sparkling individual performances were turned in by Handzelek, and Vanderbush who starred under the boards as well as from the court. Walt's 23 tallies put him second to Handzelek in the season's scoring derby with a total of 69. Jake has netted 164 while Lee Hallman, Howie Kerstetter and Bernie Oriss have 57, 49 and 40 respectively for the campaign.

The result of the JayVee contest was never to be questioned as a 4-4 tie after two minutes was the closest that Juniata could come to holding her rivals. A 19 point halftime edge gave Bucknell a walkaway victory. Bob Gombos and Andy Balog sparked the losing cause.

The victory gives Juniata a 3-2 victory margin so far this season. The Indians will play their next game in January when they travel to Indiana State Teachers College for an away game on Jan. 6. On Jan. 8, Juniata will play host to Grove City.

Collegiate Miscellany

ACP—A college education is a marvelous thing. Here are some of the errors that turned up when a general information test was given at the University of Oregon.

Fjord—a Swedish automobile; Iran—Bible of the Mohammedans; Nicotine—the man who discovered cigarettes; Scotland Yard—two feet, ten inches; Concubine—when several business combine.

COLLEGE COMMUNIST HUNTERS

New York law students have been offered a chance to do "volunteer laboratory work" by hunting Communists for the government. Forty-eight students, including three women, are now working part-time without pay in the office of U. S. attorneys in Manhattan and Brooklyn.

The New Yorkers are the first to participate in a plan begun by Attorney General Brownell. The scheme eventually will be extended until college students are hunting Communists part-time in each of the nations 94 U. S. attorneys' offices.

Brownell said the students will do "volunteer laboratory work for us and help to dig out the evidence to prosecute the subversives and criminals."

STATE COLLEGE, PA. (?)

Since 1874, State College has been the home of Pennsylvania State College. Now it is the home of Pennsylvania State University.

For some time, students have wanted to change the name of the college. As one said, "It's easier to get a job if you are graduated from a university." Last month 85 per cent of students polled by the Daily Collegian, campus paper, wanted the change.

But the townspeople of State College, Pa., were caught off guard. Should they change their name now, too? More than 58 per cent of them said no; 28 per cent said yea. Anyway you looked at it, the post office was in for a bad time.

Accent On Reading

INSECTS; THEIR SECRET WORLD, by Evelyn Cheesman. From personal observation a British entomologist describes the physical characteristics of air, land, and aquatic insects and includes material on insect migrations, protective devices, and social habits.

OVERLOADED ARK, by Gerald M. Durell. The story of a trip to the rain forests of the British Cameroons to collect animals for zoos in England is related in an amusing style. They brought back over a hundred crates of animals and felt that if Noah had only confined himself to the species of the Cameroons, "the Ark would have been overloaded."

BEES; THEIR VISION, CHEMICAL SENSE, AND LANGUAGE, Karl von Frisch. The author advances proof that bees tell the location of food by "dances" which other bees interpret as we might read a map. He also discusses the color sense of bees and their behavior in general.

On The Club Scene

Two days after JC students return from Christmas vacation they will be greeted with the first meeting of the reorganized Debate Club along with the regular meetings of three other campus clubs.

Debate Club

Wednesday, January 6 will find the Debate Club in action under the direction of president Klare Sunderland and manager Bob Nicholson. The topic will be Resolved that the United States should adopt a policy of free trade. Room A will be the place; 7 p. m. the time and all are invited to what should develop into an interesting discussion.

The Masque

The play is the big thing for Masque members right now and by January the presentation will be decided upon. When the decision is made it will enable tryouts to be held towards the end of January or the early part of February.

JCA

On the JCA's January agenda we find the movie "Martin Luther". This organization has arranged for reduced rates for College Hill residents. The date of this film will be announced at a later date.

IVCF

After Christmas vacation the regular meeting time for the Bible studies, 7:15, will be resumed. The temporary change in time was due to the Christmas caroling in the social rooms.

Special Chapel Service To Feature Elmer Tidmarsh, Concert Organist

There will be a special chapel service Monday morning. Elmer Tidmarsh, organist and choral director, will be visiting Juniata Monday and Tuesday under the sponsorship of the Association of American Colleges. He will give a public recital Monday at 9:45 a. m. in Oller Hall.

Dr. Tidmarsh has been director of music at Union College, Schenectady, for over twenty-five years. He also leads choral societies in Albany, Schenectady, Poughkeepsie, and Troy. His Sunday afternoon organ recitals have been carried to thousands of listeners each week.

After completing with honors the Guilmant Organ School course under Dr. William Carl, Dr. Tidmarsh received the degree of Associate of the American Guild of Organists. He attended the School of Music at Fountainebleau and won the Conservatoire's highest award, the Executant's Diploma. Among his teachers and musicians with whom he has been professionally associated have been Percy Grainger, Charles Widor, Henri Liebert, and Marcel Dupre

In 1936 Dr Tidmarsh received the award of officer of the Palms by the French Academy for his active interest in French contemporary music. Union College conferred on him the degree of Doctor of Music in 1933. Since the war he has resumed his duties as summer organist at the American Cathedral in Paris, and has substituted for the regular organist of the Notre Dame Cathedral on several occasions.

Dr. Tidmarsh will visit other leading colleges in this area during his tour.

The following schedule of classes will be in effect Monday:
First period: 8:00-8:45
Second period: 8:50-9:35
Chapel: 9:45-11:35
Third period: 10:50-11:35
Fourth period: 11:40-12:25

JWSF Committees, Recipients Designated By Chairman Stutzman

Helen Stutzman, chairman of the JWSF Drive, has announced the committee which will aid in the annual drive. Russ Hill is in charge of solicitations, while Sue Jamison heads the committee for publicity. Treasurer is Telford Knepper and adviser for the whole project is Prof. Jack Padgett.

The JWSF is the only Senate approved fund raising campaign on campus. This year the Senate approved the usual four major funds to which the contributions will go.

One is the World University Service, a program which furthers mutual assistance between 32 countries whereby students are given an opportunity to help themselves.

Foreign Aid Fund

The second fund is the Foreign Student Aid Fund enabling foreign students to attend Juniata. There are three persons now on campus benefiting from this fund.

A third fund is one which contributes to the International Christian University of Japan. This fund helps needy students of outstanding scholastic ability to attend the school in Tokyo which opened last April. This event was a great step in a program to establish a new democratic Japan.

2 Missionaries

The fourth fund is one which aids the work of two brethren missionaries: H. Stover Kulp of Nigeria whose work is in British West Africa and Dr. Paul Hoover from India. Both missionaries are Juniata graduates.

Grad Record Exam Scheduled Jan. 30

Seniors expecting to go to Graduate School next year are advised by the Office of Dean Morley Mays that the next administration of the Graduate Record Examination is scheduled for Saturday, January 30.

Application forms and bulletins of information will be available in Dean Mays' office early next week. Application forms must be received at the Headquarters of Education Testing Service in Princeton, New Jersey no later than Friday, January 15. Further information concerning Graduate Record Examination may be obtained from Dean Mays.

JC Touring Choir To Leave Jan. 30 For Ten-Day Trip

The Juniata College Choir, under the direction of Prof. Donald Johnson, has arranged a ten-day tour of eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey, beginning Jan. 29 after final exams.

Two possible television appearances are scheduled for Philadelphia, Jan. 30 and Harrisburg, Feb. 7. The choir will sing over station WORK of York. Feb. 6.

Programs will be presented in churches and high schools throughout the area. Kennett Square will be the first stopping place on the tour, followed by Pottstown, Philadelphia, Ardmore, Trenton, N. J., Allentown, Reading, Lancaster, Harrisburg and Lewistown.

High School Programs

The list of high schools includes Lower Merion, Allentown, Reading and McCaskey in Lancaster.

As in the past two years, the choir will be accompanied in some of their numbers by a 6-piece string-wind ensemble. Members are Roy Rollman, Paul Gingrich, violin; Nancy Rosenberger, cello; Maggie Sims, flute; Donna Croft, clarinet; and Janet Binkley, viola. Bill Weyandt will be the organist.

The complete list of choir members follows:

Sopranos

First soprano: Jeanne Blend, Helen Rosengren, Betty Shearer, Sylvia Shuler. Second soprano: Jean Baker, Bonnie Brumbaugh, Mary Jane Hershberger, Carol Suter.

First alto: Ann Beers, Barbara Grim, Carol Lowdermilk. Second alto: Jackie Hayes, Dorla Kinsey, and Doris Markey.

Tenors

First tenor: Paul Hirst, Ben Newcomer, Wayne Ulsh. Second tenor: Paul Berkebile, Dick Caulk, Ron Dilling.

First bass: Charlie Kipp, Dick Livingston, Paul Morrison. Second bass: Don Davis, Ray McHenry, Ken Rockwell.

Masque Selects Annual Play; Tryouts To Begin Today 1:15

by Helen Schmidlen

The choice of the Masque for their annual production to be given Friday and Saturday, March 19-20 is The Skin Of Our Teeth, a delightful comedy by Thornton Wilder. Mr. Wilder is one of the most important writers of today and is perhaps better known for his play Our Town in which Louis Kronenberger says, "Mr. Wilder brought all humanity within the confines of a small New England community whereas in The Skin Of Our Teeth he has sent it whirling through time and space."

Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times has this to say about it: "One of the wisest and friskiest comedies written in a long time. Mr. Wilder is speaking a compassionate word in praise of the fortitude of the human race and rather than be solemn about it he is whooping it up with some burlesque antics on the periphery of the drama. The basic story of The Skin Of Our Teeth is profoundly moving because it is true."

The Skin Of Our Teeth is a comedy about George Antrobus, his wife and two children, and their general utility maid, Lily Sabina, all of Excelsior, New Jersey. George Antrobus is an average American, much the same as you or I, who comes to grips with both the bitter and sweet of destiny.

They are the survivors of fire, flood, a dozen wars, and as many depressions as well as the double feature and the black pox. They are alternately bewitched, befuddled and becalmed. They have been victims of all the ills that flesh is heir to, and have survived by the skin of their teeth. This play is truly a tribute to their indestructability.

This production will be one of the largest ever attempted. There is a cast of forty and a large crew will be necessary to produce the play. All students interested in tryouts should obtain a copy of the play on reserve at the library. Those interested in crew or committee work can sign a list posted on Founders bulletin board.

General try-outs for the Skin Of Our Teeth begin today at 1:15 in Oller Hall and will continue Monday at 4 p. m. Final try-outs will be held Tuesday at 3 p. m.

Speaker Named For Winter Convocation

Doctor Guy E. Snavely, Executive Director of the Association of American Colleges, will be the guest speaker at the Winter Convocation services which are to be held Monday, February 1, 1954. The program will begin promptly at 9:30 a. m. and will officially close the Fall term. Seniors who passed their comprehensives will receive their diplomas at this time.

The Spring term will be ushered in with the resumption of classes immediately following the ceremony on an abbreviated schedule. All students are expected to attend the service.

Budget, Election Take Top Billing At Senate

A report from the election committee, the treasurer's report and the National Student Body Association were among the topics discussed at Wednesday's Senate session

Bob Bridenbaugh presented the elections committee report which dealt with the rules of campaigning and suggestions for more active campaigns. The report will come up for final consideration next week when it will be voted upon.

Treasurer Bob Fahrney then discussed the problems of balancing the budget.

Nat'l Student Association

It was decided that the secretary should write to the National Student Body Association for information concerning its activities and purpose. Then the Senate will decide whether or not to affiliate itself with the organization.

Russ Hill was appointed head of a committee to study the pos-

League Gives Money For Tables, Chairs

According to an announcement from Harold Brumbaugh, alumni secretary, the Juniata College Women's League is responsible for the tables and chairs found in Totem Inn.

Last year the group gave a $700 contribution which was used for this purpose. They are now planning to complete the full amount of this obligation on the College purchase of the tables and chairs, a total of $900.

Juniata's Headline Review For 1953

by Jim Hunt

In one year there are just 365 days. This seems a rather insignificant number when one considers the annuals of history but that exact number of days wrapped up and called 1953 produced an interesting year at College Hill. When we look back over the Juniatians during the past year, we find a number of headlines that topped stories concerning scholastic, social and outstanding events on campus which merit being placed in the category of the top events at Juniata in 1953.

It would definitely be hard to pick the top few stories of the year but we have gone out on the limb and chosen a trio which seems to rank at the top for JC. The initial construction and eventual dedication of the student center seem to hold the number one spot as the story of 1953. The long awaited place for student association was formulated and carried out by hard working groups of students and administration. The leadership conference representatives officially selected Totem-Inn as the name for the center and the return of the student body in September followed by the dedication ceremony made Totem-Inn an integral part of Juniata.

Undefeated

Following close behind the Inn in permanent importance but certainly more exciting was the story found in the special edition of the Juniatian under the title UNDEFEATED! The gridiron forces of Coach Bill Smaltz who wrapped up JC's first undefeated football season will hold the honor of the top sports story for years to come. The Indians went out for seven straight weeks and brought back a fresh scalp each time much to the delight of everyone connected with Juniata. Thus the Totem-Inn was the top story during the spring and the football team swept the headlines in the fall but in between we find a story that as yet has not come into being but will be a big step forward in JC's program of new, modern facilities. A new men's dorm was put on the drawing boards and will be built in the near future.

The preceding three stories probably deserve the top billing in a review of 1953, but there were many other stories that told of important happenings. Among some of the top headline we find a complete mixture but it includes two that were saddening to old JC alumni.

N. J. Brumbaugh Dies

Juniata's well known educator Dr. Norman J. Brumbaugh passed away during 1953. The man who brought our chemistry department to the fore as one of the nation's finest was missed at College Hill for the first time in a great many years. Dr. Harry Nye also took ill during the year and was forced to retire after a long teaching career. In addition this year marked the tenth anniversary of Calvert N. Ellis as the president of our college.

On the sport scene we find Jake Handzelek breaking Tribe cage records time after time to take the role as the most prolific scorer in our history. The Gridiron Indians won the Snow Bowl title by defeating Grove City 22-0 (remember that day?) Juniata's 50th baseball season was also completed in 1953 and the 50th basketball season was begun. McKees Creek won the intramural basketball title and of course there was the furor caused by the unscheduled painting of Dickinson College.

JC Ranked High in '53

The College on the Hill made numerous scholastic advances during the year. We completed arrangements for a three-two plan with Duke University and received a rating of 43 in the Ford Foundation ratings of U. S. colleges and universities.

An award of $2500 was made to the chemistry department by the Dupont Corporation and six Juniatians were selected for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Bernie Petrusky took over the job as Senate President and Jeanie Tait and Janet Claycomb took top positions on the campus publications.

An unprecedented second session of leadership conference was held and important steps toward constructive initiation also rank high as 1953 stories.

Pat Henry Heads Radio Comm; Skit Given By Seniors

The first Thursday of each month, Juniata College will present a half-hour program over radio station WHUN. In charge of the planning and production of this program will be the recently formulated radio committee, headed by Pat Henry.

The assistant director is Doris Wilson, technical advisor is Frank Conly, and the committee members are Allegra Forney, Linda Weeast Joan McClure, Bob Hamm, George Carnahan, Dick Backus, Jim Montgomery, and Clint Betz.

The first show, heard this past Thursday, featured the senior All-Class Night Skit. In addition a run down of the latest events at the College was given.

Plans for the remaining radio programs are underway; they will probably feature a record show, a show of student talent, and perhaps personal interviews, or the reading of a play.

The students are requested to support their program by turning in any suggestions to the committee, and, of course, by tuning in each month to "Juniata College Presents . . ."

From The Editor's Notes

The laundry problem has long been a sore point here on College Hill, and throughout the last few weeks, it has been brought to our attention both by the Senate and by members of the student body. So we take this opportunity to comment on it and to make several suggestions which may alleviate this situation.

The most widely heard complaint is that there are not sufficient machines. Unfortunately this is not too easy to remedy. The administration recently gave the go-ahead sign for the purchase of two washers for the men's dorm, but, as it turned out, there is not any place to install them. And the present location is sufficiently crowded without putting them there. So, for the time being, the installation of new washers does not seem feasible.

Then there is the complaint that the machines are always broken. This can be remedied and it is up to us to do so. Believe it or not, there are directions which come with the washers and driers and one easy way to prevent machines from breaking is to follow these directions. One of the most important facts to realize is that each machine runs a certain length of time on a dime; assuredly some damage is bound to occur when we speed up the action of the machine. If someone else has a wash in the washer and we're tired of waiting, we just turn the dial ahead. We hasten his wash along and chances are we also have a broken machine when we go to do our own.

Next arises the problem of consideration. The person who waits a month before washing and then uses all three machines at the same time certainly isn't very considerate toward others who might be waiting. Then there's the one who is in such a hurry to get his clothes in the washer that he dumps the other person's over the dirty floor. Naturally we get impatient at having to wait so long, but let's not completely ignore the other fellow.

Two possible solutions to the crowded conditions and long waiting period might be suggested. First, alternate days might be set aside for women and men. The men in the Cloister and Lodge don't stand much chance when the washers and driers are located in the women's dorm. Second, lists could be posted which each person would sign in order to get his turn at a machine.

Perhaps other solutions might be presented. It doesn't matter which is chosen. What is important is that some action be taken now to relieve this situation.

The Things Around Us

by Jim Hunt

There doesn't seem to be anything that fits in this category as well as the year 1953. Now that the year is gone, it always seems fodder for the mill to look back and see what the outstanding events of the year have been. That is what we have done in an article located elsewhere in the paper, not that it is particularly valuable but simply because we forget some of the achievements during the past year. We seem to minimize the progress and constructive programs that have been an integral part of the year. It has been an interesting year at Juniata so we place our emphasis here on College Hill where we know your interest lies.

In itself 1953 was an interesting year, but it also gave promise for an even better year, the one we have just begun. The new men's dormitory, which has been demanded and dreamed of ever since the war, has finally become a reality and actual construction is scheduled to get under way sometime this year. The kinks have been worked out of the Totem-Inn and this year will mark the first full year for a student center at Juniata. We certainly have some things to remember when we think back over 1953, so we thought a little review would help to stimulate the memory.

Perhaps this is a bit out of order at this time but we wonder if the intramural basketball system couldn't be reorganized a little bit before it is put in operation next year. There are fifteen teams actively participating in the program this year, and it has been well handled and successful in accomplishing the objectives outlined in an intramural programs, but it appears completely out of balance.

There are a number of ballclubs in the league which in skill and experience are definitely out of proportion to the remaining group. Wouldn't it be possible to categorically divide the league into an A and B setup? A system of placement would have to be worked out, but this should not prove extremely difficult because the better teams themselves would want to be placed in the upper bracket. Meanwhile the quintets that are out to have some fun would be playing against teams that are of equal or at least relative playing ability. Each league in turn would experience more enjoyment and competitive fun out of engaging teams that provide games that are a lot closer than a great number have been this year.

We have heard a great number of comments from teams that are on top of the league and others that are fighting for the cellar; and both groups feel that the league should be balanced. It would be unfair to simply eliminate the teams that don't match up and would destroy the purpose of intramural basketball at Juniata, so possibly this is the solution.

Accent On Reading

MAN, TIME, AND FOSSILS, Ruth E. Moore. This is the story of evolutionary theory and significant experiments, discoveries, and formulations which have contributed to the current understanding of man's origins. The author, a feature writer on the staff of the CHICAGO SUN TIMES, has done an excellent job of reporting the works of Darwin, Lamarck, DeVries, Mendel, Haldane, and other theorists.

UN—TODAY AND TOMORROW, Eleanor Roosevelt and William DeWitt. Here is a readable account of the UN for the average citizen. The contents include a discussion of the evolution of the Declaration of Human Rights and some background of the Korean War; a list of successes, compromises, and failures of the UN; an account of the vast business enterprises at UN headquarters in New York; and a section on the special agencies and influence of the non-governmental organizations.

FIRE IN THE ASHES; Europe in mid-century, Theodore H. White. This book gives an extremely clear, journalistic picture of the dramatic regeneration which has taken place during the last six years in Europe.

Juniatian Weather Bureau

In line with the Juniatian policy of providing their readers with factual information of all kinds we have initiated the Juniatian weather bureau. In weeks to come we will endeavor to predict (don't be crazy) the weather outlook for the coming week. With the help of our little friend Worthal we will even attempt to do this impossible task with aid of pictures.

Since the situation has been explained we give you the Juniatian weather forecast for next week.

Girls IM League Enters Second Round Schedule

The Girls Intramural Basketball league began their season this year with ten teams represented. The games are being played every Monday and Thursday in the Women's Gym.

In first round play the Red Devils nipped the Tri-Delts by a 37-25 score. Joyce Warfel was high scorer for the Devils with 17 points, along with E. Englehart, who also had 17 markers The Limpeps also won their initial game by trouncing the Spoofers, 34-13. Joyce Gibbel was high for the game and the Limpeps with 15 counters. The Krazy Kids had an easy night when they won their first game by a forfeit from the Pygmies, as did the Geiger House over the Dinettes. Der Chums chalked up win number one when they almost doubled the Rowdies score 23-12. Joy Wenger dumped in 13 of the Chums 23 points.

Second Round Begins

The action increased as second round play began. The Tri-Delts evened up their record at one and one as they squeeked past the Spoofers 17-12. The Krazy Kids won their second game of the campaign as they slaughtered the Rowdies 47-8. Norma Hottle had enough points to win the game herself, as she zipped the cords for 26 points. The Dinettes picked up their first win of the season when they defeated the Pygmies, 21-15, and the Red Devils beat Der Chums in a high scoring affair 61-37, as Jan Cline scored 23 points for the winners.

Intramural Basketball Features Full Program

Vacations are over and the intramural league is back in full swing. The D. H. D.'s squeaked past the Cards in a close one last Tuesday night ending up on the long end of a 54-52 score. Kepple was high with 16 for the winners and John Cook matched his score for the losers. The Maulers lived up to their name by drumming the Sherwood Trotters to the tune of 52-40.

In the late games of the evening the Sunbrookers continued their winning ways by defeating the Kinsey Kids 71-50. Zimmerman dumped in 19 for the winners, while Alderfer hit for 21 in a losing cause. To finish out the evening the boys from the Creek annialated Pavlov's Pals 124-44. Drexler whipped the cords for 29 for the Creek and Layman had 22 for the losers.

On Thursday the Jabberwockys hafted the Shafters 76-47. West as high man for the Shafters ith 13 while Smith and Kaylor ed for top honors for the winers with 14 each. The Maulers asily defeated the Rackers 57-36. Iazza was high man for both eams with 16. Later on in the vening Pavlov's Pals finally got nto the win column by defeating he hapless Jokers 77-40. Layman ad 23 for the winners while unt with 11 was high for the sers. To finish out the week the eacons won over the Vagabonds 5-38. Lankford was high man for e Deacons with 20 and Stuart ad 13 for the losers.

JUNIATA WINS OVER INDIANA TEACHERS, 90-85

Big Walt Vanderbush racks up two points for the Indians against Bucknell as Jim Poff (number 7) tries to block the shot.

Victory Gives Indians 4th Win; Handzelek High Again With 28

by Bob Gottlieb

The Indians, with a fine display of cooperative effort, pulled one out of the fire in the final two minutes Wednesday night as they defeated Indiana State Teachers 90-85 at Indiana. Playing on a bandbox court which has been in the past a nemesis to JC cagers, the Indians nevertheless led 49-41 at the half.

Walt Vanderbush had personally accounted for almost half of the Tribe point total at the end of the second frame, as the elongated center from West Orange, N. J., whipped in 21 counters including several beautiful tap-ins.

JC Leds By 10

Juniata increased its lead to 10 points in the third period, but the Schoolboys, led by "Jumping Jim" Crossan, who was the game's high scorer with 38 points, eventually tied it up and the lead see-sawed back and forth until the final minute.

Having lost rebounder Chuck Gross via the personal foul route, the Indian chances for victory seemed slim as Grossan, aided by Harry Danielson, began to hit. However, Jake Handzelek and Lee Hallman got hot and matched the Indiana duo point for point.

With JC behind by several points at the three minute mark, Vanderbush drew his fifth personal foul and a technical because Walt's demonstrative protestations of innocence became too demonstrative. Indiana was awarded a technical foul. Stan Frank missed the two free throws and Danielson missed the technical.

Juniata Rallies

On the out of bounds play Bradley missed an easy lay up and the Indians recovered the rebound. George O'Brien, in for Vanderbush, made two charity shots to tie the score. O'Brien hit with a one hander and made good two more foul attempts as Handzelek. Hallman and Kerstetter followed with quick goals.

Handzelek was high scorer for JC with 28 markers, followed by the hustling Vanderbush who netted 24. Lee Hallman recorded 19 and Howie Kerstetter deposited 11, while O'Brien contributed six in the clutch.

JC To Face Dickinson; LVC Flying Dutchmen At Home And Away

Dickinson College and NCAA tourney seasoned Lebanon Valley will provide the opposition for Juniata's Indians next week. Dickinson will floor its 1954 edition of the Red Devils here Wednesday night, while the Flying Dutchmen will entertain JC in Annville on Saturday.

The visitors from Carlisle will present a more experienced edition of the quintet which Juniata defeated last year by a 77-66 count. All members of the 1952-53 team have returned to the squad to play for Coach Slim Ransom in his second season as Dickinson mentor.

Heading the holdovers are Lee Huber, 6-1 junior, who was leading scorer last season, and his running mate, Robert Varano, also 6-1 and a junior at forward; center Richard Johe, 6-4 senior, and a capable guard combination of junior John Dudas, 5-7, and senior Stan Kline at 5-9.

Juniata will not be facing Dickinson's new threat in the person of Joe Katchik, a sophomore transfer student from Notre Dame. A center standing 6-8, Katchik will not be eligible to participate until after Feb. 1.

The Red Devils knocked off Bucknell, which bowed to JC by an 83-60 count, by 68-43 in their season's opener. Johns Hopkins also fell to Dickinson 65-53 before the Devils first tasted defeat 56-50 at the hands of American University, a squad which reached the finals in the Hofstra Invitational Tourney before bowing out.

Lebanon Valley, the Cinderella team which ended its season with a 19-3 record and a taste of national tournament ball last season will provide the opposition for Juniata in an away contest Saturday night. Losers of only one game during the regular season last year, LV defeated Fordham 80-67 at Philadelphia to win a berth in the Eastern Regionals at Raleigh where they were unseated by LSU 89-76.

The Indians and Dutchmen met twice last season. In the first contest Lebanan Valley ran up its highest score of the year in beating Juniata 116-75, but the second contest played in the Memorial Gym, saw LV squeeze past Juniata 83-81, in the Dutchmen's closest winning margin of the campaign.

This season the home squad has had less than the best of luck. After dropping a pre-season exhibition to Gettysburg 61-60, the Dutchmen defeated Western Maryland, PMC and Scranton while losing to Villanova and splitting two games with Temple.

Lost through graduation were high scorer and leading rebounder Leon Miller, Bill Vought, and co-captain Richie Furda. However, a triple threat will be posed by co-captains Herb Finkelstein and Lou Sorrentino, as well as Howie Landa. All three averaged in the double figures last season and accounted for 935 of LV's 1903 points.

Landa and Finkelstein were the Dutchmen's second and third leading scorers last year with 388 and 335 points respectively. Sorrentino was fifth man with 212.

Landa also set a new school record for assists with 158, an average of 6.9 per game.

Running The Gauntlet

by Fritz Heydrick

NEW YEAR NOTES—The Bowl games really produced some surprises this year. Maryland, supposively the top team in the country was knocked off by a jubilant Oklahoma squad, 7-0; the Spartans of Michigan State put on a terrific second half splurge to defeat UCLA 28-20; even the battle of small colleges drew 5000 people as LaCrosse State and Missouri Valley played a 12-12 stalemate in the Cigar Bowl.

Of course the biggest item on the New Years sports pages was the sensational tackle of Tommy Lewis of Alabama, who jumped from the bench to clamp a touchdown-bound Rice football player in the Cotton Bowl. Lewis, in giving an explanation, said that all he could think of was tackling the player. Rice was awarded the TD and then went on to win 28-6.

* * * * *

Basketball was also in the news. Duquesne continued on their winning ways and are currently holding down third place in the United Press ratings, Kentucky is in the spotlight an is recognized as the nation's best team, while Indiana is holding its own in second position. Many tournaments were also held over the holidays, and in one of them two of the Indian's classiest opponents met in a thrilling battle. Geneva, who earlier trounced the Indians 113-87, met Westminster, a January 30 opponent of the Braves. Westminster came out on the long end of a 89-81 score. Thus it will be interesting to see just how much the Indians have improved when they meet the Titans.

* * * * *

Juniata's claim to fame in the basketball world, in person of Jumpin' Jake Handzelek, has attained new heights. In the latest figures released by The Nation Collegiate Athletic Bureau for small college basketball, Handzelek was rated fourth in the nation in individual scoring, having a 32.8 points per game average. This ranks Jake in the same bracket as Rio Grande's Bevo Francis, who leads the pack with 43.9 markers per game, Vince Leta of Lycoming who has 36.0, and Carson Lovett of Franklin and Marshall who has 35.8. Both Leta and Lovett are opponents.

The team as a whole stands eighth in the nation on team offense with an average of 86 points per game. Baltimore leads in this department with 89.5. Also the Indians are fifth in free throws, having made 96 counters in 133 shots for an average of 72.2%. Eastern Ill. State leads with 76.5%.

LATE FLASH

The Juniata cage quintet ran their victory string to five wins in a row last night with a 63-56 triumph over Grove City on the Huntingdon floor. The lads of Coach Doc Greene held a big height advantage over the Wolverines but failed to capitalize on the advantage.

The Braves jumped off to an early nine point lead before the Grovers were able to score but the visiting quintet never went much farther behind during the game. Halftime score was 30-20 in favor of the Indians. Handzelek was high man for the Tribe with 24 markers.

Community Short Courses Slated To Begin Next Week

The third of an annual series of short courses, given in the interest of the community, is now underway at Juniata College. Registration for the program, under the direction of Morley Mays, Dean of the College, took place Monday, January 4. Opening session was also held that evening.

Unless otherwise noted, the minimum number of students required for each course is ten, and the fee is $7.50, with some courses requiring laboratory fees. The courses will meet once each week for two hour periods in Students' Hall, with the exception of the foods and cookery course, which will be held in the Foods Lab. This course will be taught each Monday night at 7:30 for six weeks. The instructress is Miss Helen Fisher, and there are fourteen enrolled in the class.

Language Course

Dr. George Clemens will teach a twelve weeks' foreign language course each Thursday at 7 p. m. At present there are four enrolled in this course. The fundamentals of public speaking, taught by Miss Esther Doyle, will meet each Tuesday at 8 p. m. for six weeks. Enrolled in this course are seven students.

For the amateur photographer, Lewis Greene will instruct a class on "How To Take Pictures". This class, which will meet each Tuesday at 7 p. m., has a total of enrollment of twelve.

Professor James Wilson will instruct two art classes, which will meet together, each Tuesday at 7 p. m. The oil painting class, with an enrollment of twenty-three, and the class in watercolor painting, with an enrollment of four, are both twelve week courses.

World Affairs

Dr. Kenneth Crosby will conduct a course in current events, entitled "World Affairs Are Your Affairs". This class, with an enrollment of thirteen, will meet each Monday night at 7 p. m. for a period of six weeks.

At this time there is a total registration of seventy-seven. However, late registrations will be accepted, and the courses are open to college students, as well as to community adults.

For further information, contact Dean Mays at the College, or at his home, phone 310.

sibility of having a campus dance band subsidized by the College with a faculty adviser.

The question of the spring vacation was then discussed. The vacation does not coincide with Easter but begins March 27 which is approximately the middle of the spring term.

Folders For Information

The Senate voted in favor of having folders of pertinent information for campus organizations which will be passed on from year to year. All class and club presidents, editors and business managers of the campus publications, operetta coordinator and JWSF chairman will be required to keep a record of their activities and suggestions to be handed on to their successors. The policy will go into effect this year.

At the request of the Senate, Abe Finton will investigate the possibility of publishing a campus directory. In previous years they were published only every second year.

The final topic of business was the Sunday evening meal after vacations. Rainy Bell Linn, head waitress, discussed the difficulty of getting waitresses and kitchen help for these meals. Before any definite action is taken, Miss Mathias and President Ellis will be contacted.

Ellis Recuperates At Home 6 Weeks

President Calvert N. Ellis, recently the victim of an automobile accident, is now recuperating at his home in Huntingdon. Mrs. Anna Smith, his secretary, reports that his leg, broken just below the knee, is in a cast. He also has two fractured ribs.

He is able to move around the house, and, in spite of himself, is getting a much needed rest. Progressing, however, he is confined to his home for four to six more weeks.

Five Seniors Take Fall Comprehensives

Five seniors took their written comprehensive Monday and Tuesday mornings and are now in the process of finishing their oral examination.

In division I, Roberta Frye took her comprehensives in French. Representatives from division II are Charles Pagana in sociology and Ken Sheetz and Pat Smith, both in history and political science. In division III was Wilfred Norris, mathematics.

In The Clubs

by Nan Heller

A movie, play, debate, and sports events dominate the club scene next week.

JCA

Martin Luther arrives next week! Four evening performances and two matinees will be shown and the JCA will distribute tickets at a reduced rate to all college students. The regular Tuesday night meeting will be cancelled in order that all those who are members may enjoy this fine movie.

Debate

The Jan. 6 Debate was held and the topic of world trade was handled well by the team. Dottie Stricker and George Carnahan made up the negative team while Dick Backus and Jim Montgomery were their opposition.

Masque

The Skin Of Our Teeth is and will be the topic for quite awhile in the Masque. Thursday Dr. Harold Binkley's comments on the production were heard with Miss Esther Doyle and Dr. Binkley interpreting parts of the play. Tryouts begin January 8 and all are urged to come out to take part as a cast of forty is needed. Backstage crew members will also be asked for, so volunteer your services to this campus performance.

WAA

Next week will find the WAA's volley ball game with the Huntingdon High School girls on the agenda. Another event which will occur next month is the annual J Club-WAA basketball contest.

Organ Selections Made For Tidmarsh Recital

A special program of organ music will be presented Monday at 9:45 a. m. in Oller Hall by Dr. Elmer Tidmarsh, director of music at Union College.

Featured in his program will be four numbers by Bach—We Thank Thee, God; Air from Suite in D; Trio in E Flat; and Tocatta and Fugue in D Minor. Tidmarsh will then play March of the Medici and Twilight at Fiesole both by Seth Binghan; and Sunshine Toccata by Firmin Swinnen.

Also on the program are eight Casual Brevities by Rowland Leach — The Desert, Chollas Dance, Yucca (The Candle of our Lord), Upuntia (Prickly Pear), Joshua Tree (The Praying Joshua), Ceres (Queen of the Night), and Saguaro (Giant Cactus).

At 3 p. m. Dr. Tidmarsh will be present for a master class of college organ students in Oller Hall. Anyone interested in organ is welcome to attend this class.

The Social Side

On the social side of the ledger the queens took top billing with Janice Wenger selected as Queen of the May and Melody while Nancy McCahan ruled at Homecoming Day activities during the fall. There was another queen picked from Juniata as Mary Jane Bridenbaugh was selected as Pennsylvania Apple Queen in 1953.

The usual stage productions received a shot of variety during 1953 as a theater-in-the-round production titled 'The Importance of Being Earnest' was presented. The Gondoliers was the College musical during the fall and received excellent reviews.

And of course the Class of 1954 finally succeeded in winning an All-Class Night production. The senior skit, 'The Lonely Outcry received such praise that the group plans to go on tour.

Faculty Changes

There were changes in the JC faculty during the past year as Nolan, Lockwood, Padgett, Fairchild and Wilson were added to the staff to replace vacancies and widen our selection of courses. Bob Fisher also was selected to manage the newly opened Totem-Inn.

To close up the books on the year 1953 we would like to credit Coach Bill Smaltz with the pessimistic quote of the year—Smaltz Expects Tough Battle With Dickinson!

DuPont Company Renews JC Chem Award Of $2500

The Juniata College Chemistry Department has again been selected by the DuPont Company as the recipient of a $2,500 award for the 1954-55 academic year, "to assist the Department of Chemistry in achieving the most effective performance in the teaching of chemistry and in stimulating the interest of students in this science."

Announcement of this award came from Crawford H. Greenwalt, president of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours Company, who stated that the grant should be used by the Chemistry Department "to satisfy important needs and to engage in worthwhile activities that would not otherwise be possible."

At the time the original award was made, for the year 1953-54, Greenwalt stated that it was "in recognition of the outstanding record of your chemistry department in the education of chemistry majors as evidenced in part by the number it has prepared and encouraged to complete their education at the post graduate level in the universities."

The DuPont plan of awarding grants to selected colleges is considered "not only a recognition of the important place in American education held by the colleges, but especially of their success in training high-quality graduates in science and sending them on to graduate schools."

Juniata College was one of six four-year private colleges in Pennsylvania to receive the $2,500 grant. Similar awards were made to other colleges and universities through the nation. Other Pennsylvania colleges receiving the $2,500 award are Bucknell University, Franklin and Marshall, Haverford, Lafayette and Swarthmore.

Program Includes Cantata, Medley Native Folk Songs

Friday, Jan. 29, at 1 p. m. the Juniata College Touring Choir, with the string-wind ensemble, will leave for its ten-day tour of Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Under the direction of Prof. Donald Johnson, the choir will make its first stopping place at Kennett Square in the Presbyterian Church.

In the program of sacred music, the combined choir will present a cantata by Camil Van Hulse entitled The Beatitudes. The six-piece string-wind ensemble will assist the choir in this number and also in the closing number, Once to Every Man and Nation by David York.

Two songs will be sung by the men's chorus—O Most Happy Day, Sicilian, and Build Thee More Stately Mansions by David H. ph Jones, while the girls will present God Is the Light of the World by Haydn Morgan and My Voice Shalt Thou Hear by Claude Means.

Processional Chosen

Prof. Johnson has chosen as the processional A Welsh hymn, Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah. The first two numbers of the program are Praise to the Lord, a 17th century hymn, and Souls of The Righteous by T. Tertius Noble.

Rounding out the program which will be given in the churches is a group of American Folk Hymns: Now Zion the Marvelous Story Be Telling, a Pennsylvania Dutch number arranged by Shure; He's Got the Whole World in His Hands, a Negro folk song arranged by Reynolds; and Jesus, Born in Bethlea, an Appalachian tune arranged by Scott.

Secular Program

The secular program includes numbers by the Varsity Quartet —Ben Newcomer, Dick Caulk, Paul Morrison and Ken Rockwell, and selections such as Beautiful Dreamer, and a medley from the Gondoliers.

Officers of the choir are president, Ben Newcomer; manager, Roy Rollman; assistant manager, Carol Lowdermilk; secretary, Helen Rosengren; treasurer, Paul Morrison; publicity, Charlie Kipp.

Afternoon Teas Held Monday To Friday

Teas are to be held, compliments of Women's House, in the Brumbaugh Social Rooms the first week of exams from 3:30 to 5 p. m. The teas are to be informal, says Joyce Bernard, committee chairman; everyone is invited.

Jan. Graduation Plans Announced

The mid-year commencement exercises, to be held on Monday, February 1, 1954 at 9:30 a. m. in Oller Hall, will feature an address by Dr. Guy E. Snavely, Executive Director of the Association of American Colleges.

The program, as tentatively arranged, will open with the Star Spangled Banner, followed by the invocation and the address by Dr. Snavely. The candidates for graduation will be presented by the Registrar, William E. Engel, Jr., and Dean Morley Mays will confer the degrees. The exercises will be closed with the singing of the Alma Mater and the benediction.

Candidates for graduation are Roberta Newsome Frye, John Master, Patrick Smith, Kenneth Sheetz, and William Swaim.

Juniata To Play Host To District Chorus, Tonight, Sat. In Oller Hall

Great composers and lyricists are one to receive the acclaim of the world, but those persons who either instrumentally or vocally bring to life the little black notes and the multitude of letters recorded on the music sheets are not undeserving of praise.

College Hill will be paying tribute to 227 such select vocal students tonight and Saturday evening. These students have been chosen to represent 34 high schools from a district of 6 counties.

Practice commenced yesterday, January 14, under the direction of John Raymond, director of music at Lafayette College. Mr. Raymond and others chose a variety of selections to constitute the program with the intention of making the evening an enjoyable one for all. The songs range from shows tunes by Romberg to religious music by Nobel Cain.

Performances will begin at 8:00 in Oller Hall. Admission is $1.00; Juniata students will be admitted on their activity cards.

WAA, J Club Game Set For Tomorrow

Tomorrow night the Woman's Athletic Association and the J Club are sponsoring an informal party.

The party will begin with a basketball game played by people representing these organizations. The game will be played according to girl's rules, and, since the boys will be under a slight handicap, the game should prove to be quite interesting.

For the first half of the game, the J Club team will wear one boxing glove, on the hand, of course; and the second half, they will wear both of them.

After this entertaining fete, refreshments will be provided followed by an informal record dance.

Five Seniors Pass Comps; 1 Distinction

The results of the January comprehensives have been released by the Office of the Registrar. The five seniors taking the tests all made satisfactory results.

Passing were Charles Pagana in sociology, Roberta Frye in French, Ken Sheetz and Pat Smith in history and political science. In addition, Wilfred Norris passed with distinction in the field of mathematics.

Senate Discusses Five-Day Week, Laundry, Discipline

A five-day school week, the laundry situation and a disciplinary committee were among the main topics of discussion at Wednesday's open Senate session.

In answer to a request made by members of the student body concerning a five-day week, it was decided to poll the student body on this matter. However, before the survey is made, various plans for the scheduling of classes will be studied and presented.

The Senate voted that three days a week should be set aside for men to use the laundry facilities and three for women. Beginning next semester men will use the washers and driers Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of each week, while Monday, Wednesday and Saturday will be the girl's days.

Disciplinary Committee

The possibility of having a disciplinary committee composed of faculty and students to handle violations of College rules will be studied by a committee headed by Abe Finton.

Concerning regulations for second semester freshmen, the Senate favored only the name card.

The advertising situation was discussed and referred to the student publications committee.

The question of credit hours for Senators was raised and rejected by the group.

Ellis Report

In a report from President Calvert Ellis, it was revealed that a cigarette machine and pop machine for the men's dorm received the go-ahead signal, and the matter of smoking room for girls will be considered. Both President Ellis and Miss Mathias were in favor of dispensing with the Sunday evening meal after the three College vacation and the issuing of meal tickets for Totem Inn during certain hours. But no definite action was taken by the Senate.

The following report was the elections committee and was accepted: concerning campaigning by senators. Senior senators will not actively campaign. However they may state their views about a candidate when asked. Senior senators will not sign petitions.

Campaigning Candidates

Concerning campaigning by candidates. Posters shall not face Moore St., candidates must remove tacks from trees when takproposed for any office, balloting will be held to eliminate all but three nominations for each office. Nominations must be turned in to the Senate secretary one week prior to the general election. by the following method. Any

Scalpel-Probe To Visit Local Medical Society For Lecture By Phone

The Scalpel and Probe is enjoying the opportunity of witnessing one of the most recent innovations in technique of spreading medical information.

Sixteen medical societies, among which is the Huntingdon County Medical Society, have joined together to sponsor a series of lectures by outstanding men in medicine. The unique feature of this series is that the lectures are given over the telephone on an open circuit. Slides pertaining to the lecture are sent to the societies ahead of time and are shown during the lecture.

Next Thursday, the Scalpel and Probe will visit the Huntingdon County Medical Society to hear Harrison Flippen, M.D., Assistant Professor of Clinical Medicine, University of Pennsylvana Graduate School of Medicine speak on "Anti-Microbal Therapy" by telephone from Philadelphia.

Rules For Finals Posted Schedule To Begin Mon.

Final examinations for Juniata College students will begin Monday and extend until Wednesday, January 27. Most finals will be administered in the Memorial Gymnasium according to the directions listed in the schedule posted in Founders Hall. All exams will last for three hours beginning at 8:15 a. m. or 1:30 p. m. Lunch will be served at 12 noon during this period of examination.

The rules for finals are as follows:

- Students are expected to remain in the examination room until they are finished with the examination and have submitted their blue books to the proctor.
- No student may leave an examination room unless he is ill and explains to the proctor in charge. A student who is forced to leave because of illness will submit his examination book to the proctor who will make a notation of the illness.
- Students taking the same examination should be distributed throughout the examination room. They should not sit in neighboring seat.
- Chairs in the examination room should be kept in proper alignment and position. There should be at least one chair space between desks.
- Notebooks, textbooks, and other materials obviously not necessary to writing an examination must not be taken into the examination room.
- Only one examination booklet is to be given each student at the beginning of the examination. Additional booklets may be acquired later.

It is advisable to bring along a bottle of ink and, preferably, two pens to the examination.

From The Editor's Notes

With the coming of the second semester, we begin to think about buying books; in so doing, we create a problem in the self-service book store of Totem Inn. Rumor has it that there are some students openly bragging that they paid not one cent toward their books in September.

Prices of books are high, but not as high in the book store as they would be elsewhere. Little or no profit is made by the selling of books in Totem Inn. Needless to say, each time that one irresponsible student walks out with a book that he did not buy, the book store loses money.

We fought and worked long and hard for our Totem Inn. And the book store is one essential part of our project. Should a few students destroy the success of our center?

It is difficult to obtain enough student labor now to keep the book store open during the hours which have been established. It would be even more difficult to get an additional force to do police duty during the rush for semester books. Of course, it can be done. There are several possible measures which could be put into action to prevent people from walking out with an armful of unpaid books. But why should this be necessary? College living is supposed to train students to take their place in society. College students should be mature enough and responsible enough to make use of a self-service book store without the need of police action.

A possible solution to the laundry facilities problem has been attempted by the Senate and will go into effect at the beginning of the second semester. This solution, as in the case of all others involving the student body, requires student cooperation.

Three days each week will be set aside for women to use the washers and driers, and the remaining days belong to the men men students. Rather than designate Monday, Wednesday and Friday to a group, it was felt that another system of division of days would be more useful, because a person having classes straight through Monday would stand little chance of doing his washing. Also because the College laundry is done Monday and Tuesday, the drying rooms are not available those days, so they were divided up too.

The following system has been arranged: Monday, Wednesday and Saturday for women; Tuesday, Thursday and Friday for men. More publicity will be presented on these times and signs will be posted in the laundry room.

Those of us who use these facilities are urged to cooperate and to test this possible solution. Should it not alleviate the situation, it may at least suggest other methods for correcting the problem.

The idea of a five-day week seems to be gaining ground among the student body. This suggestion was brought up at Leadership Conference and aroused neither interest nor opposition from the delegates. It was really a dead issue, then. Of course no possible plans of the rescheduling of classes was available at that time, a fact which may account for the lack of interest.

Before any action is taken now, several plans will be thoroughly studied and presented to the students for consideration. Then a poll will be taken of student and faculty opinion.

The one argument given at Leadership Conference and one which seems very valid is that with no Saturday classes, students will leave campus Friday for an extended weekend. At the present time, we complain about the social life on campus. Consider what will happen when students are free over weekends. It might be nice to have a day without classes, but there are other aspects of the situation to take notice of.

SCHEDULE CHANGED

Chairman of athletics, Joe Hinish, announced that intramural basketball games scheduled for last evening will be played tonight in reverse order.

Accent On Reading

JAMES MADISON. SECRETARY OF STATE, 1800-1809, by Irving Brant. This is the fourth volume of a series on Madison by this author. The reader will see parallels to current political tensions and obtain a wealth of information on political background of the time. Information on the Louisiana Purchase is particularly revealing, and everywhere the abilities fo Madison as a statesman are evident.

ROBERT LA FOLLETTE, by Belle and Fola La Follette. An admirably documented, detailed, fastmoving, interpretive, narrative history of progressive politics and statesmanship in the United States from the mid-eighties to the mid-twenties with finely etched portraits of leading actors of the political and economic scenes.

STANTON, LINCOLN'S SECRETARY OF WAR, by Fletcher Pratt. He was called "the terrible Stanton" and was the greatest figure in Lincoln's cabinet. A personal story and superb narrative of the Civil War, written "not so much to make Stanton an attractive person as a credible one." Lincoln depended upon him and placed utmost confidence in him, not only throughout the war, but also in facing the problems of reconstruction.

The Juniatian Weather Bureau got off to a rather successful start last week by correctly forecasting snow. So once again with the aid of Worthal and his friends we bring an exclusive forecast of the weather for next week from the Juniatian Weather Bureau.

The Things Around Us

by Jim Hunt

SOMETHING OLD

The basketball game played last Friday night with the Wolverines of Grove City College produced a very interesting situation that may be used as an example for future days. The fisticuffs which broke out in the last few seconds of the game sent the spectators into a spasm of excitement many of whom rushed on the floor to either break up the minor riot or to join in the fight.

When we look back over the game it is easily seen that the outburst had been building up throughout the contest. It was a sloppy game when compared with other games the Indians have played this year and tempers were at a fine edge—this incident produced the essential push and they went tumbling. In a talk with Mike Snider the following day he commented on the danger of technical fouls in such a situation. He recalled a game played back in high school days. In the last two seconds of the game a foul had been called against us and we had only a one point lead. When the opposing player took his position at the foul line several spectators stepped on to the floor and tried frantically to distract the player from the sidelines. The referee called a technical foul against the home team and we lost the game by one point.

As Mike pointed out in our conversation, the referee if he enforces the rules to the very letter could have continued to call technicals as long as the spectators remained on the floor. Coach Jim Loveless did us a favor Friday night by not allowing Camel to shoot his fouls until the floor had been cleared. Perhaps you feel that we were far enough ahead that a couple technicals wouldn't have hurt but there may be a closer game someday and the results of such action would be disastrous.

As a representative spectator group from Juniata we must be careful of such actions for they not only leave a lasting blot in the minds of many people, they could possibly result in a loss for our cage team in a manner over which they have no control. Remember this the next time when an opposing player is attempting a foul. The home team is responsible for the actions of the spectators and therefore will bear the brunt of any violation.

SOMETHING NEW

Chairman of Men's House, Abe Finton came to us last week before the public announcement was made and stated that "we are receiving a concession on the part of the administration for they are going to install a cigarette machine in the Cloisters. Of course if there is any breakage it will have to be removed immediately so I hope the fellows will realize this." For a number of years before we became a part of the Juniata community there have been requests for a cigarette machine in the men's dormitory but the rules of the College have been set against such a move.

Now they have agreed to the installation of such a machine and it is up to us to honor this concession on their part by proper conduct. There is absolutely no call for the machine to be subject to any sort of maltreatment by the residents of the Cloisters. In addition to this cigarette machine they have also agreed to put the coke machines back in the Cloisters after removing them last year. We all know they were removed because of the breakage that occurred so lets not make the same mistake two years in a row and have them taken out again.

Braves Defeat D-son 51-49; Journey To L. V. Tomorrow

Vanderbush Drops In Last Second Goal As JC Records Sixth Victory

Walt Vanderbush, Juniata College's big 6-6 center, saved the day as far as the Indians were concerned, as he dumped in a last second goal to give the Braves a 51-49 win over Dickinson College. It was the sixth straight victory for the Juniata Cagers.

The Indians were held to their lowest point total of the season by the defensive-minded quintet of Coach A. C. "Slim" Ranson. The Tribe held the lead throughout most of the game, and only a last quarter spurt by the visitors knotted the score and set the stage for Vanderbush's game-winning bucket.

Although scoring ace Jake Handzelek was held to only 18 counters for the evening, he got the Indians off to a 2-0 lead with just eight seconds gone in the first frame. The Braves still held a slim 20-18 lead at the end of this frame.

Early in the new period, the Red Devils forged into the lead on two quick buckets, but the Braves quickly tied it up on a goal by Vanderbush. The battle then see-sawed back and forth, and the intermission found the home team leading 30-28.

The Greenmen then made a strong third frame showing, as they upped the score to 36-28 before the Devils could score a countering marker. By the end of the quarter, the Braves held a six point lead, 44-38.

The fourth quarter became a nightmare for the Indians, as Dickinson pushed shot after shot past the Brave's defensive array. With 1:39 left in the game, Hubler tied up the score. The Memorial Gym scoreboard clock ticked away 80 hectic seconds until Vanderbush dunked his game-winning layup.

Vanderbush also took high-point honors for the Indians with 21, followed closely by Jumpin' Jake Handzelek with 18. Dick Rohe and Lee Huber collected 14 points each to pace Dickinson.

In the Junior Varsity contest, Dickinson defeated the little Indians by a 91-81 count. The loss was the third in seven starts for the Smaltz-coached team. Bill Burchfield paced the Papooses with 22 markers, while Andy Balog took second honors with 16.

4 Teams Stay Unbeaten In IM League Battles

The Men's Intramural Basketball League's schedule showed four games played on Saturday and a total of two on Tuesday.

Saturdays games found the Covites taking the Cards to camp by a 40-33 score. Bob Motishrer led the way for the Covites with 11 points, with Neal Spangler following up with nine. The game's scoring honors went to the Card's John Cook, who whipped the cords for a total of 13 points. The Kinsey Kids suffered their initial loss of the season as the DHD's pushed 70 points through the hoop, while the Kids could only garner 61. Joe Kepple was high man for the game with 23 counters, while Ferrill Aldefer hit 18 for the Kids.

Sunbrookers Win

In another game, the Sunbrookers continued on their winning ways as they downed the Sherwood Trotters 65-50. Gene Rothenberger hooped 19 points for the Brookers, while Terry Dear tied him for game honors by also scoring 19 for the losers. Perhaps the most surprising game of the season was played in the last tilt on Saturday between the McKees Creek five and the Rackers. The Creekers were expected to be able to name their score against the rather weak Racker team, but the final score showed the Creekers winning only by a 64-47 score. "Killer" Conley was the game's leading scorer, as he dumped in 17 markers for the Creekers, while Dunmire led the Rackers effective attack with 14 points.

Two games completed the Tuesday schedule. In the first, the Cards won their second game of the season as they dumped the Deacons 58-50. Dick Barefoot scored 19 of the Card's 58 markers and took game honors. Dick Dodge hooped 16 for the losing Deacons. In the other game, the DHD's barely got past the Cards by a 55-52 score. Staley scored 22 for DHD's as did Neech for the Cards. Second high honors went to Stuart of the Cards with 13.

Win number six came the hard way for the Braves Wednesday night but center Walt Vanderbush drops in the winning marker with 17 seconds remaining in the contest.

Juniata To Face Busy Exam Week; Dutchmen Sat.

The Juniata College Indians will go on the road six times in the next 20 days in an effort to extend the six game winning streak they now hold. The cagers of Coach Doc Greene move off College Hill tomorrow and travel to Annville, Pa., where they will tangle with the Flying Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley College.

Face E-town Quintet

On the 23rd of this month they will travel to Elizabethtown to engage the E-town College basketeers. The home team has been having of their better seasons in recent years and will present a formidable opponent for the Braves.

Five days later Juniata will journey to engage the cagers of Shippensburg State Teachers College on the Shippensburg floor. The game is scheduled for the day following the completion of finals and will present the Shippensburg area students with an opportunity to see JC in action.

Titans Rated High

In the final contest of the month the Braves will travel to New Wilmington, Pa., to engage the highly touted Westminster Titans in what should prove to be an interesting scrap. The Titans defeated Geneva, a 113-87 conquerer of the Indians, in their first meeting but lost out by a narrow margin in the second encounter.

Last season the Titans defeated JC 77-65 in Memorial Gymnasium to run up a dominating lead in the series between the two schools. Westminster has won 16 games while the Indians have been able to notch only one victory. The series started in 1940 and once again this season the Titans present formidable opposition to the red-hot Tribe. Jerry Neff, a thorn in the side of the Indians last year will be back to pace the home team once again this season.

Travel To Lycoming

After the encounter with Westminster the Indians will travel to Lycoming on February 3 to meet the high riding Lycoming Collegiates. Paced by Vince Leta and George Fortner the Tribe will find the home team that night another tough opponent. Leta and Fortner are rated among the top scorers and rebounders in small college NCAA ratings respectively.

The next three weeks should prove the make or break section of the schedule for the Indians before they return to the home courts to meet Albright February 10.

Hinish Announces League Standings

The official standings of the Men's IM Basketball League as released by Chairman of Athletics Joe Hinish, shows that the Sunbrookers are leading the league with five straight victories. Close behind them are the Covites and McKees Creek, with both teams possessing four straight wins. The only other undefeated team is the Maulers, who have won three in a row. The following standings include games played as of January 12.

Team	W	L	Pct.
Sunbrookers	5	0	1.000
Covites	4	0	1.000
McKees Creek	4	0	1.000

5 Games Played Last Week In Girls League

The girls intramural basketball teams engaged in a full schedule the past two weeks. Last Thursday three games were played in the Women's Gymnasium with the Limpeps defeating the Rowdies 38-12 with Edie Talbot capturing scoring honors with 14 points.

In other games played that night the Spoofers dumped the Krazy Kids 29-21 with Jeannette Lowe leading the way with 15 markers. In the final game of the evening the Tri-Delts edged the Dinettes 18-10 with Kay Bubeck dumping in 10 points.

On Monday evening two games were played with the Red Devils and the Limpeps notching victories over the Rowdies and the Dinettes respectively. Janet Cline and Joyce Warfel paced the Red Devils with 14 and 20 points as they recorded a 42-12 victory. Joyce Gibbel with 29, Edie Talbot with 21 and Nancy Blanck with 11 led the way for the defending champions, Limpeps, to romp to a 60-38 win.

Cast Chosen By Masque For Thorton Wilder Play

The cast for the Masque play, The Skin of Our Teeth, was recently announced by the tryout committee composed of Miss Esther Doyle, Lona Beabes, Jerry Richards, Betty Shearer, and Doris Wilson.

The cast is made up of forty members, and those in the more important roles are Jim Montgomery as George Antrobus, the father of the Antrobus family which is constantly being plagued by misfortune; Jean Baker, as Mrs. Antrobus, his wife; Fritz Blechschmidt, Henry; Nancy Rosenberger, Gladys; Judy Gearhart, Sabina; Wilfred Norris, Mr. Fitzpatrick; Claudia Pilutik, fortune teller; Klare Sunderland, announcer; Jim Stayer, telegraph boy.

Those cast in the roles of conveneers, muses, refugees, are Paul Morrison, Lona Beabes, Richard Godshall, Jim Barefoot, Joy Rinehart, Polly Fowler, Maurice Henry, Bob Hamm, Betty Henry, Betty Shearer, Dick Livingston, Jean Runnion, Allegra Forney, George Carnahan, Dick Backus, Jerry Richards, Clint Martin, Helen Rosengren, Paul Miller, and Pat Henry.

According to the tryout committee, the selection of a cast, in view of the quality shown by those who tried out, was extremely difficult. The deciding factor in the committee's choice of each member, therefore, was not who did the better job of reading but who was the beter interpretation of the character the author, Thorton Wilder, wished to portary.

The committee wishes to express its appreciation and thanks to all those who tried out and helped make the tryouts what they should be.

Collegiate Miscellany

(ACP)—Following are 15 easy ways in which to fail a course, as written by Jack Seward for the Oregon State Daily Barometer:

1. Enter the course as late as possible. By changing your mind about the curriculum after school starts, you should be able to avoid classes until the second or third week.

2. Do not bother with a textbook.

3. Put your social life ahead of everything else. If necessary, cultivate a few friendships in the class. Interesting conversation should be able to drown out the noise of the lecture.

4. Observe how seedy most professors look and treat them accordingly.

5. Make yourself comfortable when you study. If possible, draw up an easy chair by a window.

6. Have a few friends handy during the study period so you can chat when the work becomes dull.

7. If you must study, try to lump it together and get it over with. The most suitable time would be the last week of school.

8. Keep your study table interesting. Place photographs, magazines, goldfish bowls, games and other recreational devices all around you while studying.

9. Use mnemonic devices on everything you learn. Since they are easy to forget, this approach prevents your mind from getting cluttered up with stale facts.

10. Never interrupt your reading by checking on what you have learned. Recitation is not very pleasant anyhow, since it shows up your deficiencies.

11. Avoid bothering with notebooks. If you plan to use one anyhow, so that you can draw pictures of airplanes during the lecture, try to follow the simplest arrangement: keep all the notes for a given day on the same sheet of paper.

12. Remind yourself frequently how dull the course is. Never loose sight of the fact that you really wanted to sign up for something else.

13. Review only the night before examination, and confine this to trying to guess what the teacher will ask.

14. Find out exactly when your final examination will be over so that you can plan to forget everything about the course at that moment.

15. Stay up all night before important examinations. You can spend the first half of the evening discussing your determination to "bone" and the latter half drinking coffee.

SOMETHING BLUE

We noticed with certain regret last week that the Senate has recommended a College sponsored dance band. This if carried to completion is almost certain to knoll the death bell to the small bands that are organized periodically on College Hill and have provided some fine music in past years. This organization when left to the students provides some fine experience for the persons involved and permit them to acquire some spending money at a pastime they enjoy. Under College sponsorship the dance band will fall into the same category as the marching band and the orchestra causing the freedom they enjoy to be stifled.

We realize that there has been a great deal of contention on campus this year over the use of outside bands and cooperation with the Royals the only dance band on campus this year. But we wonder if a little discretion of the people in charge couldn't remove some of these difficulties and leave the road open for independent dance bands from the College to play at College functions.

Frankel-Ryder Dance Team Here Monday In Special Chapel Session

Emily Frankel and Mark Ryder, acclaimed as the most gifted and engaging duo among America's young dancers, will appear in the special chapel program scheduled for Monday in Oller Hall.

Dancing of a most novel style will be presented by the dance duo.

The Dance Duo of Emily Frankel and Mark Ryder who will appear in a special chapel program Monday morning. The well known couple will present their interpretations in modern dance.

In their extraordinary approach to the choreography and theatrical presentation, they produce a combination of drama and dance in humor, satire, folk, ballet and fantasy.

Miss Frankel was formerly a member of the Charles Weidman Dance Company while Ryder was an important soloist in the Martha Graham Dance Company.

Both Experienced

As a child, Miss Frankel began her dance training in a local ballet school in Harrisburg, Pa. During the summers, she lived in New York City and studied at the Metropolitan Ballet School and the School of American Ballet. Later she moved to New York City and, within a short time, became a member of the Wiedman Dance Company. She toured with the Weidman Company, danced with Doris Humphrey's Group, choreographed and performed her first solo dances on different television networks, and taught dancing.

Ryder began studying acting and dancing at an early age at the Neighborhood Playhouse of the Theater in New York City. Martha Graham taught him there, and later invited him into her dance company. After three years of service in the Army, he worked himself into the position of soloist with the Graham Company. He was also a major soloist in the New Dance Company, Doris Humphreys Group, appeared on many television shows and danced the leading role in the St. Louis Opera production of 'Bloomer Girl'.

Program Announced

Emily Frankel and Mark Ryder will open their program with a "Play in Four Times," done to a medley of contemporary American Music. The first scene of this drama describes "An All American Sports Hero and His Mother;" the second scene "On The Town, With His Girl Friends;" scene three, "In Marriage;" and scene four, "With His Child."

The second number on their program will be a "duet" to J. S. Bach's "Prelude in B Minor." Next, the dancers will tell the

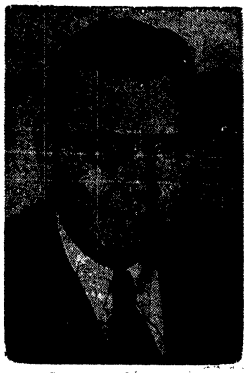
Mays Granted Semester Leave For Grad Study

President Calvert N. Ellis anhounced today that Dean Morley Mays, Dean of Juniata College, has been granted a leave of absence during the Spring term for additional study in New York.

During his leave of absence, effective February 1, as granted by Juniata's Board of Trustees, Dean Mays will study principally ethics and some of the more recent developments in philosophy at Columbia University and Union Theological Seminary under the guidance of the nation's most prominent professors, Professor Reinhold Niebuhr and Professor Paul Tillich.

In addition to his top administrative position as Dean of Juniata College, Mays also holds the position of professor of philosophy. He has been a member of the faculty for 11½ years during which he served as an English professor from 1932-1938 and at his present post for the last 5½ years.



Dean Morley Mays
● Taking Grad Work ●

The dean will return at frequent intervals in order to keep in touch with his administrative duties on College Hill. In March, he will travel to Colgate University in order to serve on a committee representing the Middle State Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

House Committee Outlines Program

At a recent meeting, the Men's House Committee decided by unanimous vote to set up a dormitory disciplinary program. The committee felt this to be necessary to promote better living conditions in the men's dormitories and they also felt the most efficient program would be one operated by the men themselves.

With this fact in mind they decided on the plan of action outlined below.

1. When the House Committee feels, by majority vote, that a dormitory resident is guilty of dormitory misconduct the resident will be warned by the committee that further repetition of such conduct will result in further action.

2. With a second offense the resident is referred to the Dean of Men for a conference and a letter is sent to the resident's parents by the Dean telling them of his behavior and notifying them that a further offense will result in their son's removal from the respective dormitory.

3. Upon the third offense the dormitory resident is moved from the dormitory by the Dean of Men.

Rosenberger Selected To Serve As Brethren Representative At JC

The Reverend Clarence H. Rosenberger, pastor of the Scalp Level Church of the Brethren, Windber, Pa., joined the staff of Juniata College here February 1 as a representative to the churches. Rev. Rosenberger's job will be to expand the work in church relations now being conducted by the College, according to President Calvert N. Ellis. His position will be a part-time position until September 1, when he will be relieved of the pastoral relationship which he has held with his church since January 1, 1946.

Rev. Rosenberger has been a leader in the Church of the Brethren activities and in interdenominational groups during his pastorates in the Johnstown area. Prior to 1946 he was pastor at the Plum Creek-Oakdale charge in Indiana County for four years. He also served summer and part-time pastorates during seminary training in Woodworth, Ohio; Saem, Ind.; and Osceola, Ind.

Our new representative to the churches has served two terms as president of the Windber Ministerium and has held important positions in the Church of the Brethren. He has served six years as treasurer in the Western Pennsylvania District, and has been reading clerk for the district conference for three years.

A native of Lansdale, Pa., Rev. Rosenberger was graduated from Juniata College in 1936 with a bachelor of arts degree. In 1941 he was graduated from Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago, and later he took graduate work at Temple University Garrett Theological Seminary.

Chapel Programs Announced For Week

Chapel services, in the absence of Dean Mays, will be moderated by Professor Stayer. Mr. Padgett, in charge of the speakers, has completed plans for a special dance program, Monday.

On Wednesday; Dr. Henry will speak and the JWSF will take charge on Friday.

The following week, The Reverend Dr. Paul Robinson, president of Bethany Seminary, is scheduled to speak. On Wednesday and Friday of that week, the JWSF will present a movie and another program.

Valentine Dance Planned By Sophs

Tomorrow night will be a night "For Lovers Only" when the sophomore class will put on the Valentine Dance. Although this party is a traditional occurrence, the committees under the chairmanship of Nancy Freed expect to present "Some Enchanted Evening."

Barry Stayer is to be master of ceremonies for an entertaining program which includes the JC debut of Don Witters, vocalist, and Judy Gearhart. By using the theme of "Love, Your Magic Spell is Everywhere" the sophs will transport you to the four corners of the world via the route of melody.

"A Fellow Needs a Girl" so get yourself a lady who "loves to dance" and make your appearance at 8:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Women's Gym. See the dance that promises to be "Unforgettable".

Yenter Begins Construction On $349,000 Dormitory

by Carol Newborg

The long awaited men's residence hall is about to become a reality. Excavating on the site of the new $349,900 structure is now under way in preparation for actual construction operations.

A bulldozer has been moving the top surface and a power shovel will soon move in to complete the preparations for the East wing. The excavation work is being done by L. C. Anderson & Sons, Huntingdon, on a subcontract with contractor, John C. Yenter, Tyrone. The latter has been moving in his equipment in order to be "ready to go" when excavations are completed.

Yenter was awarded the contract for the Juniata College project on January 8 by the building committee of the board of trustees. Nine bids had been submitted by contractors for consideration by the committee headed by John Swigart, Huntingdon. Yenter has informed the college that he will arrange sub-contracts with local firms "wherever possible."

According to present plans, the proposed building should adequately fill the needs for which it was designed. The dormitory will be constructed in two separate units with a connecting lobby with work begining first on the three-story East wing. This wing will have 38 rooms and two apartments housing 80 men while a similar building on the West will house 52 men and one proctor in 26 rooms and one suite.

Following the plans drawn by the architect firm of John B. Hamme, York, Pa., each of the two main sections will be a 107' 8" by 41' 8" with the connecting buildings designed to fit into the center portion of the angled buildings. Included in this part will be the main floor lobby 36' by 32' with an attractively designed fireplace. Rest rooms for both men and women will also join the lobby. The boiler room and a trunk storage room will be located in the central basement.

Each of the dormitory rooms in

Substitutes Selected While Mays Absent

Dean Morley Mays was granted a leave of absence for the spring semester of 1954 (see article elsewhere). During Dean Mays' absence Harold Brumbaugh will be in charge when President Ellis is not on campus.

Professor J. Clyde Stayer will be in charge of chapel in such an instance. Mr. Jack Padgett will make arrangements for the speakers in chapel during the spring semester.

Any changes in student programs, which previously required the authorization of Dean Mays, will be made by Mr. Engel.

Parties Planned For Sub Frosh

Admissions parties for subfreshmen are being planned for the spring vacation by the director of admissions and the assistant to the president.

The purpose of the parties is to acquaint sub-frosh with the College and with present students. Graduates from the communities will also be on hand to assist.

The affairs will be held five week nights during spring vacation in Pittsburgh, Greensburg, Johnstown, Somerset, Harrisburg, Lancaster, Philadelphia, Camden and Newark. Students interested in assisting should leave their names in the Public Relations Office. Actual dates for each locations have not yet been set.

The parties will begin at 7:30 p. m.; refreshments will be served. Either Harold Brumbaugh or Bob Newcombe will show colored slides of the campus.

Jim Hunt Named Juniatian Editor; Skinner, McClure Also Promoted

The appointment of Jim Hunt as editor of the Juniatian was recently okayed by the Faculty Publications Committee. His term of office will be in effect as of this issue.

Jim Hunt
● Juniatian Editor ●

Two further staff promotions were revealed by the new editor. Alma Skinner will take over as managing editor and Joan McClure will assume the duties of news editor. Both appointments are effective immediately.

Hunt, a sophomore journalism major from Johnstown, served as managing editor last semester. Prior to that, he was news editor and a reporter for the sports staff. He attended Leadership Conference, took part in All-Class Night and has worked on the Tomahawk for two years.

A sophomore from West Whiteland, Miss Skinner moves up to the position of managing editor after serving as news editor and reporter. A psych major, she took part in All-Class Night and is a member of the JCA.

The news editor, Miss McClure, is a freshman from Harrisburg who was a reporter last semester. Her activities include All-Class Night and the Radio Committee.

From The Editor's Notes

Two weeks from today the petitions for the top four Senate posts will be distributed to interested candidates. The yearly round of campus campaigns and elections will once again be under way with respective candidates trying to garner the votes. A position on the Juniata College Student Government is a position that should be coveted and held in due respect by the candidates and the voters.

We sometimes find the elections dropping to a point where they become a campus joke rather than an example of a working representative government. Each candidate for office should seriously consider his own qualifications for the office before placing his services at the disposal of his fellow students. A position on the Senate is a position of responsibility and only united work by our representatives on the Senate results in a well-balanced student government. Therefore we want to exercise extreme caution in selecting the officers to the Senate.

The group of student leaders now holding positions on the Senate realize this need and have selected a plan of action which they feel will inable the student body to select their best leaders for a campus election. The week preceeding the official campaign week will find your Juniatian attempting to promote this plan formulated by the Senate.

Each candidate for a Senate position is required to prepare an outline or platform concerning the position he wishes to fill. It will include the way he feels his presence on the Senate will improve the Senate or any particular segment of the Senate. These platforms will be published in the Juniatian and each voter is urged to read the platform of each respective candidate and acquaint himself with the views and aims of each candidate before voting.

This step taken by the student government in an effort to insure good student leaders can only be successful if you, the voter, take advantage of an opportunity to actually see the good or bad points of the candidates.

What's Wrong With Our Alma Mater?

Let's go back in history—It was a cool, rather dreary day in January, 1954 and a College community was gathered in Oller Hall. They had just heard an address by Dr. Guy E. Snavely and watched the presentation of degrees to six Juniata graduates when the stillness was broken by a wierd assortment of noises. However, the students gathered in the hall were not frightened by the wierd sounds for it only happened to be the Alma Mater—.

That is the extent of our short-short story but the point is yet to be define. There was something wrong that day and that is quite definate. Perhaps the blame may be placed on the inadequacy of the Alma Mater which has been a point of discussion for quite awhile. Of course the cause of the uproar may be traced to the organ or the fact that many people singing the song did not know the words.

It is not our point to attempt to pin down the difficulty but consider the people that were guests of the College that day and were subjected to such an example of Juniata tradition. If the difficulty lies in the Alma Mater then something should be done to initiate a new song to represent our school. We were in a position Monday to watch the expression on the face of the guest speaker and that was enough to convince us that something was certainly wrong.

The actual tragedy that occurred may be traced to leniency on the part of freshman in learning completely the Alma Mater. We don't mean this year's class for the others are just as guilty. If we are going to complete College traditional ceremonies of importance with our Alma Mater then steps must be taken to insure better music than was displayed last Monday.

Accent On Reading

VERMONT TRADITION, Dorothy Canfield Fisher. This book gives full historical background of Vermont's reticence, thrift, and independence. Its self-reliant first settlers had friendly relations with Indians, waged bloodless but obstinate war against the patroon system of New York, and avoided theocracy of Massachusetts. Present, too, are captivating bits of biography.

ANNAPURNA, the story of the first conquest of an 8,000 meter peak, by Maurice Herzog. Here is a day by day account of how the 1950 French Himmalayan Expedition made its climb. Included are detailed maps of the area and technical tips on a variety of technical subjects such as the best type of equipment or the most favorable ways to maneuver a difficult ascent.

THE BEST OF TWO WORLDS, by Joseph Wood Krutch. Nature essays with philosophical overtones by a scholar who has learned to make the best of two worlds whether it be that of the city versus the country or matter versus spirit. Sequestered in Connecticut, he learns how culture bred in the city can enrich country life. Like Thoreau he approaches animals as a moralist, aware of the lessons nature can teach man once he tears himself away from his machine environment.

To The Student Body

Juniatian editors come and go, and on the surface, their coming and going seems to make little difference. The paper is published as usual; minor changes may appear; policies may be revised. But to the average reader, things are virtually unchanged.

Yet, whenever staff changes occur, whether it be between semester or at Move-Up Day, the time is ripe for improvement and the Juniatian should profit.

Each editor has his own plans and goals for the paper. Whether he leaves office satisfied or disillusioned depends on many factors. One of the most important is you, the student body. For from you we gain both our staff and our readers.

Over the past year, we admit to making many mistakes. For the technical ones, we, the staff, take full blame. But there's another type of mistake to which we plead not guilty; this, you the readers must accept in part. And that's the mistake which we make in our selection of features and columns and editorials, our subject matter, in other words. You are the readers; yet we so seldom know what you like to read. Criticism, both good and bad, is something we don't get very often. We can take it; in no time at all, we've learned to take just about anything that comes along. The improvement which we strive for will come along with your suggestions and support.

In addition to the students, other important factors are the printers and the Faculty Publications Committee. To these people, and especially to our staff, we express our sincere thanks for their work and assistance over the past year.

Running The Gauntlet

by Jim Holsopple

Juniata's basketball team is still on the long end of a 8-5 record. While it seems to be apparent that the court squad will no equal the Indians' all-time 1924-25 13 and 5 record, a winning season comes as a welcome relief to all members of the present student generation. What seniors and juniors can not remember trudging down to the Bearcat gym to see the Indians losing to squads of inferior quality? Whether the 1953-54 season is a winning one or not, its contrast with the Indian court teams of a few years ago will be regretted only by Juniata's opponents!

Highlight of the week on the college court scene was the 113 point performance of Rio Grande College's fabulous Bevo Francis. Bevo netted 113 points against Hillsdale College, a regular four year institution. The NCAA, which last year junked Francis' scoring records, red-facedly admits that his 113 tallies stand as the new all-time collegiate mark.

Juniata Notes: Henry Rote, coach of the 1925 basketball squad whose 13-5 record has been mentioned above, achieved this mark in his second and last year of JC coaching, then went to John Harris High of Harrisburg where he has been situated ever since ... Coeds introduced basketball at Juniata College about the turn of the century when they played on an outdoor court on the site of the College varsity tennis courts. The first organized men's team did not appear until the winter of 1904, 50 years ago.

It is not too early to begin consideration of JC's spring sports slate. Already some of the members of the track squad are getting into shape. Four sports will be featured on the schedule. The baseball schedule is the most advantageous that it has been for some time with nine of 15 games being played at home. After opening away at Elizabethtown, the Indians will face the same opponent at home before traveling again to play at Lebanon Valley. Bucknell and Lycoming will be met on College Hill, while Indiana STC will be faced at Indiana. A string of four home games with Susquehanna, Pitt, and return matches with Indiana and Lebanon Valley will be interrupted with a visit to Lycoming at Williamsport. A return game with Susquehanna and a match with St. Francis at Loretto will be followed by home games with Dickinson and the Alumni to wind up the card.

The always successful golf squad will take to the links no fewer than eleven times, with the first match being played with Albright at Reading on April 26. A home match with St. Francis of Loretto will alternate with a trip to Carlisle to face Dickinson College before Johns Hopkins is faced at home. The highlight of the season will be the highly touted JC Invitational to be held at Mount Union on May 8. Matches with Western Maryland and Bucknell and the Western Maryland Invitational follow, while the traditional alumni contest concludes the season.

Bridgewater College travels from the mountains of Virginia on April 14 to continue a track series begun last season at Bridgewater. The JC thinclads then leap into the Penn Relays ten days later before renewing the regular schedule of opponents with Albright, Bucknell and Gettysburg in a three-way meet, and Dickinson. On May 14 and 15 Juniata will enter the Middle Atlantics at Philadelphia before concluding their season against Shippensburg STC at home.

A nine match tennis slate faces the College beginning on April 10 with a home and home stand with Elizabethtown. Also to be faced by the netmen at home are Indiana STC, Lycoming and Dickinson. Penn State, Pitt, Lycoming and Albright will all be faced away.

Consequently, Juniata teams will compete in no fewer than 49 athletic events—including the eight basketball games remaining—before the end of the semester. Of these, 26 will be at home. This constitutes a good distribution, especially since it is so different from the four-week span just completed during which there was not a single home basketball contest!

Lock Haven STC Last Road Opponent Face Albright Here

The Juniata cagers will wind up a string of six consecutive away games tonight when they journey to Lock Haven to meet the Bald Eagles for the twelfth time in 50 years of basketball competition.

A game with Lock Haven Normal on March 25, 1905, marked the first intercollegiate contest in Juniata College's opening season in 1904-05. Lock Haven won the frey 27-10.

In the half-century since then, Juniata and Lock Haven have met a total of only 11 times with the Teachers holding a 7-4 lead over the Indians. The Braves copped the fourth win last season by a 72-62 count.

The Eagles have an unimpressive 2-6 record this year, but like the Indians, the team is composed of sophomores and juniors. A bright note in the Teacher's lineup is big 6-2 Bob Shearer who handles the center spot for the Eagles. Shearer dumped in nine points in the second overtime to give the Eagles a 75-70 upset win over Lycoming, and helped in holding high-scoring Vince Leta to 29 points.

Rounding out the rest of the Teacher's varsity will be accurate shooting Herb Sauder and Bob Kearney at forwards, and Mike Yelovich and Dick Bell at the guard slots.

Host To Albright

Wednesday night the Indians will open a three game home stand by hosting the Lions of Albright. Last year the Braves absorbed a 66-57 lacing from the Lions. This year, almost the same line up will start for Juniata which started last year against the Albrightians. Missing will be diminutive guard Dave Pollock.

The Lions will start the same players which have seen action in the last 12 games. They include George Conrad and Mike DePaul at forwards, Bruce Riddell at center, and Jim Croke and Jim Foreman at the guard positions.

Conrad leads in scoring with over 200 points followed by DePaul, Riddell, and Foreman in that order. Conrad and DePaul are both sophomores while Riddel and Foreman are freshmen.

Indians Top Lycoming 74-69; Handzelek Tallies 36 Points

The Juniata Indians copped their eighth win of the season when they defeated the strong Lycoming Warriors, 74-69 at Williamsport on Wednesday night.

The win for the Braves was the second in the eight game series. Lycoming visits the Memorial Gymnasium for a return game on February 27.

Jumpin' Jake Handzelek was the big gun for Juniata as he scored the first seven points against the Warriors on three set shots and a foul. Lycoming in the meantime garnered only six counters. However, the Warriors began to pick up steam in the later stages of the period, and led 20-12 at the start of the second frame.

Lycoming stayed behind of the Indians repeatedly in the second quarter, some times as much as 13 points. Big 6-5 Warrior center Vince Leta accounted for most of the scoring in this frame, and at the half, Lycoming lead 40-34.

The second half proved to be a real uphill battle for the Tribe. In the third quarter Handzelek finally knotted the count at 44-44 with a foul shot. The battle seesawed back and forth for the remainder of the frame, and at the buzzer, the scoreboard read 55-55.

Walt Vanderbush broke an early fourth quarter 57-57 tie with a foul shot, ad from there the Indians were never headed. The closest the Warriors came was within two points, 61-62 with about six minutes to play, but the Tribe quickly squelched the rally.

Jake Handzelek broke his point famine as he swished the cords for 36 markers, beating top ranking Leta who collected only 30. Walt Vanderbush followed up Handzelek with 16 counters, giving the terrific two 70's of the Tribes points.

JV's Lose

The Juniata Little Indians lost their sixth game in eleven starts as the Lycoming JV's took a close 76-73 win. Glunk of Lycoming took scoring honors with 23 points, followed by Bill Burchfield with 22. The Indians were outscored in every period but the last, and although they racked up a total of 26 markers in this frame, the Warrior lead was to great to overcome.

Beaten By Titans

The high-scoring Westminster Titans handed the charges of Coach T. Arnold Greene their fifth setback of the current campaign last Saturday night when they rolled over the Indians 87-58 at New Wilmington.

The win now gives the Titans a 13-4 mark for the season and insures them of finishing with one of the best records in the school's history.

The Tribe gave the Westminster five a terrific battle in the first quarter, coming from behind to lead 7-5, 10-9, and 13-9, before the Titans could rally to score six straight points and take a lead that never again was threatened.

Jake Handzelek, ace Indian sharpshooter pocketed 10 of his total 25 points in the first quarter, but despite this effort, the Titans held a first frame lead of 21-18. The half showed the quintet from New Wilmigton out in front by a 42-29 score, and in the final two stanzas the Titans outscored the Braves 35-19.

Scoring artist Jerry Neff led the Titans with 20 markers, while Jim Riley followed with 18. The only player to hit the double figures for the Indians in addition to Handzelek was big Walt Vanderbush, who collected 12 points.

Creek, Brookers Top Teams In IM

Pre-games in the Men's Intramural Basketball League saw two teams drooping from the unbeaten ranks, and two continuing unbeaten.

In a major clash of unbeatens, the McKees Creekers squeeked past the Covites by a score of 50-44. Leading only by the slim margin of 27-25 at half time the Creekers poured on coal and racked up 12 points in the third frame while the Covers could only manage four. This splurge proved to be the winning factor although the Covites outscored the Creekers 14-11 in the last frame, they could not close the gap. Hinish of the Covites was high man with 17 points.

Maulers Beaten

The other game of unbeatens resulted in the Sunbrookers taking a 45-38 win from the Maulers. The game was closely contested all the way, and at the end of the third quarter the score stood 35-34 in favor of the Brookers. In the fourth frame the Maulers lost their scoring punch and came up with only four points while the Sunbrookers were managing 11. Vince Piazza was high man with 15 points in his last college game, and Monk Simon paced the Brookers with 13.

Other action showed the Jabberwockies annialating Pavlov's Pals 91-21. Sonny Kaylor was high for the JW's with 24 markers followed by Bill Smith with 16. Also the Rackers handed the Jokers their fifth straight loss by doubling them, 66-33. Reese was high man for the Rackers with 17 points.

McKees Creek Wins

In games played Monday night, the Deacons squeezed past the Shafters, 41-40. West of the Shafters was high man for the game with 14 points, followed closely by Langford of the Deacons with 12. Other games showed the McKees Creekers taking their sixth win in a row with a 101-56 win over the Maulers. The loss was the second straight for the Maulers. Drexler had 20 for the MK followed by teammates Conley, Pheasant, and Tarquinio with 18 apiece. Douds scored 14 for the losers. Pavlov's Pals won their second game of the season, defeating the Sherwood Trotters 60-52. John Bowser took honors for the night by racking up 26 points, while Ted Grothe scored 18 for the losing cause.

Six Granted Degrees; Snavely Guest Speaker At Winter Convocation

Dr. Guy E. Snavely, executive director of the Association of American Colleges, was the speaker at the Winter Convocation, Monday, February 1, in Oller Hall.

At that time degrees were awarded to the mid-year graduates and new students were welcomed for the Spring term. Dean Morley Mays conferred the Bachelor of Arts degree on Roberta Newsome Frye, Huntingdon, Patrick Lawrence Smith, Saxton, and William Ernest Swaim, Cumberland, Maryland, and the Bachelor of Science degree upon John Patrick Master, Altoona, Charles Carmen Pagana, Mount Union, and Kenneth Harry Sheetz, Warfordsburg.

Dr. Snavely, who is one of the nation's best known educators, spoke to the graduates and student body on "The College In Our Democracy."

Attendance Good At Night Classes

Juniata College's Community Educational Service program is again being conducted on campus during the evenings.

This is the third annual series of short-term, non-credit courses offered by Juniata to people of the nearby community as well as to its students.

Courses of interest to hobby-minded men and women dominate the enrollment. However, the 'World Affairs Are Your Affairs" course ranks second in popularity, oil painting taking first place honors.

According to latest registration figures, the enrollment in seven courses is: Oil Painting, 24; World Affairs, 17; How to Take Pictures, 16; Foods and Cookery, 14; Public Speaking, eight; Water-color Painting, five; and Foreign Language, four.

story of a puppet, who transforms an empty woman into a creature like himself in "The Irresistible Force," with music by Mordecai Sheinkan. Their final dance, entitled "Biography of Fear," tells a story about love and fear of death. It is performed to a background of air raid sirens and jazz.

This modern dance drama duo is one of the outstanding features of the College's Public Events series of special chapel services. The public is invited to attend this program and will be seated in the balcony of Oller Hall.

Dorm

the East and West wings will be approximately 12 by 15 feet. Built-in dressers and closets, two desks, two beds and a study table are some of the features. Asphalt tile on the floor and acoustic tile on the ceiling are also planned for each room.

In the first wing to be constructed, plans call for 12 rooms on the ground floor; 14 on the main floor; and 12 on the second floor. Shower rooms and toilet facilities will be provided on each floor. In addition, two apartments consisting of living room, bed room and bath will be constructed on the ground and second floors.

The men's residence hall is the first objective in the 10-year "Build Juniata" program which was just announced this week. A goal of $2,500,000 has also been set. Other proposed buildings in the long-range plan include a library, home economics building and a women's residence hall.

Huntingdon Group Schedules Dance For Heart Fund

by Alice Waite

Hearts and lace, unsigned funny Valentines, and loving gifts from those "special" friends—these are all the characteristics of Valentine's Day.

But Valentine's Day should mean something different to each and every one of us now because this year, more than ever before, there are many broken hearts. Not the kind of broken hearts that we read about in love novels. No—these broken hearts are real hearts which, through old age, ill health, and deformity at birth, are not working quite right.

That is why the Heart Fund needs contributions. Heart disease is the most fatal one in the nation today and it must be stopped. Admittedly, some heart diseases cannot be prevented or cured but the sufferers can be made more comfortable. All this takes money!

Saturday, February 13, the Huntingdon County Heart Association is sponsoring a St. Valentine's Day Dance. This dance is being held in order to raise money, through contribution, for the Heart Fund.

The gala event will feature the Lee O'Connor Quartet and Miss Valentine of Huntingdon County will be crowned. Tickets costing $.50 are on sale at the snack bar at Totem Inn. The dance starts at 9 a. m. Don't forget, Juniatians; let's all turn out at the Huntingdon Community Center Saturday night to help this important charity!

Ellis Announces New 10 Year Plan Of Progress Slated For Juniata

President Calvert N. Ellis, beginning his 11th year as head of Juniata College, recently announced a 10-year "Build Juniata" program. This program, which has a goal of $2,500,000, has been planned to "maintain Juniata College's high position among the liberal arts colleges of America."

The new men's residence hall, on which work has been launched, is the first objective in this long-range building plan. Other proposed buildings include a library, home economics building, and a women's residence hall. Another purpose of the program is to liquidate an indebtedness of approximately $200,000 and to boost the endowment fund by $650,000.

According to President Ellis, the two and one-half million dollar program was developed and launched only after "careful consideration and consultation with many alumni", and "after considerable study" by the Planning Commission and the board of trustees of the College.

President Ellis also pointed out that the members of these groups have agreed "that the future of Juniata can best be secured through a straight-forward approach to alumni and friends." A million dollar Postwar Fund campaign was successfully closed last June by the alumni and friends of the College. This new campaign with new goals "to meet the needs of the future" now gets underway.

Totem-Inn Closed Thurs. Afternoon

Mr. Robert Fisher, manager of Totem-Inn has announced that the Inn will be closed to students this Thursday afternoon. The Huntingdon chapter of the Juniata Women's League will hold and afternoon tea in the center.

Senate Acts On Totem Problem

At a special Senate session held Monday, Jan. 25, the main item of business was volume control for the juke box. Due to the conflict between juke box volume and television, it was recommended to the Social Committee that the volume control be made inaccessible except to certain appointed people.

Reserved tables will continue in effect for the first week of the second semester, until a complete roster of students is available.

A committee composed of Russ Hill, chairman, Abe Finton and Wilfred Norris was appointed to see Registrar A. William Engel concerning plans for a five-day week.

The freshmen class officers were made responsible for seeing that second semester freshmen have seats in the dining hall, until assignments go into effect.

The agenda for tonight's meeting can be found elsewhere in the paper.

JWSF Drive For $1954 In 1954 Starts Today

New Focal Point During Spiritual Emphasis Week

by Joy Rinehart

During football season we focused our attention on football; during the holiday season our thoughts were centered on the joys of Christmas; during finals we utilized our energies for studying; in the near future, however, we shall have an opportunity to turn our thoughts to another phase of life.

Perhaps our spiritual life finds satisfaction in church, or in the weekly J. C. A. meeting, or in some other phase of campus life. In spite of all these regular opportunities open for us to participate in spiritual activities, it seems that we need to take a test in his, too. By this I mean that we need to get out all the notes that we have collected over the years and go over them again to see just what we do know and just what we do need.

This, then, is the reason for having a Spiritual Emphasis Week. This year the dates for this special week are February 21 to 25. Are there questions you want answered? Dr. J. Charles McKirachan of the Pine Street Presbyterian Church of Harrisburg will be here to try to answer them for you.

The program planned for Spiritual Emphasis Week includes a variety of activities to meet everyone's need. Check with the Juniatian next week to get the details.

Other Colleges Have Funds Similar To JC

Many campuses throughout out the country have similar "Campus Chest" or special fund drives. Among the most recently outstanding ones, which contributed to WUS, are those which bring such reports as:

—"Fund raising efforts were crowned with such notable successes as a $4000 auction at Northwestern University and 100% contributions from 40-living groups at Oregon State College."

—"Students from Princeton contributed some $30,000 in this year's campus chest drive."

—"Penn raises biggest chest ever for their caimpus chest in November by raising $10,000. WUS receives 25% of this."

Dance To Follow Sat. Night E-town Game

Tomorrow evening after the Elizabethtown basketball game, the Social Committee has planned an informal dance in the Women's Gym. The dance will last until 11:30. music will be provided by records, and everyone is invited.

JWSF Solicitors Set As Drive Begins Today

The solicitors for the annual JWSF drive are: in the Lodge, Bob Bridenbaugh, Bill Degelman, Sam Douglas. Fiore Purrachio, and Jim Barefoot; in the Cloister, John Yates, Mark Beech, Bill Dilling, Neil Spangler, and Robert Richards; on the faculty, Dean Penney, Marge Alleman, Miss Dickey, Professor Yoder, and Mr. Jack Padgett.

In the Women's Dormitory, there will be a solicitor for each hall; they are, 1st Brumbaugh, Jeanette Lowe; 2nd Brumbaugh, Jane Hoover; 3rd Brumbaugh, Doreen Fyock and Joan Irvin; 4th Brumbaugh, Mary Kate Jackson; 2nd Oneida, Betty Beatty; 3rd Oneida, Lee Englehart; 3rd Founders, Kass Keeler; 4th Founders, Mary Ellen Rose.

In addition, Pat Henry will solicit in the N. J. Brumbaugh house, Vivian Livingston in the Geiger House, Marian Brightbill in Home Management House, and Wilda Eberly in the Village. Soliciting the off-campus resident students will be Ron Morgan; George Pote, Richard Hutchinson, and Joyce Warfel will solicit the day students.

Dean's List For Fall Term Has Thirteen Names

The Dean's List for the fall term has been announced by the Office of the Registrar. Four seniors, six juniors, two sophomores and one freshman attained the necessary 2.75 average.

The senior members are Charles Dunbar, a business administration major from Hancock, Md., David M. Hercules, a chemistry major from Altoona; Naomi J. Kulp, an elementary education major residing in Huntingdon and Anna Lee Over, a mathematics major from Roaring Spring, Pa.

In the junior class the members are Lee Englehart, a French major from Lewistown; Margaret A. Hershey, a modern language major from Lititz; John Martin, Jr., a physics major from Huntingdon; Thomas Meloy, a pre-med student also from Huntingdon; Joyce E. Rinehart, an English major from Westminster, Md., and Paul Wingert, a pre-med major from Altoona.

Alfred Nyce, a business administration major from Lansdale, and Melba Smith, a Spanish major from Hanover are the sophomore members.

Completing the list is freshman Richard A. Livingston, a preministerial student from Johnstown.

23 JC Students Now Teaching In District Schools

Fifteen elementary education majors and eight music majors are now student teaching in the area schools.

In the elementary department of the Alfarata School are Arla Dunmire Adams, Naomi Kulp, Carol Lowdermilk and Martha Metz; while student teachers at the William Smith School are Harriet Garner, Elsie Haussler, Fred Wian and Freda Woods.

Journeying to the Mt. Union elementary school are Joan Chase, Edie Engler, Warren Haynes, Nell Shoop Jaymes, Edie Talbot, Audrey Weber and Elaine Zook.

JWSF Plans Auction Of Lost-Found Goods

As a part of the JWSF drive, the annual auction of the lost and found articles collected during the year will take place after lunch in front of Totem Inn on Thursday afternoon, February 18. Bob Flory will be the auctioneer.

Helen Stutzmen Heads Drive; Reveals Campaign Recipients

by Helen Stutzman (JWSF Chairman)

The annual student sponsored Juniata World Service Fund Drive opens today and will continue through next week. The usual procedure of esiablishing the goal in dollars to match that of the year—$1954 in 1954 will be continued this year.

This mark will be reached through the combined contributions of members of the faculty, administration and student community, of classes, and of clubs, which will be added to the proceeds of the Gondoliers. In order to meet this goal, the fund is again appealing for a contribution from each member of the college community.

This year JWSF is contributing to the specific projects of World University Service, the Japanese Christian University, the Juniata Student Aid Fund, and the work of two Juniata graduates, missionaries Dr. Paul S. Hoover, M. D., '37, in India, and Dr. H. Stover Kulp, '18, in Nigeria, British West Africa.

The WUS is an internationally organized effort of students and professors, who are working for better understanding and communication within the world university community through such concrete activities as helping needy students to help themselves in establishing lodging and living facilities, in improving student health, in supplying much needed educational equipment, in providing refugee service, and in establishing a mutual education program among the universities in the 32 participating countries.

WUS is now working in Europe, Africa, the Middle East, South East Asia, the Far East, the Pacific Region, and North America.

The JWSF contribution to the Japanese International Christian University will be made to a scholarship fund which has been established to help outstanding Japanese students with limited financial resources to attend the newly opened Liberal Arts College at the new Tokyo University. The present economic situation of Japan makes it too difficult for students to find employment to help themselves to gain a higher education. The scholarship fund will be applied to students of any faith or creed who want to attend this new university, where it is hoped future leaders of a new and democratic Japan can be trained in an educational atmosphere that will encourage free, creative thinking and an unrestricted search for truth.

Conference Team Scheduled To Visit Juniata Next Week

A five-man Conference Team on Christian Vocation is scheduled to visit Juniata College Feb. 14, 15, 16. This group, which is composed of leading men from the Church of the Brethren, is visiting Brethren Colleges, with an aim to show college students the opportunities available in Christian service.

Dr. C. Ernest Davis, secretary of the Commission on Christian Education for the Church of the Brethren, is chairman of the Conference Team.

The other members are Dr. Leland Brubaker, secretary of Foreign Missions; Dr. Paul M. Robinson, president of Bethany Biblical Seminary; Dr. Harold Row, secretary of the Brethren Service Commission; and Dr. Charles Zunkel, secretary of the Commission on Ministry and Home Missions.

In addition to appearing at a meeting of the Dunkard Club Monday evening, each of the five men is scheduled to speak during the three-day conference period.

Dr. Davis will deliver the sermon Sunday morning at the Stone Church, and Dr. Zunkel will speak at the Sunday evening service.

On Monday, Dr. Robinson will be in Chapel, and Dr. Row will address the Faculty Club. Dr. Brubaker will wind up the program by speaking at JCA Tuesday. Each of these men will also be available for private conferences with students.

Senate Discusses Current Issues; Names Dick Fusco To Edit Scout

Totem-Inn, a five-day school week and the appointment of the Scout editor were the main items of business in the open Senate meeting held last week.

The discussion concerning Totem Inn revolved around the amount of control students have in formulating policy for the center. It was moved that the Senate sound out the reasons for the closing of Totem Inn during chapel period and request the administration to present reasons for major policy changes in the Inn before such changes are put into effect.

Russ Hill reported on the plan adopted for studying a five-day school week. Letters will be sent to colleges of similar size; then questionnaires will be directed to the student bodies for colleges operating on a five-day week. The questions will concern social life, scheduling of labs and classes and other general remarks.

Dick Fusco, a junior history major from Perkasie, was appointed editor of the 1954 edition of the Scout. Fusco was a member of last year's Scout staff and is a member of the varsity tennis squad.

The goal for the JWSF drive beginning today was set at $1954.

Bob Bridenbaugh was appointed chairman of a Senate committee to classify campus organization offices.

The Senate will have its office located in the basement of Students Hall where the old post office was situated.

Senate Duties Outlined; Petitions Now Available

The petitions for candidates for Senate positions were issued today and for the next month you will be literally overwhelmed by political campaigning. There are twelve different positions available on the student government and there will probably be a number of students seeking each position. You will be asked to place your vote for one candidate or another but have you ever given any thought to the duties of the various officers? This new Senate when installed March 26 at Move-up Day will take charge of the activities on campus that will directly concern you as a student member of the Juniata community. Therefore you as a voter will definitely want to place the most capable candidate in office. In an effort to help you achieve this task we will list the various offices and the duties that are expected from the recipients.

The PRESIDENT of the Senate is the person who must keep the wheels turning smoothly by coordinating campus functions through a three cornered aspect, namely the student body, faculty and administration. He is in charge of all Senate meetings and it is his duty to see that campus issues receive a fair hearing from both sides. In the event of a tie during a vote he is impowered to cast his vote as tie breaker. Concisely it is his duty to convey to the student representatives the opinions of the student body.

When you consider a candidate for VICE-PRESIDENT the person should have the qualifications of a good organizer for it is his duty to administer all elections, plan Leadership Conference and keep tabs on the club organizations as well as directing the student aid fund. The Vice-President takes over to direct the Senate meetings in the absence of the President.

The main duties of the SECRETARY are keeping the minutes of the Senate meetings and preparing the report to the student body after each meeting. It is also the responsibility of this person to prepare the final draft of Leadership Conference resolutions. The secretary is responsible for sending out agendas previous to Senate meetings and doing the writing and typing of letters coming under official Senate business.

The duties of the TREASURER include not only managing Senate funds but acting as Central Treasurer for all clubs and organizations on campus. He prepares the Senate budget and advises in all financial matters. A knowledge of accounting and bookkeeping are essential for this position.

One of the most essential offices in the Juniata pattern is that of CHAIRMAN OF UNDERCLASSMEN for it is his duty to introduce freshmen to Juniata. He is in charge of the big-sister, big-brother plan and helps the freshmen organize their class. This senator is responsible for representing them on the Senate and is in charge of the initiation program.

The CHAIRMAN OF MEN'S HOUSE is responsible for keeping order and providing good living conditions in the men's dormitory and day student room. He is aided by the Men's House Committee which consists of representatives from each hall. Only men students vote for this chairman.

The CHAIRMAN OF GENERAL ACTIVITIES has the important job of coordinating the activities which include Class Dues Day, Homecoming Weekend, Christmas Activities, All-Class Night, Move-up Day, May Day, Club Calendar and the election of club officers.

The broad intramural sports program pursued at Juniata comes under the direction of the CHAIRMAN OF ATHLETICS. He is expected to formulate and carry out a comprehensive program of student sports activity. He automatically becomes a member of the Faculty Athletic Committee.

The CHAIRMAN OF PUBLICATIONS is responsible for maintaining high standards of journalism in the campus publications through associating with the editors of the Alfarata, Juniatian and Scout. This senator is given the duty of publicizing the activities of the Senate.

In spirit with Juniata's religious foundations the CHAIRMAN OF RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES with a committee of five formulates and executes the year's schedule of religious activities. Spiritual Emphasis Week is the greatest responsibility of this chairman as he plans and executes all phases of this program in cooperation with the faculty chairman of religious activities.

The duties of the CHAIRMAN OF WOMEN'S HOUSE is similar to those of the chairman of Men's house. She is elected by the women only.

The yearly round of social activities are under the direction of the CHAIRMAN OF SOCIAL ACTIVITIES. He is responsible for providing a varied and adequate program of social activities. This Senator also serves on the calendar committee.

Accent On Reading

REPORT ON THE ATOM, by Gordon E. Dean. What you should know about the atomic energy program of the United States. This book conveys more clearly than most the background, evolution, and logical direction incorporated in the government's atomic energy program. Scientific, political, military, and civilian phases of the development are discussed and the book will be invaluable for readers who hope to understand and evaluate what they read and hear about the present and future of atomic power.

TRIUMPH AND TRAGEDY, by Winston Churchill. This is the concluding volume of the English Prime Minister's history of World War II. It begins with D-Day 1942 and covers military campaigns ending in the defeat of Germany and Japan, the Yalta and Potsdam conferences, President Roosevelt's death, and the beginnings of peace negotiations.

AGE OF SUSPICION, by James A. Wechsler. This political autobiography of the editor of the NEW YORK POST takes him from his undergraduate days at Columbia when he joined the Young Communist League to May 1953 when, as an out-spoken anti-Communist, he confronted Senator McCarthy. He explains his past because he believes that McCarthy's attack upon him constitutes an attack upon freedom of the press. He tells of his break with the party in 1937 and his journalistic career on the NATION, PM, and NEW YORK POST.

The Juniatian

Entered as second class matter at the Huntingdon, Pa., post office, this is an independent undergraduate newspaper published weekly throughout the College year except during vacation and examination periods by the Students of Juniata College.

The Juniatian is serviced by Associated Collegiate Press and is represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS By BIBLER

"Sometimes I feel we shouldn't have required courses."

Juniatian Weather Bureau

The snap of cold weather that settled over College Hill during the early part of this week has lifted considerably. Thoughts have hopefully turned dreams of warm weather but 'Old Man Winter' may still have a few blasts of cold left up his sleeve so lets check the Juniatian forecast for next week and see what is predicted.

Robinson To Speak Before Ministerium

The Ministerium is having Dr. Paul M. Robinson, president of the Bethany Biblical Seminary as their speaker on February 14. He is going to speak in Founder's Chapel at 8:30 on the trends in modern seminaries, especially Bethany. The program will be of special interest to the members of the Ministerium, but all are invited to hear this noted speaker.

In The Clubs

JCA's February 16 meeting will feature the Reverend Leland S. Brubaker of Elgin, Illinois. He is a member of the Christian Vocation Deputation team and is also the executive secretary of the mission commission of the Brethren Church. It is about this missionary work that he will speak at Tuesday's meeting. Rev. Brubaker will also discuss the work of the two foreign missionaries supported by the JWSF, Dr. Kulp and Dr. Hoover. This meeting of the JCA will commence at 7:00 instead of the usual hour.

12 Games Played In IM Loop

With the intramural league in full swing, the courts saw plenty of action this week. A total of twelve games were played.

On Thursday night the action was thick and fast as the D.H.D.'s squeezed out the Shafters 59-52. Staley had a field day for the winners as he dumped in thirty-two points. West was high for the Shafters with eighteen. The Jabberwockies thumped the Deacons to the tune of 56-43 as Morgan bucketed nineteen for the Jabberwockies and was high man for both teams. In other games the Rackers found themselves on the short end of an 83-54 score as Zimmerman lead the Sunbrookers to an easy victory with twenty points. Beefelt and Reese were high for the Rackers with eleven points each. The Cards out-lasted the Kinsy Kids in the last game of the night 57-48. McNeal was high man for both teams with eighteen points.

Saturday found four more games in the score books. In the early games the Covites walked all over Pavlov's Pals scoring 72 points to the Pals 41, and the Rackers took it on the chin to the tune of 40-56 as the Jabberwockies continued their winning ways. In the late games of the afternoon McKees Creek piled up 134 points to the Sherwood Trotters 46. Conley swished the cords for 36 to lead both teams. The Maulers lived up to their name as they slaughtered the hapless Jokers 67-32. Deegan lunked thirteen points in a losing cause for the Jokers to lead both teams.

Another round of contests was played Tuesday night to complete the action for the week. The D.H.D.'s pulled the surprise of the week by dumping the Covites 71-63. Gombos had twenty-five for the winners while Hinish sunk twenty for the Covites. The Kinsey Kids found themselves on the short end of the score as the Maulers whipped them 62-47. The Jokers again failed to break into the win colum as the Deacons trampled them 56-29. Dodge garnered 22 for the preachers. In the last game of the night the Shafters didn't quite have it as they were edged out by the Cards 45-41. Cook picked up seventeen for the Cards to lead both teams.

E'town, Susquehanna Face Tribe At Home Saturday, Wednesday

The Juniata Indians will try to add two more scalps to their growing collection when they host the Elizabethtown College five tomorrow, and the Susquehanna Crusaders on Wednesday.

Elizabethtown will appear here tomorrow in a return game, as the Indians met the Blue Jays on their home floor in an earlier tilt, and absorbed a 64-57 loss.

The Braves' Jake Handzelek will also be out to break the jinx which the E-town team seems to hold over him. In the previous game played between the two teams, the high scoring Handzelek was held to just 18 points, which was his lowest total of the season for a single tilt.

The Blue Jays will line up with Dick Stine and Bill Jacobs at forwards, Lauria at center, and Wilson and Paone at the guard slots. Jacobs scored a total of 25 points against the Indians in the first contest.

Host To Crusaders

Wednesday night the Crusaders of Susquehanna will provide the opposition in the Memorial Gym. The lads from Selinsgrove are finding the going rough in trying to get into the win column. So far the Crusaders have yet to win a contest in eleven starts.

Sports seem to be on the downgrade at Susquehanna this year, and basketball is no exception. The Crusaders have lost to such Indian victims as Moravian, Dickinson, Bucknell, and Lycoming, with the Warriors of Lycoming topping the Susquehannaites 100-48 in their first meeting. The Indians defeated Lycoming 74-69.

The Crusaders will probably start sophomore Bill Doney and freshman Tom Johnson at forwards, big 6-2 Gary Smith at center, and freshmen Gary Schroeder and junior Frank Smith at guards.

Girls IM Slate Brings Basketball To Fore As New Term Begins

The first day of the new semester found two games being played in the Women's Intramural Basketball League.

In the first of these games, the Dinettes met the Spoofers, with the Spoofers coming out on top, 21-17. Carol Abrahamson was the high scorer for the night as she slipped 12 points through the cords.

Perhaps the biggest game of the season also took place in the second scheduled tilt of the evening. It contested last years undefeated winners, the Limpeps against this years unbeaten Red Devils. The Red Devils put on a strong scoring drive, and showed remarkable shooting accuracy in taking a 67-32 win. Joyce Warfield was high scorer for the evening with 28 points followed by Jan Cline with 20.

Red Devils Win Again

Thursdays games saw the Tridelts handing the Limpeps their second straight loss in a close game, 31-27. This was considered quite an upset in the Girl's Circuit, as the Limpeps were heavy favorites to win. Lee Englehart collected 15 markers for the evening while Sue Jamison had 10. In the other game, the Red Devils continued unbeaten by stopping the Krazy Kids, 50-22. Joyce Warfield was again high for the Devils with 23 counters.

Monday's activity found the Tri-delts beating the hapless Rowdies, 24-12. The Tri-delts scoring was divided evenly among Sue Jamison, Mikey Mick, and Lee Englehart, with each having eight points for the evening.

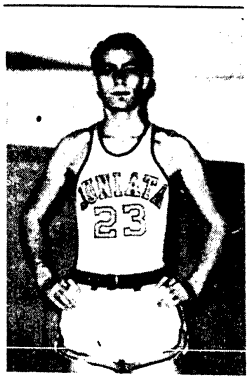
Tribe Wins Tenth Contest 72-71 As Albright Loses Large Lead

by Jim Holsopple

Towering Walt Vanderbush and Jim Boulton were the men of the hour Wednesday evening. For the second time in as many consecutive home games, Vanderbush dropped a basket in the final seconds which clinched a win for the Tribe. Boulton, a previously unheralded substitute, came through in fine fashion in the final frame to lead Juniata to a 72-71 win over Albright College's hapless Lions. His six points in that period were a crucial factor in the win which posted JC's record at 10-5 for the season.



PICTURED ABOVE is Jim "Shamus" Boulton whose cool floor game and accurate shooting played a large part in Juniata's 72-71 win over Albright on Wednesday. Boulton, a junior from Burlington, N. J., stands only 5-11 but his lack of height is no handicap in his style of play.

It looked for a while as though Juniata would go down to defeat for the sixth time, but it's hard-earned tenth win came as the end result of a rough and tumble stretch drive that first overcame the Albright lead with less than four minutes left to play in the contest.

Albright jumped off to a more than commanding 15-0 lead in the opening period as the game's high scorer, George Conrad, contributed six points to the Lion cause. Vanderbush finally connected for the first two Juniata baskets to make the score 15-4. The two squads traded points thereafter throughout the first frame and the score after the initial stanza was 23-12.

The second period saw Albright and the Indians compete in fairly even terms, as the Lions bettered the Tribe by one point, 18-17. The score at the half was 41-29 with Albright still enjoying a husky lead.

JC Outscores Lions

In the third frame Juniata outscored the Lions 23-20 as the Red Team's shooting returned to nomal after a phenomenal first half. With Albright ahead 61-52 as the third quarter ended, JC's enthusiasm built up to fever pitch. The Lions were the first to score in the final period as George Conrad dunked a two-pointer under the boards to push the visitors out front 63-52. Bernie Oriss countered for the Indians, but his basket was nullified by a bucket by Bruce Riddell to make the Albright margin 65-54. Oriss again scored and Jim Boulton followed with a free throw. The count was 65-57.

Jim Foreman struck back for Albright with a bucket, but Jake Handzelek countered with four straight points followed by three more from the cool Boulton, to cut the Lion's advantage to a 67-64 edge. A field goal by Chuck Gross put the Indians within one point of Albright and, with less than four minutes remaining, Boulton put Juniata out front for the first time 69-68. Both Juniata and Albright picked up a point to make it 70-69 before Conrad stepped to the free throw line with seconds remaining. He sank two points without apparent effort to put the Lions in the lead 71-70. Juniata took the ball and all that remained was for Vanderbush to produce with his one-handed fallaway push shot to sink the winning bucket for the Indians. Albright received the ball but the clock and a desperate Indian defense combined to ice the game for the home squad.

Conrad Paces Scorers

Conrad's 24 points were high for the game. Vanderbush sank 20, including his crucial last minute basket, to pace the Indians, while he was closely followed by Jake Handzelek who netted 18 for the Tribe.

The loss was Albright's third in a row. Prior to Wednesday's game the Lions had dropped consecutive matches to Seton Hall and Wagner. In both games the winners came from behind in the last six minutes of play to win. Wednesday's contest was no exception.

In the evening's preliminary attraction the JC Junior Varsity faded some in the second half after leading 42-23 at the midway point to down the Mount Union Independents by an 82-72 count. The Indians were never headed during the contest.

Teachers Fall In 84-75 Win; Road Trip Ends

The Indians equaled last year's number of wins when they defeated the Lock Haven Teachers College, 84-75 last Saturday at Lock Haven.

Jake Handzelek set a new Thomas Field House record as he flipped the cords for a total of 39 points. The 6-1 Indian scoring ace thrilled the crowd time and time again as he hit on 16 out of 31 field goal tries. He was well supported by the likes of Captain Lee Hallman with 14 points and big Walt Vanderbush with 10.

Using the fast break or "give and go" offense to perfection, the Tribe racked up a total of 21 points in the quarter. Handzelek tallied 13 of these, mostly from outside the foul circle. The Bald Eagles, in the meantime, found the Indian 2-3 zone defense troublesome, and were forced to take their shots on the run. Even so, they never lagged far behind, and at the buzzer, trailed 21-15.

Handzelek Hits 26

The second frame was a repitition of the first, and with Jim Boulton on the passing end of the fast break, Handzelek hit again with 13 points to pile up a 26-point first half total. Lock Haven finished the half with a flurry of points, but were down nine at the buzzer, 41-32.

The Indians, who hit on 41% of their shots throughout the game, continued their scoring ways in the third period. At the beginning of the final quarter, the Tribe had added two points to their bulge, and led 60-49.

The Eagles began to show some scoring ability in the fourth period as point-getters Herb Sauder and Mike Yelovich began to hit from out in front. The Teachers drew within four points of the Braves at one time, but a few fast buckets for the Tribe near the end of the game put the contest on ice for the Blue and Gold.

Correction Made

In last week's issue of the Juniatian, Monday morning's Dance Duo program was errorneously referred to as a "special chapel service." The Editorial Board of the Juniatian regrets this mistake; the dance program was a feature of the College Public Events Committee, headed by Miss Esther Doyle.

'We Were Objects Of Curiosity' Reports College Editor In Russia

by Dean Schoelkopf
Editor, Minnesota Daily

(ACP)—The first Russians I saw were soldiers. Six of them—all armed—climbed aboard our plane as soon as it landed in Leningrad airport.

A senior lieutenant of the Red army marched forward in the plane and looked quizically at the seven American students dressed in strange furry caps and coats. He raised his right hand in salute and addressed four or five sentences in Russian to the other passengers.

Then he turned to us and said in English, "Passports." After we had showed him our visas, the other five soldiers stepped aside to let us leave the plane.

We stepped into the chilly, three-above-zero weather and were met by a young English-speaking official of Intourist, the official Russian travel agency. He welcomed us to the Soviet Union and told us we would be met in Moscow by other Intourist representatives.

But the warmth of his reception didn't erase the apprehension we had when the six soldiers boarded our aircraft. The strange welcome was but the first of many unusual situations we were to encounter.

22 Days In USSR

During the next 22 days in the USSR, we were to travel more than 5,000 miles by air, train and car. We were to talk to students in their schools, workers in their factories, farmers in their homes and directors and managers in their offices. During that time we detected absolutely no feeling of hostility to us personally.

Early in our trip, one of the two interpreters who travelled with us throughout the country asked us why we had come to Russia. We told him the answer was simple. Early last fall a few American college editors met at a student press convention (the ACP conference in Chicago) and decided they wanted to see this country, so little understood in the United States.

We applied to the Soviet embassy in Washington for visas, and within three weeks Moscow granted permission. The American state department issued passports Dec. 23, and on Christmas day we boarded a plane for Russia.

Stalin University

Students at Stalin University in Tbilisi asked us who was paying for the trip. When we told them we financed the trip ourselves, one blue-eyed coed said in perfect English, "Oh, you must be very rich."

"Bourgeosie," shouted a black-haired lad.

Our group was anything but bourgeosie. Most of us had financed the trip through loans—in that respect we were alike. Politically, we were miles apart. Two of our group were Taft men, one supported Eisenhower, and four belonged to the Stevenson clan.

We had differences of opinion on almost every issue, and in that respect we provided a striking contrast to the Russian students we met, who agreed on almost everything in the area of religion, economics, politics and government.

Arguments on these subjects erupted frequently during our talks with Russian people. There were few things we could agree on—but through it all they remained completely friendly to us.

Almost everywhere we were objects of curiosity. Cosmoplitan Muscovites, more accustomed to visiting delegations, paid less attention to us than their countrymen in southern Russia.

In many areas we were the first Americans the Soviet citizens had ever seen. They followed us in the streets and crowded around us if we stopped to take a picture. It was not unusual to stop in a department store to buy a gift, and then turn around to find from 25 to 150 Russians crowded about.

Visit Embassy

The only other Americans we saw in Russia were at the United States embassy in Moscow. We met ambassador Charles Bohlen three times during our stay, once at his Spasso house residence during a luncheon he and Mrs. Bohlen held for us.

The embassy there operates under tremendous handicaps. Practically no contact is permitted with the Russian people. Mail, which moves through the Russian postal system, is opened before it reaches the embassy. All telephones are assumed to be tapped. Wires and miniature microphones have been found in the walls.

Russian police guard the entrance to the embassy 'round the clock, ostensibly to protect the Americans but more likely to prevent any Russian from entering.

A policeman is on almost every corner in the cities. But a sight even more common than that of policemen is that of Russian soldiers. We saw Red troops everywhere we travelled. It was not at all unusual to see a platoon of soldiers with machine guns or rifles on their backs walking down the main street of a town. Russian soldiers travelled on the trains we rode, and from our train window we once saw infantrymen running and falling in the snow—on the rifle range—and at mortar practice.

We were told not to take pictures which included soldiers, bridges, ports or airfields, and our cameras were taken away when we travelled by air.

Also supported by the fund are selected Foreign students who are thus enabled to come to study at Juniata. From year to year various students from different countries have been able to contribute to the life of Juniata through the help of this fund. At present the fund is contributing to various needs of several foreign students on campus.

Lastly the work of two Brethren missionaries, both of whom are Juniata graduates, benefit from the year's fund raising drive. The first, Dr. Paul Hoover '38, is a medical missionary in Bulsar, India, where there are limited hospital facilities and a great need for more facilities for in-patient work as well as establishing a mobile unit to provide dispensary treatment for village work. The hospital staff meets four different religious groups daily—the Hindus, Parsis, Christians, and Moslems. Despite the existence of government hospitals, many Indians prefer to go to the Mission Hospital, which increases the demand for funds even more.

Though presently on furlough and living in Huntingdon, Dr. H. Stover Kulp, is planning to return to Nigeria, Africa, where he will continue in his position as Mission Secretary. In this administrative position, he acts as School Manager, or superintendent for a score of schools as well as heading a staff of 62 foreign missionaries, and many more African staff members, who work in 9 mission stations, 3 hospitals, and the schools.

When Dr. Kulp returns to Nigeria a great deal of his work will be taken up in his capacity as president of the Christian Council of Nigeria, an ecumenical effort organized to establish interdenominational churches under the name, "Church of Christ in the Sudan".

He has already worked considerably with interdenominational evangelistic crusades. In this work, as well as that of training native leaders and establishing new stations, funds are especially needed for such things as new buildings, and for salaries and passages of badly needed doctors, teachers, and pastors.

Initial Sub-Frosh Conference Scheduled For This Weekend

This will be the first of the annual sub-freshman weekends planned for this year. Approximately 35 people are expected this weekend from Turtle Creek, North Braddock, Hershey, Philadelphia, and New Jersey.

A revised program for the annual Career Conferences has been devised. The new sub-frosh weekend will place emphasis on informality and presenting the College as it really is. Activities will consist of registration, visiting classes, a meeting with President Ellis, campus tours, the basketball game with Elizabethtown and the dance scheduled for after the game.

Sue Jamison is the advisory chairman of this year's program. Acting Chairman is Joan Schwartz. In addition, there are many interested persons working on sub-committees. These committees and there chairmen are as folows: campus tours—Ernie Lashlee; meal arrangements—Elaine Aitken and Maggie Simms; room arrangements—Betty Beatty; dating arrangements—John Criswell; reception committee—Chuck Judd, Bob Crispen, Dick Mumma, and Don Murdock.

Lee O'Connor At Valentine Dance

Juniatians! Now that you have been to the sophomore party which was such a success, we are sure you are ready for another Valentine Dance. Again we are urging you to support the Huntingdon County Heart Association by attending their St. Valentine's Dance tomorrow night, February 13, at the Huntingdon Community Center.

The dance starts at 9 p. m. and will feature the Lee O'Conner Quartet, with the special event of the evening being the crowning of Miss Valentine of Huntingdon County.

Donations are $.50 for tickets which can be bought at the snack bar of Totem Inn. You're sure to have a swell time at the dance so come on out and we'll see you there at 9 p. m. Don't be late.

580 Register

A. William Engel, College Registrar, has announced the registration totals for the 1953-54 Spring Term.

The resident students number 476, 268 men and 208 women. The total number of day students is 89, 65 men and 24 women. There are also 15 unclassified specials, making a grand total of 580, 337 men and 243 women.

Card Decks Available In JC Social Rooms

Chairman of social activities, Russ Hill has announced the adoption of a new plan for procuring cards in the social room. In the future a deck of playing cards may be secured at the Dean's desk with the person withdrawing the cards leaving his Student Activities Card. When the playing cards are returned the activities card will be exchanged.

Totem Committee Approved During Wed. Senate Meeting

The Totem-Inn student commission, landscaping and identification signs for the campus highlighted the open Senate meeting Wednesday.

The committee for the Totem Inn Commission presented its report containing the membership, authority and duties for the commission. Okayed by the Senate, the proposed plan will be submitted for administration approval, and, if accepted, will go into effect with the incoming Senate.

The body of the constitution of the sub-committee for Totem Inn is stated in full on Page 2 of this week's Juniatian. Although not aproved yet by the administration the plan has received the Senate vote.

The report from the landscaping committee, under the co-chairmanship of Marge Fish and Bob Flory, was discussed and referred for further study to Carol Lowdermilk, chairman, Juanita Carfora and Bernie Petrusky.

The problem of identifying signs for the campus will be handled by a committee headed by Lolita Carfora. Aiding her will be Abe Finton, Joe Hinish, and Jeanie Tait.

The Senate then went on record as favoring keeping Totem-Inn open during evening programs and maintaining its established hours at all times unless changed by the administrative committee.

It was decided that seniors will be given the privilege of making up their own table assignments beginning with the next change of tables.

Concerning the College tennis courts, the Senate resolved that the proper soil be purchased for the upper tennis courts adjoining the Village. It further recommended that additional courts be built below the souheast corner of the Memorial Gym in the near future, so as to make us of the soil from the excavation for the men's dorm.

Reports from Ben Newcomer on the plans for the initiation survey, from Bernie Petrusky on the Senate office, and from Registrar A. William Engel, Jr. on the five-day week then followed.

The publications situation was discussed and will be brought up again next week.

Muir Collection To Be Displayed At Juniata

A collection of sculpture and oil paintings by William and Emily Muir, of Stonington, Maine, will be on display at Juniata College beginning Monday until Friday, March 12, in the College Social Rooms.

Included among the eight paintings of Emily Muir's which are being displayed are works entitled "Neglected Farm," "Windswept," "Little Girl Sleeping," and "Thunderstorm." A piece of sculpture created by Emily Muir is also on display. This piece, entitled the "Fisherman," is done is a medium of bronzed plaster.

Among the eleven pieces of sculpture by William Muir are works entitled "Taurus," "Family Group," "Talisman," and "Valley Forge." Muir has worked his pieces in mahogany, applewood, pickled oak, redwood burl, iremi, white Italian alabaster, and sacred Indian pipestone.

When not being shown at various colleges and universities where the Muirs are touring, their works are displayed in their Stonington, Maine, studio; the University of Maine, and galleries in New York City.

The public is invited to see this display of sculpture and oil painting, open daily until 9 a. m. Monday, March 1 through Friday, March 12. Mr. and Mrs. Muir will visit the Juniata campus March 11 and 12; and on Friday morning, they will give a lecture-demonstration in Oller Hall from 9:45 to 10:45.

Sub Frosh Here From Pa. And N.Y.

The past sub-freshmen weekend was very successful, according to Director of Admissions Bob Newcombe. Being asked what they liked best about College Hill, the sub-frosh said they would never forget the experience of meeting new people and seeing new places. But exceeding all other phases of the weekend was the friendly atmosphere on our campus.

Another sub-freshmen weekend is planned for tomorrow and Sunday, February 27 and 28. As yet the exact number of visitors cannot be estimated but Hanover, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, North Bradock and Turentum in Pennsylvania, and Niagara Falls in New York will be represented.

The weekend activities will be much on the same order as the last sub-frosh weekend. The schedule will consist of visiting classes, meeting department heads, and of course the Saturday night basketball game and dance afterward.

The committees in charge of the weekend are: Tour—Ernie Lashley, Faculty—Nancy Rosenberger, Tables—Elaine Aiken and Maggie Sims, Reception—Bob Crispen, Dick Mumma, and Chuck Judd, and Rooms—Betty Beatty. The cooperation of chairmen of Men's and Women's House and the head waitress of the Dining Hall are also expected.

Let's really go out of our way to show these future Juniatians just how nice our college really is!

Results Of JWSF Drive Announced By Chairmen

An incomplete financial report of the current JWSF Drive has been released by Helen Stutzman, Chairman of the Drive, and Russ Hill, Chairman of Solicitors.

The Faculty and Administration have contributed $97.00 in cash and have pledged $24.00, making a total of $121.00.

In the race between the sexes, the women have taken the lead, giving $235.25 in cash and pledging $83.00, for a total of $318.25. The men have contributed a total of $259.70, $160.95 in cash and $98.75 in pledges.

The annual auction, handled by Bob Flory, yielded a profit of $8.04. This brings the grand total to $706.99, not including the profit made by "The Gondoliers."

Those who are heading the drive feel that this is excellent progress, as it has only been underway for two weeks. However, Russ Hill has urged that all pledges be paid as soon as possible so that the JWSF goal of $1954 in 1954" can actually be achieved. The deadline for this year's drive is April 8.

Committee Discloses Radio Program Plans

Next Thursday afternoon, Mar. 4, the Radio Committee will present the third in its series of broadcasts entitled "Juniata College Presents".

A variety program has been planned for this month, with participation by several members of the student body. There will be general College news, a sports feature, interviews, and popular music.

In charge of this month's program is Pat Henry, Radio Committee chairman. She will be assisted by George Carnahan, Bob Hamm, Joan McClure, Linda Weeast, and Doris Wilson. Frank Conley is the technical director.

College Co-ed Is Made Of Various Rare Combinations

Between the awkwardness of the high-school adolescent and the maturity and loveliness of womanhood occurrs a captivating creature known as the college co-ed. Co-eds come in assorted sizes, weights, and shapes, but all maintain the same goal: to obtain boys and poise in college. Co-eds achieve this goal through various methods—polishing nails, flirting, reading, flirting, attending community concerts, flirting, wearing their room-mates new sweaters and flirting.

Little boys idolize them; little girls imitate them; older brothers and sisters tolerate them; mothers still fondle them; fathers reimburse them and even the Lord sometimes wonders about them. A co-ed is faith about to blossom; motherhood with pin-curls in her hair; and the hope of tomorrow humming the number one song on the hit-parade.

Very Distracting

When you want to study, a co-ed is noisy, bothersome, and just plain distracting. When you want her to make a good impression on your parents, her hands seem to spill any liquid substance or full ash-tray within reach, her sentences are dull and unoriginal, and her mind becomes obsessed with the quickest and easiest method of escape.

A co-ed is a composite—she has the appetite of a horse, the enthusiasm of a firecracker, the fascination of an April walk, the surprises of Christmas, the curiosity of a cat, and when something is broken she can fix it with a bobby-pin or chewing gum.

Report On Gondoliers Released By Knepper

In conjunction with the JWSF Drive, the financial report of the Gondoliers was recently released by business manager Telford Knepper and student co-ordinator Dagmar Silldorff.

The income, brought in by ticket sales and program advertising, totaled $1,163.27. Total expenses, including the costs of the program, advertising, set construction, properties, costumes, music, and miscellaneous items, came to $531.15.

This left a gross profit of $632.12, and after the taxes, amounting to $95.16 were deducted, the production netted $536.96.

These proceeds will, of course, be turned over to the JWSF; the operetta is an annual College event, presented for the benefit of this organization.

JC Choir To Present Program In Vicinity

This Sunday the JC Choir will visit churches in Williamsburg, Martinsburg, and Altoona respectively, in the morning, afternoon, and evening. They will sing an entirely sacred concert, which includes the Beatitudes, a cantata, accompanied by the ensemble. Other numbers will be Praise to the Lord, Jesus Born in Bethlea, and Souls of the Righteous.

Summer School Schedule Planned; Tuition, Student Fee Rates Set

For those students eager to complete their college education as early as possible, secondary school graduates wishing to enter college immediately after graduation, and teachers and other in-service persons seeking professional advancement, Juniata offers a summer program.

The 1954 Summer Term, divided into two five-week periods, offers a program of courses equivalent in quality to the work of the winter terms. A maximum of twelve credit hours, six in each period, may be earned during the summer. Instruction is provided by the resident faculty of Juniata, supplemented by a few visiting professors from other colleges.

The courses tentatively scheduled are grouped according to the arrangement of the annual catalog. Students are referred to the catalog for descriptions of these courses.

The courses which will be offered are:

Division I

Division I—The Arts and Languages: First period, Introduction to Literature, American Literature, Elementary and Second Year Spanish, Organ and Piano.

Second Period, Contemporary Literature, Elementary and Second Year Spanish, Piano and Organ.

Division II

Division II—The Social Studies: First period, Principles of Economics, Introduction to Business Law, Introduction to Education, Visual Education, American History to 1865, American Government, Ethics, Child Psychology, and Abnormal Psychology.

Second Period, Principles of Economics, Problems of Labor, American History Since 1865, Logic, Introduction to Sociology, and The Family.

Division III

Division III—The Natural Sciences: First Period, Mathematical Analysis I, and General Physics I.

Second Period, Mathematical Analysis II, and General Physics II.

There is an application fee of $5 which is not refundable. Tuition is charged at the rate of $15 a credit hour. Other fees are: General Student Fee—$5, Board (per week) $9, and Room (per week) $3.50. A contingency deposit of $10 is required of all students at the time of registration.

Lycoming Game And Dance On Program

An informal dance will follow the Lycoming basketball game on Saturday evening. This dance, under the sponsorship of the Social Committee, will be held in the Woman's Gym, and it will be over at 11:30. Dancing will be to records; everyone is welcome.

Major And Minor Campus Positions Classified By Special Committee

The annual job of classifying campus positions has been completed by a committee on classification composed of Bob Bridenbaugh, chairman, Jeanie Tait, Lolita Carfora ann Abe Finton. The quartet submitted their report to the Senate for approval at last week's meeting.

The system designed to prevent students from holding too many major offices on campus is set up on the following proportions. One major office, one minor, one unclassified; two minor and three unclassified; three minor and one unclassified; one minor and five unclassified and seven unclassified are the limits prescribed at any one time.

Changes Made

Several major changes were made this year in the ranking of offices. Men's and Women's House Chairman on the Senate were raised from minor to major offices. The managers of the athletic teams, baseball, football, and track were dropped from minor offices to unclassified.

Major and minor offices are figured on the base of time consumption and complexity of duties.

The major offices include: President, vice-president, treasurer, secretary of the Senate; chairman of Religious Activities, Underclassmen, General Activities, Athletics, Men's House, Women's House; editor of the Alfarata; editor of the Juniatian and the managing editor of the Juniatian.

Minor Offices

The following are classified as minor offices: Senate Chairman of Publications; president of the Touring Choir; president of the Lambda Gamma; president of the Masque; manager of the Touring Choir; JCA chairman of the Christian Heritage Commission, Social Responsibility Commission, Personal-Campus Affairs Commission, World Relatedness Commission, Bible Study and Doctrine, and Publicity.

In addition the following are also listed as minor: editor and business manager of the Indian; assistant editor of the Alfarata; business manager of the Alfarata, Juniatian, Scout; editor of the Scout; chairman of the JWSF Drive; student manager of the musical; All-Class Night chairman and editor of the Tomahawk.

All others are unclassified.

Rounded Senate Agenda Provides Choice Topics

We picked out two items from this week's Senate meeting which rank high in interest. The two topics, closing of Totem-Inn and burning of ballots after election are very pertinent at this time.

The Senate passed a resolution that placed the student governing body as opposed to closing Totem-Inn during all night events unless cleared by the administrative committee. To our way of thinking the final clause holds that key to the resolution.

If the closing of the Inn is passed through proper channels there would be little trouble from student opinion. In addition may we urge that all decisions of the committee be considered far enough in advance to allow time to properly inform the student body.

'Heap Big Bonfire'

With elections coming up the general coordinator Bob Bridenbaugh took steps to form a policy in regard to ballot procedure. The Senate decided to burn the ballots after the count and a careful recount. But we would like to suggest that the Senate retain the ballots for a set period of time (possibly one week) with the possibility of a protest arising. A nice big bonfire won't settle any disputes.

The Juniatian

Entered as second class matter at the Huntingdon, Pa., post office, this is an independent undergraduate newspaper published weekly throughout the College year except during vacation and examination periods by the Students of Juniata College.

The Juniatian is serviced by Associated Collegiate Press and is represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service.

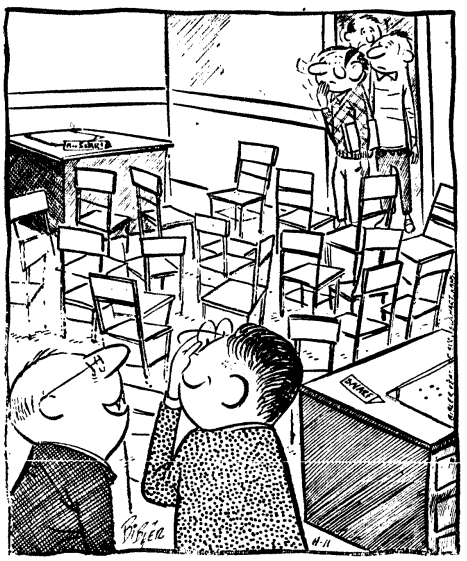
LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS By BIBLER



"I put a desk at both ends of the classroom. It confuses heck out of those students who always sit on the back row."

Senate Oks 5-Man Committee For Totem; Constitution Presented

The following outline contains the duties and functions of the five-man subcommittee established to insure student rights in Totem-Inn.

I. Purpose

The purpose of this committee is to assure the student body of a representative voice in the administration of Totem Inn.

II. Membership

This committee shall consist of five members, three Senators and two non-Senators. The three senators shall be the Treasurer, Vice-President and Chairman of Social Activities. The two non-Senators shall be appointed by the Senate. From the five members, the whole Senate shall choose one to act as chairman.

III. Authority of Committee

A. In matters concerning general policy and administrative action in Totem Inn, the committee shall have the right to recommend action to the Totem Inn administrative committee, and in this respect shall be representative of the point of view of the student body.

1. All items to be decided by the Student Committee and the student viewpoint obtained.

2. With regard to expenditures for upkeep and addition to facilities, the Student Committee shall have the right to recommend expenditures from Totem Inn profits. It is to be understood that, when the Totem Inn deficit is finally paid off, all profits are to go directly into the Senate treasury and the two dollar ($2.00) assessment shall be dropped.

B. In matters listed below under "Duties", the Student Committee shall have executive powers as well as advisory powers.

IV. Duties of the Student Committee

The Student Committee shall:

1. Meet once a month, with special meetings upon the call of the chairman.

2. Maintain orderly conditions within Totem Inn, such as:
   a. Clearing of tables.
   b. Arrangement of furniture.

3. Decide on what occasions the partition shall be taken down and by whom it shall be done.

4. Formulate general policy concerning the volume of the juke box and the selections that it shall offer.

5. Act as hosts and hostesses on appropriate occasions such as Parents Day, Homecoming Day, May Day and Commencement, and be responsible for floral decorations.

V. Duties of Chairman of Student Committee

The Chairman shall:

1. Be appointed by the whole Senate.

2. Be responsible to the Student Committee and to the whole Senate for full explanation of the actions of the administrative committee.

3. Be the official student representative to the three-man administrative committee.

4. Be responsible for submitting all relevant financial statements to the Senate for inclusion in the Senate minutes and files.

5. Preside at all Student Committee meetings and shall call special meetings when necessary.

6. Appoint a secretary from within the committee to keep accurate minutes which may be reviewed by the Senate.

Fusco, Godshall Present Platforms

A student body, when confronted with the need to choose a leader, must know the positions of the alternative candidates in order to select the one who will best represent the interests of the electorate. With this thought firmly in his mind, the undersigned proposes that he will support the following statements of policy if elected to the Presidency of the Student Senate.

STUDENT VOICE—There should be an ever-present opportunity for the student body to recommend and initiate Student Senate action. Therefore, let there be established a ready method of communication between the students and their Senators. Such communication can be established through the use of student questionnaires on important issues.

UNITY—Because conflicts between student bodies and college administrations arise largely through mutual misunderstandings of motives and goals, let every effort be made to keep these groups in harmony through a cooperative approach to matters of common interest. One way by which this concerted effort could be demonstrated would be in the area of athletics, for it seems only just that the participating students should have some voice in the scheduling of opponents in intercollegiate athletic events.

PROGRESS—An aware student body stands for progress. There are a number of well-begun projects at Juniata which have yet to reach fruition. Among these are:

1. Totem Inn—There should be further definition of powers and privileges leading ultimately to a more definite and decisive student representation in the government of our student center.

2. Five Day Week—Increased study of the suggested five day class schedule should be made with explicit action taken in the light of revealed student opinion.

3. Chapel—The Chapel services, because they are required for all students, should utilize more students in the conduct of the programs, and should allow for increased student voice in the selection of visiting speakers.

4. Initiation—This topic has been the cause of much heated controversy at Juniata. Let there be a sensible study made of the issues in question at a time remote from initiation itself, and let action then be taken as indicated.

5. Senate Membership—The suggestion that the size of the Senate be increased has been proposed. It is apparent, however, that a smaller organization is more efficient than a larger one. Further, the suggested inclusion of class officers as members of the Senate would destroy a fundamental college asset: class unity and purpose.

6. Operation Recreation—Efforts should be made in cooperation with the Chairman of Athletics to hasten the successful termination of this project.

7. Campus Betterment—The Student Senate should cooperate in every way possible in order to achieve a better and more attractive campus.

WHAT IS IMPORTANT—As a candidate for public office, and as a Senator after election, it should always be a guiding principle in one's mind that dead issues and false issues should not be allowed to create a furor simply because they are issues, but that each problem that arises should be considered on its own merits and in its own context. Debate for the sake of debate has no merit in student government.

CONTINUITY—This candidate supports the forward strides of this year's Senate. Those programs and policies of value which were initiated by the present student government should not be forgotten; rather, they should be continued and expanded by the new Senate and, where feasible, they should be adopted.

All students are a vital part of student government. At one time or another they must ask themselves these questions: "What can be done to make our Student Senate more expressive and susceptible to the attitudes of the students? How can we as Senate members make the student body more conscious of their student government?" A part of my platform will attempt to solve these problems.

To have the proper "close-knit" community relationship that should be found on any college campus, there must be an efficient and rapid means of sounding out the views of all campus groups. Representation of Underclassmen would improve our Student Senate in this respect. Further steps should be taken to give wider recognition to the day students. With a wider representation on the Senate we will be able to insure a greater continuity of Senate policy over a period of years, and make that body truly a "student government."

But the problem is not solved so simply. What about the incoming Freshman class? We must remember that these people, even though they are inexperienced in college ways, bring with them fresh ideas for campus activities, new talent for our play productions, and future champions in the field of athletics. The Freshmen of today are the college leaders of tomorrow. We should take steps to absorb them into our community. The more rapid the absorption the quicker everyone on College Hill will benefit. The clubs on campus must make an effort to befriend them. The policy of constructive initiation as initiated by the 1953-54 Senate should be continued. This does no tnecessarily mean the abolition of Freshmen initiation, but it does eliminate hazings, ridcule, and other abuses which alienate rather than bind these new people to our community. Remember it is a two way proposition. We must accept them, and they must accept us. Initiation should be continued, but in a mature, wise, and constructive fashion.

Just as important to our closer college community is our need for "dorm" counselors. The duties of a Dean include disciplinary actions. One cannot be both a disciplinarian, and a friend-in-need. There should be some persons to whom the students can turn, without hesitation, for confidence and aid. This little act alone could go far to eliminate some of the tensions of college life.

Due to space limitations, I shall elaborate in my forthcoming campaign speech on such problems as: a more dynamic social life on campus; the advantages of a student disciplinary committee; the pros and cons of a five-day school week; a more representative Leadership Conference; the Totem Inn problem; and better cooperation between faculty, administration, and students. However, I consider the problem of a closer college community to be by far the most important plank in my platform. Show me a close-knit college community, and I'll show you abounding college spirit, lively campus activity, and a Juniata College of which we can always be proud.

Accent On Reading

THEY DARE TO BELIEVE, inspiring stories of seventeen citizens of the world by R. M. Bartlett. These stories of moral courage reflect the faith these people have in humanity, in noble ideals, in the willingness of others to share their idealism and to be motivated by it. Some of the people included are: Arnold J. Toynbee, Ralph J. Bunche, and Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit.

HOW TO BELIEVE, the answer to questions that challenge man's faith, by R. W. Sockman. The author spells out the essentials of Christian faith in relation to the needs of contemporary men and women. He introduces a faith that will enable them to understand their own experience and their place in our fast changing world —a faith for which they will never need to apologize.

GUIDE TO CHRISTIAN FAITH, an introduction to Christian doctrine, by W. A. Spurrier. Here is a guide for the average person who wants to know what Christianity is all about and who wants a clue to the meaning of its great doctrines. The author shows why Christians believe what they do, what proofs exist to support their faith, and why some beliefs can be so relevant and powerful in meeting the problems of everyday life.

Girls' Basketball Best

McKees Creekers Lead League; Form Only Still Unbeaten Squad

With two weeks of games yet to be played in the Mens Intramural Basketball league, the undefeated rank has been narrowed down to include just one team. The McKees Creekers, by virtue of their 50-44 win over the Sunbrookers, took over undisputed first place in the standings.

The all-important game was played last Monday. High scoring Barry Drexler paced the winners with a total of 16 points. Fran Zimmerman dunked 15 for the losers in the relatively low scoring game. In other action on that date, the Cards outpointed the Sherwood Trotters by a 60-34 count as Chuck Knox hit for 13 markers for the winners. The Maulers climbed all over the DHD's, 67-33. John Staley was high game man as he led the losers with 17 counters, while Bill Yerzyk contributed 15 to the winning cause. In the final game played, the Kinsey Kids pushed past the Shafters 62-41. Alderfer was the big gun for the KK's as he swished half of the Kids points, while Bill West bucketed 16 for the Maulers.

Going back two days to Saturday afternoon, the Sherwood Trotters handed the Jokers their ninth straight setback, 53-35. Groethe was high man for the winners as he tallied 17 points, while Denny Deegan scored 12 for the Jokers. The Deacons just squeeked past the Rackers in a thriller, 54-53. Although the Rackers held a four point third quarter advantage, the Deacons, led by Dick Dodge, pushed 18 points throuugh the hoop in the final frame to take the decision. Dodge scored 25 markers for the winners.

Other action saw the Maulers outlasting the Jabberwockies in another close one, 55-53. Jackson led the visitor's scoring with 24 markers. The Kinsey Kids continued on their winning ways with a 73-37 win over Pavlov's Pals. Hackman scored 22 for the high game honors for the winners. Finally, the McKees Creekers warmed up for the tilt with the Sunbrookers by easily outpointing the DHD's 76-49, despite the 24 point effort of the DHD's Bob Gombos.

In games played on Tuesday afternoon, the Kinsey Kids beat the hapless Jokers 56-39. Fran Wampler pushed 21 counters through the hoop for the winners, while John Dale was collecting 16 for the vanquished. Also the Covites swamped the Sherwood Trotters 75-45. Neil Spangler led the way for the winners with 18 counters.

Season To End With LV As Wednesday Foe

The Juniata College Basketball team will complete their 1953-54 schedule and 50th basketball season on Wednesday night when they host the high-flying Lebanon Valley Dutchman in the Memorial Gym.

The Flying Dutchmen, rated as one of the best small college basketball teams in the East, are currently riding a 12 game winning streak, and post a 16-4 record. They will take on the Diplomats of F & M tomorrow, and close out their season against Dickinson on March 6, after tripping to College Hill to meet the Indians.

In the first meeting between the Braves and the Dutchmen, LV took an impressive 86-57 win. Last year the Valley defeated the Tribe twice, setting a new LVC scoring record in winning the first game 116-75, and squeeking past on a last second spurt in the second, 83-81. LV leads in the 45-game series by a margin of 28 victories to 18 for the Tribe.

The Dutchmen have already garnered one honor before their final game. They have been selected to play in the semi-final matches in District 30 of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletic Tournament. LV will face Millersville STC in the eastern semi-final at Hershey on March 1.

Starting for the visitors on Wednesday will be much the same squad that upset Fordham in the first round of the NCAA tourney last year, while representing the Middle Atlantic Conference. Herb Finkelstein, a 5-11 senior and co-captain will team with ex-marine Dick Shover at the forward positions, big 6-5 frosh Don Reinhard will handle the center position, and the mighty mights, 5-10 Lou Sorrention and 5-9 Howie Landa will man the guard posts.

Lycoming

Paced by high-scoring Vince Leta, the Warriors of Lycoming College will visit College Hill tomorrow night in a return engagement. Juniata won the first game, 74-69.

Lycomin is sporting a 00-00 record this season, which is below par as far as the Lycos are concerned. In the past two seasons the Warriors have won a total of 32 contests, while they managed to drop only five.

With big 6-5 Leta in the lineup, the Lycos have a real scoring punch. Vince is currently second in the small college scoring race, with only Bevo Francis topping him. Leta is now averaging 32.2 points per game, and at last reports had scored a total of 483 markers in 15 contests. In the first encounter between Leta and JC's high scoring Jake Handzelek, the Shickshinny ace outscored the favored Leta, 36-30.

The other starting members of the Warriors include Bob Meconi and 5-10 Jay Nevins at the guard posts, and Albert Zaraemba and 6-3 Carl Nolan teaming at the forward positions.

Bucknell Snaps JC Win Streak; Handzelek Has 29

Juniata's second longest winning streak of the season was halted at five games Tuesday night as a much improved Bucknell squad avenged an earler 83-60 setback to tame the Indians by an 84-77 count. The win was Bucknell's fourth in 13 games, but the Bisons have been succesful in three out of their last four outings.

Only in the final frame did Juniata outscore its opponents. After trailing 13-14 at the end of the first period, the Tribe spotted Bucknell another three points in the second quarter to trail 43-36 at the half.

In an exceptionally slow third stanza, Doc Greene's courtsters were outscored 17-10. Juniata's 31-24 bulge in the final period eliminated the advantage Bucknell had built up in the preceding quarter, but the Bisons' first half spelled victory for the home team.

Handzelek Gets 29

Jake Handzelek dumped 29 points to pace both teams in scoring. He achieved this total by dumping nine field goals and sinking 11 free throws for his 13 attempts.

Walt Vanderbush took second place honors in the Indian's scoring derby with 21. Chuck Gross and Lee Hallman were runners-up with seven points apiece.

Bucknell was paced by Dick Bradway who netted 27 points in the winning cause. He was closely followed by Barry Parker with 22 and Dick McKenzie who dunked 19.

Many Interruptions

The game was interrupted no fewer than 43 times by fouls. Juniata was responsible for 21 while Bucknell was charged with 22 infractions. Juniata lost the services of Vanderbush and Gross in the final frame, while Bucknell lost starter Herb Cox in the same quarter.

In the preliminary game Bucknell trounced Juniata's JayVees 98.55. Bill Burchfield again paced the losers with 16 tallies.

Quartet Receives High Praise From Reviewer

"The man that hath no music in himself
Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds
Is fit for treasons, stratagems, and spoils;
The motions of his spirits are dull at night
And his affections darks as Erebus Let no man be trusted. Mark the music."
by Betty Shearer

Who would not agree with these words by William Shakespeare after a night of the Paganini Quartet? What language can afford adequate expression of such soul satisfying sounds as came forth from those magnificent instruments? Try as I might I can not fathom how the most stolid could have escaped being moved by the rare performance of Friday night.

To the musically inclined was the appeal of music's greatest literature, exemplifies in the Beethoven Quartet. The great work combined with such intelligent interpretation made those fine Strads (all quarter million dollars worth) speak in beautiful tones through eight wonderfully gifted hands.

Few of us on College Hill have seldom seen or will see the equal of such finesse and precision as displayed by the four. So nimble were their fingers that the rapidity with which the tones produced made one sorry that they had so quickly passed into void, never to be heard in exactly the same way again.

They possessed a certain intangibility which reminded one of quick silver slipping through clutching fingers. Another insane image which flitted through my mind as they played was that of birds perched on telephone wires, poised, ready for flight; one instance there, the next gone.

I could so far as conjecture that the tones of the strings surpassed those of the fouls of the air, for more exciting and subtle than the wild abonded voices of birds was the breath-taking control exercised by the four; a measure which seemed instinctive, never mechanical.

Never at anytime, did the personalities of Temianka, Rosseels, Foidart, or Frezin, block the audience from the rich experience of a true insight into Schumann, Mendelssohn, Dvorak, Schubert, or Tchaikowsky as they were meant to be.

One also has to admire the humility which must come to play in forfeiting part of one's own individualism to become united with three other units to form a more perfect whole.

It is regretable that more do not share the joy which comes of appreciating music in its absolute form. How weary the non-listeners must become of their tedious, physical existence amid materialistic surroundings.

Realizing that in this age one risks ridicule when he dares to relate the arts with the Creator, I feel compelled to express the belief that in such inspired performances as we were privileged to witness and give ear to in Oller Hall, man does indeed go beyond himself.

Methinks we could not have had a more fitting experience prior to Spiritual Emphasis Week, for how can we emphasize a spirit that has not yet been awakened from a long winter's nap?

Plans For Chapel Set

The chapel speakers for Monday and Wednesday of next week have been announced by Mr. Jack Padgett. On Monday Dr. Kenneth Crosby will speak, and on Wednesday the speaker will be Prof. Paul Yoder. Plans for Friday's chapel program have not yet been disclosed.

She likes cheeseburgers, Eddie Fisher records, Old-Spice shaving lotion, three-year olds, Saturday night dates, new dresses and that brunette who wears such neat sweaters. She doesn't care much for ironing, diets, homework, guys who swear, wearing stockings to dinner, competition in romance, boxing matches, or getting up in the morning.

Late For Dates

Nobody else is so late for dates; nobody else can ask you questions so innocently and keep her store of knowledge so well hidden; nobody else can cram into one billfold 39 pictures, 1 driving license, 2 ticket stubs, a stale stick of Beechnut, a slogan saving, "The weaker sex is the stronger sex because of the weakness of the stronger sex for the weaker sex", and 7 cents which has to last until next Monday.

She can't open a jar without the aid of the male in daytime, but at night she can twist 6 feet of muscle around one little finger.

Loveable Thing

A co-ed is a loveable thing—she's forbidden to enter the men's dorms, but she's usually found in the mind of its inhabitants. She may not always be standing next to you, but she has a sort of special place in your heart where she'll remain forever.

Let's face it—she's your captor, your queen, your inspiration, your desire—an inmature, pug-nosed, boy-crazy woman of tomorrow. But when life's at its bluest point, your pocket's empty, and you have 2 exams tomorrow, she can mend your shattered dreams by smiling at you in Totem-Inn and saying a warm, "Hi there!"

Cleveland Rubber Co. Presents Handbooks To Two JC Students

Two Juniata College students were recently awarded copies of a "Handbook of Chemistry and Physics" for their progress and achievement in courses in general chemistry and general physics.

Carol A. Newborg, Byran Mawr, a freshman at Juniata College, received the award in chemistry while John T. Yates, Hagerstown, Md., was recognized for his achievement in physics. The volumes were awarded Feb. 8, 1954 by the Chemical Rubber Co. of Cleveland, Ohio.

The recipients of these awards were chosen by the professors teaching these two courses—Dr. Raymond T. Davis, chemistry; and Professor Paul R. Yoder, physics.

On The Club Scene

Here's this week's club news. Elections seem to be pretty general, but other events are occurring, too.

Pyrenees Club

The meeting of the Pyrenees Club will take place this evening, February 26th, at 7:15 in Room L of Students Hall. The agenda for the business portion of this meeting will consist of nominating new officers and also of formulating plans for the spring party. Following the business meeting there will be a puppet show called "Le Petit Cachet Rouge" which will be given in French.

WAA

On Tuesday, February 23rd, a cabinet meeting was held to determine nominees for the club officers. The elections will be held at the next meeting on Mar. 4. Penn State's Sports Day is also a coming event for this club and plans are being made to prepare for it.

FTA

This evening, February 26th, Dr. Rockwell is going to be the speaker at this month's FTA meeting. The meeting will be held in Room C at 7:15. Prof. Rockwell will speak of "Education and Travel" and will use slides to illustrate this discussion. Refreshments and this entertainment will follow a business meeting presided over by Audrey Weber.

Camera Club

The Camera Club is presenting a print and slide demonstration at their next meeting which will be held at 6:45 March 4. The business meeting will include election of next year's officers.

Scalpel and Probe

This club's next project is their trip to an Altoona hospital to observe operations. As of now, the date for this event is sometime in the second week of next month.

Debate Club

The Meadville State Debate Tournament is coming up on Mar. 19-20 and the speakers have been chosen who will represent J. C. The affirmative position will be taken by Mr. Robert Nicholson, first speaker, and Mr. G. Richard Backus who will speak second. The negative standpoint will be upheld by Miss Dottie Stricker as first speaker and Mr. Newton Taylor, second.

Masque

Preparations for the Wilder production are currently taking the spotlight of the dramatic club on campus. The Skin of our Teeth will be presented on the Weekend of March 19th and 20th. Costuming, make-up, set, etc, are occupying the time of these club members.

Elections Monday Decide Top 4 Senate Officers

The Juniatian

Vol. 30—No. 20 | Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. | Friday, Mar. 5, 1954

Five In Running For Veep, Treas.

Three junior candidates are in the running for the office of Senate vice-president. They are Allegra Forney, Bill Garrison and Joe Hinish.

Forney

Miss Forney, a music major from Martinsburg, Pa., has a rounded background of activities on campus. She attended Leadership conference, was a member of the Student Center Committee, the chapel choir for two years and at present she is a member of the Radio Committee and the assistant editor of the Alfarata. In addition she served as assistant chairman of All-Class Night this year, cheerleader and is active in the forthcoming production, Skin of Our Teeth.

Hinish

Garrison

Hailing from Lewistown, Pa., Bill Garrison is majoring in chemistry. He is a member of the Chemistry Club and Camera Club and this year is serving as president of the latter group. Last year Garrison held the position of College photographer.

Hinish, a member of the Senate in the capacity of chairman of athletics this year, is the third candidate for the vice-president position. Also a junior, he has served as his class treasurer the past two years and was All-Class Night chairman his sophomore year. He has played two years of varsity baseball as well as jayvee basketball.

Bill Dilling and Bob Godshall are the two candidates for the office of Central Treasurer.

B. Godshall

Dilling

A business administration major from Roaring Spring, Pa., Dilling is a junior. He has been active in intramural sports during his three years at Juniata. In addition he served on the staff of the Juniatian his freshman year.

Godshall, from Souderton, Pa., is also a business administration major. He was on the cast of Naughty Marietta as a freshman and All-Class Night as a sophomore. He has been active in intramural sports.

Muir Collection Shown; Couple To Visit Campus

William and Emily Muir, whose works of sculpture and oil painting are now on display in the Juniata College Social Rooms, will visit the campus March 11 and 12 to speak in various classes and present a special lecture in Oller Hall Friday morning from 9:45 to 10:45.

William Muir will offer a sculpture demonstration with emphasis on wood carving, during this special college assembly. Emily Muir will create a painting.

The couple have worked in the field of fine arts, exhibiting their works in one-man shows, and at all the national exhibitions. In the field of commercial art, they have designed wall papers, paintings and dioramas for steamship companies.

Mr. Muir, a native of North Dakota, studied at the Minneapolis School of Art and the Art Students League of New York. He is a water-colorist as well as as sculptor.

Mrs. Muir was born in Chicago. She attended Vassar College, and received her art training at the Art Students League. The Muirs have year round residence in Maine, but spent part of each winter in New York.

Frosh To Present Leprechaun Leap

The Class of '57 will sponsor a St. Patrick's Day sock hop tomorrow night in the Women's Gym. Both gals and guys are requested to shed their shoes and join in the fun.

The program will include dancing to records, with novelty numbers, entertainment, and refreshments for your enjoyment. Three valuable prizes will be awaded, so be sure to be there, because you may be the lucky one.!

The members of the "Leprechaun Leap" committee are Joan McClure, general chairman; Bob Hamm, George Carnahan, and Clint Betz, in charge of entertainment; John Millar, Ron Chemberlin, Alice Waite, Marian Fairbairn, and Flo Wenzel, who will take care of decorations, and Eileen Nelson, Helen Herr, Joyce White, Barbara Leuthold, and Charlotte Beltrame, in charge of refreshments. Posters were done by Les Querry. Professor and Mrs. Kimbrough will chaperone.

Don your brightest argyles, and we'll see you at 8:23½. Dancing will last until 11:29.

Roof To Present Student Recital In Oller Hall Sun.

Miss Vada Jean Roof, a senior at Juniata College, and a pupil of Prof. Donald S. Johnson, will present an organ recital in Oller Hall, March 7, at 2:00 p. m.

Miss Roof, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Roof, Sr., of Marion Center, is concentrating in music education at Juniata and has been student teaching in the Huntingdon Borough Schools.

She has studied piano with Mr. Thomas Hughes and Miss Caroline Gessler of Indiana, Pa., Mrs. Marion Thomas Givens, and Miss Marie Jaeger of Juniata. Previously, Miss Roof studied organ with Mrs. Harriet Wolfe of Indiana, Pa.

While at Juniata College, she has been active in orchestra, Chapel Choir, the all-college operetta productions, and has accompanied various groups for special programs.

The program will include Toccata Fugue in C Major by J. S. Bach; Morning Hymn by Flor Peeters; Nocturne by Edmundson; Perpetual Motion, J. Weber; Duologue and Chorale, Nearing; and Suite Gothique, Boelmann. Miss Roof will be assisted in the program by Miss Helen Rosengren, pianist, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Shearer, soprano.

Students are urged to attend this recital.

Campus Club, Laundry Discussed By Senators

Wednesday's open Senate session featured May Day, the laundry situation and the proposed constitution of a new campus club.

Reversing its decision of Leadership Conference, the Senate favored the traditional May pole dance as a part of the College festivities. Also, it approved the petitioning of the faculty for no classes on May Day.

After a discussion of the laundry problem, the following system was set up for the use of the laundry facilities: Monday, Wednesday and Saturday are reserved for the women; Tuesday and Friday for the men; while Thursday is to be an open day for both men and women.

The proposed constitution for the Standing Stone Grotto of the National Speleological Socicy was then presented for study. This organization will consist mainly of College students with some members from Huntingdon County and will be affiliated with the national society. The matter was referred to a committee composed of Bob Bridenbaugh, chairman, Joe Hinish and Jeanie Tait.

A report from the administration revealed that the proposed Totem Inn Commission printed in last week's Juniatian was approved by President Ellis, that Sabhash Mukerji was appointed to take charge of the bulletin boards, and that the men's day student room will receive priority for repairs.

After a report from chairman of publications Jeanie Tait, it was recommended to the Faculty Publications Committee that when a change is to occur in the editorial staff of the Juniatian, it be done in the beginning of the spring semester.

Lolita Carfora then presented a report from the committee studying the possible revision of the Alma Mater. It was decided to poll the students to determine if this change should be made.

Academic Scholarships Reach New JC High

Scholarships totaling $27,600 have been awarded to 130 students at Juniata College to mark a record high in amounts granted to top academic scholars at this institution.

President, Sec. Debated By Four

A slim field of only two candidates have thrown their hats in the ring in the battle for Senate president. When the polls open Monday morning the voters will choose between Dick Fusco and Dick Godshall.

Fusco

D. Godshall

Fusco, a junior history major from Perkasie, is a Korean War veteran. Enrolled at Juniata before serving in the Army, he had his education interrupted for a two year hitch. He was recently appointed editor of the 1954 Scout. The preceeding year he was a member of that publication staff. In 1952 Fusco was a member of the varsity football team. He is a member of the varsity tennis team.

Godshall is a pre-med major from Souderton and has been active in various Masque productions including Romeo and Juliet and the forthcoming, Skin of Our Teeth. A member of the Outing Club and Scalpel and Probe, he was on the track team his freshman and sophomore years. Godshall has entered All-Class Night competition for three years and has been active in intramural sports.

Mary K. Jackson and Rainy Belle Linn will be the candidates for secretary when ballots are passed out Monday morning.

Linn

Jackson

Miss Jackson is an elementary education major from Jersey Shore, Pa. A member of the FTA, she is also on the staff of the Alfarata this year. At present she is serving as secretary of the junior class and a member of the sub-freshman committee. She has been active in All-Class Night competition the past two years.

Coming from Washington, Pa., Miss Linn is majoring in home economics. A three year member of Lambda Gamma she served as treasurer last year and president this year. The duties of head waitress have been delegated to Miss Linn this year. She is also a member of the sub-freshman committee, WAA and JCA.

JWSF Short Of Goal; Women Donators Lead

A report to date on the JWSF Drive has been announced by the Drive chairmen.

The men have donated a total of $282.70, the women have donated $362.25, and the contribution of the faculty and administration totals $199.00

In addition, the Lincoln Cavern has contributed $39.17, and a friend of the College has donated $5.00. A total of $295.00 has been given by the clubs Add to this the $8.04 made on the auction, and it brings this week's grand total up to $1119.16—a $484.17 gain over las week's report.

The amount netted by the Gondoliers, $536.96, brings us up to $1728.12, $225.88 short of our goal, '$1954 in 1954.'

"Women In White" Think Co-operation Necessary

It is natural to complain of those things about which we know nothing; but I deem it a more intelligent action on the part of the college student if he first finds the real root of the trouble and does something about it than if he endlessly grumbles of what appears to be wrong on the surface. I am directing these words at the student body as a whole and its present attitude toward dining room conditions.

How often has one said, "Our waitress is so slow!" or "We're always last getting dessert!" or "It takes her so long in the kitchen that I think I'll draw her a map so she can find her way back!"? These and similar remarks are not appreciated by the approximately forty waitresses. Perhaps by bringing all the facts to light each of you will be more aware of the existing, limited conditions under which the "women in white" must work. You may also be surprised to learn that usually the fault lies in your own hands.

Much of the system of the dining hall works on the basis of "First come, first serve." Theoretically there are just two pitchers of milk for each table. Actually there is always more, but not a sufficient amount for every table to have thirds. Quite naturally the extras will go to whoever sends out his pitcher first. Frequently there are no seconds on food, but when there are, unless you send out the large dishes immediately, you will not get any.

There is also a number system in the kitchen. A waitress, having cleared her first table, gets a number for dessert. If you like to eat leisurely, that is your privilege, but then it is not your right to complain when your table is one of the last ones to get dessert, for perchance your waitress may be number 52.

Russian Students Proud Of Moscow University

by Dean Schoelkopf, Editor, Minnesota Daily

(ACP)—Moscow University is the shiny new showpiece of the Soviet educational system.

The 32-story skyscraper, situated on Lenin hills just outside the city, was opened last fall. It was built at a time when apartments and other new buildings were needed badly.

Facilities at the university are generally good. Laboratories are streamlined and well-equipped.

Classrooms and lecture halls seemed adequate. The library had individual study desks—and a good supply of American technical journals.

Attached to the classroom section of the building are two 18-story wings, which provide dormitory space for 6,000 students. We visited some of the rooms and found them comparable to American college dormitory rooms.

Moscow University has the same enrollment as the University of Minnesota—about 18,000 students. At Moscow 52 per cent of the students are women, while at Minnesota about 30 per cent of the students are coeds.

There are 12 faculties or departments at Moscow University—mostly in the sciences. At Minnesota there are 31 departments in the liberal arts college alone.

All courses at Moscow run for five years, with an additional three years required for the first graduate degree. The Soviet student, though, begins college with only ten years of previous schooling, compared to 12 years in the United States.

Entrance to colleges and universities is based on standards similar to those at American schools—previous grades and competitive examinations. Once admitted to college, almost all Russian students go on to complete scholarships.

Students told us they get monthly stipends ranging from 300 to 700 rubles ($75 to $175.) This covers the cost of their tuition, which is about 400 rubles a year, plus room, board, books and gives them some spending money.

There is a 25 per cent bonus available to students who maintain good and excellent marks, roughly equivalent to an A or B average. Upperclassmen get bigger scholarships than underclassmen.

Russian students were curious about the American system of scholarships and often asked if it is possible for children of American farmers and workers to go to college. Frequently we were asked about our own class background.

In return for their scholarships, Soviet college graduates must serve for three years at whatever job the government assigns them. When we asked students whether they had any choice of jobs, they said yes, but that no two people ever compete for the same job.

Russian students are deferred from military service while they are in school, and apparently even after they graduate. They told us the government considers them more valuable as scientists and engineers than as soldiers. There is some military training in the colleges, similar to our Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC). We were told graduates of this program get commissions but are not called to active duty.

We visited three other colleges besides Moscow—Stalin University, Azerbaijan Industrial College at Baku, and the Odessa Institute of Technology.

At each of these places we found the same heavy emphasis on science and engineering courses. "Here we stress practical work," the president of Stalin University told us. "Students are training for particular jobs. Every summer they go to all parts of the Soviet Union for laboratory and field work.

About the only people who major in areas like the social sciences and humanities are those who expect to become teachers.

This emphasis on research goes back into the high schools, too. The Russians call them middle schools. A student in his tenth year of middle school—equivalent to our high school senior—takes almost all science courses.

A Kiev middle school principle told us the compulsory course consists of algebra, geometry, trigonometry, chemistry, physics, psychology, astronomy, logic, a choice of foreign language, physical culture, history, Russian and Ukranian. It was this same principal who told us although education is compulsory for ten years in the larger cities, it is not free for the last three years. Tuition in Kiev was 200 rubles ($50) a year, and there were no scholarships for students in these grades.

We asked about illiteracy in Russia and were told, "There is no illiteracy." Then we were asked about illiteracy in the United States, especially in the South.

The major problem for the Soviet educators seemed the same wherever we went—not enough space for a growing student population. That is, everywhere but Moscow University. Everbody there was more than happy with their shiny new school.

Handzelek Scores Two

Hershey Urges College Students To Submit Applications For Test

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, today reminded college students that the deadline for submitting applications for the April 22 Selective Service College Qualification Test is midnight, Monday, March 8, and that applications postmarked after that time cannot be considered.

Application blanks and information bulletins, with sample questions, may be obtained by students from the nearest local board. They do not have to write to their own local board to secure an application. Students are to mail their completed applications to Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey.

To be eligible to apply for the college qualification test, a student must (1) intend to request deferment as a student; (2) be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction; and (3) must not have previously taken the Selective Service College Qualification Test.

The April 22, 1954 test is the last one scheduled for this school year. Students whose academic year ends in June are urged to take the April 22 test so they will have a test score in their cover sheets before the end of their academic year, at which time their boards reopen and reconsider their cases to determine whether they should be again deferred as students.

Study While Sleeping States College Grad

OMAHA, NEB.—"I slept my way through college", said Nebraska college graduate A. W. Turnbow, who received his degree last June.

This startling statement came as a complete surprise to ex-student Turnbow's professors who had once predicted his college career would end in failure.

Last week graduate Turnbow disclosed his secret. He had been "Sleep-learning."

"I'd read many articles on the theory of sleep-learning," he said, "but none told me how to go about it. So I made up my own sleep-learning device and experimented. I was working full time and trying to carry 19 credit hours at college. I was told I was failing, so I figured I couldn't lose anything."

Time has proven that he didn't lose anything. According to Mr. Turnbow, now president of Sleep-Learning Research Association, 114 S. 38th Ave., Omaha, he owes his college degree to his pioneer experiments.

"It was hard the first few weeks," he said, "but anyone can learn while they sleep if they stick to it. It's the easiest way in the world to get an education once you start getting results. Sleep-learning will revolutionize education once the public accepts it," he added.

Student Turnbow's unusual method of obtaining knowledge was first applied to his course in Russian. "I read two-thousand Russian vocabulary words into the machine, then gave the English meaning to each," he reported. "Results were so successful that I started reading notes from all my courses into the device.

"I remember how my fellow students laughted when I told them about "sleep-learning," he remarked. "But when I started tossing around five syllable vocabulary words, formulas, dates and complete passages from Shakespeare, they changed their attitude."

Six Team Post Season Playoff Schedule Set In Intramural League

The Men's Intramural basketball season came to a close with the McKees Creekers being named loop winners. The Creekers successfully defeated 13 opponents without a loss.

Runners up to the Creekers were the Sunbrookers, who won a total of 11 out of the 13 games played. Following them were three teams tied for third spot honors with three losses, and one team in fourth place with four losses.

Chairman of Athletics Joe Hinish announced that there would be a post season elimination playoff between these top six teams. The games will begin Monday, March 8 with the four lower teams competing, while the McKees Creekers and the Sunbrookers draw a bye. The winners of the March 8 games will play the bye team at a date yet to be announced. The final game will take place the week of March 15.

In the last league games to be played, the Covites lost to the Sunbrookers 53-44. Fran Zimmerman was high game man with 19 points for the night. Games played on Friday showed the Sunbrookers winning again by defeating the Deacons, 70-48. Zimmerman was again high scorer with 24 markers. The Jokers continued winless as they absorbed a 61-47 defeat at the hands of the DHD's. Neech scored 26 for the winners while Deegan contributed 20 points to the Jokers cause.

On Saturday the Covites downed the Maulers, 53-41, as Bob Motisher collected 17 points for the Covites. Hinish also contributed 14 to the winning cause.

Monday's games found the McKees Creekers topping the Kinsey Kids,74-62. Barry Drexler paced the winners with a total of 23 points. The DHD's stopped the Rackers by the margin of 67-60, with John Staley collecting 31 of the winners markers.

In final games played on Tuesday, the Sunbrookers sent the Jokers down to their 13th loss without a win by an 83-54 count. The Jokers lived up to their name as the fans rocked with laughter when Captain Abe Finton "intercepted" several Brooker passes and converted for the losers. Fran Zimmerman was high for the Brookers as he pumped 17 points through the hoop, while Jim Hunt followed with 16 for the losers. The Deacons closed out their game with a win over the Sherwood Trotters, 61-59. Lankford was high man for the game as he bucketed 24 points for the winners. The Covites ended a successful campaign with a 50-41 win over the Kinsey Kids. Spangler had 15 for the winners, while Alderfer scored 14 for the KK's. In the final game the Shafters were victorious over the Rackers by a 71-58 count. Crisswell accounted for 26 of the winners points while Biefelt and Reese each had 15 for the losers.

Gala Basketball Show Planned For Mar. 17; Includes Globetrotters

One of the biggest basketball shows ever staged in the Huntingdon area is scheduled to unfold Wednesday evening, March 17, at 8 o'clock at the Memorial Gym.

Not just one, but two great contests have been carded. The feature game will pit the western division of the fabulous Harlem Globetrotters against the bearded House of David five.

In the preliminary attraction, the Kansas City All Stars, will meet the shifty Honolulu Surfriders. The Riders are made up of Hawaiin court stars, while the All Stars are composed of former Globetrotters.

Appearing with the Globetrotters will be such stars as William "Pop" Gates and Sam Wheeler along with Boid Buie, sensational one-armed cager, and many other "name" players.

Accompanying the doubleheader will be two added attractions, a variety act, and a crack table tennis duo.

Juniata Defeats SU For Fourteenth Victory

The "winningest" team in Juniata's basketball history was unveiled Tuesday evening when the Indians conquered the hapless Crusaders of Susquehanna by a 76-58 count. This 14th victory of the current season's campaign topped the previous record of 13 wins set by the 1924-25 cagers and tied in 1945-46.

Juniata jumped to an early lead on a foul shot by Kerstetter and then continued their scoring ways to hold a 25-19 advantage at the end of the first quarter. Handzelek accounted for twelve of the 25 largely through four straight buckets early in the period. The second period went in much the same fashion with Handzelek and Oriss pacing the Tribe to a 44-31 half-time lead.

Led by Schroeder and Owens the Crusaders came out strong in the third stanza and outscored the Indians 18-15, but their rally was short-lived as the charges of Doc Greene hit the cords for 17 in the final frame while the Crusaders were collecting 9.

Ten men for Juniata tasted action in the contest that saw Handzelek emerge with the scoring honors for both teams with a 30 point effort. Vanderbush netted 16 and Hallman 10 to aid the Indian cause.

Jake Handzelek continued to rewrite Juniata scoring records as his 30 points brought his season total to 529 points in 20 games for an average of 26.5 points per game.

Lycoming Drops 94-78 Game For JC Easy Victory

Juniata won it thirteenth game of the season by defeating Lycoming as Jake Handzelek hit on his first two shots in the opening moments of the contest to set a new Juniata seasonal scoring record and get the Indians off to a fast lead which sunk the Warriors 94 to 78 Saturday night. A 47 point first half sparked by Handzelek's 13 points and Lee Hallman's 16 tallies, plus a tight zone defense and some sharp passing brought the Indians their second victory over Lycoming and a 13-6 record for the season.

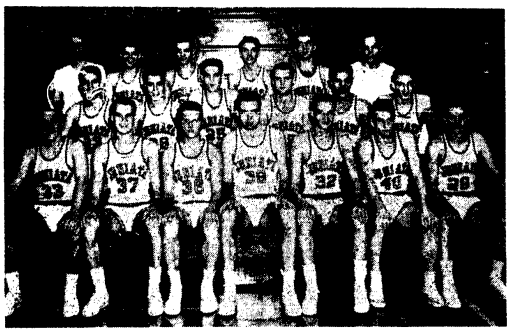
Juniata led 24-17 at the end of the first quarter and increased its lead to 47-33 at halftime. The Warriors held their own the rest of the way, trailing 65-51 at the three quarter mark, and being outscored 29-27 in the final period.

Handzelek again outscored Vince Leta, hitting for eleven field goals and six for nine fouls to lead all scorers with 28 points. Lee Hallman had a hot night with 25 points, while Bernie Oriss also hit double figures with ten.

Leta had to rely on the foul line and rebounds to crack to Juniata zone for 27 points. He made good on 13 of 19 fouls shots, being held to seven field goals, four of them in the last half. Al Zaremba with 14 and Meconi with 13 kept the Indian zone honest with their outside shooting.

Juniata lost Howie Kerstetter and Walt Vanderbush on fouls in the fourth quarter while Lycoming lost its scrappy ball-hawk Meconi late in the same period.

Winningest Team!



Jake Handzelek paced the varsity in almost every area of offensive basketball, final season statistics reveal. The Shickshinny sharpshooter dumped 216 buckets to lead his nearest competitor, Walt Vanderbush, by 99 baskets. His work at the free throw line accounted for 121 points in 164 attempts, both high totals for the team. Handzelek's free throw percentage of .738 was exceeded by Jim Boulton's .777 mark which was attained by completing 14 of 18 attempts. Jake dumped in a total of 553 points, 80 more than his record setting 473 tallies chalked up last season.

As well as leading in most shooting departments, Jake also sparkled in assists by recording 99. Lee Hallman was his closest competitor in this department. He had 92 to his credit.

Five players netted over 100 points for the season to account for 1346 points of a team total of 1597 tallies. The big three of Hallman, Handzelek and Vanderbush accounted for 1072 points or more than half of the team total.

In the endurance department are to be found Handzelek, Vanderbush and Bernie Oriss, all of whom saw action in every game. The individual averages for the season are:

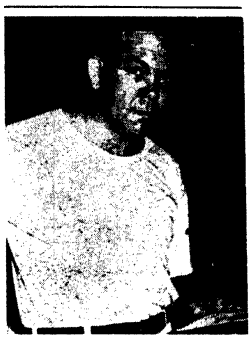
Doc Greene Named Coach Of Varsity Baseball Squad

The appointment of Dr. T. Arnold Greene as new Indian baseball mentor was announced Monday. Greene's appointment makes this position the first athletic vacancy to be filled since the recent resignation of Bill Smaltz from his gridiron and diamond coaching duties. Smaltz's successor as football coach has yet to be named.



Doc Greene
• Baseball Mentor •

Greene's appointment comes as a fitting climax to Doc's finest basketball season which, with 14 victories, is also the "winningest" season on the hardwoods in Juniata College history. In five years as head varsity basketball coach at JC, Greene's teams have won 36 games while dropping 56. Well over half of these victories were won by the sparkling teams coached by Greene during the past two seasons.

The appointment of the Huntingdon dentist is on a one year basis. The Doctor will continue his practice in Huntingdon in addition to his coaching duties, it has been announced.

Was Major Leaguer

A not widely publicized fact on campus is that the Juniata basketball and baseball coach is remarkably well qualified for his new duties on the diamond. The ex-Pitt football star signed with the Cincinnati Reds in 1938, going to spring training with the major league club as a first baseman.

After two months with the parent club, Greene was sent to Durham in the class B Piedmont League. There he received the league's Most Valuable Player award, batting .326 and leading the circuit in triples.

In 1939 Greene was assigned to the Rabbit Maranville coached Albany club in the Eastern League. A bad break in the form of an arthritic back curtailed his baseball career at this point, however.

Comeback Bid Made

In 1940 he came out of his enforced retirement to make a comeback bid with Harrisburg in the class B Interstate League. On the Senators that year, Greene, although joining the club after more than a month of the season had elased, hit at a .325 clip and lead the loop in home runs with 24. In 1941, again with Harrisburg, Greene was forced to permanently retire because of his back.

Doc's other athletic experiences include a place as an outstanding blocking back on the Pitt football squad of 1937 which defeated Washington 21-0 in the Rose Bowl. The new JC diamond mentor was backfield coach at Pitt, and has also had a varied and successful career as coach of various service teams in both basketball and football.

Juniata Compiles Winningest Year By 77-75 LV Win

Juniata's cagers recorded what may have been their most significant win in years Wednesday evening as they closed out the season with a 77-75 victory over tournament-bound Lebanon Valley College.

In a game marked by liberal calling of no less than 40 personal fouls, Juniata averted a repetition of last season's 83-81 final game defeat at the hands of the Dutchmen by closing fast and dunking 32 points in the final quarter to their opponents scanty 19.

The stunning upset broke a fourteen game winning streak compiled by LV after four early-season setbacks. It also gave Juniata 15-6 mark for the season to make the 1954 Tribe decidedly the winningest squad in Juniata history.

It looked like it would be a close one all the way in the opening seconds as the contenders traded buckets for most of the first period of play. A hook shot by Howie Kerstetter after about seven minutes had passed put the Indians out front 10-9, but two buckets by Dick Shover, another by Howie Landa, and two free throws put LV in the lead 17-10 as the opening frame ended.

In the second quarter LV quickly ran up nine points to only three for Juniata to double the JC total 26-y3. Juniata battled back, but the half time margin remained 13 tallies with the count standing 40-27. The two squads battled on fairly even terms in the third frame with the home team picking up a pair of points on the visitors.

As the decisive final quarter began, LV was ahead 56-45. Juniata fought back to close the margin to 65-59. Shover's basket made the score 67-59, but two successive baskets by Handzelek made it 67-63. It was 68-63 after a free throw by Don Reinhard, but Jumpin' Jake nailed one to cut the distance to three points. Chuck Gross sank a foul, and with the score standing 68-66 the stage was set for Jim Boulton's game knotting bucket.

Shover countered with two to make it 70-68, but Walt Vanderbush again tied the count for Juniata. Shover sank another basket to put LV out front for the last time,72-70. Handzelek's basket knotted the count and Chuck Gross sank his only basket of the game with 1:19 remaining to put Juniata in the lead 74-72. Tight ball handling in the closing seconds could not be countered by Lebanon Valley's deserate play.

Handzelek and Shover shared the lead in points, each dunking 24. For Juniata Vanderbush sank 13, Kerstetter 12, Halman 7, Gross and Oriss 6 apiece, Boulton 5 and O'Brien 4. Don Reinhard was runner-up for LV with 17. He was followed by Lou Sorrentino with 14 and Bob Nelson with 10.

The above photo proves that not every moment is spent studying at Juniata. When the excavation for the new dormitory was completed one eagle-eyed student noted fossil specimens among the rocks. The 'Juniata Rock Rush of 1954' was on as curious students spent many hours probing through the layers of rock.

Juniata Players Find Comedy, Depth In "Skin Of Our Teeth"

In the play, "Skin of Our Teeth", Thornton Wilder presents all the major problems of mankind. The action covers a period of about 5,000 years, including the Ice Age, the Flood, and the World War of the 20th Century.

These incidents are presented in the form of a comedy, intended to make us laugh at the foibles of the human race.

A play can be enacted in several different ways, so we must decide what the author's point of view is. After working with the play, the Juniata actors and actresses discovered that there is more to it than comedy, and so they are striving to bring out the things which are much more important than the play seems to indicate at first glance.

The play is going to be done through the viewpoint of Henry, who represents the evil and cruelty of the world. Our generation having lived through the horrors of war, will, perhaps, best understand this viewpoint.

Tickets for "The Skin of Our Teeth" will go on sale in Totem Inn every Monday, Wenesday, and Friday after the evening meal. Students may pick up their tickets at the information window, upon presentation of their activities card. Members of the faculty may purchase their tickets at the Public Relations Office. George Carnahan and Dick Backus are in charge of the ticket sale.

"The Skin of Our Teeth", more than any other play that the Masque has presented, evolves as we evolve. Mr. Antrobus grows from a manic-depressive to a sound and thoughtful person; Henry grows from an innocent little brat to the manace of mankind.

Pope said, "Man is the glory, jest, and riddle of the world"; so Wilder has portrayed him. He gives us an inside view of life and of man's struggle for existence.

Do you think that life is a comedy? Then come and laugh at "Skin of Our Teeth". Do you think that life is a serious problem? Then come and see your deepest feelings and emotions portrayed. As the fortune-teller says, "Mr. and Mrs. Antrobus are your hope, your despair, yourselves", and "The Skin of Our Teeth" is for you.

Chapel Program For Next Week

There will be two regular chapel programs, in addition to a Special Events Program during the week of March 7.

The Reverend David J. Heim, of the Huntingdon Baptist Church, will speak in Monday's chapel, while President Ellis will give the talk on Wednesday.

The Special Events Committee, headed by Miss Esther M. Doyle, is in charge of Friday's program, which will feature Emily and William Muir, specialists in the creative arts.

Village-Campus Unity Desirable

by Nancy Freed

"The Village"—It seems to be a most misfitting name for a cluster of long barrick-like structures if you, like I, have always visualized a village as a cheery nook of some big city where the streets wind in and out, where big trees cast pleasant shadows in the midday sun, and the cottages are all gayly painted; a village surrounded by an atmosphere of eternal happiness.

I thought it odd that six dull yellow rectangular boxes situated on Roundtop should be so named. But then I made a startling discovery. It isn't a tree or pretty red shutters that make a place a happy little village, but the people—wives and mothers chatting as they hang out wash; dads and husbands hurrying off to school, still Joe College though a little more mature; children playing in the mud or tramping home from school. This is what the administration must have sensed when they named it "The Village" in the fall of '46.

Probably you've never been to "The Village" or wandered through one of the apartments made lovely with the touch of home. Maybe you don't even have a talking acquaintance with anyone who lives there. We worry about the relations of the college and the community; isn't it about time we do something constructive to create a closer association between our fellow students on College Hill and those on Roundtop?

On The Club Scene

This week we're trying an added feature with the club articles. We're interjecting some history, activities, functions, etc. of the various clubs besides the regular club news. The Pyrenee's Club's background is the topic for this issue.

Debate Club

The Penn State women will be on our campus Monday, March 8, prepared to face the Juniata College debate team at 7:30. The topic for debate will be World Free Trade and the public is invited.

Chemistry Club

The evening of March 1 the members of this club attended an American Chemical Society meeting at Penn State. The discussion was on the medical application of radioactive isotopes.

Peter Bloch of Penn State University will speak Monday, Mar. 8 at 7:00 in room 104. All members should attend this meeting to hear Mr. Bloch's speech on coordination compounds.

The Masque

Election of new officers will take place at the next Masque meeting which will be held this month.

WAA

March 26 will find twenty one WAA members traveling over to Penn State for Sports Day. The representatives for basketball, badminton, bowling, and swimming will leave here at 11:30 to be ready for the contests which commence at 1:00.

Election of new officers took place March 4 at the regular meeting.

The Pyrenees Club

The Pyrenees Club is the only club for students who are studying a foreign language as a major course here at Juniata. Students studying French, German, or Spanish are welcome to attend the meetings and join the club.

The club meetings consist of varied programs dealing with the three languages. There have been skits put on by the first year students' labs; informal talks about situations in foreign affairs; a Christmas program entirely in the languages French, German, and Spanish.

This club gives language majors an opportunity to put to use some of their knowledge and ability to speak a foreign language. The common interest of languages is thus shared in this campus organization—the Pyrenees Club.

Waitress —

A similar system is also effective in the morning for toast. There are a limited number of toasters. Consequently, when you send out for seconds the waitress must obtain a number and thereby await her turn in line. If you do not request refills until the meal is nearly over, then naturally you will be kept waiting a considerable length of time

The aforementioned things are not unpleasing to the waitresses but apparently they are to the student body. There are several things, however, which do inconvenience and anger those who are working. It is both a bother and a waste to carry cups of tea and coffee back to the kitchen which the students ordered and then never touched or partially sipped.

It is disgusting to have to say, "Excuse me," to everyone so that they will move elbows and arms in order to be able to set dishes down. It seems childish to see college students throw sugar and salt on the table just for the sake of being mischievous.

Eating should be a pleasure and mealtime a happy time. It is up to you to make it that way.

Fusco New Pres. Of 1954 Senate; Hinish To Assist

The top four Senate offices were filled for the 1954-55 term last Monday and Tuesday as a record turnout of voters went to the polls. Dick Fusco was elected as Senate president, Joe Hinish as vice—president, Rainy Belle Linn as secretary and Bob Godshall was named as treasurer for the coming term.

A slim slate of candidates resulted in only one position being forced into a run-off. Joe Hinish defeated Bill Garrison for the vice-presidency in the second ballot.

Election director Bob Bridenbaugh announced that a record turnout of 85 per cent of the student body exercised their right to vote by casting a ballot on Monday. The voting Tuesday was considerably lighter.

Fusco, a junior pre-law major from Perkasie will assume his new duties on Move-Up Day succeeding the present president Bernie Petrusky. The other three winners are also juniors; Hinish is from Marinsburg, Linn from Washington and Godshall hails from Souderton.

1954-55 Senate Leaders

Third Weekend Program Arranged For Sub-Frosh

This weekend is the third in a program of five weekends planned for sub-freshmen according to Jo Swartz, sub-frosh committee chairman. Thirty-six sub-freshmen will come from Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey. They will attend special meetings with department heads and go on a guided tour which is given to acquaint them with the scholastic aspects of college life. On Saturday night a party sponsored by the Social Committee will present the social side of life on College Hill.

Credit should be given to those students on the committee helping with the weekend schedule. The committees and members are: Date Bureau—John Criswell, Reception—Bob Crispen, Chuck Judd, Dick Mumma, and Don Murdock, Registration—Rod James and Lois Measy, Tables—Maggie Sims and Elaine Aitkin, Tour—Ernie Lashlee, Faculty—Nancy Rosenberger, and Rooms—Betty Beatty, Carol Lowdermilk, and Abe Finton.

Sub-freshmen have gone out of their way to express their thanks for the kindness of both the faculty and students on these weekends. Now here's our chance to be just as nice to thirty-six future Juniatians. Let's all show them how much we welcome them and help them spend a weekend they will never forget.

Naval Representative To Be In Totem Inn

A representative of the Naval Aviation Cadet Program, Lt. Jim Freeman is scheduled to visit the campus on March 16, 1954. He will be available at Totem Inn to discuss the opportunities of this program.

Unmarried young men between 18 and 25 having two or more years of college and who can meet the mental and physical requirements are eligible to apply for cadet training.

Under the program several thousand men are given 18 months of intensive flight and ground training and upon successful completion, receive their Navy wings and commissions in the Naval or Marine Corps Reserve.

Faculty Financial, Counciling Committees Disclose Policies

by Carol Newborg

There are many organizations for the help of the students on Juniata's campus, about which little is known. One of these faculty groups is the Financial Aids Committee, whose job is to assign the aids to students, and to approve work assignments.

The job of a second group, the Student Counseling Committee is to supervise and set up the policies for student personnel functions, which include the Placement Service, general advising, and supervision of the contents of the students' personal folders.

The committees feel that the folders should have in them some statement of the type of job held, efficiency with which the job is performed and the amount of compensation received. Such information would be useful to the Financial Aids Committee in assigning jobs for following years and to the Placement Office in recommending a student for a position or graduate school. In addition, the folder would be useful in counseling students on personal problems.

The two committees sponsored a study by Frank Conly, who is a junior interested in industrial personnel work. As a result of his study, Conly has compiled a merit rating for campus employment. The form will be filled out several times a year by each administrative or faculty advisor of student employees.

This year the form is being used on an experimental basis. It is possible that the form will be changed in the future as a result of this experimental use. Supervisors are now in process of rating employees for work during the first semester.

There are fifteen items on which students are being rated: punctuality, initiative, intelligent reasoning, care of equipment, neatness, ability to get along with others, desire to attain success, temperament, resourcefulness, amount of instruction required, ability to apply technical knowledge, honesty, willingness to abide by rules and regulations, willingness to take orders, and general overall opinion.

A statement as to whether or not a student will be recommended for promotion will conclude the form.

Student Opinion Poll To Decide Action On JC Alma Mater

The Senate Committee on the Alma Mater with the aid of the Juniatian has planned a poll of the student body to determine whether the Alma Mater should be revised. Students are asked to fill in the questionnaire below and deposit it in the ballot box located in Totem Inn. The polling will begin today at 10:30 a. m. and continue until tomorrow noon.

1. Are you in favor of having a new Alma Mater for the College?

Election Tuesday To Decide Senate Chairmanship Offices

Twenty students are competing candidates for the eight Juniata College Senate chairmanships. Close competition is expected for several offices.

MEN'S HOUSE

Jim Boulton, a junior business major from Burlington, New Jersey is a candidate for chairman of the men's house committee. Boulton is secretary-treasurer of the Tycoon Club and is a member of the JC basketball team.

Chuck Gross, another junior business major, is also running for men's house. Gross, from Oil City, Pa., is a member of the JC basketball team and a member of men's house committee.

The third candidate for chairman of men's house committee is Richard Ikeda, from Seabrook, New Jersey. Ikeda is a junior chemistry major. He has been treasurer and vice president of his class, worked on the set construction of "Romeo and Juliet", and a member of the underclassman committee, and the men's house committee.

WOMEN'S HOUSE

Dottie Kettering, a math major from Lebanon, Pa., is a candidate for women's house.

She has been active in JCA during her College career and has worked on the set construction of Romeo and Juliet and My Maryland. This year she served as ticket chairman for the Gondoliers and as a member of the Women's House Committee.

Mikey Mick is the other candidate for women's house committee. She is a dietetics major from Pitcairn, Pa. Miss Mick's activities have included JCA, WAA, vice president of Lambda Gamma, girls' intramurals, cheerleader, All-Class Night, social committee, Alfarata Class Editor, underclassmen committee, and women's house committee.

ATHLETICS

Dick Godshall is running for chairman of athletics. He is a pre-med major from Souderton and has been active in various Masque productions, including Romeo and Juliet and the forthcoming, Skin of Our Teeth. A member of the Outing Club and Scalpel and Probe, Godshall was on the track team in his freshman and sophomore years. He has entered All-Class Night competition for three years and has been active in intramural sports.

Goose Gray, a junior history major from Pleasantville, New Jersey, is also a candidate for chairman of athletics. Gray was Juniatian sports editor during his freshman and sophomore years, went to leadership conference, is sports editor of the Alfarata, and is manager of the JC basketball team.

Gene Rothenberger, a junior biology major from Boyertown is the last of the trio running for this position. Rothenberger is a member of the JC track team, J Club, Scalpel and Probe, JCA, and has been active in intramural football, basketball, and softball.

UNDERCLASSMEN

There are four candidates for chairman of underclassmen: Larry Cape, Rem Grove, Russ Hill, and Bill West.

Larry Cape, a sophomore language major hailing from Norwood, Pa., is a candidate for this position. Cape was stage manager for the Christmas Pageant during his freshman year, worked on set construction and stage crew for "My Maryland" and All-Class Night, is active in intramurals, a member of the JC track team, cheerleader, and a member of this year's sub-freshmen committee.

Rem Grove, a junior from Haddon Heights, New Jersey, is a biology major. Grove has been active in All-Class Night, the Masque, Totem Inn Planning Committee, Scalpel and Probe, intramural sports, men's house committee, and underclassmen committee. He was also a member of the JC basketball and baseball teams in his freshman year and attended Leadership Conference.

Russ Hill is a junior psychology major from Crafton, Pa. Hill was president of his class when a freshman, treasurer of JCA, a member of the College deputation team, active in intramural sports, and chairman of the following committees: social committee, student center committee, freshman dance, two class pep rallies, JCA Commission, and JWSF solicitations.

Bill West, a sophomore pre-med student from Huntingdon, is also a candidate for this position. He is a member of the JC Golf team, J Club, and is active in intramural basketball and Scalpel and Probe.

GENERAL ACTIVITIES

Nan Heller, sophomore elementary ed major from Duncansville, Pa., is a candidate for chairman of general activities. Her activities have included chairman of sophomore All-Class Night, Juniatian reporter and club editor, intramural basketball, FTA, and women's house committee.

Doris Wilson, from Haddon Heights, New Jersey, a junior, and also an elementary ed major is the other candidate for this chair in the Senate. Miss Wilson has been secretary of the Masque, assistant co-ordinator of the operetta, art editor of the Alfarata, women's house committee, assistant to director of Skin of Our Teeth, on the underclassmen committee, and will be assistant chairman of May Day.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

Kaydonna Bubeck, a junior elementary ed major from Schuylkill Haven, Pa., is running for chairman of social activities.

Answer To LV, Radio, Operetta Highlight Week's Senate Meeting

The All-College operetta, a campus radio station and a statement on the Lebanon Valley game highlighted the weekly open Senate session Wednesday night.

Following a report on the operetta by Doris Wilson, the Senate discussed the highly controversial issue of whether or not to continue this campus activity. No definite statement was formulated by the Senate, so the question will appear on next week's agenda.

The possibility of a campus radio station was brought forward by a group of students and was referred for further study to a committee composed of Bob Bridenbaugh and Bill White, co-chairmen, Gene Hyssong, Maurice Henry and Jeanie Tait.

A letter drafted by president Bernie Petrusky to be sent to the Lebanon Daily News was then read and approved. The statement answers the charges brought against Juniata College by the coach and team of LV and a sportswriter of the paper. A copy of the letter is printed in the Juniatian.

The Senate then moved to recognize the Standing Stone Grotto as an organization eligible to use college facilities and in which students may participate as a recognized College activity. This new group on campus, headed by president Willie White, has been formed for the purpose of cave exploration.

Abe Finton presented a tentative set-up for a disciplinary committee composed of the Dean of the College, faculty and students to handle infractions of the regulations of the College. The general idea of a disciplinary committee was recommended to President Ellis.

In order to arouse club interest, chairman of general activities Lolita Carfora was authorized to call a meeting of all club presidents to discuss the present situation.

A committee of Bob Fahrney and Bernie Petrusky was chosen to draw up a list of duties for the student appointed to take care of the bulletin boards.

Class dues and the concessions committee were then discussed; however, no definite action was taken.

Plans were then formulated for Move-Up Day which is scheduled for March 26.

Radio, Discipline Committee Offer Students Opportunity

The one year term of the present Senate is rapidly drawing to a close, but the tremendous forward strides it has made during the year will leave a permanent mark on Juniata's student government for years to come. In next week's issue of the Juniatian, which will be the last one before spring recess, we intend to pay tribute to the fine work of this year's governing body by recalling some of the contributions and suggestions they have made during the brief term they were in office.

However, rather than go back through the records this week we have the pleasure of recalling one of the most enlightening Senate meetings of the year, the one held Wednesday evening. The agenda was a huge one as the group tried to complete the burden of material that has accumulated before they leave office.

College Radio Discussed

Undoubtably the most interesting item discussed at the meeting was the suggestion and subsequent discussion of a Juniata College radio station. Many students on College Hill have dreamed of such an addition to our College and now the Senate has taken steps to actually determine the possibilities of such an operation. At the present time the project has been submitted to a five member committee of two Senators and three non-Senators who are familiar with the technical difficulties encountered in this type or project. The question of financing the project, one which always demands considerable thought, was answered by reports which place the estimated cost at close to $200.

The proposed project, student owned and operated, would be based on the four beneficial points discussed at the meeting; (1) the problem of transmitting announcements of student and faculty interests would be relieved considerably by such a move, (2) experience could be gained in technical fields by the people building the broadcasting set and these would be JC students, (3) actual broadcasting techniques and student participation would prove beneficial in offering College Hill residents 'mike' experience, (4) the radio station, which would operate during the hours WHUN is off the air in the evening, would provide enjoyable music for these hours.

Projects like this are not unusual on a College campus, but as the discussion pointed out the whole-hearted interest of the student body is necessary for the success of this plan. You may help lead your student government in this project by letting your Senators know of your interest in the project. This is a project that we feel would prove beneficial to Juniata—encourage your Senators and they will work for your interests.

Disciplinary Committee Discussed

The second item on the list discussed by the Senate last week which we feel is a very wise move is the proposed disciplinary committee. Many times we know there have been instances where we felt injustice was done in the field of discipline and this plan seems to offer a solution to such bitter feelings as might arise.

In the rough form of the plan which was discussed by the Senate the committee would consist of three faculty members and either two, three or four student representatives. The disciplinary problems arising from violations of the Grey Paper would be presented by the respective deans and the committee would take action which they deemed appropriate for the problem.

It was rather emphatically pointed out that the proposed committee system did not rely on a program of student honor or to put it crudely, squealers. Rather, it would follow basically on the form now conducted. The problems which arise during the course of a college year and come to the attention of the deans would be forwarded and presented by them to the disciplinary committee for action.

This proposed committee, when the minor difficulties have been ironed out and basic policies outlined, will answer a problem that has been a source of student-administration irritation throughout the history of Juniata. A satisfactory discipline system is a necessity on a college campus and we hope the Senate will strive to provide the College with a program that will heal all friction between the administration and students and still provide solid lines of College community discipline.

Underclass Candidates Submit Platforms For Voters Inspection

The introduction of freshman to the Juniata way of life is a problem that each year demands strong leadership on the part of the Chairman of Underclassmen. A big-brother and sister program must be successfully completed and the various intricacies of the orientation require level-headed leadership. As an individual problem the main job facing the Chairman of Underclassmen is controling and coordinating a succesful initiation program. In line with the duties of this office if I am elected I pledge to construct the program on the following points.

1. INITIATION—
   A. The type of initiation program shall be decided and planned by the sophomore class upon approval of the Chairman of Underclassmen and the Senate.
   B. The Chairman of Underclassmen shall supervise the initiation and see that no extraneous unapproved steps are taken.
2. HOMECOMING—He shall see that interclass activities on Homecoming Day are judged fairly and impartially.
3. FRESHMAN DUTIES—He shall see that all freshmen honor and properly complete all duties assigned them.
4. CONTROL—He will guard against my spontaneous outbursts endangering the purpose of the orientation program.
5. RIGHTS OF UNDERCLASSMEN—He shall see that the freshman rights are honored and given fair treatment before the Senate and Freshman Court.

Larry Cape

The object of the Chairman of Underclassmen should be to introduce the incoming freshmen to Juniata and help them adjust to the new demands of campus life. Secondly, he should endeavor to impress firmly the Freshmen with their place on campus in relation to tradition and class standing.

Specifically, this is my platform:

I. GUIDANCE—One of the impressive things in life at Juniata is the number of students, particularly freshmen, who drop out and are rendered ineffective students, not because of academic deficiencies but because of emotional problems. I refuse to believe that we as students have no obligation in this matter. As sincere and dedicated individuals, we can do something to help this situation.

A. With the help of trained members of the administration and vitally interested students, I will attempt to establish a year long guidance committee on a sound psychological basis. I believe that a small dedicated group, semi-trained in non-directive guidance techniques can be effective in helping some people.

B. I am willing to live in the lodge in order to establish a personal contact with the Freshmen as a class and as individuals with problems in order to represent them better.

C. With the help of the Freshman Court, I will intelligently enforce Freshmen traditions and regulations.

D. The little-big brother and sister program should be con-

Reading Program Begun As Study Aid For Students

There is no brake on reading speed for students at Juniata College!

A new reading clinic—with emphasis on accelerating the reading rate—has been established to supplement Juniata's student services.

But the pressure is not all on speed. Consideration is given to improving concentration and increasing retention of what is read. In fact, as speed increases, comprehension is tested so that it is not sacrificed to speed.

The clinic was set up originally by Dean James F. Penney, dean of men, on an experimental basis. Now that it is operated regularly, there are 31 students enrolled. Participation is voluntary, but freshmen who have low test scores, particularly in English, are "invited to join".

The clinic's study is built around a series of 24 planned lessons designed to give each student who enrolls an opportunity to explore and work on virtually every phase of reading. Examples of topics considered are drill on skimming, taking notes, summarizing, and increasing vocabulary.

A reading rate accelerator supplements class-type exercises. By setting the shutter on this machine at a rate slightly faster than the student's normal reading speed, he is encouraged to read more rapidly.

However, definite efforts are made to develop "safe reading skills" even though the brakes are off on reading speed.

The Juniatian

Entered as second class matter at the Huntingdon, Pa., post office, this is an independent undergraduate newspaper published weekly throughout the College year except during vacation and examination periods by the Students of Juniata College.

The Juniatian is serviced by Associated Collegiate Press and is represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service.

Accent On Reading

MORTAL SUMMER, by Mark Van Doren. Gods and archangels assume human form and return to earth for one mortal summer, mixing in the affairs of a little group of people in a New England community. One critic acclaimed it as one of the finest poems or plays ever produced by an American author.

THE SECOND TREE FROM THE CORNER, by E. B. White. A collection of essays, sketches, short stories, and light verse which first saw the light in such magazines as the NEW YORKER, HARPERS, ATLANTIC MONTHLY. JC, Lebanon Valley, Break Athletic Relations

THE HOTLY CONTESTED Lebanon Valley game, in which Juniata was victorious by a 77-75 count, has been perhaps more often replayed by partisans of both colleges than any other Juniata game in history. Juniata, although accused of "malicious fouling", certainly did not come through the entire contest without mishap as one might come to think from reading various post-game accounts of the struggle. The picture above is a case in point. Bernie Oriss, without a doubt, is just about to commit a flagrant personal foul. Photo by Garrison

Charges By Marquette Act To Halt Historic Juniata-LVC Series

The athletic councils of Juniata and Lebanon Valley College have, in nearly simultaneous actions, voted to discontinue athletic relations for an indefinite period following the furor created by the basketball contest between the two schools on March 3.

Juniata's action came as a result of what the council considered "unustified accusations" by Lebanon Valley Coach George (Rinso) Marquette. The decision was based upon an investigation of "derogatory statements" given by Marquette to newspapermen.

Marquette's remarks followed Juniata's 77-75 upset of the Dutchmen, a defeat which snapped a 14-game winning skein which had been built up by Lebanon Valley.

In the opinion of the council, Marquette's statements reflected "upon the character of the coaching staff and student body of Juniata College."

Marquette had stated that Juniata's team was guilty of "deliberate and malicious fouling" during a fourth period which he described as "murder." Coach Marquette, in describing the game, contended that his team "took a terrible physical beating" and that Juniata players were "hitting low."

"It was the worst physical beating we've taken in two seasons I've coached at Lebanon Valley, and it was the only time in 45 games that our boys were outspokenly critical of an opponent's type of play," Marquette went on to charge.

Juniata's athletic council stated that Marquette's accusations were "not only ill-founded, but definitely unsportsmanlike conduct on the part of a coach."

(Lebanon Valley's athletic council stated in its press release that it had passed unanimously a motion expressing "unqualified confidence" in Marquette.)

Athletic director P. M. (Mike) Snider notified Lebanon Valley's director of athletics, O. P. Bollinger, of the council's recommendation Monday. Snider stated that he regretted "very much that the athletic council felt it necessary to take this action."

Juniata's coach, Dr. T. Arnold Greene, has flatly denied Marquette's charges and has called the accusations "ridiculous." Dr. Greene stated: "In the many years I have been associated with sports both as a player and coach, this is the first time I have been accused of unfair tactics, and as far as I am concerned the accusation is ridiculous."

The Juniata basketball coach, who has completed his fifth season with the Indians' best record in 30 years (15-6), has insisted "there was definitely no intent on the part of Juniata to deliberately foul."

Juniata has met Lebanon Valley in football, basketball, baseball, track and tennis at varying times over a period of nearly 50 years. The series have not all been continuous, but the two teams have played two games in basketball every season since 1945.

The suspension of athletic relations cancels two baseball games scheduled with Lebanon Valley this spring, as well as participating in a triangular track meet involving both Lebanon Valley and Albright.

Hinish Announces Delay In Playoff

A six team play-off scheduled to take place this week in the Intramural Basketball league has been indefinitely postponed according to Chairman of Athletics, Joe Hinish.

The postponment is due to the difficulties of finding a suitable time to hold the games. The Administration of the college has asked that the gym be closed at night upon completion of the regular intramural season in order to cut light expense.

Hinish further stated that the league games were moved up so that the schedule would be completed before the erection of the batting cage in the gym for baseball season. However, now that the erection of the cage has been delayed, there is a possibility that permission can be obtained by the Director of Athletics, Mike Snyder for the run off of the tilts at night in the near future.

Asked about the possibility of an Intramural Volleyball League, Hinish stated that if sufficient interest was shown, a meeting would be held to organize such a loop.

An Open Letter To The Lebanon Daily News Presents Post-Game Story From New Angle

This letter was written by Bernie Petrusky, Senate President, and was sent on behalf of that body to the editor of the Lebanon Daily News, the paper which printed the now well-known Tiny Parry column entitled, "Massacre on the Juniata." The Juniatian reprints it here because the sports staff feels that Juniata's contentions about the game and post-game events are well stated in its contents.

Dear Sir:

As President of the Student Senate of Juniata College, I feel impelled to reply to Mr. Parry's column, "Massacre on the Juniata" recently published on your sports page. I have no intention of dealing in recriminations; nor will I attempt to refute Mr. Parry's petty slurs on my college and the community of Huntingdon. When one stoops to throw mud, he is bound to get some on himself. From his report, however, it is quite obvious that the writer heard only one side of the story. I wish to present information which Mr. Parry could have learned for himself if he had taken the trouble to talk with anyone from Juniata.

Previous to this final game with Lebanon Valley, Juniata played 20 other games, several of which (particularly with Albright and Lycoming) were as hard fought as this controversial one. None of the opponents in those twenty contests including Lebanon Valley which soundly defeated Juniata, accused us of the charges currently made by Coach Marquette, his cagers, and several sportswriters. Perhaps this observation is not decisive in the present case, but a thoughtful observer must wonder why the "Indians" should use rough house tactics in only their last game.

It is conceded by both sides that the refereeing was not what it might have been. But Mr. Parry's observation that Juniata chooses the officials is simply untrue. As a journalist who presumably writes on sports, he should know that the host college has nothing to do with the choice of officials—they are furnished by a board set up for the purpose. Moreover, the Juniata fans were quite as displeased with the officiating as LVC was, as anyone present at the game knows. Apparently Mr. Parry's "neutral" and "unbiased" reports did not include the views of Mr. O. P. Bollinger, Athletic Director at LVC, who observed to his Juniata counterpart, Mr. P. M. (Mike) Snider, that it was the home team that had the greater cause for complaint on this score.

The closest Mr. Parry appears to have come to hearing both sides of this controversy before rushing into print was his assertion that "it was even reported that at least one Juniata partisan felt that the Dutchmen were't "trying too hard" the first half. That report is accurate. They were obviously hugely enjoying themselves. Indeed Lebanon Valley could have most likely run up a much higher score in the first half. Whose fault is it that they didn't? Or doesn't Coach Marquette figure in this matter? Could it be that his overconfidence led to his undoing? Upsets are not unheard of in basketball, you know, when a team gets "fired up."

Mr. Parry also remarks that "the tide ... started to turn in the third period when the Indians resorted to pressing tactics (seemingly a smart strategical move) to prevent the Dutchmen from 'coasting' to maintain their lead ..." Of course this always happens under the circumstances and results naturally, as he admits, in the pressnig team committing a majority of the fouls. But then he resorts to blaming the officials for not calling more fouls to account for the outcome of the game. Did it occur to him that a look at the records kept by the score keepers would shed some light on this? The figures are interesting: the first half LVC made 44.1% of their tries from the field, while Juniata made but 30%; while in the second half, LVC made 41.6% and Juniata 52.8%. There is no percentage breakdown by quarters but if there were the figures for the last period would be even more instructive. Lebanon Valley made 25 points in 39 tries at the foul line, while Juniata scored 15 in 25 free throws. These figures reveal clearly the pattern of the game. After taking it easy the first half, the Dutchmen simply could not stop the "hot" Juniata cagers in the final period when they scored 32 points.

The most unfortunate part of this fracas occurred, however, after the game when Coach Greene of Juniata approached Mr. Marquette to shake hands whereupon the latter turned his back—a curious indication of Mr. Marquette's sportsmanship. This was the point of departure for the regrettable slapping incident which was sparked by remarks from Mr. Marquette to bystanders that he had brought a team of sportsmen to Juniata where they had to play a team of "scumdums". This is but one of the remarks which Mr. Parry apparently believes were "natural and well chosen retorts from the L. V coach.

Mr. Parry seems also to have overlooked the factor of excitement. In a closely contested game such as the Juniata-L. V. encounter, artisan fans are apt to be highly excited with resulting outbursts of temper. The above mentioned incident occurred after Mr. Marquette returned to the floor from the LV dressing room. If he had any complaints to make, the usual procedure would have been to consult with the game officials and those of the host school. Instead, Mr. Marquette directed a harrangue to a group of fans, which under the circumstances invited the above encounter. In this whole matter, then, it seems that Mr. Marquette forgot the decorum which good sportsmanship requires of a coach.

Before the LV coach left Juniata campus after the game, he talked at some length with me. I expressed regret over the unfortunate incidents (that is, the booing of the officials and heckling on occasion) and even apologized for the remark made by somebody against LV's Negro player. Mr. Marquette expressed an understanding of the incidents and even voiced his appreciation of the apology. We parted with a firm hand shake and an exchange of good wishes. I can only wonder how sincere Mr. Marquette was in his conversation, particularly when I find him declaring in the Harrisburg Patriot of March 9, that I "apologized for the conduct

On The Club Scene

There are all sorts of special activities this week. Speakers, hospital excursions, elections, and debates; but read on and see for yourself!

SCALPEL AND PROBE

The Scalpel and Probe members are traveling to the Altoona General Hospital on Saturday, March 13. This expedition will get underway at 7:30 a. m., and upon reaching Altoona, the thirty-five students, Dr. Will and Professor Bartha will watch three hours of operations. They will have the opportunity to observe surgery of all types, and it should be a very educational project.

JCA

JCA is going to have a two meeting series on the theme "God, Love, and Sex". The first meeting will be held on March 16 when Professor Padgett will speak on the problems before marriage. The next meeting, on March 23, will be led by Reverend Heim, who will discuss the problems of the topic after marriage.

THE MASQUE

The Masque's election of officers will take place at the next business meeting. President Wilfred Norris asks that all members be present to perform this duty.

FTA

The FTA will present Eugene P. Bertrin of the PSEA, who will come from Harrisburg to speak to the group. The meeting will take place in Room C at 7:15 on March 12. Refreshments will be served.

DEBATE CLUB

Debate Club members are going to the Debater's Congress in Meadville, Pa., as their next event. The Penn State Women brought a negative and positive team March 8 and a successful debate was held. As is the rule, no decision was made, but the performance was given to gain experience.

of the coach, players, and students and even some members of the faculty..." I categorically deny this. It was literally impossible for me to make such an apology since I had not yet learned of the incidents involving the coaches and so on mentioned above. And to suppose that I would have the audacity to apologize for the faculty is simply preposterous!

In conclusion I cannot help wondering if Mr. Marquette's charges were made to compensate for his own tactical errors. To do this he needed a scapegoat, hence his wild outbursts at my college. Juniata has lost many games, but it has never resorted to crying in the press. I have not mentioned the decision of the Athletic Council of Juniata to sever relations with Lebanon Valley. That is a decision, however, of which our student body approves, for when the spokesman of another school publicly levies such random and irresponsible charges against our college community as those made by Coach Marquette, continued athletic relations with that school can serve no useful purpose.

Sincerely yours,
Bernard Petrusky

The Chapel speakers for the week of the 14th will be Monday, student deputation team, Wednesday, the Touring Choir, and Friday, Reverend Winters, from the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Huntingdon.

tinued with an effort to amplify its best aspects.

II. INITIATION—The Chairman of Underclassmen has the power as a senator to regulate initiation. Therefore, I believe:

A. There should be a constructive aspect in the initiation program through which the Freshmen can feel that they are contributing to Juniata in a real and positive way.

C. The traditional "fun" of the sophomores should have a place in initiation.

D. The sophomore class should have the responsibility to plan initiation as long as they are willing to accept a constructive element as part of the program.

III. FROSH STUDY HOURS: This past year, under the direction of the Chairman of Underclassmen, the Freshman study program was an experiment. This "experiment" is now being evaluated by the Senate, and I will abide by the results of this survey. If the value would seem to justify the effort, I will support this program; but first, we will examine the facts.

I am vitally and personally interested—not in getting a job, but in "doing" a job as Underclassman Chairman and attempting to meet a real need on campus.

Changes In Cast For Masque Production

Although there have been no major changes in the cast of "The Skin of Our Teeth", there have been a few minor ones. Alice Jean Hoffman has taken over the part of the Dinosaur, Kaydonna Bubeck will portray "the girl", and Skip Oesterling has been cast in the roles of the usher and the third conveener.

With the actual performances only three rehearsals away, the cast is being kept busy putting the final touches to their parts.

Aiding in achieving the best possible performance will be the technical staff, composed of Doris Wilson, assistant to the director; Wilfred Norris, stage manger; Bob Hamm and Bill White, lighting technicians; Bill Braunworth and Bill Stevenson, sound technicians; Jean Runnion, set props; Betty Shearer, hand props; Joy Rinehart, costumes; Carfora twins, scenery design; Marilyn Walters, scenery construction, and Allegra Forney and Dagmar Silldorff, prompters.

Bertin To Appear Tonight At FTA

Eugene P. Bertin, Assistant Executive Secretary of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, will be the guest speaker at the regular FTA meeting on Friday, March 13.

Mr. Bertin, a native of Williamsport, Pa., holds an A. B., A. M., and Ph. D. Degree from Bucknell, Harvard, and the University of Chicago, respectively.

In addition to being on the staff of the PSEA, he is the supervising principal of the Limeston Township Schools in Lycoming County and in instructor in English at the Williamsport High School. He also holds five other positions and is a member of more than 35 organizations.

Chairman Candidates —

Miss Bubeck is a member of the FTA, WAA, JCA, and has been active as chairman of Christmas decorations in Totem Inn, on the freshman and sophomore dance committees, the social committee, All-Class Night, and Skin of Our Teeth, acting and chairman of displays.

Nancy Freed, a sophomore English major from Telford, Pa., is also running for this position. Miss Freed is a member of FTA, JCA, WAA, the Alfarata staff, reporter and feature editor of the Juniatian, is active in hockey, and was chairman of the JCA Christmas party for Huntingdon children, and chairman of Valentine Voyage Dance.

PUBLICATIONS

There are two candidates for the position of chairman of publications.

Janet Claycomb, a junior elementary education major from Johnstown, Pa., is one of these. Miss Claycomb is a member of WAA, FTA, women's house committee, social committee, co-chairman of the May Day Breakfast and editor of the Alfarata.

Jim Hunt, a sophomore journalism major, the other candidate for this office, is also from Johnstown. Hunt has been active in intramural sports, All-Class Night, attended Leadership Conference, worked on the Scout, and is editor of both the Tomahawk and the Juniatian.

RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES

Ron Morgan, a sophomore preministerial student from Ligonier, Pa., is a candidate for chairman of religious activities. Morgan has been active in intramural basketball, college deputation team work, and was a member of the JC baseball team last year. He was chaplain of his freshman and sophomore class and is a member of the JCA cabinet.

Don Davis, a sophomore from Ardmore, Pa. is in the running religious activities. He is a premed major and has been a member of the Juniata track team, choir and stage productions. In addition he has been active in JCA programs during his College career.

Play Explained By Miss Doyle

In an interview Miss Esther M. Doyle, director of The Skin of Our Teeth, was asked what the play is about. Miss Doyle replied: "I like best the description that it is 'the story of mankind in comic strip'..

It is wise, it is silly, and it is diverting. And like some of our better comic strips it can be taken purely for comedy and entertainment or, if one is listening and feeling, it can remind us mammals (subdivision humans) of what we really are.

It has nonsense and philosophy, and to make it surpassing, Mr. Wilder has used most of the tricks of the trade. We roar with laughter and then suddenly sobered—even profoundly moved—because we discover what we are experiencing is true.

Comic and Baffling

George Freedly wrote of the play, "It is mad, profound, comic, tender, serious, and completely baffling." One sees the actors as individuals but they are also symbols. Says Mr. Freedly, "Henry was once called Cain and later (in Act 3) is very nearly called Hitler. Sabina is Lillith and all beautiful women.

Mrs. Antrobus is Eve and Mrs. Roosevelt and every mother with all their good and bad and most human qualities. George is Adam and Babbit and Rodin's Thinker and every seeker after knowledge and the quiet life—If you want to let your imagination run riot, laugh a lot and think a lot, then you'll have the time of life at Thornton Wilder's The Skin of Our Teeth.

Enjoyable Yet Deep

The play is easy to enjoy as a circus and almost as hard to understand as life itself. "There by the grace of God," says Brooks Atkinson, "go the lot of us." As a human being, how do you fit into the story of mankind?.

Come and see for yourself.

Debate Club Members To Attend Tournament

Four Juniata College students will represent their college at the annual debate tournament sponsored by the Debating Association of Pennsylania Colleges at Allegheny College, Meadville, March 19, 20.

Using the national question for collegiate debate, "Resolved: that the United States should adopt a policy of free trade," Robert Nicholson, '57, Addison, and Richard Backus, '57, Dayton, Ohio, will support the affirmative side. Dorothy Stricker, '57, Lansdale, and Newton Taylor, Jr., '57, Huntingdon, will represent the negative view.

The debate club, which is under the direction of Miss Miriam E. Dickey, assistant librarian, has held a series of practice debates on the national question. In addition they have participated in several inter-collegiate debates with the Penn State women, both at Juniata and State College, and have attended Debaters Congress at Penn State.

Klare Sunderland, '56, McVeytown, is president of the Juniata College Debaters; while Robert Nicholson is manager for the group. Other members are: George Carnahan, '57, Dayton, Ohio; James Montgomery, '57, Burlington, N. J.; and Clinton Betz, '57, Johnston.

No Paper Next Week

Upon recommendation of the Faculty Publication Committee, the Juniatian will not be published next week.

THE ANTROBUS FAMILY poses for a picture before taking the stage tonight in the initial performance of The Skin of Our Teeth. Even their maid horns in on this touching little picture. Class Officers; Eight Senators Chosen At Polls

Eight Senate chairmanships were decided at the elections held last Tuesday and Wednesday. Elections head, Bob Bridenbaugh reports that 416 out of a possible 555 voters went to the polls the first day with voting slightly lighter for the runoffs the following day.

Mickey Mick, women's house chairman; Ron Morgan, chairman of religious activities; Nancy Freed, social activities; Nan Heller, general activities and Jim Hunt, chairman of publications were elected on the first ballot.

Three Runoffs

Runoffs were necessary for chairman of underclassmen with Renie Grove defeating Russ Hill; men's house as Rich Ikeda won over Chuck Gross and for chairman of athletics with Dick Godshall defeating Harold Gray.

Mick is a junior dietetics major from Pitcairn while Morgan is a sophomore pre-ministerial major from Ligonier. Freed, a sophomore English major is from Telford, Heller, also a sohomore, is an elementary ed major from Duncansville. Hunt, the fourth sohomore on the new Senate is a journalism major from Johnstown.

Dick Godshall, hails from Souderton and is majoring in pre-med. Two jerseyites hold spots on the new Senate. Dick Ikeda comes from Seabrook and is a junior chemistry major while Cove calls Haddon Heights his home town. He is majoring in biology.

Class Elections

Class elections were also held during the past week.

The junior class elected Dick Ikeda as class president with Russ Hill getting the nod as veep. Mary K. Jackson was selected as class secretary and Bill Garrison as treasurer.

Pat Tarquinio was named to head next year's junior class with Players, Inc. To Do 'Miser'

Moliere's delighful farce, "The Miser" will be presented by Players Incorporated in Oller Hall on April 23.

Miss Doyle and Dr. Clemens are responsible for the play's being brought to our campus. Having seen it in Altoona early this fall, they were so delighted with it that they thought the student body should also have an opportunity to view it.

Says Miss Doyle, "This laugh a line play is a comedy that, although written in the seventeenth century, is played in a twentieth century manner. The outstanding dramatic ability of Players Incorporated should make the play even more enjoyable."

This should sound familiar to second semester French students, as they are reading The Miser at the present time, and, for the most part, seem to be enjoying it.

Plans Complete For Information Contest

Final plans for the General Information Contest have been made. All Jupiata students are eligible to enter this contest, to be held on March 24 from 4:00-5:30 p. m. in the Library. An entrant need not be present at 4:00 however; he may enter any time before 4:30.

The winner will receive a prize of $15, and the runner-up will receive $10.

A few additional questions to test your knowledge of general information in preparation for the GIQ Contest.

1. Prime Minister Nehru organized demonstrations in India in protest against United States military aid to which country?

2. Who is president of the United Nations General Assembly?

3. Who is the new mayor of New York City?

"Skin Of Our Teeth" To Give Initial Performance Tonight

by Carol Newborg

Tonight the curtain rises on Thornton Wilder's prize-winning comedy, "The Skin of Our Teeth". Yes, tonight and tomorrow night, March 19 and 20, at 8:15 in Oller Hall the Masque will present its annual play, directed by Miss Esther M. Doyle.

Although tickets should be obtained by students before the evening's performance, they will be on sale at the door. Tickets will also be sold in Totem Inn today following the noon meal for those wishing to avoid the rush at the door.

Family Group

The play centers around a father and his family. Mr. Antrobus is played by freshman, Jim Montgomery. Hailing from Burlington, N. J., Montgomery is active in the Masque, Debating Club, Radio Committee and was in the Freshman All-Class Night skit.

Mrs. Antrobus is played by Jean Baker, a junior from Waterside, Pa. Miss Baker is in the touring choir, the operetta, All-Class Night, and chairman of the Christmas Pageant.

The role of the daughter, Gladys, is portrayed by Nancy Rosenberger from Penn Valley, Pa. She is in the Chapel Choir, Touring Choir Ensemble, and Orchestra. In addition she was active in the operetta, All-Class Night in her freshman year, and intramural sports.

Fritz Blechschmidt, Cressona, Pa., is cast as the son, Harry. He has been in several Masque plays, stage crew for the operetta, and he was chairman of senior All-Class Night.

Taking the part of the Antrobus' maid, Sabina, is Judy Gearhart, of Upper Darby, Pa. Miss Gearhart is in the Chapel Choir, on the Juniatian staff, and was in the operetta and on the Freshman Party Committee.

Senate Gets Financial Report On Totem-Inn During First Semester

A financial statement on Totem Inn, the operetta and six reports occupied the attention of the Senators Wednesday as their year in office draws to a close.

Presented by Russ Hill, the financial report for Totem Inn shows an operating loss of $61.54 for the snack bar, and an estimated profit of $1,656.03 for the book store. Subtracting investment overhead and depreciation, the net profit for the first semester is $337.48.

Carried over from last week was the issue of whether or not to have an operetta, which was resolved when the Senate went on record as favoring the All-College musical.

The Senate then suggested to the administration that the main floor of the Memorial Gymnasium be used for the Homecoming dance and the junior-senior reception.

A report from Bob Bridenbaugh, co-chairman of the committee investigating a campus radio station, revealed that a detailed report will be sent to the faculty and administration in order to gain their views, and that possibly the attic of Students Hall could be used as the location for the proposed station.

Bernie Petrusky delivered a message from President Ellis suggesting that a committee of Senators investigate the foreign student problem.

The results from the Alma Mater poll were tabulated as follows: of the 69 valid questionnaires returned, 47 favored a change in both words and music; ten wished to change only the music; four suggested new lyrics; and eight opposed any change. Three votes were cast for a new fight song

After a report from the Who's Who Committee, headed by Jeanie Tait, the Senate suggested to the administration that relations with that organization be severed. (See story elsewhere).

The revised changes in the by-laws of the Senate constitution were presented and adopted after

Move-Up Day Fri. Senate Installed

Friday, March 26, the traditional Move-Up Day ceremony will be held during the chapel period. At this time, the new class and club presidents are introduced, and the recently-elected Student Senate is installed.

Immediately following the recessional, the seniors and juniors will meet in front of Oller Hall in their resective groups and with their class ushers. They are to follow the ushers' instructions.

The sophomore class will meet with their ushers on the east side of Oller Hall, and the freshmen will meet on the west side with their class officers.

Analysis Of Joe College Made By Campus Co-ed

by Nan Heller

Remember the analysis of a college Co-ed which appeared in the Juniatian not too long ago? Well, you seemed to like it (fellows included, which surprised us!) so here's an attempt at a sequel.

Between the innocence of boyhood and the dignity of manhood a creature known as "Joe College" makes his appearance. Joe College's come in a wide assortment of sizes and shapes but all maintain the same creed: to avoid wives, work and washing.

Little boys abide by them; little girls get teased by them; older brothers and sisters brag about them; mothers practically worship them; and fathers don't begrudge sending them checks when the next door neighbor comments: "That boy of yours is quite the football star, I hear George."

The college guy is wisdom with a book under his arm; courage with a crew-cut; and the ideals of all mankind listening to an Eartha Kitt record.

Joe College likes spaghetti, football, little brothers and sisters, money from home, the Dodgers, sleeping-in, and dreams of a campus full of Marilyn Monroes and Joni James'. Among the peeves of this creature we find bed-making, tests, getting-up, wearing ties, cold showers, and girls' curfews.

Nobody else can grin like a six year old at a birthday party and captivate an eighteen year old woman of the world. Nobody else can accomplish so much with the wink of one eye. Nobody else can live in a house twenty years and while standing in front of the refrigerator ask Mom, "Gee, where do you keep the ice cubes?"

He realizes that women are the weaker sex, but is now old enough to observe that they are also shaplier.

You won't find him in the girls' dorm, but you'll hear his curly hair mentioned in the course of many discussions. You can try to act nonchalant and indifferent when he is walking toward you, but you can't stop your heart from beating just a little faster on the occasion. You often get angry with him, but your anger disintegrates when you see him playing ball with the seven year old down the street.

He's your hero, your knight in shining armor, your dream come true—an unshaven, boyish, freckled-faced leader of the future. But when your mailbox has been empty for four days, you get your lit exam back with a low grade, and you're about to write that letter saying, "Dear Mom, Can I come home?", he can elevate you to a world at an altitude of 3000 feet above heaven level by buzzing you on the phone an saying, "Hi, Doin' anything tonight?"

Success Of Radio Project Depends On Our Support

During this past week we have heard remarks from several students that the proposed campus radio will not last as a successful agent on College Hill. These pessimists voice the opinion that shortly afrer the project gets under way the student interest will drop off and the idea of a College radio station will pass into obscurity. Undoubtaby this is a sincere possibility for other colleges have had similar situations and the project has failed and even in the history of Juniata there are examples where student projects lasted only as long as divergent student interest was placed in their direction.

To these people there is only one answer. That is not one of past history or prospects of the future but simply, we, as the owners and operators of the radio must pledge and maintain our interest and support to the project. Certainly it will fail if our interest is not maintained but so will any other project that is built on a false foundation and then tumbles down with the first strong wind.

Totem-Inn succeeded as a co-operative project because of strong, well-founded planning and eventual cooperation between students and administration. Once again that type of cooperation is necessary but this time the emphasis lies with the students for the benefits once again will be for the student body. The four-fold program of student benefits seems from this corner to make the little effort required on our part very worthwhile.

A number of students have already volunteered their time to build the transmitter and other necessary equipment but the big job will be left to us. If Juniata is to have a radio station there must be a desire present on the part of the students and a willingness to help further the project.

Relations Broken With Who's Who

At its Wednesday meeting, the Senate voted to sever relations with Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. The action followed an investigation carried on by the Senate committee.

The main criticism directed against the organization is that it is a commercial venture of no value to the students named therein. The results of a Drexel survey revealed that of 60 business firms in the Philadelphia area, only two had ever heard of Who's Who, while Albright College emphasized its commercial aspect and the pressure applied to students and their families to make them buy pins and books.

The matter was first brought to the attention of the Senate by Dean James Penney who had attended a conference of deans at which time it was proposed that all the represented colleges sever relations. When Dean Penney presented his report, the Senate did not wish to break relations until sufficient evidence was obtained.

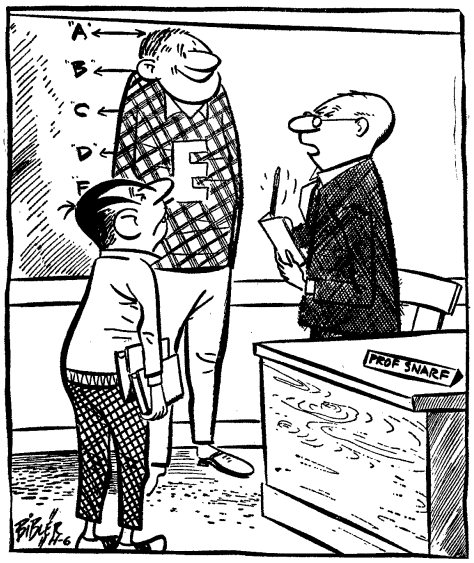
Two letters were written to H. P. Randall, editor, concerning the charges brought against his organization, which were never answered. In view of this, the Senate recommended to the administration that relations be severed.

The Juniatian

Entered as second class matter at the Huntingdon, Pa., post office, this is an independent undergraduate newspaper published weekly throughout the College year except during vacation and examination periods by the Students of Juniata College.

The Juniatian is serviced by Associated Collegiate Press and is represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS By BIBLER



"So I happen to enjoy basketball—What's that to do with the way I grade in this class?"

Intercollegiate Chatter

by Nancy Freed

A battle of the sexes has been carried on via letters on the McPherson campus. Seems the fellows feel the gals don't dress the part of ladies. Their constant apparel of blue-jeans makes for "blue"-Joes. The gals reply: "If the fellas don't treat us as ladies, why dress like one?" Better think fast, guys.

Only the one mile track star and the broad-jumper would be stafe at Bucknell, or Allegheny, or many other college campuses these days. Traditionally it appears to be "LEAP WEEK". JC gals play it smart... they choose to chase in mid-winter when the football heros have forgotten how to call the plays, and the track guys are so blue that they are anxious to be "tracked" down. The only guys buzzing around are the basketball players who can't do much against feminine opposition 'cause the gals can shoot the bull better than they can shoot the ball.

From the Albrightian come these fitting words for this chaotic mid-term week:

Frosh: What do you mean by slinging the bull?

Soph: To sling the bull is to prevent the professor from reading that you are saying nothing in a great many words.

Junior: To sling the bull is to say little in a great many words so as to give the impression that you are familiar with what the test is covering.

Senior: To sling the bull is to say as much as possible in well chosen words so as to convey the impression that you are familiar with the material that the examination is covering in spite of the fact that you have been unable to devote sufficient effort to study adequately an unduly difficult assignment.

College students are occasionally honest. The Bucknellian tells of a court scene which might hit home with a number of College Hill fellows. A judge said to an accused party, "I have here a report that coke, soda, and whiskey were found in your room. What do you make of that?" In perfect innocence, the accused replied, "Highballs, Sir".

Dormitory students at the University of Connecticut thought that there was too much noise in their building. So what did they do? They dynamited a water fountain to "counteract the noise". Thats like taking a shower with a raincoat on or getting a D in an elective course.

Prof. Lists Ten Ways Of Getting Excellent Grades

(ACP)—Following are 10 suggestions from Robert Tyson, of the Hunter College (New York) department of psychology and philosophy, on how to stay in college:

1. Bring the professor newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. Demonstrates feeling interest and gives him timely items to mention in class. If you can't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring in any clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.

2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelieveing and shake it.

3. Nod frequently and murmer, "Hoow true!" To you this seems exaggerated; to him, it's quite objective.

4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.) If you're going to all the trouble of making a good impression, you might as well let him know who you are, especially in a large class.

5. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell. If he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.

6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.

7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.

8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do math in psychology class and psychology in math class, match books for size and color.

9. Ask any questions you think he can answer. Conversely, avoid announcing that you have found the answer to a question he couldn't answer, and in your brother's second grade reader at that.

10. Call attention to his writing. Produces an exquisitely pleasant experience connected with you. If you know he's written a book or an article, ask in class if he wrote it.

As to whether or not you want to do some work in addition to all this, well it's controversial and up to the individual.

Russians Claim Invention Of 3-D Says Schoelkopf

All the papers we saw, from Pravda and Izvestia right on down to the smallest provincial papers, follow that same pattern. They issued once a day, and sell for 20 kopecs (five cents).
issued once a day, and sell for 20 kopecs (five cents).

We talked to seven newspaper editors during our trip, and found the most interesting one—and a typical Russian newsman—to be I. M. Malutin, editor of the Baku, Azerbaijan, Worker. The Worker has a circulation of 90,000 and a staff of 60 persons.

Editorials in the paper deal with "all questions of interest to the Soviet people," Malutin told us. He said the determined editorial policy, and with the rest of the Soviet press he is currently trying to "educate" readers into a friendly attitude toward the United States.

"You can't find a phrase in our papers against the American people," he said. "We are trying to help friendly relations between nations."

Malutin was bitterly critical of the American press. Since World War II, he said, the American press has reflected Soviet life non-objectively and has been full of different kinds of propaganda for war.

"I would like to read the American papers," he said, "but they reflect the USSR in unfriendly terms." We asked him how long it has been since he's seen an American newspaper or magazine, and he said three years.

How was he able to get accurate reports from the United States? The only fair accounts, he said, come from Howard Fast (winner of the Stalin Peace prize in 1953 and from Paul Robeson.

Other newspapermen we talked to were editors of youth newspapers. They all were chosen by the central committee of the party and then named their own staffs.

We asked them if their newspaper ever disagreed with any government decision. They said they never do because they trust their elected representatives to do the right thing.

At Moscow University we asked the editor of the student newspaper if he ever criticized the government editorially. He said he had never found a need for that. He said he did criticize professors and the ministry of culture, which runs the university.

The student editor—Ivaner Zaharov—looked about 35 years old. He said he was a post-graduate student in history, and had been elected editor for the last three years by a "conference of readers." He has been a member of the party since 1946.

There are 100 students on the staff, Zaharov said and the paper is issued twice a week.

When we were visiting dormitory rooms at Moscow University, we got our first good look at the one-knob radio set which is so common in Russia.

There is no need for more than one control on the radio because there is only one station to listen to—Radio Moscow. Other cities have their own smaller stations but only Radio Moscow is heard all over the Soviet Union. In some places it's almost impossible to get away from its voice. Loudspeakers on the street corners in the city blare forth its programs from the time it goes on the air—about 7 a. m.—until it goes off the air about 11 p. m.

Spring Sports Slates Show Slightly Shifted Schedules

A total of 41 events in four different sports will comprise Juniata's spring varsity calendar. Spring sports will be inaugurated on April 10 with a baseball game and tennis match with Elizabethtown away. First home event will be a track meet with Bridgewater on April 14.

Several schedule changes have been made since the slate was first released. The severing of athletic relations with Lebanon Valley has caused changes in both the track and baseball schedules. On the diamond the Tribe has picked up a home and home series with Lock Haven STC, while an away game with Shippensburg replaces an originally scheduled contest with St. Francis of Loretto which has dropped baseball.

The triangular meet which had been scheduled in track with Albright and Lebanon Valley at Albright will still be held, with St. Josephs running in place of the Valley.

Dates of events have also been changed in a number of contests in all sports. The revised spring sports schedules appear below:

Final Post Season IM Games Scheduled For Saturday Nite

The Men's Intramural Basketball Playoffs began on Monday night with four teams seeing action. The final game of the post-season tourney is scheduled to be played tomorrow night in the Memorial Gym.

In the first game played, the Maulers earned the right of playing in the semi-finals as they easily outdistanced the Cards by a 44-29 score. The Maulers jumped off to a 17-8 first quarter lead, and were never seriously threatened the rest of the game. The Cards showed some life in the third quarter as they outscored the Maulers 11-10, but they fell behind again in the final frame, 12-8. Gary Jackson lead the scoring arade for the winners as he netted a total of 12 points. Chuck Knox was high man for the Cards as he hooped 11 markers, followed by Dick Fusco with nine. Bill Yerzyk also bucketed 10 counters for the winners.

The fast moving Covites met the steady DHD's in the second contest, and after a slow start, the Covites came from behind to win, 69-58. The DHD's looked like the team to beat as they racked up a 18-11 first quarter edge. However, in the second frame the DHD's defense collapsed, and the Cove boys racked up a total of 21 markers to 10 for the eventual losers. In the second half the Covites were not to be denied. Although they were outscored in the final period 20-19, the Covers racked up an 18-10 third quarter lead which virtually put the game on ice.

Bob Motisher took scoring honors for the evening as he pumped in 15 field goals and two foul shots for a total of 32 points. Bob Gombos hooped 18 for the losers, and Neech followed him with 16, also for the losers. Neil Spangler followed Motisher in scoring for the Covites as he whipped the cords for a total of 13 counters.

WAA Competes In Four Events At Penn State

The Juniata Women's Athletic Association closed out their winter sports activity by traveling to Penn State University on Mar. 6 to compete in an intercollegiate women's play day.

The Juniata Fem's took part in four sports, which included basketball, bowling, badminton and swimming. They did not compete in modern dance. The basketball tournament and bowling competition were held early in the afternoon.

The WAA members of the basketball team included Janet Cline, Doreen Fyock, Kass Keeler, Charlotte Detwiler, Barb Swyers, Norma Hottle, Nancy Bachman, Jeannette Lowe, and Nancy Phillips. They appeared in two games, dropping the first one to the fem's of Lycoming 28-18, while downing the Mansfield STC team, 23-16. Members of the bowling team were Lee Englehart and Flo Wenzel.

Competing for the WAA in badminton were Barb Mauer, Lucille Frey, and Dotty Strickler, while Kay Bubeck, Kitty Underkoffler, and Sue Jamison took part in the swimming action.

Other schools taking part in the Play Day besides Juniata were Bucknell, Lycoming, Mansfield STC, Lock Haven STC, and Penn State University.

—LATE FLASH—

The Sunbrookers and McKees Creek took victories last night to qualify for the final round. The Brookers edged the Maulers 54-53 while the Creekers dumped the Covites 71-58.

Muir Team Captivates Local Audience During Visit To JC

by Marge Alleman

William and Emily Muir, an interesting husband and wife art team, presented a lecture-demonstration of their work in a special Oller Hall assembly Monday evening.

The couple, who captivated their audience of College and townspeople with their charming informality, explained some of the processes which are behind the creation of their art.

Emily Muir, working with the medium of oils, painted a picture, explaining some of the elements of composition, and demonstrating some of the features which give her work its specific personality. She believes that "anyone can cultivate a greater appreciation of his natural surroundings by learning to observe the manifestations of form, composition and color."

Any artistic expression, she maintains, adds up to something: "I'd not agree for a minute that you had better not paint at all unless you can paint well. It's much better to produce something than nothing. Any person's best is never worthless."

William Muir, a sculptor, displayed pictures of some of the plant forms from which his work derives its inspiration. "In the first place," he says, "You've got to keep a good supply of wood on hand. This keeps your mind open and lets it grope for the possibilities hidden in each piece."

He advocates cleaning the whole piece of wood by chiseling its surface so that its grain and also its limitations will be revealed. "I draw on the wood first with chalk," he continues, "to give me a rough idea of how the tool must be guided. I'd suggest that a beginner start with mahogany, because it will work easily with a hard chisel."

Mr. Muir states that sometimes he molds the form first in clay, so that he can easily arrange and rearrange his ideas before work on the wood. In addition to demonstrating the use of various tools on a piece which he was shaping, the sculptor explained how the woods should be polished, shellacked, or varnished to attain various finishes.

For two weeks preceding this two-day visit of the Muirs, an exhibition of sculpture, carvings and paintings by the husband and wife team was set up in the Juniata College Social Rooms. In addition to his sculpture, William Muir is also a water-colorist. A piece of sculpture by Emily Muir was also among the works exhibited.

The Muirs, who have year-round residence in Stonington, Maine, were brought to the Juniata campus March 11 and 12, under the auspices of the Association of American Colleges. Their visit was arranged through the Public Events Committee of the College, headed by Miss Esther M. Doyle.

Students To Do Recital Series

The first in a series of recitals, to be given in Swigart Hall, will be presented this Sunday, March 21, at 2:30 by both piano and voice students.

The participants for this week's program will be Sylvia Middlekauff, Lois Dunlap, Alice Mullin, John Corson, Laura Ziegler, Allegra Forney, and Lois Parker. The programs are free of charge, and eveyone is invited.

Just the ticket for spring vacation!

GO HOME BY TRAIN!

WHY INCH THROUGH HIGHWAY TRAFFIC or wait until skyway weather clears? Take a train home and keep that very first date for sure!

IT'S MORE FUN GOING with the crowd all together on the train. There's room for bridge or bull session. And, in the dining car, you can enjoy the next best to home cooking.

GO FOR 25% LESS than the regular coach fare by traveling home and back with two or more friends on Group Economy Plan Tickets. They're good on trips of 100 miles or more. Gather a group of 25 or more and you each save 28% riding long-distance on the same train, then returning as a group or individually.

Blood Mobile Here After Spring Recess

The Huntingdon Chapter of the American Red Cross has announced that there will be a Blood Mobile unit on campus April 7. Elizabeth Bell, the director of the local unit has expressed hope of collecting 200 pints during the one-day stay.

Student contributions are especially desired to make the collection a success. P. M. Snider reported that pledge blanks will be distributed after chapel Monday to be filled out by the students. As soon as they have been properly completed they should be turned into the Post Office where they will be directed to the proper channels.

Mr. Snider also pointed out that special forms are required for students under 18 years of age. These must be signed by their parents in order to give blood.

The seniors will then follow the Senate, proceeding to Founders' Porch and lining the front walk. After them will be the juniors, who will line the walk from Founders' Porch to Students' Hall.

Next the sophomores will line the diagonal, as the freshmen walk up that path, up the side steps of Founders' Porch and down the front steps.

The cheerleaders will conclude the program by leading the frosh in several cheers, followed by the singing of one verse of the Alma Mater.

The various class ushers are: freshman, Bob Hamm and Bernie Cohen; sohomores, Ron Dilling and Bob Ripper; juniors, Telford Knepper and Neil Spangler; and seniors, John Dale and Bob Flory. Head usher is Frank Harlacher.

It is important that the student body sit in their regular seats during the opening ceremony in Oller Hall, as attendance will be taken.

9 Seniors Vie For May Queen Elections Set For Wednesday

The Carnival Queen, Prince Charming, and the attendents who will reign over the May Day festivities will be elected Wednesday, April 14 by the student body. Polls will be open from 7:45 A. M. to 2 P. M. in front of Students Hall and from immediately after dinner to 7:15 P. M. in Totem Inn.

All students will vote for two senior girls and one senior boy who will serve as Queen, Maid of Honor and Prince Charming, respectively. In addition, students will cast their ballots for two attendents from their own class. They are asked to elect attendents who will complement each other.

Nine Seniors

Nine senior candidates are running for the coveted May crown. They are Peggy Brumbaugh, Louise Gehman, Nell Shoop James, Joyce Mullen, Nancy McCahan, Louise Neikirk, Anna Lee Over, Jeannie Tait, and Audrey Weber.

Competing for the Prince Charming are Ron Clapper, John Cook, John Dale, Bob Fahrney, Ben Newcomer, Bernie Petrusky, and Jim Pfitzinger.

Junior contenders are Jean Baker, Kay Bubeck, Donna Croft, Mary Kay Jackson, Doris Markey, Mikey Mick, Mim Myers, Phyl Natalie, and Joy Rinehart.

The sophomore attendents will be chosen from Mary Jane Bridenbaugh, Nancy Freed, Nan Heller, Jane Hoover, Nancy Knight, Elinor Pielstick, Ginny Roos, Sylvia Shuler, Maggie Simms, and Kitty Underkoffler.

Freshman candidates are Nancy Bachman, Judy Gearhart, Carol Jenkins, Rosalie Langer, Phyllis Marcocci, Barbara Maurer, Joan McClure, Peggy McDonald, Shirley McNitt and Joy Wenger.

Breakfast Planned

The Carnival Queen, Prince Charming and court will be revealed at the May Day breakfast Tuesday, April 20, at 7:30 A. M. The color scheme of the event will be red, yellow, green, and blue and the centerpieces and setting will be in keeping with the festive theme.

Following the breakfast, the girls will line the walk from the dining hall and a processional of the Queen and her court will take place.

Janet Claycomb, chairman, has plans well underway and expects a large turnout for the occasion and has already chosen her committee chairmen. Nan Heller is the assistant chairman with Sue Jamison, Kay Kellogg, and Nancy Freed acting as the chairmen of decorations.

Men students will eat at 6:30 A. M. on April 20.

The method of revealing the court will be kept secret until the morning breakfast. The winners will then be announced as part of the entertainment.

Students Named To Honor Society

President Calvert N. Ellis recently named ten students to the Juniata College Honor Society, highest academic organization on campus.

Four new members were added from the Class of '54: George F. Blechschmidt, Cressona; Benton Newcomer, Uniontown; Jeanie Tait, Roslyn; and Audrey Weber, Erie.

Juniors named to the honor group are: Lila L. Englehart, Lewistown; Margaret A. Hershey, Lititz; J. Scott Hommer, Jr., Tyrone; Richard M. Ikeda, Seabrook, N. J., and Joy Rinehart, Westminster, Md.

Naomi Kulp, Huntingdon; Robert Bridenbaugh, Martinsburg; and Wilfred Norris, Ambler, all seniors, were elected to the Society last spring.

Members of the sociey are chosen on the basis of scholastic achievement, broad cultural interest, and moral integrity.

McCahan Entered In Press Coed Contest

The Pittsburgh Press has announced the papers annual Tri-State Campus Cover Girl Contest will be conducted in the April 11 edition of the Sunday paper. The pictures of the representatives from the district candidates will be run in the Roto section along with the official ballot.

Nancy McCahan, Juniata's Homecoming Queen will be the representative from College Hill. The Juniatian urges all JC residents to cast a ballot for Miss McCahan.

John Peterson, Roto Editor on the Press has stressed the fact that only the official ballot found in the paper will be accepted as valid.

Snively, Smith Cop Top Prizes In GIQ Contest

The results of the General Information Contest, held on March 24, revealed the first prize winner to be Jeanne Snively, a junior, who scored 178 out of a possible 250 points. Coming in second was Bill Smith, a sophomore with a score of 160.

Miss Snively, an elementary education major hailing from Media, Pennsylvania, has competed in the contest for three years, this being her second year to win first prize. Jeanne is a member of the Masque and the IRC and has done art work for numerous college productions.

Smith, a native of Waynesboro, Pa., is majoring in history. This was the first year he entered the contest. His activities include IRC, the College band, and intramural basketball and softball. He is the recently-elected treasurer of the sophomore class.

Social Calendar Features JCA Dance

"Honor your partner" at the JCA square dance at 8:15 Saturday night. Professor Rockwell will be there to call out directions for the different square dances to set the atmosphere in the Women's Gym. Decorations will be in accordance with the barn dance theme.

JC Annual Communion An All-College Service

The annual All-College Communion service will be held on Thursday, April 15, at 9 p. m. in Oller Hall.

President Calvert N. Ellis will officiate, and several of the ministers of the faculty will participate. The service used is the modified form from the Amsterdam Conference held in 1948. This service has been in use for six years at the college.

The entire College community —students, faculty, and administration are invited to participate in the communion service.

Physics Teachers Will Hold Meet At Juniata

Area physics teachers gather at Juniata College today and tomorrow for the spring meeting of the Central Pennsylvania section of the American Association of Physics Teachers.

The group will hold a business session at 9:00 a. m. Saturday, at which time, Prof. Paul R. Yoder, assistant professor of physics at Juniata College, will be installed as president of the CPS-AAPT.

Four scientists will present papers at the meeting to be held Saturday morning at 10:00 a. m. Paul R. Yoder, Jr., Frankford Arsenal, Philadelphia will present "Analysis of Cassegrainian Type Telescopic Systems." John J. Heilemann, Ursinus College, Collegeville, will discuss "Motion Picture of a Diffusion-Type Cloud Chamber."

"Basic Physical Concepts of Nuclear Magnetic Resonance" is the subject to be dealt with by Dr. Edwin L. Hahn, Watson Scientific Laboratory, Columbia University. G. L. Brownell, Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, Mass., will deliver a paper on "The Use of Radioactive Materials in Biology and Medicine." Dorothy W. Weeks, professor and chairman of the physics department at Wilson College, will preside at this session.

Future meetings of the CPS-AAPT are tentatively scheduled for Swarthmore College in 1954, and Wilson College in 1955.

JC Will Promote Moliere's 'Miser'

Juniata College will sponsor the internationally famous Players Incorporated in a production of Moliere's rollicking comedy The Miser, on Friday, April 23, at 8:15 p. m. in Oller Hall.

Recognized as one of the funniest plays ever written, The Miser has been causing gales of laughter all over the world for more than three hundred years. Now, under the direction of Broadway's Alan Schneider, spectators of this classic will be guaranteed an evening of hilarity.

All members of Players Incorporated, international repertory company, are former students of the famed Speech and Drama Department of the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C. Now in their fifth season of nation-wide touring, the Players are recognized by drama critics throughout the country as one of the nation's outstanding repertory companies.

In each of the past four seasons, they have traveled approximately 32,000 miles through 30 states and Canada. Twice they toured the Far East War Zone at the invitation of the Department of Defense.

Throughout their seasons of acting, the enthusiastic receptions given them have proved their point—that classics, skillfully presented by a professional company, can be tremendously entertaining.

Ticket sales for this production will be sponsored by the Friends of the Huntingdon County Library for the benefit of the Library. Tickets will be available at Steele's Drug Store in downtown Huntingdon, or at the college Public Relations Office.

Class Dues Day

Dues for all classes will be collected on Wednesday, April 21.

Norman Thomas To Be Guest At JC; Will Deliver Address

Norman Thomas, well-known lecturer and forum speaker, will address an audience of faculty, students, and townspeople on Monday, April 12 at 9:45 a. m. in Oller Hall.

Norman Thomas
● Noted Lecturer ●

Speaking on the topic, "The Hope of Peace", Mr. Thomas will attempt to show the necessity of rapidly achieving a universal, fool-proof disarmament under a strengthened United Nations, and an effective cooperative war against the world's poverty and hunger.

Presidential Candidate

Mr. Thomas, who has been the Socialist candidate for the presidency of the United States six times, has been successively a social worker, pastor, editor, Executive Director of the League for Industrial Democracy, and Chairman of the Post World War Council.

He is a graduate of Princeton University and Union Theological Seminary. Princeton has also bestowed on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters. He has been praised as one of the world's most effective and ardent exposers of Soviet Russia.

Clendenin Award

In the spring of 1951, Mr. Thomas received the Clendenin Award for conspicuous service to labor and minority groups. On that occasion, the Washington Post said editorially:

"The whole of his public career has been a justification of this honor. He has always fought for human dignity and equality of opportunity and freedom of expression for minority points of views essentially conservative political ideas in America, however radical his economic doctrines may have seemed."

Noted Author

Mr. Thomas is the author of many books, including America's Way Out, Human Exploitation, What is Our Destiny, and A Socialist's Faith. He writes a weekly column for the Call and is one of the most frequent participants in radio forums.

This special assembly at Juniata College is the last in the 1953-54 series arranged by the Public Events Committee. The public is invited to attend this program which will last for approximately one hour, beginning at 9:45 a. m.

Devotions Friday In Stone Church

Special church services for the Holy Week have been arranged for next week according to reports from campus religious life leaders. An All-College Communion will be held Thursday at 9 p. m. and the schedule has been changed for Friday in order to permit attendance at Good Friday services.

Good Friday services will be held in the Lutheran, Episcopalian and Catholic Churches in downtown Huntingdon from 12 noon until 3 p. m. It is noted that worshippers may participate in portions of these services if unable to remain for the entire session.

The Cross and Resurrection are the themes of a special morning devotional service to be held in the Stone Church Friday, April 16. The entire college community is invited to spend some time in God's house on this meaningful Holy Day.

The oppprtunity will be provided in this way: from 7:30 to 7:55 a period of directed prayer and meditation, quiet time, and sacred music will be held. Then an interlude of organ music will enable those who must leave to do so.

Following this, from 7:55 to 8:55 Mr. Padgett will present a dramatic portrayal of what might have transpired in the life of Christ and the lives of His disciples during this Crucifixion and Resurrection time.

Vocalists Needed For Commencement

Volunteer singers are needed for a Commencement Chorus. This chorus will sing a group of five Choral numbers on Sunday evening, June 6. These numbers will include Franck's Psalm 150 and Schubert's Omnipotence.

Campus student singers and faculty members will join with the Juniata College Choir and the Chapel Choir for the annual musical event at Juniata College.

Those interested should report to Prof. Johnson and Miss Pfotenhauer at the first weekly rehearsal, this coming Monday, April 12 at 7:15 p. m. in Oller Hall.

History Of Juniata Valley Topic Of Stackpole Contest

In 1929 the late Dr. E. J. Stackpole, former editor of the Harrisburg Telegraph, initiated the Stackpole History Contest. He made available a prize of $25 to the Juniata student who submits the most important literary contribution to the history of the Juniata Valley. This contest has become an annual event at the College.

The entrant may write on any subject which pertains to the history of the Juniata Valley, providing that the subject is approved by the head of the history department of the College. The Valley includes all the territory drained by the Juniata River and its tributaries.

The length of the manuscript is not limited; however, it must represent a specific study entailing something more significant than mere descriptions or generalizations. Work will be judged on the basis of:

1. Logical arrangement of materials such as table of contents and bibliography.
2. Relevant facts.
3. Diagrams or pictures.
4. Paragraphing, spelling, diction.
5. Proportion of subject.

Old records and personal interviews may be used as sources of information. Three final entries must be submitted; one goes to the donor, another to the college Library, and a third for the student's own personal collection.

The Stackpole Prize has not been awarded since 1949, when Joy Delores Douglas won with her entry on the subject, "The Geology of Huntingdon County".

Further information may be obtained from members of the history department and from the special display in the Library.

Propaganda—Friend Or Foe

The forthcoming Geneva conference has been the subject of verbal tirades the world over during the past few weeks and the varying predictions of the impending results present a cross-section of opinions on the possibilities of peace in the years to come. Tremendous strides will have to be taken in the next few years between the nations of the world as they attempt to correlate a formula for peace.

A great deal of pressure will be placed on the diplomats from the United States as well as representatives from other nations. The steps they take, under the guidance of the leaders of the respective countries will help to determine the future of most of the present college students in America.

The implication of the hydrogen bomb that seems to hang like a dark cloud over any talk of peace tends to break down any heavy barrier of speech and puts the problem of world peace squarely in the laps of the national leaders today. It has come to the point where it is a contest between what we have and what lies behind the iron curtain.

Many people like to speculate concerning the Russian possession of a hydrogen bomb and their ability to step ahead of us in the thermo-neuclear field. Their speculations rank high in our estimates of wasted time and nonsensicable ramblings of men that delight in spreading the fear that they themselves feel in their incompentency.

If the Russians do have the hydrogen bomb there is nothing that we can do to take it away from them while we are frantically racing to build up bigger and better items of destruction ourselves. Our actions as a nation show that we fear the threat of a Russian aggressive action and theirs in turn tip the feelings of their people to one of fearful regard for the actions of the American people.

During the past week we noticed a spot filler on television urging Americans to support their civil defense and take the job as 'bird watcher' at their local plane observation post. With the present situation existing as it is the need is evident for a competent civil defense program but there was one statement tacked on the end of the announcement that really portrays the danger that we face today. "The Russians have 1,000 planes than can drop atomic bombs any place in the United States at any time."

Although it undoubtably serves as a stimulus for recruiting spotters, that sentence alone points out the thoughts of millions of Americans who anticipate an attack at any minute —and the would be assailant— Russia. This stigma of holding Russia as the prime and foremost disrupter of peace in the world definitely does not help to forward plans for a united world in peaceful society. It is the type of explosive situation that must exist in Russia at the same time for they have been subject to a program of mass indoctrination against the people of the United States. We must face the facts and realize that we are in a period of indoctrination that nearly rivals that of Russia.

This two-camp outlining of a world consisting of over 50 nations can only lead to stronger positions being obtained and maintained by the respective groups. It shows the mannerisms of two neighboring bullys meeting in a back alley and antagonising each other to the place where any attempt to avert a showdown on the part of the one combatant will cause him to loose face in the eyes of his backers.

An explosive situation is reached and only a broken and bloodied body will ease the tension. This is exactly the position we seem to be fortifying ourself in today and the results, although by no means inevitable are beginning to show themselves as outlines of unmistakeable charity.

This is the type of situation we face in the world today and it will be our problem to cope with it in the future. Whether our diplomats can endeavor to stress more common working between nations or revert to an arms race between nations will dictate the future of peaceful people in the United States and the world over.

Accent On Reading

THE OPERA READER, by L. L. Biancolli. This volume is intended especially for non-professional music lovers. For each of the ninety operas by thirty-nine composers the author includes: name and biography of the composer, original and translated title, description and synopsis of the opera, date and place of the first performance and of the American premiere, and a background essay giving a history of its presentation and of great names associated with its productions.

CAVALCADE OF COMEDY, edited by Louis Kroneberger. A collection of twenty-one brilliant comedies from Jonson and Wycherly to Thurber and Coward and one for the general reader rather than the student who demands historical background. It is a treasury of certain comedies from British and American works, some of which have never appeared in drama anthologies.

DUO-PIANISM, by Hans Moldenhauer. Here is the first available investigation of two piano music as an independent ensemble art. The book provides excellent background material for courses in piano ensemble as well as delightful reading for every music lover.

THE CONQUEST OF EVEREST, by John Hunt. The leader of the British group that attacked Mt. Everest in May 1953 recounts with care the meticulous planning and preparation and the progress of the expedition in its successful ascent. He pays special tribute to the men who worked together so well and to the contributions of all previous expeditions. Both Hunt and Hillary, who describes the reaching of the summit, make the reader share the exertion, tenseness, monotony, anxiety, and final joy. Appendices give technical information on equipment.

Fate of Campus Radio Discussed By Senate

The newly elected 1954-55 Senate officially inaugurated their term in office at the weekly meeting last Wednesday. The fate of the proposed College radio station, recommendations for changes in athletic awards for spring sports, action on the student committee for Totem-Inn, election of the Chairman of religious activities, approval of the underclass committee and the future appointment of a dining hall announcer were featured on a full agenda.

The action taken Wednesday night by the Senate coupled with the action taken at the March 25 meeting of the joint Senates produce a plan of future activities regarding the campus radio station. A report received from Bob Bridenbaugh revealed that the administration will be unable to finance the student led venture but it was pointed out in the report that the way was left open to sponsor a student fund raising campaign.

A committee was then appointed under Chairman Joe Hinish to immediately begin work to raise the necessary money for construction and operation of the station. Bridenbaugh's report also pointed out that the site will be available in Student's Hall to house the station and providing it is successfully put in operation in future years an allotment will be directed to the radio from the activities fee.

A report by Joe Hinish given at the March 25 meeting on the system for awarding spring sport awards was acted upon by the Senate. The group proposed changes in the requirements for athletic awards as follows; tennis letters should be awarded to those winning three matches not including a double match, or participating in all matches, win or lose. Track awards should be made to those with an average of two points per dual meet or breaking a school record in any event.

Definite action in appointing the two non-Senate members to the Totem-Inn subcommittee was postponed until next week.

A special election for chairman of religious activities will be held the same day as May Queen balloting. Petitions are available now from Joe Hinish for interested candidates.

Remle Grove submitted the underclass committee for 1954-55. The approved group includes Larry Cape, Bill West, Sonny Kaylor, Betty Beatty, Eleanor Pielstick, Alma Skinner, Bill Dilling, Harold Gray, Russ Hill, Bill Bransworth, Doris Wilson, Pat Henry, Irene Davis, and Joann Feight.

Action will be taken during the week on the selections of a dining hall announcer.

The Juniatian

Entered as second class matter at the Huntingdon, Pa., post office, this is an independent undergraduate newspaper published weekly throughout the College year except during vacation and examination periods by the Students of Juniata College.

The Juniatian is serviced by Associated Collegiate Press and is represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service.

Intercollegiate Chatter

Seems that at the April meeting of the Susquehanna Student Council the matter of giving up three meals a day for four weeks to the SFSB (Society for the Feeding of Starving Birds) was first on the agenda. Perhaps the new senate should take the matter under consideration seeing as everyone on campus is always "having a bird" and most of the kids consider everyone else as "starving".

The students at La Verne College take one day off each spring to give the campus a house-cleaning. Under a systematic set-up the windows are washed, the furniture polished, the shrubbery trimmed, the lawns rolled, etc. Doesn't it seem like a worth-while project? After all one should take pride in the appearance of his college and learn more in four years than merely how to be a "bookworm".

Campus Times' reporter Cal Crust, a library addict, has reached the conclusion that the chances to study in a college library are nil while the possibilities for excitement are unlimited. Where else can one tantalize a gal by takng her shoes, disturb so many people by rolling pennies down the cracks in the floor, or learn all the latest gossip? The most diverting factor, however, Cal thinks are shoes—"squeakers" and "clickers". Says he, "It's a pity that those who insist on wearing shoes can't learn to walk on their hands, but then the girls would have to wear "jeans" or the purpose would defeat it's own end."

This quip seems particularly significant as the seniors begin studying for their comprehensives. "College is about like a laundry—you get out of it just what you put into it, but you'd never recoginze it."

Tennis Begins With E-town Away Tomorrow

Juniata's tennis team opens its 1954 season at Elizabethtown College Saturday afternoon where it meets a strong Elizabethtown six. Juniata's net men will be out to avenge a 5-4 defeat suffered on the E-town campus last year.

The Indian tennis team is run on the challenge system with the top six men surviving their challenge matches playing the following game. If a player is not in the top six he may challenge any of the men holding up to three notches above him. If, however, he is included in the top six he may vie for only one or two positions above him. The contests with other schools consist of six single matches and three doubles the winner taking best of nine.

The top six men on the ladder and the ones that will represent J. C. on Saturday are: Don Raffensperger, Ray Pfrogner, Paul Gingrich, Dick Fusco, Chuck Gross and Dick Barefoot. Fusco, Pfrogner and Raffensperger are letter winners from last year's team, which compiled a record of three wins and three losses on the season.

Others out for varsity tennis are Paul Heart and Larry Cape, sophomores and two promising freshman candidates: Don Ruhl and John Millar.

—LATE FLASH—

Joe Trimber and Al Nyce paced the sophomore class to a win in the annual interclass track meet held yesterday afternoon on College Field. The two collected 15 points apiece for a big chunk of the 51 points amassed by the sophomores.

The junior class took second place with the freshman gathering enough points to edge out the senior class. Gene Rothenberger took the individual honors for the meet as he collected 24 points.

Two From JC Named To All-Opponent Team

Two Juniata cagers have been voted among the top ten in an all-opponent poll conducted by Coach Regis (Pock) McKnights' Indiana State Teachers College varsity basketbal squad.

A player got two votes for a first team berth and one for a second team pick. Twelve players voted. Geneva's Bill Blair was chosen for the first team on every ballot to receive a maximum ossible total of 24 points.

Also named to the first five was Jake Handzelek of the Tribe who collected a total of 19 points. Big Walt Vanderbush, also of Juniata, rounded out the second team choices with ten points.

Others chosen on the first team along with Blair and Handzelek were Tom Beck of Slippery Rock, Howie Stewart of Geneva and Bob Camel of Grove City.

In addition to Vanderbush, the second team consisted of Tom Ithen of Slippery Rock, Ken Wookeshick and Stan Yukica, both of Geneva, and Bob Reese of Shippensburg.

Bridgewater Meet To Open '54 Track Slate; JC Seeks Upset

The 1954 track team under the direction of Coach Mike Snider will open their spring campaign Wednesday, April 15 when they host Bridgewater College of Virginia. Last season the Virginians dropped the Indians 82½ to 43½ on the home track.

The backbone of the team will be made up of lettermen Bob Flory, Gene Rothenberger, Joe Trimber, Al Nyce, Don Davis, Pat Tarquinio, and Lowell Hackman. Flory, a senior from Waynesboro is a three letter winner who runs both the mile and two mile.

Rothenberger hails from Boyertown and is a junior. He participates in the hurdles and the broad jump, and led the squad in total points scored last season. Hackman is a senior and is the teams high jumper.

Trimber, Davis, and Tarquinio are all sophomores and constitute the Indians dash men. Nyce also a sophomore, competes in the discus and shot put for the Tribe.

Coach Snider has indicated that their are some promising freshmen competing for berths on the squad, and he is hopeful that they will add more strength to the team.

Wareham Still A Scoring Ace

Dick Wareham, the former Juniata College basketball ace still seems to have the knack racking up points. As a member of the faculty team in the McPherson College (Kansas) intramural loop he carried off season scoring records with an average of 16 points per game.

At present he holds the position of baseball coach at the mid-west school. Compiling a favorable winning record last year he enters the 1954 season with a promising, veteran studded lineup.

Juniata Faces E-town In Baseball Inaugural

Eight lettermen provide the nucleus for Juniata College's baseball team as it prepares for a 15-game schedule in Dr. T. Arnold Greene's first season as coach. Pitching will be the big question mark when the season opens tomorrow at Elizabethtown.

Coach Greene has been experimenting freely with his squad in an effort to find a combination that will be able to match or excell last year's 9-6 record.

Of the eight returning lettermen, sophomore John Criswell is the only pitcher. Heading this contingent of holdovers is Don Pheasant, sophomore catcher, who led the team in batting last year with a .322 average and 14 runs batted in. A trio of outfielders Joe Hinish, Tom McNeal, and Fran Zimmerman, who hit .320, and three infielders; second baseman Ken Leonard, shortstop Lee Hallman, and third baseman Jake Handzelek round out the returnees.

Coach Greene must pin his hopes for a strong mound staff on a freshman and a converted infielder. Ferrill "Lefty" Alderfer from Souderton, is the frosh southpaw who promises to be a capable replacement for last year's ace, Dave LeFevre. A successful season, however, may hinge on the ability of third-sacker Handzelek to make the grade on the mound. Jake has shown a lot of speed and may possibly pitch the opening game. Rounding out the pitching staff are Neil Spangler, from last year's squad, freshman Jim Geary, and relief man Joe Hinish.

The tentative lineup for tomorrow's game looks this way. Jack Golden, sophomore holdover, at first base; Leonard, ace lead-off man, at second; Hallman at short; Handzelek or Bernie Oriss at third; Hinish, Zimmerman, and Barry Drexler or Bud Douds in the outfield; Pheasant catching, and Handzelek or Alderfer pitching.

Rounding out the 22 man squad are freshman catcher Max Ardary and infielders Walt Vanderbush, Fred Crum, John McNeal, Harry Musselman, and John Staley.

The schedule includes nine home and six away contests. The schedule for the College Field is as follows: April 21, Elizabethtown: April 28, Bucknell; May 1, Lycoming; May 5, Susquehanna; May 8, Pitt; May 10, Indiana STC; May 19, Lock Haven STC; May 22, Dickinson; and June 5, Alumni.

Softball Highlights Spring Intramurals; League Is Formed

The Men's Intramural Softball League will begin play this afternoon with a total of three games on tap. This year there are 11 teams competing for the I. M. pennant. The game will be played this afternoon on the hockey field diamond, the football practice field, and the Sherwood diamond. Game time is 4 P. M.

Chairman of Athletics Dick Godshall also announced that the following rules would be in effect during the season.

1. A two dollar equipment deposit is required from each team manager before any equipment will be issued to the squad.

2. Regulation games will be seven innings. Games may be called at the end of four and one-half innings at the discretion of the umpire. The last team on the schedule is the home team.

3. Games will start at 4 P. M. until April 26 when games will start at 6:45 P. M., unless scheduled an afternoon game. A forfeit may be claimed if the opposing team fails to field seven or more players within 15 minutes of starting time.

4. Managers should determine ground rules and choose officials prior to each game. It is preferable for the home team to furnish the ball and strike umpire.

5. Protested games must be made in writing to the Chairman of Athletics not later than 24 hours succeeding the game.

6. Arrangements for the use of the fields for unscheduled games must be made through the Chairman of Athletics.

7. A schedule of postponed games will be made up as soon as possible. A game will be considered legally postponed only because of wet grounds or weather conditions. Postponment will be announced at the noon meal.

8. Three forfeits will cause a team to be dropped from the league.

9. Results of games MUST be submitted to Dick Godshall not later than the day succeeding the game.

Registrar Announces JC Policy On Transferring Summer Credits

Students at Juniata College who take work at other accredited collegiate institutions during Summer Sessions or regular terms will be allowed to transfer credit under the same ruling now in effect for students admitted with advanced standing. This procedure will be effective beginning with Summer Term 1954.

This regulation states: "Credit-hours accepted on transfer from another collegiate institution are assigned quantitative values only. Grades are not transferred; only credit in the courses is recorded."

Students may be granted permission to take courses at other colleges through the Office of the Registrar.

Credits will be awarded for such work provided the grades earned are higher than the lowest passing grade and the work is equivalent or similar to courses offered at Juniata.

Transfer credit is not computed in the all-college average. However, in order to insure a balance of credit-hours and quality points, as required for graduation, the college will record quality points equal to credit hours transferred in the student's summary.

Bloodmobile Visits Juniata On Wed.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile visited the Juniata campus on Wednesday, April 7. A large number of volunteer donors from the JC student body contributed their pint of blood, from the opening of the Bloodmobile at 12 noon to its closing of operations at 6 p. m.

The process employed by the Bloodmobile begins with registration of the donor. After this the pulse, temperature, and weight of each donor are recorded and a hemoglobin test is administered to sample iron in the blood.

Fruit juice is given to all donors, after which the pint of blood is extracted in a period of from 5 to 10 minutes. After the blood has been taken each donor is given a sandwich in the canteen.

Liberace, Prof. Named 2 Posts By Students

It's oft been said that it's better to guess than to leave a blank on an examination paper. Apparently a few of the contestants applied this rule when taking the General Information Contest. Some of their "stabs in the dark" were undoubtedly correct; others proved quite humorous. Below are bits of unusual information gleaned from the contest answer sheets.

1. What Metropolitan Opera singer recently left the Diamond Horseshoe for the dimly lit night clubs? Lillian Russell

2. On Dasher, on Dancer, on Prancer, and _____. (Nixon)

3. Hope is running high over the nationwide tests on the new anti-polio serum ... (hemoglobin)

4. The Secretary of Internal Affairs for the state of Pennsylvania is a Juniata graduate. His name is _____. (Brumbaugh)

5. Once upon a time there were four little rabbits and their names were Flopsy, Mopsy, _____ and _____. (Wopsy and Topsy)

6. Who is the present mayor of Huntingdon? (Dr. Henry)

7. What famous historical character did Niall McGinnis recently portray on the screen? Elizabeth

8. Identify Naathan Pusey. Newly elected leader of Africa.

9. Who was the founder of Huntingdon. Some Indian.

10. Who conducts the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra? Liberace

Carl Myers To Appear At Wed. Chapel

On Monday, April 12, there will be a special extended program given during the chapel period featuring Norman Thomas, who will talk on public events.

Wednesday, the Reverend Carl Myers from Roaring Spring will speak. His message will be in preparation for the All College Communion to be held on Thursday evening.

This Friday there will be no chapel in view of the special services held downtown. The College will be on Saturday's schedule, the first afternoon class beginning at 2:45 P. M.

1954 Choir Album In College Bookstore

The Juniata College Choir Albums are now available in the College Bookstore for $4.75 each. The recordings are on a 33 1/3 L. P. record.

The following numbers are included: Juniata College Alma Mater, Common Bill, Two Sonatas (Ensemble), Selections from The Gondoliers, Praise to the Lord, My Voice Shalt Thou Hear, Sicilian Mariner's Hymn, He's Got the Whole World in His Hand, and Once To Every Man and Nation.

Dick Bowker Earns Navy Commission

The U. S. Naval Officer Candidate School at Newport, Rhode Island, reports that Richard T. Bowker, a 1953 graduate of Juniata, was included among the group of 700 Reserve Officers who were commissioned Ensigns of the Line at graduation ceremonies on April 2.

Bowker, a native of Glen Ridge, New Jersey, majored in Business Administration here and was awarded a B. S. degree last June.

On The Club Scene

With the newly elected officers presiding at this week's meetings the clubs swing back into action following the spring recess.

AMBASSADOR'S REPORT, by Chester Bowles. After eighteen months as the United States ambassador to India Mr. Bowles writes an informal, thoughtful report on conditions in India and his efforts to bring about a better understanding of the United States in Asia. He gives a readable, informative summary of conditions in Asia that Americans should understand in order to establish good political and cultural relations between the United States and the countries of the East.

WHAT SHALL I READ NEXT? This is a critically annotated guide to almost 2000 British and Amercian books published since 1500 in autobiograhy, biography, belles letters, the short story, the novel, history, philosophy, religion, poetry, drama, and travel. The compiler, a British librarian, selects what he considers to be the most important books of the present century.

Debate Club

The new officers were chosen at the last meeting. They are Clint Betz, president and Klare Sunderland, manager. On April 26 the Debate Club members and their advisor, Miss Dickey, will travel to Penn State.

Sigma Gamma

Trial comprehensives were given April 8 with Joyce Mullan and Dagmar Silldorff as the students and Dr. Henry, Mr. Kimbrough, and Dean Penney as the professors on the comprehensive board. The questions asked pertained to the fields of sociology and psychology.

JCA

The regular Tuesday evening meeting will be dispensed with, and in its place an Easter morning sunrise service will be held from 7:15 to 7:45 a. m. Little Round Top will be the scene of this worship program. All students are invited to attend.

WAA

There was an executive meeting of the WAA on April 7 to lay the initial plans for the Club's new constitution. Also the regular meeting was presided over by Doreen Fyock on April 8, when arrangements were made for the annual J Club-WAA picnic.

Queen Will Be Revealed During May Day Carnival

After the voting at the polls on Wednesday for the May Queen and her court, everyone on campus is asking the same question. "Who will be the queen be?" They will receive their answer on April 20 when, at the annual May Day Breakfast, the Queen, Prince Charming, and the maid of honor, (all seniors) and two attendants from each class will be revealed.

The theme of this festive occasion is going to be a carnival with circus colors, plus individual favors, programs, and table centerpieces adding a new sparkle to the college dining hall.

While balloon vendors sell their wares, entertainment will be provided by Dottie Strickler, who will do a clown dance and the Girl's Trio made up of Allegra Forney, Doris Markey, and Jean Baker, who will sing several selections befitting the occasion.

The boys will eat in the dining hall at 6:30. A few minutes before 7:30, girls, decked in summer cottons, will gather in the social rooms where they will meet the faculty member who is to sit at their table. Then the faculty members, accompanied by their table members, will go to a very extra-ordinary breakfast.

Co-chairman of the May Day Breakfast are Nan Heller and Janet Claycomb. Committee heads are Sue Jamison—table decorations, Kay Kellogg—programs, and Nancy Freed—court decorations.

Juniata Prof. Is Chosen Association's New Head

The Central Pennsylvania Section of the American Association of Physics Teachers installed Prof. Paul R. Yoder as president. The assistant professor of physics at JC took office last Saturday morning during the business session of the group.

Prof. Paul Yoder

• AAPT President •

Prof. Yoder moved into this new position automatically after serving for the past year as vice president of the association.

He is a graduate of McPherson College in 1921 and received his master of arts degree from the University of Kansas in 1922. He has also done additional graduate study work at Ohio State University, Johns Hopkins University and the Pennsylvania State University.

Before he began his work at Juniata he taught mathematics and physics at Blue Ridge College. He joined the Juniata faculty in 1926.

Prof. Yoder is also an ordained Church of the Brethren minister and at present serves as part time pastor of the Williamsburg congregation.

Chapel Speakers Named For Week

Dean Morley Mays will speak in chapel on Monday morning, when Founder's Day will be celebrated. On Wednesday the Senate is in charge of planting two Japanese cherry trees, which have been presented to Juniata, and the A Cappella Choir is scheduled to sing on Friday.

Dr. Hartzler Speaks For N. J. Convention

Dr. Eva Hartzler, assistant professor of chemistry at Juniata, has been lecturing this week at the convention of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology in Atlantic City, N. J. Dr. Hartzler is connected with the divisions of the federation concerned with nutrition and with bio-chemistry.

Ark. Representative At Sub-Frosh Conf.

The next to the last Sub-Freshmen weekend is scheduled for this weekend, April 17 and 18. Thirty-five high school students from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Arkansas are expected to arrive on campus Saturday.

The schedule will be much the same as on previous weekends. The students will have an opportunity to visit classes and talk to the students and professors in their fields of interest. They will eat in the College dining hall and attend the movie, Bright Victory, Saturday evening. On Sunday each student will attend Easter services at the church of his choice and then eat dinner here at College.

These high school students deeply appreciate the courtesy and friendliness displayed on our campus.

Totem-Inn Members, Social Committee Approved By Senate

Approval of the social committee, appointment of non-Senate members to the Totem-Inn Committee, recommendation of a revised award system and radio report highlighted the action taken at Senate meeting Wednesday evening.

Nancy Freed, chairman of social activities presented the 1954-1955 social committee for Senate approval. The group will consist of Judy Gearhart, Joan McClure, Jeannette Lowe, Rosalar Langer, Peg McDonald, Les Querry, Ed Riley, Willie Newman, Bernie Cohen and Clint Betz all freshmen. The sophomore representatives are Kay Kellogg, Carol Abrahamson, Norma Cale, Sylvia Peterson, Melba Smith, Barbara Phennicie, Mimie Lehman, Harry Garber, Larry Cape, Jerry Richards, Jim Beckley and Sonny Kaylor. Allegra Forney and Kaydonna Bubeck will represent next year's seniors.

Sylvia Peterson and Jim Boulton were appointed to fill the two non-Senate positions on the Totem-Inn Subcommittee. They will assist the three Senate members in correlating the student interests in Totem-Inn management.

A report from the Chairman of athletics was passed on to the Athletic Council with a recommendation for approval, revising the awarding of spring sport letters. Members of the golf and tennis teams must win two matches or participate in one-half the matches while a track man must garner two points per dual meet or 10 points per season.

Reports were also received from the treasurer on the Senate financial standing and from Jim Hunt concerning the proposed radio. Further action will be taken next week on the radio following the favorable results to Wednesday's vote.

Student Entertainers Visit Veterans Hospital

On April 10 a group of talented Juniata students paid a second visit to the Altoona Veteran's Hospital. The veterans had enthusiastically received these students on their first visit, and invited them to return.

Those going along on the trip were Jean Baker, Allegra Forney, and Doris Markey, trio, with their accompanist Nancy Rosenberger; "BonBon" Barboni, trombonist; Jean Baker, soloist; Janice Mertz, baton twirler; and Jean Baker and Dick Livingston, who sang a duet.

Misses Mary Jo Pfotenhauer and Esther M. Doyle are faculty advisors and Doris Wilson is the student coordinator.

Students from Penn State and Indiana State Teachers College have also presented programs at the hospital. The veterans seem to appreciate this amateur talent more than the professionals who are brought in.

The entertainers enjoy giving these shows. It gives them a happy feeling to know they are doing something for those who really deserve it.

It is planned to make these programs a monthly event next year at Juniata. Due to an already full schedule, there will be no more presented this year. This entertainment is sponsored by the American Legion.

Omission Corrected

In the April 9 issue of The Juniatian, John H. Martin was erroneously omitted from the list of newly-elected Honor Society members. The editors regret this mistake.

Two Cherry Trees Presented To JC

Helen Stutzman, Chairman of the recent JWSF Drive, has announced that Juniata College will plant two cherry trees in Sherwood Forest Wednesday, April 21. These trees were received from the I. C. U. in return for the 1953-54 contributions made through the JWSF.

These exotic trees, commonly known as the Japanese cherry, will be noticed on scores of college campuses this year. They will stand as symbols of Christian co-operation between the students in America and students in Japan.

Miller Originates Idea

The idea of the cherry gifts was originated by Miss Ruth Miller, Administrative Secretary of the Japan International Christian Foundation here; it was begun in the academic year 1952-53.

When members of the Student Association of the Protestant Episcopal Church planted a Japanese cherry tree last fall in Greenwich, Connecticut, one of their executives wrote:

"Somehow the actual process of planting the tree seemed to bring home to all the students there the fact that we had a real connection with the ICU."

Arizona College Student Speaks

Another student leader at Arizona State College in Tempe added:

"We are most happy to report that our new cherry tree presented to our campus as an expression of appreciation and world friendship branches from every angle. It is the pride of our campus."

For each gift of $250 for the maintenance, development or endowment of the graduate-level institution near Tokyo, the contributing church or organization will receive a Japanese cherry tree as a token of appreciation.

In a personal message to every contributor Dr. Hackiro Yuasa, ICU President, states:

"...Your magnanimous gift is the most creative investment in the future leadership for Japan in the cause of peace and democracy. May the cherry tree speak its message of peace, beauty, and friendship from year to year to successive generations..."

Juniata Goal Nears Fulfillment

The 1954 goal of $1954 will be reached at Juniata as soon as some outstanding pledges are paid. A final report on the drive will then be given.

Class Dues Day

Class dues will be collected Wednesday, April 21. This will be the collection for all four classes.

JCA's Service Reveals Easter's Real Meaning

Chocolate bunnies, colored eggs, and brand new hats—is this Easter? Is it these material substances with which we connect it or is it more? We know the answer to this interrogation is "more", yet how many of us celebrate it as though it were?

We complain because we have no Easter vacation. Some of us say we would like to go to our own church at home—yet of those who do not go home, how many will attend the services provided on our campus such as the JCA sunrise service?

No, it's not "sissyish" to attend these. It reveals the maturity of an individual to discard the old infantile symbols of Easter and recognize the true meaning. Let's not have an Easter egg-hunt. Let's go to Little Round-Top and search for the real meaning of Easter.

Dance Follows Saturday Movie

This coming Saturday night at Oller Hall, the popular movie: 'Bright Victory" will be shown. It is the story of a veteran blinded by the war, and his struggle to return to normal life.

The movie will begin promptly at 8:15 P. M., and a dance in the Women's Gym afterward will complete the evening's entertainment.

Leading Director On Campus Group To Present 'The Miser'

Alan Schneider, director of the current Broadway hit, The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker will direct the Players Incorporated in their production of The Miser by the master of French comedy, Moliere, to be staged Friday, April 23 at 8:15 p. m. in Oller Hall.

Dividing his time between Washington and New York since 1939, when he was affiliated with the Washington Civic Theater, Mr. Schneider was one of the founding members of New Stages, and has long been associated with Eliz Kazan and others in the Actors Studio. His first assignment for Players Incorporated was the company's production of Macbeth in the 1950-51 season.

Theatrical Scholar

A theatrical scholar as well as practitioner, Mr. Schneider holds degrees from the University of Wisconsin and Cornell University. From 1941 to 1952 he served on the faculty of the famous Catholic University Speech and Drama Department in Washington, D. C. In 1949 he traveled to England with a Rockerfeller fellowship, and there he lectured and directed at Dartington Hall, Devon.

Mr. Schneider is presently the production director of Washington's Arena Stage.

In this piece of dramatic hilarity, Moliere tells the tale of an infamous Miser, Harpagon, who is in love with money, and has cached large sums of it throughout his house. Fearing that banks are not to be trusted, and that everyone is attempting to rob him, Harpagon's household is thrown into an uproar when he discovers that large sums of his money are missing.

Complex Plot

Harpagon's eccentricities, of course, are also the cause of romantic difficulties, for he is desirous of marrying his daughter, Elise, to a Monsieur Anselme, simply because he has agreed to take her without a dowry. Elise, however, is in love with a young noble who has assumed the disguise of a servant in Harpagon's household in order to be near his beloved.

Adding to the complications, Cleante, the miser's son, learns that Harpagon is planning to marry his own sweetheart, Marianne. However, since Harpagon's first love is his gold, all the other problems vanish, when the stolen money is recovered.

The Huntingdon appearance of the widely acclaimed Players Incorporated is being sponsored by Juniata College. The public may purchase tickets for this production either at Steele's Drug Store, in downtown Huntingdon, or at the College Public Relations Office.

Wit, Causticity Interjected By Thomas In Campus Talks

by Joan McClure

On a recent visit to our campus, Norman Thomas not only politically enlightened his student and faculty listeners, he also royally entertained them with his rather witty remarks.

During the course of his address on Democratic Socialism to the Political Science Classes he remarked that "there isn't as much free enterprise in America as there was alcohol in prohibition pier."

In the same address, he mentioned that Eisenhower was once President of Columbia University, which "required no economic skills, except a good approach to donors." His comparison of Memorial Gym with Carnegie Library really struck home.

'By The Peck'

At the 4:30 discussion in Totem Inn, McCarthyism, divorce, and woman sufferage were the main topics. Mr. Thomas spoke of the "shocking nullifications" in New York, saying that they were made "by the peck", and "judges get writers' cramp from signing them." Norman Thomas was one of those who stood on street corners years ago, campaigning for women's rights.

He feels that "women have the same right to be wrong as men", and remarked that he had never heard of a "League for Men Voters"; however, neither had he heard of "Minute Women".

'Peron For Peron'

The Socialist leader's final appearance on campus was before the IRC Monday evening. He commented that "the worst thing about Congress is it's so representative." When queried as to what Peron stands for in the cold war, he replied, "Peron stands for Peron in hot wars and cold wars." The student asked, "Do you think he's pro-communism?" The politician answered, "No, he's pro-Peron."

If troubled political leaders can still smile, perhaps all's not lost.

Thomas Visit Provided Rare Educational Offer

The appearance of Norman Thomas for a full day of lectures and discussion sessions on College Hill will probably be rated by all who listened or talked to the dynamic speaker as one of the year's most intellectually enlightening events. Regardless of set or floating political opinions that were stationed in the minds of College students and faculty, Mr. Thomas proved to be a strong and confident speaker.

He struck us as being a man that is concretely set in his own convictions and still permits himself the intellectual freedom to consider the ideals and goals of other people. Throughout the entire day of his visit we had the opportunity to listen to him four different times and on each occasion although he indulged in topics that varied to an extreme extent there was always a complete continuity in evidence.

This opportunity to listen to a man who's political views differ from the supposed two party line was an educational experience that too many residents of College Hill neglected. We must realize that his appearance was in reality the true backbone of America in operation. The basic ideal of critizing the government and working for progressive changes that individuals feel will benefit the majority of the people will resist the impact of McCarthyism with level headed men like Mr. Thomas as a leader.

The College students of today will be the leaders of tomorrow—the fate of the world lies in our hands as much as it does in the present generation. We must permit ourselves to open our eyes and ears to every gleaming of information and education that will benefit us in the coming years. Our views of many subjetcs may be c ompletely divergent from those expressed by Mr. Thomas but permitting ourselves to consider and weigh the ideals of many groups is a true educational experience that should not be wasted.

From The Mail Bag

To The Editor:

The visit to our campus and the Monday morning lecture of Mr. Norman Thomas pointed out a pathetic state now becoming quite evident in the attitudes of our generation, a generation in which fate has placed so great a responsibility.

The lecture of Mr. Thomas was unquestionably one of the best which any of us have been privileged to hear on Oller Hall stage. Had I even been able to do so, I would have hesitated to refute any minor point in Mr. Thomas's arguments, out of sheer respect for his wide travel, his obviously extensive study, and the years of devotion in his attempts to better this country and all humanity.

The sorry situation lies in the fact that quite a few of the student body were too preoccupied with a little inconsequential study, idle chatter at various places, or forty-five minutes of sack to even put in an appearance at Oller Hall. This, when such an opportunity to share the views of a truly learned man was ours for the taking. And a goodly fraction of us students in attendance had not the common sense and respect to arrive on time, promptly take our seats, and refrain from fondling relatively trivial textbooks, letters, and such. This, when a man with such a mind was before us, and our comparatively blank annals of experience and thought tould be so enriched by fifty minutes of close attention.

It is high time we put aside our selfish and complacent attitudes, and wake up!

Edit Claims McCarthy Like Collegiate Boxer

(By Ivan Kaye, sports editor of the University of Michigan Daily)

Two decades ago there appeared on the campus of Milwaukee's Marquette University a young amateur boxer whose unorthodox style drew the immediate and prolonged attention of the local fight fans.

The student, from nearby Appleton, would begin each contest by rushing from his corner and raining blows on a usually very surprised and flustered adversary. It was his custom to swing wildly, hoping that somewhere he would strike a weak point and thus incapacitate an opponent.

Crowd Pleaser

His style was colorful and seldom did one of his bouts lack excitement. He was, in fact, acknowledged to be a real crowd pleaser.

There was, however, a calculated method behind the plan of attack which to onlookers might have seemed haphazard. The sudden onslaught with punches being thrown from all angles and with great rapidity was almost guaranteed to bewilder the average college boxer...

Still Swinging

Today, 20 years later, Joe McCarthy is still swinging wildly; still raining blows from all angles in the hope of striking an adversary's weak point.

The stakes are much higher now, since national publicity attends each of the Senator's exhibitions in the arena of political pugilism; but the philosophy behind his combative method is unchanged.

Unorthodox Style

Only one thing kept Joe McCarthy from becoming an outstanding collegiate boxer — the fact that his unorthodox style was strangely ineffectual when used against any opponent who had experience.

He found it extremely difficult to successfully practice roughhouse tactics on boxers who retained their composure, and did not fluster or collapse at his initial barrage. In these encounters McCarthy usually came out second best, although he always managed to display great tenacity even when being soundly thrashed.

Last week, riding the crest of an impressive knockout string, achieved at the expense of the inexperienced, McCarthy tried the modern-day verbal counterpart of his college roughhouse treatment on an "old pro"—radio commentator Edward R. Murrow.

Once again, displaying the tenacity, he emerged a decided second best.

Despite Heavy Propaganda Russian People Desire Peace

by Dean Schoelkopf

(ACP)—The talk in Russia today is of peace.

We heard it everywhere we went. This is the line: The Russian people suffered great losss in the last war. Their homes and their factories were leveled. Their friends and relatives were killed and crippled. And so they want peace, they say.

They think the American people want peace, too. But they believe that "war mongers" control the government. They say President Eisenhower does not really set policy but is "a tool of the monopolies."

Anatoly Krasilevich, 25, an engineering student at Moscow University, told me he doesn't think there will be a war between the United States and Russia for five or six years.

"It will take America that long to get ready after your losses in the Korean war," he said. "But there will never be a war unless the United States attacks Russia."

We were repeatedly asked why the United States is building a network of air bases around the Soviet Union. The Russian people think the bases will be used to launch an "aggresive war."

When we asked students why Russia keeps the largest standing army in the world, we were told it is for defense purposes only. One interpreter told us that Russia does not have any long-range bombers—only fighters for defense.

Our other interpreter smiled at that obvious untruth.

Along with the words about peace, Soviet leaders have been carrying on an extensive program of anti-American propaganda. We could see evidence of it everywhere. Posters in the factories and schools depicted Uncle Sam as a villain—carrying cannons under his arms, dollar signs in his eyes, committing some mayhem on John Bull and characters representing other nations.

Cartoons in magazines and newspapers follow the same theme: dollar-hungry American militarists, politicians or businessmen looking for war or money, or both.

We asked often why there should be all these hate-America posters if Russia really was interested in friendship among nations. We always were told that these posters were not directed against American people, but against the military men and monopolies who want war.

But the political consciousness of the Russians we met extended beyond international affairs. They were much interested in internal problems of the United States.

We were asked often about Sen. McCarthy. Usually the ques-

Accent On Reading

SHERIDAN THE INNEVITABLE, by Richard O'Conner. The youngest, most aggresive, most versatile, and most uniformly successful general was Philip Henry Sheridan. The Confederates couldn't outgess him, outgeneral him, outfight him, nor could they avoid him; hence he was called "Sheridan the inevitable." Here the author provides us with a well written account of Sheridan's colorful career.

SO NOBLE A CAPTAIN, by C. M. Parr. This is a story of the life and times of Ferdinand Magellan. The author has made a life long study of Magellan and has brought together every bit of knowledge about the great adventurer. The work is a brilliant portrayal—showing Magellan himself, the forces that buffeted him, and the history that surrounded him.

VICTORY RODE THE RAILS, by G. E. Turner. Here is a book which explains the strategic place of railroads in the Civil War. It puts new emphasis on important maps, remeasures the reputations of the general and the army, and re-evaluates the strength of the opponents. The text, supported by maps and photographs, establishes the locomotive as the new and decisive weapon in America's most interesting war.

Student Radio Points To JC Student Initiative

Radio Survey Clearly Shows Campus Answer To Proposal

The two surveys taken in connection with the proposed campus radio station clearly state the position of interest taken by the residents of College Hill. The JC student body went overwhelmingly on record as promising to help finance the project in the vote taken Wednesday.

Election chairman Joe Hinish reports that 258 students answered yes to the question of contributing 50 cents to the construction and operation of the radio station. There were 54 dissenting votts from the student body.

Thus fortified by the strong reaction received from the student body the radio committee will complete plans for the solicitation which will be held in the near future. As a plan that depends almost entirely upon the favorable reaction and support of the student body the vote gave a true indication of the possibility of successfully completing the project.

Wednesday's vote was in complete agreement with a personal poll that was taken earlier by the radio committee. In this one 98 per cent of the students polled replied that they would be willing to contribute 50 cents toward the radio. In this same poll 33 of the 44 people that were contacted, declared they would be interested in working at the mike of the radio.

Everybody contacted declared they definitely would be in favor of having the radio as a part of Juniata and would support the radio as a listener.

The proposed student owned and operated Juniata College radio is completely a student project and you will be called upon to contribute a small sum of money to its construction. With this in mind the Juniatian feels you deserve to know the complete details of the project. Especially you should know just where the money you contribute will be spent.

Favorable Committee Report Shows Radio Project Feasible

The proposal to have a campus radio station was first brought to the attention of the Senate by Gene Hyssong, who worked with such a station at the Altoona Undergraduate Center of Penn State.

The Senate feels that there are many benefits to be derived from a campus radio station. Announcements could be transmitted to students and faculty; students could gain technical experience in building and operating the broadcasting set; students could gain mike experience through broadcasting and participation in programs; the station would provide entertainment during the hours when WHUN is off the air; and it would do much to build school unity and spirit.

The plans for the proposed station are: it will operate from 8:00 to 12:00 six nights a week, not Saturdays; it will be under the jurisdiction of the Senate and will be operated by a three man board, composed of one Senator, (the Chairman of Publications, who will act as chairman of the committee) a technical director, and a program director; the quality will be comparable to a regular radio station; range will be limited to within a very small radius of campus.

Music & News

The programs at first will consist primarily of music and campus news but more varied programs may be presented later; there will be no advertising.

Student interest is the keynote. The Senate felt that such a plan should not be undertaken unless a very large percentage of the student body were truly interested. After the general plans had been presented to the student body, the committee decided to conduct a survey. It was conducted as follows: From the student roster, we selected every eighth name. After eliminating day students (since they will be out of range of the radio station) we contacted individuals personally. We first presented the tentative plans, then asked the questions.

We should like to point out that the question on the survey concerning the willingness to give 50c "if funds were not available from other sources" was designed to get to the root of the student opinion and was not meant to be a preliminary monetary pledge by the students.

Due to the fact that the members of the radio committee conducted the survey, we realize that we do not have a completely objective analysis. But we feel that the great majority of students are vitally interested and enthusiastic about giving their support to this project.

A few individuals, students and faculty alike, have expressed doubt as to whether this project will last after the novelty has worn off. The results of the survey and the fact that there are several freshman leaders who are very interested in this project, should alleviate this doubt.

Possible Location

Several possible locations were investigated by the committee. It is their opinion that the basement of students hall is by far the best possible location. The reasons for this choice are: 1. It is easily accessible; 2. it is centrally located; 3. it is comfortable; 4. it will utilize what is now extra space; 5. it has the necessary utilities, such as electricity and heat; and 6. it can be easily renovated. In connection with this last item, the committee discovered an acoustic board in Swigart Hall left over from when that building was remodeled, sufficient to enclose the necessary area. Approximately 70 feet of floor space would be sufficient for our needs.

Records Available

As for records, Professor Johnson has kindly agreed that records from Swigart Hall may be used for broadcasting. It is expected that students will lend their records for broadcast and in addition we have two good prospects for getting free releases of popular music.

The copyright regulations for broadcasting music are as follows; 1. Songs written over ten years ago, including new arrangements

EARLY WORK DONE; NOW STUDENTS MUST ACT

One month ago when Bernie Petrusky, then the Senate President received a letter from Gene Hyssong suggesting the construction of a student owned and operated radio station on College Hill the germ was born that once again places pressure on the student initiative at Juniata. The 1953-54 student Senate with an outstanding record of progress at JC set about to bring diwn the curtain on their term in office with the initiation of one more beneficial project for their school.

Even with the pressure of time waving a determined hand over their head there was no rapid, indiscrete action taken by the group. A committee was formed to investigate the possibility of such a proposal and was composed of Bob Bridenbaugh, Gene Hyssong, Jeanie Tait, Maurice Henry and Bill White.

First Report

In this first report from this group they gathered information pertaining to the basic needs and qualifications of such a unit on campus. It proved technically possible, room would be available and FCC approval was forthcoming. From there the main problem proved to be determining the feelings of the student body, for they recognized the importance of student participation in a project which would be wholely student financed and operated.

A preliminary poll was taken and results were so overwhelmingly favorable (see story elsewhere) that further steps were taken by the group. The records in the Swigart Hall collection were made available by Prof. Johnson and Mr. Friend says the College will provide us with operating space.

Everybody Cooperates

The cooperation of Mr. Bill Germann provided information concerning FCC regulations and possible record obtaining connections. Parents and friends of the College have been exceedingly generous in offers of operational help and in building up a record collection. In addition to all these various details it is strong support to realize that among our own students are at least three fellows that have experience and know-how to properly construct the set and put it into operation once the money is available.

Therefore, we find that the time has come for the student body of Juniata to assume their role in this cooperative project that promises to provide entertainment and operational activities for all interested students. Personal contacts will be made by members of the committee and your response will determine whether Juniata will join numerous other colleges in having their own radio station.

Totem-Inn was completed over obstacles that many people considered insurmountable and we even completely assumed our financial burden connected with the student center. The radio will improve campus life and join together the areas of the college as a knit community. Don't allow the campus radio to fail because of lack of student support.

Spelunkers Not Nuts Says Visitor; Type Of Different Entertainment

by Jim Hunt, Editor

There are at the present time 13 full fledged cave men residing at Juniata College... this seems like an extrordinary statement in the year 1954 with hydrogen bombs, jet planes that fly faster than sound and gadgets that make life a complex maze of buttons to push. We are not talking about our hairy ancestors that ran around with animal skins clothing their body but rather a scientific group that operates on a program based on science, curiosity, daring, research and just plain enjoyment.

This, roughly speaking, is the consummate appetite that drives JC students and area residents to revert back to the basis of nature and slip and slide over layers of mud to see what lies under the top of the Earth's surface. About one month ago the Standing Stone Grotto of the National Speleological Society was organized by interested College Hill students.

We all must admit that it was something just a little bit out of the ordinary for Juniata but too many people take it as a laughing matter (we were included until last Saturday) and that nobody but a crazy man would go around crawling in caves.

However, much to our amazement there actually is a purpose and reason to the organization of such a group. Last Saturday the group went on one of their typical Saturday afternoon expeditions and we invited ourselves to go along to satisfy a natural curiosity about this organization that is so different from any other group at JC. Before starting on the venture the groups president Willie White filled us in on much of the background of the local and national groups and we felt we were beginning to get an understanding of the project.

Curfman Cave, located about a mile from Saltillo was the objective for the day and not one person in the group had ever been in the cavern before. Upon arriving at our destination we saw the group haul out the wierdiest assortment of equipment that is imaginable. Each one donned a carbite lamp mounted on a hat, one had a barometer, another a thermometer, 100 foot rope, mineral hammer, a bag containing first aid equipment, and specimen bags was included among the equipment handled by the amatuer explorers.

The cave entrance, located at the base of an old limestone quarry was about eight foot wide and four foot high which tapered down quickly to a narrow passageway which extended about 10 feet and entered a larger room. One point must be made clear; these caves that they explore are not like the commercial caves with paved walks and lighted pathways for we entered crawling on our stomachs.

The large room which we entered was approximately 35 feet long, 30 feet wide and a varying 10 feet in height. There were huge boulders scattered about the room which had obviously been jarred loose during the quarrying operations. The room (that is what they called it) took on a weird appearance if you can imagine 13 little lights bobbing up and down as the society members went about their various assigned tasks. The barometer came into operation at this time and the member assigned to record the readings set it up; the time lapses between water drips from the ceiling were checked and recorded and mineral and fossil deposits were investigated.

On all sides of the room were fissures and openings into the walls and floor of the room and into each one of these one of the members forced his body. They all petered out within about 10 feet of the room except one that was located on the upper slope of the room. That one extended on about a 60 degree angle upwards for about 17 feet and through this we squeezed one after another into a similar passageway that was only slightly easier going end entered into a still larger room.

This one was about 50 feet long and 20 foot wide and ranges from six feet to 15 in height. The upper part of the room was 20 feet higher and the typical mud floor made the climbing quite treacherous. Near the entrance to the room is a row of stubby stalagmites and some of the walls are covered with fragile calcite pellets that produce a musical sound when stroked with the hand. Near the center of the room we saw yard-long streamers which the group called bacon rine formations (they did look like them with a stretch of the imagination) and a number of large stalactites. Limestone formations and terraced stalagmite formations decorated the muddy looking room.

In this second room we found that several people had placed their names upon the wall to record the exploration of the cave and one dated back to 1938. In the official NSS publication describing Curman Cave they listed three narrow fissures or pits of unknown depth and these became the object of exploration by the Huntingdon group. After a drop via rope of about 35 feet three experienced members discovered 100 foot of passageway that laid under the upper room. While they were in the lower regions they took note of the extent of the lower cave and information that would be used in reporting this new find to the state and national units.

The Standing Stone Grotto was recorded on the wall of the lower section and those muddy peope who came back on campus Saturday evening and are regarded as oddities had explored formerly unrecorded territory. All the checks that they took that afternoon will be gathered together in reports by the respective members and tucked in the records of the Standing Stone Grotto. Reports of the new exploration would be forwarded to the national organization.

As they called the little expedition to a close we ask Willie if this trip could be considered a typical expedition in the life of a spelunker but he explained that they are never sure just what they will find or where their explorations will lead them. Some caves are large and others consist entirely of narrow passageways. Saturday's was a large one! You ought to try it—its different!

Russia —

tion was, how much popular support does he have? They said they think most Americans oppose him. They called him a fascist and an enemy of Russia.

We were asked about the rights of Negroes in America, and why there were no Negroes in our group. We were asked about our political affiliation, and to define the difference between Democrats and Reublicans.

Our religion interested Soviet students, and at Kharkov University we were asked if we believe in God. When three members of our group said yes, the 300 Russian youths remained silent. When one said no, they applauded and cheered.

Even more disturbing to us than the Russians' misconceptions about the United States was the conformity of thoughts we found at colleges and universities—places we think of as centers of free discussion.

We could ask the same question at every school—about Beria, Korea or anything else—and we would get the same answer every time.

A student would answer and say he was speaking for all students of the Soviet Union. When we asked how he could speak for a student a thousand miles away, he would reply that all students have the same thoughts on important issues.

Despite all the talks we had with students, we never could get on sufficiently intimate terms with any of them to determine if there were any dissenters.

We talked to selected groups and individuals. But even had we wandered completely at random, there would have been a real reluctance on the part of Soviet citizens to disclose any rebellious thoughts to foreigners—especially Americans.

Pennsylvania Undermined By 272 Varying Caverns; Spelunkers Haven

Pennsylvania is a state that is noted for its bountiful natural resources that are found above and below the surface of the earth's crust. But in addition to the minerals that are located deep under the surface are some of nature's own art work.

The fabulous limestone deposits that have been found in just about every section of the Keystone State provide the raw materials for this special art class that has been in season longer than any other school in the annuals of time.

There are over 272 recorded areas in Pennsylvania where these classes have been and still are being held. These areas are the stomping grounds of that pecular breed of people known as spelunkers. Some of these underground caverns have been cleaned up and made into commercial ventures but the largest percentage of them still remain untouched by the commercialist. These are the ones that provide the interesting and informative exploration for the members of the National Speleological Society.

The central section of Pennsylvania contains the largest percentage of these passageways. Huntingdon County itself, contains seventeen explored caves that provide the nucleus for the explorations of the local Standing Stone Grotto. Oddly enough, the most dangerous cave in the Keystone State is located in Huntingdon County and is known as Kooken Cave.

JC Cavemen Use Special Language

Juniata's newest club organization has a vocabulary that is definitely out of the ordinary campus line of talk. It should be informative to see what the meanings to these terms used by the fast growing organization mean in their true sense.

Here are a few:

Anastomosis—a complex of many irregular and repeatedly connected passageways.

Bacon—Thin, elongated, translucent flowstone with paralel colored bands on or projecting from roof and walls of some caves. Resemble bacon strips or slices.

Cave fauna—Total animal life found living in the cave at one time.

Chimney—A steep ascending passage or vertical shaft smaller by comparison in the same cave than a well or hole.

Grotto—An authorized local branch or group of the NSS.

Rice paddy—Terraced rimstone pool.

Spelunker—one who explores caves as a hobby or recreation.

Kiracofe Resigns As Golf Mentor; JC Cindermen Lose

Germann Named Coach Six Lettermen Return

For the first time since golf was initiated into Juniata's spring sports schedule in 1947, the linksmen will begin a season under a new coach. Dr. Edgar S. Kiracofe, whose Juniata teams have been ranked among the powers of the Middle Atlantic collegiate competition, has been granted his request to be relieved of his coaching assignment.

Named as successor to Dr. Kiracofe is William E. Germann, manager of Radio Station WHUN, Huntingdon. Germann, who also serves as trainer for the college's athletic teams, will serve as graduate manager to handle the golf team this season.

Dr. Kiracofe, popular professor in the Education Department on College Hill, has guided the Tribe teemen to a total of 45 victories, 1 tie, and only 7 defeats in the six seasons as a coach. This is the best record ever compiled by a Juniata team.

Kiracofe teams went undefeated in 1948 and again in 1950, and won the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Conference title in 1951 and 1952. His teams have won the Western Maryland invitational tournament four times. Last year the Pitt Panthers snapped a string of 25 straight victories which the Indian linkemen had compiled over the home Huntingdon Country Club layout.

Veteran Squad,

Coach Germann will have an all-veteran squad with which to face the Lions of Albright at Reading in the opening match April 26. Heading the contingent is Tom Cherok, a senior from Verona, Pa., who last year became the first collegiate golfer to capture the championship cups in both the Middle Atlantics Conference and the Western Maryland Invitational. In three seasons of dual matches, Cherok has an impressive 23-4 record.

Other monagram winners include Frank Arasin, a junior from Paxinos, Pa., who won the Central Counties golf tournament last summer; Bill West, a Huntingdon sophomore who went undefeated last season; Keith Birmingham, Moon Twp.; Bob Fahrney, Harrisburg; and Barry Montgomery, Merion.

A pair of freshmen are also pressing the lettermen for starting positions. They are Ted Grothe and Phil Lankford, both of York.

Eight dual matches and two tourneys are scheduled on the 1954 card. Highlight of the schedule is the fifth annual Juniata College invitational tournament set for May 8 which will be held as the championship event for the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference.

Indian Courtmen Win Opener; Play Return Match Here Wed.

by Bill Shull

The Juniata College tennis team picked up its first victory of the 1954 season last Saturday by downing Elizabethtown 6-3 in making the first appearance of the season.

Phil Lankford, Dick Fusco and Ray Pfrogner came through with winning single matches while all three of Juniata's doubles teams won.

The results of the nine matches were:

Singles

Phil Lankford (J) defeated Beaston (E) 6-4, 6-1

Dick Fusco (J) defeated Martin (E) 6-2, 6-3

Royer (E) defeated Dan Raffensperger (J) 6-4, 6-2

Ray Pfrogner (J) defeated Zook (E) 3-6, 8-6, 6-4

Heasey (E) defeated Paul Gingrich (J) 1-6, 6-2, 6-2

Eshelman (E) defeated Dick Barefoot (J) 4-6, 6-4, 8-6

Doubles

Raffensperger and Pfrogner (J) defeated Royer and Heasey (E) 6-2, 6-2

Fusco and Gingrich (J) defeated Beaston and Martin (E) 6-1, 6-2

Lankford and Gross (J) defeated Eshelman and Stonebach (E) 6-1, 6-2

The next tennis contest for Juniata will mark the debut for JC's net men on the home campus this year. This is a return match with Elizabethtown on April the 21st.

Remaining on the Indian's tennis schedule are:

APRIL
21	Elizabethtown	H
28	Indiana	H
MAY
1	Lycoming	H
5	Penn State	A
10	Pitt	A

Diamondmen Lose Inaugural; Home To E-town Wed.

by Bill Smith

The Juniata Indians opened their 1954 baseball season at Elizabethtown by dropping a heartbreaking 3-2 decision in the last of the ninth. Jake Handzelek made his first start as a pitcher and had hurled a beautiful three hitter until forced to retire because of an injured back with one out in the ninth.

Handzelek had given up a walk to Carlin and a double by Wert, putting men on second and third, when forced to retire. Lefty Alderfer was then called in to relieve.

Alderfer struck out pinch-hitter Wilson and then intentionally walked Rafter to load the sacks and get to E-town pitcher Wechter The southpaw walked him, however, forcing in the winning run, which was charged to Handzelek.

E-town drew first blood in the first inning by converting two walks and a wild throw by catcher Don Pheasant into a run. A single, sacrifice, and a double by centerfielder Hitz made it 2-0 in the second inning.

In the third inning, with two out, Juniata came back with its first run. Lee Hallman was safe on an error, stole second, and scored on Barry Drexler's double. The Indians tied it up in the fifth when Ken Leonard singled, Handzelek followed with another, with Leonard, scoring when the rightfielder bobbled the ball.

Handzelek retired seventeen consecutive batters after the second before giving up a single in the eighth. He struck out 9 batters and walked 3.

Wechter, who went the distance for E-town, scattered 6 hits, struck out 4, and had perfect control while Drexler with 2 for 4 paced the Indians at the plate.

The Indians have a chance for revenge on April 21 when E-town comes to town for a return game. Until then the Indians remain idle.

The lineup, at the moment, promises to remain the same, with pitching assignment again going to Handzelek or Alderfer.

Godshall Postpones Today's Ball Games

Chairman of Athletics Dick Godshall, has announced that games scheduled for this afternoon have been postponed. This action was taken because of the switch in afternoon classes and the Good Friday holiday.

The contest between the Doormats and Jabberwockies will be played if weather conditions permit.

Girl's Vollyball Tourny Started

The Girls Intramural Volleyball League got under way on Monday night with all six teams in the tournament seeing action.

The teams competing for this years mythical crown are the Pygmies, Rowdies, Red Devils, Tri-Delts, Krazy Kids, and the Spoofers.

The Pgymies and the Rowdies got off to a flying start by winning both of their scheduled games. Other action in the league saw the Krazy Kids defeat the Spoofers in a single contest. The Pygmies defeated the Red Devils and the Tri-delts for their two wins, while the Rowdies chalked up their victories over the Tridelts and the Spoofers.

The games are played under the following rules:

1. Games are to be played on Monday and Thursday nights.

2 The play will be timed by 15 minute halfs.

3 Serves may go over beams and still be legal serves.

4 One assist is allowed on a serve.

5 The ball may be hit twice in succession by one player, and three players may hit it to return three players may hit it to return it over the net.

6 Player over center results in losing serve to opponent.

Indians Defeated In Home Opener By Bridgewater College Thinclads

Although Juniata's 1954 track team opened the season with a 67 1 3 to 58 2 3 defeat at the hands of Bridgewater, the men of Coach Mike Snider turned in a creditable performance Wednesday afternoon before bowing to the strong aggregation from below the Mason-Dixon line.

Dr. Edgar Kiracofe
● Resigns Post ●

At the conclusion of the festivities, the boys from Virginia knew they had been in a real battle and were heard to comment on the great improvement the Indians showed in one year's time. Last year Bridgewater trounced the Braves. In addition to the fine performance turned in by the JC athletes there proved to be a fine number of fans on hand to support the thinclads.

Rothenberger Stars

Led by Gene Rothenberger, the two year letterman who has been an untiring performer in College, Al Nyce, sophomore weightman from Lansdale, the Indians took first place in eight of the fourteen events, but were not able to mach the overall balance of the Virginians who managed to score in every event.

Rothenberger, Middle Atlantics Broadjump Champion won his specialty with little effort and went on to notch first place in he 100 yard dash and the 220 yard low hurdles in addition to gaining a third in the javelin toss. Nyce, won the shot put, discuss, and javelin, the latter by a foot on his last toss which completely chagrined John Gardner of Bridgewater, who placed second to Al in all three events.

Lehman Takes Mile

Herb Lehman gave the home fans a thrill in the mile by taking the lead near the end of the first lap and widening the gap over the remaining three to win by over forty yards in the fast time of 4:55.5.

Juniata's other first was supplied by Joe Trimber, who spends the fall months carrying the mail for the Juniata gridders, in the 220 yard dash. He also took a third in the low hurdles and pole vault, the latter being a three way tie.

Bob Flory was nipped at the wire in he half mile run by Page of the visitors in the good time of 2:03.7. Sonny Kaylor, Ernie Lashlee, Clem Rosenberger, Ray Grimm and John Decker were other Juniatians who hit the point column. With two more home meets to go as well as two triangular meets, the prospects for a good season are high. The losses may outnumber the wins, but the team that beats JC will be a good one.

IM Softball Season Opens With 6 Games; Covites, Moosers Win

Last Friday marked the beginning of the Intramural softball season, and so far a total of six games have been played.

Opening day featured three afternoon contests. The Moosers outscored the Jabberwockies in a wild and wooly slugging match, 15-11. The Jabberwockies took a sizible 7-1 lead in the initial inning, but the Moosers came right back to score eight runs in their half of the third to tie the score. The JW's had previously scored one run in the top of the third. The Moosers cinched the game by picking up six runs to the Jabberwockies three in the last two innings.

In other opening day contests the Mountaineers slaughtered the Rosebuds by an overwhelming 20-5 count. The Mounties picked up seven markers to one for the RB's in the first inning and from there on were never seriously threatened.

The Covites breezed to an easy win over the Day Students, as they pounded out 17 hits to take a 14-5 decision. The winners blasted three home runs, while pitcher Dick Godshall limited the DS's to five hits.

Three games were played on Monday, however, only one contest was reported. In this battle, the Doormats scored a shut-out victory over the West End Kids. The winners picked up seven runs on nine hits, while the WEK's failed to push a tally across, although rapping out a total of six hits. Errors were the main factor in the win for the Doormats as they came up with only one miscue in seven innings while the West End Kids were charged with four bobbles.

(Editors note: It is imperative that all softball managers turn the results of the games into the Chairman of Athletics as soon as possible after the contest. This is the only means by which the game can be tabbed as having been officially played. Also it is the only means by which The Juniatian can bring the student body the results of the games.

Games Scheduled For Softball Loop

The tentative schedule for softball games in the coming weeks has been announced by Dick Godshall, chairman of athletics. In the event of inclimiate weather the games will be moved back to the make-up week.

Intercollegiate Chatter

A local radio station in Wilkes-Barre has formulated a "lucky butts" contest for the college kids. If you possess a collection of four butts measuring approximately 3 inches, you can qualify by sending the "lucky butts" and one whole cigarette to Smokeland College, Butts, Pa. The grand prize is a king-size cigarette. Some of you guys who need those "weed" charts on your walls to cut down your consumption could probably make out on this deal.

Students of beginning psychology at San Diego State College were recently asked to write down what they considered to be their "most valuable asset". Two answered "intelligence" and both mispelled it.

From the Indiana "Oak Leaves":

Bob pushed his sleeve back and looked at his watch. Ten minutes after seven. He and his passenger ought to be home in a couple of hours. Ten seconds to live. He stepped a little harder on the gas and thought of mom's cookin'. Nine seconds to live. He's driven three hours since that last test and beginning to feel it. Eight seconds to live. Lousy driving in all this traffic. Why do they let so many trucks on the road anyway?

Seven seconds to live. One headlight has burned out. Get one tomorrow, if there's time. Six seconds to live. That couple in the car that just passed is sitting mighty close for comfort. (Ha Ha!) Five seconds to live. He squirms in the seat trying to get comfortable. Four seconds to live. At sixty miles an hour, a car covers 88 feet of pavement every second. Four seconds, 352 feet.

Three seconds to live. Something looks wrong with the dirty windshield. A touch of the brake pedal stiffens into desperate pressure as he sees an unlighted, slow moving truck ahead. Two seconds to live. Panic moves in. Maybe he can turn to the left? No!! Car coming there. Headlights too close, can't make it, maybe to the right. One second to live. Horror numbs everything. He's floating into the corner of the truck bed. A girl in the back seat screams. No seconds to live.

Just because you can't leave until the week-end for Easter, don't drive fast and recklessly. It's better to get home late than never get home at all.

Heureuse Paques (French)
Laeta Paschalia! (Latin)
Troher Osterfest! (German)
Feliz Pascua. (Spanish)
No matter how you say it, it all means "Happy Easter".

A Temporary Elegance

by Nan Heller

Have you been down
To Huntingdon-town
And seen the gals buying clotheses?
They try on a hat
Round, pointed, or flat
And try on some shoes (without toeses)!
In all the stores
On all the floors
Trying to find the right shade.
They'll find a real buy,
Though parents will die
When they get all those bills to be paid.
On Easter morn
New clothes adorn
The Co-eds. Watch out men!
But very next day
Hats put away
They're back to "jeans" again.

of older songs and new songs with the same title as older songs, are public domain. 2. Royalties for music written in the last ten years are handled by two organizations: Broadcast Music Inc. and American Society of Composers, Artists, and Publishers.

This information comes from Mr. William Germann who kindly offered to write to these two organizations on our behalf. He feels confident that these organizations will permit us to broadcast records free of charge since we will be a non-profit station, with a very limited range, and with college approval. At this time, replies have not yet been received from the letters Mr. Germann wrote.

As pointed out above, the cooperation and support of Mr. Germann and Prof. Johnson has been quite gratifying. In addition, Gene Hyssong is a good friend of the Penelec engineer in charge of such projects; he has offered to come and make field strength tests for us to make sure that we will be completely within FCC regulations.

DEBATE CLUB

A practice debate was held on April 14 so that the team keeps in trim. Penn State is the next event on the Debate agenda.

FTA

FTA will meet Thursday evening, 7:00, April 22. The speaker will be Dr. Kearney, Director of Placement at Penn State University. Refreshments will be served. All freshmen and others who intend to major in education are especially invited.

JCA

JCA will have a sunrise service at 7:15 on Little Round Top Easter morning. This will take the place of the April 13 meeting. The regular meeting time, 7:15 on Tuesday, will be in effect for the April 20 meeting when the first discussion of a new series, Religion and Current Events, will begin. "What's Up?" will be Dr. Lockwood's topic as he discusses the issues involved in our present situation.

Baltimore Symphony For Concert Program

The Huntingdon Community Concert Association announces that it has secured the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra for one of its programs for the coming season.

The citizens of Huntingdon can be justifiably proud of the undertaking, for few towns the size of Huntingdon have ever presented a full symphony orchestra concert.

The Baltimore Symphony has been under the direction of Massimo Freccia since 1951 and is rapidly assuming a pre-eminent place among the foremost orchestras in our country.

Player's Inc. Presents 'Miser' For Friday Evening's Program

Players Incorporated, whose production of Moliere's uproarious comedy, The Miser, will be given tonight at 8:15 in Oller Hall, are the product of the famed Speech and Drama Department of Catholic University, Washington, D. C.

Hailed as "a company of performers worth walking five miles to see," all these actors have had professional theatre experience, and were selected for the current tour because of outstanding damatic ability.

Dietz As Harpagon

Cast in the role of Harpagon, the miser, is J. Robert Dietz, who has delighted audiences all over the country, and is widely acclaimed as an actor and director. In addition to directing many summer stock productions, he also staged productions in Washington, D. C., at St. Mary's College in Notre Dame, Ind., and in his home town, Indianapolis. He has played many roles at Catholic University, covering the entire range of comedy and tragedy, and is now in his third season with The Players.

The part of Harpagon's daughter, Elise, is played by Joan Delehaunty, who launched her acting career in her home town with the Pittsburgh Playhouse. Television work followed, and then a return to the stage with the Pittsburgh Miniature Theatre. This is her first season with Players Incorporated.

Experienced Actors

Edward Gazero will portray Valere, Elise's lover. Now in his second season with The Players, he is not only an actor, but also a director, designer, and technician, with a wide range of theatrical experience with the Catholic Theatre Guild, the San Francisco Municipal Theatre, and Fordham Univesrity Theatre, the Catholic University Theatre, and many others.

Cleante, Harpagon's son, will be portrayed by Bob Waters, a native of Bloomfield, N. J. Waters won the attention of Washington D. C. critics by his performance in Christopher Fry's Thor, with Angels. He has appeared on television and in subsequent productions at Catholic University. This is his first season with Players Incorporated.

Pat Barnett, now in her third year with The Players, is cast in the role of Frosine, Harpagon's matchmaker. A versatile actress, equally at home in comedy or tragedy, Miss Barnett had scored considerable successs even before she entered Catholic University as a graduate student in the Speech and Drama Department. A native of Sioux Falls, S. D., she has appeared in eight productions at C. U., and has done summer stock work in Vermont, New Hampshire, and Maryland.

Keith Kirby, as La Fleche, Cleante's valet; Gene Picciano, Master Simon, Harpagon's agent: Esther Hart, as Mariane, beloved of Cleante; Ed Torrance, The Magistrate; Tom Hitchell, Anselme; Pete Donahue, as Master

Anna Lee Reigns; Clapper Is Prince

This year's May Queen was revealed at the annual May Day breakfast for women residents of the college held on Tuesday morning. The dining hall was gaily decorated in carnival attire with a merry-go-round being the central attraction. Clown centerpieces adorned the tables with individual clown menus and clown placecards.

After the meal, the Prince Charming nominees distributed paper ice cream cones and balloons around the room. Entertainment was provided by Dottie Stricker in a tap dance, and the Harmonettes, Jean Baker, Allegra Forney, and Doris Markey, singing two numbers.

Court Revealed

The final aspect of the breakfast was the revealing of the May Queen and her court. The court had been kept secret until that time. It was dislosed by the reading of a poem by Doris Wilson. Under each of the clown hat placecards at each table was the name of one number of the court. As each name was revealed, the attendant took her place around the merry-go-round. Those elected were Peg McDonald, Joy Wenger, Nancy Freed, Maggie Simms, Jean Baker, Doris Markey, Nancy McCahan and Joyce Mullan.

The Maid of Honor's name was concealed under the pompom of the centerpiece clown's hat. Peg Brumbaugh had been elected to this position. Finally, the Queen's name was revealed by removing the clown's hat. The Queen, Anna Lee Over, was escorted to the seat of honor in the center of the merry-go-round.

Prince Charming

The last person to be announced was Prince Charming, Ron Clapper. Each of the male nominees had in his possession several balloons, but Prince Charming was the only one holding yellow ones. As the final event of the breakfast, Prince Charming placed a silver crown on the head of the new May Queen.

The entire court then formed a procession through the spectator-lined walk from the dining hall to the front steps of Founders Porch.

Rosengren Gives Student Recital

On Friday evening, April 30, at 8:15 p. m. in Oller, Helen Rosengren will present her senior voice recital.

A music major from Philadelphia, Miss Rosengren will be accompanied by Allegra Forney, and her program will include songs by Schumann, Monteverdi, Purcell, Davies, Barber and arias by Menotti and Verdi.

Continental Dance On Social Agenda

Tomorrow night the Pyrenees Club, whose president is Lee Englehart, and the Outing Club, headed by Joe Hinish, will join forces to sponsor a "Continental Dance" in the women's gym. Dancing starts at 8:30 and will end at 11:30.

The entertainment will feature vocal selections by Judy Gearhart, a marimba number by Helen Sell, and some accordian music furnished by Skip Osterling.

Radio, Easter Vacation Discussed By Senate At Wednesday Meeting

A short open Senate meeting was held last Wednesday evening. The election of the Chairman of religious activities, radio report and recommendation of a revision of the spring vacation were the main items of discussion on the agenda.

Veep Joe Hinish, announced plans for the election of chairman of religious activities which will be held next Tuesday. The polls will be open throughout the day for the all-College election.

The radio committee reported on the progress of solicitation for the proposed radio project. Tentative plans were formed to have results of the senior poll in by Saturday evening and the underclass solicitation well under way by next Wednesday.

The group decided to forward a recommendation through the calendar committee for consideration by the faculty which will prevent a recurrene of no vacaton over Holy Week. If Spring recess falls before Easter another vacation over the weekend will be recommended or in the event that they fall fairly close the vacation will extend until Easter Monday.

The Senate budget for 1954-55 was submitted by Central Treasurer Bob Godshall and approved by the group.

Comps To Begin In Gym Monday

During this nice spring weather, the seniors have one last important bridge to cross—comprehensive examinations. These exams are the deciding factors as to whether the seniors will graduate or not.

The written division will take place on April 26 and 27 from 8:00 to 11:30 A. M. in the east mezannine of the new gym. The oral comps take place over a two week period beginning in the third week of April. Approximately 113 seniors will be taking them.

Nine Music Students In Sunday's Recital

The third in a series of student recitals will be held Sunday, April 25, at 2:30 p. m. in Swigart Hall. Nine of Miss Pfotenhauer's voice students will participate in this program.

They are Mary Helen West, Barbara Donnelly, Donald Witters, Barbara Orner, Judy Gearhart, Nancy Rosenberger, Wayne Ulsh, Jean Baker, and Jeanne Blend. All students and faculty members are cordially invited to attend this recital.

Noted Lecturer Speaks To Ministers And Youth

Dr. John H. Furbay, internationally-known lecturer, author, explorer and educator, will address a group of ministers and church young people who are meeting on the Juniata College campus, Saturday, April 24.

For years a director of the global Education program of T. W. A. on four continents, Dr. Furbay has come to be known as one of America's most dynamic and inspirational exponents of international cooperation.

Noted Educator

Dr. Furbay spent several years with the United States Office of Education, as Educational attache in the U. S. Embassies of Costa Rica and Colombia. For three years while educational consultant to the Republic of Liberia, he served as President of the College of West Africa.

Furbay has been director of the Education Department and dean of the summer session of Mills College, Oakland, California; has taught in Connecticut, Indiana and Kansas; has been guest professor at the University of Hawaii and the University of Geneva, Switzerland. He represented all U. S. Aviation on UNESCO at the world conferences in Mexico City, Beirut, Florence, and Paris.

Press Correspondent

Dr. Furbay has written numerous books, several of which are used as texts in schools and colleges throughout the United States. He has served as Official European correspondent for both the United Press and the Associated Press, and has done feature stories for LIFE magazine, the National Geographic Magazine and many other publications.

A native of Ohio, Furbay attended Otterbein and Asbury colleges, received his master's degree from New York University, became a doctor of philosophy from Yale in 1931, and has done research at the Sorbonne, Paris, and the University of London. His residence is New York City.

Visitation Day

This day of visitation for ministers and high school seniors will provide an opportunity for ministers to introduce their own church young people to Juniata College. A full day of activities has been planned for the visiting groups, beginning with registration from 9-10 A. M. Dr. Furbay's address to a general assembly of ministers and high schoolers is scheduled for 11 A. M. In the afternoon, the visitors will have an opportunity to confer with members of the faculty and administration.

Summer School Schedules Available

Students who plan to take summer work at other institutions should first obtain a summer clearance form from the Registrar's Office.

Summer session bulletins from other colleges are also available now in the Office of Registrar.

1st Class Rating Won By Juniatian

The Juniatian has been rated a First Class (excellent) college newspaper by the Associated Press Critical Service. This rating covers the Fall term, when Jeanie Tait was editor and Jim Hunt, managing editor.

Papers were judged on news coverage, content, editorials, sports coverage and writing, makeup, headlines, typography, and printing. The Juniatian was judged very good or excellent in all departments, with the highest rating being won for headlines, typography, and printing.

Founder's Day Observed; Juniata Honors Faculty

Juniata College observed the 78th anniversary of its founding during a special chapel service at which Dean Morley Mays spoke Monday. Although Founders Day is April 17th, this annual observance was postponed two days this year because of Easter.

As a part of the Founders Day celebration, the College honored members of the faculty and administration who have served Juniata for ten or more years.

Three Honored

This year three faculty and administration members were honored for ten years of service. They are Dr. George B. Clemens, Mrs. Sarah Steele Hettinger, and Professor Donald S. Johnson.

Dr. Clemens is professor of modern languages at the College, and chairman of the Modern Language Department. He received his A. B. degree from Juniata College in 1936; his A. M. from the Pennsylvania State University in 1941; and his Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1949. He has also done graduate work at Middlebury College.

Mrs. Hettinger, librarian at Juniata was graduated from the College with an A. B. degree in 1924. She attended the Drexel Instiute of Technology School of Library Science from which she received the degree bachelor of library science.

Mr. Johnson, professor of music and chairman of the Music Department, is a graduate of New York University in the Class of 1930. He received his A. M. degree from there in 1934. He has done graduate work in the Christian Choral School and the Juilliard School of Music, in addition to organ study with several prominent instructors.

Total of 71

A total of 71 faculty and administrative persons have served with the college for ten or more years. Of these, 18 are presently employed with the college.

Editors Comment On Russian 3-D; Rated Below American Standards

by Dean Schoelkopf, Editor, Minnesota Daily

(ACP)—They have three dimensional movies in Russia, too.

In fact, they were invented there—or so we were told. But we saw one 3D film in technicolor that literally was a pain in the neck.

In order to get the dimensional effect in Soviet 3D movies, you must focus your eyes on one particular spot on the screen. If you move your head, you lose the effect. No special glasses are needed.

We focused and refocused on a film called "May Night", and it left us with nothing but sore eyes and a greater appreciation for Cinerama.

Class B Movies

By American standards, most of the Russian films we saw—3D and regular screen—would rate as class B movies. We did see two outstanding documentary films—one about an oil development out in the Caspian Sea and another about the growth of the province of Georgia.

Some American films are shown in Soviet theaters. When we asked what titles had been shown recently, the answer frequently was "Tarzan."

Not much better than the movies was the opera we saw at Odessa. To American opponents of opera sung in English, this would be a real nightmare. It was the Italian opera "Tosca," performed by Russians who sang in the Ukraninian language.

Much better than the opera was a concert by the state symphony orchestra—Russian's finest—at the Moscow conservatory. One of the most outstanding Soviet conductor's—Eugene Mravinsky—was on the podium.

Meet Shostakovich

The orchestra played Shostakovich's Tenth symphony, which had been premiered a few weeks before in Leningrad. After the performance, Mravinsky motioned to a bespectaled man sitting about half way back in the hall, and Dimitri Shostakovich walked quickly to the stage.

After the performance, we had a chance to talk to Shostakovich briefly. He is a slight man, and he seemed nervous and shy, although extremely polite.

We asked his opinion of some American composers, and he said of Aaron Copland: "Very interesting. I particularly like his Third Symphony." George Gershwin is "a very strong composer," he said. "I like his Symphony in Blue."

Of Gian-Carlo Menotti he said: "I have heard his work once on the radio, but he seems interesting." Benamin Britten is "very talented," he said. "His opera about miners—Peter Grimes—is very interesting."

Shostakovich, now 47 years old, is a professor of music at Leningrad conservatory. He was rebuked in 1948 for writing "anti-democratic" music but received the Stalin prize in 1950.

The Bolshoi, in central Moscow, is a beautiful theater. The largest theater in the Soviet Union, it has six horseshoe balconies, rimmed with gilt. All upholstery is red.

On stage we saw what is generally recognized as the finest ballet in the world. We saw Cinderella and Swan Lake. Both were performed in their entirety, without deviation for propaganda purposes.

Sheer Spectacle

For sheer spectacle, it was better than anything I have ever seen. With the big stage at the Bolshoi, they could put more than 100 beautifully-costumed dancers out front at once.

During intermissions at the opera, symphony or ballet, Russians do not go out into the lobbies and stand around in small groups as many Americans do.

They stroll, arm in arm or with hands clasped behind their backs, up and down the corridors and around the lobbies. Everybody follows the same path and walks at about the same pace.

At the various theaters, we stood watching this passing parade to get some idea of what class of people attend the cultural events.

Accent On Reading

A NEW PATTERN FOR A TIRED WORLD, by Louis Bromfield. A challenging criticism of American foreign relations during the past twenty years by a well known novelist who claims that the Soviet menace has been grossly exaggerated by military and political propagandists. He advocates the expansion of American capitalism and the promotion of economic cooperation between the United States, Canada, Latin America, instead of continued aid which he contends we are giving to disintegrating European countries at the expense of American relations with Asia and Latin America.

CHRISTIANITY, DIPLOMACY, AND WAR, by Herbert Butterfield. An evaluation of the possible effects on international relations if the Christian principle were more generally applied to diplomacy. The author, a British historian, claims that the diplomats of the past were sometimes more effective than those of current times because in making allowances for universal human frailty, they often limited the aims and scope of wars and avoided claims of self-righteousness and vengeful procedures leading to a strong desire for retaliation. He believes that Christians should recognize the necessity of conciliatory measures, humility, and the building of a habit of cooperative effort which may in time lay the foundation of trust and international good will.

THE TEST OF FREEDOM, by Norman Thomas. This book invokes the precepts of Jeffersonian democracy to out flank the threat to liberty from McCarthyism and Communism. He first looks at civil liberties in the United States, then proceeds to history, nature, and implications of Communism and McCarthyism. He draws up a detailed strategy against both in a struggle the liberal must wage on two fronts. Community pressures, he concludes, are undermining Jeffersonian ideals more that direct acts of government.

Spring Sport Teams Need Student Support

Football and basketball have faded from the spotlight of intercollegiate athletics and with the coming of warm weather the quartet of spring sports have taken the place of prominence on College Hill. The successes achieved in the winter and fall sports still linger in the memories of many people at JC but the complete success of 1953-54 intercollegiate competition gives every indication of continuing during the spring.

The golf team which has long been a source of pride to College students, alumni and friends is loaded with returned lettermen and good freshmen, baseball looks like another successful season and golf is definitely on the upswing along with track. On paper the chances of winning seasons really look prosperous but just like football and baseball the records can be helped by strong support from the student body.

Although the spring sports, except for baseball are largely individual athletic duals the spirit of team success is continued and the athletes appreciate and look for the continued spirit of competition from the students to back their contests. Many people tend to underestimate the difference complete student support can play on the competitive actions of a sport team.

Perhaps the best example we can state outside of the undefeated football season and the first winning basketball season is the play of the Milwauke Braves last year. 'That old College spirit' is not supposed to be evident in the professional ranks but the complete support of an entire town is given credit for driving a good team to an outstanding team.

We should take pride in the achievements of our athletic teams, and give them our support at intercollegiate events. If they should lose early season contests it should serve as an added stimulus for our support to urge them to do better in later events.

Show your appreciation for the job of representing Juniata on the athletic fields that they are doing by supporting them every time you can.

Small Correspondent Hands Enlightening Letter To Editor

Dear Editor,

Here it is—gay spring time again. The gals are thinking of the content of their summer wardrobes and the guys are thinking about the content which goes into the wardrobes. I'm thinking about wardrobes too, of course, 'cause I've only got one dress to wear (No charity accepted, thank you). Perhaps that explains why the gals snob me and the guys never even notice that I exist.

Confidentially I think that I really look pretty sharp in my one green dress, that is if I stand up good and straight—you know, like Mrs. Von Hess' "thoroughbred". I really always try to watch my posture, but just when I think I've gained enough poise to be a model someone comes along and knocks me down, with both harsh words and unbecoming actions. It really disgusts me to think that college students don't feel more concern for the well-being of others.

I'm here on campus on a scholarship. If I don't make good, someone else will soon be asked to take my place, some other Frosh "seedling" who would have more of a chance joining the others on cemetery hill (and probably will after a short stay at JC) than doing all that is expected of him here where so few people take an interest in you.

Maybe I shouldn't be making my public complaints public but then I just thought I'd tell all you Joe-Colleges and Co-Eds that I'm unhappy and I think that it's all your fault.

Sincerely,
A blade of grass

Intercollegiate Chatter

by Nancy Freed

I wonder how many of the "lovers" who find meeting the 10:30 curfew a problem have ever thoughts of any real ingenious lock-out-get-arounders? I know I've thought of several since I first became a co-ed, but I'll never tell on the grounds that it may incriminate me and perhaps several others whose minds have been captured with full moons and summer nights. A Stanford University gal, however, has dreamed up a lock-out-get-arounder to beat all lock-out-get-arounders.

Her room-mate threw her night clothes and one slipper out the window to her. She changed into them and threw her clothes back up. After mussing her hair (her lipstick was already smugged) and drapping herself over a bush her room-mate let out quite a yell: "Woman over the window sill!" The gal was gently carried through the unlocked doors to her room.

The gag works best if you live on the second story, for then your pretended injuries can be so slight as to enable you to recover for your date the next evening.

Some gals find the way to their beau's heart through his stomach; others wait for springtime to do the job. However, one LaVerne co-ed thinks men are just plain impossible.

"If you flatter a man, it frightens him to death and if you don't, you bore him to death. If you permit him to make love to you, he gets tired of you in the end and if you don't, he gets tired of you in the beginning.

"If you are the clinging vine type, he doubts whether you have a brain. If you are the modern type, an advanced and independent woman, he doubts whether you have a heart. If you are silly, he longs for a bright mate, and if you are brillant, he longs for a playmate."

Let's face it gals—This is a man's world!

A word of wisdom from the Technology News: "Prof's lectures are like steer horns . . . a point here, a point there, and a lot of bull in between."

To whom is may concern: There are just eight more days until May Day. I wonder how many gals have received their bids to the dance?

JOHN GOLDEN crosses the plate to put Juniata in the lead in the game played against Elizabethtown. The Indians dropped the contest 6-5 for their second loss of the young season. Both defeats came at the hands of the E-town diamondmen.

Indians Drop Second Straight Game To E-Town; Lose 6-5

by Bill Smith

For the second time this season Elizabethtown came from behind to defeat Juniata by one run in the ninth inning. A long fly by third-baseman Carlin with the bases loaded and none out provided the winning run in E-town's 6-5 victory.

Both starting pitchers, Lefty Alderfer of the Indians and Paul Wechter of E-town, survived loose fielding in the early innings of the three-hour game to make strong finishes. Wechter especially, as he finished up with six shutout innings.

Juniata scored first in what promised to be a high scoring contest. Lee Hallman led off with a walk, moved up on Barry Drexler's perfect bunt single, and scored when Carlin threw Don Pheasant's ground ball past first. Joe Hinish walked to fill the bases, but short stop Wert converted Jake Handzelek's sizzling liner into a double-play.

Tied On Errors

E-town tied it in the second on errors by Hallman and Ken Leonard and a single by Rafter; but Juniata pulled ahead with three runs in the second. Jack Golden and Leonard led off with singles, with Golden scoring when catcher Achorn threw Alderfer's bunt away. Leonard then came home on Hallman's sacrifice squeeze while Alderfer added the fourth Indian run on Pheasant's single.

In the top of the third Wechter walked and center-fielder Hitz smashed a liner to left-center that rolled for a home run, making it 4-3. Juniata added its final run in the third when Golden walked, stole second and scored when Leonard's pop fly to short left fell for a double.

Win In Ninth

With Wechter holding the Indians scoreless, E-town added runs in the fourth and seventh to tie it up. In the ninth a single by lead-off man Hitz, a hit batsman, and a bobbled bunt by Alderfer loaded the bases, setting the stage for Carlin's sacrifice fly.

A double-play started by Pheasant prevented further damage in the inning.

For Juniata it was the second defeat of the season without a victory, while E-town made its record 2-4.

JC Net Squad Wins In First Home Contest

Juniata's 1954 tennis team rolled to its second victory of the season Wednesday afternoon by trouncing Elizabethtown's net men by a 7-2 count. This was also the Indian's second triumph over the E-town tennis team this season.

Winning single matches for the Indians were: Phil Lankford, Ray Pfrogner, Paul Gingrich and Chuck Gross. Once again against Elizabethtown the Juniatians took three doubles matches.

The summary of Wednesday's meet:

Singles

Phil Lankford (J) defeated Martain (E) 6-0, 6-1

Royer (E) defeated Dan Raffensperger (J) 2-6, 6-0, 6-3.

Frost (E) defeated Dick Fusco (J) 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Ray Pfrogner (J) defeated Eshelman (E) 6-0, 6-1.

Paul Gingrich (J) defeated Stonebach (E) 6-1, 6-3.

Chuck Gross (J) defeated Weaver (E) 6-1, 6-0.

Doubles

Fusco and Gingrich (J) defeated Martain and Royer (E) 6-3, 1-6, 6-4.

Pfrogner and Raffensperger (J) defeated Frost and Eshelman (E) 6-0, 6-1.

Lankford and Gross (J) defeated Stonebach and Weaver (E) 6-0, 6-0.

The next scheduled tennis match pits Juniata against Indiana on the Juniata College courts April 28.

JC Contingent Entered In Penn Relays Today, Sat.

by Walt Vanderbush

The Penn Relays, greatest of the annual outdoor track meets held in the East, opens today at Franklin Field in Philadelphia. Since this is the home of the University of Pennsylvania, the Quaker cindermen will be the host for the tournament.

Seven Juniata athletes as well as Track Coach Mike Snider will be on hand to match muscles and wits against some of the best trackmen the nation has to offer. The only Indian athlete that earned the title "seeded" in the tourney was Gene "Rocky" Rothenberger, fleetfooted broadjumpper. Gene will begin his competition on Friday in the qualifyng round, and if successful, will continue in the finals to be held tomorrow.

Al Nyce is the other Juniatian to compete in an individual event, being entered in the discus. Although not rated as a potential threat, Al is given a good chance of breaking the Juniata College mark due to his fine showing against Bridgewater last Wednesday.

Bob Flory, Wilfred Norris, Joe Trimber, and Pat Tarquinio will comprise the mile relay team, with Tory Froisland acting as alternate. These boys will run both Friday and Saturday afternoon, the latter being the Middle Atlanics Relay, an annual event which was won by Juniata in 1939. The team that year was composed of Fisher, Dick, Weber, and Snider, and ably coached by Mike Snider. Mike has been at the Indian track helm for the past 25 years. This victory goes down as one of the greatest ever scored in Juniata Athletic history.

Juniata will face stiff competition when they take the field on Friday. In the Field with the Indians will be Winston-Salem, Muhlenburg, Fareigh-Dickinson, Temple, Ithica, Deleware, Bucknell, St. Josephs, and Dickinson.

—LATE FLASH—

The Juniata College Indians registered their first baseball triumph of the year yesterday afternoon by downing Shippensburg STC, 7-2. Jake Handzelek was the winning pitcher, while his teammates garnered 11 hits in the winning cause.

Three Teams Post Wins In IM Softball

Team	W	L
Covites	2	0
Lodge	2	0
Mountaineers	2	0
Doormats	1	0
Moosers	1	0
Rose Buds	1	1
Jabberwockys	0	1
Blasters A. C.	0	1
Day Students	0	2
Sunbrookers	0	2
West Side Kids	0	2

The three tops teams in the men's intramural softball league added their second victory of the season last Monday in afternoon contests. The Covites, Lodge and Mountaineers notched wins over Sunbrookers, West End Kids and Day Students respectively.

George Pote twirled a shutout victory for the Cove Boys in the one game while his mates were pounding out 13 hits. They took the victory by a 13-0 margin for their second victory of the season. Bob Motisher, Dick Godshall and Rem Grove lead the Covites at the plate as they pounded out three base hits apiece.

The Day Sudents blew a one run lead in the seventh inning and then allowed two more in the top of the eighth to drop a 9-7 extra-inning tilt to the Mountaineers. Ramon Burket paced the winners to their second victory as he pitched a nine hit job while collecting four hits at the plate. Decker was the losing pitcher for the Day Students who have lost both of their outings.

In the other encounter played Monday, the Lodge continued their winning ways by pounding out an 11-1 victory over the West End Kids.

IM Tournaments In 2 Sports Planned

An intramural tennis tournament, slated to begin the first week in May, has been announced by Dick Godshall, Senate Chairman of Athletics.

Events scheduled are men's singles and doubles matches, women's singles, and women's doubles if enough interest is shown by the coeds.

Lists will be posted for the signature of prospective entrants, with a registration deadline now set for Wednesday, April 28.

An intramural golf tournament is also being considered. It is doubtful, however, whether enough interest will be shown in golf in the intramural ranks to make an organized tournament worthwhile. Students who might be interested in entering such a contest are requested to make their interest known to the Chairman of Athletics.

Indian Golf Team Ready For Opener

Coach Bill Germann's 1954 edition of the Juniata Indian golf team will open their season Monday when they travel to Albright to meet the Lions on their home course.

The Indians, by virue of their late start, recently finished playoffs to determine the top five starters on the squad. Final scores in the elimination tourney showed junior Frank Arasin taking number one spot on the team by shooting a three round 210. Senior letterman Tom Cherok placed second in the tourney with a score of 214, while sophomore football end Keith Birmingham garnered a score of 217 which was good enough for a third bracket rating. Vieing for the fourth and fifth spots on the squad is sophomore Bill West with a three round score of 226, senior Bob Farhney with 239 and sophomore Barry Montgomery with 241. Two freshmen are also in the running for these spots. They are Phil Lankford and Ted Grothe.

Former Student Missing; Lost On Routine Flight

A former JC student from Collingswood, N. J., Lieutenant (jg) Edward S. DeHart, Jr., has been declared missing by the Navy "on a routine training flight" from the Naval Air Station at Atlantic City.

DeHart, who attended Juniata from 1948 to 1950 as a member of the Class of 1952, is the first serviceman among Juniata College alumni killed in action since World War II, according to the college alumni office.

Area Searched

The 24-year old Navy officer was flying a Banshee jet fighter with the Composite Squadron Four on March 30. When he failed to return when due, planes from the station searched the ocean area between Cape May and Asbury Park.

Although the formal search has been over, pilots from the station are continuing to look for any trace of DeHart's plane as they carry out their normal flight assignments. The search has covered an area from Massachusetts to Virginia on the coast, 200 miles out to sea and inland to the mountains of Pennsylvania.

While at Juniata, DeHart was considered an "above average" student and had begun to concentrate in economics and business administration. He worked as a student photographer for the College News Bureau and took many campus photographs for the Alumni Bulletin.

Spring Alters Thought

by Nan Heller

Spring has sprung
The grass is riz
And J C guys
And dollies is—

Is what? Why they is feeling spring in the air, that's what. When a warm, balmy breeze blows the curtains in your room —let's face it—it's utterly impossible to study!

The campus kids have a little more bounce to their steps, conversations turn to anything but assignments, and the guys with the convertible becomes the co-ed idol.

It happens every spring; yet every year it's a brand new discovery. Discussions turn from how to make hydrogen to how to get a date for Saturday night. The college grounds become splotched with students soaking up the sunshine.

Baseball games, walks to the cliffs, tennis matches, swimming —these are the reasons for an empty library. The weather can also be held responsible for less congestion in the fire tower. Although it is the cause of emptiness in these places, it creates a full, warm feeling deep down inside—doesn't it?

Report Reveals Rise In Average

A report from the Registrar's Office on the quality point average for the 1953-54 fall term reveals an all-college increase over all fall terms since the present grading system went into effect in 1950. 1.39 in the average grade.

The seniors again took first place with an average of 1.61. They were followed by the juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, respectfully. However, this year's freshman class compiled a higher quality point average than has any other freshman class in fall or spring terms since 1950.

As is the custom, women led the men. The highest average compiled by any individual group was that attained by the junior class women, 1.76.

officers and a few people who definitely could be identified as upper class by their dress.

But generally it was almost impossible to determine class status by dress. Most of the men wore the same kind of dark blue and black suits, and most of the women wore the same kind of dark dresses.

In The Clubs

Comps and activities are keeping club members rather busy outside of the club work. All clubs will be represented in the May Day festivities and are spending time on that also. But some have news, so here 'tis.

CAMERA AND CHEMISTRY

The members of the Chemistry and Camera Clubs are planning a joint picnic for May 9. Bill Garrison, president of both organizations, announced that although the place has not been decided upon, it will be the next thing on the club's agenda.

JCA

The second meeting of the series on "Religion in National Affairs" will be held Tuesday evening at 7:15 in Founder's Chapel. Dr. Crosby will speak on "Christian Compromise".

IVCF

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship will meet Friday, April 23, at 7:00 P. M. in Founder's Chapel. The study will be on a portion of Acts.

PYRENEES & OUTING

The Pyrenees Club has merged with the Outing Club to present this Saturday's night entertainment on campus. The Women's Gym will become a symbol of foreign lands and the club members would like to have everyone turn out at 8:30 to partake in the evenings fun. Refreshments and entertainment will be provided for this Continental Dance, so be sure to attend.

Deputation Team Heads For Phila.

A deputation team sets out on Saturday morning to represent Juniata College in two Brethren churches in the Philadelphia area.

They will conduct Sunday morning services the following day at the First Church of the Brethren in Philadelphia, where Alfred Replogle, a Juniata alumnus, is the minister.

Later that same day the team will conduct evening services at the Norristown Church of the Brethren.
